WEATHER FORECASTS.
Fair today and on Friday. Not much change in temperature.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 67 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

THE TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL SUPPORT MONTREAL STRIKERS

Declares That if City Can Pay Grange's Expenses to Calgary it Can Increase Assistant Assessor's Salary.

Peterborough Trades and Labor Council decided last night to take out a charter with the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Flett of Hamilton one of the organizers of the movement who is well known in this city, having addressed meetings here in the past, was present and explained the advantages of becoming a member of the organization which he represented.

President A. J. Bolwell was appointed representative from the Trades and Labor Council to the Horticultural Association executive.

Orders-in-Council

A communication from the Trades Council of Winnipeg was read, drawing attention to certain Orders-in-Council which had been passed as a result of the War Measures Act and which made it an offence to have banned literature in one's possession. It also expressed the opinion that political prisoners should be liberated and asked that the Labor Council of Peterborough bring this matter to the attention of the Government.

The spirit of the communication was endorsed by the Council and in addition to forwarding a protest to the Dominion Government in connection with the matter, Capt. Burnham will be asked to use his influence in the House to have these measures repealed.

Supported Requested

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Cigar Makers' Union of Montreal, asking for financial assistance for the workmen there, who have been on strike for the past ten months. A list of non-union made cigars was enclosed and the members were asked to refrain from purchasing these. As an evidence of sympathy the Council decided to make a grant of $5 towards the striking workmen. One member stated that it would at least be an assurance of their support in the long struggle being waged.

Seeks Endorsation

A letter from two branches of the International Moulders' Union of London and Fergus, respectively, drew attention to the alleged violation of Union regulations by Beatty Bros. of London and asked for moral support in having their demands recognized.

Secretary Stevens was instructed to write to the manager of the Grand Opera House and protest against the practice credited to him of having his printing done in a non-union shop.

Civic Salary Increases

One of the members asked several of the labor aldermen of the city who were at the meeting last night for an explanation of Alderman Gainey's failure to obtain a seconder to his motion to increase the salary of the assistant assessor which he submitted at the meeting of the City Council in Committee on Monday night.

The explanation was given by two of the city fathers but failed to satisfy several of the members who thought that at a time when the City Council could see its way clear to pay the expenses of trips to conventions of the Chiefs of the police and fire departments and could raise the salaries of the Mayor and Treasurer they could surely give the newly appointed assistant assessor, who was a returned soldier and a married man an increase of $150 over his salary of $750.

Defence of Action

One of the aldermen stated that the salary of the assistant assessor had been set before applications for the position were asked for and that the man who had taken it was perfectly satisfied with the remuneration offered, especially as it increased automatically at the rate of $50 per year until $900 was reached.

Hope was expressed that when the committee's report is presented to the Council the labor Aldermen will acquit themselves in a manner more in keeping with their responsibilities and will not allow it to be adopted without protesting against what was considered a grave injustice.

Grants Inadequate

One of the members thought that $200 was not a very munificent grant for the bands of the city and that $500 for bathing places was quite inadequate and should have been substantially supplemented even if this were done at the expense of the $1000 increase to the exhibition grant.

Just before adjournment a suggestion was made that the grant to the Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council be increased to $25 per annum and that of the Treasurer to $12. This was done.

AMERICANS HAVE PAID 2 BILLIONS ON INCOME

Receipts at One New York District Will Amount to $100000000

Washington, March 20.—Two billion dollars is the estimate officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau placed on the provisions of the new law up to and including March 15. It is believed the total received will, when tabulated, be about one-third more than was expected at this time.

Under the law all payments of at least one-quarter of the income excess profits and war profits taxes due the Government had to be in the hands of collecting agents before the close of business yesterday. Returns and checks postmarked up to midnight last night will be received without question, however, and it is likely that last minute returns for several days will not be questioned.

William H. Edwards, Collector of the Second New York District, which includes all of Manhattan Island below Fourteenth street said that the receipts of his office up to yesterday would amount to $100,000,000. Mr Edwards said that during the week his office had received checks calling for $20,000,000, $10,000,000 and $5,000,000 down to sums of a few cents The offices in New York were piled up with letters containing income reports and checks and money orders and it would be a day or two before the reports could be listed.

The Third District office, at 1150 Broadway, was swamped with returns, about 50,000 having been received during Saturday. Crowds were so great at this office that seven Coast Guards were detailed to keep the men and women in line.

Reports from the West indicate receipts greater than the Revenue Bureau had anticipated. Estimates fixed at Chicago placed the total for the year for that district at $600,000,000 compared with $400,000,000 estimated by the Government. Other districts of the Middle West, it is said, will how equal excesses over estimates.

TWO BIG AIRSHIPS.

Each 800 Feet Long—Capacity of 3,000,000 Cubic Feet.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 20. — Following successful trials of the new British dirigibles of rigidity of construction, the Government, according to the Mail, has ordered the building of two enormous airships. Each will be eight hundred feet in length and will have a capacity of three million cubic feet. They will be driven by six engines of 180 horse power and will have a lifting power of 80 tons.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COMSN. WILL MEET SATURDAY AT 10

First Meeting of Commission Since Covenant Was Adopted—Neutral Countries of World Have Opportunity Today to Express Views and Suggest Amendments.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 20.—A meeting of the League of Nations Commission will be held at ten o'clock Saturday morning, when all the proposed amendments and changes will be considered, and some plan put into definite form.

This will be the first meeting of the Commission since the covenant was adopted the day before President Wilson left for America, and it will consider proposals submitted at a hearing of neutrals today, and also any other suggestions which have taken definite form.

Neutrals' Opportunity.

Paris, March 20.—Neutral countries of Europe, Esia and South America will be given opportunity today to express their views and propose amendments to the League of Nations' plan.

Holland and Switzerland and others have sent delegates, while more distant countries will be represented by Ministers residing in Paris.

It is purposed to continue the session if necessary tomorrow to complete all neutral proposals, and prepare them for submission to the Commission on the League of Nations.

Pleaded Guilty To Double Theft Charge

William Steefe elected summary trial and pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning to two charges of theft preferred against him. He was remanded for a week for sentence upon the request of the acting crown attorney, J. Fordyce Strickland.

Steefe, it appears, stole $22 from the trunk of his comrade, John Watson, on March 11th and on February 24th, he lifted $16 from Martin Quigley, on George street.

He is a returned soldier, having been a member of the 10th Battalion First Contingent, and his home is in Toronto. He has been engaged as a painter in Peterborough for the past three months.

CANADIAN STAFF TO DEAL WITH KINMEL CAMP AFFAIR

NEED OF FOREIGN CREDITS SHOWN

HON F. B. CARVELL'S PRESENTATION OF THE MATTER IN COMMONS.

Speaking recently in the House of Commons, Hon. F. B. Carvell showed clearly the need of Canada providing large credits in order to promote export trade. He said:—

"We realize that it will be our duty for the next five or six months, or possibly a year, to do all we can to secure business for that country and we are doing that. But it is not as easy to get business on the other side of the Atlantic as we thought it would be. We thought that all we would have to do would be to go over and say: We have a million feet of lumber to sell: who will give us the most for it? The trouble is not that Europe does not like to buy our lumber and the other produce that we have, but they have not got the money to pay for it. That is the real difficulty. As my hon friend the Minister of Finance stated yesterday, we are compelled to furnish credits; that is we have to put up money in Canada to buy the goods fro mour own people, then turn around and sell them to foreign countries and take our chance of getting the money back. We will get it back in time but it means a heavy financial burden that the Government has to carry."

In buying War Savings and Thrift Stamps the people of Canada provide the Government with the funds that make possible these huge advances. Thus employment at good wages is provided for all classes while those who invest their money in these Stamps receive a substantial interest return.

Local Soldiers On Board the Celtic

The men as stated, following, arrived at Halifax, per steamer Celtic, morning of the 18th March:

Pte. Thompson.
Bdr. Thackery.
Cpl. Gray.
Pte. Orford.
Pte. Lovell.
Spr. Hartly.
Pte. Reid.
Gnr. Sharpe.
Sgt. Mark.
Cpl. Norman.
Dvr. Kempt.
Lieut. Worth.

SITUATION IN GALACIA

Paris, March 20.—The situation in Galacia was considered by the Supreme Council at its session this afternoon and it was decided to request the Poles and the Ukranians to cease hostilities under certain conditions.

Wet Canteen Established in Direct Contradiction to Canadian Wishes—Asserted That Had There Been no Liquor at Rhyl no Disturbances Would Have Occurred.

London, March 20.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Sidney Robinson drew attention to the statement that in connection with the disturbances at Kinmel Camp the wet canteen had been established in Canadian camps in direct contradiction to Canadian wishes, and that if there had been no liquor at the Rhyl Camp there would have been no disturbances. He asked what steps the Minister of War proposed to take to prevent a recurrance of such happenings.

Mr. MacMaster also asked the Minister of War whether he had received a statement that the conduct of the Canadian soldiers at this camp was particularly good and that the real cause of the discontent was the failure to provide shipping facilities to enable them to return to their homes.

Right Hon. Winston Churchill Minister of War, replied that he had received a report furnished by the Canadian authorities, but that the matter had been left entirely in the hands of the Canadian authorities. He did not think that it was his business to deal with it beyond the extent to which he was forced by specific questions.

Wet canteens were not and never had been provided for Canadian troops, except on the decision of the Canadian authorities, and he was informed that so far from their provision causing disturbances it was believed that they had quite a contrary effect.

MYSTERIOUS FIRM CHARGED IN COURT

LIQUOR IMPORTED INTO PETERBOROUGH BY PARTIES GIVING FICTITIOUS ADDRESS.

Did anyone in Peterborough ever hear of the Saunders Company? This was the live question in Police Court this morning when Mr. Joseph Stewart, the Ontario license inspector, charged this mysterious corporation with having had shipped to them a large chest containing five cases of Gooderham & Worts rye whiskey, which is now reposing in the express company's warehouse here unclaimed, and Agent Seals is on the lookout for someone who will pay the express charges which amount to $2.50.

Chief Thompson in impressive tones called upon the accused firm the traditional three times to answer to the accusation, but there was no reply, and no representative of the strange company put in an appearance in court.

Inspector Stewart in his testimony stated that on Monday morning the case containing the liquor arrived on the 6:18 train and was removed to the express company's warehouse in this city, where it remains. The agent sent out a post card addressed to the Saunders Company, but it was returned uncalled for and the license inspector came to the conclusion that the address on the case was a fictitious one which served as a stalking horse for real parties responsible for the importation of the liquor from Montreal.

His most diligent inquiries failed to bring to light any information regarding the guilty parties, and he applied to the police magistrate for permission to seize the shipment and forward it to headquarters in Toronto.

The evidence of Mr. Seals threw no additional light upon the matter, and at the conclusion of the hearing Magistrate Dumble gave Inspector Stewart the authority he desired.

The Princess Pats Are Demobilized

Ottawa, March 20.—The famous Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Canadian Expeditionary Force, is no more. Demobilization was completed shortly after 7 o'clock last night, the last man being discharged and the unit disbanded. It is considered the demobilization constitutes a record for speed, as the men did not reach their barracks for dinner until shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. There was a touching scene as Lieut.-Col. A. H. Gault, the organizer of the unit, bade the men farewell. Many of the men left for their homes tonight, those living at a distance being provided with first-class sleeper accommodation and tickets. In addition to generous allowance for meals en route. Toronto and Western men were among those leaving tonight.

LODGE 25 YEARS OLD

Chatham, March 19.—The True Blue Lodge of Chatham last evening marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding by a social evening at which an interesting program was furnished. Mrs. John Simpson, the oldest member of the Lodge, was presented with a large bouquet.

ONE OUT OF NINE MARRIAGES IN THE U. S. TERMINATES IN DIVORCE

Figures Are Compiled by Bureau of Census—Cruelty, Infidelity and Failure to Provide Among Leading Causes.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, March 20.—Approximately one out of every nine marriages in the United States is terminated by divorce, according to figures compiled by the bureau of census, and made public today. In 31 per cent. of cases in 1916, divorce was granted to the husband, while the husbands' rate in 1906 was 67 per cent.

Desertion is shown by the figures to have been the cause for about 38 per cent. of the divorces. Among other leading causes advanced were cruelty, infidelity and failure to provide.

VIRTUALLY ALL OF UKRAINE IS NOW IN HANDS OF BOLSHEVIKI

HALF BILLION FOR COMING YEAR

TO THE ESTIMATED EXPENDITURE WHICH FACES CANADA—WAR BILL HUGE.

Ottawa, March 20.—The estimates submitted to the House of Commons yesterday show that Canada faces the definite total of $437,679,071.65 as the estimated expenditure for the coming year, and therefore as the amount of revenue for the provision of which the Budget, when it comes down, must show means and methods. This year the total of sums granted for expenditures amounted to $299,682,249.31, and the increased revenue of $137,996,832.34 has to be found if Canada is to pay the increased interest and sinking fund of $23,727,941.89 over this year on her public debt, the $13,905,871.58 addition for pensions, the extra $22,100,000 for soldiers' land settlement $22,763,420 for repatriating and reestablishing the soldiers, an additional amount of $23,201,867.47 to spend on capital railway expenditures, and $29,855,000 additional for capital expenditure in the Marine Department of Public Works. The total estimates for these items, on which a greatly increased expenditure is expected this year, are as follows:

Interest and sinking fund on public debt, $106,847,443.64; pensions $30,053,646.72; soldiers' land settlement, $25,010,000; outside service soldiers' civil re-establishment, $22,763,420; capital expenditure on railways and canals, $50,[illegible]; capital expenditure on Marine Branch of Public Works Department, $30,546,900. The debt which will have to be redeemed is $21,843,449.34.

Who Hope to Drive Allied Force From That Region Before Spring.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 20.—Virtually all of Ukraine is now in the hands of the Bolsheviki, according to advices reaching London today.

In heavy fighting at Nickolaiev, north east of Odessa, the Bolshevik lost between five thousand and eight thousand men, but forced the French garrison, after fierce fighting to withdraw to Odessa by the sea. Further east, advices add, the Bolsheviki have reached the isthmus of Perekop leading to the Crimea.

Drive out Allies

The Bolsheviki apparently are engaged in a strong effort to subdue the Russian opposition in Ukraine, and to drive the Allied forces from that region before spring.

Granary of Russia

Ukraine is the granary of Russia and Odessa before the war was the greatest grain shipping port in Russia. If the Bolsheviki can control the great agricultural region of Ukraine, they might be able to relieve

(Continued on Page Eight.)

HOW HALIFAX WOMEN LOOK AFTER SOLDIERS' DEPENDENTS

Jamaica to Have An Income Tax

MEASURE STARTING AT $50 PASSES THE COMMITTEE STAGE.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 19.—An income tax measure has passed the committee stage in the legislature. The tax is 2 pence halfpenny (5 cents) on the pound (about $5 on incomes of more than £100 ($500,) gradually rising to 1 shilling (24 cents) on the pound on incomes up to £2,000 ($10,000) and to 2 shillings (48 cents) on the pound up to incomes of £10,000 ($50,000). The governor expresses the opinion that the tax may eventually supersede other taxes. The collections are to begin in March 1920.

BOLSHEVIK RETIRING.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, March 20.—The important railroad junction town of Mitau, southwest of Riga, has been captured by Lettish troops, a Lettish official statement announces. The Bolshevik are retiring along the whole front.

SWISS PIONEER DEAD

There has recently died in Switzerland a pioneer of the woman suffrage movement there, Anna Heer.

Handled the Reception of 600 Women and Children--Special Attention to Needs of the Sick.

Imagine, if you can, an organization that has handled the reception of such a party as six hundred women and children or one hundred and eighty babies under the age of twelve months, asking, like Oliver Twist, for more, and you have an idea of the attitude of Halifax women's organizations at the present time.

The above number, one hundred and eighty infants in arms, arrived on the Megantic on her last trip. On another occasion the total number of women and children arriving was one thousand. Yet the workers state that they would be glad to welcome more at the port.

Since the first boatload of soldiers' dependents arrived, Halifax has achieved wonders. One hundred volunteer workers, representing all branches of womens' organizations, hold themselves in readiness to assist at the port any hour of the day or night.

Reception rooms for the mothers and children are splendidly adapted with good light and heat. There is a

(Continued on page 8)

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 160-166 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $2.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; G. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept ... 182. Editorial ... 434.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 321.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1919

AS THE PIONEER SEES IT.

MANY ARGUMENTS can be advanced for and against prohibition, and the country is divided on the question. If a refrendum is taken, then the issue should stand before the people on its own footing and not be bolstered by any other consideration. The country has been dry now for some time, and the people should be competent to conclude by experience whether they desire a return to wet or partially we conditions or not, without the influence of party politics.

Without giving here any expression on the principle itself, we agree that there is a full measure of reason in the following views of our contemporary, the Pioneer:

> "The late Mr. F. S. Spence many times strongly emphasised the need for 'more prohibition in politcs and less polites in prohibition.' That is, speaking in the broader sense, he urged that prohibition as a principle be embodied and embedded in our political system, but that party politics be rigidly excluded from the propagating the prohibition idea.
>
> "There is need today for the temperance people to recognise this distinction and to learn this lesson. As prohibitionists let us stand for the principle we have espoused, and, while conditioning our political actions by prohibition considerations, never condition our prohibition actions by party political considerations.
>
> "Prohibiton Conservatives are today casting aspersions upon the sincerity of prohibition Liberals who refuse to support the Hearst Government which brought in the Prohibition Bill. Prohibition Liberals cannot see eye to eye with prohibition Conservatives who, they say, fail to recognise that the Liberal party led in this fight.
>
> "The fact is that both political parties in Ontario united to put through the Ontario Temperance Act; that explicit statements were made by leaders on both sides of a desire to remove the prohibition question from the arena of contentious issues. Today there are not wanting those who would again drag the prohibition question into party politics. Prohibitionists of either party should not be coaxed or coerced by such cries."

THE JAPANESE VIEW.

THE JAPANESE, in regard to the League of Nations, claim the need of the universal and practical enforcement of the principles of the open door and of equality of opportunities. They point out that the Anglo-Japanese alliance is based upon these principles, but that their application is limited to China. It is argued that these principles must be extended and applied all over the world.

Questions regarding emigration, coasting trade, and customs tariffs must, it is asserted, be adjusted on the basis of these principles. It is believed that when this has been effected the causes of international disputes will be almost entirely removed, and a world peace on a lasting basis secured.

Racial discrimination is widely believed to be chiefly an economic question. If this is so, it is contended that it furnishes an additional reason for effectively and faithfully carrying out the open door and equality of opportunities. America and Italy, it is pointed out, support Japan in her call for the abolition of racial discrimination. One of the serious causes of difficulty is believed to be due to a misunderstanding or a want of full knowledge concerning the actual standard of Japanese labor, the rise of which in recent years has been remarkable, fully justifying its being placed on an equality with white labor. It is claimed that Japan would welcome investigation of this point by the Western Powers.

THE JAPANESE QUESTION.

THE PROPOSED League of Nations opens up a question which may well endanger the affiliation of the United States with that international organization, and that question is the immigration problem. For years our brethren across the border have excluded Japanese immigration, and now they are much concerned over the repeatedly announced intention of the government of Japan to demand the insertion of a clause or article in the covenant of the proposed League of Nations explicitly recognizing the right of all peoples and nations to equality of treatment in legislation regulating immigration. It is, of course, no secret that this notice tended to cause much anxiety. The immigration problem has figured prominently in the arguments that have been made against the [illegible], and whether Japan was named or not, no one could fail to think of her alleged grievance in connection with exclusion laws.

In this connection the Chicago Daily News thinks Viscount Ishii has made a distinctly reassuring speech before the Japanese Society in New York. Japan, he said, proposes to insert a clause in the covenant removing the "conspicuous injunction," as the ambassador called it, of discrimination against races, but he explained, for the first time since the matter was broached at Paris, that Japan was merely contending for a principle. She does not expect or intend to take advantage of any "equal rights" provision to press for the admission of her laborers into the United States. She proposes to adhere to the "gentlemen's agreement" respecting immigration, especially since her own "fixed policy" is to restrict emigration to America. Ishii expressed the hope that the good faith of Japan would not be questioned in the United States, for it has been "abundantly attested by her past record" of scrupulous observation of agreements and pledges.

In Canada we have no Japanese exclusion law, but we have a good deal of complaining that the Japs are overrunning some parts of the country, especially British Columbia. They work cheaper than the Canadian, hence the trouble. If Viscount Ishii includes Canada when he says Japan is merely contending for a principle, and intends to restrict emigration to America, that assurance would be hailed with pleasure in many quarters. But for all that, the whole question is complex, for it does seem inconsistent in the extreme to expect that the people of any "one" ally should be excluded from the country of another ally, if immigration is allowed at all. The whole object of the League of Nations, to our mind, would be endangered were any one particular member of that League discriminated against in regard to privileges enjoyed by others.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.

NORTHCOTE, a district of Admaston Township, well known for the quality of its Holsteins, and situated about ten miles from Renfrew, is setting the rest of the Province of Ontario a pretty good pace by the manner in which it is treating its returned soldiers. Already three of them have returned and have had a splendid reception accorded them. In addition, each has been presented with a purse of $90 and a handsome medal, with an interesting address. In all there are nine men to return to Northcote, and arrangements have already been made so that all will receive the same generous treatment. The money has already been subscribed privately. Those who have already been accorded a reception are Privates Hugh McKeachen, George McDonald and R. J. Brasler. Two of Northcote's men have fallen on the field, Sergt. T. C. Briscoe, M.M., and Pte. D. Marr, and to their relatives medals and addresses have been given. At the same function, Private McKeachen, of the Renfrew pipe band, was presented by his fellow bandsmen with an address of appreciation for his heroism and also a handsome gold ring.

What Northcote is doing for its returned men is worthy of all praise, and should be emulated by other communities.

RHYL CAMP TROUBLE.

WHILE WE DO NOT question that the Canadian divisions were effectively and skilfully officered, and do not agree with Sir Sam Hughes that lives were needlessly sacrificed, we are, however, constrained to give heed to the declaration of Lieut.-Col. A. C. Pratt, M.P. for Norfolk county, that responsibility for the rioting at Rhyl Camp was directly attributable to the incompetency of Canadian military authorities at Ottawa and in England. Col. Pratt arrived at Halifax from England only yesterday, and no doubt knows whereof he speaks. He seems also to be supported in his views by Lieut.-Col. Price, who alleges that Argyle House, Canadian military headquarters in London, had not demonstrated its capability of meeting the demands upon its executiveness occasioned by conditions forced upon Canadian soldiers by reason of their unexpected retention in the Old Country. The latter officer further insinuated that Argyle House, in not replying to the highly colored reports of bolshevism being the cause of the riots, was attempting to shield itself from public enquiry.

It is to be hoped that a rigorous investigation into the cause of the riots, in which five were killed and many injured, will be proceeded with, and the results made public. Canadians were not sent overseas to fall victims to incompetent official bunglers at a time when their relatives were rejoicing in their escape from the perils of active operations at the front and looking for their safe return from a quiet, peaceful British camp. There are enough hearts saddened in Canada today by the loss of loved ones who have laid down their lives on the field of battle, without the death roll being augmented by uncalled-for conditions resulting from rank incompetency on the part of men in authority.

The charges made by a man like Col. Pratt, gallant soldier and member of Parliament, just home from the land in which the Rhyl tragedy occurred, cannot go unheeded. Canada expected every one of her soldiers to do their duty abroad, and those citizen soldiers expect Canada to do its duty by them. So, let us see to it that any cause for complaint of unendurable conditions existing by reason of incompetency on the part of military authorities is promptly removed.

REFERENDUM IN QUEBEC.

ACCORDING to the Montreal Gazette, the following course has been decided upon by the Quebec Government:

The Government of the Province of Quebec has decided to take a beer-and-wine referendum. The particulars are, briefly, as follows:

Referendum before April 15th as to whether light wines and beer shall be sold.

If electors vote yes, beer will be 5.46 per cent. and wine and cider 15.09 per cent. proof spirits.

If the vote is no, temperance beer of only 2½ per cent. may be sold.

Bars will be abolished and no treating will be allowed.

Drug stores will not be permitted to sell any alcohol.

Twenty-five special liquor stores to be established throughout the Province, where sales may be made on certificate.

Straight majority vote of the whole Province required to secure beer and wine exception.

Individual municipalities may continue local option.

Special police force will be established to enforce the law.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

IN YORK COUNTY men have been engaged for farm work at from $250 to $400 a year, with board. In Northumberland a number of returned soldiers are getting back to the land.

• • • • •

A CANADIAN soldier, writing from Belgium, says the boys were simply staggered at the news of the armistice, as the real smash had not started. If that is so, the preliminary operations were staggeringly effective.

• • • • •

GENERAL CURRIE, in a talk to the men of the Eleventh Brigade, said the last man of the Fourth Division of Canadians—the last slated to leave Europe—should be home early in June. This is good news for many Peterborough families. However, at least one battalion of that Eleventh Brigade was with the first Canadians in the field, and thus the old maxim—the last shall be first—is reversed; and the men are complaining.

EDITOR'S MAIL

PAINTERS COMPLAIN

Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—The painters have a grievance. Will you kindly allow me a small space in your influential journal to air this grievance?

It has been the custom hitherto for the master painters to make their men carry to the job the necessary planking and scaffolding, or for papering, their pasteboards and stepladders, etc., required in their work. Those who have a bicycle are relieved of some of the burden; the others have to get the stuff to the job the best way they can and some of the articles have to be carried from one job to another. The men consider this a great hardship and have given notice to the masters that they desire the masters to place on the jobs the necessary appliances, and unless by the first of April this is acceded to there is going to be trouble in the painting trade. The men say they are not beasts of burden, and they cannot keep clean and respectable, carrying soiled planks around town, and that such labor unfits them from doing their best work, to say nothing of the injustice to the public who are charged up with the time occupied by the men in assembling their appliance before they can start work.

An agreement has been drawn up embodying the remedying of this grievance, and submitted to the masters, some who are willing to sign. I am the recording secretary of the painters' union and was working for a firm of decorators in this city, and as secretary, presented the agreement to the boss to read, but he threw it across the shop and refused to look at it, consigning it (with an epithet) to a warmer climate. A shop-mate who is president of the Union, was leaving the shop carrying a two by twelve plank twelve feet long, to go to work, and I pointed out the unfairness of shouldering such a burden. The boss resented this and fired me on the spot. Are the public willing that labor should be treated in this way? I do not ask for sympathy or any help so far as my own particular case is concerned. But will the public stand by and countenance by its patronage and support any citizen who as a master or employer treats his help in this way.

Yours Etc.,
GEO H. HARPER.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

We was eating suppir last nite, being ham and cabbidge espeshilly cabbidge on account of the high cost of ham, and I sed, G, ma, I bleeve I got indigestion, I can eat this, but I dont feel mutch like it, I must have indigestion.

Well for mersey sakes, sed ma. Meening she didnt bleeve it, and pop sed, Wy, at his age a boy shouldent know eny more about indigestion than a cat knows about joggriffy.

Our cat must know a good eel about joggriffy, she always seems to find her way back, sed my sister Gladdis.

Well speeking of joggriffy, Benny, jest ware does it hert sed pop, and I sed, It dont ixactly hert, ony I jest dont feel like eating, aint it indigestion wen you dont feel like eating?

Maybe youve bin eating sumthing this aftirnoon to take away your appetite, have you? sed ma.

Well, I sed, I was erround at Arties house a little wile and Ant Sue was making gingerbred and me and Artie each ate about 3 middle size pieces, only I dont think they took away my appetite.

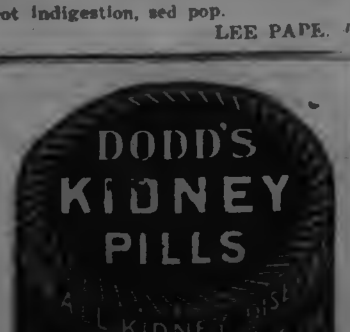
Is that all you ate? sed ma, and I sed, Well, I swapped Leroy Shooster my bottle of green ink for 2 apples with a bite out, but I dont thin they took away my appetite.

The plot thickens, did you eat enything elts? sed pop.

Well, I sed, Puds Simkinses mother came out and asked if enybody wunted eny home made dohnuts left over from the churtch fair, and I d'dent wunt to be impolite and say no, so I ate 6, but I dont think they took away my appetite.

Yee gods and little piggies, he thinks he's not hungry because he's got indigestion, sed pop.

LEE PAPE.



LAKEFIELD

(Special Correspondence.)

Lakefield, March 20.—Mr. Wm. Hampton left on Wednesday for Empress, Alta.

Mr Strickland and daughters are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Tate.

Mr. Jack Mahood, of Peterboro, spent the week-end at his home in the village.

Mrs. C. L. Bickell, of Toronto, is at present visiting relatives in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blewitt, of Peterboro, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hendren, last week.

Miss K. Traill, who has been the guest of Mrs. Atwood, has returned to Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Watley spent a couple of days in Peterboro visiting relatives.

Mr. Clarence Crawford left on Tuesday for Toronto where he will spend a couple of days, previous to going to Ricetown, Sask.

Mr. Donald Fitzgerald, who is attending the Peterboro Collegiate Institute, spent the week at his home in the village.

Miss Marion King, who has been visiting her father, returned to Toronto on Saturday.

Messrs. J. Acton, G. H. Parks and J. A. Brown, of Toronto, passed through the village on Saturday en route to Mr. Acton's summer cottage Stoney Lake, to spend a week.

The Wolf Club master, Miss Dorothy Hilliard, entertained about fifteen cubs at her home on Saturday evening. The evening was spent in games, after which refreshments were served. Miss Hilliard and Mrs. T. Waldon have been carrying on this work since the departure of Rev. C. Spencer.

Sale and Tea.

The receipts of the sale and afternoon tea, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church, amount to $84, which was held in the basement of the church on Friday afternoon.

The sale was well attended and a big success.

During the afternoon Mr. Ken Madill presided at the piano, assisted by Mrs. Roy Robinson.

The tables were in charge of the following:

Home-made cooking—Mrs. Dixon Mrs. H. Kemp.

Home-made candy—Mrs. Dunford Mrs. Al Payne.

Fancy work—Mrs. T. Cransford Mrs. Stables, Mrs. Erskine.

Vegetable and eggs—Mrs. Madill Mrs. Binke, Mrs. Girven.

Fish pond—Mrs. J. Lemay, Mrs. R. Simpson.

Those who assisted with the tea were Mrs. (Major) Frost, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Bothwell, Mrs. Spence, Mrs Nugent, Mrs. F. Richardson, Mrs. McConkey.

Leaving Lakefield.

The residents of Lakefield will learn with regret that Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Morrison will leave the village on April 4th for Kincardine. Mr. Morrison has been the Royal Bank manager here for about 2 years and a half and has been notified of his promotion to the Kincardine branch.

Letter From Siberia.

The following letter has been received by Mrs. W. J. Webster from their son, Arthur, who is with the Canadian Siberian forces:

Dear Mother and All:—

I have just received a letter dated December 25th and also one dated December 29th.

Well, Mother, I might say I had a nice trip, although it was stormy on the way over. I might mention that the weather here is very cold but dry. If a wind comes up the dust flies something terrible.

We have a fine equipment issued to us.

Some of the boys have goggles. We will get ours very soon. We have long shoe packs, sheep skin coats, fur coats moccasins, heavy socks, scarfs and a wind breaker. This is a one-piece suit, which you pull over. It has a peaked hood and the cuffs draw together with a string and also the front of the hood. I think we are well equipped. Don't you? I forgot to mention that we have Mackinaws to wear and sweaters.

Well, Mother, I guess I have told you all for this time. I will conclude with love.

Your loving son,
ARTHUR.

St. John's W. A.

The annual business meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church was held in St. John's Church on Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock. The reports from the secretary and treasurer were read and adopted, after which the officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—Miss K. Traill.
President—Miss T. Atwood.
Vice-President—Mrs. T. Waldon.
Rec. Secretary—Mrs. N. Watson.
Corres. Secretary—Mrs. T. Waldon
Lit. Secretary—Mrs. Mahood.
Baby's Branch Secretary—Mrs. S. White.
Treasurer—Mrs Marling.
Dorcas Committee—Mrs. Mahood Mrs. Barker, Mrs. White.

The society has had a very successful year, having taken in $141.21. After the meeting, a lecture was given by Rev. Liniott Taylor on the South Sea Islands, which was very interesting.

Literary Society Met.

The regular meeting of the Literary Society of the Lakefield High School was held on Tuesday, March 8th. The meeting opened with President Clayton Ridpath in the chair. During the meeting a movement was made by C. Ridpath and seconded by J. M. Simpson that a roll of honor be purchased for the High School. Edward Bailey was made convenor for committee.

A debate was arranged for between forms one and three.

The following program was rendered.

Chorus—"O Canada."
Duet—Gwendolyn Simpson and Addie Balten.
Instrumental—Willie Harvey.
Reading—Lilian Moore.
Piano duet—Kathleen and Clara Young.
Chorus—"Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag."
Reading—Bertha Preston.
Duet—Vera Botterill and Freda McIllmoyl.
Piano duet—Jean Erskine and Eva McIllmoyl.
Instrumental—K. S. Madill.
God Save the King.

As this was the last meeting before the departure of Ken Madill for Athens, Ont., a hearty send-off was given him by his friends.

Afternoon Tea.

A musical afternoon and tea will be given at the Gordon House on Thursday, March 20th, by the members of St. John's Church. The symphony orchestra will be in attendance. Everyone is welcome. In the evening a musical program will be rendered.

Quick Thinking.

"Say, can you let me have five or ten——"

"No——"

"——minutes? I think I can show you how to make some money."

"—— objection, old chap. You can have twenty if you want."

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

Now that the new government standard flour is in general use, the quality of the yeast you use is more important than ever. Use Royal Yeast Cakes. Their quality is absolutely reliable. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.

Send name and address for copy Royal Yeast Bake Book.

E. W. GILLETT CO. LTD.
TORONTO, CANADA
WINNIPEG MONTREAL

WIT AND WISDOM

"I once knew a man who went hungry in order to buy feed for his horse," said Jones.

"I can understand his sentiments," said Smith. "Many's the time I have cut down on meat and potatoes in order to buy gasoline."

Young Pessimist.

Teacher — When does the winter begin?

Observing Boy — It generally begins about spring.

Useful Though Unwed.

The modern view is that a woman is not necessarily a failure because her life has been Miss-spent.

Proof of It.

"Do you think a burned child always fears the fire?"

"Not at all. If so, why should so many divorce decrees prohibit the contestants from remarrying?"

Beginning To Doubt.

Old Lady — I don't believe this Sure Cure Tonic is a-goin' to do me any good.

Friend—It's highly spoken of in the papers.

Old Lady—Yes; but I've taken 47 bottles and I don't feel a bit better. I tell you what it is, Sarah, I'm beginning to think these newspaper editors don't know everything.

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY
Lucille Lee Stewart in............ The Eleventh Commandment
A Smashing, Sensational Drama in 6 Acts
KING BAGGOT and MARGUERITE SNOW in America's Serial Supreme
"The Eagle's Eye" Chapt. 14
"The Infantile Paralysis Epidemic" 2 Parts
Miss Elinor Field in "DAN CUPID, M. D." Comedy
[illegible] MATINEE 11 CENTS [illegible] EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day
RUTH ROLAND in HANDS UP
Louise Lovey in Nobody's Wife
Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

Music in the Home

MUSICIANS SHOULD STUDY VALUE OF INTELLIGENT PHRASING.

Just as the intelligent reading of a literary composition depends chiefly upon two things accentuation and punctuation, so does musical phrasing depend on the relative strength of the sounds and upon their connection with or separation from each other. It is this close relationship of language to music which makes their union in vocal music possible and appropriate, and accordingly when music is allied to words it is necessary that the musical accent should coincide with those of the text, while the separation of the various phrases agrees with the division of the text into separate lines or sentences. In instrumental music, although the same principles underlies its construction, there is no such definite guide as that afforded by the sense of the words in a song, and the phrasing must therefore be the result of a just appreciation on the part of the performer of the general sense of the music and of the observance of certain marks by which phrasing is indicated.

If we now consider more closely the cause and consequences of a variety in the strength of the notes of a phrase, we notice in the first place the necessity for an accent on the first note of every bar, and in certain rhythms on other parts of the bar also. There are certain irregular forms of accent occasionally required by phrasing which it is essential to notice.

In rapid passages, when there are many notes in a bar, it is often necessary to introduce more accents than the ordinary rhythm requires, and the number and frequency of the accents will depend upon the number of changes of harmony upon which the passage is founded. Thus, for example, the first bar of a composition may require seven accents while the first two bars may receive the ordinary rhythmic accent on the first note of each group, and the fourth bar may represent a different harmony, or if it should not change again, accents may be altered.

A composition when written must be offered in recognized tempos, but a composer's conception of how it should be played is clearly marked by the suggestions in musical terms. Unfortunately the average musician believes that he is better able to phrase the work than the composer himself, resulting in a massacre of genius' conception.

SPOHR'S ILL LUCK

Of Spohr's solid services and masterly innovations in the field of compositions for the violin, and of his services to violin instruction, it is needless to speak. Is it possible that Spohr's "Selbst Biographie," which no less an authority than Dr Donald Toovey Reid pronounces to be an engaging and valuable work, or that his uninspiring portraits current, have somehow militated against his fame! We are inclined to wonder if the manifest ill luck which this industrious artist, endeared to art by not a few rare and solid services, experienced in his life time has followed him beyond the grave.

At the age of 5[illegible] Spohr was prevented from accepting an important and gratifying engagement in P[illegible]r's by the loss of his magnificent "Guarnerius violin—one of those tragedies of history of which only a master violinist can gauge the desolation. Again when long after he had made his debut in London and Norwich, he was invited to present to the Norwich audience (in 1842) his new oratorio, "The Fall of Babylon," the composer was forbidden, in spite of a powerful petition from English enthusiasts and even from cabinet ministers, by his lordly "employer," the elector, the necessary leave of absence from Cassel. A great mortification could hardly befall a composer, than being thus barred from conducting in person one of the greatest of his productions.

BEGINNERS SHOULD USE GOOD PIANOS

Any piano is better than non,—and old pianos and second hand pianos have their places, but their place is not under a beginner's fingers. Maybe it is economical for children to learn to ride a bicycle on a second hand bicycle, but it is not economical to teach a child to play the piano on a worn-out instrument. Children will not injure the best piano, if it is properly cared for and they cannot learn best on any other.

The first thing that must be cultivated in a child is its ear, its sense of tone. It must drink in the full the beauties of tone and must learn to distinguish one from another. It must know and feel the difference in the smallest gradations of tone. It should develop a sense of absolute and relative pitch.

To train a child on a piano the tone of which has become dull and dead, and which is always sliding out of tune is a serious error. To train the child's ear and sense of beauty a piano of excellent tone should be obtained, and it should be kept always absolutely in tune. This means tunning probably every three months. This is not extravagance. It is as good an investment as the piano itself, for it will double the life of your instrument.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS NOT ALWAYS BEST

First impressions may be strongest but they are not necessarily the best or the most permanent. Among our most valued friends and acquaintances may be found people who at first possessed no charm for us. Their good qualities were not on the surface and so were unnoticed, but became more and more apparent as our acquaintance progressed. It is precisely the same with music. The finer qualities of a composition are not on the surface. So do not condemn a piece, or even form an unfavorable opinion regarding it until you are in a position to do, i.e., until you have studied it faithfully. The teacher knows what is really good in itself and what is best for the pupil. If you have confidence enough in him to study with him, take what he assigns you with equal confidence. You may not like, and are under no obligation to like every piece chosen for study. But first of all study it, try to get below the surface. It may surprise you—and later delight you.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE PRINTING

MOTHERS' BREAD COMPANY HAS CHARGE OF THIS WORK.

H. S. Dahn, the new manager of the Grand Opera House referring to the communication which the secretary of the Trades and Labor Council was instructed, at last night's meeting, to send him in regard to having the programs for the theatre printed in a non-union shop, states that the Mother's Bread Company of this city is responsible for having this work done and not the management of the Grand.

In return for exclusive advertising rights upon the programs the Mother's Bread Company assumed all responsibility for their printing and Mr. Dahn had nothing further to do with the matter. He entered into a contract with the Bread Company which lasts until May and after furnishing his copy each day is relieved of further responsibility in connection with the printing.

Mr. Dahn states that it is to the Mother's Bread Company of Peterborough that the Trades Council should direct its protest. He is sorry that the members should have been under this misapprehension as the stage hands and moving picture operators employed at the Grand are all members of the Labor unions and he is by no means unsympathetic as regards their interests.

At the time when the contract was let Mr. Dahn was not in touch with conditions in Peterborough as regarded union and non-union shops. Had he known of existing conditions he would have stipulated that the union label appear upon the programs.

Lightweight Bread Was Confiscated

Sergeant Reid, the local bread inspector, weighed 500 loaves today and found 78 of them so much under weight as to warrant confiscation. He brought them to the police station where they were piled upon the table in an imposing array and left there until removed to the Children's Shelter and St. Vincent's Orphange for the use of the inmates.

The bread inspector is not as well satisfied with his examination this time as he has been upon many other occasions in the past. He states that he found Stock's bread weighing the best, but there was a great deal of that of other of the city bakeries which barely tipped the scales at the necessary weight and some of it was slightly under.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

GIVE CITY HALL AS SECURITY

VIENNA HAS NEITHER MONEY NOR LIQUID ASSETS, BUT HAS REAL ESTATE.

Washington, March 20.—Apropos of the oft-heard expression that "Germany will be in hock for a million years," if she pays for what she has destroyed, there comes news that the City Hall of Vienna has been put up as security for food supplies with American producers. The Austrians have neither money nor liquid assets, but they have real estate. Enterprising Yankees, whose names are not disclosed, have entered into a deal fith the Viennese authorities to supply quantities of provisions and have taken the city hall as security.

Food administration officials point to this fact as an argument for the early lifting of all sorts of embargoes and military restrictions. They say as soon as American producers and European consumers are permitted to get together without official intermeddling, ways will be found to finance the resulting commerce.

CANADIAN WILL SEEK DIVORCE

IF IT IS WITHIN THE POWER OF MANITOBA COURTS TO GRANT IT.

Winnipeg, March 20.—According to a statement attributed to a high official of the Attorney-General's Department today, several hundred petitions now await the courts if the Privy Council sustains the decision that Manitoba Courts have the power to decree absolute divorce.

The famous case of Walker versus Walker was decided by Mr Justice Galt about eighteen months ago with a ruling that Manitoba Courts could grant divorces. Appeal was made, and it resulted in the Appeal Court unanimously upholding Mr. Justice Galt's decision.

The Provincial Government then referred the question to the Privy Council. The illness of Attorney-General T. H. Johnson, it is said, is delaying the sending of Deputy Attorney-General J. Allen to London to conduct the case for the Province.

BALTIC WITH TROOPS

Reaches Halifax and Docked at 11 O'clock This Morning

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Halifax, N.S., March 20.—The White Star Liner "Baltic," bringing 58th Battalion, Toronto, 43rd Winnipeg, 1 C.M.R. Brandon, and other details, arrived this morning and docked about eleven o'clock. Earlier docking was expected but she was delayed off the coast.

REDUCED RATES

New York, March 20.—Reduction of freight rates to the Dutch East Indies by the Java-New York Line was announced to-night by Funche Edye & Company, Inc. Commencing with the sailing of the Dutch steamer Rotti, now in port here, the rates to Batavia, Samarang and Soerabaya, will be $20 a ton on iron and steel and $25 on general cargo.

SEIZES LIGHTWEIGHT BREAD.

Sergt. Reid, the city bread inspector, seised 78 loaves from one of the local bakeries this morning upon finding that they were under the required weight. He brought them to the police station in a car and piled them upon the table. This bread will be sent to the Children's Shelter for the use of the inmates.

JUGO SLAVS WANT COLONIES

Trieste, March 20.—The Slovenec newspaper of Laybach, in an article entitled, "Jugo Slavia and the colonies," urges the representatives of Jugo Slavia at the peace conference to interest themselves in the question of colonies and make representations that it is of great interest to the Jugo Slavs. The newspaper recalls that before the war, Austria had begun to take a live interest in colonial problems and set its eyes on Cilicia in Asia Minor. "At present Jugo Slavia," the newspaper goes on, "likewise a Mediterranean power should assert a claim to that territory."

Members of the Winnipeg livestock exchange are complaining to the Government of the present severe enforcement of quarantine regulations by the U. S. government.

ONLY MEDICINE MADE FROM FRUIT

Extraordinary Success which "Fruit-a-tives" Has Achieved

One reason why "Fruit-a-tives" is so extraordinarily successful in giving relief to those suffering with Constipation, Torpid Liver, Indigestion, Chronic Headaches, Neuralgia, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Rheumatism, Pain in the Back, Eczema and other Skin Affections, is because it is the only medicine in the world made from fruit juices.

It is composed of the medicinal principles found in apples, oranges, figs and prunes, together with the nerve tonics and antiseptics of proven repute.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

British and Frendh Extend Outposts

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Geneva, March 20.—French troops have occupied Mannheim and Karlsruhe, on the west bank of the Rhine on account of Spartacan outbreaks there, the Vossische Zeitung says. The newspaper adds that the French also occupied Rheinau, five miles south of Mannselma and Whinhafen.

A Berlin despatch received Monday said that reports had been received there that the British and French had advanced their outposts from the limits of their bridge heads at Cologne and Mayence, respectively. The French were reported to have entered Frankfort.

Mannheim is south of Mayence bridge-head area, but is directly on the east bank of the Rhine, where it is joined by Neikar. Karlsruhe is about five miles east of the Rhine. There have been no reports of disorders in Mannheim and Karlsruhe recently.

DISMISSED SOLDIERS ASSISTED

Rome, March 20.—The government has appropriated 200,000,000 lire to assist discharged soldiers and officers and their families in going abroad. It is estimated that Argentina, the United States and Brazil will absorb fully 150,000 persons.

At a meeting in the commissariat of emigration, attended by the representative of the minister of war, provisions were adopted for the repatriation of dismissed soldiers who are going to foreign countries to rejoin their families. The persons departing will be assembled in the port embarkation and provided with food and lodging. At the time of taking ship they will receive a suit of clothes underwear, indemnity, a helmet, and a testimonial of character.

TRUANCY OFFICER BUSY.

One Man Ordered To Send His Children to School.

A local man was ordered to send his children to school by Magistrate Dumble in police court this morning when brought into court by Truancy Officer Finch Miller.

A record of the attendance of the children for some time will be kept by the teacher upon direction of the magistrate.

FAVORS 8-HOUR DAY

Brussels, March 20.—The Belgian Government the Socialist newspaper Peuple announces, has agreed to accept the principle of an eight-hour day, and to further efforts to have it included in the peace treaty Instructions to this effect, it is added, have been telegraphed to M. Vandervelde, the Socialist member of the Belgian Peace delegation.

OFFICERS DISBANDED

Washington, March 20.—Of the 188,434 officers of the army on duty when the armistice was signed 83,409 had been discharged up to March 13.

Toronto board of control made a recommendation to the city council yesterday to establish the eight-hour day in all civic departments.

Col. Raymond Collishaw, D.S.O., D.F.C., the famous Canadian ace, is seeking new aerial honors by making a flight acros sthe Atlantic Ocean, which he hopes to accomplish early in May.

Rev. Francis Lynch, a well known West Toronto pastor, died last night at the age of 50. He is survived by his widow, three sons and two daughters.

Returned officers of the 4th C. M. R. were tendered a dinner at the Ontario Club, Toronto, last night.

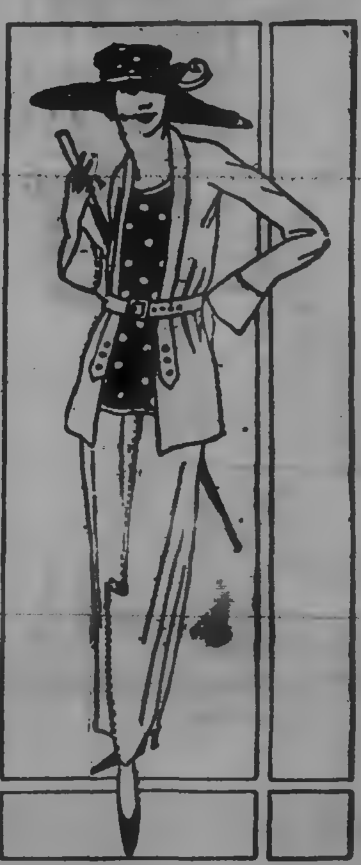
More farms have changed hands in St. Thomas so far this year than in any year during the past decade.

FOULARD FOR VEST

Material to Be Favorite, Taking Place of Fur.

Dresses and Suits for Early Spring Wear Show Trimmings and Linings of the Fabric.

Like the well-loved perennials of the garden, tulips, hyacinths and jonquils, which come back each year to find a joyous welcome, writes an authority, our old friend foulard will again be a favorite when fur coats are laid aside. Many of the dresses and suits designed for early spring wear show trimmings and linings of foulard. A simple sport coat of blue gabardine is given quite a dashing touch by its vest of dotted foulard—white dots on a blue ground. This vest is, in reality, the front of one of the new long-skirted peplum blouses, which are designed for wear with cutaway coats of various lines. When the coat is removed a very attractive foulard blouse is displayed. The edges of the neck, sleeves and the peplum are bound with white foulard. A narrow belt of patent leather holds the fullness at the waistline. The coat belt is made of its own material, held by a silver buckle. A stole-like collar completes the neckline of the coat and extends in tabs below the belt. The hat, which is designed for wear with this suit and blouse, is made of the same material as the blouse—that is, dotted foulard—and is faced with plain blue taffeta. It is bound with dark blue gros grain ribbon and a band of the same ribbon ties the crown.



The Foulard Vest.

YE OLDE FIRME

The Heintzman & Company Player-Piano

makes you so unconscious of playing that all your thoughts and feelings burst out in full expression, and you know it is far better, more thrilling music than you ever dreamed you could play. With its patented aluminum action it is free from air leakage, and is absolutely "weather-proof" and practically wear-proof."

Heintzman Hall
George & Hunter Streets
Peterboro, Ontario

COPY WAISTCOATS OF MEN

Garments Donned by Fastidious Beaux of Other Days New Charming Fashion for Women.

Waistcoats and waistcoat blouses are among the newest fashions from Paris, and are one more of the many charming old-fashioned modes which have been adapted to present-day styles. This particular fashion was taken from the clothes worn, not by the women, but by the men of long ago, for waistcoats of varied and brilliant fabrics were the garments most delighted in by the fastidious beaux of other days.

No less varied and fanciful are the waistcoats of today. They are made in the most delicate of chiffons, as well as in such wool materials as these times offer. Some of them consist of a front section of metal brocade which shows only when the coat is open, and others are made like a blouse, with sleeves of chiffon or crepe de chine, and with back and front of brocade or satin.

Waistcoats of this kind are worn with a suit, and when the coat is open they look much more substantial and effective than the ordinary blouse. Without the coat they make a one-piece costume of the suit, and one is not aware of any lack of harmony such as usually results from the use of an ordinary blouse and the suit skirt.

Rounding the Square.

In making bits of fancy work, one often has use for the perfectly round piece of material, but a pattern isn't always at hand, and guesswork is rarely a success. But if you have a square to work with, or make a square of your material first of all, rounding it won't be so difficult according to the following method. Fold your square in halves first of all, then in quarters, then in eighths. Now, holding the material with the diagonal fold to the right, round off the lower right-hand corner from a point about one-quarter of the way along the diagonal to the [illegible] opposite corner.

Good Explanation.

After looking over a vacant house with his parents, Willie, aged six, heard them discussing the rooms. All the rooms were immense and rather dark, with the exception of the dining room, which was very small and naturally lighter than the others. Willie said: "Yes, I guess the dining room was the lightest because it was closest to the windows."

Everything All Right.

Nellie was happily anticipating Santa Claus' visit. It was Christmas eve, and raining furiously. A friend happened in and said: "Santa Claus can't come tonight because it is raining." Nellie thought seriously a moment and said: "Oh, yes he can; he has his reindeers."

COAL

...AND...

Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Get Your Printing Done at the Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

Letter Heads
Bill Heads
Envelopes
Account Headings
Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

Telephone 189 and 435

The Peterboro Review Co., Limited

"If high rates of interest must still be paid on Canadian Government borrowings, ALL the people should have the opportunity to earn this interest".
—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

Why They Are Buying WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

The housewife is economizing in comfortable ways and investing in War-Savings Stamps at $4.02 each this month. In 1924, when these stamps are redeemed at $5.00 each, every dollar will have greater purchasing power.

The business man is cutting off small and unnecessary expenditures and buying War-Savings Stamps. He knows his money is available any time he really needs it, with added interest. $5 for $4 in five years is an excellent return on money otherwise idle.

School children are buying Thrift Stamps at 25 cents each and are filling their Thrift Cards in order to acquire a War-Savings Stamp. They are helping their country and acquiring the habit of Thrift.

Men on the farms are buying W-S.S. because the Government uses the money to finance export orders for the food raised on Canadian farms. This makes their market sure.

Men, women and children of all ages and conditions of life, are investing in W-S.S. because it is a convenient way to "build a bond". The security is absolute and the interest is unusually high. Some day they will look back with great satisfaction to the day when they bought their first War-Savings Stamps.

64

Have You Bought Your Stamp Today?

MILLBROOK

(Special Correspondence.)

Millbrook, March 19.—Mr. Charles Thorndyke was a visitor to Port Perry, on Friday.

Mr. Jakeman of Bethany was in town on Tuesday.

Miss Evelyn McKim of Peterboro was a guest of friends in town, last week.

Miss Mabel Uglow ,of Port Hope, spent the week end with Mrs. T. Hunter.

Miss Mary Deyell of Carmel was a guest of Miss Lila Pethick over Sunday.

Miss Betty Lee of Oshawa was a guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Lee, over Sunday.

Miss Margaret Bulmer of Peterboro was a guest of her aunt Mrs. T. Hunter on Monday.

Rev. Dr. W. D. Lee attended a committee of the Presbyterian General Assembly held in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Late J. R. Fitzgerald

The death of John R. Fitzgerald on Friday, March 7, removes a most highly respected citizen from our midst.

Deceased had been book-keeper for Kells, Fowler and Co., for many years and also Treasurer of Millbrook, both of which positions he filled with ability and thoroughness. He was a man of sterling qualities, a true friend and affectionate husband and father.

Born at Bailieboro, sixty-five years ago. He was united in marriage to Annie Sloane in June, 1885. To this happy union five children were born all of whom with their mother, survive. The sons are, Basil of Brooklyn; Bruce, of Port Hope; and Douglas, just home from overseas.

The daughters are—Mrs. J. W. Pickup of Toronto, and Miss Matie of the Sick Children's Hospital.

Mrs. John Armstrong, formerly of Millbrook and now of Fergus is a sister of the deceased.

The Funeral on March 10th under the direction of J. B. Hall lodge, A. F. & A.M. The church service was conducted by Rev. Canon Allen and the Masonic service by Rev. C. R. Spencer, W.M. The remains were taken to Toronto and laid to rest in Prospect Cemetery.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them being wreaths from Masonic brethren and the corporation of Millbrook.

Died—At Cavan, on Sunday, March 16, 1919, Clara Anne Tucker, wife of James Foster, aged 43 years.

The funeral took place on Tuesday March 18. Interment at St. John's Cemetery, Cavan.

Millbrook Curlers Won From Peterborough

Two rinks of Peterborough Curlers played an exhibition game with two rinks of Millbrook curlers on Friday afternoon. Peterborough brought eight skips with them and were after Millbrooks' scalp, but they were disappointed as the following will show:

Peterborough	Millbrook
John Reid	H. R. Edmunds.
W. Oke	W. O'Brien
D. Davidson	J. E. Allen
A. Moore	R. H. Edmunds
Skip 9	Skip 24
McDermid	H. B. Allen
Archibald	W. G. Hetherington
Foote	W. B. McCririck
Neill	John Steele
Skip 18	Skip 15
27	39

Millbrook 12 up.

Millbrook players are certainly to be congratulated. The ice was keen and a couple of good games were played.

Champion Stock Judgers

The final competition between the Stock Judging Team from Lanark County, the Winners at the Ottawa Fair and the Durham team, took place at Guelph on March 12, 1919. Two classes each of beef cattle, dairy cattle, heavy horses, sheep and swine were judged. Prof. Wade Toole and Prof. P. J. Sackville were the judges. The number of points made in each class for the two counties were as follows:—

Durham—Dairy cattle 460, beef cattle 434, horses 274, sheep 412, swine 345—Total 1925.

Lanark:—Dairy cattle 424, beef cattle 320, sheep 359, swine 351, horses 229.—Total 1690.

This makes Durham County a winner by 235 points.

This competition was arranged by the Union Stock Yards who paid all the expenses of the two teams. On Thursday the two teams and their trainers were shown through the stock yards and Swift's Abatoir, after which a luncheon was served at the Walker House and Mr. Fletcher presented the beautiful Silver Trophy to the winning team.

These three junior farmers and their instructor G. A. Williams spent considerable time visiting the best herds and flocks of live stock not only in Durham County but also in Ontario County, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria. When such honors are won by three junior farmers, Durham county can surely claim to be one of the best live stock districts in the Province.

Mrs. G. W. Sayles and son, Master George, were guests of friends at Norwood this week.

Mr. Todd was a guest of Millbrook friends last week.

Mr. Stenson of Peterboro was a guest of friends at the Waverley Inn on Sunday.

Mrs. E. L. Winslow was a visitor to Peterboro on Friday.

ATTENTION !!

Carpenters, Cabinet Makers, Bench Hands and all men running wood working machinery

Are you doing all you can to make the City of Peterborough a better place for your wife and children; and your mother to live in. If you are not you are not doing your bit during this reconstruction period.

HIT THE SAWDUST TRAIL to the Labor Hall, George Street, Peterboro, THURSDAY, MARCH 20, 1919 At 8 p.m.

J. F. MARCH, General Organizer

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, will address the meeting on "Trade Unionism and Reconstruction."

COME

NORWOOD TO HAVE NEW RESTAURANT

J. R. McKELVIE PURCHASES PROPERTY AND MAKES CHANGES.

Norwood, March 19.—The Women's Institute held a social and ball in the Town Hall on Monday evening of this week.

On account of the inclemency of the weather there was not a very large attendance, but all who braved the elements felt themselves well repaid as they had a very enjoyable time.

Music was provided by a Peterboro orchestra. Besides dancing games were played and any who did not wish to dance had opportunity to enjoy themselves in other ways.

Medicine Advertisers.

The East Indian Medicine Co., under the management of D. E. Kayes, have rented the Town Hall for the balance of this week, commencing Tuesday and will hold free entertainments each night. The object is to advertise and sell the medicine.

A New Restaurant.

Mr. J. R. McKelvie, who recently purchased the two stores on Peterboro street owned by Mr. O. Edwards and occupied one by himself as a barber shop and by Mr. Thomas McDonald as a harness shop, is at present overhauling the premises and putting them in shape for an up-to-date restaurant and ice cream parlor on one side and a grocery store on the other. Councillor McKelvie will be right at home in the restaurant business and will without doubt receive a liberal share of the patronage of the people of Norwood and the surrounding district. J. R. will spare no pains to make everything in connection with his venture so attractive that the people will be only too pleased to support something that has been missed since Mr. Watson sold out last year.

Business Changes.

Mr. Ollie Edwards has secured the premises adjoining Mr. K. G. Thomson's drug store on Colborne street(owned by Mr. C. J. Searight, and is prepared to attend to his ever increasing trade.

Mr. Thomas McDonald has rented one of Mr. Pearce's stores in the post office block for a harness shop. Mr McDonald moved into his new premises last week and is prepared to attend to the wants of his customers

Miss Hattie Farrell, who for many years was an esteemed citizen of Norwood but who has been residing at Madoc for the past year, was renewing acquaintances here last week for a few days.

Mrs. E. J. Laing returned home last week after spending a month at the home of her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) B. Eyre, Bright, Ont.

Late Howard Searight.

On Tuesday morning of last week Mr. Searight received the alarming news that his son, Mr. Howard Searight, of Montreal, was seriously ill with pneumonia. In the evening a further message was received that his son had passed away. Mr. and Mrs. Searight went on the midnight train to Montreal and returned on the early morning express on Thursday bringing the body.

The funeral was held at 11 o'clock on Thursday forenoon to the Norwood cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Searight have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

WHEN CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

The Real Rregretter.

"Doesn't your wife regret that she married a poor man?"

"Not so much as I do."

OMEMEE

(Special Correspondence)

Omemee, March 20. — The Saint Patrick social, which for years has been an outstanding feature in the social life of the Methodist Church, was held on Monday evening, and although the evening was very wet, a good crowd ventured out to pay tribute to the departed saint. On entering the basement of the church the inclemency of the weather was soon forgotten as the gay paddy green streamers, which decorated the room, greeted the eye.

A short interesting program was rendered amid much applause, after which a novel contest was put on called "A Family Contest." Slips were given out through the audience bearing such names as Mr. and Mrs. Moriarty, etc. Mr. Moriarty was given so many minutes in which to look up his wife and a group of five, each family to put on one number for an inpromtu program. A prize was given for the most talented family. In this way the following program was rendered and much enjoyed:

Mulloy family—Od Love Letters, by a grown up son.

McCue—"Three Blind Mice," chorus

Moriarty—"Off Agin, On Agin, Gone Agin," Mr. MacKay Finnigan.

O'Grady—Piano duet.

Houlihan—Sandwich eating contest.

Sullvan family—Violin and piano selection.

The serving of a dainty lunch brought to a close another most enjoyable evening. The proceeds amounted to almost $25.

Farm Women.

The United Farm Women of Ontario held their first meeting in coronation hall on Thursday, March 13, Mrs. Webster, of Oakwood, being the speaker of the evening. Mr. David Weir acted as chairman and Mrs. F Sandy was the pianist during the evening and a short and interesting program was rendered, after which refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

The Late Mary Davidson.

Miss Mary Davidson passed peacefully away at midnight on Sunday at the age of 78 years after an illness of several weeks. Deceased lady was a life long resident of Omemee and was beloved by all who knew her The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, a private service for the family being held at the home and later a public service at Christ Church, conducted by the rector, Rev Mr. James.

The floral tributes were many and very beautiful.

The late Miss Davidson was a daughter of the late Col. Davidson. Left to mourn the loss of a loving aunt are many nieces and nephews. Among those from a distance who attended the service were Mrs. Charles Davidson, of Beaverton; Mr. and Mrs. Wm Hungerford, of Lindsay; the Misses Davidson, of Toronto; Mrs. Hutchison, of Lindsay; Mrs. Mark, of Lindsay.

Mr. W. McCall, of Toronto, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pogue.

Mrs. Thos. Mitchell and daughter, of Peterboro, are spending a few days in the village.

Mrs. Sherin, of Minneapolis, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Dornan.

Mr. George Balfour, of Lindsay, attended the funeral of the late Miss Davidson on Tuesday.

The Misses Millard, McDonagh and Feir were visitors to Peterboro on Saturday.

Miss DeWar has returned to the village to conduct the spring millinery openings for Mr. Charles Ivory

Mr. Peter Ferguson, of Lindsay, was a visitor to Omemee this week

Miss Shea, of Fleetwood, is spending a few days in the village.

Miss Stinson, of Peterboro, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Bushnell over Sunday.

Soldiers' Aid.

The final meeting of the Soldiers' Aid Society was held in Coronation Hall, on March 18th, when the last bale was packed and sent to Red Cross headquarters, containing the following:—73 pair sockss, 4 suits pyjamas, 10 skirts, 15 dresses, 1 quilt; donated—26 pair socks, 10 skirts, 15 dressed, 4 suits pyjamas; East Emily 7 pair socks, Mrs. McCrea.

Since its organization in 1914 the Omemee Soldiers' Aid have knit and sent out 4866 pairs socks.

Balance of cash on hand, $321.80 which was divided between Serbian Belgian, French, Armenian Relief Funds.

Balance of wool, about 15 lbs., to be knit and sent to the Navy League under directorship of Miss Jewett.

Omemee, March 20.—After a winter of great quietness, owing to so much illness, Omemee, like so many other places, has broken into a whirl of social events—afternoon teas, card and dancing parties, and many entertainments. The doings of the past week are here recorded.

Belgian Relief Fund

ONTARIO BRANCH: 95 KING STREET WEST, TORONTO.

CLOSING MAR. 31

The work hitherto performed by Relief Organizations will be undertaken by the Belgian Government after March 31st.

Contributions of money and clothing will be received at 95 King Street West, Toronto, until that date.

FUND FOR BELGIAN ORPHANS of the WAR will, however, remain open, but contributions for this fund must be sent to N. Goor, Consul-General for Belgium, Ottawa, Ontario.

Monsieur E. Pollet, Consul-General for Belgium, London, England, makes the following appeal:

"The LIBERATION OF BELGIUM does not solve the problem of the future of the war orphans.

"Some idea can now be formed of the number for whom we shall have to provide. It can be stated that the orphans whose parents were deported and who died in Germany number more than those whose fathers have fallen on the battlefield."

MRS. ARTHUR PEPLER, Chairman.

Welcome to Soldiers.

Picture a packed hall, brilliantly illuminated, and gay to the last degree with flags and bunting. On the stage, with such a background Friday evening sat Nursing Sister Hayes, who has seen service in Egypt, in the uniform of the Imperial Nursing Sisters; on each side of Nurse Hayes a group of khaki-clad returned men, sixteen in all, whom the people of Emily and Omemee had turned out to welcome home again.

As our heroes filed on to the stage the pentup feelings of the multitude burst forth in three rousing cheers and a tiger, led by the chairman, Dr. Wood, of Lindsay. Immediately following, Reeve Parsons, on behalf of Omemee and Emily, read the illuminated address, which, with a handsome signet ring, was presented to each by Reeve Wilson. Following the presentation the large gathering joined lustily in singing "For they are jolly good fellows," after which Nursing Sister Hayes was the first to respond, followed by Corp. W. O'Neil and several others.

The response for the men in general was made by Rev. Mr. James.

At this juncture the dainty little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Earl came forward and presented Nurse Hayes with a beautiful bouquet on behalf of the ladies of the Women's Institute. The following program was then rendered:

Vocal Duet, "Home Again"—Mr. and Mrs. Southworth.

Chairman's Address—Dr. Wood.

Solo—Mr. H. C. Treneer, Peterborough.

Address—Rev. Mr. Lewis.

Piano Selection—Miss Pearl Rehill, Peterborough.

Vocal Duet—Mrs. Perdue and Miss Harrington, Downeyville.

Recitation, "The Coward" — Mrs. Lewis.

Piano Duet—The Misses Race.

Address—Father Galvin.

Piano Selection—Mr. Treneer.

Song, "Khaki Heroes, Welcome Home"—Miss L. Parsons.

Address—Rev. Mr. Maclanis.

Song—Miss Rita Johnson.

Piano Selection—Mrs. W. Herlihey.

God Save the King.

The Heroes.

The names of the boys received on Friday night are: Omemee—Sergt. Harold Cunningham, Pte. John McGhie (who had lost a leg), Gunner Hunter Lewis, Pte. Peter Birchell Emily—Sergt. Dan O'Brien, Corp. W. O'Neil; Ptes. Victor Callaghan, Thos. Cassidy and Albert Kinmore (returned prisoners of war); Ptes. Leo Flynn, Peter Perdue, James Kennedy, Reggie Louch, Jack Louch, W. Balfour, Lowery Brooks.

Pte. Houlihan of the American forces, who is visiting at his home near Downeyville, was also invited to the platform.

Social.

Mrs. L. A. Mahood entertained a number of ladies to afternoon tea last week.

Mrs. G. N. Earl was the hostess of an afternoon tea on Thursday of last week.

KEENE

(Special Correspondence.)

Keene, March 20.—The Keene curling and skating rink has been sold to a stock company. The new company purpose remodelling it and making it an up-to-date rink before another season rolls around.

Miss Lottie Wedlock returned to her home at Peterborough on Wednesday after a pleasant visit at the home of Mr. W. R. Wedlock.

Miss Margaret Bolin of Dartford was home over the week-end.

Mrs. John Wilson, who spent the past month with friends in Toronto, returned home last week.

Mr. Walter Neal of Peterborough is visiting friends here this week.

Miss Kerr of Peterborough was a guest for a few days this week at the home of Mrs. P. Roche.

Mr. Michael Kenneally was in Peterborough Saturday on business.

Miss Amy Macfarlane of Peterborough visited in the village over the week-end.

Miss Isabel McCarthy and brother James of Peterborough spent the week-end with their parents.

Mr. John McIntyre of Burbank spent a few days this week with Mr. Wm. Fletcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Howson, Mrs. R. N. Johnston and Mr. James Stewart attended the funeral of their sister, the late Mrs. Wm. Pilling, at Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. J. J. Dickson returned to Toronto on Saturday.

Mr. Wm. Brown was in Peterborough a few days this week.

Miss Howley of Douro was a guest the past week at the home of Mr. Patrick Roche.

Successful Concert.

The De Alva Concert Company closed a successful week's engagement in Keen on Saturday evening. Little Miss Barbara Mollison won the prize, a diamond chip ring, given by the company for the most popular baby in the vicinity. The company left on Monday for Norwood, where they will play this week.

Skaters' Assembly.

The skaters' assembly, given by the manager of the rink Monday night, proved a splendid success in every way, in spite of the inclemency of the night. A most enjoyable time is reported by those attending.

A dance was given in the Lang hall last Thursday night by the young men of the community. A number of young people from Keene and vicinity were in attendance and report a most enjoyable time.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison last Thursday afternoon and quilted three quilts for the society. A pleasant feature following the regular monthly meeting was the presentation by the president, Mrs. B. Kindred, of a certificate of life membership in the society to Mrs. Richard Short.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER.

Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fate that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

See the Sun Life agent about this.

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario
Crown Chambers Building, Peterboro, Ont.

D. H. MOORE } Inspectors
J. D. CAMERON }

PHONE 14

Early Spring Showing
IN FULL BLOOM

Fashionable Millinery
Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

A FINER LINE

Examine the STYLES, the QUALITIES the PATTERNS and the DISTINCTIVENESS

LADIES' SPRING DRESSES
The Styles, the Fit, are all authentic

-THE NEW SPRING HATS-
Are the latest New York models. Note the smart lines that characterize those creations, and the Economical Prices

SIMMONS FUR CO.
Arcade Store, George St., Peterboro

WARSAW

(Special Correspondence)

Warsaw, March 20.—Miss Rhoda Alford of Lakefield was a guest of her sister, Mrs. P. H. Lloyd, on Monday.

A 'bus load of pleasure seekers drove from Lakefield to the "At-home" given by the Patriotic Club on Monday evening, March 17.

Mr. Cecil Watson and Mr. Cecil Wilson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Russel on Monday evening.

Miss Lillie Calder was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Russel Monday evening.

Miss Ada Wilson was the guest of Miss Lula Bell of Cottesloe Tuesday.

Pte. Anscar Steeper of Guelph was a guest in Warsaw this week. Pte. Steeper leaves on Monday for Toronto, where he hopes to get his discharge.

Pte. Norman Hurt and sister, Mrs. Stanford, were guests in Warsaw on Monday.

Mr. T. Wilson spent the week-end the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. Freeburn, Young's Point.

Pte. Cecil Wilson spent Saturday in Peterborough visiting friends.

Humors of War.

A lecture on the humorous side of the war will be given by Capt. J. A. Dewart in the Methodist church here on Monday evening, March 24th, under the auspices of the W. M. S. A musical program will be rendered, consisting of solos, quartets, choruses and duets. Refreshments will be served in the basement at the close of the lecture. Admission 25c and 15c. Program at 7:30. Everybody welcome.

Social Evening.

A social evening was held Monday under the auspices of the Epworth League. A good program was rendered, and was enjoed by all, after which a light lunch was served.

Labor Party Is To Be Represented

Delegates from the newly formed local branch of the Independent Labor Party were given a seat at the Trades and Labor Council as a result of action taken at the meeting of the latter body, last night.

Their right to be represented was questioned by one of the members present, upon the grounds that the Independent Labor Party was a political organization and not a representative branch of any labor body in the true sense of the term.

A motion was proposed by this delegate to have the communication laid upon the table but no seconder could be found for it and as the rest of the meeting were in favor of having the representatives, P. Lloyd and T. Tooms take their seats their request for representation was granted There will be three additional delegates appointed from the Independent Labor party at its next meeting.

WILL NOT HIRE GERMAN SHIPS

UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD ISSUES STATEMENT TO THIS EFFECT.

Fashington, March 20.—Denial was made by the Shipping Board today of a rumor circulated in London relative to the use of German ships. The rumor was stated as follows in a cablegram received by Chairman E. N. Hurley from London:

"The question has been asked in Parliament about a rumor current in press and American broker circles that the Shipping Board is prepared to offer an equitable rate of freight to German ship owners for employment of their vessels. Associated governments in Paris propose to credit hire for German ships to German Government."

The Shipping Board's statement relative to the report follows:

"There are no grounds for such a rumor. The United States Shipping Board is working through the Allied Maritime Transport Council and the respective committees of the associated governments in Paris. Noproposal of any kind has been received or forwarded between the United States Shipping Board and the German Government as regards a proposal to give credit for the hire of German ships."

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

AN EYESIGHT SPENDTHRIFT

The spendthrift spends his money before he sees it, or wastes it when he has it. The eyesight spendthrift wastes and loses his vision by not taking proper care of it. Avoid this mistake by letting Dr. Fowler attend to the eyes at the first signs of weakness, and conserve the strength of the eyes by never straining them. He guarantees results.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, March 18—The W. M.S. in connection with the Methodist church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the parsonage. Arrangements have been completed with Miss Lottie Brooks to take the service on Easter Sunday when the annual thank-offering will be taken. Miss Brooks is a returned missionary from China and, no doubt, will be able to tell many interesting incidents in connection with her long term of service in that land. Miss Brooks prior to her departure for the mission fields, was a member of the Hastings congregation which will make her presence with us doubly interesting.

A number of our people drove over to Norwood on Friday evening to enjoy the excellent programme provided by the pupils of the high school, and were well repaid for the effort.

The funeral of the late Mr. W. Elphick, of Peterborough, took place on Saturday afternoon from the G. T. R. Station here. upon the arrival of the 3 o'clock train, interment being made in Trent Valley Cemetery.

Deceased was a brother in law of Mr. W. Hill, of town.

We understand that Mr. Ernest Tate has purchased a Chevrolet car from Dr. Hess, the local dealer.

Mrs. Geo. Buchanan returned on Saturday from a visit with friends in Otonabee.

Mr. R. Simpson is visiting friends in Michigan.

Miss Helen Chapman of Peterboro spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. Chapman.

Mr. Moore took a trip to Toronto during the week to visit his daughter, Miss Mable who is at present ill in the hospital there.

Miss Margaret Bailey is visiting friends in Warkworth.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Pettigrew are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

Rev. M. Johnson of Toronto, the representative of the Dominion Alliance, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning and of the Methodist Church in the evening. The reverend gentleman is a very forcible speaker and held the wrapt attention of his audience throughout. Subscriptions were solicited in aid of the Alliance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Best of Toronto are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tyler.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson took a car load of live stock to the city market on Saturday.

The millinery parlors of Miss N. Butler has been opened to the public with a large stock of the latest creations in ladies' head gear.

Mr. Charlie Ennes of Warkworth was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Geo. Dundas an employe of the Merchants' Knitting Factory left on Saturday for Peterborough.

Mr. Geo. Brooks spent the week end in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Watson of Norwood, Spent Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. Hess.

Miss Daisy Brooks spent Sunday at her home in Percy.

Mr. Gerald Wicket of Foxboro is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Prentice.

Mr. Lynn Hill of Campbellford was in town for Saturday.

The St. Patrick's Social on Monday, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church was a grand success financially and otherwise. An excellent supper was served consisting of pork and beans pie, cake, etc. After ample justice had been done to the good things the tables were cleared away and an excellent miscellaneous programme rendered.

Every one present appeared to thoroughly enjoy the evening.

Quite a number attended the Tom Marks entertainment in the Town Hall on Monday evening.

Mrs. W. Hill is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Some Norwood people attended the St. Patrick's social on Monday evening.

MARK STREET SERVICES

The services in Mark Street Methodist Church continue from evening to evening with deepening interest. The friends are inspired and helped by the addresses of the different speakers.

Thursday evening Rev. A. J. Thomas, B.A., B.D., of George Street Methodist Church, will speak and on Friday evening Rev. R. Pogue, of St Paul's will give an address.

A cordial welcome is extended to everybody.

The report of the Bank of Hamilton for 1918 showed steady expansion, with assets at $77,000,000.

Large shipments of oats and rye have been bought for export account.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN WOULD AID FRIENDS

SAYS TANLAC DID HIM SO MUCH GOOD HE WANTS TO GIVE EVERY OLD SOLDIER A BOTTLE.

"I wish I could give every old soldier a bottle of Tanlac, for from the way it has fixed me up I believe it would add years to their lives," said Frank B. Kendrick, a Civil War veteran, living at 4800 Charlotte ave., Nashville, Tenn.

"Some time back," he continued. "I had rheumatism so bad, and went down so fast, that it looked like I was on the verge of a general breakdown and had about despaired of ever walking again. I was fast losing what little flesh and strength I had left, and could hardly sleep and suffered constantly with headaches.

"After taking Tanlac a short while I began to improve. I kept it up till I have gained thirteen pounds and feel better and younger than I have in years. Tanlac just filled me with new life and energy and put me on my feet again; I have a fine appetite and can walk anywhere I want to go and hardly feel it at all."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

LABOR COUNCIL SENDS PROTEST

ASKS HYDRO COMMISSION NOT TO PURCHASE FOREIGN MACHINERY.

A communication from Sir Adam Beck was read at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, last night in regard to the enquiry made by that organization as to the truth of the report that the Hydro Electric Commission is importing electrical machinery from Sweden.

It was stated in the leter that it had not been the practice of the Commission in the past to import machinery from any foreign country if it could be purchased in Canada for anything like a reasonable sum.

Canadian plants were given the preference in cases where their price was even slightly in excess of that of foreign competitors but in the case in question a generator had been ordered for Healey Falls, from Sweden, twelve months ago for a price which was sixty per cent less than that of two Canadian firms which had been given the first opportunity to quote upon its construction. The Swedish firm had to pay duty which amounted to 35 per cent but in spite of this were able to furnish the generator at sixty per cent less than the home firms demanded.

Sir Adam's communication denied that representatives of the Commission had gone abroad to purchase additional machinery and stated that these men had gone to England to study conditions there as regarded electrical radial development.

Several of the delegates of the Trades and Labor council felt that the Hydro Commission were exploiting the cheap foreign labor market at the expense of home industries and one stated that the reason for Canadian plants at the time they had been asked to quote prices was the war conditions which prevailed. If the same opportunity were given them at the present time he was sure a much more reasonable figure would be asked as it would not be based upon abnormal war prices.

It was decided to register a protest against the action of the Commission in going to Europe for machinery as it would have a tendency to bring labor conditions. here. to the same level as those prevailing in Sweden and other such countries.

Think Lindsay Should Try Its M. S. Evaders

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL PROTEST BRINGING THEM TO PETERBORO.

At last night's meeting of the Trades and Labor Council the following resolution was submitted by Mr. Howard M. Mathews, and seconded by Mr. Stevens and after a short discussion adopted. It is self explanatory and a copy will be forwarded to the department of the Attorney-General of the Province as is stipulated in the motion:

"That this Trades and Labor Council representing 18 locals of the city of Peterborough does strongly protest against the action of the Dominion Police who have their headquarters in this city of bringing alleged defaulters from other counties for trial and temporary incarceration, here.

Inasmuch as all the alleged defaulters who have been dealt with in this city up to the present time have been residents of the County of Victoria and would, if accused of any other offence have been tried in their own County Town of Lindsay there is no apparent reason why the County of Peterborough or the City of Peterborough should be made the scene of their trial and temporary imprisonment in direct violation of the well known principle adopted in the administration of justice in the Dominion of Canada that a person accused of an offence must be tried in the County Town of the County in which that offence has been committed.

"We submit, therefore, that the action of the Dominion Police which we complain of above places an unjust burden on this City and County and as a result of the publicity given the trials and convictions of these men in the public press, places a stigma upon the fair name of this city and county which are amongst the most patriotic in the province and which have assumed their full share of the burden and responsibilit [illegible] arising out of the war.

We therefore demand that [illegible] Attorney-General of Ontario [illegible] steps to at once prevent future t[illegible] in this county and city of non [illegible] offenders against the Military [illegible]vice Act."

THE WAR SAVINGS CAMPAIGN IN GREAT BRITAIN EXPLAINED

By Basil P. Blackett, C. B., of the British Treasury, Member of National War Savings Committee, London, From February, 1916, to July, 1917, and Representative of British Treasury in United States Since July, 1917.

Th National War Savings Committee, appointed by the Chancellor of the Exchequer in February, 1916, had three aims:

1. To explain to all classes the necessity for saving during the war.
2. To create a country-wide organization to preach war savings and provide facilities for lending small sums.
3. To encourage as many people as possible to hold Government securities and to offer them the newly invented War Savings Certificate.

The campaign was founded on the simple economic truth that to spend money means to make someone work for you, and that anyone who spent for his or her private purposes more than was absolutely essential for health and efficiency was urging up someone's work and making it more difficult for the Government to find people to do work needed to win the war.

The Committee's first effort was to give wide publicity to this truth and to encourage or shame every member of the community into contributing his or her part by private self-denial.

It then began to organize the country. It established local War Savings Committees to encourage and supervise, and War Savings Associations which banded their members together to become regular savers and buy War Savings Certificates through their Association.

The War Savings Certificate was an entirely new form of Government security. It combined the advantages of being absolutely safe, yielding as high a rate of interest as any British Government security, absolute freedom from income tax, and of being convertible into cash at any time.

After a discouraging start, when war savings was universally unpopular, the campaign succeeded beyond the highest expectations. On the 1st of January, 1919, there were in Great Britain over 2,000 War Savings Committees, flourishing and active self-governing bodies so distributed that there was one within easy reach of every inhabitant. They supervised over 50,000 War Savings Associations The total number of War Savings Certificates sold exceeded 270,000,000 and less than 10,000,000 had been cashed. Something over £200,000,000 had been contributed through War Savings Certificates and at least one-third of the 45,000,000 inhabitants of Great Britain had become holders of Government securities.

The success of the War Savings Committee was such that in January 1917, it was called on to place its organization at the disposal of the Treasury for conducting the campaign for the War Loan of January and February, when close on £1,000,000,000 was subscribed. During the spring and summer of 1917 it conducted the Food Savings Campaign which preceded the introduction of the rationing system in Great Britain. Finally it is the War Savings Committee which from October, 1917, onwards has had charge of the campaign for selling National War Bonds, which has continued from that time on without cessation and has produced over £1,600,000,000 of subscriptions.

The National War Savings Committee in Great Britain does not mean to let its work come to an end with the end of the war. Indeed the vigorous committees would not permit this even if the Central Committee were to slacken its efforts. The end of military activity has not ended the need for saving. This is of course as true in Canada as in the United Kingdom. The work needed to win the war has indeed been provided—the goods have been delivered — but the burden of paying for them remains. For 4 ½ years the British Empire has not only stopped providing capital for new developments, but has also had to be sparing of repairs and renewals to its existing plant. If the burden of the war debts is to be lightened and if work is to be found for the returned soldier, capital must be provided to put the machine of industry into order and keep it in activity, and capital can only be created by saving. The post-armistice motto of the War Savings Committee in Great Britain is "Spend wisely." Every bit saved and invested becomes capital which will be used for reproductive purposes, and will provide others with worry.

In Canada I understand that the money raised by War Savings Certificates will be used directly for reconstruction expenditure. It will thus provide work for the returned Canadian soldier and add to Canada's wealth. The goods which that work produces can be lent to the Allies in Europe and to the people of Great Britain in exchange for their obligations—a perfect example of that spirit of co-operation among individuals in small things to produce world-wide results which is at the basis of the War Savings movement.

AN ENLIGHTENED SCHEME FOR SICK BENEFITS AND PENSIONS

The influenza epidemic of October and November last served to emphasize, in very striking fashion the benefit to employes of big concerns of an enlightened scheme of sick benefits and pensions.

The committee in charge of the Pension and Sick Benefit Plan, inaugurated in 1917 by the Bell Telephone Company has just issued its report for 1918.

"The influenza epidemic," says the report, "greatly increased the number of sickness cases, particularly between October 1st and November 30th. The total number of cases during these two months was 1023, seventy-nine per cent of which was influenza, while during the first nine months of the year the total number of cases was only 917."

The following figures from the report show the extent to which the fund is serving Bell employes:—

Pensions	$ 5,925.82
Accident Disability Benefits	8,428.65
Disability Expenses (accident only)	3,639.33
Sickness Disability Benefits	102,962.47
Death Benefits (including expenses)	26,308.79

ST. JOHN'S S. S. VICTORY LOAN

St. John's Sunday School Victory Loan list of subscribers will be posted in the School on Sunday next.

Any who have not subscribed and would like to do so should communicate direct to the Superintendent, Mr. R. J. Dovey, 255 [illegible] Phone 1323w.

A drive to raise the balance needed to complete this memorial fund will be inaugurated by the Teachers and Bible Class members after the regular session.

14 SPLENDID First Run Reels ROYAL THEATRE Double Show For Single Price 16c. TO ALL

Presenting the High Class Star Actor
CORINNE GRIFFITH IN THE GREAT VITAGRAPH DRAMA IN 5 PARTS
THE GIRL PROBLEM

Episode 12 of the Million Dollar Serial in 2 parts THE IRON TEST The Span of Terror

Third Episode of the great serial drama ot Thrilling Exploits played by the Boy Scouts of England, in 2 parts
BOY SCOUTS to the RESCUE

Highly amusing appearance of
CHARLIE CHAPLIN
IN THE FUNNIEST OF FUN STUNTS
A NIGHT IN THE SHOW

Big V Vitagraph Comedy Presenting LARRY SEMONS in PLUCK and PLOTTERS

The BEST SHOW IN CANADA for the Money. THIS BIG FINE PROGRAM SHOULD FILL THE HOUSE IN EVERY SECTION TO-NIGHT ONLY

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A GIRL, 18 TO 20, with High school education. For particulars Apply Review Office.

KITCHEN MAID TO ASSIST cook, and other kitchen duties, for a large apartment house; wages $30 per month; board and lodging; fare to Toronto paid. Apply Review Office.

CHAMBER MAID FOR LARGE apartment house; wages $30 per month with board, and transportation to Toronto. Apply Review Office.

HELP WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS COOK FOR A large apartment house. Wages $50 per month with board and lodging. Apply Review Office.

WANTED

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

WANTED—30 GAL. COPPER or galvanized iron boiler with or without gas heater. State how long in use. Apply Box 439 Review Office.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED stenographer; used to distation. Permanent position; highest salary. Apply in writing, stating experience, to Box 239.

VICTORY BONDS WANTED. All issues bought for cash. Apply Box 237, Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINSON Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT—At 479 Cadar street; house in first-class conditon. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 264.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 213 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845.

WHY KAISER FLED.

His Predicament at End of War Explained.

It was the Kaiser's intention up to the last to remain with his troops, according to Prof. Lanz, who has been treating the ex-Emperor for influenza and has given an account of his visit to Amerongen to the Amsterdam Handelsblad. Wilhelm only gave up when by the revolutionary movement among the troops in Belgium and on the Rhine he was shut off from Germany, says the Handelsblad, and continues with the following account of why he sought refuge in Holland:

"If, notwithstanding these circumstances, the Kaiser had remained with the troops, the Entente, by increasing the starvation blockade, would have been able to force his extradition from the German people, which would have caused them such heavy disgrace. Second, the Kaiser could have given himself up to one of the enemy generals, but that would have been a disgrace for an unbeaten supreme command and for an unconquered German army. Third, he might have assembled all his forces for one last attack, in order to die gloriously, but as the armistice, for which the army and the people longed, was imminent, the Kaiser could not reconcile it with his conscience to sacrifice uselessly the life of a single German soldier. Fourth, he could have collected a body of trusty troops to march on Berlin to insure loyalty to his house by the sword. This, however, would have unchained civil war.

"In face of this difficult problem, the Kaiser decided to follow, as he always had done, as a constitutional monarch, both during peace and during war, the advice of his responsible counsellors. These in this case were the Field Marshal (Hindenburg), the Quartermaster-General (Groner), and the representatives of the Department of Foreign Affairs. Their advice was unanimous that he should go to Holland."

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Peterborough

Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Children's Aid Society

— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 20.—Receipts fair, trade good, prices generally higher, especially in the case of hogs.

Choice export cattle..	$15.00	$16.00
Choice butcher	10.50	13.00
Medium butcher cattle	9.50	10.75
Ewes	11.00	13.50
Lambs	18.25	19.25
Hogs, fed and watered	20.00	20.00
Hogs, f.o.b.	19.25	19.25
Calves	15.00	17.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag.. ..	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 00
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring) . .....$	2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush. .	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	55
Rye, per bush.	65	65
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed ...	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1 .....$	6 00	$ 7 00
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'..	25	25
Deacon and bob calf..	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1 ...	7	7
Cakes, No. 1	8	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

There is a belief in certain sections of the steel and iron trade and it seems to be fairly well founded too, that the talk about price reductions coming is being carried on at too great length. It can have only one effect, that of holding back purchasing. There are firms today who would order one hundred tons of plate for instance. They have the work to guarantee it. Instead of making it in one purchase, however, the policy is to let the mills have only twenty or so tons at a time, in the hope that at least a large portion of the order will get the benefit of whatever reductions may be made. It is also worth noting that as low as 2.85 per pound has been quoted at an American point for a fairly large sized order of plate. April 1 seems to be the date at which all agree something is liable to come out in regard to a new schedule of prices.

The scrap metal market continues dead. Dealers apparently have not the heart to come out and batter down the price lists to any lower level, although they could apparently do it. This market, it is expected, will improve when iron and steel come to levels where buying will commence. The two markets are very closely allied, as the scrap is needed as soon as the foundries begin taking on any large tonnages of pig for actual use. As soon as price matters are settled there should be a lot of business moving in Canada, as stocks are low and demands will be heavy.

Many of the machine tool dealers are now setting stocks that have been off the market for some time, owing to the factories that made them being engaged in munitions. Some of the builders also find that they have in their shops the "makings" of very heavy machines that were used primarily on certain operations in gun work. Very large gap lathes, for instance, are being offered direct from the mills at a considerable reduction on the usual price, and as one of these machines is apt to be an $8,000 undertaking, a discount of ten or fifteen per cent, runs into some real money.

The bulk of the business that has been passing in machinery since the first of the year has been in rebuilt material. Some of the men in the business are showing considerable ingenuity in remaking war shop machines. In one place by a very simple contrivance a cutting-off machine, purely a war shop proposition, has been remade into a turret lathe.

Although there is nothing positive to go by, the rumor persists that higher prices will be asked for drills, taps, reamers, etc.

Lord Birkenhead Becomes Keeper of the Great Seal.

Some Historic Anecdotes

SIR F. E. SMITH, the new Lord Chancellor of Great Britain and Ireland, is going to take the title of Lord Birkenhead. It is an excellent title, but his visit to Paris the other day raised many questionings among the [illegible]. The Lord Chancellor is the guardian of the Great Seal, the official sig[illegible] all writs, charters, and grants from the crown. In the old days the Great Seal was known as "The Key of the Kingdom." The Lord Chancellor is also the Lord Keeper of the Great Seal. In the unwritten constitutional usage of Great Britain there are two stars that never set. The Great Seal, symbol of sovereignty, cannot make a legal exit from the kingdom. And when the Lord Chancellor, Lord Keeper of the Great Seal, leaves the kingdom a commission must be appointed to take charge of it and see that it and the Commonwealth take no detriment. Cardinal Wolsey carried the Great Seal as far away as Calais, but Calais was then British. Lord Haldane was over in the United States six or seven years ago. It is said that these were the only two Chancellors to deport the Great Seal. In Lord Haldane's case, however, the guardianship of the sacred emblem was properly assured by the appointment of Commissioners, of whom Lord Morley, "a better parson than politician," somebody said, was one. Lord Haldane was gone for only two weeks, but the Constitution had to be defended.

SIR F. E. SMITH.

The London Times recalls the story of Lord Brougham's troubles with the Great Seal in William IV's time. In 1834 he wanted to take a trip on the Rhine, but he found that if he did he would have to put the Great Seal in commission, which would cost him the tidy sum of $7,000. Being of a frugal mind, he and the Great Seal went to Scotland. At some country house the ladies amused themselves by taking the Great Seal from Brougham's bedroom and hiding it. "When he recovered the precious object from a tea chest in the drawing room, he allowed the ladies to make pancakes with it by pouring the ingredients between the disks, but he never again became the Lord Keeper of the Great Seal." Served him right!

In George III's time the Great Seal was stolen from Lord Thurlow's house in 1784. The day before, Pitt had made up his mind to appeal to the country. A proclamation to dissolve Parliament has to bear the Great Seal, so the Whigs were accused of "burglary." Lord Eldon, the snuffiest and most pig-headed of Lord Chancellors, never went to bed without satisfying himself that the Great Seal was still in his possession. In 1812 his house caught fire. He saved the Great Seal. In fact, "he rushed into the garden with the Great Seal in his arms and buried it in a flowerbed."

In these more practical and less ceremonious times the custody of the symbol of sovereignty may be less important. Still, Sir F. E. Smith has stirred quite a tempest in the antiquarian teapot.

Striking Oil.

Before oil is struck it is often necessary to bore to a depth of over 1,000 feet. From many of the wells the oil has to be pumped; from others it gushes upwards through the iron piping with a force that sends it to a height that may be up to 600 feet or more. The latter form of well goes under the name of spouter. Obviously, when a well spouts, much oil would be waster if the flow comes into play. A workman, clad in an oil and gas-proof dress that resembles that of a diver and is fitted with the usual long air tube, approaches the well from which the oil is gushing and fixes a cap with a "gate valve" to the pipe, thus arresting the flow. Then a branch connection pipe is fitted for the conveyance of the oil to the reservoirs. The gas given off by spouters causes all silver within a radius of many miles to turn black.

A New Discovery.

A new heat insulating material composed of a mixture of a special clay and cork, has been discovered by a Norwegian engineer. The clay and cork mixture is burned, and the result is the formation of a very light substance that is said to be eminently suitable for all heat insulating purposes.

Dad Knew.

"Dad, what are the silent watches of the night?" "They are the ones which their owners forget to wind, my son."

Optimistic Thought.

Keep good company and you'll be of them.

Match Scratcher.

Save the strip of sandpaper that comes on the match boxes and tack on jamb of door with tiny Swede tacks; or strips of sandpaper may be cut five inches long and three-eighths inch wide. Place a tack at each end and one in the middle. This will not interfere with opening and closing of door, and will save steps in running back to get another match.

The Sun and Flowers.

In flowers of the common nasturtium the low sun of the early morning developed yellow coloring matter, the middle sun brought out the reds and the midday sun stimulated the violets, blues and purples, according to observations by Col. R. E. Rawson, in a report to the Royal Microscopical society.

Novel Experiences.

Did you ever chance to see a sword fish, a bottle fly, a stone fence, a cat nip, a bed spring, a mill race, corn prick up its ears or a potato wipe its eyes? Or have you ever had the novel experience of hearing a birch bark, a pillow tick, or a tree top hum? asks Gas Logic.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry received an enthusiastic welcome in Ottawa yesterday.

Orders for Coal

taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Cord Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.

Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.

Store and Apartment to rent.

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. 285 Bethune St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 396

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
(COAL DEALERS)
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.
Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:25 a.m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p.m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

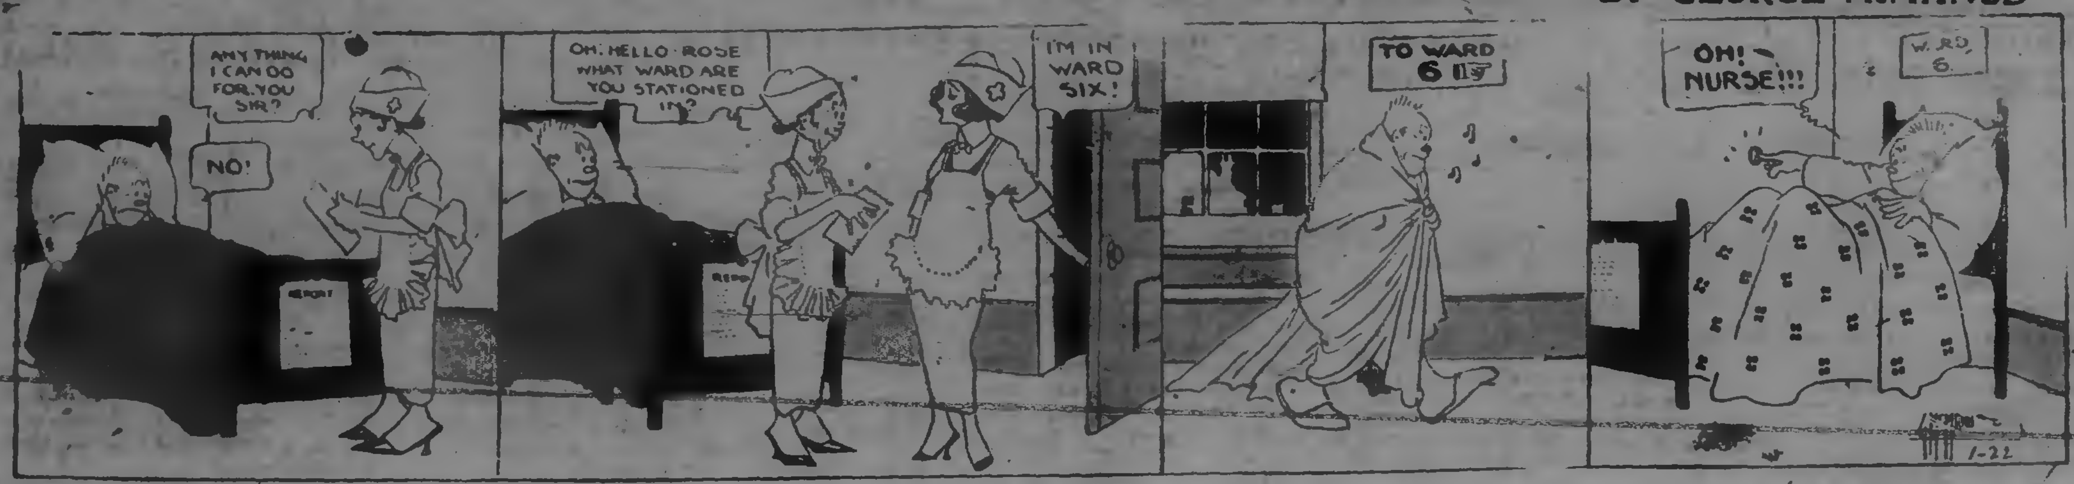
2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:[illegible] p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



ANY THING I CAN DO FOR YOU SIR?
NO!
OH! HELLO ROSE WHAT WARD ARE YOU STATIONED IN?
I'M IN WARD SIX!
TO WARD 6
OH! NURSE!!!
WARD 6.
1-22

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS

TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS. YOU

5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor

JAKE SOLOMON . . Mgr

U.T.S. WIN EASY VICTORY FROM REGINA PATRICIAS

Run Up Score of Fourteen to Three Against the Western Champions.

Toronto, March 20.—Team play and finished hockey ability against a team without any system is the reason that University Schools of Toronto last night, defeated the Patricias of Regina, by the one-sided score of 14 to 3. The O.H.A. champions outclassed the Saskatchewan-Manitoba champions in almost every department, and while a second game is scheduled for Saturday night under Western rules, there is no doubt but that the Bloor Street boys will become the first winners of the O.H.A. memorial cup. U.T.S. led by 2 to 0 at the end of the first period and by 7 to 2 at the end of the second.

In Duthowski the Patricias have one of the fastest skaters in junior hockey, but his 190 pounds is useless to him when playing away from home. This player, who is the star of the team at home, has a wicked shot and a very easy style of skating but he always wants his opponent to handle him easy. If they muss him up at all, why he becomes about as useless as Mickey Roach and McCarthy of the Tigers, are against St. Patrick's on the Arena ice.

The Westerners possessed hockey ability, but they didn't know anything about team play. Their forwards would roam all over the ice, and they rarely checked back. The local wings practically ran wild, and with the two defence men always paying attention to the puck carrier instead of each man taking a forward, a pass from the rushed over in front generally found the U.T.S. man uncovered and with nobody but the goaler to beat. The latter had a very busy evening, and while he stopped several warm ones he also let in a few easy counters.

U.T.S.—Goal, Sullivan; defence, Rowell, Munro; Centre, Aggett; Right, Jeffery; Left, Gregy, Subs Kearns, Gunn.

Regina—Goal, Brown; Defence, Hackney, Kingham; Centre, Harding; Left, Duthowski; Right, Conrad, Subs Cropper, Molisky.

Officials—Lou Marsh, Toronto, and Hughes, Winnipeg.

The Summary

First Period—
1—U.T.S., Jeffery 5.00
2—U.T.S., Aggett 10.00

Second Period —
3—Regina, Duthowski 2.30
4—U.T.S., Jeffery 1.00
5—U.T.S., Aggett 6.00
6—U.T.S., Aggett 3.00
7—U.T.S., Munro 2.00
8—Regina, Conrad 2.00
9—U.T.S., Aggett 2.00

Third Period —
10—U.T.S., Jeffery 2.00
11—U.T.S., Jeffery 3.00
12—U. T. S., Aggett 3.00
13—Regina, Wingham 1.00
14—U.T.S., Munro.......... 4.00
15—U.T.S., Jeffery 2.00
16—U.T.S., Jeffery 2.00
17—U.T.S., Aggett 1.30

De Laval Win In Last Night's Bowling

Last night in the Five Pin League at the Water street alleys the Bankers took two games out of three from the De Laval, winning the last game by one pin. For the Bankers Burtis and Cranfield passed the 500 mark. For the De Laval Barrette rolled 614 and had high single of 243. Garrow also passed the 500 mark. Scores:

De Laval.

Garrow	126	201	179	506
Lafave	130	193	141	464
Rishea	149	137	112	442
French	111	..	..	111
Carter	..	144	228	372
Barrette	140	231	243	614
	650	926	903	2479

Bankers.

Hayes	93	178	212	483
Cranfield	194	197	117	508
Giroux	155	141	200	496
Burtis	144	132	234	510
Ivey	163	112	141	416
	749	760	904	2412

Y. Bowling Results Wednesday Night

In the first match on the "Y." alleys, McLeod, who substituted for Simson, won two out of three games from Dobbin. Scores:

Dobbin	131	173	118	422
Best	113	125	109	347
Campbell	145	136	95	376
	389	424	322	1145
McLeod	138	171	139	448
Herbison	148	174	112	434
Brooks	98	111	148	357
	384	456	399	1239

In the second match Langley won all three games from Mayneord. The scores were:

Langley	152	174	104	430
Hurry	74	124	197	395
Shirley	157	141	132	430
	383	439	433	1255
Mayneord	142	182	174	498
McBride	80	97	128	305
Elliott	112	144	52	309
	335	423	354	1112

OPPOSE LEAGUE.

Carson City, Nevada, March 20.—By a vote of 8 to 4 the senate of the Nevada Legislature refused to pass a resolution endorsing a league of nations "of which the United States shall be a member." The resolution was passed by the assembly early in the session.

Canada Food Board License No. [illegible]

D. M. MINICOLA

Best Fruit— Cheap

Best Vegetables— Reasonable

Best Groceries At Right Prices

410 GEORGE STREET

Bell Phone [illegible]

BILL TO LICENSE BOXERS IN STATES

PROMOTERS, MANAGERS, TIMEKEEPERS, JUDGES INCLUDED IN MEASURE.

Albany, N.Y., March 20.—At the request of the Army and Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control, Senator Jas. J. Walker, of New York introduced in the Legislature today a bill designed to provide for the legalising of boxing bouts. This is the third boxing bill that has been presented to the 1919 session.

Under the provisions of the measure there would be a State Athletic Commissioner and two deputies to supervise boxing. Twelve rounds would be permitted, with decisions rendered by a referee and two judges. Five-ounce gloves would be used each contestant would be subjected to an examination by a physician before the entering the ring, the contestants would be over seventeen years old, and no boy under sixteen years would be admitted as a spectator.

The unique feature of the bill is in the provision that all boxers, promoters, managers, timekeepers, judges, referees, trainers, and handlers would be licensed by the Army and Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control, which already has been incorporated by the Secretary of States. The licenses would be forfeited in the event of any offence being committed. The purpose of the licensing feature is to obtain as complete control over boxing as is exercised by the Jockey Club over racing.

The Senate Judicial Committee today reported out the Gibbs bill to legalize boxing.

CANADIAN BOWLERS

St. Petersburg, March 20.—The lawn bowling contest for the trophy presented to the St. Petersburg Lawn Bowling Club by H. Heintzman, of Toronto, was finished here Saturday Twelve rinks were in competition. The two that won through to the finals were:

Dr. C. H. Burritt, Mitchell, Ont skip; W. D. Samson, Blenheim; C. R Willis, Milwaukee, Wis.; W. H. Mihel Strathroy, Ont. John Kennedy Guelp, Skip, L. L. Barber, Tessex. Ont.; Jolliffe, Toronto; Eglen Taylor St. Petersburg. Mr. J. Kennedy's rink was successful by a score of 22 to [illegible]

WOODSTOCK MAY PLAY SATURDAY

FOR JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP INSTEAD OF THE PATRICIAS OF REGINA.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Toronto, March 20.— Secretary W. A. Hewitt, of the Ontario Hockey Association, intimated this morning that the Woodstock runners for the O.H.A. junior championship may be substituted for the Patricias of Regina, for the game on Saturday night against the U.T.S., who gave the Patricias such a beating last night. The Patricias may be asked today to default their second game and give Woodstock an opportunity for a good exhibition game with the U.T.S. A decision will probably be reached this afternoon.

LEAFS ORGANIZING.

The following players have been ordered to report at Toronto on April 9th by Manager George Gibson of the Leafs:

Infielders—Onslew, Wagner, Gonzales, Busse, Purtell, McInnis.

Outfielders — Gadsby, Whiteman, Reilley, Breckenridge, Anderson, Morton (Montreal), Harmon (London), Westlake (Toronto).

Pitchers—Heck, Hersche, Quinn Aichele, Peterson, Justin, and Hanson sporting editor of St. John's Times).

Catchers—Gibson and Fisher.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

CANADIENS ARE BADLY BEATEN BY SEATTLE

Seven to Nothing is the Score in the First Game of the Stanley Cup Series.

Seattle, March 19.—Seattle Mets tonight cut the wings of the Flying Frenchman who came from Montreal to try for the world's title. The local team, title-holders of the West, defeated the visitors 7 to 0 in the first game of the championship series. Canadiens were outskated and outchecked by Seattle. The visitors showed they were on strange ice and were plying under Western rules and not their own. The Arena was jammed to the doors with spectators.

Back and forth for the first three minutes the puck was shot up the ice. Both Wilson and Rickey made long rushes for Seattle. Murray, after minutes play, scored the first goal for Seattle on a pass from Rickey. Foyston four minutes later scored for Seattle on a pass from Rickey. Hall replaced Cleghorn in the Canadien line-up.

During most of the first period Seattle kept the play in the territory of the Flying Frenchmen. Lalonde made a hard try for a goal after a pretty rush, but Holmes kept him out of the tally column.

Toward the end of the period the red sweatered visitors seemed to recover themselves and forced a part of the play to the Seattle end, but Seattle fighting tigers checked many of their rushes. Joe Hall and Lalonde twice worked the puck through the outer defence, but failed to get it by Holmes. Vezina, the Montreal goaler, was the target of shots from Bobby Rowe and Jack Wlker. The period ended with Rowe trying for a goal. It looked as though he made it, and the crowd roared, but he missed by inches. The crowd cheered wildly when the period ended with the standing Seattle 2, Canadiens 0.

Murray is Injured.

Seattle continued fighting hard and ran the puck to the Montreal nets, but not in, at the opening of the second period. As in the first period, the puck seemed continually around the visitors end of the ice. Back and forth the puck was shot. Lalonde. Hall and Corbeau working hard for Montreal.

Six minutes from the whistle starting play Wilson put the puck in the Canadiens' nets for the third Seattle goal. Murray was hurt in a mix-up and was assisted off the ice, suffering from a badly smashed thumb.

Although Seattle was doing the scoring the visitors were playing harder. Montreal got in some good checking when Seattle's hopes attacked their defence. Two shots in rapid succession were fired at Vezina, who, however, barred them both. "Some hockey," Manager George Washington Kennedy, of the visitors, told the Canadian Press just before the period closed. The play became faster and checking heavy on both sides. Each time the Canadiens worked the puck past the blue line some Seattle man grabbed it from them and worked it quickly to the visitors' end of the line. Jack Walker put in the fifth goal for Seattle in seven minutes.

"Happy" Holmes in Form.

Third period—Foyston scored the sixth goal in five minutes. After a few flashes from end to end Lalonde shot at Holmes with a determined whack, but "Happy" blocked his effort. Foyston and Rowe passed the puck back and forth the length of the rink, but failed to get a shot.

Seattle put another in the net for the seventh tally in five minutes. It was Foyston who rang the bell for the Mets after Walker and Wilson had brought the puck to the Montreal end of the ice. Both sides were going at a fast clip. The play was equally divided between the two teams. Lalonde was behind the puck most of the third period. Pitre helped in checking the Seattle rush. Foyston staged a dashing one-man drive from mid-ice, but failed by a narrow margin to score. McDonald was put in for Cleghorn and Souture replaced Berlinquette.

Montreal shot twice at Seattle's net but Holmes was between each time. Couture starred for Canadiens in the third. The big fellow was in nearly every play. He got into the game as soon as he was on the ice and gave a great exhibition for checking. Sixteen minutes from the finish McDonald scored. The line-up:

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defence, Corbeau, Lalonde; rover, McDonald; centre, Berlinquette; wings, Pitre, Cleghorn; subs., Hall, Couture.

Seattle—Goal, Holmes; defence Rickey, Rowe; rover, Walker; centre, Murray; wings, Foyston, Wilson; sub., McDonald.

O. H. A. RULES ADOPTED.

O. H. A. playing rules were adopted in their entirety at the first annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association since 1915 held yesterday at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

CABLE FLASHES

The educational board of the Presbyterian Churches has arranged for a full theological session to be held at Queen's this summer, in response to the representations of returned men.

At the meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association held in Toronto yesterday, charges of "manipulating and railroading" were made against the Hydro Commission.

Major Reginald Conover, a returned officer twice wounded has been appointed Customs Officer at Brampton.

The date for the election of delegates to the Hungarian National Assembly has been fixed for April 13

Denial has been given to the report that Premier Clemenceau would [illegible] the office of Minister of War

The French Government has consented to the resumption of horse racing in France beginning May 5.

Spectacles on Potato.

A spectacled potato has been lifted by an allotment holder on the Tredegar estate at Newport, Monmouth. England. The bridge of the spectacles rests across the middle of the potato, in which it is embedded. The glasses are unbroken, but the steel frame, also unbroken, has rusted.

Life's Minor Worries.

Frequently a woman worries a great deal over the question of calling on another woman who doesn't care in the least whether she calls or not.—Boston Transcript.

Nope, They Won't Do.

Said the facetious feller: "Young married people are fond of calling each other pet names, but who ever heard 'em use Fido and Tabby?"

Uncle Eben.

"De truth ain't allus easy to git at." said Uncle Eben. "A man kin sometimes say suppin' in half a minute dat he can't explain in five years."

Impossible.

"I want you to know," bellowed the angry man, "that I'm not as stupid as you think I am!" "Sure not," replied his friend. "You couldn't be."

Peat Is an Insulator.

Compressed peat is being developed by a European inventor as a sound insulating material.—Ohio State Journal.

Destroyed Builders' Bills.

Nobody ever will know how much the great palace of Versailles cost France under the reign of its builder, Louis XIV. Louis became badly scared when he received the bills, because he had heard a good deal about some disturbers who were whispering that even a king had no right to spend so much money for a palace to house his friends when the nation over which he ruled was starving. So Louis did what many a purchaser of expensive hats has done since—tore up the bills and burned them before anybody could look them over.

Last Word In Frightfulness.

The Figaro recently published a letter written by Dr. Calmette and addressed to the Mayor of Lille. Dr. Calmette, who had remained at the head of the Lille Institute Pasteur ever since the German invasion, in this letter protested against the Germans taking away the last three horses which had been used for the production of antidiphtheric serum.

A veterinary had pronounced these horses as being unfit for any service; they were not even [illegible], and they were absolutely needed by the Institute for the production of diphtheria anti-toxin. His protest was ineffective, although this action was a violation of The Hague Peace Convention, an infringement of the rights of men and an act of gross inhumanity, because it deprived the already sorely tried and unfortunate civil population of the much needed serum for the treatment of diphtheria, especially at a time of the year when this disease is of common occurrence among children. Calmette says that at the proper time he will bring this matter to the attention of all learned societies the world over. Calmette's wife was taken to Germany last year as a hostage.

Gifts to the Speaker.

Some quaint privileges pertain to the office of the Speaker of the House of Commons. One of these is the gift every year from the Master of the Buckhounds of a buck and a doe killed in the royal preserves of Britain. The buck duly arrives in September, the doe coyly following a couple of months later. The custom goes back as far as records remain and with it is established a fixed fee by way of honorarium to the official who forwards the beast.

Later in the year, somewhere about Christmastime, the Speaker receives another tribute, the donors on this occasion being the Clothworkers' Company of London, who sent a present of a generous width of the best broadcloth.

Further, the Speaker is entitled to £1,000 of equipment money and two thousand ounces of plate immediately on his election, two hogsheads of claret, and £100 a year for stationery.

In former times the income of the Speaker was £5 a day, in addition to fees on private bills. His salary has now been fixed by Act of Parliament at £5,000 a year.—Tit-Bits.

Could Dispose of Case.

A magistrate postponed a case for a week, but one of the attorneys insisted on having it heard at once. "What is it about?" asked the magistrate. "Your honor, it is about a case of two dozen bottles of wine." "Oh, is that is all," returned the magistrate, "the court can easily dispose of that case at once!"

Lackawana Coal Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-262

WRIST & BRACELET Watches

in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's

387 George St. Next Turnbull's

Mixed Wood $9.00 per cord

Hard Wood $12 per cord

Cutting and Splitting extra

Hard Coal

Pea Coal .... 10.60 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

HARD COAL

[illegible]

EGG, STOVE,

NUT AND PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON

160 AYLMER ST.

Phone 209

The Canadian Pacific Railway earned 10.97 per cent. on the common share in 1918.

Pte. John Prince, Windsor, who returned from overseas only one week ago, passed away yesterday afternoon at his mother home in that city, from spinal meningitis. He was aged 32 years.

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices —executed by men who are craftsmen—try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.

HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

Yours Eyes Will Tell You

If your eyes are laboring under an undue strain you must be conscious of something wrong. For your own good, allow us to make a careful examination of your eyes. See W. H. LACEY, Exclusive Optometrist, 410 George Street.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR

Choir practice for all the members of St. John's Choir will be held tonight in the Guild Room at 8. Boys at 7.30.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

NOTICE TO MOTORISTS

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Automobile Association will be held in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, on Friday evening, March 21st, at 8 p.m. Every motorist in the County is invited to be present for matter of importance will be discussed, among which are Impending Legislation, Ontario Good Roads Scheme as means of employment, the coming Motor Show and also Election of Officers for the year 1919, will be held.

[illegible] H. O. FISK, Sec'y-Treas.

AUCTION SALE

Of household furniture, etc., at the home of Mr Jno. Lacheur, 211 Rubidge street, on Monday March 24, including piano, chesterfield, fumed oak dining suit, 2 wilton rugs, etc., 2 brass beds, bear and wolf rugs, mounted, etc. Set Lamoise china. Parties wishing to inspect same may do so Saturday evenings.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auct.

AUTOMOBILES AND TRUCKS, ETC

For sale two 1918, on 1917, some older models, Ford Touring Cars. Two 1918 Ford Roadsters. All in good running order. These look like new Ford Delivery Car with wire screen body, in good order. A good buy. Don't miss this.

Two-ton Form A Truck, complete with continental motor. Lots of

For sale two 1918, one 1917, some

DUFFUS GARAGE.

RUMMAGE SALE

Knox Church Ladies Aid are holding a rummage sale on Thursday and Friday, April 10th and 11th in the Lecture Hall of the church.

There will be new and second hand articles sold and also home made cooking. Any person having donations for this sale kindly phone 1114j 215 or 2066w and they will be called for.

U. F. O. BANQUET

The Peterboro branch of the U. F. O. have secured Mr. J. A. Maharg M.P. of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Mrs G. A. Brodie, Newmarket, Ont., resident of the U. F. W. O., to speak at their banquet at the Empress Hotel, on March 27th, at 7 p m. Tickets $1.25 each may be had at Wm. Madill's drug store.

C. O. F. NOTICE

Court Peterborough No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, will hold their regular meeting Friday evening, Mar 21st, at 8 o'clock sharp. Nominations of delegates for High Court will take place. All members are requested to be present.

ST. JAMES SERVICES

Rev. F. E. Mallott, B.A., B.D., will speak at St. James this evening. Come and enjoy the service and bring a friend with you.

Tomorrow evening the Rev. A. J. Thomas, B.A., B.D., of George Street Methodist Church, will speak. Invitation is extended to all.

WARSAW HEROES HOME

Pte. Vivian Jackson and Pte. C. Morrison, who enlisted in the 93rd, and later transferred to the 5th, C.N.R., arrived home this morning, after spending two years in the trenches Pte. Jackson was wounded at Vimy Ridge.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter [illegible], Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

DAKOTA WOMAN KILLED DAUGHTER

CONFESSES TO THE CRIME — BLAMES HUSBAND FOR BRUTAL TREATMENT.

Jamestown, N. D., March 20.—Following a three hour grilling, Mrs. Dan McDonnell, mother of Etta McDonnell, 13 years old, whose death last Friday at Courtenay has been under investigation by Stutsman county authorities, confessed that kicks and blows administered by her husband and punishment of the daughter afterward by herself, resulted in the death.

An autopsy held Monday afternoon by the coroner disclosed that the child's body bore twenty-eight wounds The body was almost a skeleton. The verdict of the coroner's jury was to the effect that death was caused by concussion of the brain through blows inflicted by the parents and that a secondary cause was starvation.

Warrants were sworn out today charging the parents with first degree murder. The hearing will be held tomorrow.

According to the story told by the woman, Etta's father attacked the child early Friday morning because of a physical ailment. After her husband had lessened his attack on the girl, Mrs. McDonnell says, she started to punish the child, using a board with which she struck the girl four or five times.

Later the girl entered the kitchen and fell. McDonnell carried her to her bed, where she lay unconscious several hours until she died. Apparently no attempt was made to summon a physician.

Sentiment in the Courtenay district is said to be bitter against the McDonnells and a crowd of more than 300 gathered at the railroad station when officers left for Jamestown with their prisoners.

Get Capacity House On Second Night

The Grand Opera House was packed to capacity last night by the great crowd which turned out to see "The Grafters" presented by the ever popular Ernie Marks Stock Company.

Miss Kittie Marks and Mr. Ernie Marks played the leading roles. The play was one of those political dramas which holds such an attraction for the theatre going public at the present time.

At the conclusion of the performance Mr. Marks announced that he would in all probability return to Peterborough about the end of April. He referred to the change of management of the theatre since his last visit and spoke very highly of Mr. Dahn and of the entire staff of the Grand which he described as one of the finest play houses in the country.

Exquisite Etchings At Art Exhibition

Those who have visited the exhibition in the studio in the Public Library building express themselves as charmed with the exquisite etchings There are ninety on view and the following pictures may perhaps be mentioned as having attracted special attention:

"The Doorway," Toronto University—Owen Staples, Toronto.

"The Lahie"—Water J. Phillips, Winnipeg.

"Halibut Boat"—William J. Thomson, Toronto.

"Tleyols"—Dorothy Stevens, Toronto.

"RueL'Aue Avengle" — Dorothy Stevens, Toronto.

"Twilight"—J. G. Greene, Toronto

"Evening," Toronto Bay—Owen Staples, Toronto.

"Deepening of St. Charles River"—Ivan Neilson, Toronto.

The studio will be open Friday and Saturday afternoons, from three to six o'clock, and there will be no charge for admission.

NEW SONGS FOR Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS

Mr. Asa Huycke's new compositions, "Navigatin' Home," "And You'll All Go to Heaven When You Die," and "Way Down in Caroline" will all be played and sung at the Y.M.C.A. minstrels to night and Friday night with eight experienced and well known end men. Chorus of real singers, dancers, instrumental numbers, duets, quartettes and jokes monologues, swell costumes, special electrical effects. This is a real show and you'll enjoy every minute—no drags—pep all the time.

Interesting Talk And Slides on Japan

REV. W. H. WHITE OF ST. LUKE'S PICTURES THE JAPANESE.

Last evening Rev. W. H. White of St. Luke's Church gave a very interesting and instructive address on Japan and the Japanese.

Along with the address he showed colored slides illustrating the industries of the people and their most beautiful homes. The slides were all taken off pictures taken by the missionary of "Toyo Hashis," Japan, Rev. R. Millman. Mr. White first dealt with the most important industry of all, the rice industry, and showed pictures of rice from the planting of the tiny plants to the rice in use. He also showed pictures of the silk industry from the silk-worm to the weaving before it is sent to the mill where it is finished. Japanese houses are all most artistically decorated and also their surroundings.

Next Wednesday, Mr. White will give another address on the missionary work in Kangra, India

Rotary Club Are Fighting Disease

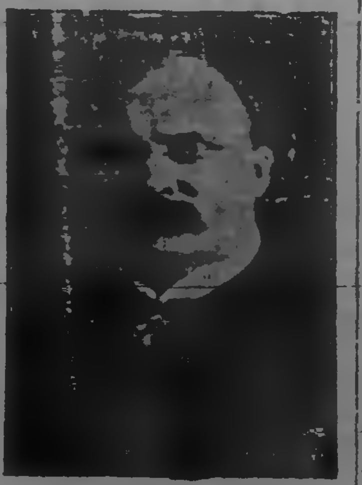
ROTARIANS FROM CANADA LONDON AND STATES MEET IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 20.—After the war —what

To find out what is the reason lots of people are holding meetings these days, is the reason the International Association of Rotary Clubs convened at the Congress hotel today. London and most of the states, men who are district governors of the different districts meeting here to decide, for one thing, what we can do to carry on the government's fight against diseases due to vice," said John J. Hoffman. "That's a fight the war department started because it would make better soldiers of these men if they were kept free of such diseases. Now that fight is going to be kept up because the men will be better citizens for the same reasons they would have been better soldiers; healthier, in a word. So, rotary clubs have been asked to spread the good work against bad diseases. We're going to."

Other problems taken up are universal military training, employment service work, United States school garden army, vocational education and universal physical education. The Rotary club was organized in Chicago fourteen years ago. It was Attorney Paul P. Harris, idea, all the members of each club are in a different occupation. In the Chicago club now 425 occupations are represented There are over 460 clubs, now, with 41,000 members—twenty-five in Canada, three in Cuba and others in Uruguay, Manila, Honolulu, Porto Rico and Hongkong. The idea has spread fast.

W. J. HANNA DIED TODAY IN FLORIDA



HON W. J. HANNA.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, March 20.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, head of the Canadian end of the Standard Oil Companies, formerly food controller for Canada, and one time Provincial Secretary of Ontario, died today in Florida.

RUMMAGE SALE.

Knox Church Ladies' Aid are holding a Rummage Sale Thursday and Friday, April 10 and 11, in the Lecture Hall of the church. There will be new and second-hand articles sold and also home made cooking. Any person having donations for this sale kindly phone 1114J, 215 or 2066w, and they will be called for.

Hamilton's first civic banquet for returned soldiers was a success every way.

HOW HALIFAX

(Continued from Page 1.)

large nursery containing twenty beds, a rest room for the mothers with cosy chairs and couches, and a tea room adjoining, where light refreshments are served at a very small cost. For instance, two sandwiches and tea or coffee can be obtained for ten cents, or refreshments are free for those who are short of money. Milk is distributed free of charge to the children and babies.

One of the best patronised departments is the babies' washroom. This is stocked with all kinds of necessities for the little ones.

Frequently the rooms are kept open all night to accommodate travellers of small means who have to wait over, and on these occasions some entertainment, either in the form of a concert or pleasant social evening, is given. In this respect the Y. M. C. A. have given splendid co-operation.

Special attention is given to the needs of the sick people. They are taken to the hospital, visited frequently, and the military authorities have loaned an ambulance for such cases.

One little mother, who anticipated a new arrival, landed with two children. She was put into a hospital and local organizations cared for the children until the mother was fit to travel again. It was six weeks before the little party were reunited. In the meantime all had been cared for voluntarily by the organizations at this port. At the end of the time the mother of the bonny new-born babe and her other children were put safely on the train and in the care of other workers departed for their new home.

The National Red Cross Society has a trained nurse at this port to give advice and assistance, and her work has been particularly valuable in the case of young mothers travelling with infants.

Immigration and railway officials have all contributed their share to make the work and reception and entertaining pleasant and smooth.

The kindly, sympathetic women, who meet their stranger sisters from overseas, look after their baggage help them through the customs, see that the little parties get sufficient rest, post and write letters, exchange money, and in every possible way, even to providing warmer clothing for the children, help the new comers feel that they have come to a land of friends.

Nor does the good work cease when the parties leave the port. They are escorted to the train by the same willing helpers and placed in charge of trained nurses, who travel with them.

One such train a few weeks since carried four hundred women and children in ten cars. The entire party was in charge of a medical officer and a trained nurse. The first day away a number of the children developed colds and minor ailments and the doctor established a clinic in the smoking room of one car, where the patients came in daily for dressings and medicine. Those who were too sick to walk to the little clinic were attended to by the nurse in their berths.

The women who are the objects of so much care and forethought are not slow to express their gratitude and appreciation.

The old saying that "first impressions are everything" is being worked to death in Halifax, for the women of that city are evidently determined that no impression but the best and kindliest shall be carried away by the parties whose initial entry into Canada will probably color their entire aspect of life in this country for future days.

OBITUARY

GEORGINA STEWART

The death occurred this morning after several weeks' illness of Miss Georgina Stewart at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. James Finnie, 61 Arguyle street.

Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart, of Otonabee, and will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends and relatives.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. W. Carruth, of Renfrew, and Mrs. Fred. Collins, Otonabee; she leaves four brothers, also, Newton, Charles, Walter and Frank, all in the West.

The funeral will be held privately from 61 Argyle street at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday to Little Lake cemetery. Service at the house at 2 o'clock.

BROCK AND DOLAN DRAW.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 20. — Matt Brock of Cleveland and "Red" Dolan of New Orleans boxed ten rounds to a draw here on Tuesday night. The men are lightweights.

EDITOR'S MAIL

THE LIBRARY BOARD.

Editor Review: The Public Libraries Act, Chap. 202, R.S.O., 1914, Section 7, Sub-section 1, reads as follows:

"The general management, regulation and control of the Library and any reading room and museum established in connection therewith shall be vested in a board, which shall be composed of the mayor of the city or town, or the reeve of the village or township, and three other persons to be appointed by council, three by the public school board or the board of education, and two by the separate school board, if any."

Section 29 of the same Act is as follows: "A member of a board shall not enter into any contract, agreement, engagement or promise, either in his own name or in the name of another, and either alone or jointly with another, in which he has any pecuniary interest, profit or promised or expected benefit, with the board of which he is a member, or have any pecuniary claim upon or receive compensation from the board for any work, engagement, employment or duty on behalf of the board, and every such contract, agreement, engagement shall be null and void and a member violating the provisions of this section shall ipso facto vacate his seat."

Can any one tell me how it is that Mayor Duncan, who is, according to the above section, a member of the Library Board, can have a contract to paint the Library, and if he has such a contract, how is it that he does not vacate the seat on the board?

Yours truly,

WALTER SINDON.

WILL ESTABLISH NEW PLAYGROUND

PLAYGROUNDS ASSOCIATION MEET AND ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR.

At the meeting of the Playgrounds Association held in the Public Library hall last evening the election of officers for the year 1919 resulted as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Duncan.

Pres.—A. G. Roberts.

1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Arthur Stevenson.

2nd Vice-Pres—Mrs. J. H. Renwick

Secretary—W. G. Henderson.

Treasurer—E. J. A. Vanstone.

Finance Committee—Mr. J. W Worth, chairman, and Messrs. J. J Turner, G. O. Cameron, A. G. Roberts, E. J. A. Vanstone and W. G Henderson.

Supervision Committee—Mrs W. R Morris, chairman; Mrs. Kendry and Mrs. Mowatt.

Equipment—Mrs. Mowatt, chairman, with power to add to the committee.

Entertainment—Mrs. Dr. Neal chairman; Mrs. Medd and Mrs. McDuffey.

Mr. G. O. Cameron made an explanation in regard to the grant of $750 made to the Playgrounds Association by the Board of Education. He stated that the Board would honor bills up to $750 when vouched for by the Equipment Committee.

This grant will make possible the establishment of another playground and the renewing and repair of the equipment in the two old ones.

As far as the City Council's grant of $500 is concerned the Playgrounds Association felt that this was a municipal matter and should be looked after by the Council.

A committee from the Association will in all probability wait upon the City Council at its next meeting and ask them to reconsider the question of public bathing places.

VIRTUALLY ALL

(Continued from Page One.)

serious food shortages in Moscow and the north. Aided by Ukranian Bolsheviki forces, the troops of the Moscow government in the last three weeks have occupied Kiev and Zhitomir in the center of Winnitsa, and thence to Proskuro in Podolia forty miles east of [illegible] border of Galacia.

A Russian wireless message received in London Wednesday reported that non-Bolsheviki forces, after being repulsed by Bolsheviki were retiring on Odessa. In the center of the front between Odessa and Riga, the Bolsheviki apparently have been giving ground.

THIRTY-FIVE DIE IN STORM.

Memphis, Tenn., March 20. — Thirty-five persons lost their lives in the storm that swept Central and Northern Mississippi, according to reports reaching here.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT AND — FRIDAY

Y.M.C.A. Minstrels

PROCEEDS FOR Y. M. C. A. HONOR ROLL.

PRESENTING AN UP-TO-DATE PROGRAM OF MODERN MINSTRELCY

Special Electrical Effects—Augmented Orchestra

PRICES: $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. SEATS ON SALE

Saturday Matinee and Eve.

REVIEWS ! FOLLIES ! FROLICS ! (ALL ROLLED INTO ONE) GIGANTIC TORNADO OF FUN

Jimmie Hodges Offers

THE SUPREME MUSICAL COMEDY SUCCESS

MOST ENTRANCING MUSIC YOU EVER HEARD

1919 EDITION ALL NEW

PRETTY BABY with COMPANY OF 35

GORGEOUS CREATIONS IN GOWNS AND SNAPPY COSTUMES

SINGERS, DANCERS AND COMEDIANS WHO BRING SUNSHINE INTO THE LIVES OF ALL WHO SEE IT

LARGE CHORUS of EXQUISITE YOUTH AND BEAUTY YOUTH AND CHARM ARM IN ARM

The "PRETTY BABY"

THE COMBINED CHARM OF ITS JOYOUS MELODIES AND REFRESHING GAIETY MAKES IT SIMPLY INCOMPARABLE

POSITIVELY THE LIVELIEST HAPPY-GO-LUCKY SHOW OF THE SEASON

PRICES. EVENING, 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

MATINEE, 25c, 50. SEATS ON SALE NOW.

FOR SALE

Plant, Machinery & Supplies

Having decided to dispose of the property of the Renfrew Manufacturing Co., in Peterborough, consisting of the land and buildings, Machinery and Supplies, I wish to notify the manufacturers of this City that all will be sold at bargain prices. There is a large quantity of lathes, turret machines, drill presses, motors, (10 to 100 horse-power) power presses, single purpose machines, oil furnaces, trucks, belting, tools and other supplies, nearly new.

All will be sold singly or in bulk, the buildings are in good repair, all sprinkler equipped. The total floor area approximately 76,000 square feet. My representative, Mr. Vickers, will be at the office all this week.

Signed.

THOMAS A. LOW

Phone No. 27. President,

Formerly Site of The Cordage Co.

CAUCUS OF THE UNIONISTS TODAY

ARRANGEMENTS BY WHICH CONFLICTING INTERESTS CAN PRESENT VIEWS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 20 — At the conclusion of a prolonged caucus of union government supporters on tariff questions today, Sir Thomas White, acting Prime Minister, said there had no suggestion of schism among members, and arrangements would be made for conferences, in which conflicting interests could present their views.

He was confident that measures would be arranged that would be satisfactory to members, and not detrimental to National interests.

ALL THIS WEEK

10 lb. G. Sugar $1.00, with $2 order
10 lb. Fresh Rolled Oats for ..	69c
10 lb. Fresh Corn Meal, for.....	69c
10 lb Fresh White Cr. of Wheat	69c
10 lb. 15c Rice, bargain for	99c
5 lbs. Raisins, wholesale ...	14c lb.
5 lb pail Best Shortening	$1.47
5 lb pail Rose brand Lard ..	$1.63
5 lbs Tea ... 70c at 54c. 60c at	44c
Chase & Sanborn Coffee, 60c for	43c
Old Dutch 9c. Good as Dutch	5c can
Canned Tomatoes, 3 for	50c
Pumpkin	10c
Can Beets 15c. for only......	5c can
40c Tungsten Lamps, only	31c
75c pail Jam 59c. $1.00 pail for	89c
5 Gold, Sunlight, Surprise Soap	33c
Fresh Salmon Steak	20c

White Fish, Finnan Haddie, Choice Beef and Pork Sausage.

Salmon in tins for Lent, 25c for 19c 30c for 26c. 40c for 36c.

Lots of Dry Goods Bargains, lots of Grocery Bargains.

Boots, Shoes and Rubber Bargains.

Phone or come to our store.

R. C. BRAUND

Phone 348

Don't Forget our Bargain Arcade.

CALL TO DR. SHOREY

Port Hope, March 20.—Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the Methodist Church here, has accepted a call to Trinity Church Napanee. Rev. C. S. Applegath of Chapleau will become pastor of the Methodist church here.

PLANS INVITED

The Peterborough Board of Education is prepared to consider tentative plans for a new 18 to 20 room public school building. Of the plans submitted only that plan which may be accepted by the Board will be paid for. For information as to requirements, particulars may be obtained from Mr. E. G. Patterson, Chairman of Building Committee or the Public School Inspector, Peterborough.

G. H. THOMPSON,

Secretary Board of Education.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.

Real Estate and Insurance

Automobile Licenses

District Agents for Security Life

WANTED

Some good Houses for rent.

FOR SALE

Good Houses and Lots, cheap.

Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.

Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.

It will pay you.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Northerly winds, fair, a little colder tonight. Saturday—A little colder, fine and cool.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 68 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

RAID BY THE SINN FEINERS TO SECURE ARMS SUCCEEDS

Seized Eighty Service Rifles—Sentries Overcome and Eight Soldiers Bound to Beams in a Hut—Disabled Cars and the Raiders Then Made Their Escape.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Dublin, March 21.—The biggest raid by the Sinn Feiners to secure arms which has yet been recorded took place yesterday morning at Airdrome, near Santry, six miles from here, when Sinn Feiners numbering nearly forty overpowered soldiers on guard and seized eighty service rifles.

There were only three sentinels on duty, and eight soldiers were resting in guard in a hut. They were bound and gagged and were tied to beams in the hut. The military motor cars at Airdrome were disabled to prevent pursuit and the raiders made their escape.

BITTER CONTROVERSEY OVER FIUME IS BROUGHT TO A HEAD

Fiume is Second Principal Port on Adriatic —Previous Feud is Adjusted.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 21.—The decision of the Italian delegates to withdraw from Paris Conference unless their claims regarding Fiume are allowed, as reported from Paris, apparently brings to a head bitter controversy between Italy and the new Jugo Slav state over disposition of land along the Adriatic, formerly belonging to the Austro-Hungarian Empire, which both nationalities claim.

Italy's [illegible] originally included virtually the entire Dalmatian coast, with Triest and Fiume, which latter city is the second principal seaport on the eastern side of the Adriatic.

Feud Grew Bitter.

There have been several incidents at Fiume and other points in the territory claimed by both Italy and Jugo Slav's since the singing of the armistice, and the feud at one time grew so bitter that Italy established a blockade, and cut off food relief in ports for the interior. This matter was adjusted by the Supreme Council in Paris, however.

Settlement Hoped For.

Paris, March 21.—The decision was reached at a meeting today of a full delegation presided over by Premier Orlando. It was immediately communicated to the powers. Col. House, of the American Mission, promised Premier Orlando to present within a few days a project concerning the Italian-Jugo-Slav frontier, which he hopes will bring about a satisfactory settlement of the dispute.

GERMAN CREWS REFUSE SHIPS DEMANDED BY ENTENTE ALLIES

Three Big Boats Which Were to Have Sailed on March 18th Are Still in Port.

(Special Correspondence)

Berlin, March 21.—The German steamers Burgermeister, Von Melle and Burgermeister Schroeder, which were scheduled to sail on March 18th in accordance with the agreement reached at Brussels between the German and Inter-allied Food Commissions, have been prevented from leaving Hamburg owing to a resolution passed by seamen there refusing to operate ships demanded by Entente nations.

Subs Leave Hamburg.

Basle, March 21.—Ten German submarines, which are to be delivered to Entente powers, have left Hamburg.

GERMAN PLANES IN LOAN DRIVE

FOURTEEN CAPTURED GERMAN AIR MACHINES TO BE USED IN U.S. VICTORY LOAN DRIVE.

Washington, March 21.—Fourteen German airplanes, captured by American flyers in France, arrived in Baltimore this afternoon. They are to be used in the Victory Loan advertising campaign. Five will be sent to Mineola, L. I., five to San Francisco, Cal., and the remaining four to New Orleans.

The Treasury Department is experiencing difficulty in getting flyers to pilot the machines. It was desired to obtain the services of American aces who achieved distinction over the battlefields of France, the honorarium asked by the flyers, however is almost prohibitive, running as high as $10,000 a week in some cases.

The plans of the Treasury Department is to have the various flying squadrons, that will man the Hun machines, make daily trips from Mineola, San Diego and New Orleans and give "cloudline circuses" over the towns and cities in their zones. The machines are also to be exhibited in the various cities throughout the country.

PETERSON FINED $1'000 TO-DAY

FOR BREACH OF THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Guelph, March 21.—Clayton Peterson of Kitchener was given the maximum fine of one thousand dollars and costs, and four other men fined heavily here today for breach of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Russian Soviets Having Hard Time

Washington, March 21.—Despatches received at the State Department today fro Sweden, said social revolutionists in Petrograd and Moscow had been active in demands against the Bolshevik, and that rioting in the streets had occurred. A Bolshevik Commissioner who attempted to address one meeting of Social Revolutionists was mobbed.

According to these advices all roads leading into Petrograd were closed to passenger traffic on March 15.

The Canadian Jewish Congress has been made permanent, to meet biennially.

Mr. T. F. Matthews Is Named For Seat On Hydro Com'n

Eight prominent and capable Ontario men have been named as fitting nominees to fill the vacancy in the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario caused by the death of Mr. W. K. McNaught. These names have been forwarded by the Ontario Municipal Electric Association to the Government, and they include that of Mr. T. F. Mathews, of Peterborough, who for some time so acceptably filled the chairmanship of Peterborough's Utilities Commission.

The other gentlemen named are: J. W. Lyon and J. T. Hannigan, of Guelph; Mayor Church, Toronto; Fordson Wilson, M.P.P., Dundas; W. S. Sanderson, St. Thomas; P. B. Yates, St. Catharines, and Willoughby Ellis, Hamilton.

Mr. Mathews has been elected vice-president of the Association at yesterday's meeting held in the Toronto City Hall.

GERMANS NOT TO BE TRUSTED

Platoon Sergt. [illegible] Field is home again after spending many weary months a prisoner of war in Germany. He was accountant in the local branch of the Bank of Montreal when he enlisted in the second battalion, of which the late Major Bennett was also a member. This battalion was a unit of the first division, C. E. F., and distinguished itself at the front.

Sergt. Field was badly wounded in the second battle of Ypres, and taken prisoner by the Germans with no less then six bullets in his person. His long term of imprisonment was spent in the following German prison centres:—Oberhausen Hospital, Friedricksfield Hospital, Friedricksfield Camp, Soltan Camp and Heestenmoor Camp.

In the spring of last year he, with other non-commissioned prisoners, were exchanged and sent to the Hague, Holland, where he spent six months in hospital under medical treatment of the wounds sustained at Ypres, from which he had not fully recovered.

Germans Brutes.

From experience and observation Sergt. Field characterises the Germans as brutal and inhumane in their treatment of prisoners. No one is safe, he says, in trusting a Hun. The German prison camps, he adds, were horribly unsanitary and so over crowded that good health therein could not be expected. Food was scarce and what there was of it lacking in nourishment. Personally, he had seen so many cases of inhumanity and neglect of prisoners resulting in death and illness that he could freely endorse all the charges in this respect laid at Germany's doors.

The Rhyl Trouble.

Sergt. Field left Rhyl camp about a couple of weeks before the riots, and states that then the men were quite restless and hard to handle owing to existing conditions. Food was not up to expectations, the weather was freezing cold, with a shortage of coal, and the men's sailing for home had been postponed from time to time. Even at that, he contends, that had the men been handled with tact and common sense, trouble would not have arisen. He attributes the whole unfortunate incident as being due to either careless or inefficiency.

Sergt. Field is the guest of Mr. F. D. Kerr and leaves this week-end for Toronto.

REFUSES TO GIVE SHIPS

Paris, March 21.—The Hungarian Government has refused to obey the Entente's demand for the surrender of the merchant shipping, according to the Budapest despatch to The Journal des Debats. The Hungarians take the ground that acquiescence would mean the end of Danube traffic.

Civil servants in Alberta are incorporated.

COMPANY STATES FACTS OF THE CASE

MOTHER'S BREAD MANUFACTURERS DEAL WITH PROGRAM PRINTING PROBLEM

In connection with the items appearing in the daily press of the city relating to the printing of the Opera House programs by a non-Union printing establishment, the following statement of the facts is handed out by the manufacturers of Mother's Bread on the subject:

The Peterborough Bread Company was canvassed by the manager of the Grand Opera House to supply the daily programs for the theatre in exchange for the privilege of the program carrying the advertisement of the Bread Company. The deal was closed and as the manager of the Bread Company was to be out of the city the matter of getting the printing done was left in the hands of the Opera House manager who handed it over to the printer who has been supplying the programs to the Opera House for the past two years and neither the Opera House manager nor the manager of the Peterborough Bread Company were aware as to whether the office was Union office or not, being new comers to the city.

In addition to this the Peterborough Bread Company has required considerable printing since coming to Peterborough and every bit of it has been done in the city and at a union quite right in the city—flour, sugar, office. They buy everything (except) salt, shortening, and everything necessary to the manufacture of their products. The Union label and Peterborough dealers have always been the first consideration of the manufacturers of Mother's Bread. The programs for the week were printed at the one time; consequently those for Friday and Saturday have been delivered but commencing Monday they will be furnished by a Union office.

Y. M. C. A. MINSTRELS GIVE PERFORMANCE AT GRAND

Proceeds For Service Honor Roll For "Y." —Will Repeat Entertainment Tonight

Worthy to rank with the best amateur entertainments of the season was that given by the Y.M.C.A. minstrels in the Grand Opera House last night.

Proceeds arising from this event which is being repeated this evening go towards the establishment in the Y.M.C.A. building of a memorial honor roll, upon which will be inscribed the names of the heroes of the war who were members of the local branch of the association and who went forth to fight the battles of their king and country.

Deserves Patronage.

No entertainment could be held with a more worthy purpose in view and certainly it would be hard to stage an amateur performance which aside from the sentimental standpoint would possess to a more remarkable degree real merit deserving support of the people of this city.

Some time ago, under the direction of Mr. Asa Huycke, the young men of the "Y" began to train for the event of last evening. Young ladies of the Y.W.C.A. in this city rendered assistance in the form of contributions to the program and were prepared for their parts by their physical directress, Miss Littlefield.

Results are the surest indicator of the success of any undertaking and the manner in which the program was carried out last night reflected great credit upon the efforts of Mr. Huycke and Miss Littlefield.

Ninety Minstrels.

There were ninety young men taking part and these were assembled upon the stage during the greater part of the night. In the front row were colored minstrels. The clever end men who were responsible for the witty dialogue carried on were Messrs. George Wesley, Charles Westbrook, Harold Huff, Jack McDonald Verne Morphet, Morgan Cottingham Jack Primeau and Harold Lancashire Mr. F. D. Lee occupied the centre of the group as master of ceremonies and presided most gracefully. He was an able interlocuter and drew out the darkies to perfection.

The Grand orchestra augmented for the occasion with Mr. Huycke at the piano, provided good music and proved excellent accompanists.

The Program.

The opening solo and chorus, "Way Down in Caroline," was among the best numbers upon the program. It is one of Mr. Huycke's compositions and is a credit to the composer. When the curtain rose it disclosed a darkened stage, the light being turned on gradually until the entire company was discernible. In a conspicuous position at the rear of the minstrels was suspended a huge flower from the centre of which looked forth a face as black as night. This was recognized by the audience at once as the features of Mr. Morgan Cottingham, who contributed the solo parts of the chorus from his unusual position with rare ability.

Encores Plentiful.

In dealing with the numbers upon the program it may be said that every one of them received the hearty encore they deserved and those taking part showed excellent judgment in their responses.

"Alexander Good-bye" and "Down by the Hillside," solos by Messrs. Harold Huff and John Carlisle, respectively, were well rendered.

Buck and wing dancing introducing "Navigatin' Home," another of Mr. Huycke's own productions, by Walter Fitzgerald, was carried out splendidly.

A duet and quartette by Messrs. Jack Renwick, Clifton Carruthers John Carlisle and Donald Munroe followed the dance. The blending of voices was ideal and the result most pleasing. The four young men showed that their accomplishments did not end with vocal ability as they followed immediately in an instrumental number upon mandolins, auto harp and violin.

Mr. Vern Morphet's solo, "When the Robert E. Lee Arrives in Old Ten-

(Continued on page four)

Officer Said To Have Slain Friend

Chicago, March 20.—John ("Wild Jack") Bacon, a former police officer was placed on trial this morning in Judge Marcus Kavanagh's court for the murder of Jeremiah McDonald, 3233 South Wells street, his friend of twenty years.

On Jan. 18, 1918, Bacon and McDonald were drinking in Welch's saloon, 85 West Randolph street, and, it is said, they had a trivial argument over meatless days, then in vogue. Bacon is charged with having fired two bullets at his friend and one of the bullets inflicted a wound which caused McDonald's death three weeks later.

It is said that Bacon attempted to make a cash settlement with the widow of McDonald who is left with two small children—Henry, 4 years old, and Geraldine 8.

C. P. R. WEAKER

Canadian Pacific stock in New York yesterday was weaker than on Tuesday. After closing at 163, the previous night it opened at 162 to 163 sold at 162 and closed at 162¼.

PEACE 4 WEEKS DISTANT

According to the Opinion of Mr. Lloyd George

Paris, March 21.—When informed of the statement by Col. House, to British newspaper men last night that the Germans were expected at Versailles in three weeks, Mr. Lloyd George said. "Add another week and it will be about right."

CLAIMS THE ALLIES HAVE LOST PRESTIGE IN RUSSIA

Russian Press Declares Occupation of Siberia is an Object Lesson—Failed to Restore Order —Bolshevik Sentiment is Apparently Growing —Transportation Problem Unsolved.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vladivostoch, (W. E. Playfair, C. P. Correspondent,)—March 21.—The Russian press comment on the League of Nations is satiracle, and pointed to the results of the Allied occupation of Siberia as an object lesson.

The Allies, it is pointed out, had decided to restore order and good Government to Russia and sent detachments of troops with no good results, owing to the impossibility of an agreement over the methods to be followed. The real result is loss of Allied prestice in Russia. A grave instance is the transportation problem as yet unsolved owing to the difficulties of allied agreements, and in the meantime the railway situation has grown worse weekly.

The situation in the country is generally worse than last autumn and Bolsheviki sentiment apparently is growing in Siberia.

IF RHINE IS NOT HELD THE WAR WILL HAVE BEEN FOUGHT IN VAIN

Is Declaration of Marshal Foch—Says it Was Wonderful Soldiers That Gave Allies Victory of Which He Never Despaired for a Moment

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 21.— The Rhine is our only good line of defense. I do not demand annexation, but if we do not secure that military frontier we woll have fought in vain," is the statement made by Marshal Foch, quoted in an interview in the Matine today.

Wonderful Soldiers

In discussing the last days of the war, Marshal Foch says "It was wonderful soldiers who gave us the victory. My only merit was to have had faith and never to have despaired. We signed the armistice in spite of certainty of crushing the German armies, to avoid killing one more man, and because it gave us everything necessary to [illegible] victory."

SIR SAM AND THE TAKING OF MONS

Discussing the last fight of the war—the capture of Mons by the Canadians—an Ottawa officer, who returned today with the Princess Pats, declared that their casualties were light and described as ridiculous the charges made by General Sir Sam Hughes that the Mons offensive entailed needless loss of life.

"Why, we were in the outskirts of Mons on the night of the ninth," he said. "Fritzy knew he was beaten and was getting out fast. We circled around the place as much as possible and some of our men really reached the square on the 9th.

"On the day of the signing of the armistice we advanced again and found that only the German patrols remained, though we had to be cautions. The men were, perhaps, overly eager to retake Mons, but there was no recklessness, and only a few of our fellows were put out of business.

"I believe the 42nd Highlanders of Montreal reached Mons a few minutes before we did but they were not hard hit on that occasion. It was a rear guard action for the Germans, and they retreated as soon as we received the order to advance."—Ottawa Citizen.

FOUND DEAD IN BERTH

Winnipeg, March 20.—W. W. Armstrong, 55 Delaware avenue, Toronto, was found dead in his berth on the C. P. R. train arriving in Winnipeg at noon today. He was a traveller for the W. R. Johnson clothing house, Toronto.

PROOF OF PROSPERITY

Welland, March 20.—There can be no better evidence of the prosperity of this city than the fact that the fire hall debentures ($50,000 6 per cent. twenty-year bonds) have been sold at the unusually high price of 105.11, the purchasers being A. E. Ames & Co., Toronto. Of the nine bids for this issue not one was lower than 102.

Ex-Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary will likely reside in Switzerland. The federal council has favorably considered his request recently made.

MAY WITHDRAW FROM CONFERENCE

IS ATTITUDE OF ITALIAN DELEGATION IN REGARD TO FIUME

(Special Correspondence)

Paris, March 21.—The Italian delegation to the Peace Conference has unanimously decided to withdraw from conference unless Fiume is assigned to Italy contemporaneously with the conclusion of peace.

SOLDIERS COMING THICK AND FAST

TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED LEFT FOR CANADA ON WEDNESDAY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 21.—The seventh, fifth, thirteenth and fifteenth battalions have arrived in England on their way home to Canada.

Transport Minneoplida sailed from Liverpool Wednesday, with twenty-five hundred troops aborda, mostly from Kalmal Camp. More than one thousand for Ontario.

Legal Committee Holds Short Session

Last night the Legal Committee held its meeting with Chairman J. J. Turner presiding and Aldermen Oarside, Phelan, Hamilton and Gainey in attendance.

A. E. Dixon, H. Rush and A. J. Johnston, representing the E. Green list; Joseph Wearing, for the Children's Aid Society, and G. N. Gordon, in charge of the interests of Miss Graham, were heard in regard to a part of the original [illegible] along the river from Charlotte street, which the E. Green Estate wished to obtain as their buildings encroached upon it.

After some discussion it was decided that it would be advisable to visit the ground with representatives of the estate and the meeting adjourned and met again at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon when they proceeded to the property in question and examined at thoroughly.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 160-166 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager
R. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 131. Editorial ... 634.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 331

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, MARCH 21 ,1919

CAN WE SAVE ON NEW BRIDGE?

IN REGARD TO the matter of constructing the new high level bridge over the river at Hunter street, citizens are not at all unanimous either as to its design or whether it is wise to rush into such an expenditure at all just now. Many who will have to shoulder their proportion of the debt to be incurred, like Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, urge Council in all earnestness to at least pause before committing themselves to the plans and specifications to hand.

The Review is informed that leading bridge companies in Canada would be glad to submit for consideration propositions for a bridge of concrete and steel, instead of all concrete, which would answer the needs of the community and cost approximately $100,000 less than the present estimate. If this is so—and we are not prepared to refute it—then why not reach after such a proposition? At any rate, our city fathers might, while there is yet time, reconsider the whole proposition.

We are also advised by men who should be authorities on the subject that weather conditions in Canada militate against all-concrete bridges of the design as in the Council's hands. Concrete, they say, is subject to expansion and contraction when in contact with the two extremes of weather such as we have in this country.

The plans for this bridge drawn up by Mr. Barber reflect considerable credit upon him, and the drawing presents a structure of considerable beauty. But of late more than one representative citizen has expressed his conviction that there is always danger of engineers sacrificing stability and economy for beauty, and, while having no reason to imagine that such is the case with Mr. Barber, who holds high standing and exemplified qualifications, still they would like a public consideration of this bridge question.

With these facts before us, and knowing the growing sentiment in favor of Council exercising as much economy as is consistent with safety in the building of the new Hunter street bridge, we urge that a public meeting be called for discussion of the project, with a view to arriving at the best course to be pursued with satisfaction to ratepayers generally. The city fathers are not engineers, but we have both engineers and men conversant with concrete and steel structures in our midst. citizens not interested in the question from a business standpoint only in so far as they will have to share their quota of the debt, and they would gladly attend such a meeting, prepared with expert advice and discussion.

One thing is quite certain, and that is, if this city can save $100,000, or even $50,000, on the bridge project, by eliminating frills and trimmings or changing design and structural material, it is up to this city to do so.

THE CONSUMPTION OF SUGAR.

WE HEARD AN AMERICAN the other day complaining that in the United States sugar in 1918 was so scarce as to be all but an unknown commodity, while in Canada it had been fairly plentiful. At least, he qualified his statement, Canadians suffered but little from the sugar restrictions as compared with Americans.

With the following quotation from the New York Commercial before us we are constrained to conclude that our friend's experience and observations regarding sugar had been peculiarly unfortunate. Here's what our contemporary says in this connection:

> "Americans did not stint themselves much in their consumption of sugar during the war. In 1917 they consumed 3,683,599 tons, a gain of 24,992 tons, or 0.683 per cent., as compared with 1916. In spite of higher prices, rationing and appeals to save sugar in 1918, they bought for consumption 3,495,606 tons, a decrease of only 187,993 tons, or 5,104 per cent., as compared with 1917. The high price would probably have restricted consumption to that extent if nothing had been said about saving it and if no attempt to ration it had been made.
>
> "The average per capita consumption of sugar in America was about 70 pounds in 1918. It is evident that those who had money could shop around and get all they wanted, and most of them did so. The restrictions on its use by manufacturers accounted for more than the decrease reported, so it appears that domestic consumers did not respond to the appeals of the government and found means to dodge the rationing regulations."

AUSTRALIA AND TARIFFS.

AUSTRALIA'S ATTITUDE on the question of tariffs has been given striking expression by H. Y. Braddon, Australian commissioner to the United States. In a public statement, he says: "Broadly, Australia regards the British Empire, including, of course, the self-governing dominions, as one body politic, one political entity. Within these wider boundaries Australians consider themselves entitled to grant preferences, if they so desire, to any other section of the Greater Britain, on the ground, mainly, that this is a matter of purely domestic concern. . . . . In Australia, no doubt, it would be resented if an outside agency sought to hamper Australia's freedom of action within the Imperial domain; and to my mind it would be extremely regretable if, at the Peace Conference, it were suggested or urged to impose any such restrictions. Australians would argue, I think with justice, that they must retain the same right of internal determination (within the Empire) as, for instance, obtains between Maine and California in the United States, or between Prussia and Bavaria, in the German Empire. Admittedly, we have as yet no 'imperial zollverein,' because, as at present constituted, the British Empire is a rather loosely articulated entity; still it is an entity.

"In this natural desire for freedom of action within the Empire there is not the faintest element of unfriendliness towards the United States. The exigencies of public finance unfortunately necessitate fairly heavy import duties into Australia; and if these are slightly relaxed in favor of the Mother Country, that would in Australia be regarded as a domestic matter, and one which did not imply any lack of friendly good feeling towards the United States."

WHAT WILL THEY DO WITH IT?

HOLDERS of Canadian war bonds in Canada will draw nearly $60,000,000 in interest this year. What will they do with it? If they are wise they will reinvest a large portion of it in War Savings Stamps. It is of the utmost importance to the country that they should do so.

Of the more than one million holders of Canadian war bonds, probably not ten thousand were owners of Canadian Government securities before the outbreak of war. Ninety-five per cent. of them had never invested in securitis of any kind. The great majority probably were not regular savers.

If they do not re-invest in War Savings Stamps at least a portion of their war bonds interest, there is grave danger that they may be lost to the great army of savers which it is desired to recruit in Canada. This would be a misfortune both to themselves and to the Dominion.

The burdens following the war are so heavy that no person can afford to waste money. Those who do so take a long chance. Not only should people save, but they should also put their savings into a security of unquestioned value that will pay well, and they can get nothing better than War Savings Stamps.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

ITALY TODAY has a merchant marine of approximately 666,000 gross tons. She lost 63 per cent. of her gross tonnage during the war, due to submarines, and is in the market for vessels of all kinds.

• • • • •

OWING TO changed Canadian and international conditions there no doubt exists cause for a remodelling of the tariff. But still the tariff has not changed much of late years, and remains much the same today as when Sir Wilfrid Laurier was in power.

• • • • •

ARGENTINA'S foreign trade for 1918 amounted to $1,261,623,349. Her imports totalled $464,064,709 and her exports $797,568,640, leaving a balance of $333,503,931 in favor of Argentina. The quantity of imports was the lowest in fifteen years, and the value of the exports the highest in her history.

• • • • •

A GOOD MARKET for agricultural machinery is reported from Mesopotamia. The great dearth of draft animals and the lack of laborers will promote machine traction for scientific farming, and it is said that the necessity of using such tractors is already noticeable among the small farmers and holders. Before the war, German manufacturers of agricultural machinery studied the conditions in Asia Minor very thoroughly, and offered to agriculturists there what they wanted and what was best suited for their purpose.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

WHY?

(Brantford Expositor.)

In view of the large surpluses which Mr. McGarry has been getting, the question naturally presents itself, Why was this burdensome tax ever inflicted on the over-burdened municipalites?

She Cannot Refuse.

(Buffalo Express.)

Germany is not in position to refuse the terms laid down. She is really greatly crippled for foodstuffs. She might be shut out from the world and starved into submission if need be. She can have peace and plenty or war from without to add to revolution within. And no one seriously doubts her choice.

Uninvited.

(Ottawa Journal-Press.)

Whether or not Canada wants nationalization of railways, the railways seem to come walking in to be nationalized.

A Short History of Germany.

(Boston Transcript.)

German Empire: Founded January 18, 1871. Foundered November 11, 1918.

NOT THE KIND.

(Guelph Mercury.)

A permanent Unionist party might be a good thing if a convention were called to give it a platform that would meet the difference between the many sections of the country. A platform whose planks consist only of orders-in-council is hardly the kind to unite parties who look on the country's needs in such different angles.

GET TOGETHER.

(Montreal Herald-Telegraph.)

A self-contained nation has a due proportion of farmers and manufacturers, and their interests are not necessarily antagonistic. They should be identical. The needs of both should be considered in relation to the welfare of the nation as a whole, and instead of fighting each other the manufacturers' association and the grain growers' organizations should seek to arrive at a basis for a working agreement to live and let live.

A REAL QUEEN.

(Baltimore American.)

Queen Marie of Roumania may visit the United States. She will be royally received here, not so much as a queen as a beautiful and clever woman, an unfaltering patriot in the face of danger and as the real mother of her people. She will stand, in the championship of her country and in her defiance of German aggression, a companion figure to the heroic King of Belgium in the records of history.

GIVE US SOME INFORMATION.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

It's about time that the leading jawsmiths of the country should aprise us of what they mean when they say they are in favor of strongly regulating the railroads through federal agencies. Do they mean to regulate service, fix rates and limit earnings, or do they propose to make the railroads restore passes, free trains to conventions, and other courtesies?

WIT AND WISDOM

"Frances," said the little girl's mamma," who was entertaining callers in the parlor, "you come down stairs so noisily that you could be heard all over the house. Now go back and come downstairs like a lady."

Frances retired and after a few moment re-entered the parlor.

"Did you hear me come down stairs this time mamma?"

"No dear ,I am glad you came down quietly. Now don't ever let me have to tell you again not to come down noisily. Now tell these ladies how you managed to come down like a lady the second time when the first time you made so much noise."

"The last time I slid down the bannisters," explained Frances.

A rent collector had been waylaid and robbed. A young fellow was arrested and charged with the crime He stoutly maintained his innocence. Despite the efforts of his counsel to keep him quiet the prisoner constantly interrupted while the the prosecutor was giving evidence "How much did you say there was in the bag?" prosecutor was asked.

"I am not quite sure, but I should say over $20." was the reply. "That's another lie," blurted out the prisoner "there wasn't fifteen." And he was surprised when the verdict went against him.

There was a sound of revelry by night, for the Bloggses were giving a party.

Mr. Bloggs was singing. " 'Tis love that makes the world go round." and Master William Bloggs made good the golden moment to take a turn at Mr. Blogg's pipe in the study

Shortly afterward it was apparent that William was not well.

"Goodness, child!" cried his mother. "Have you been smoking?"

"No mother!" gasped her son. "But if that song is true that father's been singing about —I—I must be in love. That's all.

The Turkish armistice led George Cohan to say:

"The Turk has well been called unspeakable. I met one once at Pera. 'I have seven wives', he told me calmly, blowing perfumed clouds from his hookah.

" 'Merciful powers, ' I exclaimed 'how do you manage to pay their dressmakers' bills?'

"The unspeakable Turk waved his hand:

" 'I married dressmakers, son of an infidel,' he said."

Arabella put down her novel with a sigh. It was a Christmas gift from the better half.

"What is it, darling?" he asked.

"Ah, dearest, I'm so happy," she replied.

"But you had such a sad look in your eyes just now."

"I know. I've been reading about the unhappiness that the wives of men of genius always have to bear. Oh, John, dear, I'm so glad you're just an ordinary sort of fellow!"

In a Fix.

"What are you puzzling over, John?" asked his wife.

"Why, that Mrs. Newrich we gave the St. Bernard pup to writes asking if it should be fed on meat or dog biscuit."

"Well, on biscuit, shouldn't it?"

"Yes, but she spells biscuit with a 'k,' and if I spelled the word right it might hurt her feelings."

"Oh, say meat, then."

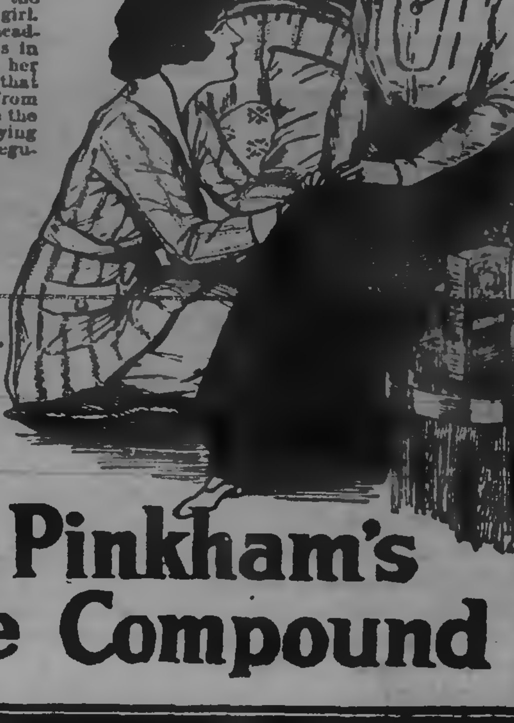
"But she spells meat with two 'es'."

WINTER RAIN

The rain pours down by day and night, it's wet and mostly water; it makes the world a sodden sight, it makes my reason totter. It looks as though 'twould never cease, or take a small vacation; but it is good for ducks and geese and that's a consolation. I'm glad it's not a total loss, this rain so moist and galling; I'm glad that it can come across with some excuse for falling. It makes the town a dismal place where men all cuss together and there's a scowl on every face; we sigh for brighter weather. The merchant princes in their stores are far from being sunny; no patrons seek their well known doors to blow in useful money. No farmers' wagons stand around, the main street is deserted; we raise a sad and wailing sound and many tears are squirted. The weather bureau's slipped some cogs, against the people's wishes; yet rain is good for snakes and frogs and diver kinds of fishes. We always should remember this, that nothing's vain or useless, and we'd be just as shy of bliss if days were dry and juiceless. So let us dig up gaudy smiles, eschew the blues and willies; the rain is good for crocodiles, for rice and water lillies

WALT MASON

Mothers' Advice



The responsibility for a daughter's future largely rests with the mother. The right influence and the information which is of vital interest to the daughter imparted at the proper time has not only saved the life but insured the success of many a beautiful girl. When a girl's thoughts become sluggish with headaches, dizziness, or a disposition to sleep, pains in back or lower limbs and a desire for solitude, her mother should come to her aid and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities. Thousands of women residing in every part of the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of this medicine, and what it has done for their daughters.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 15 years of age, very sickly and pale and she had to stay home from school most of the time. She suffered agonies from her knees and dizziness and was without appetite. For 3 months she was under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining about her back and side aching so I did not know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters."—Mrs. M. Finoan, 516 Marcy Avenue, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

THE PORT OF ANTWERP

Taking exception to recent published statements regarding conditions at the port of Antwerp, P. N. G. Mitchell representing International Mercantile Marine Co., cables from Brussels as follows:

"The writer has been in Antwerp in the interests of the International Mercantile Marine Co. since early in January. During that period the extensive Rhine quay berths, which were blocked with lumber and miscellaneous material during the German occupation, have been entirely cleared and made ready for the prompt and expeditious discharge and loading of ocean tonnage. As a result of the energy and perserverance of the Base Navale and the Port Authorities, these quays are, to all intents and purposes, quite as useful today as they were in the pre-war period. There is an excess of cranes over the actual number formerly in use, soundings show that there has been no excessive silting up along the Quayside and vessels of average draft lie safely afloat at all tides.

"The rails have been connected up and scores of rail wagons (many of them rolling stock surrendered by the Germans under the terms of the armistice, it is interesting to note) pass over the tracks daily loaded with goods from incoming steamers. Some damage exists at one of the Scheldt Quays, Quay No. 9, but this represents no more than 3 per cent of the total river berthage suitable for ocean going tonnage.

"The new docks represent a water area of 940,000 square yards, and with the old docks a grand total of 1,650,000 square yards, providing 385,000 square yards of quays and hangars, all of which are being rapidly cleared also, of the huge amount of gravel stored there by the Germans and the British have ready for operation a naval base of large extent in this reclaimed area through which supplies will reach the British army of occupation and men demobilized or on leave will land and embark.

"The Americans are planning a base for the same purpose in the same area, and transports drawing up to 30 feet will enter and leave these docks daily through Royers Lock, which has a minimum depth of 32 feet at high water.

"The total length of the quay berths on the Scheldt and on the inside docks is 27,000 yards or 15½ miles, all spendidly equipped. The Scheldt river pilots and other seasoned river men, say that the channel has suffered no appreciable damage through neglect and at dead low water there is 21 feet with a tide variation of 14-16 feet, while most of the aid to navigation have been replaced and the fairway is well buoyed. Since the armistice a total of 324 seagoing ships have entered Antwerp representing in February a good percentum of the pre-war tonnage of the port.

"It is interesting to note the development of this traffic by month: December, 50 seagoing ships, 82,332 tons; January, 109 seagoing ships, 167,832 tons; February, 162 seagoing ships, 124,251 tons, and the early indications are that March will see a further large increase in this tonnage.

"There is plenty of labor and men seem willing enough to return to their old employment, although, like most of the population, they still feel the heavy hand of the tyrannical Boche and it will take time to recover from the effects of many years of under nourishment and the blight of the Hun invader.

"Your correspondent is not far wrong in his reference to the seeming commercial stagnation but it is more apparent than real and the improvement in commercial morale and activity is very marked, viewed by months and not by days, but it must be remembered that these people are without the means to reconstruct rapidly except by outside aid. Their machinery is either stolen or destroyed; they have no raw material and many artisans and skilled laborers are either among the refugees, who are returning in large numbers or included in the army of occupation.

"Given time and a fair chance, no nation will react more quickly and more efficiently to peace than the Belgians. They are a very thrifty, industrious and prosperous people, and while the ravages of war have placed a big handicap on the nation all they need is cordial co-operation and recognition of their commercial enterprise, and activity in restoring their ports and their industries to hearten them in their efforts.

"Antwerp is the best evidence of what they can do and it is today fairly on the road to complete restoration and ready for any and all commerce that seeks entry through its splendid quays and docks to the hinterland.

"In conclusion it is to the point to say that the first Red Star steamer arriving here in February discharged a cargo of 4600 tons in 44 working hours and was in port just five and one-half working days, excluding Sunday."

Time works wonders. So would man if he put in twenty-four hours a day like time does.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A scientific boxer may be either a pugilist or an undertaker.

Tears of joy and sadness are both drawn from the same tank.

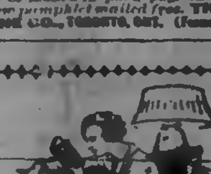
No jeweller has ever been able to improve on the setting of the sun.

It is the people who come early to avoid the crowd that make the crowd.

If you hang a horseshoe over the door and it doesn't fall on your head, you are lucky.

Too much of a good thing proves fatal. George Washington kept on adding to his collection of birthdays until they finally knocked him out

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)



ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Women suffer more than men from far-sight. This is probably due to their spending so much time indoors in work requiring near vision. Neglected this will cause untold agony, nervousness and at times a total breakdown. Every woman should have her eyes examined to see whether or not she needs glasses.

BY the use of temporary glasses young people often avoid the use of permanent glasses in later years.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

EMPIRE THEATRE / FRIDAY and SATURDAY

BESSIE BARRISCALE in

A Trick of Fate

The daring wiggle of a dancer in the Parisian Underworld

Eddie Polo in the Greatest Serial Sensation of all time, "THE LURE OF THE CIRCUS," Chapter 11.

THE DAGGER 2 Parts

ALSO A FINE COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Splendid Programme, 1st Bluebird Feature. LOUISE LOVELY IN

NOBODY'S WIFE

THE AVENGER

From THE BRASS BULLET Serial and Gale Henry and Wm. Farney in "I QUIT" Comedy sketch.

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

Regent Tailors Regent Tailors

GRAND

SPRING OPENING

If all the Men of Canada Fully Realized
What Wonderful Tailoring Values We Give
We'd Need a Dozen Traffic Officers to Handle the Crowds

IF all men of Cananda ONLY KNEW the sort of Suits and Overcoats we are turning out at Nineteen Dollars to measure, the street in front of our store would look like the Strand or Piccadilly on a Saturday afternoon.

Fortunately for YOU, only one man in a hundred recognizes a real opportunity when he sees it. That's human nature. That is wh[illegible] when a certain philanthropist once stood on London Bridge offering gold gui[illegible] for a penny to needy passersby he found no takers. People simply refused to believe--it seemed too good to be true.

We will sell you our window display models at the same price if you want suit or overcoat at once.

Not that we are not perfectly satisfied with the business that is coming our way. The growth of this business has been simply phenomenal. But we feel that we could do more, and should do more, and WILL do more, when every man in Canada understands for himself what a money-saving clothing offer ours really is.

The reason we give the values we do — the best in the country — is because of our compact, economical organization. No other tailoring concern in Canada can afford to produce such high-grade clothes at so low a price, because the head of each of the important departments IS AN ACTUAL STOCKHOLDER IN THE COMPANY, A WORKINGMAN, NOT A FIGUREHEAD DRAWING A FAT SALARY FOR DOING NOTHING. That is why production is kept down to the lowest possible cost, and why we can sell our clothes at the low price we do.

New Spring Suit or Overcoat

$19.00

TO MEASURE

Made to your measure in any style on the newest fashion plate and guaranteed to fit and satisfy, or you do not have to take it.

Come in and see the magnificent range of materials we have secured for the spring and summer trade. They have just been opened out. They will amaze you. If, after careful inspection and comparison, you do not feel that you are saving from $10 to $20 on every suit or overcoat you order, we will be greatly disappointed.

THE REGENT TAILORS

186½ Charlotte Street

Tailor Shop at 42 Adelaide West, Toronto Branches All Over Cana da

USED TO HATE THE BRITISH

Mr. H. C. Witwer, an American War Correspondent, confesses that he used to hate the British, and in an article in McClure's Magazine has this to say:

As a war correspondent I had the privilege of coming in contact with almost every type of Briton under every conceivable condition and stress. As a result of that visit I underwent what is to me a most amazing change of feeling toward the English. The change was as tremendous as it was sincere. I came, saw, and was conquered! I came to sneer and remained to cheer! I felt an illusion and brought back a memory of warm-hearted, courageous people, with nerves of steel and hearts of gold.

I doubt exceedingly if, excluding the "Huns," there was anyone who had a more deep-seated and profound dislike for England than myself when I sailed from America. I say this frankly so that the reader will understand the depths of my conversion. It was a case of:

I do not love thee Doctor Fell,
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this alone I know full well,
I do not love thee Doctor Fell.

In common with the average rabid anti-British, I could not put my finger on the exact reason why I disliked England.

Change of Heart.

"But after my first week in London I lost, one after another and with astonishing rapidity, every one of my petty prejudices against the English. I found for one thing that beneath that sometimes irritating poise, and imperturbability under all conditions that apparent lack of interest in anything but himself, the Englishman is actually more warm-hearted and sympathetic than the average. From birth your Englishman of the upper class is taught to suppress any visible sign of emotion, whatever the stress within.

"Another explanation of the Englishman's aloofness may lie in his extreme sensitiveness. The boisterous hail-fellow-well-met greeting is not part of his make-up. An Englishman does not rush up to a long absent friend, slap him on the back and yell, 'Hello, you old son-of-a-gun!' To do so would scandalize all within earshot, and probably shock the friend into unconsciousness. They loathe promiscuous familiarity, and cover themselves with a film of reserve to discourage it."

Cannot Disturb Him.

Referring to the British in difference to the dangers of battle Mr. Witwer goes on to say:

"However, terrible the event, it cannot disturb his mental equilibrium. To him there is nothing extraordinary though that is the word he uses most. A lifting of the eyebrows, and he is displaying wild excitement and surprise. Tell him he has lost his wealth, friends, position, health, and he will remark, 'Really?' with the same mild interest that he would give to your casual remark on the weather.

"His courage is as unquestioned as it is remarkable. Even his bitterest enemy, the Hun, grudgingly admits this. Americans who have been in action told me of scores of British officers going over the top to certain death in a hell of machine-gun fire with less trepidation than one would step into a cold bath, well in advance of their men, and toying with a swagger stick, their automatics belted at their waists.

"There were so many cases of this and in so many instances the swagger stick was the only weapon, that a general order was issued forbidding the carrying of the swagger stick in the trenches. This is a matter of record."

An Illustration.

Referring to an air raid over London, the American correspondent finds more praise for the Briton in the following:

'A very young English officer happened to be my host one evening during an air raid. As we picked our way along the Strand during a veritable hail of shrapnel, a stray bomb exploded not 500 yards away, showering us with plate glass from nearby shop windows and rocking the very earth beneath our feet with its horrible detonation. I confess that this sudden glimpse of quick death shook my nerves considerably, though I tried to remain outwardly bold. I turned to my companion with a surreptitious glance, hoping to catch the Briton off guard. He had not yet been to the Front, his youth having kept him out of uniform until then, so his first remark could hardly be ascribed to a battle-scarred veteran's callousness.

"'I say,' he remarked with some very genuine annoyance, stopping to light the inevitable 'fag.' 'You know it's perfectly beastly to have the Hun come over and drop his bally bombs during your first visit to London. Fancy how it's ruining your trip, this beastly noise and all that sort of thing, what?'"

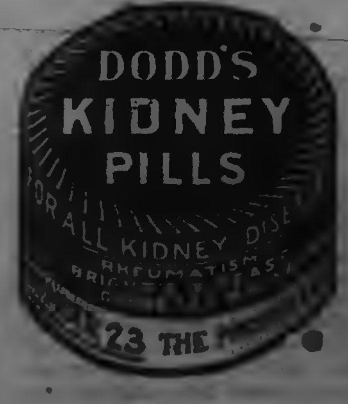
"Nothing could have typified England more to me than that boy's remark," is Mr. Witwer's comment, and he adds that he would like if it were possible to take all English-haters in the United States over to London during an air-raid "to see the Briton at play with death."

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

FOR FARMERETTES

Miss H. L. Hart of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau, accompanied by Miss M. C. Straith Field Secretary of the Dominion Y. W. C. A., is visiting Beamsville and Grimsby in the interests of the girl fruit pickers who will be going to that district during the coming summer.



Make Presentation To School Comrade

The girls of the Junior Fourth Class of Queen Mary School met at the home of Miss Norma Ingram, 304 Pearl Avenue, to bid farewell to their school mate, Miss Violet Gore of John Street, who is leaving on Friday for St. Catharines, where she will reside in future. She was presented with a tray and four pieces of ivory.

The following address was read by Miss Gweneth Hall.

Peterboro, March 20.

Dear Violet:

We still thought that the close and happy relationship existing between us as pupils of Queen Mary School should still continue.

It is with feeling of sorrow that we learn that you are about to break the bond that has bound us together since childhood. You have entered heartily into all our joys and we feel that in parting with you we are losing a very dear friend indeed.

The friendship between us we hope will prove an inspiration to strive after better things in the days that are to come and in order that we may occupy a small space in your affection and esteem we ask you to accept this small token of friendship so that when you are in your new school among new friends you may still cherish the memory of your schoolmates in Peterborough, and remember the many happy days spent together at Queen Mary School.

In conclusion let us express the hope that your course through life may be full of joy and at life's close may it set as sets the morning star which goeth not down behind the darkened west but melts away in the brightness of Heaven.

Wishing you the best of good luck in your new home and among your new friends.

(Signed.)
Margaret Dorington,
Bertha Hill,
Ethel Heron,
Winnie Milton,
Lena Johnston
Gladys Green,
Isobel Connolly
Helen Huff,
Lillian Johnston,
Marion Rae,
Given Hall,
Mildred Thompson,
Margaret Widdess.
Hazel Dickenson.
Given Donnolly,
Jean Wilgar,
Norma Ingram.

Doctor Alleged To Have Killed Wife

ALL NIGHT SEARCH FAILS TO DISCOVER THE ACCUSED

Long Beach, L. I., March 20.—An all-night search by the authorities here and in New York city failed to disclose the whereabouts of Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins, an elderly physician for whom a warrant was issued last night charging him with the murder of his wife at their Long Beach home February 27.

Mrs. Wilkins was killed by burglars, her husband told the police, when she and the physician were entering their home here. Yesterday the authorities learned of a document purporting to be Mrs. Wilinks' will, bequeathing nearly $180,000 to the physician. It was after he learned that this document had been found that he disappeared, according to information, which District Attorney Weeks of Nassau county said he had received.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible].

The PLACE to get VALUE
Tomatoes,
Grapes,
BITTER ORANGES
NOW IN SEASON

Navel Oranges, 30c, 40c, 50c, 60c. Guaranteed sweet and juicy.

BANANAS—SPECIAL

Northern Spy Apples, and other varieties.

First-class Grapefruit, Celery and Lettuce and Head Lettuce.

Strictly Fresh Oysters.

FRESH FISH and SMOKED FISH
CISCOES FILLETS OF [illegible]

QUALITY GROCERIES
STRICTLY FRESH EGGS

D. M. Minicola
Phone [illegible]. [illegible]

For "Better" Corset service, visit our new Corset Department on the Third Floor.

BUY W-S-S WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

When wanting Beds or Bedding come to our "Better Bedding" Department on the Third Floor.

225 ARMY BROOMS

A Basement Rush Special for Saturday Morning. Each 79c

225 People can get a Cheap Broom on Saturday. At the breaking up of the Royal Air Forces the surplus stock of supplies was sold. We succeeded in getting 225 Brooms made especially for government use. They are extra quality Corn Brooms, heavy weight and exceptionally well made, having to be up to a fixed standard of quality to pass the Government inspectors. They are as good, if not better, Brooms than we are selling today at $1.50. Absolutely new, absolutely perfect; never out of the original packages until we opened them up yesterday. Just 225 to sell, and when they are gone, no more. A Basement Rush Special Saturday, each ....

As the quantity is limited and we cannot repeat the bargain, we reserve the right to limit sales to two to a customer.

Here is Another Basement Extra

CANADIAN BEAUTY ELECTRIC TOASTERS $3.98

An even dollar or more saved buying one of these Toasters on Saturday. Standard qualities; one of the best Canadian makes; absolutely perfect in every way. Another Basement money- $3.98

300 WHITE VOILE WAISTS

SATURDAY MORNING

EACH 69c

Buy one, two, three, four if you like, of these pretty Voile Waists, that go on sale at the Ready-to-Wear Department Saturday morning, for they will not be as cheap for many a long day.

Niee fine quality White Voile Blouses; some prettily embroidered; others have tucked fronts, lace trimmed. A dozen or more styles, in all sizes, when the selling starts. A big Rush Special from the Third Floor Saturday morning at 69c Each ....

THIS SUIT AT $28.50 IS EXCEPTIONAL VALUE

A new model in a misses' Suit at a popular price is in all wool botany serge. The coat is lined throughout with satin; shawl collar and set-in pockets are finished with silk braid binding; back has two pintucks with silk arrowheads to belt, and has double pleats either side below waist line; trimmed with fancy bone buttons. In navy and taupe only, at $28.50

A PRETTY SUIT AT $35.00

A very attractive suit is of fine all wool serge. Coat has panel effect front buttoning across and narrowing into belt, which fastens in centre of back. Below the waist the coat is closely pleated; long roll collar with over-collar of cream canvas daintily embroidered; silk lined throughout. The skirt is shirred at back with new panel pockets. Can be had in nigger brown or navy, at $35.00

AT $47.50 THIS SUIT IS VERY ATTRACTIVE

A novelty box Suit made of all wool serge of excellent quality; coat has circular yoke at back with three pintucks fro mcentre; is handsomely embroidered all round the bottom and revers in self shade. Newest model skirt This can be had in sand shade only, at $47.50

Anoth[illegible]urday Special

150 B[illegible]SES AT 98c

Just as big values as the first lot but not so many of them. White Voile Blouses handsomely embroidered with square or around collars; colored striped Voiles in tailored styles with P. K. Tuxedo collars; white striped muslins with Tuxedo collars. Not one worth less than $1.25; some as high as $2.25. Saturday each 98c

Here is Splendid Raincoat at a Popular Price

"Splendid" is just the right word to use to describe the value of these Raincoats for it really is exceptional. Made in good sensible styles that look well at all times. A comfortable, stylish, good wearing garment.

New Tweed Raincoats, in a variety of black and white, grey and light fawn mixtures. Full back with all round belt finished with buckle in front; square convertible collar, turned back cuff; new pleated patch pockets At $15.00

EXTRAORDINARY VALUE IS THIS COAT AT $25.00

SPRING-TIME COATS AND CAPES

Coat sand Capes that have the latest touches approved of by Dame Fashion. In all the popular cloths and colorings, and moderately Absolutely correct in style.

A wonderful, moderately priced Coat of all wool spring weight velour; the collar is large and the cuffs deep; the back is gathered at the waist line by a belt that extends all round and buttons in front. The back hangs full to the bottom; lined to the waist with fancy Paisley lining and trimmed with fancy bone buttons to match. This coat can be had in buff-tan and reindeer shades. At $25.00

A PRETTY COAT AT $26.50

A very stylish coat in all wool Bruella cloth has a novelty shaped yoke with two rows of smal self covered buttons from which the back hangs in full ripples to the bottom. New round collar with three buttons and buttonholes; belt across front; sleeve shirred to deep double cuff; slit pockets. This coat comes in the new Henna, Pekin and buff-tan shades, and sells at $26.50

A HANDSOME MODEL AT $36.50

A beautiful suit of fine wool serge has gathered back with novelty crossed belt, buttoned in front, large shawl collar with over-collar of emerald corded silk; wide pointed cuffs, large patch pockets, trimmed with self buttons. In taupe only. At $36.50

Spring Time Millinery

Showing a diversity of charming styles that will appeal to every lover of the "Hat Beautiful."

Our Millinery Department is steadily receiving shipments of novelties, and there are some exceptionally charming Hats opened up this week. Visit the show room and inspect he new Spring Hats at your leisure. It is an attractive and delightful spot these days.

"Better Bedding" Sale

If you want Brass Beds, Iron Beds, Mattresses or Springs, take advantage of the big "Better Bedding" Sale now in full swing in our new Bedding Department, top floor.

This is a sale of unusual attractiveness, for the goods we are selling are the samples sent to us by the manufacturers for our "Better Bedding Exhibition." Once they are sold it cannot be duplicated.

See Tuesday's paper for full list of extra specials of this big sale.

Corsets 98 Cents

To make it worth your while getting acquainted with our new Corset Department on the Third Floor, we make this special offer for Saturday.

Corsets made from strong and light weight white coutil; a model particularly suited for spring and summer wear; medium bust, full length skirt, top neatly trimmed with embroidery edging. A corse of unusual value. Special introductory price, Saturday 98c

More Basement Extras

Garbage Pails — Extra quality galvanized iron, "hot galvanized." Complete with lid. Three sandard sizes,

$1.45, $1.95 & $2.25

WALL BROOMS $1.00

Splendid Wall Brooms, made of heavy quality cotton cord; long handle; one of the handiest things you can have about the house for getting dust from out of the way places. Each ... $1.00

Four cakes Lennox Saop and one package Pearline, Saturday special - 25c

J. C. TURNBULL CO., Limited

PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST STORE

MRS. C. ROBSON OF WINNIPEG IS PECULIARLY FITTED FOR TASK

Represented Canada at National League For Women's Service in Pennsylvania.

Ottawa, March 20.—On the 18th of this month Canadian womanhood was worthily represented at Philadelphia, where Mrs. Charles Robson, of Winnipeg, addressed the annual meeting of the National League for Women's Service in Pennsylvania, as their representative and the spokesman of the Repatriation Committee.

The Government was fortunate in securing her services for the Repatriation Committee. She is now in charge of the Women's Department of the Committee's work, though she is reinforced at intervals by the assistance and advice of Miss Helen Reid, of Montreal, and Mrs. Bowlby, of Windsor.

Mrs. Robson has a peculiarly good equipment for the task which she has undertaken with such success. Born in Picton County, N.S., which has given to Canada so many distinguished citizens in every walk of life, she migrated West after her marriage and settled in the City of Regina, Saskatchewan.

Possessed as she is of a first-rate practical mind and endowed with a quality of public spirit which is all too rare, she threw herself energetically into the public life of the community in which she found herself. Her husband being General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Regina, social welfare work was her natural line of action and her chief interest for some years was a hostel for immigrant women which she established.

Form 1918-15 she acted as President of the Local Council of Women and lent her energies and abilities to every good cause. An excellent platform speaker, she took an active interest in politics, and was a keen supporter of the Suffrage Movement.

By 1916, when she moved to Winnipeg, she had established her claim to be regarded as one of the ablest leaders in the feminist movement in the West. She discerned at an early date the necessity for Union Government, and her public pronouncements in its favor converted a large body of feminine opinion. She took a prominent part in the steps which led up to the actual formation of Union Government, and appeared on public platforms with some of the Western Unionist Ministers.

In Winnipeg, where she transferred her enthusiasm and public spirit, she worked assiduously among the foreign girls; she organized the Business Women's Red Cross Branch, and was active in Y.W.C.A. work.

She was indefatigable in her labors for the soldiers' wives and dependents, and their gratitude found expression in her election as President of the Women's Service League of Winnipeg for this year.

Her home is now in North Winnipeg wher whatever time she can spare from her family duties is given to public causes and good works of every kind.

Mrs. Robson is one of the sanely progressive women who have encouraged the male sex to welcome the advent of women to political life. Her public services, which have been quietly and unobtrusively performed have been infinitely valuable to the community and the women of Canada have few more capable and attractive representatives.

The problems arising in connection with the wives and the dependents of our returning army are innumerable and demand a sympathetic spirit and progressive understanding to find adequate solution.

Mrs. Robson has brought both these qualities and others to her present duties, and has earned among her fellow-workers a reputation for quiet efficiency and genuine capacity.

Caproni To Fly From Italy To America

BUILDS COLOSSAL TRIPLANE WITH FIVE MOTORS OF 3,000 H. P. EACH

Rome, March 21.—Gianni Caproni has almost finished the gigantic airship in which he intends to fly from Italy to America. It is a colossal triplane, equipped with five motors of 3,000 horsepower each, and a large cabin furnished with everything to make the voyage comfortable for several passengers who can be accommodated.

Caproni will call his new plane the White Eagle. The name is linked to a strange prophecy published here in 1916, which is attributed to an English monk of the seventeenth century The prophecy asserted that in the twentieth century there would be a great world war, started by the diabolical cleverness of an Emperor of the country of Martin Luther in alliance with another Emperor, both bearing on their military uniforms and on their national scutcheons two black eagles. It added that civilization would defeat and throw out the barbarians, whose empires would be divided into 22 states.

It is inferred that the White Eagle is intended to typify the American Bird.

The poet W. Lewis has made the event the subject of a poem which has been set to music. The whole was presented with a beautiful allegorica design to President Wilson, when he was in Milan. It was a result of his admiration for the poem and the design so artistically suggestive that Caproni decided on the name of White Eagle for his new and gigantic plane

It is asserted that the aviators who will make the trip intended to follow the route of Columbus across the sea They will fly from Italy to Cadiz thence to the Azores and from Azores to the American coast, alighting in the neighborhood of Washington.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

GIRLS! DRAW A CLOTH THROUGH YOUR HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY.

SPEND A FEW CENTS! DANDRUFF VANISHES AND HAIR STOPS FALLING OUT.

To be possessed of a head of heavy beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff, is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed, and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will, you cannot find a trace of dandurff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandurff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

—If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

THE "BRIDE SHOP" MUSICAL COMEDY

ONE OF THE MOST EXPENSIVE PRODUCTIONS ON THE ROAD TO-DAY

Heralded as one of the most expensive productions on the road today, "The Bride Shop." George Choos' magnificent musical comedy organization will open an engagement of one night at the Grand Opera House, Thursday, March 27th.

"The Bride Shop" is a musical farce comedy in two acts by Fred De Gresac, who wrote those well known successes, "The Purple Road," "The Enchantress," and "Flo Flo," with lyrics and music by Darl MacBoyle and Walter L. Rosemont, who are very well known song writers.

The story is one of rapid fire satire and deals with an ambitious mother, a daughter with a mind of her own, a brother who thinks the men of this country are good enough for him, a newspaperman, an Earl to be (maybe) and several minor characters who manage to get into a lot of complications without half trying: there is also a chorus de Luxe and a Fashion Parade that will no doubt create some talk and envy among the fair sex. There are almost a score of the most tuneful and catchy melodies interspersed during the action of the play which will no doubt become very popular, once they have been heard.

Mr. Choos has gone to the extreme in mounting the piece, spending money like a prodigal on costumes and scenery, and has engaged a cast that is fully adequate to the demands made upon it among whom will be found, Eddie Vogt, John Sully, Lew Naden, George Gould, Edith Benjar, Nan Hopestill, Muriel Rastrick, Sally Hunt, Frances Allison, Muriel Thomas and others.

The fashion parade will disclose numerous gowns and many new designs lingerie and "what-cher-may-call-ems."

Scientifically, the production is as picturesque as one would find anywhere, every detail having been given early date.

Positive Definite Knowledge—of its Matchless Quality and Value has been the forceful power that has created a sale of 25 million packets Annually.

"SALADA"

TRY IT - a Tea-Pot Test is better than a Volume of Arguments.

THE Y.M.C.A.

(Continued from Page One.)

nessee," was well sung. Mr. Norman Foote rendered Mr. Huycke's popular composition, "As She Sang to the Bright Silver Moon." Mr. Morgan Cottingham sang the darky song, "I Ain't Got Weary Yet," and Mr. Kenneth Anderson followed with an Irish solo, "The Land Where the Shamrock Grows," "And You'll All Go to Heaven When You Die," written by Mr. Huycke, was sung by Mr. George Wesley.

"Try to be Honest."

Mr. Jack Primeau in a monologue entitled "Try to be Honest," gave a realistic representation of a darky pastor exhorting his flock to keep upon the straight and narrow path and like many a colored preacher who lives in the pages of fiction one would come to the conclusion from his own admissions during the progress of the lecture that he found considerable difficulty himself in practising what he preached, as he seemed to have a most intimate acquaintance with the sinful tendencies he charged to his congregation, and while enjoining them not to steal from their neighbor's chicken pen, reprimanded them for not inviting him to the dinner which followed such a raid.

"Dear Old Pal of Mine," as rendered by Mr. Tom Ward, in his fine baritone voice was one of the best numbers.

A Yeller Ribbon.

Mr. Harold Lancashire, made up as a colored man sang catchy song entitled, "Round Her Neck She Wears a Yeller Ribbon." He had the ribbon alright and displayed it to the audience. Encored, he returned and pretended he had forgotten the words of the next verse and while groping for them a trombone suspended by another "yeller" ribbon was lowered to him from somewhere in the mysterious heights of the stage—in much the same manner as the cat in the coal bucket had descended upon the head of the unfortunate school master in Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer—and apparently glad of this diversion, Mr Lancashire seized the swinging musical instrument and played the remainder of his number upon it.

"A Little Birch Canoe and You," was the closing chorus of the first part of the program.

Second Part.

The Y.W.C.A., with the exception of two numbers provided the remainder of the program.

A French dance by a score of tastefully attired young ladies brought forth tremendous applause from the audience. It was well done and deserving of the commendation it received. The rainbow dance, in which Miss Edith Price, Miss Rogers and Miss Grace Thompson participated was the most pleasing number of its kind upon the program last night. The performers' costumes were of those delicate tints which are characteristic of the rainbow; the music was charming and the general effect most pleasing from the standpoint of the onlooker.

An Irish jig by Miss Regetta Lewis and Miss Beryl Bates was carried out to perfection. Clad in the green of the Emerald Isle the two young ladies did full justice to their parr.

Mr. Frank Clarke, one of the minstrels, gave a banjo selection, which brought forth the approbation of his auditors who insisted upon hearing more music upon the instrument which gave southern airs and negroe minstrelcy their inimitable charm.

Plans That Failed.

A sketch, "Terrible Towser," in which Messrs. George Wesley, Jack Primeau and Vern Morphet took part provided much amusement. In this number Mr. Asa Huycke's bull pup, Caruso, was pressed into the service as the watch dog of the home of the fair damsel whose stern parent had refused to allow the fond lover near the premises. George Wesley as the overgrown school boy was persuaded by the love-sick youth to carry a note to the young lady and in case he failed, a negro, who happened to pass along soon after, was despatched upon the same mission. Both returned bearing unmistakable marks of the teeth of Terrible Towser and upon being assured by the young man that the canine would be rendered incapable of harm by music, and armed with a fife and bass drum the two messengers returned to fulfill their task. Towser was less amenable to the effects of sweet sound than were the stones and other inanimate objects which Orpheus charmed to her side with the aid of music and when last seen the colored man was rushing across the stage with the dog holding fast to his leg.

The grand finale by the Y.W.C.A. girls, Y.M.C.A. boys and entire company followed a drill set to the popular music of "Sussex by the Sea."

Attend Tonight.

Last night's performance possesses real merit and was arranged and carried out by local talent and deserves the patronage of the people of Peterborough. Those who did not see it last night should not miss the opportunity of going tonight, and according the boys and girls and their directors, Mr. Huycke and Miss Littlefield, the support which their painstaking efforts merit.

Mr. Huycke wishes to acknowledge the courteous treatment accorded by Manager Dahn of the Grand Opera House and his staff who have assisted him wherever possible to make the entertainment a success.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result fro muric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailment to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

WILL PARADE

Asks That Publicity Be Given Time of Arrival.

Yesterday Mayor Duncan received the following communication from Capt. A. T. Field for the Toronto committee, which has charge of receiving the men:

"58th Battalion expected to reach Toronto about noon Saturday, March 22nd. As a number from your municipality were with the battalion, we would appreciate any action you take to give publicity as to probable time of arrival as returned members will take part in parade."

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS

Saturday Snaps

RUBBER WEATHER is here now that Spring is here. On Saturday we are selling ladies' "dollar value" Miner Brand Rubbers, all sizes, at, pair 79c

We will TAKE ORDERS and give prompt and excellent satisfaction for re-upholstering and re-finishing old furniture.

To Satisfy Your Home Needs, We are Now Showing New and Complete Stocks of all House-Furnishings

READY-MADE CURTAINS — The largest range of designs we have ever shown, including scrim, voile, marquisette, Nottingham, Filet and Brussels nets. Colors white, ecru and ivory. Widths 36 to 52 inches. Lengths 2½, 3 and 3½ yards. Price, per yard ..... $1.75 to $11.50

CURTAIN SCRIMS—With fancy drawn work and hemstitched borders, in white, ecru, cream. All 36 inches wide. Price, yard 25c, 30c & 35c

CHESTERFIELD — Covered with attractive and fine quality tapestry. Spring edges and Marshall spring cushions. Length 80 inches. Priced at $100.00

CHAIRS—Fumed oak arm chairs and rockers, with seats upholstered in imitation leather. Price, each $9.50

BRUSSELS SQUARES—The designs in this line are mostly small conventional effects, in serviceable and practical combinations or colors. Sizes and prices:

9 ft. x 12 ft., at $42.00
9 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in. at $35.00 to $42.00
9 ft. x 9 ft., at ..... $31.75 to $34.00
6 ft. x 9 ft. 9 ins., at .. $23.00 to $28.00
6 ft. 9 in. x 7 ft. 6 in. at $18.00 to $21.50
4ft. 6in. x 7ft. 6in., at $13.00 to $17.00

JAPANESE MATTING SQUARES—Floral, medallion and conventional designs. Natural color on one side and figured on the other. Priced from $3.40 to $6.85

STAIR CARPETS — Several reversible designs, 22½ inches wide. Priced at, yard .... 60c, 65c & 90c

STAIR OILCLOTHS—In block and floral designs, from ..... 35c to 40c

Buy Laundry Soap and Toilet Paper

Saturday at 7 Bars Soap for 49c
8 Rolls Paper 49c

A "one day" Saturday rush sale of Toilet Paper and Laundry Soaps. The paper is our extra large 10c rolls, and for the soaps, you have your choice of Ivory Bar, Sunlight, Lifebuoy, or a new large bar, Comfort. A limit two lots of each to a customer, and at his low price no 'phone orders can be taken.

Laundry Soaps .... 7 Bars 49c
10c Rolls Waverly Toilet Paper .... 8 Rolls 49c
Saturday Only—Street Floor, Fifth Circle.

10 TO 12 O'CLOCK A.M.

"Two-Hours" Sale of Silk, Saturday

1,000 YARDS NEW $1.65 SILK POPLINS 95c YARD

A "just arrived" shipment of one thousand yards of our $1.65 quality Silk Dress Poplins. A most comprehensive color range of sixteen shades. First buyers will have the selection of: navy, royal blue, Copenhagen, maize, reseda, taupe, pearl grey, tank grey, burgundy, prunelle, amethyst, rose, sand, Jap blue and black. On sale at this very low price, for two hours only Saturday morning, 10 to 12 o'clock 95c
Sale price, yard ....
No 'phone or C.O.D. orders. See window display. Sale on street floor, rear

Staple Department Saturday Snaps

COMFORTERS—Covered with especially good quality silkoline. In either light or dark colorings. Size 66 x 72 inches. Regular $3.95 value ...... Saturday Snap, each $2.49

GABARDINE—English manufactured Gabardine that is guaranteed fast colors; full 38 inches wide. Colors: rose, sand, Copenhagen and pink. Our regular 98c a yard value. Saturday Snap, yard 79c

LONGCLOTH—This splendid line of Canadian made Longcloth is 36 inches wide, and especially adapted for both ladies' and children's wear. Regularly sold at 30c a yard. Saturday Snap, yard 26c

RUNNERS—An odd lot of lace trimmed Runners to clear at a low price on Saturday. Regular prices $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75 .... All one price on Saturday, each 98c

$2.95 BLACK TAFFETA DRESS SILK $1.95 YARD

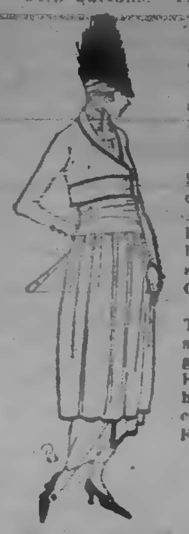
About one hundred and fifty yards of our special Imperial A.A. chiffon finish Black Taffeta Dress Silk to sell at this low sale price Saturday. Full 36 inches wide. A straight saving of one dollar on every yard if you buy it on Saturday. Always sold in stock at $2.95 a yard. One Day Sale only, yard $1.95

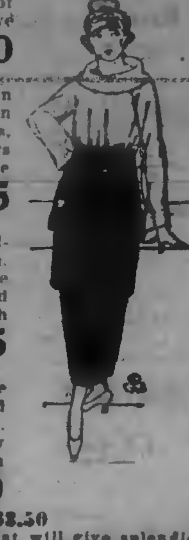
Special Display in our Millinery Parlor Showing the latest and most attractive Hats of the New Season

SATURDAY STORE HOURS
FROM 8:30 A.M. TO 9:30 P.M.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

Smart Practical Ready-to-Wears For Spring Days





SMART SAMPLE SUITS $35.00

There's excellent value in these modish model suits—a sample lot that we are selling on Saturday, very moderately, at $35.00. Made of navy and black serge, also a few velours in colors of sage green, beige, and Pekin blue. A variety of attractive styles; some braid trimmed and others trimmed with buttons. The price for Saturday $35.00

TWEED TOP COATS $17.95

Good looking and practical utility coats, in smart fawn and grey tweed effects. Made in Trench model styles, with loose, full lines, belted in at the waist. Convertible collars and jutted pockets. Special value at the Saturday Price $17.95

POPLIN SKIRTS $8.95

Separate Skirts made of crepe poplin, in colors of taupe, dust, rose, beige, grey, peach. All cut on the very latest and prettiest style lines, some showing the new broad belt and button trim. A skirt that will prove both stylish and useful .... On Saturday at $8.95

WASH SILK BLOUSES $3.50

Tailored shirt waists, made of washable stripe silks, in colors of blue and gold, purple and green, grey and white, and gold and white. Exceedingly becoming for suit blouses. They have convertible collars that will button closely about the throat ...... For Saturday at $3.50

NEW PETTICOATS $3.50

Underskirts of silkette, a new material that will give splendid wearing satisfaction. Cut on graceful lines that will be correct for the new silhouette. Pretty floral patterns, in colorings of purples, blues and cherry predominating. Specially priced for Saturday at $3.50

New Spring Model Oxfords

LADIES' DULL KID OXFORDS, SATURDAY $3.95

Remarkable value in these smart, new Oxfords. Splendid quality, dull finish kid, in English sport lasts with low heels and toe caps, or Louis heels and long plain vamps. Complete range of sizes .... Saturday Snap $3.95

LADIES' PATENT AND KID OXFORDS, SATURDAY $4.95

Your choice of patent leather, nigger brown, or dull black kid Oxfords. They are the new season's latest style demands, with long, plain, pointed vamps and aluminum plated Louis heels. All sizes .... Saturday Snap $4.95

TARIFF STRUGGLE AT OTTAWA MAY SPLIT UNIONIST PARTY

Federal Member Writes of Situation in the House of Commons—Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia United in Defence of Protective System.

March 20, 1919

To the Editor of The Review:

You may consider that a letter from me occasionally during the Session may be of interest to the people of West Peterboro, irrespective of party, touching upon the concerns of the country and of the riding during the work of the session.

East vs. West

1. The east and west are struggling over the tariff the middle west, that is, including the three provinces is desirous of having the privilege of importing as near free from duty as possible. This means a practical negation of the national policy of reasonable protection and means, not only the importation of products and goods, but it means that foreign labor, with its low prices and lower ways of living need not leave its own country to reap the full benefit of the Canadian market and thus drive out our native labor or reduce it to a low level of pay and living.

Defends Protection

2. The East, particularly Ontario and Quebec, is joined by British Columbia in defence of the protective system, which reasonably applied, means, as time has shown, the development of the home market and the safe guarding of our standard of living. It realizes that the principle of free trade means the importation of Chinese and other labor. Of course, free trade will give the consumer the benefit of cheap labor and the products of cheap labor, but it will not give home labor any benefit nor will it tend to establish the home market which consumes more than three quarters of all that we make and produce in Canada.

May Split Union Party

3. It is possible that the struggle now going on may split the Unionist party which was brought together for war purposes. As truly said by Mr. Fielding the other night—parties are unavoidable. It is impossible to have opinions without having parties and the group system is ten times worse than the party system since a group can hold up a Government and practically blackmail it at any time. Let me say that the let it alone policy of Adam Smith and the early freetraders which scientifically considered as correct has been succeeded by the ethical system which says that competition must not be let alone and that labor must not be allowed to drift into sweating conditions and all the horrors incident to unemployment and poverty.

Prohibition Question

4. Another question exercising the mind is that of prohibition. The Provinces do not desire the Dominion to interfere with them and the Dominion has no desire to interfere with them. In time of war when the whole country was at war then Federal Government was authorized to act, for the whole country and take what measures it saw fit, but in peace time we fall back again into the strictly Federal system which recognizes the right of the Provinces.

The American Presbyterian of Philadelphia, which is as everybody knows, one of the greatest religious papers in the United States, in making some observations upon the Y. M. C. A. says that the Y. it is admitted, made a great mistake going into the canteen business in France or elsewhere, but is says more than that. It says "there has been too much centralization and too much direct ruling from above downward; it is undemocratic and un-American and with a free people must fail." This applies to total prohibition and the crusade against tobacco, already begun in the United States and Canada, and to all repressive measures from the inquisition onward. If the habits of the people can be corrected in this way surely their religious beliefs, which may reach much more fatal results, are capable of correction, since the end is supposed to justify the means.

It is incontestable that the inquisition was right if the prohibitionists and anti- tobacco people etc., are right. No one denies, of course, that regulation and Government control is both right and reasonable but total suppression is another matter.

5 Then there are those like myself who realize that God made alcohol and makes it and that if a prohibition law were applied against all those transgressing it the Almighty himself would be liable to fine and imprisonment. The truth is that the nearer we get to God the more we realize that our reliance is to be upon Christ and not upon ourselves that He alone can make us free and that any patent arrangement in the Statute book must result in failure and indeed the more it is pressed to a rigid conclusion the more likely it is to undo whatever good it has already done in educating public opinion.

A Stupid Idea

6. The indemnity is to be raised to $4,000; the cost of living makes this essential. The old way, by which a Member could practise law, or his private business and prosecute his business and give what attention he likes to the affairs of the country, is passing and none too soon. I will give you an instance of how this may work. A lawyer, and a member of Parliament sees a chance of saving an immense sum of money to the public and a municipality. Now if the owners of the property involved had come to that Member and said we wish to employ you to look after our business the Member would have been free to do so. The immense saving, instead of going to the public, would have gone to the private individuals, and this is characteristic of the whole business of the country. How can members, who are allowed to practice law, etc. and receive clients be expected to ignore those clients and the income arising from them and give their services for a small sum completely to the public. It is an exceedingly stupid idea and the rise in the indemnity is a realization on the part of the Government and the Members of this fact. It is high time that the country got a square deal but it cannot get it by allowing its members to sell their influence and effort privately to other bidders, or to turn it to their own advantage if they run a mill or supply house.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM

NP SOAP

Going over with the Siberian Forces

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

AN EYESIGHT SPENDTHRIFT

The spendthrift spends his money before he sees it, or wastes it when he has it. The eyesight spendthrift wastes and loses his vision by not taking proper care of it. Avoid this mistake by letting Dr. Fowler attend to the eyes at the first signs of weakness, and conserve the strength of the eyes by never straining them. He guarantees results.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!

Coughing Spreads Disease

SINCE 1870

SHILOH
30 DROPS—STOPS COUGHS
HALF THIS FOR CHILDREN

AIR FLIGHT FROM SYDNEY TO LONDON

An Exchange message from Melbourne says: With reference to the London aerial Leagues request for Commonwealth co-operation in the flight to Australia, Lloyd cabled stating that his Australian company has a complete charting of Australian landing places. In July they will carry out, at their own expense, an experimental flight from Sydney to London. Lloyd expects the Federal Government to recognize his claim to priority, before subsidizing English private enterprise.

WIRELESS EXPERIMENTING

Montreal, March 19.—Experiments in wireless teleghony across the Atlantic have been proceeding for some time between the Glace Bay, N. S. and the Clifton, Ireland, stations of the Marconi Company. The London announcement indicates that they have been successful. The experiments are still being continued.

MEDITERRANEAN OPENED

Athens, March 20.—The British naval authorities announced on March 3 that the blockade of the Bulgarian coast is ended. At the same time the allied fleets raised the blockade of the Mediterranean and the Dardanelles.

Early Spring Showing

IN FULL BLOOM

Fashionable Millinery
Ladies' Ready-to-Wear

A FINER LINE

Examine the STYLES, the QUALITIES the PATTERNS and the DISTINCTIVENESS

LADIES' SPRING DRESSES

The Styles, the Fit, are all authentic

-THE NEW SPRING HATS-

Are the latest New York models. Note the smart lines that characterize those creations, and the Economical Prices

SIMMONS FUR CO.

Arcade Store, George St., Peterboro

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A GIRL, 18 TO 20, with High school education. For particulars Apply Review Office.

KITCHEN MAID TO ASSIST cook, and other kitchen duties, for a large apartment house; wages $30 per month; board and lodging; fare to Toronto paid. Apply Review Office.

CHAMBER MAID FOR LARGE apartment house; wages $30 per month with board, and transportation to Toronto. Apply Review Office.

HELP WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS COOK FOR A large apartment house. Wages $50 per month with board and lodging. Apply Review Office.

WANTED

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

WANTED—30 GAL. COPPER or galvanized iron boiler with or without gas heater. State how long in use. Apply Box 439 Review Office.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED stenographer; used to distation. Permanent position; highest salary. Apply in writing, stating experience, to Box 239.

VICTORY BONDS WANTED. All issues bought for cash. Apply Box 237, Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINSON Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT—At 479 Cedar street; house in first-class conditon. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

LOST.

LOST—ON DECEMBER 30TH, 1918, black leather hand satchel, containing $10, gold watch, shawl straps, small mirror, silver rimmed glasses, etc. Finder please leave at Review office. Reward.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Children s Aid Society

— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 386 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

The Baltic docked at Halifax and the Cedric is bringing 4,510 more soldiers.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street — Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the office of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.
W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

U. S. SQUADRON RETURNS

Rio Janeiro, March 21.—The American squadron under Rear-Admiral Capjerton, which for some time has been paying visits to South American countries, sailed for the United States today.

15 SPLENDID First Run Reels

ROYAL

16c. TO ALL

Sensational New Program TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW

"CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "A DOGS LIFE"
HIS FIRST MILLION DOLLAR PICTURE

DON'T FORGET THE SCHOOL CHILDREN MATINEE 9-30 TO-MORROW MORNING. 10c EACH

MME. PETROVA in a Baffling Drama. 6 Reels entitled . . . The Life Mask

A Powerful Western Picture Featuring William S. Hart 5 Reels Entitled . . The Disciple

Episode No 11 THE LIGHTNING RAIDER 2 Reels With PEARL WHITE

The great and only CHARLIE CHAPLIN in a fun making Comedy 3 Reels Entitled . A Dog's Life

PEARL WHITE
IN
THE LIGHTNING RAIDER

This is one of the best programs we have ever offered, and we hope you will attend the matinee and not wait till Sat. night

Stocks Are Firm Supplies Lighter

Ottawa, March 21.—Toronto firm supplies lighter, prices unchanged. Montreal receipts moderate, current receipts jobbing forty-three market firm. Trade paying stores thirty eight, country shippers thirty-nine f. o. b. Poultry firm under good domestic demand and export orders. Car milk-fed chicken sold forty-two. Frozen poultry stocks (March 1st) four three-quarter million pounds. Frozen eggs five seven-five thousand pounds. New York firsts forty forty-two half

THE MARKETS

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag.. ..	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 00
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush. . . .	1 00	1
Oats	55	55
Rye, per bush.	65	65
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed . . .	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 00
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'..	25	25
Deacon and bob calf..	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1 . . .	7	7
Cakes, No. 1	8	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Ottawa, March 21.—After a trial lasting three days, Omer Gravelle, charged with the murder of Etienne Veilleux, of Eastview, by shooting on the Aylmer Road in January last was found guilty of manslaughter at the Hull Criminal Assizes this morning. The jury in bringing in the verdict, made a strong recommendation for mercy in view of the age of the accused, who is only 17 years old.

Men Complained Of Active Service Men

(By Associated Press)

Ottawa, March 21.—According to The Ottawa Journal, Lieut.-Col. A. C. Pratt, M.P.P., for Norfolk, who made charges of incompetency bungling, etc., against the staff at the Argyle House, Canadian Headquarters in England, is himself without fighting service in the field, without wound stripes and without decorating while most of the men, he complains about, were men returned from France incapable of further service at the front.

COMMERCE GREATEST OF ALL POLITICAL INTERESTS

There Should Be Mutual Cooperation Between the Government and Business.

Urging mutual co-operation between Government and business, Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, contends that "commerce is the greatest of all political interests" and that the United States Government must learn that, "all great offices of State are occupied with commercial affairs." "Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan," he says, "have evidenced due appreciation of these axioms of statesmanship in their reconstruction programmes." He gives a striking review of European trade preparations:—

"The peace terms of England, carefully worked out by the Government in cooperation with the Country's varied industries, include," he says, "the lowering of the costs of production of its manufacturies; the speeding up of labor; the cheepening of raw materials by buying in enormous quantities; nation-sized-combinations; the abolition of wasteful competition among manufacturers, the placing of Government funds at the disposal of producers who co-operate the formation of big and influential association of business men; the insurance of credits; the establishment of a commercial intelligence bureau of world-wipe scope; the subsidizing or research bureaus for the benefit of manufacturers; the sanctioning of monopolies among the so-called "key" products; the development of the inner arteries of the Empire; the lowering of the costs of transportation and the granting of preferential rates to British goods.

"France proposes to lower the costs of production through standardization and modern methods; to effect an improvement in the relations between capital and labor; to purchase raw materials, cultivate new markets, and ship finished products at common expense; to provide assitance to production, to reduce imports, and increase exports; to enact liberal legislation in abolishing administrative restrictions; to initiate vast public works such as road building, railroad extensions, dredging rivers, deepening harbors, and building a merchant marine.

"Italy's after-war programme calls for a protective tariff; the establishment of credit arangements for foreign business; the liberation of new industries from taxation; the construction of canals to convert Rome into a first class port; for the abolition of taxation on certain essential industries, and on capital while it is producing; for consular agents to act as the "economic eyes" of the nation, and for the co-operation between financial interests and industry.

"Japan is preparing to give Government subsidized industries; Government co-operation with big business interests; large Government appropriations for the developing of essential industries; the services of trade commissions to make detailed investigations and reports ;the services of a commercial intelligence system; and the Japanese Government will insist that trades build for the future."

Niagara Falls G. W. V. A. urgently requests an immediate increase in the scale of pensions.

A HARDY SCOT IS IN CHARGE

OF THE DOMINION PROVINCIAL EMPLOYMENT BUREAU AT MONCTON, N. B.

When a returned soldier or an unemployed civilian applies to the Dominion Provincial Employment Bureau at Moncton, N.B., he will be sure of a sympathetic hearing from the Superintendent in charge, Mr. David Cochrane, who feels certain that with the co-operation of the employers of labor and the prospects of a busy year in his district he will be able to go "over the top."

Mr. Cochrane is a hardy scot, having been on the banks of the River Forth only a stone's throw from the already historic spot where the German fleet surrendered to the "mistress of the seas." After serving his apprenticeship in shipbuilding and engineering and gaining a certificate at the Glasgow Technical College he held several important positions as foreman in shipbuilding on the River Clyde, and later came to Canada to act as superintendent of a foundry at Charlottetown, P.E.I.

A few days after war was declared Mr. Cochrane, being an ex-naval reservist, volunteered and rejoined the naval service, and was on convoy and patrol duty with H.M.S. "Niobe" until October 1916, when he was promoted to the rank of Chief Engine Room Artificier and commissioned to H.M.C.S. "Canada." During the first year of the war the "Niobe" was credited with over forty prizes and Mr. Cochrane was awarded the 1914 medal.

On the morning of the explosion in Halifax harbor, Mr. Cochrane was on board a small team pinnace near the spot when the "Mont Blanc" and "Imo" collided, and several hours later awoke to find himself in a hospital, suffering from spinal concussion and shell shock, from which he has fortunately almost recovered.

Mr. Cochrane received his discharge in December, 1918, after a splendid record of over four years' service in helping to keep aloft the "flag that's braved a thousand years the battle and the breeze."

THINK THREE-FOLD STRIKE IS AVERTED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 21.—Representatives of the miners, at a meeting last night, discussed the report of the coal commission, but no decision was arrived at. It was stated, however, that the Sankey report created a favorable impression as a businesslike document, and the general view is that a threefold strike has been averted.

The transport workers claim a notable victory, and it is believed that the government is meeting both the miners and the arilway men in a spirit which promises a peaceful settlement.

U. S. LOAN TO CHILE

Santiago, Chile, March 20.—The newspapers here assert that a loan of $9,000,000 pesos is being raised in the United States for Chilean railways.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT

Y.M.C.A. Minstrels

PROCEEDS FOR Y. M. C. A. HONOR ROLL.
PRESENTING AN UP-TO-DATE PROGRAM OF MODERN MINSTRELCY
Special Electrical Effects—Augmented Orchestra
PRICES: $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. SEATS ON SALE

Saturday Matinee and Eve.

Jimmie Hodges presents The Musical Comedy of the Hour,

-Pretty Baby-

With the daintiest dancing chorus of pretty girls from Broadway. A combination of Musical Comedy Stars. Hear George Byron Twyman, Joe McAnnellan and Norman Coudy, The Pretty Baby Trio. They are a diamond mine of entertainment.

PRICES:— NIGHT 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00 MATINEE 25c, 50c

MONDAY, TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY

—MATINEE DAILY—

Select Pictures Present

Norma Talmadge in DeLuxe Anne

SPECIAL COMEDY—SCREEN MAGAZINE
Nights 15c VAUDEVILLE Matinee 10c

THURSDAY Evening Only

George Choos Presents
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE

THE BRIDE SHOP

With EDDIE VOGT
And a distinguished cast of principals and the classiest singing chorus in musical comedy

THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTY GOWNED ORGANIZATION ON EARTH

PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. Seats Tuesday.

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and

PITTSTON COAL IS THE BEST

All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL

WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Lent is Here

Fresh Herrings, 10c per lb.
Halibut, White Fish, Red Salmon

CLOVER LEAF SALMON

Extra Good Potatoes
FRESH EGGS
And Choice Butter Always on hand.
INVALID STOUT
WHITE LABEL ALE

James R. Bell's
SANITARY GROCERY
Phone 455-W 197 Hunter S
Goods Delivered
CANADA FOOD BOARD
License No. 8-5488

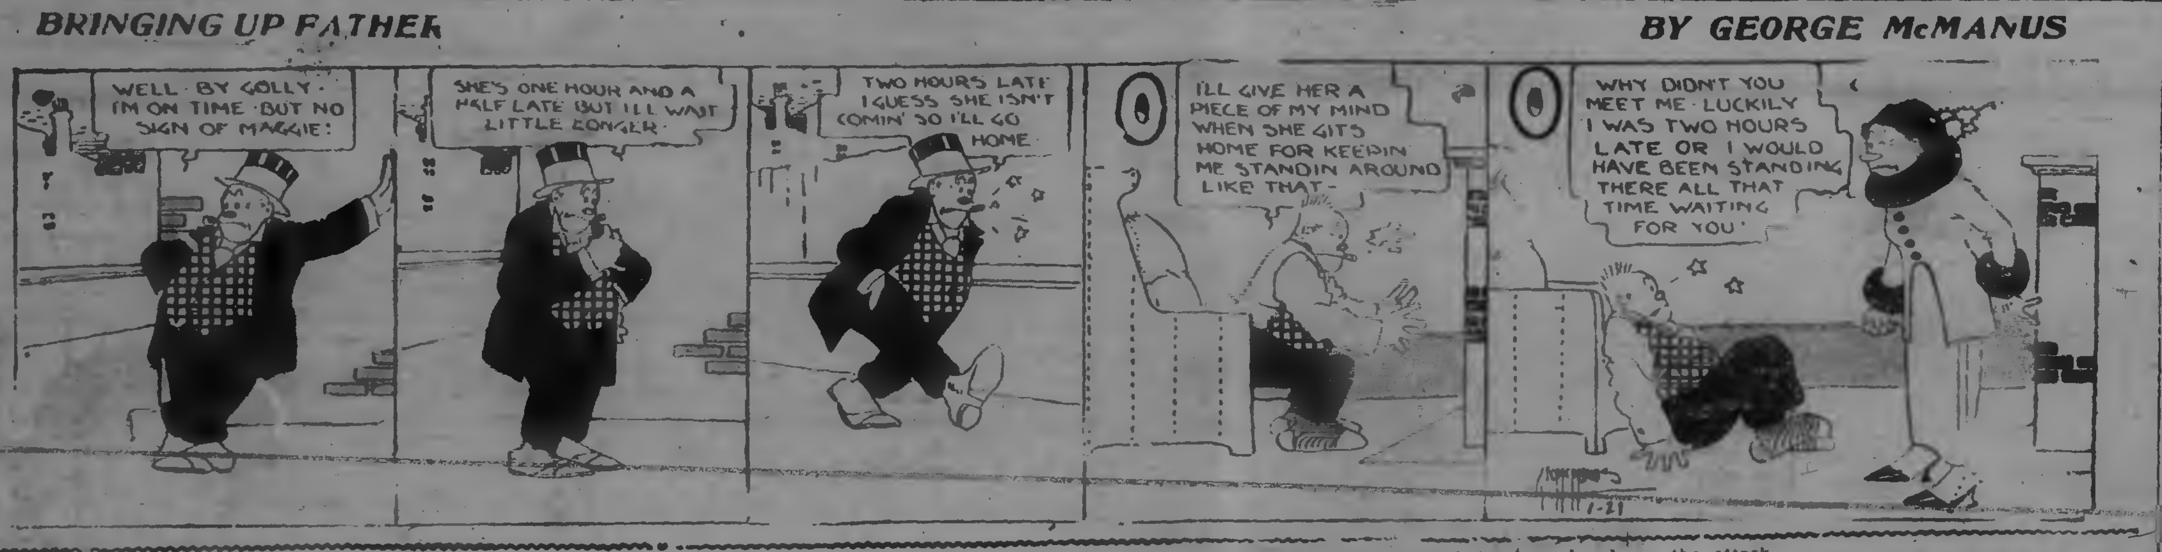
Hospital Ship Delayed by Fog

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Portland, Me., March 21.—The hospital ship Araguaya, which had been exppected today with about eight hundred wounded Canadian soldiers, has been delayed by fog, and will not reach port until tomorrow, according to [illegible] from the steamer.

Canada's War Costs Are $1,500,000,000

Paris, March 21.—Canada has completed her war cost estimates for submission to the Reparations Commission. It is understood, according to the Reuter correspondent, that the amount will exeed $1,500,000,000.



BRINGING UP FATHER
BY GEORGE McMANUS
WELL BY GOLLY I'M ON TIME BUT NO SIGN OF MAGGIE:
SHE'S ONE HOUR AND A HALF LATE BUT I'LL WAIT LITTLE LONGER.
TWO HOURS LATE I GUESS SHE ISN'T COMIN' SO I'LL GO HOME.
I'LL GIVE HER A PIECE OF MY MIND WHEN SHE GITS HOME FOR KEEPIN' ME STANDIN AROUND LIKE THAT - WHY DIDN'T YOU MEET ME LUCKILY I WAS TWO HOURS LATE OR I WOULD HAVE BEEN STANDING THERE ALL THAT TIME WAITING FOR YOU'

Lackawana Coal

Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-562

P. BLACK'S

Spring Millinery Opening

The Latest Arrivals of NEW YORK HATS in numerous different shapes and qualities, in large droops, rolling brim and Directoire poke designs; also most distinctive models in TAILORED MILLINERY, from a nice Sailor to a best Dress Hat, and at prices that will meet everyone's pocket.

FLOWERS, FRUIT MOUNTS and narrow and wide RIBBONS are greatly reduced.

You could select your Hats now and we will keep until required, by paying a small deposit down. You are requested to inspect our Hats before buying elsewhere, for your own benefit.
You are welcome to see our SUITS and DRESSES—Newest Styles at low prices.

Large Dress Hats with new crowns and slightly drooping brim, of fine lustrous Jap braid, black or tan. Worth $4.50. Sale Price $1.75 fine Milan Tagel braid of lustrous Jap Medium large Dress Hat of braid. Black or white. Worth $4.00 ...... Sale Price $1.50

Smart Sailor Hats of fine Milan hemp with semi-high telescope crown. Black, brown, and navy. Worth $3.50 ...... Sale Price $1.25

Large Sailors of fine Milan hemp, two tone, black trimmed with white, or white trimmed with black. Regular $3.50. Sale Price $1.25

An assortment of very becoming Small Hats of fine lustrous Jap braid, with new telescope crown, in some brim turned up smartly at left side; some turned up at back; others nice rolled brim; some with small drooping brims. Worth $4.50 ...... Sale Price $1.75

In black, brown or grey. A very popular model, new cushion brim, thick, light weight double brim of fine lustrous Jap braid, trimmed around crown and fancy bow of silk corded ribbon. Worth $5.00. In black or colors ...... Sale Price $2.50

A new model, featuring a combination of the new pineapple straw with Milan tagel; made with bell crown and drooping poke brim and trimmed with band and pleated bow of corded ribbon. Very stylish. Regular price $5.50 ...... Sale Price $2.75

A large Hat of natural bleached Java; the brim finished with wide lace straw; edge trimmed with black velvet bow. Regular price is $6.50. Sale Price $2.98

A stylish new medium Hat, fine lustrous Jap braid, with brim rolled smartly at the left side and wide at right; some with drooped front and turned up at back. Worth $4.50 ...... Sale Price $1.50

Satin and Bra'd Hat, smart model, trimmed with some satin bows at the side. In grey. Worth $6.50 ...... Sale Price $2.98

Mushroom Chip model, a becoming summer hat. Worth $4.00. Sale Price $1.98

Many different Trimmed Hats; all colors; beautifully trimmed with ribbons, flowers and chiffon. Hundreds of shapes, no two alike. Worth from $3.00 to $7.00 ...... Sale Prices ...... $1.50 to $3.75

GIRLS HATS—Many different styles, in braids and straws. Regular $1.50. Sale Price 75c

GIRLS' PANAMAS—Different styles and shapes. Worth $3.00. Sale Price $1.25

A pretty hand made Braid Hat in nigger brown, trimmed with old rose silk and bows of same. Worth $6.00 ...... Sale Price $2.98

Corner KING and GEORGE STREETS
Opposite Peter Hamiliton's

P. BLACK

Kitchener has secured better radial service on the Grand River railway.

Orders for Coal

taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Card Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.
Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.
Store and Apartment to rent.

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. 386 Bethune St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 396

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible].
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 930

A THRILLING COME-BACK IS STAGED BY SELKIRKS

Westerners Win Fixture But Lose Round to Tigers Last Night.

Toronto, March 21. — Hamilton Tigers are holders of the Allan Cup for a year, but the Hamilton team will never forget the fight they had to put up to hold the silverware. Selkirks, Manitoba and Western champions, staged one of the greatest come-backs ever seen on Toronto ice last night and beat the Hamilton crew five to one, but fell one goal short on the round.

Hamilton outclassed the Western invaders on Tuesday night and beat them by 6 to 1. It was a good thing for the Tigers. The Selkirks reversed the play last night and smothered the Hamilton team with grand checking and dashing rushes that carried them well in for the sixty minutes of play. There is no denying that the Western seniors played the right brand of hockey. In the regulation hour of play Selkirks bulged the Hamilton net five times and evened up the count on the round. They were tearing like a lot of mad men when the bell rang.

When they came out for the overtime it was soon apparent Selkirks had skated themselves into the ground in the last half of the game, and then on came the Tigers. The Hamilton forwards were checking in the right style for the first time during the game, and they broke up the Western attacks and carried the play right to the Selkirks. Matte rushed up alone, worked in through the entire works and scored in a minute of play. When the ten-minute session of overtime was up this was the only goal scored, and left Hamilton Tigers amateur champions of the world by 7 goals to 6.

Fans with the Selkirks.

The game fight of the Westerners soon had all the Toronto fans rooting for them. The pace was terrific throughout and the Selkirks got the jump right at the start and kept it up for sixty minutes. The game was played under western rules and about the only difference was that the game was played in two thirty-minute halves instead of three twenty-minute sessions.

Selkirks opened with close checking and rushed in their men two and three at a time. Hamilton forwards failed to check and did not start to work until the attackers were twenty feet from the goal. This made it almost impossible for Matte and Reise to turn them out.

At the other end Gillespie was a newcomer on the defence and it made all the difference in the world in the blocking tactics of the team from out west. Tigers found they couldn't roam in at will as they did Tuesday night, and when forced to shoot from long range Morrison showed to better advantage.

Selkirk forwards were like a pack of hounds and chased the puck carrier and worried him until he dropped the rubber. Then the front line would break like a flash and with the Hamilton forwards not chasing them back Selkirks broke in on top of the defence two and three at a time. In would race the puck carrier and shoot, and a man tore in to bat in the rebound. Reaume had the busiest night of his career and did remarkably well under the circumstances.

Hughes was the hero of the Selkirk attack. He came through like a winner in the last half and ran in three goals and tied up the round. Simpson broke like a flash and worried the Hamilton defence with his aggressiveness. The whole Selkirk forward line was good and never stopped work during the full hour.

Matte and Reise were the hardest worked of the Hamilton team. They blocked and bodied, but still in came the Selkirks. The forwards were responsible for this. Green was the busy little-bee on the front line. He tried hard to break up the attack with checking, but got little help. Roach broke fast in spots, but the passing and shooting of the whole Tiger team was below par. McCarthy did some good work in the second half, but had to shoot from outside, and it didn't get anything.

It was a thrilling fixture and the crowd rooted like mad for the Western visitors to win after they got within striking distance of Hamilton's lead. It was the gamest effort seen here in many moons. Only one goal was scored in the first period, and then Selkirks ran in four in the second half. Matte got the goal that won the honors a minute after the overtime started.

The game ended with Selkirks winners, 5 to 1, but Tigers victors on the round, 7 to 6.

The teams:

Hamilton—Goal, Reaume; defence Reise and Matte; centre, Roach; R. wing, Green; L. wing, Duncan. Substitutes—McCarthy and Smith.

Selkirks—Goal, Morrison; defence Simpson, Gillespie; centre, Oliver; R. wing, Brandow; L. wing, Hughes. Substitutes—Goodman, Anderson.

Officials — Dr. Laflamme and Robert Hewitson.

The summary:

First Half
Selkirks—Gillespie—15.00.
Second Half
Selkirks—Oliver—4.00.
Selkirks—Hughes—20.00.
Selkirks—Hughes—2.00.
Selkirks—Hughes—.30.
First Period, Overtime.
Hamilton—Matte—1.00.

SHIP SURRENDER DELAYED

Berlin, March 20.—Surrender of part of the German mercantile fleet will be delayed on account of the shortage of bunker coal. The coal shortage is due to strikes among the miners and transportation difficulties.

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,
NUT, [illegible] PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:
A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Hurleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of these sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary.
Provisional Committee,
21 Brown St.

WRIST & BRACELET Watches

In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut. Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

H. LEBRUN & CO.

THE World's Foremost Designers & Makers of Men's Apparel have contributed to our immense stock of clothing, hats, caps and furnishings for Spring and Summer of 1919

Right here at Le Brun's you can select your goods from the products of the best manufacturers in the county. We handle the best goods and the best known goods in every department. The following lines represent the best there is. You can get their goods in Peterborough only at this store, at about the old prices:

FIT-REFORM AND CROWN CLOTHING FOR MEN

TOOKE COLLARS. TOOKE & LANG SHIRTS
PENMAN'S HOSIERY, KING SUSPENDERS,
Penman's Union SUITS, Perrin and Dents Gloves

Penman's Underwear, Sackville's and Berkley Hats, Big B and Railroad Signal Overalls and Work Clothes, Coppley, Noyes & Randall Boys' Clothing, Hercules Stockings, Tooke Blouses, etc. etc.

Each of the above lines represents ABSOLUTELY THE BEST in their line. If there were any better we would have them.

COME SATURDAY

and see what we, our goods and our unequaled values, can do for you.

H. LEBRUN & CO.

Victory Cake made with

Lantic

Old Fashioned Brown Sugar

Last year we called it War Cake but it's too good to give up. The recipe is in our booklet "Grandmother's Recipes", which we will send you upon receipt of a 2c. stamp. 13

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES Ltd., McGill Building, - MONTREAL.

Barrie's

FURRIERS
Peterborough, Ont.

Absolutely
No
Reductions on FURS
After March 31st

The Barrie Building
Phone 340w

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

Yours Eyes Will Tell You

If your eyes are laboring under an undue strain you must be conscious of something wrong. For your own good, allow us to make a careful examination of your eyes. See W. H. LACKY, Exclusive Optometrist, 410 George Street.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

NOTICE TO MOTORISTS

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Automobile Association will be held in the Bank of Montreal Chambers, on Friday evening, March 21st, at 8 p.m. Every motorist in the County is invited to be present for matter of importance will be discussed, among which are Impending Legislation, Ontario Good Roads Scheme as means of employment, the coming Motor Show and also Election of Officers for the year 1919, will be held.

H. O. FISK,
Sec'y-Treas.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

The Review Office will be open Saturday evening for receiving accounts and subscriptions. If you are behind in your subscription we will appreciate your calling on Saturday evening and paying amount due. Any subscribers not receiving The Review regularly each evening will confer a favor by letting us know. Telephone Review 189.

THE CURLING RINK

Will close Saturday evening, March 22nd. Members are asked to remove their clothing by that date.

F. BROWNSCOMBE,
Secretary.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

TIGHE—DAWSON

The wedding took place on Thursday, March 20, 1919, at the home of Mr. John Speer, Hunter street, of Mrs Martha Dawson, of Toronto, to Mr. James Tighe, Peterborough. Rev. R. A. Whattam officiated. Toronto papers please copy.

Mrs. D. C. King is visiting her mother, Mrs. Allan, of Carvan.

Capt. H. B. Rogers, son of Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, is expected to arrive home on the 8.50 C.P.R. train this evening.

ALLAN-PARK RECITAL

St. Paul's Church, Monday, 24th March, at 8.15 p.m. Dorothy Allan Park, soprano; Maurice H. Park, tenor; John Allan, organist and accompanist. Splendid program. Collection.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

On and after May 1st, 1919, the Union rate of wages for Carpenters will be 67½ cents per hour, 8 hour day. Saturday afternoon off during months of June, July and August.

THOS. J. McMURRAY, Pres.
F. SHEARER, Rec. Sec.
Local Union 219.

FOUR SPLENDID DANCES

Four splendid new dances have just been issued on Victor Records. on record 35682 is "Head Over Heels" (fox trot) and "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows" (fox trot). On record 18526 are two beautiful waltzes "Till We Meet Again," and "Beautiful Ohio." These records are now on sale at Heintzman Hall. George and Hunter streets.

TEMPLE SONGSTERS

Will members of the Temple Songsters Brigade make an effort to be at practice this evening at 7.15 sharp

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

NOTICE.

I take this opportunity of making known to the public the fact that I have no connection whatever with the painting business being conducted in my name at 416 Water street, as I sold my painting and decorating business nearly a year ago and my name is being used without my consent. My time, energies and interest are used entirely in connection with my General Insurance Business at 202-203 Barrie Building.

HUGHSON JOHNSTONE.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1062.

ALLAN-PARK RECITAL.

St. Paul's Church, Monday, March 24th, at 8:15 p.m. Dorothy Allan-Park, Soprano; Maurice H. Park, Tenor; John Allan, Organist and accompanist. Splendid program. Collection.

NOTICE
TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

On and after May 1,1 919, the union rate of wages for carpenters will be 67½ cents per hour, 8-hour day. Saturday afternoon off during months of June, July and August.

THOS. J. McMURRAY, Pres.,
F. SHEARER, Rec.-Secretary.
Local Union No .219.

MR. AND MRS. IRVING HONORED

Woodstock, March 20.—Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Irving, prominent citizens of Innerskip, are taking up their residence in this city. Prior to leaving Innerkip they were the recipients of several tokens of esteem from the Presbyterian Church and the Masonic Order.

Two hundred persons are reported to be dying daily in Petrograd from typhoid fever.

Plans are being considered for the erection of an artificial curling rink in Detroit.

Knox Church Choir Banquet Last Evening

GOOD THINGS TO EAT AND ACCEPTABLE ENTERTAINMENT PREVAILED

A very enjoyable evening was spent last night, when the session and the Board of Management and ladies provided a banquet for Knox Church choir.

A splendid supper was provided. The tables were waited on by Mrs Cruickshank, Mrs. Carpenter and others. The tables were decorated with candles in glass candlesticks with paper shades. Everything was hustle bustle. A boy scout was kept busy carrying refreshments. A few of the eats were bread and butter, cake, pie, jelly, ham and [illegible] salads of all kinds and ice cream.

Toast List and Music.

After supper the following program of toasts and responses and music proved an entertaining feature:

Mr. H. Morrison served as toast master.

The King, by Mr. Yale; responded to by Rev. McKenzie.

Knox, Church, by Mr. Yale; responded to by Mr. Buyers.

The Sunday School, by Dr. McCulloch; responded to by Mr. M. Clarke.

The Women's Missionary Society by Mr. Clifford; responded by Mrs Watt.

The Ladies' Aid Society, by John Byers; responded to by Mrs. Cruickshanks.

Our sailors and soldiers at home and overseas, by Jonathan Smith and John Smith; responded to by Robert McLeish.

The choir, by Mr. C. H. Williamson, Mr. Penrose, Mr. H. McCannan and Robert Mulligan; responded to by Mr. Kenyon.

Piano solo, by Miss White.
Vocal solo, by Miss Herbison.
Solo, by Mr. M. Clarke.

Vote of Thanks.

A vote of thanks to those who assisted in the program and the elders of the congregation who provided the banquet was moved by Mr. Roy and carried.

The evening was brought to a close by singing the Doxology.

FARMERS' CLUB MEETS MONDAY

The Peterboro Farmers' Club will meet in the S. O. E. Hall, Hunter street, on Monday, March 24th, at 8 p.m. All the members are requested to be present as the Club has important business to discuss.

R. B. ROGERS, President.
C. S. BROWN, Secretary.

NORMA TALMADGE AT THE GRAND

Norma Talmadge comes to the Grand Opera House Monday Tuesday and Wednesday in the title role of 'De Luxe Annie," her latest Select Picture, which is still registering a distinct success as a stage play in many of the largest cities. The picture was adapted for the screen by Paul West from the play by Edward Clark, and directed by Roland West. Surpassing even her supreme characterizations in "Ghosts of Yesterday" and "By Right of Purchase," this charming Select start has inspired her countless admired her countless admirers to new enthusiasm with her portrayal of the heroine in "De Luxe Annie."

Julie Kendal, the loving wife of a devoted husband, is struck on the head and becomes an aphasia victim. While in this condition, she becomes the confederate of Jimmy Fitzpatrick in the operation of the de-lux-book variation of the old badger game.

Ignorant of his real purpose, she evades the detective whom her husband had retained to trace her, and subconsciously flees to the little town in which the summer home of the Kendals is situated. There a surprising but altogether logical chain of events bring her to the house, where her husband and his friend, Dr. Niblo, meet her and her confederate.

An operation restores her memory, and with it, the happy family life which had blessed the home of the Kendals before the catastrophe.

SCHOOL NEEDED ANYWAY

Brantford, March 20.—The Board of Education has decided to go on with the erection of the new East Ward School this year even though the cost is expected to run double the amount voted by the ratepayers last January, which was $75,000.

A third political party in Canada is proposed by a Regina returned officer, to be recruited from the G. W. V. A., Grain Growers and Labor.

To-morrow is the LAST DAY of our Formal Display of the Authentic New Styles For Spring in

WOMEN'S AND MISSES' WEARING APPAREL, Accessories and Home Needs

And as a Special Feature of the Display We offering some very attractive Values in all Departments

A Display Well worth Seeing. Here are Some Special Attractions for To morrow

Our New Suits are Stylish and Beautifully Made and we are Offering Some Wonderful Values at $29.75—$39.75—$42.00

At the above prices we offer you an opportunity to purchase the New Spring Suit you require. And yo uwill find suits for every occasion in good wearing fabrics and tailored to a nicety—suits that are equal to those expected at much higher prices, but seldom seen at these popular prices.

OUR SUITS AT $29.75
Are smart new spring models, well tailored from all wool serge, in avy blue and black. These new suits show all the novelty style features and are particularly good value.

OUR SUITS AT $39.75
Are exclusive, dressy models in the most alluring styles. Only one of a kind; handsomely designed and finely tailored from all wool mannish serge, and come in styles that you will like.

OUR SUITS AT $42.00
Are made in styles that will please and delight, from the finest materials. We do not know where you will find prettier suits at such a moderate outlay as the ones we offer at this price.

New York Dresse. For Women and Misses $18.50
A very Special Offering for Saturday Selling

A group of beautiful New York model Dresses— you'll simply fall in love with them, the styles are so pretty, and made from fine all-wool botany ser ge; all the highest class of tailoring; black, green and navy blue. Saturday Spe cial $18.50

Fashionable New Millinery

Almost everything that is new in Millinery is shown here this season. You will find only a few days' difference in styles shown in New York and styles shown here.

THIS SEASON WE ARE SPECIALIZING IN THE SMARTEST TRIMMED MILLINERY FOR $5.00

And such a gay assortment of colors and styles to choose from that there must be Hats for everyone here.
We also have styles for less, and those that cost more.

SILK AND DRESS GOODS

Novelty Silk Skirtings, Yord $3.50
36 inch Stripe and Plaid Silk Skirtings A large assortment of exclusive skirt lengths, and only one skirt to each pattern All up-to-date color combinations, in the prettiest designs ...... Saturday Special, yard $3.50

Repscord Suiting, Yard $1.35
Our yard wide Ripscord Suiting, in colors of black and navy blue. A new corded suiting material with a rich silk surface and a fabric that will stand good, hard wear. Regular $1.75 ..... Saturday Special, yard $1.35

The New Jersey Silk. Yard $2.98
Just in from New York—36-inch Jersey Silk, the season's newest novelyt, for dresses and suits Heavy grade pure silk quality; black, navy blue, taupe and Alpine blue. Extra special Saturday, yard $2.98

Black Silk Suiting PoplinsClearing at $1.69
A quality of poplin which is particularly suitable for Spring Suits. It has a fine, even weave and a very rich finish; black only; thirty-six inches wide. Regular $2.25 yard. To clear Saturday. Yard $1.69

TO-MORROW IS THE DAY TO BUY RUGS
Wilton, Axminster, and Brussels Rugs
At Attractive Sale Prices

Seldom, if ever, will you be able to purchase such good Rugs at such attractive prices. They are all new and bought from one of the best Canadian manufacturers at big savings. And to-morrow we are going to hand this saving on to you. Now is the time to brighten and refresh some part of the home at a decided price advantage. The variey of attractive weaves and patterns offers the widest latitude for choice and the carrying out of any special color scheme for any part of the home.

All sizes, all qualities, but only one or two of a kind.
If you want new Rugs, dont' overlook this Special Rug Sale To-morrow.

WILTON RUGS
Size 12 x 9 feet. Regular $125.00. One sale for $109.00
Size 9 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in. Regular $85.00. On sale for $65.00
BRUSSELS RUGS
Size 9 x 12 feet. Regular $54.00. On sale for $42.50
Size 6 ft. 9 in. x 7 ft. in. Regular $30.00. On sale $22.75
Size 6 ft. 9 in. x 10 ft. 6 in. Regular $37.50. On sale $31.50
AXMINSTER RUGS
Size 12 ft. x 9 ft. Regular $72.00, for $59.00
Size 9 ft. by 10 ft. 6 in. Regular $63.00, for $52.00
Size 6 ft. x 9 ft. Regular $40.00, for $34.50
Size 12 x 9 feet. Regular $125.00. One sale for ... $109.00

OTHER SATURDAY BARGAINS

75c	Table Damask, yard	59c
75c	Bed Sheeting, yard	56c
50c	Pillow Cases, each	39c
50c	Bedroom Towels, each	37c
50c	Huckaback Towelling, y	39c
40c	Dress Crepes, yard	25c
75c	White Suitings, yard	48c
35c	Wash Ginghams, yard	29c
40c	English Prints, yard	25c
75c	Cotton Foulards, yard	50c

NEW GOSSARD CORSETS HAVE COME
We take great pleasure in announcing that our stock of Gossard Corsets for this season is now complete. Great care is taken with Gossard Corsets to have a style to suit each figure. If you wear a model of this famous make you need never worry about feeling any discomforts which come from an imperfectly fitted corset. The best of coutils and brocades in white or flesh are used for these new models. All sizes. Prices range from $2.75 to $10.00

New Gloves. Correct Styles in all Wanted Shades
Choose your new Silk Gloves to-morrow from our comprehensive Spring stock, which includes only Silk Gloves of the best quality, with contrasting stitching and smartly trimmed cuffs. A big range in all the new costume shades. Pair
85c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.75

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET GILLMAN

Mrs. Margaret Gillman passed away last evening at her home, 466 Mark street, Ashburnham, aged 73 years.

Deceased was born and lived all her life in Ashburnham. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. She leaves two daughters, Miss Agnes and Miss Annie, at home, and three sons, Robert and Richard, of Ashburnham and John, of Harwood.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the late residence of deceased to the church of the Imaculate Conception, thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

ST PAUL'S CHURCH

There will be a very beautiful service on Sunday morning on the occasion of the unveiling of the two memorial tablets, one sacred to the memory of those connected with St. Paul's who gave their lives, the other a tribute to those returning. Capt. and Mrs. Park will sing and Mr. H. R. H. Kenner will present the tablets on behalf of the choir to the congregation. Rev. Mr. Pogue will preach the memorial sermon from the text. "They loved not their lives unto the death." The War Veterans are attending in a body.

Kitchener and Waterloo Manufacturers' Association has been formed.

NEW SONGS FOR Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS

Mr. Asa Huycke's new compositions, "Navigatin' Home," "And You'll All Go to Heaven When You Die," and "Way Down in Caroline" will all be played and sung at the Y.M.C.A. minstrels tonight at the Grand with eight experienced and well-known end men. Chorus of real singers, dancers, instrumental numbers, duets, quartettes and jokes, monologues, swell costumes, special electrical effects. This is a real show and you'll enjoy every minute—no drags —pep all the time.

TENDERS FOR Bridge Construction

Sealed Tenders Plainly Marked as to contents will be received by Alderman Harry Phelan, Chairman Board of Works, City Hall, Peterborough, Ontario, up to 5 O'CLOCK, P. M., of TUESDAY, APRIL 1st, 1919, for the construction of a Reinforced Concrete Bridge of eleven arches with approaches, etc., over the Otonabee River at Hunter Street, Peterborough, Ontario.

Proposals will be considered either upon a lump sum basis or upon a cost plus a lump sum basis

Plans and Specifications may be seen at the office of R. H. Parsons City Engineer, Peterborough, or at the office of the undersigned, 40 Jarvis Street, Toronto.

The lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted

FRANK BARBER,
Consulting Engineer.
Toronto, March 4, 1919.

There is a movement on foot in Timmins to form a district baseball league to include Timmins, Iroquois Falls, Cochrane and possibly South Porcupine.

NOTICE OF AUCTION SALE OF LAND

TAKE NOTICE that the trustees of the Murray Street Baptist Church in the City of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario (formerly the Baptist Church in the Town of Peterborough) will sell by public auction at the old Baptist Church, Murray street, Peterborough, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, on SATURDAY, 29th DAY MARCH, 1919 the property occupied by the old Baptist Church, being all and singular those certain parcels or tracts of lands and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Peterborough (formerly Town of Peterborough) in the County of Peterborough and Province of Ontario, being composed firstly of Lot Number Six, South of Murray street and West of George street, and secondly of part of Lot Number Five, south of murray and west of George street described as follows, that is to say: Commencing at the north-west angle of said Lot Number Five, thence easterly along the northern boundary of said Lot, four feet, thence southerly parallel to the western boundary of said Lot to the rear of said Lot, thence westerly along the rear of said Lot four feet, thence northerly along the west side of said Lot to the place of beginning. Terms cash. MOORE & WEARING, 408 Water street, Peterborough, Solicitors for the said Trustees.

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors.
LEATHER, RATTAN,
WICKER, WOOD,
METAL and GLASS
or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle

AT

Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Northeast winds, fair and comparatively cool today and on Sunday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 68 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

ROBBERS RAID GARAGES AND BANKS, IN CHICAGO

Force Manager to Open Safe and Take $250—Robber on Crutches

Chicago, March 22.—Garage robbers and bandit bands raided the downtown district and the north side early today. Four men drove off with a seven passenger motor car after binding and gagging two watchmen at the Interstate garage, 110 North Market street, and looting the cash register of $40.

The robbers entered the garage about 3 o'clock. Frank Demondi was working at the back of the building under a car and did not notice them. Frank Modula, near the entrance, was marched at the point of revolvers to the basement and bound firmly to a gas pipe. The bandits gagged him, warned him not to struggle and went upstairs again. Demondi was then forced to come from beneath his car and tied in a corner, blindfolded and gagged.

The four then looked around the garage until they found a car that suited them. It belonged to W. J. Kendrick of 6220 Olcott avenue. Three of the robbers climbed in, while the fourth stepped over to the cash drawer and took the money. Then they all drove off. Demondi finally released himself from his bonds and called the police.

Man of Crutches Reappears.

The police think these four men are possibly the same who earlier in the night held up the Loyola garage at 1129 Devon avenue. In this affair was a bandit on crutches, apparently the one who has figured in other robberies. Detectives believe, however, that his crutches are camouflage, as he appears to get about with little dependence on them.

One man appeared at the garage, according to Patrick Roach, the watchman, and ordered him to hold up his hands. Roach engaged him in battle and succeeded in wresting away the robber's revolver from him. At this point two others appeared, and overcame the watchman. The man on crutches then came in and limped about the garage, looking at the machines. He picked out a car belonging to F. Delaney, 6324 Winthrop avenue, and left with his companions.

Private Bank Robbed.

Three negroes entered the private bank and steamship agency of M. Salk & Co., 903 West 12th street, shortly before noon. They drove Salk, Edward Greenberg, his clerk, and Albert Young, a colored porter, into a back-room and demand to know who was the proprietor. There being no answer, one of the robbers pushed his revolver against the terrified Young's ribs and said:

"Who's the boss here?"

Young pointed to Salk, who was then compelled to open the vault. The robbers obtained $250 and a few checks. Salk did not open an inner compartment which contained $500 and several liberty bonds. The robbers likewise overlooked 6,000 rubles in Russian money in Salk's desk. They shut the three in the vault and fled. Salk opened the door, followed them and saw them escape by boarding a 12th street car.

SPECIAL SESSIONS OF THE U. S. HOUSES OF CONGRESS

Will Probably Be Called for Middle of May When Pres. Wilson is Expected to Return—To Deal With Peace Treaty.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, March 22.—A special session of both houses of the American Congress will probably be called to assemble about the middle of May, the date when President Wilson hopes to return to the United States. It is possible, if the treaty of peace is sufficiently advanced to warrant such a course, that a special session of the Senate may be called even earlier to deal with this subject, before being called upon to direct its attention to other important matters, the chief of which will be financial affairs.

OLYMPIC WITH TROOPS TOMORROW

CRETIC ALSO CLOSE AT HAND —THREE BOATS BRINGING 8,500 MEN

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 22. — A wireless message from the steamship Olympic states that she will be off Chebucto Head at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will dock here later. The Cretic is believed to be off the harbor, but no word had been received from her this morning. The Royal George, now due, has not yet been sighted. These three boats are bringing a total of 8,500 Canadian war veterans.

Kirkfield Farmer In Police Court

ANDREW CRAWFORD CHARGED WITH BEING DEFAULTER—BAIL GRANTED

Andrew Crawford, a young farmer residing near Kirkfield, Victoria County, appeared in police court this morning charged with having been a defaulter under the M. S. A.

J. Fordyce Strickland appeared in his behalf and as the crown asked for a remand until such time as the fiat arrived, this was granted, Thursday being set as the day for resuming the case.

Mr. Strickland's client did not elect or plead, and his counsel asked for his temporary release upon bail. Crawford is the owner of a very fine farm comprising 300 acres of land with a brick house and modern buildings situated upon it, and Mr. Strickland asked that the accused's own bond be taken upon proof being furnished of his title to the property. He also stated that the brother would arrive here at noon and that he would go upon another bond for the young man.

Mr. Hatton was satisfied, and Magistrate Dumble promised that Crawford should be allowed to go until the day of his trial, if it could be shown that he was the owner of sufficient property to make his surety acceptable.

COMMONS LOBBY IS NOW OPEN TO CORRESPONDENTS

ALL BRITISH COLONIES HAVE BEEN ACCORDED THIS LONG HOPED-FOR PRIVILEGE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 22. — A limited number of overseas correspondents are at last to be admitted into the lobby of the House of Commons, one representative each for Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and India being allowed to enjoy the same privileges as those already possessed by the leading English papers. The Canadian Press will represent Canada.

FAVOR DAYLIGHT SAVING

Montreal, March 22.—Unanimous approval was given to the daylight saving plan by the Trades and Labor Council at its meeting last night.

CITY FATHERS HEED VOICE OF THE TRADES COUNCIL

Grants $150 Salary Increase to Assistant Assessor, a Returned Soldier—Special Session Last Night—Declines to Abolish Qualifications for Election to Municipal Office.

There was a special session of the City Council held last night which lasted until twelve o'clock. A deputation from the Playground Association was heard and the remainder of the time was occupied in the transaction of business of a more or less general character which gave rise to considerable discussion.

A budget of communications were read. One was from Mrs. Mary Burns, claiming damages for injury done the stock stored in the cellar of her store at the corner of Reid and McDonnell streets, as a result of the recent floods. It was referred to the Legal Committee for consideration.

Sergeant Reid, the Bread Inspector for the city, wrote the Council to the effect that as there is considerable extra work entailed as a result of his position, he felt that he was entitled to a salary such as the truancy officer received.

Notice was received from City Solicitor Widdifield to the effect that the action being brought by Mr. G. W. Hatton to quash the bylaw authorizing the construction of a sewer past his property on McDonnell street will be tried at Peterborough in the near future and advising that in the meantime no action be taken in regard to the proposed work.

A communication from Mrs. W. H. Denham to the Mayor was read thanking the Council for the expressions of sympathy and respect shown the memory of her late husband.

John Simonds, Charlotte street, made application to handle government fish.

Damage Claimed.

Mr. J. E. L. Goodwill wrote the Council in connection with the damage done the plant of his clients, the William Hamilton Company, as a result of the recent flood in the northwestern section of the city. He stated that havoc had been wrought in the moulding room and promised that they would hear from him further in regard to the matter as soon as he had made a more thorough investigation.

The Sherwood Construction Company of Toronto offered to submit plans for a bridge which would be much less expensive than the one proposed and would conform to the dimensions as laid down in the specifications and would be little different in appearance. They would forward these at the same time as they submitted their tender for the contract for the construction of the bridge under consideration at present.

A communication from the Board of Health asked that the Council consider the advisability of having bakers wrap their bread before delivery.

Permanent Prohibition.

The Dominion Alliance request the Council to petition the Dominion Government to have the war-time prohibition measure made permanent.

Several communications were received from the Hydro-Electric Commission acknowledging receipt of letters forwarded from the Council in regard to improvements in the street railway and other matters.

R. W. Knox, of 315 Elias avenue, requested that a pavement be constructed along the west side of that street. Mayor Duncan spoke in favor of it and the matter was referred to the Board of Works.

The Trades and Labor Council requested the City Council to use their influence towards having the property qualification for municipal office abolished. They also asked that a Fair Price Committee be appointed to look into the present high price of bread and other foods.

A communication from the Retail Merchants' Association urged a substantial grant for the Fair Board.

The reports of committees were submitted by the various chairmen. Alderman Gainey in the absence of Alderman Turner, chairman of the Legal Committee, read the report of that body.

In connection with the grants to the bands of $600 Alderman Gainey thought that it should be referred back to the committee for further consideration. This was done.

Assistant's Salary Raised.

Alderman McIntyre took exception to another item appearing in the report of the committee of the whole which incorporated the estimates. He thought that the salary of $750 was not enough for the assistant assessor, who was a returned soldier with a wife and family to support. He favored giving him an increase of $150.

Aldermen Gainey and Garside supported his contention, but Alderman Edgar, was against this move upon the grounds that the salary had been fixed by the committee when Assessor Henry had asked for an assistant. It had been thought at that time that a young man would apply

(Continued on Page Three.)

ALLIES MUST NOW CHOOSE BETWEEN ITALY AND SLAVS

ITALY MUST HAVE THE DOOR OF HER HOME SHUT SAYS GEN. GUGLIEMOTTI AT BANQUET

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 22.—The Allies must choose between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs, contended Major-Gen. Guglielmotti, of the Italian embassy at Washington, in an address delivered before the Canadian Club here last night. He said: "You in Canada have law. You trust it because you made it. You have just, wise judges and policemen, fine, handsome men, yet you shut the doors of your houses. Italy also relies upon justice from the League of Nations, but first she wants the door of her home shut. France feels likewise, and asks the Allies to give her a strong frontier. Choice must be made between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs. As Italy has been loyal to her Allies in a common cause until the last, so her allies must be loyal to Italy. We rely upon France and the United States, but especially upon your own dear England."

Local Employment Bureau's Statement

The following report covering the activities of the local Employment Bureau from March 15 to March 20 has been issued by the Peterborough officials:

Applications for employment	45
Vacancies	24
Vacancies filled	18
Applications from soldiers	24
Vacancies filled by soldiers	8

THE POLISH QUESTION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 22. — The Supreme War Council yesterday considered different aspects of the Polish question, and the transport of Gen. Heller's troops to Poland, and is meeting again today at 11 o'clock.

TROTSKY ALARMED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 22.—A despatch from Zurich to Le Matin says that Trotsky is alarmed by the Esthonian-Lettish offensive which is menacing Petrograd, and has ordered the mobilization of all men up to 46.

CABLE FLASHES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 22.—At the annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway today, Chairman Smithers stated that the Canadian Government had offered for property an annuity of three million, seven hundred thousand dollars after eight years. Offer not accepted.

Berne, March 22.—Swiss Telegraph Agency from Proskuroff Seat Petlura Government states Ukrainian forces resumed offensive. Bolsheviki position now critical.

London, March 22.—Leaders of the Union of Railway men have decided to reject Government offer regarding wages, James H. Thomas announces this afternoon.

Washington, March 22.—An additional credit of $75,000,000 was given to Italy today by the United States Government.

Paris, March 22.—Lloyd George stated today he would remain in Paris until text of peace treaty was finally ready for signature by German representatives.

Archangel, March 22.—Bolshevik troops have been defeated on both Vologda Railway and Dvina fronts by Allied and American troops.

Will Tender On Narrower Bridge

At a meeting of the Special Bridge Committee, held last night, which was attended by Ald. Phelan (chairman), Mayor Duncan and Ald. Gainey and McIntyre, Engineer Barber discussed with them matters relating to the new bridge and especially the proposition of the Quaker Oats Company that a concrete platform leading to their plant be constructed instead of the ramp which appeared in the original plans.

Mr. Barber expressed the opinion that the change could be made without additional cost, and promised to submit more definite information upon the subject as soon as possible.

He was instructed to request the firms which are tendering for the contract of constructing the bridge to submit a tender for a structure nine feet narrower, which would be capable of carrying a single track only at the same time as they forwarded their tender based upon the original specifications for a double tracked bridge.

It has been estimated that by building the bridge nine feet narrower at least $40,000 can be saved.

It was decided to obtain the advice of H. W. Middlemust, chief engineer of the Railway and Municipal Board in regard to plans for the bridge.

The report of the committee was later presented to the Council and adopted.

REMARKABLE AIR FLIGHT

BRITISH AIRSHIP MAKES ROUND TRIP OF 1,285 MILES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 22.—The first account is now officially published of a remarkable long distance flight over the North Sea, which was performed by a British non-rigid airship, the U. S. Eleven, during the past few days.

The trip was characterised by extremely unfavorable weather, and therefore it ranks as the most notable flight ever undertaken. The total length of this round trip was 1,285 air miles, and the time taken was about 40¼ hours.

Now is the time, one may paradoxically remark, for the back yard garden to come to the front.

ARE ASKED TO PROVIDE PUBLIC SWIMMING POOL

Deputation From Playgrounds' Association Waited Upon the Council Last Night.

A deputation from the Playgrounds Association composed of Mrs. James Kendry, Mrs. W. R. Morris and Mr. A. G. Roberts, the president, waited upon the City Council last night in regard to the establishment of a proper swimming pond for the children of the city.

Mr. Roberts was the first speaker and stated that the association did not feel that they should assume the responsibility for carrying on this work, although they were ready to co-operate with the Council in any way possible.

A Former Proposal.

Mrs. W. R. Morris referred to the former occasion upon which the Playgrounds Association had approached the Council in connection with the establishment of public bathing places. At that time they came with a formidable and representative deputation, upon which were members of the Ministerial Association and of the Trades and Labor Council. They had a definite proposition to place before the city legislators, but the latter had not seen their way clear at that time to grant the request.

This year the Council had made a grant of $500 to the Playgrounds Association, to be used in connection with this branch of their work. Mrs. Morris stated that it was not within their province nor was it their wish to assume the responsibility of such an undertaking. It was a matter which the Council should look after, and the association would be only too pleased to render whatever assistance they could in the carrying out of the project.

Grant Inadequate.

Five hundred dollars was quite inadequate, and the Playgrounds Association did not want a grant of any kind. What they did desire was to see the City Council interest itself in the carrying out of the project and enter into it upon a scale which would have some effect in meeting the demand which would be made upon such an establishment.

A revenue could be obtained from the dressing rooms which might amount to $200 per year, and Mrs. Morris was sure that should the city decide to take up the work in earnest it would be a most popular move with the ratepayers.

No Accommodations.

In the past the children had no proper place in which to bathe. One by one the places which they had been in the habit of using had been closed to them, until they had no convenient swimming accommodation.

Last year the Y. M. C. A. had kindly allowed the boys the use of their pool twice in the week, but the girls had no place to go, as the Y. W.C.A. could not allow them a similar privilege owing to the fact that their tank was in constant use.

It was true that they could go to Inverlea Park, but this was a great distance for most of them. There was a pressing need for some public swimming pool which would be conveniently located, to which the supervisors of the playgrounds could take the children.

Trainers Provided.

There would be six supervisors this year, as a third playground was to be established as a result of the grants of the Board of Education. Only expert swimmers were engaged to look after the children, and these would be in charge at a public swimming place.

When the Playgrounds Association had approached Council some time ago they had asked that $1000 be granted for the carrying on of the work. Today, as a result of the higher price of material it would require $1500 to $2000 to construct a proper place. The latter sum added to the estimates would amount to an increase in the rate of only one-sixth of a mill, reminded the speaker. She felt it would be quite within the bounds of possibility for the Council to grant the required sum without raising the rate, as there were amounts in the estimates which exceeded the disbursements in the same departments last year.

A Small Raise.

Mrs. Morris felt that plenty of latitude had been left under the heading of miscellaneous expenditure this year to permit of using some of the money for a worthy purpose such as this. Other departments had no doubt been allowed an emergency fund which would in all probability not be required, and it was quite possible that this work could be undertaken without raising the rate, but if it was found necessary to do this, one-sixth of a mill would not affect the ratepayers greatly and would go towards carrying on a work which would be to the benefit of the children of the entire city.

For Soldiers' Day.

Ald. Edgar reminded the representatives of the Playgrounds Association that the estimates had been completed and the rate practically struck at 31 mills. The contingency fund appearing under the heading of miscellaneous expenditure was explained as having been placed there in order to have a big celebration in honor of the soldiers who have returned to Peterborough. Coming without notice and so frequently it had been found impossible to give them all a proper reception, and it had been decided to put this off until they had all returned and then have one big welcome for all. That was the reason the amount to which Mrs. Morris had referred to was set aside.

To Be Considered.

Ald. McIntyre favored the project and at the conclusion of Mrs. Morris' address proposed that the matter be referred to a special committee for consideration, upon which he named Ald. Taylor, Hamilton, Gainey and himself. He submitted a motion, which was carried, authorizing the formation of this committee and giving it the required powers.

The delegation from the Playgrounds were informed that they would be notified of the decision arrived at in regard to their request.

DECLARATION IN SPIRIT IN THE MONRO DOCTRINE

Understood to be Embodied in Amendments to League of Nations—Nothing Contrary to Sovereignty of States.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 22.—In connection with the League of Nations commissions session to consider the various amendments to the League's covenant which have been proposed, the text of the amendment proposed by the Swiss delegation to the conference of neutrals was given out this morning. It reads:

"This covenant shall no the interpreted as containing anything contrary to the sovereignty of states, except in so far as the state itself, by adhering to the covenant, shall consent, and the covenant itself shall not interfere with the internal affairs of any of its members."

The Monroe Doctrine.

While the amendment does not mention the Monroe Doctrine, it is tacitly understood to apply to it. Some of the members of the American delegation are inclined to accept the amendment on such lines, feeling that it would meet the demand of the United States for some declaration in spirit of the Monroe Doctrine.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 100-106 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager. G. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 188. Editorial ... 484.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 231

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1919

NEED OF THRIFT.

JUST NOW, when conditions are reverting from those of war to peace, the tendency toward thrift is by no means what it should be. Spending still flows in a merry channel in many quarters, regardless of the period of industrial depression prevailing. While those who are exercising thrift in any measure are only doing so by enforced industrial inactivity, others who have accumulated huge profits out of the war are spending recklessly. A reminder now and again that there is such a thing as thrift is good both for the individual and the nation, and a letter from a firm of New York stock exchange brokers comes timely. They say:

> "We are passing through a period of rising dollar values. Hitherto—during the war and immediately after—labor has been receiving its wages in dollars whose purchasing power was in the neighborhood of sixty cents. With the decline in commodity prices the dollar will increase in purchasing power and consequently in value. Money saved now is like buying a bond at 60, that will soon be retired at par—assuming, of course, that the commodity plane will decline to a point where the statisticians of economics rate the dollar with a full 100-cent purchasing power. The man who needlessly goes into debt now is swimming against the tide."

HOW AUTHORS SUFFER.

CHARLES DICKENS was the first Englishman to assert in the United States his right as an author to the protection of international copyright. In 1842 piracy was the rule rather than the exception. The novels of the English writers were freely re-printed on this side of the Atlantic without one cent of reward to the authors. Naturally, opposition arose after Dickens in a speech at Hartford, Conn., called the practice a monster injustice.

One American critic said that the novelist was no gentleman but a mere mercenary scoundrel. We have advanced beyond this stage of civilization in most respects. Generally, the right of an author to the profit in his own work is freely recognized in all countries. But by reason of our copyright laws it is not possible for a Canadian composer to collect one cent on the mechanical recording of his song for the phonograph, or for a scenario writer to demand royalties on moving picture films. A newspaper writer cannot prevent the "lifting" of a special "story" by his competitors. A playwright must copyright his play as a book—and get no protection.

It is time for a change. A sane and modern copyright bill will be brought before Parliament this session. It should pass without a dissenting voice. The pen-laborer is worthy of his hire.

LESCHETIZKY, THE INCOMPARABLE.

AMONG THE MASTER TEACHERS of piano, one of the greatest was Theodor Leschetizky, who for thirty years has swayed the piano world by his genius. But death has forced this great artist pedagogue to abdicate his throne, and there appears to be no one to take his place. Artists we have many, but the interpretative artist is seldom a pedagogue, and has neither time nor inclination for the task. Leschetizky was an exception to this rule. He had a psychological, dissecting, critical mind which enabled him to tell with accuracy how results in touch, tone and technique were obtained. Possessing also an overpowering personality, a colossal intellect, a keen-edged wit and a lightning-like perception, he wielded a power over his students which made him feared as well as loved. And those who were privileged to hear him play never forgot it. His touch was incomparably magnetic. Behind his strength and immense technique was a power that moved the very soul, a tenderness and ideality which seemed incredible from so stern an exterior. The exception was that this great artist, possessed of such large imagination and creative ability, was able, with his keen and logical brain, to evolve principles out of the chaos of piano playing and to think out short methods and sure roads to certain definite results. A great artist gets these results in his own playing by the sheer force of his genius, desiring certain effects, but as a rule he cannot tell another how to do it. That which made Leschetizky the great pedagogue was that he did analyze the results of genius and laid down certain principles which work out accurately.

MAILED FIST NEEDED.

THE ALLIES HAVE SENT a small force of troops into Siberia with the object of restoring law and order in that great section of the Russian Empire, and of gathering together sufficient support from broad-minded Muscovites to successfully combat the Bolshevik peril. That army of Allies is miserably insufficient and apparently quite inadequate for the task assigned them, and, in falling of their advertised purpose, have lost prestige in Russia and brought down upon the League of Nations proposition unstinted satire from the Russian press. Today the situation in Russia is worse than last autumn.

Russia truly presents the worst problem threatening world peace, but conditions generally in the East are far from reassuring. Ukrainians and Poles are disputing territory claims; Italians and Jugo-Slavs are quarrelling over territory on the Adriatic formerly controlled by Austria, and Germany is threatened with chaos and anarchy.

Some factor for preserving the peace of the world must be forthcoming if the world is to escape a repetition of the horrors of the past four years. And that factor must be prepared armed force, even as crime is combatted with the force of police authority. Such disputes as existing in Europe today cannot be settled by arbitration unless strengthened with the power to enforce the rulings of such arbitration. And that power must be vested in a combination of nations, backed by the moral and physical support and resources of the civilized world. Hence we look to a League of Nations to offer the means for insisting that both governments and peoples shall maintain law and order, and scrupulously avoid conditions which shall threaten the peace of the world.

The situation in Europe today is gloomy in the extreme, and the miserable Allied failure in Russia has only aggravated conditions by giving the Bolsheviki good reason to doubt the efficacy of any combination which can be brought against them. It has also resulted in a needed object lesson at this time, that it is suicidal to interfere with the affairs of a country seething with revolt and anarchy, unless backed with the force to suppress lawlessness and to restore order. Had a League of Nations, backed by a sufficient measure of armed might to enforce its will, been a fact instead of in perspective, the Russian press would not have dared to satirize it.

In this connection the New York Commercial World quite reasonably concludes that if the Peace Conference fails to provide the machinery for settling these conflicting claims which are keeping Eastern Europe in a state of war they will be determined by another great war which will establish the old rule that might is right. Sick of anarchy and senseless carnage, the peoples of Europe east of the Rhine may welcome the coming of a military dictator, and then the world will realize that the Great War for freedom and democracy was fought in vain. To save mankind from this, President Wilson offers a League of Nations, and the strongest plea for it is the apparent hopelessness of pacifying Europe by any other means than the mailed fist of "the man on horseback."

A SENSIBLE VIEW.

WE HAVE MANY REPORTS as to the cause of the recent trouble among Canadian troops in Rhyl Camp, and general criticism seems to accuse those in authority at Canadian military headquarters of either thoughtlessness or incompetency. Whatever the real facts of the case are, the Westminster Gazette of London, England, claims delay in shipping the men home to have been responsible for the rioting. Commenting on this incident in its issue of March 7 that paper says:

> "A most deplorable outbreak of mutiny among Canadian troops near Rhyl resulted on Tuesday and Wednesday this week in several deaths and other casualties. The whole trouble seems to have arisen from delay in despatching the men back to Canada and from jealousy of other troops who had been sent home, although they were considered to have less claim to demobilization. As soon as the disturbance was suppressed a staff officer from London was able to satisfy the men that everything possible was being done. The discontent, however, must surely have been known to the authorities before the disturbance, and the publication beforehand of the information which was forthcoming afterwards would have prevented the disaster. Perhaps the mandarins of the War Office will one day begin to realize that they are not now dealing with an army like that before the war, and that in the opinion of the troops, whatever may be the technical position, the war is over."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

PETERBOROUGH leads Toronto in one respect, at any rate, and that is in the tax rate. We are one mill ahead.

• • • • •

AT A CONVENTION in Genoa, Italy, manufacturers and workmen agreed on an eight-hour day, or week of forty-eight hours, to come in force May 1st.

• • • • •

IF CANADA does not have a tariff high enough to protect her own industries, after a while we shall be again flooded with the "made in Germany" stuff.

• • • • •

M. VIVIANI, in an address at a banquet in Paris, said: "Paris is too near the frontier. As it does not suit us to move, something else will have to be moved." His reference is quite plain.

• • • • •

MAXIMILIAN HARDEN is one man in Germany who has grasped his country's situation. He admits that there will be but one thing for the German peace delegates to do when the Allies' terms are submitted — sign them.

• • • • •

THE BRITISH Commercial Attache Service has been reorganized as a commercial diplomatic service, a joint department of the Foreign Office and the Board of Trade. Numerous appointments to the new service have been announced. In the future British consuls in foreign countries will be expected to deal with trade in the districts of which they have charge, while the duties of the commercial attaches will be to keep the Government informed as to what is taking place in regard to the general economical state and development of the countries they are sent to, to see that the consuls do their work properly, and to keep a constant watch for any system of commercial penetration on the part of trade rivals.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

DEADLY POLITENESS

(Punch)

"Saying 'Thank you' to a customer," says a news item, "a Wallasey butcher fell unconscious." In our neighborhood it used to be, until quite lately, the customer who fell unconscious.

CONSEQUENCES.

(Detroit Free Press.)

It is said that idleness in Germany is leading to disaster. This, however, is what comes of being too busy making war to do an advance thinking.

AN INFECTIOUS DISEASE.

(London Daily Express.)

Bolshevism is a nasty disease and very catching. Unlike influenza, however, its origin and species are fully recognized, so that inoculation may follow. It might be well to catalogue it as a crime. Murder, manslaughter, treason, treason-felony—and Bolshevism. Why not?

GIVEN AT JERUSALEM

A "pastoral Letter" from Cardinal Bourne was read in the Roman Catholic Churches of Westminster recently. "Francis Bourne, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church of the title of St Pudentiana, by the grace of God and of the Apostolic See Archbishop of Westminster," the document opens, "to the clergy and faithful of the diocese, health and benediction in the Lord."

"Our unceasing prayers must go up before the throne of God," says the Cardinal, "that those who are now deliberating about the eventual settlement of the great issues arising out of the war may be guided to a decision that shall violate no right and ensure a just and lasting peace. Most specially should we pray that our faithful allies in France may at last enjoy full liberty of religious practice and organization; and that Italy in the making of whose unity England played so large a part, may now find her full development and strength in a frank and loyal recognition of the Independance of the Holy See."

The clergy are to encourage their people anew to a study of these social questions "in the light of the teaching of the Catholic Church."

"We must to the extent of our capacity and opportunities be guides to our fellow-countrymen," he continues, "in tracing a safe path throug difficulties wherein those who have no definite principles before them may easily go astray. There are men among us who, doubtless with good intention but none the less to the terrible harm of the whole nation, are misleading the country on such vital subjects as public morality, the sanctity and inviolability of the married state, and the fundamental obligations of parenthood.

"False doctrines on such subjects if they be generally accepted, will work more evil among as than all the horrors of war. It is our duty both by private counsel and public action, to withstand all such erroneous teachings." He appeals for united opposition to "the menace of those who, having abandoned the traditional guidance of Christianity, find themselves constrained to revert to theories which Christ condemned, and are in reality striving to bring back a non-Christian or pagan constitution of the world."

The Letter is inscribed as "given at Jerusalem," and the "Manchester Guardian" observes that "it must have been a good many centuries since such a form of words was used in the same connexion, if, indeed, it ever was used before.

"There was a famous pastoral written by a predecessor of Cardinal Bourne's, Archbishop Wiseman, in which the place of origin was 'Outside the Flaminian Gate,'" the note continues. "It created a good deal of stir because it asserted the writer's title in direct challenge to the Ecclesiastical Titles Bill, which had just been passed by Parliament. But many bishops have written pastorals from Rome."

WIT AND WISDOM

The congregation had suffered much discomfort from a draft in church.

When the matter came up for discussion various remedies were suggested.

"Cannot you help us in our difficulty, Mr. G——? We should be glad to hear your views," said the vicar, addressing one of his parishioners.

"Well, sir, I can only say that afore you're 'alf way thro' t' sermon we begins to feel as tho' there's a deal o' waste wind about."

"Possibly you find my discourses to be of a breezy character."

"Dear, dear, no, sir! But when we've bin perched i' one spot for well nigh an hour a-listening to yer we're more'n ever persuaded there's a 'ole wants stoppin' up somewhere!"

At a certain camp in France the potato crop had proved rather a failure and the smallness of the "spuds" was the subject of many mess "courtesies."

One day a sergeant ordered Pat to dig up potatoes for the men's dinner and because he would not do so Pat appeared before "the bloke," as a defaulter.

"Why did you refuse to obey the orders of the N.C.O.?" asked the C.O.

"Shure, it's like this, sir. My eyesight is very bad and I didn't go a great deal on the hidden treasure stunt, sir. I thought that it was a waste of government time and money, sir, and that the gardener should go and dig them himself since he's the only man in the camp who knows where he put them, sir."

A Vessel bound for the West Indies was proceeding on its way, when the man at the wheel was taken ill.

The captain asked if there was a man on board who could fill the vacant post.

A burly fellow offered his services, assuring the captain that he could steer the boat to its destination, as he knew every rock about that part.

All went well till the third day, when the vessel struck something with terrific force. The captain rushed to the man at the wheel and exclaimed:

"I thought you said you knew every rock about this part."

"So I do," returned the man. "That's one of 'em."

Mrs. Hicks is so painfully neat that she makes life miserable for her family. One of her rules is that all members of the household must remove their shoes before entering the house.

"Bill," she remonstrated one day with her husband, "I found a grease spot on one of the dining room chairs and I think it came off those pants you wear in the shop."

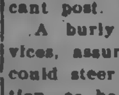
"Well, Mary, for the last fifteen years I have been taking off my shoes every time I come into this house, but I'll be hanged if I'll go further!"

DO YOU WANT PINK CHEEKS?

THEY CAN BE HAD BY KEEPING THE BLOOD RICH, RED AND PURE.

Every woman—every girl—wants pink cheeks. They mean not only beauty but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anaemic, her color fades, she looks debilitated, is short of breath, and her heart palpitates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headache or pains in the back or sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and can only be cured by making the blood rich, red and pure. For this purpose there is nothing can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and in this way bring new health and strength to weak, ailing people. Mrs. Anderson, Hearst, Ont., says: "Before coming to Canada from England I was a sufferer from anaemia for upwards of a year. I had been gradually getting paler and weaker. I did not realize that I was sick, but felt constantly tired and worn out. I had no ambition for anything, and grew so white that my brothers used to call me "snowball." At this stage my mother decided that she would get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are a favorite medicine in England as well as in Canada. On the day I commenced taking them I fainted on getting out of bed, and mother urged me to stay in bed for a few days. I really felt so weak that I was glad to take her advice. I looked more like a corpse than a living person. I remained in bed for a week, taking the pills regularly, and then I felt that I was able to go up, though not able to go about. From that on, however, I gained strength daily, and in a little more than a month I was feeling as well as ever I did. The color returned to my cheeks and lips, and my friends were all surprised at my rapid recovery. I took no medicine but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so that they deserve all the credit for my restoration to health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.



Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Women suffer more than men from far-sight. This is probably due to their spending so much time indoors in work requiring near vision. Neglected this will cause untold agony, nervousness and at times a total breakdown. Every woman should have her eyes examined to see whether or not she needs glasses.

BY the use of temporary glasses young people often avoid the use of permanent glasses in later years.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
128 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

MAGIC BAKING POWDER
MAKES THE WHITEST, LIGHTEST
MAGIC BAKING POWDER
CONTAINS NO A
CONTAINS NO ALUM

The use of the ordinary kinds of baking powder is not attractive to the woman that regards purity and nutrition as important factors in home baking. Women are coming more and more to realize that Magic Baking Powder is the perfect baking powder and that foods containing it have increased nutritious value.

Send name and address for free copy "THE MAGIC WAY"

E. W. GILLETT CO. LTD.
TORONTO, CANADA
WINNIPEG MONTREAL

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

BEDS.

Beds is wat you sleep in and set on the edge of to put your shoes on. If a persin was educated on a desert island and then saw a bed for the ferst time, he would proberly jest go to sleep on the floor as usual and leeve the bed standing there. Proving habit is a grate thing.

A bed has no top and bottom of its own, the top being warever the pillows is, and peeple sleep with their hed up at that end by instink.

The room ware a bed is is genrelly called a bedroom on account of that fack. When peeple have beds in the setting room they fold them up to look like bookcases in the daytime, not because theyre ashamed its a bed but because theyre ashamed ware it is, and if enybody says, Look at the pritty bookcase, they jest let them say it. Proving the effect of a thing depends a good deel on ware it is.

Wen peeple are well they would awffen rather be in bed than warever they are no matter ware they are, but wen they are sick the longer they haff to stay there the less thankfill they are. Proving a thing is no use as long as you cant injoy it.

In winter a bed usually contains 2 sheets, 2 blankits and one quilt. You mite feel jest as warm without the 2 sheets but you wouldent feel as refined.

Peeple in bed awffin dreem they are sumware elts, but they always wake up to find out diffrent.

LEE PAPE.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

As a woman sews, so shall her husband rip.

The chiropodist believes in tight shoes—for others.

Actions speak louder than words when deaf-mutes talk.

Women wouldn't be so talkative if they only spoke their minds.

Crooks understand the art of getting out of financial straits.

A locomotive engineer dreads a misplaced switch; a naughty boy doesn't.

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE / FRIDAY and SATURDAY

BESSIE BARRISCALE in
A Trick of Fate
The daring wiggle of a dancer in the Parisian Underworld

Eddie Polo in the Greatest Serial Sensation of all time, "THE LURE OF THE CIRCUS," Chapter 11.
THE DAGGER 2 Parts
ALSO A FINE COMEDY
PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Extra Fine Bluebird Feature LOUISE LOVELY in
NOBODY'S WIFE
SPECIAL FOR MONDAY
BESSIE BARRISCALE in MADAME WHO
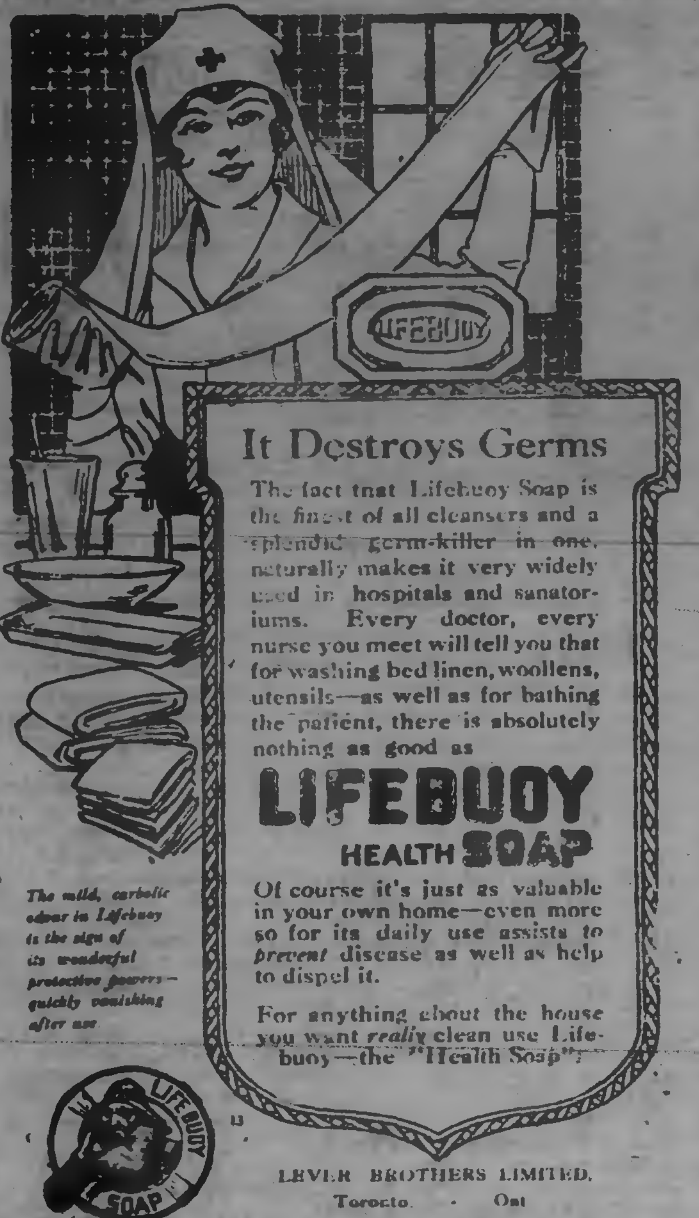
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SKETCH BY WEST THE CHIEF COOK
Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c



It Destroys Germs

The fact that Lifebuoy Soap is the finest of all cleansers and a splendid germ-killer in one, naturally makes it very widely used in hospitals and sanatoriums. Every doctor, every nurse you meet will tell you that for washing bed linen, woollens, utensils—as well as for bathing the patient, there is absolutely nothing as good as

LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP

Of course it's just as valuable in your own home—even more so for its daily use assists to prevent disease as well as help to dispel it.

For anything about the house you want really clean use Lifebuoy—the "Health Soap".

The mild, carbolic odour in Lifebuoy is the sign of its wonderful protective powers—quickly vanishing after use.

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED.
Toronto. · Ont

ENGLISH WAY TO USE HUN FLEET

George Lynch writes to the Westminster Gazette as follows.

Why not put the surrendered German fleet to some useful purposes? England has not yet run short of engineers of imagination, genius and resource. There are now lying at their disposal what can most easily be converted into steel-bound monoliths weighing from about 300 to 30,000 tons. Can engineers, whose lifework is the construction of harbours, breakwaters, piers, or wharves, find no use for these? A Dreadnought, when the machinery is removed and when filled with concrete, would form a steel-bound block one hundred and forty yards long by about thirty-five yards wide, and so on similarly with vessels of less tonnage.

All around the fishing districts of our coasts there are creeks and estuaries that require only a sheltering pier to make them serviceable for fishing craft. I know of several instances where the inhabitants of such localities have been trying in vain for many years past to get them built.

Engineers to whom I have submitted the proposition think well of it. Depending on the formation of the bottom, there would probably be in many cases some preparation necessary of the bed on which the vessel was to rest, but other engineers think that pointed rocks would rivet the bottoms. This would be a small item in comparison with the enormous saving effected against the ordinary method of building piers or breakwaters.

It is puerile to think that the only alternative to the difficulty of dividing up these spoils of war is to sink them in deep water. Surely it is not an insurmountable task for the great League of Nations that is going to settle all world disputes in future and abolish war.

If divided, there should be an international agreement that the German hulls should be used only for some such purpose as that suggested above, and rendered incapable anyway of being set as war weapons.

On July 20, 1917, I wrote to Admiral Bacon, then in command at Dover, suggesting the "sending of a vessel laden with cement or the constituent materials of concrete into such a position as to block the narrow entrance of the harbours of Ostend or Zeebrugge, and sink it there across the mouth of the harbour, where, by opening the hatches, the action of the sea-water on the concrete material or cement would solidify the whole craft into a formidable barrier."

It was not until April 22-23 in the following year that his successor, Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, carried out the enterprise and succeeded completely in blocking up the mouth of the canal at Zeebrugge, and but for an unfortunate accident would have bottled up the entrance to the harbor at Ostend. The Intrepid and Iphigemia were so effectively placed and became so firmly embedded that the Germans never since were able to make a passage through.

The Vindictive at Ostend has now been so effectually transformed into a monolith that she is still a most serious obstacle to vessels entering the harbour.

The more engineers study the problem of using concrete-filled ships as breakwaters or piers the more I find do they endorse the practicability of the scheme. Some hold that so far from any blasting being required for clearing a bed a few pointed rocks which would pierce the hull would be all the better, and under a great weight would add to the security of the emplacement.

Various plans have been suggested for shoring and supporting the landward curves of the bow and stern These are matters of detail for experts to settle.

If little harbours multiplied along our coast will enable our fishermen to garner a greater harvest from our seas for years to come, these ships of the German Navy will keep earning money for us. Tirpitz's life-work will not be altogether worthless. Hindenburg harbour might alone, or Seidlitz part, 28,000 and 24,000 tons respectively.

Waste is crime—the engineering skill of Europe has not gone altogether bankrupt that we should sink £70,000,000 worth of material in the ocean. There are few things that there is not some use for. Was it not a sailor in the music-hall who (disgusted with the performance of the orchestra) called out as a man was on the point of being chucked out over the gallery, "Don't waste him—kill a fiddler with him."

Billy Breen, Woodstock's coach, scored the perpetrators of the plot against his players in Toronto, in a speech at Woodstock last night.

Woodstock players were presented with watches and honored by the citizens of the city last night.

OWES HER LIFE TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Wonderful Medicine, Made From Fruit Juices and Valuable Tonics.

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ

29 St. Rose St., Montreal.

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well.

I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good.

I read about 'Fruit-a-tives'; and tried them. After taking a few boxes, I am now entirely well. You have my permission to publish this letter, as I hope it will persuade other sufferers from Dyspepsia to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and get well".

MADAME ROSINA FOISIZ.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made from fruit.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

AFTER THE WAR.

(By Walt Mason.)

When Kaiser Bill's embattled Huns were doing stunts with swords and guns, you were a dead game sport, we know, who breathed defiance to the foe. No sacrifice was then too great; you wished to squelch that Wilhelm skate, and everything for which he stood, and you were busy sawing wood. You sold the cow, the car you pawned, so you could buy another bond. With loyal boys you held the fort; you were, in truth, a dead game sport. And now the silly war is done, we've placed the kibosh on the Hun, have gained for man a brighter day—but there are many bills to pay. In war time you were great, my friend; don't be a piker at the end. Our Uncle Sam, he needs a pile, and has to borrow for a while. He needs full many a shining bone, and so he springs another loan, and we should rise on our hind legs and offer him the dough in kegs. Are we less loyal than we were when we were lifting Teuton fur? I wot not, and I wist nay, nay; we'll help our Uncle Sam to pay. He needs all kinds of large round plunks; we'll dig the doubloons from our trunks. And you will help us out, my friend. Don't be a piker at the end.

CITY COUNCIL

(Continued from page one)

for the position and that $750 would be a very satisfactory salary. It was to be increased at the rate of $50 a year until $900 was reached. A girl could have been appointed to the position as the assistant would be of little use to the assessor for some time except in connection with office work.

Labor Intervenes.

The young man who had accepted the position was acquainted with the amount he would receive and had been quite satisfied with it and Alderman Edgar could not see why an outside organization was called upon to interfere in the matter.

Objection to the amount was raised by one of the Labor aldermen; his colleagues had been severely raked over the coals at the last meeting of the Trades and Labor Council for failing to second their brother's motion and as a result the issue was revived at the Council Board. There should be reason in everything and Alderman Edgar could see none in the attitude of Aldermen Gainey as regarded this question.

Conditional Support.

Alderman Gainey seconded Alderman McIntyre's motion to increase the assistant assessor's salary by $150. Alderman Hamilton promised to support it if the mover would include in the resolution words to the effect that the automatic increase of $50 per year be rescinded.

Alderman McIntyre at first would not hear of this and Alderman Hamilton requested him to be reasonable He told him that while he was supporting the motion on account of the fact that the man who had accepted the position had a wife and family, he did not like Alderman McIntyre's way of looking upon the matter as the salary had really been fixed before it was accepted and the successful applicant knew quite well the remuneration he would receive. Arguments to the contrary were not very convincing and were not well found.

Alderman McIntyre then agreed to insert a clause in his motion rescinding the automatic raise in salary

Alderman Phelan supported the motion upon the same grounds as those advanced by Alderman Hamilton and the assistant assessor got his raise of salary.

To Abolish Qualification.

Alderman Gainey submitted a resolution providing that in accordance with the desire expressed in the copy of the resolution forwarded from the Trades and Labor Council, the City Council endorse the efforts of being made to have property qualification for municipal office abolished.

Alderman McIntyre was the seconder of this motion, which had been submitted once before in committee and had been defeated. It was defeated again last night, receiving support from three members only, Aldermen Garside, McIntyre and Gainey.

Bylaws Carried.

Eight bylaws received their several readings and were passed at last night's meeting of the Council. These were:

Authorizing the grant to the Industrial Board; fixing salaries of municipal officers; fixing rates and levy of taxes for the year; amending original bylaw authorizing citizens to install electric signs. This amendment provides that these signs must be kept illuminated from 30 minutes after sunset to 10 o'clock in the evening. Two bylaws authorizing the raising of money by debentures for the construction of sidewalks; one authorizing the execution of an agreement with Joseph Grierson in connection with the awarding of the contract of taking care of Victoria and Central Parks. The last was a bylaw authorising the City Trust Commission to renew a lease of property on George street to Michael Pappas for a term of years at $800 per annum.

Aldermen Morrison appeared on the scene about 10.30 and took his seat.

Refuse Endorsation.

Alderman Edgar favored endorsing the petition of the Dominion Alliance for the prohibition of the manufacture and importation into Canada of alcohol for beverage purposes.

Alderman McIntyre thought that it was a question that should be dealt with by the Government without interference from municipal councils. Alderman Taylor looked at the matter from a similar standpoint.

The latter submitted a motion that no action be taken in connection with the request of the Dominion Alliance in this connection which was seconded by Alderman Phelan.

Aldermen Edgar and Hamilton moved an amendment which was defeated upon the following division:

For the amendment — Aldermen Edgar, Hamilton and Garside.

For the motion—Aldermen Taylor, Phelan, McIntyre, Morrison and Gainey.

HOW HE SAVED PERSIA'S POOR

HARRY PRATT JUDSON BROKE WHEAT MARKET, PREVENTING STARVATION

How President Harry Pratt Judson of the University of Chicago broke the wheat market of Persia by telling the shah how he ought to conduct his government, incidentally saving the lives of thousands of Armenian and Syrian refugees, was told today by Dr. Wilber E. Post, a member of the faculty of Rush Medical College. Dr. Post was a member, with Dr. Judson, of the American relief commission to Persia. He told of his experiences at the luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Hotel LaSalle.

"The profiteers there had boosted the price of wheat to $25 per bushel," said Dr. Post. "It meant starvation for the poor. Our commission investigated and found there was wheat enough. It was a case of extortion

"A 'scarce' advertisement was printed that there was enough wheat, that the prices were too high and that the Americans intended to buy no more. The next day Mr. Judson went over to have a little chat with the shah. Mr. Judson suggested food control. The shah said, 'Good stuff; I'll sell all my own wheat at a normal war price.' He did. In a week the wheat corner was broken and the lives of the poor saved."

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappear. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

WANTED THE WAGE CLAUSE DEFINED

ENGINEER BARBER THOUGHT IT MIGHT AFFECT TENDERS FOR BRIDGE

Engineer Barber at the meeting of the City Council last night asked for a definition of what was meant by the fair wage clause inserted in the specifications of the new Hunter St. bridge, as a result of action taken by Ald. Gainey not long ago.

He stated that he desired to forward information defining the construction to be placed upon this clause to the different contractors, as otherwise they might raise their tenders considerably to protect themselves against any upward movement in the labor market during the time they are engaged in constructing the bridge.

Ald. Gainey thought that Mr. Barber had stepped out of his place in introducing the question. The clause as inserted in the specifications had been most explicit and simply meant the prevailing wage set by the union scale.

Mr. Barber replied that he had simply sought information upon the subject, as the wording of the clause seemed somewhat ambiguous and might cause the contractors to raise their tenders considerably.

Ald. Edgar proposed that the firms tendering be asked to submit tenders in duplicate, one based upon the fair wage stipulation and the other upon the original specifications which did not have such a clause inserted.

Ald. Gainey objected strongly to this, claiming that it meant the union wage, which did not change after being set on April 1st, until a year from that time, unless the cost of living forced it up.

Ald. Garside seconded Ald. Edgar's motion, which carried. Ald. Gainey called for the yeas and nays and they were recorded in the following manner: For the motion: Mayor Duncan, and Ald. Phelan, Taylor, McIntyre, Hamilton and Garside. Against: Ald. Gainey and Morrison.

WANT INCREASED PENSIONS

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 22.—Niagara Falls Great War Veterans' Association have passed a resolution calling for increase of pensions paid to ex-members of the C.E.F., pension for total disablement from $600 per annum to $1,000.

For You and Your Friends

"I beg you to publish my letter."

It is only natural that people write us enthusiastic letters about Gin Pills. Wouldn't you do the same, if, after suffering from backache for years, you found relief? Wouldn't you wish your friends and others to know what Gin Pills had done for you, and what they will do for them? Of course, you would, and that is the only reason that prompts people to write us praising this great remedy.

Read what Isidore Thomas says in part:

> "My case was very serious, and I was so sick everybody expected my death any day. No suffering could be worse than what I had to endure. Eight boxes of Gin Pills were sufficient to cure me entirely. I beg you to publish my letter and tell all sufferers of Kidney Trouble not to despair nor wait, as Gin Pills will cure them. I have to be very thankful to you, and I recommend Gin Pills to all my friends suffering from kidney trouble."

Take the advice of those who have tried most remedies and found that Gin Pills cure.

Gin Pills are not a cure-all—but a scientific remedy for Kidney or Bladder Troubles. They contain the beneficial ingredient of gin, without the alcohol, and gin has been recognized for years as the most perfect agent for toning up the kidneys and restoring these organs to perform their natural functions.

The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario. U. S. residents should address Na-Dru-Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. 178

THE MUSIC THAT KEPT HIM AWAY

People are not always as ingenious in other directions as they are in finding an excuse to absent themselves from church. One man of the writer's acquaintance finds that about twice or three times a year he cannot bear to go to the morning service of a certain Presbyterian church because the choir there is to sing "We Praise Thee, O God," Dykes' Te Deum. This man says he cannot stand the Te Deum. It is too monotonous, too long, too unmusical, and it either puts him to sleep or it gets on his nerves so badly he wishes it did put him to sleep.

Perhaps he is partial to what the old Scotch settlers once called "new bit tinklin' anthems o' the Methodists." Perhaps he is, though he never expressed himself on that; but he did put himself on record about as emphatically as the King's English permitted, his opinion of the Te Deum.

The poor misguided man! He thinks because he has heard the Te Deum twice and didn't like it that it is a worthless piece of music. And so when it is planned to use this selection, a friend in the choir tips it off to him and his seat is vacant the next Sabbath morning. His mistake is a common one. He judges by one hearing. He forgets to remind himself that beauty is only skin deep, even in music.

If this party has an ear for good music and a genuine musical appreciation all he needs is to be tied in his pew every other Sunday morning for about four months and have the choir sing the Te Deum right at him—so long as they sing it well. The unison parts which look so easy to sing are in reality not so easy. But they are rich passages. The recitative "Father of an infinite majesty: Thine honorable, true and only Son," etc., followed by the contrasting harmony is a most finished part. The male unison choruses "We therefore pray Thee, help Thy servants" and "Vouchsafe, O Lord, to keep, us, to keep us this day without sin," well sung by a goodly array of men are indeed telling parts.

Get the spirit of the Te Deum, listen sympathetically, hear it often enough, and you will get to the attitude of not merely tolerating it but of actually looking forward to it periodically.

SIR ROBERT UNDECIDED

Paris, March 20.—Reuter's Limited understands that the offer of the British Ambassadorship at Washington to Sir Robert L. Borden, the Canadian Premier, is still open. Sir Robert has not yet made a decision, but it is said that it is by no means improbable that he will accept.

Some men act like hogs and there are other who do not need to act.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS

Help the work of Reconstruction
Buy War Savings Stamps
"AFTER THE STORM"

Help Him to Help Himself

We owe the returned soldier every effort we can make towards securing steady employment for him.

Do not try to throw the burden entirely on employers. They have a grave responsibility, but only insofar as every man, woman and child gives willing help can Canada ensure a fair day's pay for a good day's work for all her men.

How can YOU help? By investing in War-Savings Stamps.

How will THAT help? Canada must secure foreign purchasers for the products of her forests, farms, and factories. Many nations are anxious to buy our goods, but can only do so if Canada grants credit to them.

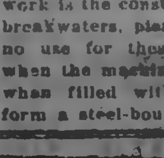
Lend your money to Canada, so that Canada may re-lend to those who must buy on credit. The money is being raised by the sale of War-Savings Stamps, so that when you invest in a War-Savings Stamp you provide a day's pay for some returned soldier.

A War-Savings Certificate with 10 W-S.S. affixed will be redeemed by the Dominion of Canada on January 1st, 1924, for $50.00, for at that date the W-S.S. are worth $5.00 each.

War-Savings Stamps cost $4.02 in March; $4.03 in April; $4.04 in May, and they may be purchased at any place displaying the Beaver-Triangle sign.

W-S-S

66



Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

ALL CANADA KNOWS THE HIGH QUALITY OF

PURITY FLOUR

(Government Standard)

More Bread and Better Bread and Better Pastry

Canada Food Board License Nos. Cereal 2-009 Flour 15, 16, 17, 18

FOR BETTER PORRIDGE USE PURITY OATS

Western Canada Flour Mills Co. Limited
Head Office, Toronto, Ont.

MONCUR'S
double-strength
LUNG SYRUP
is
REMARKABLE REMEDY FOR
Obstinate and Racking Coughs
Colds
Congested Lungs
Bronchitis

People who have used this Remedy, do not Believe there is a Better
PRICE 25c and 50c
Moncur Drug Store 407 George Street

STATES WILL RUSH SOLDIERS HOME

26 REMODELLED SHIPS ARE NOW ADDED TO FLEET OF TRANSPORTS

Wilson's recent suggestion that the return of soldiers from Europe be expedited is already bearing fruit.

The facilities of transport now consist of the liners in use for the past six months, the German ships attached to the United States, the ship leased from Holland by General Frank Hines, sent abroad recently by Secretary Baker, and about twenty remodelled ships. The remodelled ships will bring the speeding-up sought by the President.

The War Department, about six weeks ago, set aside fifty-two steamers for conversion to the transport needs, and of those about half, General Hines said today, are already in service. The other half is to be rushed into service.

Statistics given out by the War Department today show that on Nov. 11 there were in Europe 1,949,316 men attached to the various military service. Up to March 12 only 470,736 had sailed home.

DIED FROM FRACTURE

Toronto, March 21.—As a result of a fracture of the skull, which he is alleged to have received while working in the Allis-Chalmers factory, Joseph Soenenon of 357 West Richmond street died at the Western Hospital last evening. The body was removed to the morgue.

NEW BOARD OF SURVEY TO INSPECT TROOPSHIPS

London, March 21.—The Canadian overseas ministry has appointed a board of survey to be responsible for the inspection prior to embarkation of all ships used for the repatriation of Canadians. This body will consist of members appointed by the quartermaster-general and the director of medical services. It will also decide the numbers to be respectively accommodated first, second and third class.

When a woman's husband is the subject of conversation she isn't in a position to say what she really thinks.

Zutoo Tablets
Are used by thousands of good Canadians and cure thousands of bad headaches.
ZUTOO cures any Headache in 20 minutes. 25c a box, at dealers

Burglars Caught In Pastor's House

Toronto, March 21.—Rev. G. Norris Grey, pastor of Carlton Methodist church, was awakened from sleep at midnight last night by unusual noises. A phone message to the police soon brought Plainclothesmen Ward and Scott, who arrested in the cellar George Findley, 204 Wellesley street, and W. J. Hanwill, 99 Sussex avenue. On one of them was found a screw driver.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

SAYS INDIGESTION RESULTS FROM AN EXCESS OF HYDROCHLORIS ACID.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousand of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

A LONG SLEEP

Vancouver, B.C., March 21. — Sleeping influenza is what the doctors term the illness of a two-year-old Vancouver child, who has been asleep since March 11, and who is being kept alive by means of nourishment artificially administered. The child was taken ill on March 6. The case is the first of its kind to be reported here.

CITY LIMITS MAY SOON BE EXTENDED

QUESTION BEING CONSIDERED BY COMMITTEE FROM TOWNSHIPS AFFECTED

A special committee appointed on Monday night at the request of Ald. Turner to consider the question of boundary extension held a meeting last night after the Legal Committee had adjourned.

Ald. Turner presided, and members in attendance were Ald. Edgar, Hamilton and Gainey. The matter of extending the boundaries of the city so as to include adjacent portions of the townships of Smith and North Monaghan was thoroughly discussed, there being present the following representative men of the township of North Monaghan: Peter McArthur, Fred Holmes, W. J. Grady, J. Barnes F. Lawless, N. C. Mills, T. Glover, Alex. McArthur, A. W. Archibald, W. J. Tranter and W. J. Byers.

A provisional committee was formed from the members present from North Monaghan, upon motion of Messrs. P. McArthur and Byers. This committee will consider the proposed annexation of property there and will call a meeting of the residents interested in the proposition to discuss the matter.

W. J. Byers was appointed chairman of the provisional committee, and Mr. T. Glover secretary.

There follows a statement showing the land which it is proposed to include in the city limits provided the propositon proves satisfactory to all parties concerned.

From the boundary of the city of Peterborough at the intersection of Langton street and Victoria avenue or East Communication Road, along the northwesterly limits of lots in Plan No. 28 for the township of Smith, to the Communication Road, southeasterly on the Communication Road to High stree in the township of Smith, and along High street to the boundary of the said city at the intersection of High stree and Fairbairn stree (formerly Mill street) at Jackson street; also from the intersection of Smith street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between lots 10 and 11 in the 13th 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the road allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence northeasterly along the northwestern bank of the said river to Braidwood avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the city east of the said river.

This property would be included in the city under the conditions set forth below:

"That the lands in the annexed territory now in the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan shall for a period of five years after being so annexed be assessed at the amount at which they are now assessed in those Townships, except that any building or buildings added to or placed on any lot or parcel shall be added to the assessment in accordance with the Assessment Act, and further that during the said period of five years seventy-five per cent. of the taxes levied upon and collected from the said lands shall be expended in the said annexed territory.

EMPLOYER'S AND THEIR EMPLOYED

JOINT CONFERENCE TO DEAL WITH INDUSTRIAL UNREST IN VIEW

The movement for the creation of industrial councils in Great Britain gains strength daily. The National Council of the Commercial Motor Users' Association has been informed that the Government will shortly require employers to join a suitable federation in order to regularize dealings with Labor. Plans for the calling of a national conference of employers and trade union representatives are being considered by the representative organisations of capital and labor. The executive committee of the Federation of British Industries have passed the following resolution:

"That the Federation should take immediate action in conjunction, if possible, with the Engineering Employers' Federation and the national organizations representing Labor, with a view to summoning a joint conference of employers and employed, on the lines suggested by the National Alliance of Employers and Employed, for the formation of proposals for dealing with the present grave condition of industrial unrest."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a tablespoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember that inside bathing is more important than outside bathing because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

DAIRY MEETINGS IN THIS COUNTY

FURTHER STEP IN ORGANIZING COOPERATIVE DAIRY COMPANY

So much interest has been taken in the proposal to form a large central co-operative company of Dairy farmers to take over and operate a large proportion of the cheese factories in the Central Ontario district, including Peterboro County, that it has been decided to hold a series of meetings next week in Peterboro, Hastings and Prince Edward Counties.

Patrons are to be invited from as many of the factories as possible that are likely to be interested in the proposed company. The principle speakers at these meetings will be Mr. John Kennedy, Vice-President of the United Grain Growers, Limited of Winnipeg and Calgary, and Mr. H. B. Cowan, of Farm and Dairy, Peterboro. Mr. Kennedy is one of the pioneers of the farmers' movement in Western Canada and has become well known as a public speaker. He addressed a banquet of Peterboro County farmers in Peterboro a year ago last summer.

The meetings in Peterboro County will be held at Selwyn on Monday night, March 24th; Westwood, Tuesday afternoon, March 25th, and Warsaw, Tuesday evening. The meetings are being called by Mr. E. N. McDonald, the county director for Peterboro of the U.F.O., and by Mr. A. D. McRae, B.S.A., the District Representative at Norwood.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today save a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Most men are cheerful givers when they have a chance to hand out advice.

ONT. POWER CASE AND PRIVY COUNCIL

London, March 21.—The privy council yesterday heard the appeal of the Electrical Development Company of Ontario on whether certain acts of the provincial legislature were ultra vires.

Sir John Simon explained the business of the appellants in generating electrical energy by water at Niagara. The respondent, the Hydro-Electric Commission, he argued, in effect, purchased electric power and distributed to various municipalities, becoming a department of the executive government of Ontario. The power commission act provided that no action should be brought against the commission without the attorney-general's consent. When the Niagara development act was passed in 1916, which purported to authorize the Hydro-Electric Commission to construct works for diverting water from the Niagara and Welland rivers the appellants were advised that certain provisions in the act was likely to affect their undertakings and decided to test by legal action the validity of the powers given the respondents. They applied for the attorney-general's consent, which was refused. The appellants then took out a summons against the respondent asking for a declaration on their rights, but this action was stayed.

The present appeal was lodged in order that the statutory validity of the acts might be determined.

The arguments are proceedings.

Suggests Nov. 11th Thanksgiving Day

Mr. I. B. Pedlow, Liberal member for South Renfrew, has given notice of a resolution declaring that Nov. 11 each year should be set aside as a day of national thanksgiving, to be a perpetual memorial of the signing of the armistice, ending the great world war.

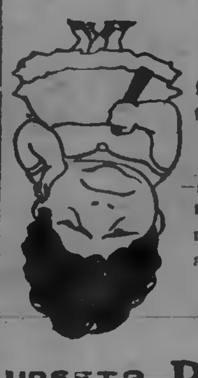
Representatives of the retail merchants of the Dominion, who waited upon Hon. A.K. Maclean, Minister of Trade and Commerce, yesterday also urged that November 11 be fixed permanently as Thanksgiving Day in the Dominion.

AGED 106 AND WORKS

Manchester, N. H., March 21.—Louis J. Raymond, Goffstown, presented a birth certificate today, while appearing as a witness in court, showing he was born in Canada, November 13, 1813. Notwithstanding his 105 years he is able to work his farm at Goffstown regularly, according to his testimony.

HIGHEST SPIRE IN THE WORLD

The highest spire in the world is that of Ulm Cathedral, which is 530 feet in height. It was completed in 1890.



Eat without Fear of Indigestion!
Instant Relief for Bad Stomachs

When your meals hit back.

When what you eat turns sour, forming acids, gases and indigestion.

Magic relief. No waiting!

The moment Pape's Diapepsin reaches the stomach all the sourness, acidity, heartburn, dyspepsia and indigestion ends.

Upset stomachs feel fine.

Costs so little—Any drug store.

UPSET? Pape's Diapepsin WILL PUT YOU ON YOUR FEET

FUTURE OF THE ADRIATIC

The absolute commercial supremacy of Austria in the Adriatic on top of its naval supremacy exercised of Venice in 1797 till 1914, blinded most Italians to its importance in the maritime affairs of the country both in developing and increasing commerce and industry. The indifference was increased by the fact that Venice was united to Italy long after the rest of the peninsula had won its independence, and the opportunity was missed for carrying out the fullest unity of the country in such a way that the Adriatic would again become "Our own sea."

For these reasons the various succeeding governments preoccupied themselves exclusively with the Tyrrhenian sea and favored the concentration of all the important workshops either on the coast or in the immediate hinterland.

Now that the unity of Italy has been attained it is indispensable to conduct affairs in such a way that the Adriatic will regain its place in the national maritime sphere, as well as that of the world, and that it shall be put in shape as soon as possible to fulfill its mission with that breadth of view which is indispensable.

Opens a New Commercial Future.

While individual initiative has given such fine proof of the latent energies of the Italian people, it seems that the government should get together to find a solution of the problem, and, in every possible way should assist the various efforts which are being made to obtain new outlets for Italian manufacturers and a brisker trade, supplanting Austria-Hungarian products wherever possible with those of Italy.

The Balkan states, the Eastern Mediterranean, the Black sea and Egypt are the countries nearest to the Adriatic which is destined to become the true centre of distribution and trade relations not only for those countries but for trade with the Far East, India, South Africa and the two Americas.

The large sum wisely appropriated for public works should be as wisely spent. Important improvements are planned for the harbors of Venice-Ancona and Bari; but their completion will require a period of years. Therefore to meet the immediate needs of trade the government should make temporary improvements so that the facilities now existing may afford the utmost service. Its obligation follows as a matter of course from the great sacrifices made by the Adriatic sea ports during the war.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB IT ON BACK

Rub Away all Pain, Soreness, Stiffness, Backache, With "St. Jacob's Liniment"

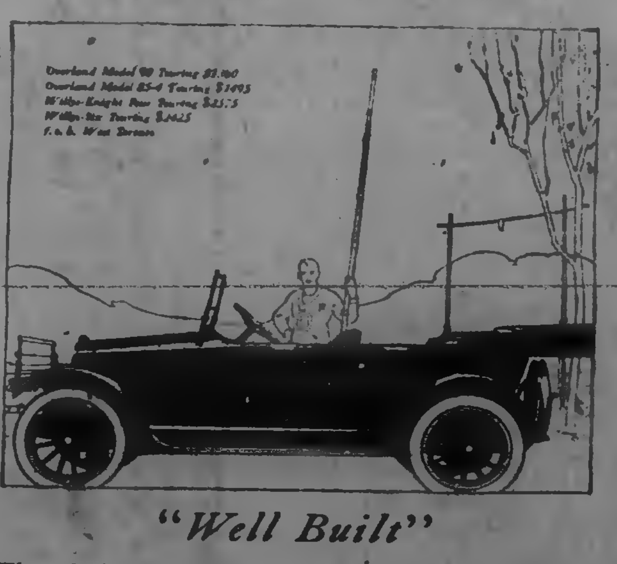
Ah! Pain is gone!

Quickly—Yes! Almost instant relief from soreness, stiffness, lameness and pain follows a gentle rubbing with "St. Jacob's Liniment."

Apply this soothing, penetrating oil directly upon the ache, and like magic, relief comes. "St. Jacob's Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless backache, lumbago, and sciatica relief, which never disappoints, cannot injure and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Straighten up! Stop those torturous "stitches." In a moment you will forget that you ever had a back, because it won't hurt or be stiff or lame. Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Liniment" from your druggist now and get this lasting relief.

Too much of a good thing proves fatal. George Washington kept on adding to his collection of birthdays until they finally knocked him out



Overland Model 90 Touring $1,100
Overland Model 85-4 Touring $1495
Willys-Knight Four Touring $2575
Willys-Six Touring $2425
f. o. b. West Toronto

Overland

"Well Built"

The admiration for the Overland is due not only to its sturdy and graceful appearance but to its utility as well. Overland success is largely due to the fact that Overland owners have not only bought Overlands themselves but have enthusiastically recommended them to their friends.

CHAS. R. BANKS, Dealer,
206-208, Charlotte Street - - Phone 582

Willys-Overland, Limited, Head Office and Works, West Toronto, Ontario
Branches Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

W-S-S

ASSAM is the original home of the tea bush. In this section of Northern India, the plant finds the most suitable soil and most congenial climate. In the crack plantations of ASSAM are grown the richest and strongest teas in the world—and it is of these teas that Red Rose chiefly consists. That is why Red Rose has such an exquisite aroma, a rich, satisfying flavor and a strength that makes it economical.

Always sold in sealed packages.

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

122

SERVICES IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES TO-MORROW

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN

Major the Rev. Canon Davidson, Rector

Third Sunday in Lent.

8.30—Holy Communion

11 a.m.—Matins and Sermon.

Venite, 7.

Benedicite 34.

Benedictus 40.

Office Hymn 113—When Wounded Sore.

Before sermon 407—Behold! the Lamb of God.

Offertory—Bow Down Thine Ear, O Lord—[illegible].

God Save the King!

Hymn 633—Take Up Thy Cross.

2.45—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Victory Loan Mission memorial contributions received.

Girls' Bible Class Teacher—Mrs. Boucher.

Boys' Bible Class Teacher—Mr. C. K. Jamieson.

7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Psalm chants 108.

Magnificat [illegible].

Nunc Dimittis 160.

Office Hymn 622—We Sing the Praise.

Before sermon 500—Lord Thy Word Abideth.

Offertory—O Jesus, Thou Art Standing—Bowles.

God Save the King!

Hymn 684—[illegible] My Day of Life.

Social meeting of teachers and Bible Classes after the Sunday School session.

Richard J. Devey, Organist and Choirmaster.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Rubidge and Sherbrooke

RECTOR:—REV. R. B. GROBB, M.A.

11 a.m.—Rev. W. J. Potter.

7 p.m.—The Rector will continue his series of sermons on Social Christianity.

4 p.m.—Holy Baptism.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Rogers Street

Ashburnham—East City

Rev. W. H. White, M.A., Rector

Rectory, 344 Rogers Street

Third Sunday in Lent

The Rector will continue his special courses of sermons—in the morning on Vital things; in the evening [illegible].

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning service and sermon.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evensong and Sermon.

Wednesday, 7.30 p.m.—Illustrated lecture on India.

Friday 7.30 p.m.—Bible Study and prayer.

Organist and Choirleader—Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

All seats free.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Rev. Jas. Price, Rector

11 a.m.—Matins and sermon.

3.00 p.m.—Sunday school.

7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Preacher—Mr. Davis.

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.

Friday, 7.30 p.m.—Boy Scouts.

During the election of the chancel and other organizations of the church the services will be held in the basement.

Organist—Miss Beatrice Blake.

ST. ALBAN'S BROWNTON

Brownton

(Adjoining Mays' School House)

11 a.m.—Sunday School.

7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Preacher—Rev. J. Price.

Wednesday, 7.30 p.m.—Boy Scouts

Organist—Miss Toone.

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC

Low Mass, 8 a.m.

High Mass, 10.30 a.m.

Vespers, 7 p.m., with sermon

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner of Rubidge and Brock Streets

Capt. James Rollins, Pastor

Rev. W. L. H. Rowand, Minister in Charge

Manse, 439 Rubidge Street

The pastor will preach at both services.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

In the evening the topic will be David and Absalom.

Prelude—Melody—Welly.

Anthem—I am Clinging to Jesus—Gabriel.

Offertory—A Memory.

Solo—King David's Lament—Swift. Mr. Walter Farr.

Postlude—Processional March—Leavitt.

Herbert C. Treneer, organist and choirmaster.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. Robert Pogue, Minister

11 a.m.—Morning service.

The Pastor will preach

Prelude—He was despised—Handel.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper.

Postlude—And with His stripes—Handel.

3 p.m.—Sabbath School.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Subject— All hail the power of Jesus' name.

Prelude—Berceuse—Arnesky.

Solo, contralto—Flee as a bird—Dana.

Mrs. P. A. Ferguson

Anthem—Behold God our hope and defender—Berridge.

Postlude—March on a theme of Handel—Guilmant.

Organist and choirmaster — Mr. John Allan.

A hearty welcome is extended to all.

KNOX CHURCH, PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, B.D., Minister

Minister will preach.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

8 p.m., Wednesday—Prayer meeting.

Good music at all services.

Geo Kenyon, "L. Mus." Organist and Choirmaster.

Seats Free. Strangers Welcome

GEORGE STREET METHODIST

Rev. A. J. Thomas, M.A., B.D., Pastor

11 a.m.—Morning service.

The pastor will preach

Subject—The Work of the Holy Spirit.

Soloist—Mrs. J. H. Renwick.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Subject—The Sea of Forgetfulness.

Soloist—Miss Emma Worth.

Special song sheet will be used at the evening service.

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. F. E. Malott, Pastor

Parsonage 302 Reid St.

Phone 705

11 a.m.—Morning service.

Speaker, Rev. H. M. Manning.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Meeting of Trinity Brotherhood.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

7 p.m.—The Pastor—Sermon theme, "The True Substitute for the Saloon", World Temperance Day Sermon.

Strangers and visitors welcome at all these services.

Geo. H. King, organist and choirmaster.

MARK STREET METHODIST

Rev. R. A. Whattam, Pastor

10 a.m.—Class Meeting and Junior League.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

Subject— The second word from the cross.

3.45 Sunday School and Adult Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Subject — Am I my brother's keeper?

Organist and Directress, Miss E. Kemp.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST

Corner Romaine and Aylmer Streets.

Rev. Benj. Greatrix, Pastor

11 a.m.—Morning Service.

2.30—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening Service.

Monday—Young People's Meeting.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—prayer meeting.

Thursday—Choir practice.

Friday—Boy Scouts.

A. Nicholls, organist and choirmaster.

Cordial invitation is extended to all.

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor

Residence—548 Aylmer Street

11 a.m.—Morning Service.

The pastor will preach.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

The pastor will preach.

A Huycke, choirmaster. Ida G. Sanderson, organist.

Strangers welcomed.

PARK STREET BAPTIST

Rev. Dougald Brown, Pastor

255 Reid Street

Sunday, March 2nd, 1919

The pastor will preach morning and evening.

11 a.m.—Communion service.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Supt.—Mr. F. A. D. Fry

Men's Bible Class teacher—Mr. A. Faills.

Ladies' Bible Class teacher—Mrs. A. Nicholls.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Monday 8 p.m.—B. Y. P. U.

President—Mr. Neill Porter.

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.

Seats free. Everybody welcome.

Come and hear the Gospel message.

Organist and choirleader—Miss Norma Moore.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE

Simcoe Street

Adjutant and Mrs. Bunton in charge

515 King St. Phone 440w.

7 a.m.—Knee drill.

10 a.m.—Open Air—George and Smith streets.

11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.

2 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Those who do not attend any other Sunday School are cordially invited.

2 p.m.—Bolivar and Thomas streets.

3.15 p.m.—Musical Festival in the Temple.

6 p.m.—Open air, Hunter and George streets.

7 p.m.—Salvation meeting.

GOSPEL HALL

Corner George and Brock Streets

10 a.m.—Sunday School.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.

A hearty welcome to all.

ASSEMBLY HALL

First Floor Old Opera House Building, George Street

Meetings on Lord's Day:—

11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread

A hearty welcome to all.

"Christ died for the ungodly."

BETHANY TABERNACLE

459 George Street

Pastor, Rev. A. J. Doner, 535 Aylmer Street

10 a.m.—Sunday School.

Pastor Doner, Supt.

11 a.m.—Preaching

Thursday 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.

GIRLS' COUNCIL MEETS.

Will Be Addressed By Miss Lancaster in Knox S. S. Hall.

A mass meeting of the girls of the secondary division of all the Sunday schools will be held at Knox Presbyterian Sunday school room Tuesday evening, March 25, at 8 o'clock.

This meeting is arranged by the Girls' Sunday School Council, and it is hoped that each Sunday school will send a large representation of the 'teen age girls. The program will be in accordance with the "Canadian Girls in Training." Mrs. W. D. Scott will conduct the devotional exercises and Miss Lancaster will give a talk on the subject of "Girls."

GEORGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor, Rev. A. J. Thomas, will preach at both services. The subject for the morning service will be "The Work of the Holy Spirit," and in the evening "The Sea of Forgetfulness." Also at the evening service, special gospel hymn sheets will be used. Everyone should make a special endeavor to be at the evening service and enjoy the extra music.

MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.

The Men's Social Bible Class of George Street Methodist Church will meet tomorrow at 3 p.m. A hearty welcome is extended. Live discussion. A good time promised. All men invited.

TRINITY ORCHESTRA

The orchestra of Trinity Methodist Sunday School will meet for practice at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the S. S. Hall, on Reid street. All the former members and any new ones who wish to join are cordially invited. Miss Logan and Mr. King will be in charge. Come early.

Baseball, too, is putting forth its customary spring propaganda.

WANTS EVERYBODY TO KNOW ABOUT IT

JOHN ASHLEY IS LIKE NEW NOW SINCE TAKING TANLAC—GAINED 30 POUNDS.

The best evidence of the merits of a medicine is what people who have actually taken it have to say about it. And this is true and beyond all question when such statements are made by people of high character and published right in the community where each fact can be investigated and verified.

John Ashley, a well known and highly respected citizen of Bloomfield, Ontario, called at the City Drug Store, in Picton, recently and made the following remarkable statement regarding the benefits he had derived from the use of Tanlac.

"The best proof I can give that Tanlac was the right medicine for me is the way it has relieved my suffering and built me up. My normal weight is around one hundred and fifty pounds, but I had fallen off as a result of a bad stomach and other troubles, until I was getting to look like a skeleton. Why, when I first started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and I now tip the scales at one hundred and forty-seven. Think of it; I have actually gained thirty pounds and have only taken four bottles of Tanlac.

"Last June my stomach got all out of order so that I couldn't eat without suffering from indigestion. I was also badly constipated, suffered from a sluggish liver and would often have dizzy spells, when my head seemed to be going round and round. I was under treatment for several months but in place of getting better I was going down hill rapidly. I couldn't work and simply felt all run down and miserable all the time.

"Finally, one of my neighbors advised me to try Tanlac, and almost as soon as I commenced taking it, I started to straighten up. I have taken four bottles now, and without going into details about my wonderful improvement with each bottle, I'll just say I am like a brand new man. I haven't lost a day from work in two months. Tanlac is great medicine for the stomach, and for constipation I have never run across anything as good as the Tanlac Laxative Tablets. By using the two together all my indigestion, constipation, dizziness and everything else that troubled me have been relieved. I want my statement published in all the papers, as I want to do what I can to let all who are suffering like I was to know about this most wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

MAY INVITE BRITISH FLEET

Secretary Daniels Is Expected To Urge Visit to New York.

Washington, D.C., March 21.—Navy department officials said today that Secretary Daniels during his trip abroad probably will invite the British Government to send the grand fleet to New York for a visit during the coming summer.

35 Pure Breds | COMPLETE DISPERSION | 13 Choice Grades

—OF—

HOLSTEIN FRIESIAN CATTLE

AT THE FARM OF

M. G. HUTCHINSON

LOT 17, Concession 10, - CAVAN, ONT.

Tuesday, April 8, 1919

SALE AT 1 O'CLOCK P.M.

Included in the sale will be the herd sire, Sir Hengerveld Rag Apple, 17602, a son of Rag Apple Korndyke 8th, widely known as the greatest bull in the world. There will be 15 of his daughters, also his two-year-old son, Rag Apple Korndyke Pride.

This is one of the outstanding herds in Central Ontario. Only two cows in the herd are over six years old. It includes females who have given from 9,000 to 15,000 lbs. milk in dairy centre tests and who have tested up as high as four per cent. Altogether there will be 30 Cows that are in milk or will freshen this year.

A Real Working Herd

The kind that will give results in the hands of a practical farmer, or with the man who wants to make big records.

If you are thinking of starting a Holstein herd, there is nothing better anywhere than individuals to be sold in this sale.

Send for Catalogue to M. G. Hutchinson, Cavan, Ont.

Sale absolutely without reserve. No postponement.

GEO. JACKSON, Auctioneer

CANADA READY TO AID HEROES

PEOPLE CAN BE ASKED TO DO ANYTHING TO HELP IN THIS WORK

Brig.-Gen. Gunn, in addressing a meeting of the Council of the Citizens' Repatriation League, Toronto, told his comrades, returned soldiers:

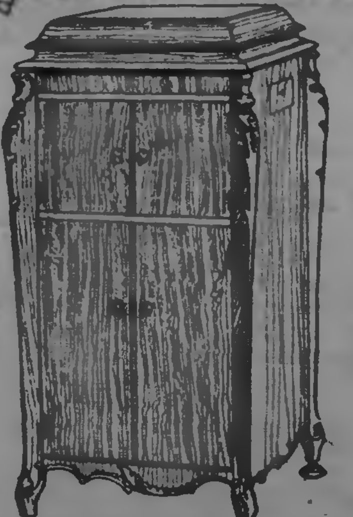
"Today I find the same splendid patriotism which maintained our home-front during the war. During the war you could ask the people of Canada to do anything to help win the war.

"Today you can ask them to do anything to help you in the battle of repatriation. They will not refuse. They know you went through hell for them, and they will back you now. But in all this there is something which you must seriously consider. Your battle to get back to civil life will only be won if you maintain the spirit of self-reliance which carried you through overseas.

"In our civilian population there is a great reservoir of sympathy and help. You must not draw to such an extent upon that reservoir as to destroy your self-reliance. As one of your comrades I would like to sound his note of warning. "This war has united the soldiers into the most powerful force for good or evil in this country." If we use this force to promote our own selfish purposes we shall have forgotten the high ideals for which we fought. If, however, as our main purpose we employ it to promote a better Canadian citizenship founded on ideals higher than we have known in the past, we will have a country maintaining and enlarging the great place which it now has among the nations of the world."

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR BABY'S OWN TABLETS

No medicine receives such great praise from thankful mothers as do Baby's Own Tablets. Once a mother has used them for her little ones she will use nothing else. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels and stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; cure colds and simple fevers; promote healthful sleep and make teething easy. Concerning them Mrs. Omer LeBleu, Maddington Falls, Que., writes: "I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets and will always use them for my little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.



Model "Organola" $340

Hear Them

There's a new list of selections each month. They are played with a sapphire point. No needles to change. Beautiful, clear, "Phonola" records that are practically indestructible.

The Only One With Organ Pipes

A credit to Canadian ingenuity and Canadian skill. The only musical instrument of its kind in the world equipped with tone control resonating pipes which include every note in the scale. That Phonograph is the

"Phonola" REGISTERED

Declared by experts to be the most wonderful improvement in Talking Machines since the beginning of the industry.

Records played on this "Organola" Model are given a really wonderful reproduction. Play a "sextette" record on the "Organola" Model, and you will have a real idea of the value of the tone control pipes. There is none of that confused blurring as when played on ordinary makes of phonograph, the tone control pipes of the "Organola" Model separating the different voices and notes, giving a pure, clear, lifelike rendition.

We take pleasure in announcing to the public that in the future the Phonola will be equipped with a new Universal Seamless Tapered tone arm which does away with all attachments. The entire arm is beautifully designed and finished, and is a marked contrast to the cheap dye cast arms seen on other makes of Phonographs.

It is the only Universal tone arm that is scientifically designed and the only one that will play all makes of records perfectly.

The Phonola will also be equipped with a new Aluminum Reproducer fitted with a special insulated rubber connection which eliminates metallic sounds from being transmitted to the Amplifier.

Equipped with these two new devices, the Phonola takes another step in advance of all competitors as furnishing the truest, clearest and sweetest tone it is possible to reproduce.

"Phonolas" from $25 to $340.

DEALERS: The "Phonola" agency is the most valuable asset you can add to your business today. Write for particulars.

The Phonola Co. of Canada, Limited

Kitchener, Canada

The only authorized Dealers in Peterborough for the "Phonola" and Phonola Records is

The House of Quality The Royal Music Co. 439 George St.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

AN EYESIGHT SPENDTHRIFT

The spendthrift spends his money before he sees it, or wastes it when he has it. The eyesight spendthrift wastes and loses his vision by not taking proper care of it. Avoid this mistake by letting Dr. Fowler attend to the eyes at the first signs of weakness, and conserve the strength of the eyes by never straining them. He guarantees results.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED—A GIRL, 18 TO 20, with High-school education. For particulars Apply Review Office.

KITCHEN MAID TO ASSIST cook, and other kitchen duties, for a large apartment house; wages $30 per month; board and lodging; fare to Toronto paid. Apply Review Office.

CHAMBER MAID FOR LARGE apartment house; wages $30 per month with board, and transportation to Toronto. Apply Review Office.

MALE HELP WANTED.

MEN, AGE 17 TO 55. EXPERIence unnecessary; travel; make secret investigations, reports. Salaries, expenses. Foreign Detective Agency, 744 St. Louis, Mo.

HELP WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS COOK FOR A large apartment house. Wages $50 per month with board and lodging. Apply Review Office.

WANTED

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

WANTED—30 GAL. COPPER or galvanized iron boiler with or without gas heater. State how long in use. Apply Box 439 Review Office.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED stenographer; used to distation. Permanent position; highest salary. Apply in writing, stating experience, to Box 239.

VICTORY BONDS WANTED. All issues bought for cash. Apply Box 237, Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINson Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT—At 479 Cedar street; house in first-class conditon. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

LOST.

LOST—ON DECEMBER 30TH, 1918, black leather hand satchel, containing $10, gold watch, shawl straps, small mirror, silver rimmed glasses, etc. Finder please leave at Review office. Reward.

Children s Aid Society

—of—

Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

The Lancashire cotton employers have decided to grant the workers a 49½ hour week, compared with the present 55½ hour week. The offer will be considered.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 29
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough ,Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L. R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.
W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

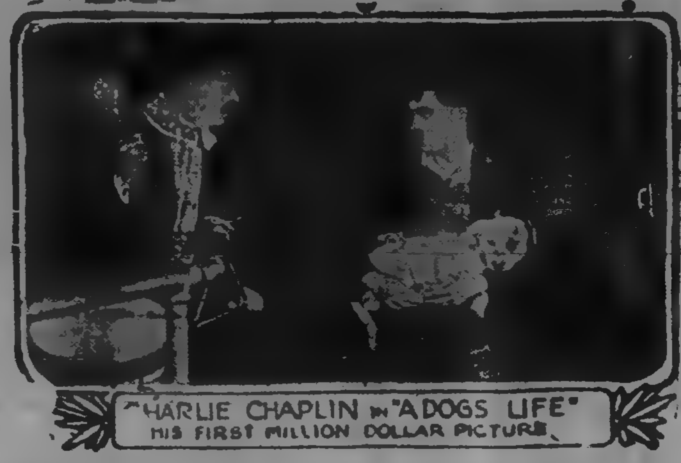
Agrarian strikes are spreading in the agricultural districts of Argentina. The farmers are refusing to plow the ground because of the low prices of products.

15 SPLENDID First Run Reels

ROYAL

16c. TO ALL

Sensational New Program LAST CHANCE TO-NIGHT



"CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "A DOGS LIFE"
HIS FIRST MILLION DOLLAR PICTURE

Big Fox Progam on Monday

MME. PETROVA in a Baffling Drama. 6 Reels entitled . . . The Life Mask

A Powerful Western Picture Featuring William S. Hart 5 Reels Entitled . . The Disciple

Episode No 11 THE LIGHTNING RAIDER 2 Reels With PEARL WHITE

The great and only CHARLIE CHAPLIN in a fun making Comedy 3 Reels Entitled . A Dog's Life

This is one of the best programs we have ever offered, and we hope you will attend the matinee and not wait till Sat. night

PEARL WHITE
IN
THE LIGHTNING RAIDER

THE MARKETS

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag.. ..	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 00
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush. .	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	55
Rye, per bush.	65	65
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed . . .	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 00
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'. .	25	25
Deacon and bob calf. .	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1 . . .	7	7
Cakes, No. 1	8	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
[illegible]	15	16

Uses for Tape.

One of the most convenient agents of the handy box is a roll of adhesive tape. A small piece of it on the bottom of a thin sole will add considerably to the endurance of a pair of shoes. A linen window shade that has started to tear will be prevented from doing so further by a narrow strip of the tape pressed over the tear. A torn bathing cap may be made seaworthy by it.

Like Paps.

The family was at breakfast, and among other things they had hard-boiled eggs. The bald-headed papa turned to his two-year-old child and said: "Elizabeth, how do you wish your egg this morning?" She looked at the egg and then at her father and said: "I des I'll take it bald-headed, papa."

Cleaning Aluminum.

Aluminum articles are very difficult to clean so that they will have a bright appearance. This is particularly the case with matted or frosted ware. To restore the pieces to brilliancy, you should place them for some time in water that has been slightly acidulated with sulphuric acid.

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and

PITTSTON COAL IS THE BEST

All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.

Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL

WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Price Reductions In Hardware

The hardware markets this week are the exception to the rule, owing to the great number of price reductions which have gone into effect. Lower prices are now in effect on fence staples, fence hooks, bit stock, wood and blacksmiths' drills, brassed iron rod, hay wire, bale ties, sad iron handles, stove polish, lamp wick, cotton rope, awning and sash cord, seine twine, cheap teaspoons, manilla, sisal and hemp rope, copper products, corn brooms. Advances have been made in prices of lumbering tools and rifles. In the iron and steel markets there is still talk of price reductions, and this is having a tendency to cause a cessation in buying. It is generally felt that about April 1, something definite will be done regarding a new schedule of prices. Even though reductions may be made in prices of iron and steel, these reductions may not be reflected to any great extent immediately in hardware manufactured products. In a great many hardware lines of manufactured goods, the cost of labor and finishing is the big item to be taken into consideration. Retailers' stocks are low, and buying is being done on a conservative basis. The constant wrangling at Ottawa over the tariff problem is having a bad effect on trade generally, and is causing unsettlement in hardware circles. The outlook for spring is exceptionally bright, so far as the retail hardware trade is concerned.

NORMA TALMADGE

"De Luxe Annie," Norma Talmadge's latest production for her Select Star Series, will be the feature attraction here on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Grand Opera House. It has been directed by Roland West from the scenario by Paul West, which was made from Edward Clark's current stage success of the same name. The story first appeared as a two-part serial in the Saturday Evening Post, so that millions of homes are familiar with this thrilling tale.

Norma Talmadge has never appeared to better advantage than in this absorbing play of criminal life with a surpassing psychological ending. As Julie Kendal, the wife of a prominent lawyer who is interested in the workings of criminal minds, whom a blow on the head turns adrift on the world, a total victim of aphasia. Miss Talmadge registers a tremendous hit in a most realistic portrayal. She becomes the confederate of Jimmy Fitzpatrick, and with him operates the de luxe book game, a variant of the old badger game. Later, although his face seems very strangely familiar she meets her husband, treats him as a stranger, and seeks to victimize him.

In the closing reel, Dr. Niblo, alienist who is a friend of the Kendals, operates on Julie and restores her memory so that she believes her criminal experiences only an unpleasant dream, and happiness reigns again at the domestic hearthstone.—Matinee daily.

OPPOSE FLOUR SUBSIDY.

U. S. Food Administration Against Proposal to Subsidize Flour.

Washington, March 22.—The food administration is reported as being against he proposal to subsidize flour in order to enable bakers to make a five-cent loaf.

Without subsidizing flour, officials say, a five-cent loaf will be impossible until food conditions throughout the world return to normal, and this, they add, will require at least two years. The flour subsidy would cost the Government $500,000,000.

NEW WORK ON UNITED STATES RAILWAYS ORDERED STOPPED

Due to Lack of Funds—Hundreds Will Be Thrown Out of Work

Washington, March 21.—All new railroad work that can possibly be suspended, has been ordered stopped because of failure of Congress to replenish the Railroad Administration revolving fund by the appropriation of $750,000,000. Discontinuance of this work means laying off or putting on short time many employes at a time when the unemployment situation is giving serious concern.

The extent of the curtailment is indicated by the fact that on January 1, 1919, there was still to be expended from the 1918 Budget, $337,000,000 for railway improvements, etc., and that additional Budgets for 1919, amounting to $325,000,000, a total of $662,000,000.

Emergency financing now being done by the Railroad Administration and railroad companies only provides for payment for equipment and a portion of $381,000,000, which the Government owes to the railroads on last year's account and cannot, except in unusual circumstances, provide for the additions and betterments.

In view of the present financial situation officers of railroad corporations who previously had agreed to finance certain additions and betterments chargeable to capital account now have indicated a desire to review these authorisations after a conference with T. C. Powell, director of the division of capital expenditures of the Railroad Administration.

Howard Elliott, acting chairman of the railway executives advisory committee, has sent telegrams to executives of all roads advising them that they are permitted to withdraw previous approvals of projects.

CANADA DID NOT BID HIGH ENOUGH

FOR PURCHASE OF THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY—ANNUITY WANTED

London, March 22.—At the annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway today Alfred W. Smithers, the chairman, said the Canadian Government had offered for the property an annuity of £740,000 at the end of eight years over and above the fixed charges.

The company's offer, the chairman added, was to accept an annuity of £997,000 immediately, plus what an arbitrator might give over and above that amount, or an immediate annual payment of £1,163,000 without arbitration.

The meeting unanimously passed a resolution that the amount offered by the Canadian Government for the purchase of the railway was inadequate.

GEN. ALLENBY FOR EGYPT

Paris, March 21.—General E H H. Allenby, who commanded the British forces in the conquest of Palestine, will leave for Egypt tonight after having reported to the Supreme Council that the situation in Palestine was quiet.

EDITOR'S MAIL

OTONABEE ROADS

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—Last week I made use of your columns to give the taxpayers and property-owners of Otonabee some of the facts concerning the present road situation in the Township. Briefly, what I said, amounted to this:

1.—The Otonabee part of a country road system would take in about 45 to 40 miles of the most used roads in the Township.

2.—They would be used by practically all of the people of the Township.

3.—Under the present system, all of the property contributes to the upkeep of the main road.

4.—The amount of money formerly devoted to the making and repairing of these roads will have to be increased a tonce. Higher wages and more motor traffice being the principal reasons for the needed increase.

5.—If the present expenditure of $3300.00 or $3400.00 on the maine roads annually were doubled, about $3000.00 would be received from the Province of Ontario and the City of Peterboro, making, in all, nearly $10000.00 a year for the main roads of the Township.

6.—If this amount were applied to these roads annually for several years, there would be a decided improvement.

7.—A frontage tax to raise this extra $3400.00 is not necessary.

This week the County Clerk has given the readers of The Examiner another of his attempts to prejudice the farmers against entering into the only scheme of road improvement which is open to them, whereby they can participate in the money collected from the users of motor cars and trucks and available for highway improvement under a County Road System.

After 10 years in the Council (6 years as Reeve) and at the present time absolutely convinced that we should have a greater expenditure and better supervision on our main roads, I made a careful estimate for maintaining all end constructing part, of our main roads and bridges annually.

I would not have mentioned Mr. Elliotts' name at the present time had he not undertaken the task of critizing this estimate which was worked out by myself and never seen in detail by Mr. Elliott nor any other person.

As Reeve of Otonabee and a member of the County Council, I wish it to be distinctly understood, that, while I am Reeve, I represent the people, and am not prepared to let Mr. Elliott or any other person interfere with me in trying to solve this road question for the Township of Otonabee

Respectfully yours,
W. A. ANDERSON.

SEPARATE REPRESENTATION.

London, March 22.—German-Austria, according to advices quoting Berlin newspapers, has expressed a desire for independent representation at the Peace Conference. It desires also, the reports from Vienna add, that the question of its union with Germany be postponed until the conclusion of the conference.

Will Investigate City Food Prices

A copy of a resolution from the Trades and Labor Council of Peterborough requesting that the City Council appoint a committee to investigate the present high prices of bread and other foodstuffs, as they had authority to do by virtue of an order-in-Council, was read last night and the suggestion adopted.

Ald. Taylor moved that the three Labor representatives comprise the committee. Ald. Gainey objected to this and thought that some of the other members should be represented. Ald. Morrison proposed that the duties connected with such a task be assigned to a committee of the whole Council. Ald. Garside was of the opinion that it was too big a proposition to be undertaken by three men.

The other members of the Council seemed to be quite anxious "to get out from under," however, and Ald. McIntyre seconded the motion, which was pressed by Ald. Taylor in spite of the objections raised by the proposed appointees, and it was carried, the only members voting against it being the three aldermen chosen to compose the committee.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.
Effective December 6, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

3:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

6:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

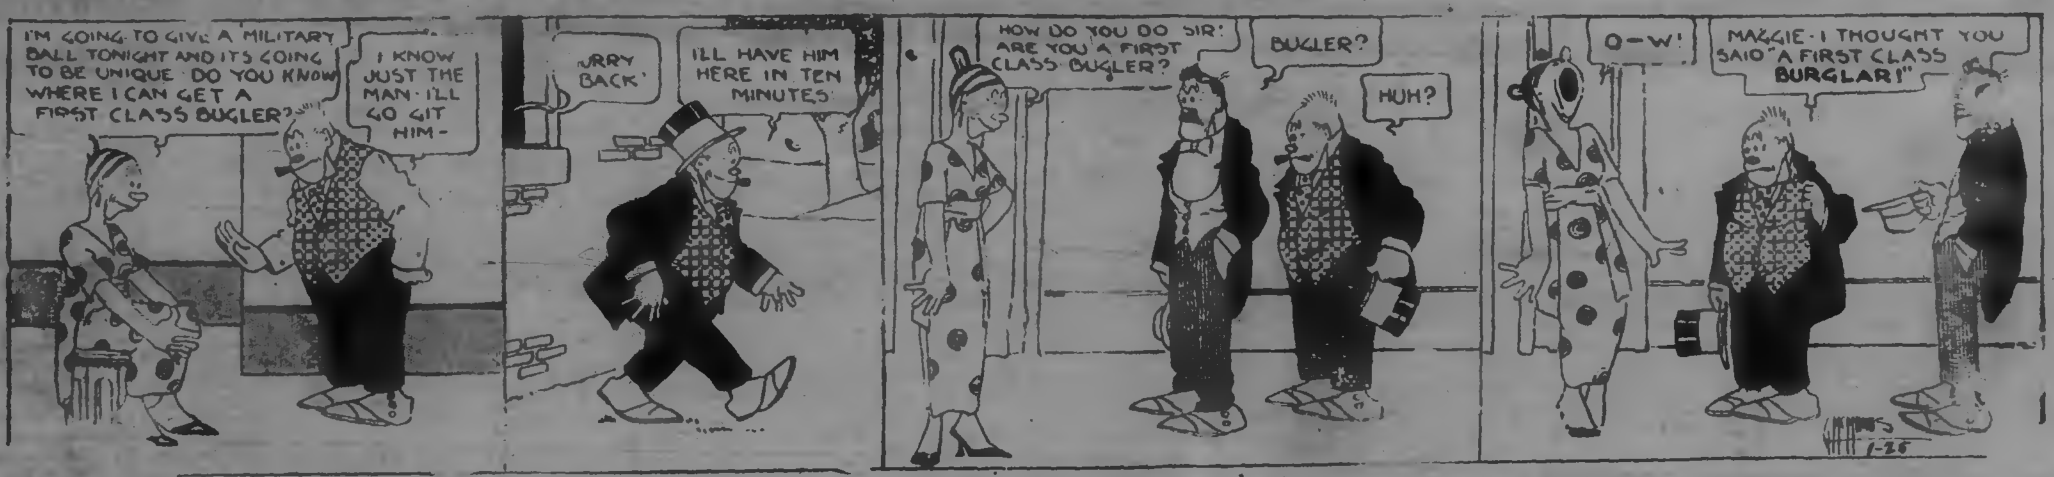
2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:30 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

9:15 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



I'M GOING TO GIVE A MILITARY BALL TONIGHT AND IT'S GOING TO BE UNIQUE - DO YOU KNOW WHERE I CAN GET A FIRST CLASS BUGLER?
I KNOW JUST THE MAN - I'LL GO GIT HIM -
'URRY BACK'
I'LL HAVE HIM HERE IN TEN MINUTES
HOW DO YOU DO SIR! ARE YOU A FIRST CLASS BUGLER?
BUGLER?
HUH?
O-W!
MAGGIE - I THOUGHT YOU SAID "A FIRST CLASS BURGLAR!"

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS

TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS YOU

5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor

JAKE SOLOMON . . Mgr

Grocers Win From Matthews-Blackwell

Thursday night the Business Men's Ten Pin League at the Water Street Alleys, the grocers took two from the Packers.

For the Grocers Weber was high man with 551 and high single of 237. Ross also passed the 500 mark for Matthews-Blackwell, Pratt hit the Maple for 536.

The scores

Matthews Blackwell
Matthews	129	118	164	—404
McLeod	116	137	176	—429
Everett	141	128	166	—435
Pratt	172	174	190	—536
J. McDonald	118	119	117	—354
	674	670	813	—2158

Grocers'
Gillespie	177	141	162	—480
Routly	129	159	149	—437
Heard	177	156	130	—463
Ross	175	195	131	—507
Weber	147	237	167	—551
	805	888	725	—2438

Manager Jack W. Beatty is signing up men for Kitchener base ball team, which, he claims, will be a good one this season.

Orders for Coal

taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Cord Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.

Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.

Store and Apartment to rent.

LOW & COMPANY
363 Simcoe St 385 Bethune St.
Phone 687
Nights and Holidays 296

COAL
—AND—
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit— Cheap
Best Vegetables— Reasonable
Best Groceries At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone [illegible]

New Ten Pin League Formed in Ottawa

Ottawa, March 21.—Claude Wagner, rolling for the War Trade team against the Postoffice sextet in the Civil Service Bowling League, set up a new Canadian record for cross alley scoring in ten pins when he put on a total of 791 on the Capital alleys. He started out with a single of 289, following ~~it with string~~ scores of 244 and 258. He had no less than 26 strikes and 6 spares. The previous record, which was put on in Toronto a few years ago, was a three string total of 771, while the best local score to date this season was that tacked on by Jim O'Neil of the Postoffice early in the race with 703.

Fats to Play U.T.S. In Arena Saturday

Toronto, March 21. — There was some talk yesterday of Regina defaulting their second game to U.T.S. tomorrow night, but the Westerners decided to remain and play the second game, which is under their own rules. Had Regina defaulted it was planned in certain circles to bring Woodstock against U. T. S., but the management of the latter team stated that if the Regina series was called off they were through with hockey for the season.

Stanfield's Team Win From Jackson's

Stansfield won from Jackson by taking two out of three games. The scores were as follows:

Stansfield's—

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Stansfield	124	121	142	—387
Alexander	143	103	100	—346
Huffman	156	70	121	—347
Totals	423	294	363	—1080

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Jackson	129	183	90	—402
Cranfield	153	171	94	—421
Bowness	111	104	136	—351
Totals	393	461	320	—1174

MIDLAND LEAGUE BASEBALL

Teams All Ready For Organization Meeting

All teams have been heard from, and everything is arranged for the organization meeting which will be held in the Empress Hotel, on Wednesday, at 8 o'clock. All those who are interested in baseball are requested to be on hand and help to get the sport under way. This meeting of the managers of the different towns in the league will be held at on early date.

Harry Hooper wired the Boston Red Sox yesterday his acceptance of their terms and stated he would report at Tampa training camp.

Havana, March 21.—Luis Andrade states that he will guarantee Jess Willard, the heavyweight champion, $30,000 and all traveling expenses if Willard will agree to a return fight with Johnson.

U. S. senators who demand a certified millennium before they will support any movement to promote unity among the nations carry caution too far.

THE AUTO ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Good Roads Question Thoroughly Discussed and Interesting Facts and Figures Are Submitted.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Automobile Association in the Bank of Montreal Chambers was greeted with a capacity attendance. The minutes of the las tmeeting were read by the secretary and it was moved by Mr. Burnham and seconded by Mr. Manning that they be confirmed as read.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—R. H. Turner.
President—C. E. Canfield.
Vice-president—C. R. Banks.
Secretary-treasurer—H. O. Fisk.
Directors — Messrs. Borbridge, Burnham, Dobie, Brown, Fitzgerald and Breyfogle.

It was resolved that the association procure a booth at the motor show and, if possible, procure a good roads exhibit from the Ontario Government.

The secretary read a communication from the Ontario Motor League advising the association that certain amendments to the Motor Vehicle Act would be brought before the Legislature in a few days and requested that the association do all in their power to further the carrying of these amendments, of which might be mentioned, the control of the power of headlights—an amendment regarding speed on city and county roads—also some additions to the Act, respecting recording of the serial numbers and other identification marks of cars that are wrecked, by the dealer, this registeration to be open to the Deputy Minister of Highways.

The good roads question came up for discussion and it was unanimously resolved that the association communicate with neighboring township councils with a view of getting the Peterborough - Port Hope Highway taken over and improved by the Government as a Provincial Highway. Delegates from neighboring townships informed us that there is not the feeling in the country against good roads as is popularly supposed and one of the delegates, who is owner of more frontage than any other resident on this proposed highway, states that he would do everything in his power to further the improvement of this highway.

The secretary then read a report which had been compiled for the purpose of bringing out some facts in connection with the number and value of cars and where located in this vicinity, which was as follows:

"From time to time various letters have appeared in our local papers on the good roads system. With a view of showing up some facts in connection with motor cars in this country, a careful audit of the local registrar's books was made and from this work the following interesting facts have been derived, namely, that for the year 1918:—1489 cars were registered in this county, covering 36 varieties. 797 or 53 1-2 per cent. were from the country outside of the city and 692 or 46 1-2 per cent. were from the city. The fees paid by country cars exceeded those paid by city cars by $1182.50. 97 8-10 per cent. of the country cars registered for the smallest fee and 86 1-2 per cent. of the city cars also registered for the smallest fee. The city percentage was somewhat lower by reason of the numerous trucks which have practically replaced the horse. However, these facts show conclusively, that the so-called 'farm car' does not exist in this vicinity and those that do exist are practically all trucks used for city delivery only.

"The proportion of cars to population for the city and country is as follows: In the city there is one car to every thirty people, whereas in the country there is one car to every twenty-four people.

"The approximate value of the cars in the country outside the city today is $606,500.00. The maintenance of this value of cars undoubtedly could be reduced by 75 per cent. if they were operated on improved roads.

"The city of Peterborough have paved about 5 miles of street at a cost of $175,000.00, which would link up very nicely with the good roads scheme from Port Hope and would easily link up with the roads from Warsaw, Norwood and Hastings. At the present time it is costing the city $4000.00 per year to clear up this pavement after horses, which are largely from the country, for the city horse is practically a thing of the past. This is not mentioned with any feeling toward the horse-driven vehicle from the country, but merely to show that all the load is not on the poor farmer, as a recent writer in our local papers would have us believe."

It was also moved and seconded that in the near future a dinner be arranged by the association and have some prominent speaker on good roads to address those present.

After passing a vote of thanks to the Montreal bank for their kindness in allowing the association the use of their rooms, the meeting adjourned.

FIRE ALARM LAST NIGHT.

A short circuited electric wire at the home of Mrs. Peck, George St. north, resulted in a slight blaze, which caused the fire brigade a run last night at 10.28 o'clock. There was no damage reported by Chief Grange.

Will Lay Foundations For Supremacy in the Air To Safeguard Commerce

ALTHOUGH the practical application will probably be delayed until peace is signed or at least until the propitious circumstances that the late spring weather will provide Great Britain is making preparations to insure for herself this year the foundation for a world-wide air supremacy to parallel the antewar position her merchantmen maintain. It is not generally considered desirable that the Government should operate or own air merchantmen but rather that it should give encouragement by means of subsidies after first setting the example by means of experimental voyages with royal air force craft and also provide facilities for guidance in the air in much the same degree as for sea navigation."

For long distance voyages, such as transocean traffic, the concensus of the opinion of the British air Ministry looks to the utilization of airships rather than the airplane. The lighter than air craft have much greater radius of operation and besides are not forced to descend in the event of motor failure. They are more conveniently navigated, more comfortable for passengers and there is practically no limit to the non-stop cruising range of an airship provided the size is adequate. It is important to note in this connection that while airplane efficiency is slightly reduced as the size is increased an airship's efficiency increases with the size. As Gen. Sir F. H. Sykes, head of the British aeronautical delegation to the Peace Conference, stated recently, a German airship accomplished without landing an 8,000-mile voyage from Jamboli, Bulgaria, to German East Africa and return. This is equivalent to a voyage from Lisbon to New York and return except that the German airship was not hampered by the navigational difficulties of the trans-Atlantic voyage.

Great Britain possesses several dirigibles of the rigid type suitable for trans-Atlantic vo[illegible] Pr[illegible] meteorological and navigational character are being made to insure the success of the first trip. The chief interest of Great Britain however, is swifter communication with the colonies and overseas dominions in which it is proposed to connect the transoceanic airship ports with other points by airplane. The German airship which made the record distance and duration voyage in four days was probably of the latest German Zeppelin type which carries a useful load of thirty-eight tons, which if all is devoted to fuel would give a theoretical air duration of seven days at forty-five miles an hour cruising speed. With an airship perfected so that it has a cruising speed of forty-five to fifty miles an hour its commercial use is possible in spite of the high first cost of airship housing. Airship routes from the British Islands are projected to America, Egypt, India, Australia, South Africa, China, Japan, and Scandinavia. To America the shortest steamship time is five days. The airship time at fifty miles an hour will be sixty hours.

Instead of twenty-four days from Liverpool to Buenos Aires by steamship by way of Madeira the time by airship will be five days and ten hours. Instead of eighteen days by steam from Liverpool to Cape Town the airship time will be four days and eighteen hours. Instead of the prewar steamship time of twenty-one days from London to Yokohama the airship by way of Marseilles, Port Said, Aden, Bombay, Colombo, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Shanghai to Yokohama will reduce the time to nine days and two hours. Instead of two days from London to Christiania by steamship an airship will require only fourteen hours.

It is not expected that there will be competition with the ordinary mail carrying on account of the necessary high rates but a great advantage over the telegraph is anticipated with slightly more time for the transmission at incomparably lower rates and greater efficiency of messages. The British Admiralty will probably soon cease to utilise the nine airship stations which will be available for air merchantmen. Also some of the coastal dirigibles of the Blimp type will be sold for commercial use.

The air ministry has announced the approximate cost of airships and airship stations which will be subject to 40 per cent. reduction after peace is signed as follows: A 93-foot rigid airship, $250,000; a 1,100-footer with 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas capacity, $1,000,000 to $1,500,000; a shed 750 feet long to hold two rigid airships complete, with gas plant, drains and roads, $2,200,000. The personnel required numbering 395, would be paid at the present time $350,000 annually. This is also subject to 40 per cent. reduction after peace is signed.

Local Gun Club Is Re-Organized

MEMBERS HELD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT EMPRESS LAST NIGHT

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club was held last evening in the Empress Hotel for the purpose of reorganizing after the last few years of inactivity on account of the war and absence of the members. Many of the old members were present, and the secretary received the names of several new ones for the coming season. After the election of officers a committee was formed for the purpose of making all necessary repairs to the club house and getting the grounds in condition for the first shoot of the season, to be held in the near future. The club will this year be affiliated with the American Trap Shooting Association and will be pleased to receive the names of any who would like to become members. Any returned soldiers who wish to continue in the shooting line will find this good manly sport. All information may be had from the president or secretary.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—C. G. Graham.
Vice-President—S. Coon.
Captain—H. Cook.
Secretary-Treasurer—C. Wood.
Grounds Committee—L. Hall, C. Mills, M. Rohtly.

Shooting will be held regularly during the summer months on the first, third and fourth Fridays in each month, commencing the first Friday in May. Several trophies will be offered for competition, particulars of which will be arranged later.

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

Next Week's Games At Water St. Alleys

Business Men's Ten-pin League:
Monday—High Rollers vs. Mathews-Blackwell.
Wednesday—De Laval vs. Printers.
Thursday—Grocers vs. C.G.E.
The Five-pin League:
Tuesday—Turnbulls vs. Bankers.
Thursday—Matthews vs. Shamrocks.
Friday—De Laval vs. Lawn Bowlers.

Apparently the framers of the peace treaty and the League of nations intend to do the work first and explain it afterward.

Shortage of paper is interfering with the Russian bolshevik propaganda. Probably they are using all the paper to print bolshevik money.

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches
in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.
CLOCKS, JEWELRY
Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.
Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra
Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut. Now in Stock.
E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

ROBBERS ARE SENTENCED

Parry Sound, March 22.—Charles Blair of Sprucedale was sentenced to two and a half years' imprisonment and Solomon Benedict to five months on robbery charges.

O'Keefe's
IMPERIAL ALE

O'KEEFE'S
IMPERIAL
THE O'KEEFE BREWERY CO. TORONTO LIMITED
IMPERIAL ALE

Brewed from MALT and HOPS

The same high standard of purity, wholesomeness and delightful flavour which has characterized O'Keefe's brews for over 60 years is maintained in the Imperial beers, brewed to meet the Ontario Temperance Act.

For Sale at all Hotels and Restaurants.

Order by the case from your Grocer or Dealer.

The O'Keefe Brewery Co., Limited - Toronto

Canada Food Board License L-15-102 714

J. M. Brooks, Distributor, 195½, Charlotte Street, Peterborough, Ontario

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

Yours Eyes Will Tell You

If your eyes are laboring under an undue strain you must be conscious of something wrong. For your own good, allow us to make a careful examination of your eyes. See W. H. LACEY, Exclusive Optometrist, 410 George Street.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1083.

AUCTION SALE.

Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 2 p.m., I will sell for Mr. Samuel Londry two houses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 425-421 Bethune street; this property will be sold without reserve. Terms $500 each, balance can remain at 5 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

On and after May 1,1 919, the union rate of wages for carpenters will be 67½ cents per hour, 8-hour day. Saturday afternoon off during months of June, July and August.

THOS. J. McMURRAY, Pres.,
F. SHEARER, Rec.-Secretary.
Local Union No. 219.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

ALLAN-PARK RECITAL

St. Paul's Church, Monday, 24th March, at 8.15 p.m. Dorothy Allan ark, soprano; Maurice H. Park, tenor; John Allan, organist and accompanist. Splendid program. Collection.

NOTICE.

I take this opportunity of making known to the public the fact that I have no connection whatever with the painting business being conducted in my name at 416 Water street, as I sold my painting and decorating business nearly a year ago and my name is being used without my consent. My time, energies and interest are used entirely in connection with my General Insurance Business at 202-203 Barrie Building.

HUGHSON JOHNSTONE.

THE CURLING RINK

Will close Saturday evening, March 22nd. Members are asked to remove their clothing by that date.

F. BROWNSCOMBE,
Secretary.

AUCTION SALE

Household furniture, etc., at the home of the late A. J. Gaddye, 717 George Street on Thursday, March 27th, sale to commence 1.30 p.m.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

AUCTION SALE

Of household furniture, etc., at the home of Mr Jno. Lacheur, 211 Rubidge street, on Monday March 24, including piano, chesterfield, fumed oak dining suit, 2 wilton rugs, etc., 2 brass beds, bear and wolf rugs, mounted, etc. Set Lamoise china. Parties wishing to inspect same may do so Saturday evenings.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auct.

SERVICES AT ST. ANDREW'S.

In St. Andrew's Church the pastor will preach at both services. In the evening the topic will be, "David and Absalom," and the treatment of this subject will show that Absalom was both a bad son and a bad patriot. Special music will be provided at these services and strangers will be heartily welcome.

AT BETHANY TABERNACLE.

Rev. Jesse Gibson of Toronto will [illegible] of Bethany Tabernacle at 11 o'clock. In the evening at 7 o'clock there will be a temperance lecture by the pastor.

HER COMPLEXION IS NATURAL

Its Fine Texture Is Brought Out in Ridding the Skin of Pimples, etc., by Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Send for a Free Trial Package.

No rouge and yet the cheecks are pink; no powder and yet the complexion is delicate; no skin cream and yet there's a smoothness, a texture at which you exclaim her complexion is natural—that is the result that follows the use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

It makes no difference how spotted and disfigured your face may be with pimples or blackheads, you should seek to win back good looks.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers clear the skin of pimples and similar eruptions by thoroughly cleansing it of impurities. With a pure blood nutrition, pimples and such disfigurement disappear. And the invigorated blood replaces dead, sallow skin with the glowing colors of a good complexion.

Your self-esteem demands that you avail yourself of this method that thousands have proved before you. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers of your druggist today. Make your dream of a more beautiful complexion come true. Send coupon today for free trial package.

Free Trial Coupon.

F. A. STUART CO., 362 STUART BLDG., MARSHALL, MICH. Send me at once, by return mail, a free trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Name ....
Street ....
City .... State ....

OBITUARY

MASTER R. A. SCOLLARD

The death occurred Thursday at the home of his parents of Master Richard Alphonses Scollard, eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scollard, Ennismore, after a short illness.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the home of the parents at 9.30 a.m. to St Martin's Church and cemetery.

MRS. McGOURLICH.

The death occurred yesterday of Mrs. McGourlich, at the age of 80 years, in Ashburnham.

The remains were taken to Cobourg on the 9:15 G. T. R. train, where interment will take place this afternoon.

VETS' CHURCH PARADE

All members of the G.W.V.A. are requested to parade at the Armouries at 10.15 a.m. sharp tomorrow morning for the purpose of attending the service at St. Paul's Church, when the tablet in memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice will be unveiled.

NOTICE ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS

All members of the above who have returned from overseas are requested to attend the next regular meeting, Tuesday, March 25th, at 8 p.m., in S. O. E. Hall. This is important.

A. W. LAWS, Chief Ranger.

AUCTION SALE.

Monday evening, commencing 6.30 p.m., of household furniture, etc., at the home of Mr. Wm. Stuart, 284 Lansdowne street, near Park street; entire contents will be sold without reserve.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

AUTOMOBILES AND TRUCKS, ETC

For sale two 1918, one 1917, some older models, Ford Touring Cars. Two 1918 Ford Roadsters. All in good running order. These look like new. Ford Delivery Car with wire screen body, in good order. A good buy. Don't miss this.

Two-ton Form A Truck, complete with continental motor. Lots of For sale two 1918, one 1917. some,

DUFFUS GARAGE.

It is the people who come early to avoid the crowd that make the crowd.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Carey, who has been visiting friends in the city, returned to her home in Lang yesterday.

Mr. Pat. Young, of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co., Youngs' Point, is in the city today.

Mrs. A. W. Spence returned to the city today after visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. E. West, Smooth Rock Falls.

Mr. Wilfred Stratton is spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Westcourt, Park street.

Mrs. G. E. West, Smooth Rock Falls, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Spence, Downie street.

Mrs W. H. Hill left yesterday to visit friends at Niagara Falls.

Mr. S. Dickson Hall returned from New York on Tuesday. The results of Mr. Hall's New York trip will be seen at the Hall store after Monday, where there will be shown a magnificent assortment of exclusive Dresses, Capes, Suits and Coats. Many of them Paris reproductions, but no two alike—something that every woman will appreciate. They are very moderate in price too. The writer had the privilege of seeing many of the beautiful Dresses and not one was over $30.00. The great difficulty one would have would be to choose one from so many handsome styles.

RETURNS TO CITY

Mr. Richard R. Blewett, of Brampton, who is well known in Peterborough, having been a shell inspector at one of the local munition plants for a considerable time, is back in the city again and is the guest of Mr. Chas. Perry, American House.

Mr. Blewett has just returned from Stittsville where he has been engaged for some time in connection with the erection of a gas plant there. Upon leaving here, he expects to go to Timmins, New Ontario, where he has secured a similar contract.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR U. S. PASSENGERS

Halifax, N.S., March 22.—The two hundred passengers bound for United States points on the transport Olympic, expected Sunday, will land here, and will, in consequence of the New York strike, be forwarded to their destination by a special train.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

The services at St. James' Church have been increasing in interest during the week. At last night's service a goodly number expressed a desire to begin a new life.

The services tomorrow will be of an evangelistic character. There will be a prayer and praise service at 10 o'clock. Rev. P. H. Neville will speak in the morning. Come and bring a friend.

BIG REPUBLIC TRUCK DEAL

Nova Scotia Government has placed an order with the Republic Motor Truck Co. for fifty trucks of different capacity. These trucks are to be used in road building throughout the province. Mr. A. Brown, the local McLaughlin dealer, has the distributing agency for these trucks in this district. He states that there will be two of these trucks at the coming Motor Show.

If you hang a horseshoe over the door and it doesn't fall on your head, you are lucky.

MR. EDDIE VOGT
In "The Bride Shop," Grand Opera House, Thursday evening.

PRAISE FOR SIR SAM HUGHES

FORMER MINISTER SAYS HE HAS NO USE FOR BAYONET DISCIPLINE

Montreal, March 21.—A tribute to the former Minister of Militia, Sir Sam Hughes, was paid by three hundred returned men, who were the guests of the Dominion Football Association at a dinner.

Sir Sam Hughes told the returned men that he had no use for repression and the bayonet and discipline as applied to citizen soldiers, rather he believed in the system of training which appealed to their honor. He appealed to the men not to be content with elevator jobs now that they had come back, but to strike out for commanding positions such as they were worthy of and which he assured them they might gain if they made an effort similar to that they had made overseas.

"THE BRIDE SHOP"

Lovers of all that is best in musical comedy have a treat in store for their amusement at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening next when George Choos will present for the first time in this city his magnificent production of "The Bride Shop," the book of which was written by Fred De Gressac, author of "The Purple Road," "The Enchantress," "Flo-Flo" and several other well-known musical successes, with lyrics and music by Darl MacBoyle and Walter L. Rosemont.

While written in a satirical vein, the story has its moral to all ambitious mothers, and in the working out introduces a number of funny complications and surprises. The dialogue is bright, containing many witty lines and repartee of the rapid fire order.

The play has been given a most gorgeous dress, both scenically and from a costuming standpoint. Mr Choos having searched the emporiums of the modistes of both hemispheres for new creations, and the gowns worn by twelve of the handsomest models he could procure represent the designs and colorings of Poirett, Redfern, Gordon, Mmes Francis, Dugan, the Orange Manufacturing Company and Wannamaker.

The cast is one of the most evenly balanced seen in musical comedy, including Eddie Vogt, Lew Nader, John Sully, George Gould, Edith Bentar, Nan. Hopestill, Muriel Rastrick, Sally Hunt, Frances Allison, Muriel Thomas and a chorus of sprightly girls who are both capable singers and dancers, and good to look at.

The sale of seats opens on Tuesday.

WILL BUY GENERATOR.

Chairman Morrison of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and Mayor Duncan were authorised by the Council last night to obtain a generator for the Fire Department. The apparatus will cost $2000, and provision for its purchase was made in the estimates.

NORMA TALMADGE
in
"DE LUXE ANNE"
SELECT PICTURES

Grand Opera House, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Matinee Daily.

"OUR TRUST"

From out the void a solemn silence comes,
A stillness which no human heart can know,
A majesty the world has never felt,
Falls from above and settles here below;
A peace more tranquil than the ocean wave,
When voice of tempest stills and all is calm;
No more the sound of drums, the clash of arms.
War's sting is o'er, applied the healing balm,
Which comes from God's own hand,
Dispensed at His command.

To those who fell and never more return
A fitting tribute we must surely pay;
Transfigured in the light of sacrifice,
A shining light to point us to the way;
Immortal youth, touched by the hand of God,
In manhood's prime they fell—in youth they bloom;
Their souls resplendent on that distant shore,
Waft o'er the earth a radiant sweet perfume,
Which in our lives holds sway
And bids us be as they.

An issue greater has not been since when,
An angry mob a gentle Saviour slew;
He died to save us from the taint of sin,
A true democracy He had in view.
Those lives laid down have carried on His work,
Borrowed from Him a spirit most divine,
To save the world from anger, hate and lust,
Exalting brotherhood — causing live to shine;
Effacing that which leads to woe,
Bringing Heaven here below.

To those of us who tread life's devious paths,
They leave a charge which we in faith must keep;
They paved the way for better things to come,
Let us promote the cause, rouse up from sleep;
Exalt the right, thrust out base selfish aims,
Promote reforms where need of them is seen;
True statesmen be in every walk of life,
Raising our country's name — keeping their memory green.
Forgetting not their deeds of worth,
Lifting their torch to light the earth.

Then let us cast away politic strife,
Autocracy of church and state lay low,
Dogmatic creeds expel, vain shams expose,
Making the seed of righteousness to grow;
Striving to make more bright each other's lives,
Casting aside base jealousy and hate;
As individuals strive each one to do
The deeds of love that make us truly great,
A link in God's great plan,
The brotherhood of man.

(Lee M. McLeod, Zephyr, Ont.)

Good Work of Dept. Of Agriculture

NEW LIST OF PUBLICATIONS CONTAINS THREE HUNDRED VOLUMES

The new list of publications of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa contains titles of about three hundred bulletins, circulars and other pamphlets that deal with agricultural practices. These cover the whole range of agricultural and horticultural pursuits, including dairying, field crops, live stock, orchard and garden crops, poultry, insects and plant disease, farm building construction, farm machinery and many other topics. The subjects are arranged alphabetically under general titles. Not only are the lists themselves available from the Publications Branch of the Department but any of the publications therein contained.

CONDEMN REMOVAL OF I. C. R. MEN

Moncton, N. B., March 22.—The Moncton Amalgamated Central Labor Unions have adopted a resolution condemning the removal of I.C.R. employes from Moncton and other parts of the Maritime Provinces to other parts of Canada.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

To-night - Last Time - To-night
JIMMIE HODGES Presents
The Musical Comedy of the Hour,
-Pretty Baby-
With the daintiest dancing chorus of pretty girls from Broadway. A combination of Musical Comedy Stars. libar George Byron Twyman, Joe McAnnellan and Norman Coudy, The Pretty Baby Trio. They are a diamond mine of entertainment.
PRICES:— NIGHT 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00 MATINEE 25c, 50c

MONDAY, TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY
—MATINEE DAILY—
Select Pictures Present
Norma Talmadge in DeLuxe Anne
Special Comedy | Screen Magazine
EVENING 15c | VAUDEVILLE | MATINEE 10c

THURSDAY Evening Only
George Choos Presents
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE
THE BRIDE SHOP
With EDDIE VOGT
And a distinguished cast of principals and the classiest singing ... ... chorus in musical comedy ... ...
THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTLY GOWNED ORGANIZATION ON EARTH
PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. Seats Tuesday.

NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:
A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Hurleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of these sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary.
Provisional Committee,
21 Brown St.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

WANTED
Some good Houses for rent.

FOR SALE
Good Houses and Lots, cheap.
Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.
Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.
It will pay you.

FULL FACE VALUE PAID FOR Victory -Bonds-
WE WANT $45.000.00
Hughson Johnstone
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
Phone 986
WE WILL CALL FOR THEM
OPEN WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS
Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.
FORD OWNERS
Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.
247 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 443 J. Peterboro.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

Try The Willard
Service For Your Cars
If you get the habit of letting our Willard Service Station put in shape and take care of your batteries you will avoid all vexatious delays and trouble while on the road. Our mechanics are experts, and "know how."
Free Filling and Testing
Grant, Thorpe & Cowain
WILLARD SERVICE STATION—418 GEORGE STREET
EXPERT ELECTRICIANS

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Monday, fine and mild. Tuesday, easterly winds and cloudiness, followed by rain.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 70 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

DELAY IN MAKING PEACE ENCOURAGES BOLSHEVISM

Revolt of Hungarians and Reported Alliance With Russian Bolshevik May Flood Europe in Bloodshed.

London, March 24.—The Hungarian revolution and the reported alliance of the new government with the Russian Soviet, which is considered here as a grave menace to Europe, has given rise to new criticism here of delays in the Peace Conference proceedings.

The Globe, referring to the situation in Hungary, says that "it is the natural consequences of the delay of the Peace Conference in making peace, and if the delay continues we will have worse consequences still.

"All this discussion of the League covenant before even preliminary peace has been reached simply encourages the spread of the bolshevik disease, and gives our chief enemy opportunities for intrigue."

HUNS CANNOT AND WILL NOT GIVE UP DANZIG

So President Ebert Declared in Speech Yesterday—Czecho-Slovak Army Lent to Hungary.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, March 24.—Germany cannot and will not sign a peace which involves the annexation of Danzig by Poland, President Ebert declared in a speech on Sunday. He added that Germany could not give up West Prussia or part of West Silesia. He declared that Germany was prepared to agree to the neutralization of Vistula, which would include Danzig as a free port.

Sends Army to Hungary.

Copenhagen, March 24—A Czecho-Slovak army has been sent against Hungary, according to an official report received in Vienna and forwarded here.

President Resigns.

T. O. Masaryk, president of Czecho-Slovakia, has resigned, according to a report received here.

MEMORIAL TABLETS ARE UNVEILED AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Edifice Thronged to Capacity at Impressive Service Yesterday Morning.

St. Paul's Church was thronged to the doors and hundreds turned away from the service yesterday morning, at which the two memorial tablets, presented by the choir, one to the memory of the members of the congregation who had fallen in the war and the other a tribute to those who had returned from the conflict, were unveiled.

Appropriate music by the choir, under the leadership of St. Paul's able organist, Mr. John Allan, and eloquent addresses combined to make the service a most impressive one which will linger long in the memory of the great concourse of people who were present to witness the ceremony and return thanks to Providence for the gift of men who in the use of freedom and righteousness were faithful unto death and for the safe return of the many brave soldiers who had passed through the ordeal of war and had been spared to come back to their homes and loved ones.

Members of the G.W.V.A. led by their band paraded to St. Paul's Church and were given seats in the central part of the auditorium. They were out in force and taxed the accommodation which had been reserved for them.

Order of Service.

The following order of service was observed:

Organ prelude—"March Triumphale," composed by Mr. John Allan.

Doxology—"Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Invocation (concluding with the Lord's Prayer, Psalm 31) — "The Lord of Heaven Confess."

Scripture reading—Hebrews, 11th chapter, 32 to 40.

Prayer.

Anthem—"Whatchman! What of the Night?", Thompson—Solo part by Mr. Douglas Carlisle.

Commemoration of Fallen.

Rev. Robert Pogue repeated the following solemn commemoration of the fallen:

"O God, who art the God, not of the dead, but of the living, and who, in Christ, hast abolished death and brought life and immortality to light, we thank Thee for the hope of life everlasting. We bless Thee for the fellowship of the Unseen, for all those who have gone into the world of light, who see Thy face and serve Thee still. We pray that their heroism and their sacrifice, their deeds and their endurance may be the heritage of their children and their children's children. With humble hearts and memories and lowly pride, we commemorate before Thee those who have fallen in the war.

"We bow before Thee of Lord in memory of all gallant soldiers, brave sailors, undaunted airmen, who have been faithful even unto death;

"Of poets who left their unsung pleasant songs, and did the deeds that shall make others' songs;

"Of those who dropped the instruments of music and the tools of art;

"Of students who forsook the cloistered paths of learning and in a sterner road laid down their lives;

"Of men of science who, through sacrifice, have found the truths of life and death and immortality;

"Of statesmen who passed from the Senate House to serve upon the field and come not back;

"Of those who came from shop and office at the urgent call;

"Of men who left their husbandry and daily craft;

"And of the poor to whom their country gave no heritage, who have died for it;

"Of those who died fulfilling ministries of help and healing;

"Of chaplains, doctors, nurses, and workers under the Red Cross, who saved others, but themselves they did not save;

"Of seamen of the transport and merchant services who went down with their boats;

"Of fishermen who left their nets to sweep destruction from the seas;

"Of workers who in dangerous tasks met accident and death;

"And of all innocent and helpless lives that have been sacrificed;

"Of our own, our dearest and our best;

"Beloved sons and brothers, fathers, husbands, friends;

"Dear names for ever written in our hearts;

"We pray Thee, O God, to bless in a special way today those to whom life is harder for their absence, and the road lonelier for their having gone on before. Give to all such a hope of re-union at the journey's end. We lift to Thee all homes of sorrow and ask Thee for Thy healing and comfort. Give us grace to make the sacrifice complete. Strengthen us to live as faithfully and bravely as they died, to cherish their memories in living monuments, to resolve to "carry on" in the spirit in which they gave their lives, and to help to build the city of our God over the ruins wrought by war. We ask it in Christ's name. Amen."

Unveiling of the Tablet to the fallen by Mrs. McIntosh.

Solo—"Be Thou Faithful Unto

(Continued on Page 8.)

GERMANS TALK OF REFUSING TO SIGN

THEY ARE BEGINNING TO SHOW THEIR TEETH AT THE POLISH TERMS

Copenhagen, March 24. — Berlin newspapers protest in strong terms against the reported proposals of the allied Supreme Council to give Poland a corridor through Germany to the Baltic.

The Zeitung am Mittag says it is certain an attempt to land Polish troops at Danzig will be opposed by military force. Theodor Wolff, writing in the Tageblatt, says that if the landing of Polish troops cannot be prevented no German delegates should go to the Peace Conference. The Germania declares that no German government would sign a peace treaty containing the reported conditions.

Not to Withdraw From Conference

RUMORS THAT ITALY WOULD QUIT IF NOT GIVEN FIUME ARE DENIED

Paris, March 22.—Captain Ferucol, head of the Italian Press Bureau, today officially denied reports that Italy had threatened to withdraw from the Peace Conference, understood to have been circulated by the press association.

"Reports that the Italian delegation has threatened to withdraw from the eace Conference if Italy is not given Fiume, are absolutely untrue," he declared.

BOLSHEVIKI IN ARCHANGEL.

Archangel, March 24. — The Bolsheviki still are holding Bolshota and Ozera, but on Saturday displayed no further activity in that sector. At allied headquarters the situation elsewhere was reported unchanged.

Local Man Charged As M. S. Defaulter

James Roy McGlynn, a local man whose home is at 201 Rutherford avenue, appeared in Police Court this morning charged with having been a defaulter under the Military Service Act.

He was remanded in custody until Thursday, March 27th, upon the request of the Crown. His counsel, Mr. O'Brien, asked that he be granted bail, but this was refused by Magistrate Dumble upon Inspector Ward stating that this man had escaped from the police on a previous occasion.

McGlynn was arrested at a farm house in Emily Township by a posse of Dominion Police in charge of Sergeant Carmody at three o'clock Sunday morning.

Airgrams For Crossing Ocean

Montreal, March 22. — The Marconi Wireless Co. has completed arrangements for supplying airgrams to aviators who may attempt to cross the Atlantic. A complete series of bulletins about weather conditions over the area to be traversed will be compiled from advices to ships at sea, and will be sent out from the company's Glace Bay station and picked up by the aviators.

AN ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT WORK OF THE CONFERENCE

GERMANS SAID TO BE BEHIND ITS COMMUNIST SITUATION IN HUNGARY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, March 24.—The Associated Press today issues the following on the Hungarian situation:

The question of the barrier which the peace conference intended to erect against the spread of Bolshevism into former Central powers has come sharply to the front as a result of the situation in Hungary, where Bolsheviki elements have seized power and declared that a state of war exists between Hungary and the Entente powers.

Military Action Taken.

Premiers of allied states were called to meet in special session in Paris at three o'clock this afternoon, and it was reported that important military decisions might be taken at a meeting of the Supreme Council at four o'clock, regarding the situation in Hungary and Poland. Premier Clemenceau and Foreign Minister Pichon had long conference Sunday, regarding Hungary, and it is indicated by Paris newspapers that action looking to military movements was taken.

Paris newspaper writers see the situation as serious and as one calling for military action. They express belief that Germany may be behind the movement for the purpose of defeating the work of the Peace Conference. Some commentators in London see the Hungarian situation as partly a result of delay of the Peace Conference in bringing about a preliminary peace.

HYDRO ELECTRIC TO EXPROPRIATE

WILL ACQUIRE OWNERSHIP OF POWER PROPERTY AT LAKEFIELD

Mr. Burnham has received a letter from the Hydro-Electric Commission stating that the required resolution having been passed by the Lakefield council, Hydro engineers have been instructed to proceed with the acquirement by the Lakefield council of water power interests and other privileges at once. They will be expropriated.

MR. MacGREGOR ILL

Mr. Alexander MacGregor, the editor of The Review, while somewhat better, is by no means recovered from the illness which has confined him to his home for over a week. It is hoped that he will be able to resume control of the Editorial Department of this paper within the next few days.

Triumphant Entry For Pres. De Valera

Dublin, March 24.—The Sinn Fein executive makes the following announcement:

"President De Valera will arrive in Ireland Wednesday evening next, and the executive of the Dail Eireann (Irish Parliament) will offer him a national welcome. It is expected his homecoming will be the occasion of national rejoicing. Full arrangements will be made for marshalling the procession.

"The lord mayor of Dublin will receive him at the gates of the city and escort him to Mansion House, where he will deliver a message to the Irish people."

WARNING FOR ENTENT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 24. — The Berlin press from the most extremely radical to the most decidedly conservative, sees in events which are occurring in Hungary a terrible warning for the Entent. This is the view taken, for instance, by the two extremes of Freiheit and the Tages Zeitung.

SITUATION IN EUROPE IS OF GRAVEST CHARACTER

GERMANY LOOKING FOR ALLIANCE WITH RUSSIA

German Foreign Minister Takes Steps Toward Political and Economical Relations With Bolsheviki.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 24.—Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German Foreign Minister, has sent Karl Kautsky, one of the Under Secretaries in the Foreign Ministry, to Moscow, to see Chiefs of the Soviet Government, and furnish an accurate report on the situation which will allow the Foreign Minister to study methods as to the bringing about of closer political and economic relations between Germany and Russian Bolsheviki Government.

Seize Property Of Austrian Dukes

Basle, March 24.—Advices received here from Vienna are to the effect that the council of ministers has decided to seize provisionally for the purpose of state administration the real and personal property of the reigning families in Austria, and also of the archdukes living abroad. The incomes from the real estate received will be paid the owners.

Negotiations Have Been Successful

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, March 24.—In discussing today's negotiations between railway men and the Government, J. H. Thomas, general Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said that most of the demands of the railwaymen had been conceded to in principle, and from that point of view, negotiations had been a success. The great difference, he added, was not between the Government and railwaymen, but between the unions concerned.

Berlin Mob Shouts Down With England

DEMONSTRATION BY GERMANS AGAINST THE ENTENTE ON SUNDAY

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Amsterdam, March 24.—A demonstration "against the violation of German territory under the peace treaty" was held in Berlin Sunday, in front of the residence of President Ebert.

After the meeting the crowd went to the Hotel Adlon, where most of Entente nations in Berlin are quartered. Seeing American officers they mistook them for British, and shouted, "Down with England."

1,476,256 DEMOBILIZED

Washington, D. C., March 23.—A report on progress of army demobilization made public by the war department today shows a total of 1,476,256 men discharged to date. Orders have been issued for demobilization of 1,738,600 men, of whom 414,000 are included in overseas troops returned to the United States.

QUEBEC RECEPTIONS.

Quebec, March 24.—Quebec City council on Friday night passed a resolution providing for the formation of a committee to co-operate with other public bodies for the purpose of extending a fitting reception to all returned soldiers who will debark here during the coming summer.

St. Thomas G. W. V. A. strongly protests against the inadequacy and unfairness of pensions.

RUSS. ROUBLES BACK THE HUN COMMUNISTS

BELA KAN, NEW FOREIGN MINISTER, MAN WHO FORMULATED COMMUNISTIC PROCLAMATION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 24.—That the seizure of power by the Hungarian communists is the result of Russian bolshevik missionary work and the financing of the movement with Russian rubles, seems apparent from the history of the movement.

The New Minister.

Bela Kun (or Kuhn), the new foreign minister, who probably was the man who formulated the communistic proclamation, spent a long time in Russia a a prisoner, and made there the acquaintance of Nikolai Lenine and Leon Trotsky. He was originally chosen to organize a Spartacan-Bolsheviki movement in Germany, but went instead to Hungary. The Hungarian socialists would have nothing to do with Kuhn, so he thereupon founded the Communist party.

Conference Shocked.

London, March 24.—The proclamation of bolshevism in Hungary, says the Pall Mall Gazette, has given a shock to the Peace Conference, which is precisely what it intended to do. The change in the government of Budapest was affected not by violence but by collusion.

ROYAL GEORGE DOCKS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 24. — The Royal George with sixteen hundred returned soldiers is expected to dock this afternoon. The Metagama has also arrived at St. John.

PORTUGAL ASKS BIG INDEMNITY

Paris, March 24.—The Portuguese delegation at the Peace Conference has transmitted to Lisbon more than two dozen reports drafted by the various conference commissions, according to a telegram from Lisbon. One of these reports, the message adds, demands a war indemnity of $120,000,000.

Compares With That of a Hundred Years Ago When Vienna Learned of Napoleon's Return From Elba

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 24.—The situation is as serious as that which arose when the Congress of Vienna learned of Napoleon's return from Elba. Today, as a hundred years ago, negotiators have provoked and have been surprised by destiny, writes St. Brice, in The Journal, referring to the Hungarian situation.

The Conference Speed Up.

Paris, March 24.—Conference of Premiers was called today, to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, to arrange for a program of the Supreme Council Session an hour later. The news from Hungary and Poland was expected to spur the heads of Governments to military decisions of the first importance.

The League of Nations' Commission will re-assemble at 8.30 o'clock tonight, with expectation of virtually concluding the draft of the League's covenant.

Entente Troops Disarmed.

Berlin, March 24.—A special despatch to the Freiheit announces the disarmament of Entent troops at Budapest. It is unconfirmed, however, and appears questionable.

5,000 More Troops Reach Halifax

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 24.—The Cretic, with 1,600 and Olympic with 5,000 returning Canadian war veterans entered the harbor this morning, the Cretic proceeding immediately to dock and the Olympic anchoring in the stream.

Clearing depot officials hope to clear both steamers today. About 3,000 of the men are from Ontario points.

GOVERNMENT AT VIENNA ASKS KARL TO MOVE ON.

Copenhagen, March 24.—The Vienna government has once more notified former Emperor Charles that it is desirable that he quit the country, but no pressure has been brought to bear to force him to leave, according to telegrams received here from the Austrian capital.

SETTLEMENT OF TRADE TROUBLES NOW LIKELY

Conferences of British Government and Miners and Railwaymen Promise Peaceful Results.

London, March 24. — Another long conference was held at the Board of Trade yesterday in an endeavor to arrive at a solution of the dispute of the railwaymen. It failed of its object, and was adjourned until today. It is understood the negotiations are proceeding smoothly and that there is prospect of a settlement of the matter.

Sankey's Report.

Andrew Bonar Law, Government leader in the House of Commons, conferred for half an hour Saturday afternoon at Downing Street with representatives of the Miners' Union, and it was agreed that they should meet again on Tuesday. It is understood that Mr. Bonar Law called the conference to consider certain features of the Sankey report and the miners' proposals in connection with it. The adjournment was taken to enable Mr. Bonar Law to obtain Sankey's interpretation of various recommendations.

Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Minister of Labor, and all the executives of the Miners' Union participated in the meeting.

Comments by Press.

In their comments upon the labor situation in Great Britain, most of the newspapers dwell upon the remarkable success attending the Government's decision to make the Coal Commission inquiry public, and regret that the same policy has not yet been adopted as regards the dispute with the railwaymen.

One evening newspaper, the Star, in an article rejoicing at he prospect of there being no triple strike, says:

"This old land is going to show other lands how to build a social peace of justice upon the victory of liberty over autocracy. It is not the first time that the British people have led the world toward the light. It worked so well that we are all keen on developing it boldly, and applying it to all other intractable problems of labor. The secret of its success was publicly inspired by fair play."

Epoch-making Inquiry.

Another weekly paper, The Observer, describes the Coal Commission as an epoch-making inquiry, marking the end of a system. It

(Continued on page eight)

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 160-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager
S. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. S. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 18f. Editorial ... 484.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 281

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

MONDAY MARCH 24, 1919.

THE ITALIAN SITUATION.

THE CLAIM OF ITALY to command of the Adriatic in her own defence does not seem more unreasonable than France's demand that Germany's borders be retired sufficiently eastward to ensure the safety of Paris.

Since 1879 the policy of Austria towards Italy has been no secret. It was frankly the reduction of Italy to dependence. Germany backed this policy by encouraging Italy to join the Triple Alliance on the pretext of safeguarding European peace. But actually it was appreciated by Germany and Austria that the alliance with them of Italy would render it harder for Great Britain to uphold her power in the Mediterranean.

In treating of this subject, Commander G. Roncagli, R.I.N., in "The Strategical Problem of the Adriatic," says that this Triple Alliance presaged a division of British naval strength. Conjoined with the growth of the German navy, not to speak of additions to the Austrian, the presumed necessary division of naval strength was relied upon to ensure British passivity, if not acquiescence.

It was a crafty scheme but it clashed with the aims of Italian policy. The Italians met craft with craft. They accepted, but with the reservation which limited Italy's obligations to the defensive. Seemingly the reservation meant little. In fact, it meant everything. What was complacently considered at Berlin to be a closed road was known in Rome to be an avenue of escape. The danger of a rupture with the Central Powers in 1883, when the danger would have been real, had been evaded, and, as was discovered in 1914, German cunnig had proved no match for Italian subtlety. With Great Britain in the war Italy was for the time perfectly safe in standing strictly upon the letter of the agreement. That Italian neutrality had been assured and that it was a friendly neutrality was indicated by the allied naval dispositions. Without the assured and friendly neutrality of Italy those dispositions would have been out of the question.

Thus Italy, even from the outset, rendered the Allies a signal service. But that very service implied that if the war proved a victory for the Central Powers, not only would Italy become their dependent, but that punition, possibly renewed dismemberment, would also form part of the sequel. Italy, therefore, could not afford to stand aside. On the other hand, here appeared to be the opportunity through the defeat of the Central Powers of realising both Italian aims. It was high statesmanship which saw this chance and judged it accurately.

Originally inspired from a quarter and from motives which may readily be guessed, there still lingers some impression that Italian claims to Istria and Dalmatia are imperialistic annexations. It is not the case. Up to the end of the eighteenth century these provinces belonged to the republic of Venice. They are an integral part of what may be called the Italian sytem. When Italy came into the war some pains were taken to collect from the archives at Turin, Rome and Paris, from the public records of Venice, and from the letters and despatches of statesmen the proofs that during the century or more of Austrian possession the inhabitants of both Istria and Dalmatia had never ceased to regard themselves as part of the mother country, though politically severed from it. They were never reconciled to Austrian rule. Indeed, as time went on, that rule, as the records attest, grew more oppresive. The rising power of Italy, ably directed on the lines already alluded to, naturally sharpened Austrian fears that some day these possessions might slip from the Hapsburg grasp. As the Central Powers were firmly set against such a contingency as the disappearance of Austrian control over the islands of the Adriatic and its best harbors implied embarrassment of German naval designs in the Baltic and the North Sea, and as the real independence of Italy would be a stumbling block to German ambitions, every manifestation of pro-Italian feeling, whether in Istria or in Dalmatia, encountered greater official severity. At all costs the clutch upon the Adriatic had to be maintained.

In this relationship public opinion has lagged somewhat behind events. Quite literally, in the crushing victory which destroyed the last forces of Austria, the Italians fought our battle as well as their own. From that time the war became for Germany hopeless even more at sea than on land. From that moment the influence of Germany alike in the Balkans and in Asia Minor tottered to its fall.

WHAT IS THE REASON?

SIR SAM HUGHES' attack upon Gen. Sir Arthur Currie and the Canadian generals under him has neither been borne out by facts nor endorsed by the rank and file of those divisions for whom he so theatrically wept at the thought of the needless sacrifice of lives inflicted on them through his alleged incompetency of their officers. In this connection the men are significantly silent, as also is Sir Sam since having made his charges in the House of Parliament.

War is a murdering business anyway, and results in an appalling loss of life, especially in these days of scientific application of death-provoking ways and means, and we non-combatants, thousands of miles distant from battle areas, might well be staggered at the recorded casualties. What seems huge to us may well appear comparatively small to those on the scene and actively engaged. And we, even before Sir Sam's attack, had been by British officers of extensive military knowledge and high repute, complimented on the success of Canadian operations, in which, it is claimed, our forces suffered less losses than most armies in France and Belgium.

Once the Americans got into the fight they acquitted themselves with similar credit as did British colonials, suffered equally as heavy casualties as did the Canadians, and fought till the last minute of the last hour, adding enormously to their death toll. But, thank goodness, there was no American "Sam Hughes" to arise and accentuate the grief of thousands of bereaved mothers by ecrating the thought that their loved ones had been needlessly and criminally sacrificed.

The reason for Sir Sam's attitude and accusations is veiled in speculation. He has not escaped censure and criticism himself, and many opinions are being advanced for his, up to now, unsubstantiated charges. The Toronto Star makes the not at all improbable suggestion that "as everybody is coming home soon it may be that Sir Sam wants to serve notice to all that if anybody starts anything hostile to himself everybody else will have to look out."

LET US BE IN IT, TOO.

SOME TIME ago The Review regretted that as Peterborough's units of citizen soldiers had been absorbed by the units of other centres, some sort of an effort should be made to extend a public welcome to them after they are all home. The boys are returning in twos and threes which renders it quite impossible to publicly greet them as they deserve. We suggested that some time in the future a day be devoted to our returned heroes, when there could be a parade and the public given opportunity to acclaim.

The Hamilton Herald falls in line with our view when it says: "When Hamilton sent men enough overseas to form several battalions, no Hamilton battalion went to France as a unit. It is therefore impossible to welcome home a distinctive Hamilton battalion, but when all the Hamilton soldiers are home there should be a grand parade and review in which all would take part."

Peterborough's returned soldiers, especially those who have done their bit in France, Flanders and Belgium, cannot help, on reading of the enthusiastic welcome received by Toronto units on returning to their home town, making comparisons. And our citizens themselves are no doubt regretting the lack of opportunity here for similar public rejoicing and demonstration of appreciation. Let us hope that this suggestion will be followed up and a parade day arranged for which will make our public acknowledgment of our boys' service in defence of home and empire a fitting one.

IS A BOOM COMING?

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER C. W. Kirkpatrick of Hamilton is quite optimistic of Canada's immediate future, and cheerily opines that this year will see considerable industrial expansion. He says many American firms are interesting themselves in Hamilton as a site for location.

It is sincerely to be hoped that Commissioner Kirkpatrick's optimism is justified, as we in Peterborough have no small measure of advantages to offer American or other industries looking for desirable locations in this land of promise of ours. While we have no industrial commissioner, Peterborough has a manufacturers' committee, which will undoubtedly lose no opportunity for advancing this electric city's claims to advantages in the way of power, transportation and so forth.

The present slump in industrial activities is no doubt due to international uncertainty pending an actual return to peace conditions. Once the world may be said to have settled down again to a normal state, capitalists and manufacturers will know just exactly their position in competition with the world and the demand for accelerated reconstruction which will necessarily follow.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

BUY WAR SAVINGS and Thrift Stamps and let it work.

• • • • •

A $200 GRANT to a band with the string to it that they play a night each week during the summer in the park does not allow of union wages for the men of that band. Perhaps the Labor aldermen did not think of this point.

• • • • •

AN INTELLECTUAL Japanese takes exception to America's preference for Japanese dogs to Japanese men. He complains that it is not consistent that Jap dogs by the thousands should be admitted to the best homes in America and men from Japan excluded.

• • • • •

IT IS DIFFICULT to understand Sir Adam Beck's reason for opposition to the proposed Canadian national railways scheme. As head of the Hydro-Electric system he surely approves of public ownership of national utilities, then why his attack on public ownership of railways?

• • • • •

THE HOUSTON POST thinks that beyond totally disarming Germany and keeping her that way, making her restitute, repair, rehabilitate, and congh until she is hanging over the ropes, to say nothing of cramping her in a disciplinary straight-jacket for two generations, the allies should be conciliatory and generous with Germany. It is hard to conceive of any more generosity than that extended by the British to the Germans the past fifty years. And how did they reward that generosity?—by treachery and the murder of the innocents.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

CADET DRILL.

(Hamilton Times.)

The women of Brantford are petitioning the school board to resume the cadet drill in connection with the schools. They may not want to see their boys trained ot be soldiers, but they want them to get the benefit of the physical exercise.

NO TIGHTWAD.

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)

Six billions in income taxes and six billions in Victory bonds for the year following the war! When it comes to cutting loose, by jinks, Uncle Sam is no tightwad!

A DANGEROUS GAME.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The League of Nations will not abolish war but make war more impossible, Mr. Taft is convinced. Reasonable people everywhere will hope that the former United States President is taking the correct view. War is a far more dangerous game for kings or people to play at today than ever before, and it will be well for the world if all leaders are made to recognize the fact.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Lee Pape.)

Last nite pop picked up the reseever to the telefone and slammed it down agen looking diskusted and saying, Wont that idiot ever stop tawking to that ass? Meening Milderd Jones next door tawking to her fello Herbitt on account of the Jones fone being on the same wire wich we wish it wasent on account of Milderd, and pop tried the reseever about 3 more times looking more diskusted each time, and I sed, I tell you wat, pop, wat if I go next door and ring the door bell. I saw Mrs. Jones go out so Milderd is proberly the ony one home and she will haff to anser it and that will give her a good chants to say good bye to Herbitt.

My son, thats one of the best ideers I never thawt of, sed pop. Meening he thawt it was all rite of a ideer, and I quick ran out and rang the Jones door bell and pritty soon Milderd came to the door, saying, Well, Benny?

Meening wat did I wunt, and I thawt, G, I dident think up enything to say. Wich I dident, and I stood there looking at her like sumbody without mutch sents, and she sed, Well, well? You rang the door bell, dident you?

No, I sed.

Well who did? sed Milderd Jones.

Some man, I sed.

Then wat are you doing here? she sed, and I sed, He told me to deliver the messidge.

Well go ahed and deliver it, for goodniss sakes, sed Milderd Jones. Meening the messidge, and I quick thawt a minnit, saying, He sed to tell you maybe he mite be back.

And I quick went back in our house on account of not wunting to anser eny more questions, and pop was jest going out, me saying, Did you fone alreddy, pop, did she tell him good by?

Fat chance, Im going erround to the drug store to fone, she told him to wait a minuit, sed pop.

And he went out looking more diskustd than the other four times put together.

Proving that jest because its a good ideer that dont say it will werk.

THE READING HABIT.

(By Walt Mason.)

I feel sorry for the wight who can't sit down with a book, and experience delight in his cosy inglenook; who can't wrestle with the bards, storing knowledge in his head, but must play a game of cards, or go yawning off to bed. Let me have a stack of pomes piled about me on the floor, tales, biographies and pomes, and my heart will crave no more. Then the weary world may wag any blamed way it may please, and the night hours will not drag, but will scoot like bumblebees. I don't care to talk a streak, or to argue politics, or to listen for a week to the silver throated hicks! I am tired of crokinole and of checkers and of chess; poker puts me in the hole, so does bridge whist more or less. All the games I know are bores and increase my load of woe, when the tempest howls outdoors, and there is no place to go. Bring me then a stack of books, while my neighbor yawns and nods, and the evening to me looks like a present from the gods.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Diamonds come highest when sold at cut rates.

You may know some men if you know some people they know.

Most men are more prompt about paying a grudge than a debt.

Self-esteem never lets up until it reaches the jumping off place.

No matter how bad a man is, his wife firmly believes in his good intentions.

A girl always pretends to be just a little bit afraid to be alone with a man.

A woman who is popular with other women is seldom a reigning favorite with men.

Many a man lives a cat-and-dog life. He purrs in the parlor and barks in the kitchen.

A man is seldom as black as he is painted or a woman as white as she is powdered.

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Ancient City of London Must Enlarge Its Borders For Fifth Time in History

IN its 2,000 years of history London has enlarged its borders four times. The first was in the time of King Alfred; the last time was in 1855, when the present boundaries of the area known since 1889 as the County of London were fixed.

In the eighteenth century Tyburn, then the place of execution, and now within a few yards of the Marble Arch, was two miles from London. In the forties of the last century, only a dozen years before the date of the last enlargement of London, Belgravia was covered with fields, forming part of a swamp that stretched as far as Fulham. A hunting pack "found" in the fields of Pimlico less than a hundred years ago.

The London of 1855, which is the London of to-day, is to be enlarged to the London over which the Metropolitan Police have control—the real metropolis. The London of 1920 will cover 692 square miles, nearly 700 times the size of the London of Queen Elizabeth.

For twenty years London reformers have been agitating for the extension of the boundaries of London, and for as many years the governing bodies outside the county but within the boundaries of Metropolitan Police London have resisted the proposal.

In all that time the movement of population outside London has been increasing, until to-day there are virtually as many people living outside the County of London but within the Metropolitan Police London as there are in the county itself.

Politics and sentiment, which have tied down the boundaries of London since 1855, have been swept out of consideration. Necessity counts to-day. London must take within herself the whole of the population lying between Richmond and Romford and Barnet and Purley, or give up the task of providing the ordinary amenities to which every aggregation of human beings is entitled.

The two parties on the London County Council have agreed to the necessity for an immediate enlargement of London to an area of nearly 700 square miles; the governing bodies outside are agreed that something of the sort must be done if public necessities are to be met, and Parliament should find in the next session an easy task in planning a new London.

In the municipal elections which are to take place this year the plan will be put before the electors. It is expected that London will be asked to give its decision next March, since that election is specifically mentioned in the postponement of Elections Act, and Parliament, which meets on the eve of the date when, according to law, the election must take place, is not likely to attempt to stop it at the eleventh hour.

In expectation of the London County Council election taking place arrangements are on the eve of completion by which party politics will be avoided and a coalition council formed to get through this scheme of enlargement, among other reforms urgently needed to do justice to the inhabitants living in the area covered by the metropolitan police.

Unless this is done, and very quickly, the pressing problems of housing, transit, power and subsidiary concerns cannot be solved. Central London is built over; practically the whole of London north of the Thames is covered. There must be clearances in the congested districts.

Areas for building houses exist only in the southeastern part of London, but before anything can be done in the way of house building the lines of communication (rail and road) must be greatly increased.

The housing problem, which is the most pressing, cannot be settled until the means of transit are made adequate.

The London population move to and from its work like no other population on earth. The transit problem cannot be settled by a hundred and one local authorities which have no power to do anything outside their own boundaries, but must be dealt with as a whole.

The town planning schemes of the outer districts must be co-ordained and devised to fit in with a complete system of transit, including tube, railways, tramways, steam and electric railways and bus services.

It is impossible to build houses for Londoners with any hope of meeting real needs until and unless the transit is there ready for the use of the new inhabitants.

The whole future of the new London, which will come into being soon, depends upon transit, and that in turn depends upon single control. It may be a traffic board — although London has had more than enough of boards, especially those which are not directly in touch with the electorate — but whatever may be its composition it must be armed with great spending powers and be left free even by Parliament to develop the new London on broad, comprehensive lines designed to make the Empire metropolis the easiest and best city in the world for the movement of population.

Everything that makes London a city of success depends upon the facilities for movement.

Getting Nearer.

Tryhard was not over-intelligent, but industrious. He was doing his best to master the mysteries of mathematics and was a member of the geometry class.

"Well, Mr. Tryhard," said the professor of mathematics to the struggling youth, "have you succeeded in proving the proposition which I set you?"

"I don't say that," answered his pupil. "Proved is rather a strong word, but I've rendered it highly probable!"

Age and a little brother tell on a girl.

The Sinn Fein Movement

SEUMAS MACMANUS, one of the founders of the Sinn Fein, has told the world, through the medium of the New York Times, how the trick was done. The main incident may be found recorded in one of George Birmingham's books in a much more amusing manner, but Mr. MacManus' account is valuable from the point of view of historic accuracy rather than for the entertaining style in which it is presented. It appears that the real father of the movement, or at least the man who brought the founders of it together, was none other than George Moore, the novelist. Mr. Moore had recently shaken the dust of England off his feet and had returned to his native land. Mr. MacManus thinks that Mr. Moore was disappointed because the population of Ireland was not down at the wharf to bid him welcome, and that this entirely natural sentiment suggested to him the extreme impropriety of Ireland giving any better welcome to a certain crowned head of England who was about to visit the country.

Mr. Moore conveyed his apprehensions to Maude Gonne, who was a sort of uncrowned Queen of Ireland herself in those days, and found that they were fully shared. Miss Gonne communicated with half a dozen friends, among whom was Mr. MacManus, and the result was a gathering which included Edward Martyn, Arthur Griffith, Henry Dixon, Ald. Tom Kelly, and George Russell, better known under his nom de plume, "A. E." Mr. Moore also arrived, but refused to surrender either hat or gloves, and did not sit down. He blessed the labors of the little company and withdrew. After the rage at his mannerisms had abated the proposed royal visit was discussed. The sentiment was unanimous that true Irishmen should not greet the King when he arrived, but there was even more enthusiasm when some bright mind pointed out the opportunity that the incident presented of putting John Redmond and his Nationalists in a hole. The members of the meeting hated Redmond worse than they hated any Englishman; they believed that he and the Nationalist leaders were merely betraying the true national aspirations of Ireland.

A few days later Redmond and his Parliamentary followers were to hold a meeting in Dublin, the forerunner of other meetings throughout Ireland for the purpose of raising funds for the party. Miss Gonne and her half dozen followers had obtained tickets for the great gathering and attended in a body. At a given signal they walked out of the hall, but returned and re-entered by a rear door, which admitted them to the stage. Mr. Redmond was speaking and the great audience was thoroughly enjoying itself when a commotion in the rear caused the orator to look round. There, walking through the scores of Nationalist members and other party leaders who were seated on the platform, advanced upon him the majestic figure of Maude Gonne and four hulking men. Mr. Redmond had for Maude Gonne the same kindly sentiments that a terrier entertains for a cat, but he waved her toward his own chair, and turned to continue his address.

Miss Gonne, however, refused the seat, saying that she had come to transact a little business. Mr. Redmond, trying to still the furious clamor of his supporters in front who wanted the intruders to be thrown down to them, asked Miss Gonne to defer her questions until the close of the exercises. This she refused to do, and demanded if Mr. Redmond would advise his followers to receive or to ignore the King of England on his forthcoming visit. Mr. Redmond pounded the table and expressed his unalterable determination to answer no question put to him in such circumstances. The group closed about him insisting that he give an answer. Then bedlam broke loose, and the annual meeting of the Irish Parliamentary Party ended in a riot. It was the first time, probably, that a meeting of John Redmond's in Ireland had been disturbed, much less broken up. Incidentally it is believed that some of the disturbers were also broken up to some extent.

A week later Miss Gonne and her followers, minus Moore and Russell, met and organised the Sinn Fein, the program of which was drawn up by Arthur Griffith, who is said to be the brains of the movement. It has been going from bad to worse ever since, as all the world knows. The royal visit was held in due course, and to the bitter indignation of the Sinn Feiners the Roman Catholic College of Maynooth received the King, who was welcomed by the bishops. This, according to Mr. MacManus, caused George Moore to withdraw his patronage from the Roman Catholic Church and become an Episcopalian. In this connection, Mr. MacManus says that Mr. Moore announced his intention in a letter to the Protestant Archbishop of Dublin, who not happening to know Mr. Moore from Mr. Smith, expressed gratification at his decision and told him to apply to the rector of his parish. This Mr. Moore, somewhat taken back, did, but the rector was also in ignorance of his fame, and told him to write to his curate, who would receive him. The hardworked curate received the letter and informed Mr. Moore that if he would appear at a certain place on a certain day he would be properly received. He also told him to apply at the office of the Evangelical Society, where he could get a pair of blankets, and also a daily handout of soup. We believe that today Mr. Moore is a staunch Episcopalian.

Poor Buddy!

Carroll had two pet rabbits of which he was fond, so when one of them was killed by a neighbor's dog he felt bad indeed. Not long after this the other bunny acted droopy and sick. When Carroll noticed that the rabbit was not as usual, he went to his mother and said, "I think the bunny has sadded itself sick."

For Employers' Consideration.

Men can have no hope in their work while they live purely from hand to mouth, and you cannot spread habits of intelligence among the laboring class if their means are too poor or their leisure too short to enable them to participate in the culture that is going on around them.—Exchange.

So Mote It Be.

Sayeth the Apostle of Horsesense of Potato Hill, Kan., in his latest exposition: "I, too, believe in human brotherhood; but a good many of the brothers must be policemen, and do their duty without fear or favor."—Rocky Mountain News.

Putty Substitute.

A cheap and effective substitute for putty, to stop the cracks in floors and woodwork, may be obtained by soaking newspapers in a paste made of a pound of flour in three quarts of water and adding a teaspoonful of alum.

Alternative.

Wife—"Richard, are we going to the Blank's dance or not? If we are, it's time for me to dress. If not, I must put a mustard plaster on my chest and go straight to bed."

ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Women suffer more than men from far-sight. This is probably due to their spending so much time indoors in work requiring near vision. Neglected this will cause untold agony, nervousness and at times a total breakdown. Every woman should have her eyes examined to see whether or not she needs glasses.

By the use of temporary glasses young people often avoid the use of permanent glasses in later years.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

EMPIRE THEATRE Monday and Tuesday

CATHERINE CALVERT with HERBERT RAWLINSON in Out of the Night
By E. LLOYD SHELDON

LEAH BAIRD in the Great German Spy Serial
Wolves of Kultur Chapter 13. 2 Parts THE HUN'S HELL TRAP

ALSO A FINE COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day
BESSIE BARRISCALE in MADAME WHO
The Escape Thru The Flames
From 10th Episode of THE LION'S CLAWS Serial
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SKETCH BY WEST THE CHIEF COOK
Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

HATS THAT START SPRING FASHIONS

Headgear Styles Made Up of Fads of Long Ago.

BOBBED HAIR FOR ALL AGES

Florentine Coiffure Is No Longer a Caprice of the Extremists—Milliners Decide They Must Meet the New Demand.

New York.—Yankee Doodle, who stuck a feather in his cap and called it "macaroni," thereby creating a slang word for a gayly dressed man which has gone over two continents and lived in history, could not have felt prouder than the French king who put a piece of straw over his head to keep away the rain, and created hats. Both the feather and the straw were trivial incidents in the life of each of these characters (for the satire on Yankee Doodle was rhymed around a man), but they were the foundation stones of millinery.

Women have always pilfered from men their tricks of apparel, asserts a fashion writer. They are snug little thieves, women, when it comes to petty pilfering from those who consider themselves superior beings. After all, it is a form of coquetry, and women discovered centuries ago that nothing so pleased a man as to do what he did, say what he said, and hold on to his hand socially, financially, politically and mentally. A woman might hate another woman for stealing her fashions, but a man would only look with more prideful adoration upon a woman who fashioned her clothes after his.

Nothing so delighted the French kings, the great and haughty Bourbons, as the fact that their women did what they did in clothes. They gave them their magnificent brocaded coats with the full skirts, the knee-length waistcoats, the precious lace ruffles and the silver and diamond buttons as a guide to their apparel. They allowed them to borrow their coiffeurs in order to have their hair perfumed, powdered and curled. They saw themselves reflected, as in mirrors, by the groups of women surrounding them.

The milliners have not permitted themselves to be limited by any one period of history. They have dipped with eager, curious hands into all the ashes and embers of the planet's past and produced for the modern woman a jumble of things that were once worn by her predecessors.

It makes for the gayety of a crowd, this looking [illegible] from Babylon to the French trenches.

There is nothing dull in millinery today. If one could get together all the hats worn on the American continent, classify them, and divide them into chapters, one would be presented with a sartorial history of the world.

Novelties in Dyed Suede.

Here and there one sees a new material attached to an old shape. Such is the case when dyed suede is used for an oblong turban, with its surface perforated in an edelweiss design taken from the Swiss Alps and copied from the patterns [illegible] islands. Right here you have a jumble of people and nationalities all in one tiny cap tilted over the left eyebrow of a girl. These suede caps are dyed bright pink, horizon blue and pottery red. Their sole ornamentation is the perforation.

Someone has insisted that the revival of perforated designs on all our clothes came through the use of paper napkins in the war. Good thought, but hardly true. Whatever the source, the fashion is here. The milliners may have originated it, but the dressmakers borrowed it over night, for the midseason frocks of white broadcloth and velvet, or beige-colored gabardine and black taffeta, are perforated along their edges in set designs.

It is too late to talk of the Alsatian bow, for it was obvious that the milliners would revive it; but a certain woman of distinction started a fashion for it that the milliners quickly looked upon with envy.

She came to lunch in a restaurant wearing the genuine Alsatian bow, black and immense, placed across the middle of her head, with a mere apology of a little cloth cap in front of it. It stood upward and outward, and her hair was coiled high behind it. This was the real thing, and her daring made her the target of all eyes. It may be that the Alsatian bow in this form will be introduced for the evening. Let us hope that it will never appear at the theater. At the present rate of prices and the scarcity of seats, the addition of a hundred or so Alsatian bows in the audience would be the straw on the camel's back.

Charlotte Corday Cap.

The Charlotte Corday cap, minus its bow, has been introduced for the South and is taken up by the North. It is made of brilliant, dark tulle, always double, but entirely transparent. The best one is in copper tulle. Its high crown trimmed at the base with a twist of tulle and one of those rococo red roses with gold outer petals and leaves which have been brought into fashion by a well-known designer of individual evening gowns.

The transparent hat is beyond question one of the smart fashions of the hour. It means that the coiffure must come back into orderliness and loveliness. The crowns of these hats are often high and gently manipulated by the fingers to give grace, and one of the best French hats takes the crown of the American doughboy hat as its model.

As brown rules in veiling, so it seems to rule in these tulle hats. It is often in the color that the French call "marron," that chestnut brown which is soft and becoming. Over there smart women wear stockings of it with black slippers, even in evening dress, and they like it in all the accessories. Over here we are just beginning to grasp its importance. The milliners believe that in copper and chestnut, the brown hat will rule the spring season.

Hats and Bobbed Hair.

The Florentine coiffure is no longer a caprice of the extremists; it is no longer a sensational bit of bravado. The war has instated it as a strong fashion. Women with gray hair wear it bobbed to the nape of the neck or curled under to appear as though it were cut. Girls with every shade of hair wear it. Matrons with half-grown children adopt it. So the milliners, after a frantic wringing of the hands, have decided that they must meet this new demand. There must be a large and creative impulse for hats that will go with this Florentine coiffure. The broad, flat hat of Naples has been brought out and is adopted by one young matron whose face figures in half the [illegible] of the day, and her side companion, who also wears the ancient Italian hair cut, adopts the Florentine velvet hat with its trimming of two rows of coral beads.

It must be admitted that the women themselves have seen to it that they look well in any type of hat with this bobbed hair, whether it be turban or flat brim. They cannot, of course, wear hats of exceeding dignity, but they try a certain type of distinguished hat which is considered the leading thing by the milliners; and they carry it off with great skill. This is the immense black-thread lace hat, transparent, with its broad Alsatian bow wired across the front. This is the hat that will supersede, for the spring, the upturned, many pointed, theatrical hat of silk plush and velvet, with its aigrettes.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Vain Pursuit.

"So Niblitz is dead?" "Yes." "Did he leave any property?" "Nothing to speak of. Niblitz was the kind of man who had an idea that fortune was always just around the corner." "But he never succeeded in overtaking her?" "No. He has either mistaken the location of the corner or he lingered in the middle of the block until fortune moved on to some other corner."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Animals in Hedges.

Those quaint box hedges, which one sometimes sees nowadays in the British isles, cut out on the top into curious little shapes of birds and animals, are of exceedingly ancient lineage. Pliny the Younger, in describing the garden of one of his villas, mentions "animals in box, facing each other," and this was, perhaps, in about the year 100 A. D.

Home of Interest.

Ping—"Does the comedian strike you as funny?" Pong—"Nary a bit. He struck me for a ten yesterday and I couldn't see the joke."

Uncle Eben.

"Many a man," said Uncle Eben, "turns over a new leaf an' den puts de same ol' writin' on it."

Daily Thought.

So far as anyone shuns evil, so far he does good.—Swedenborg.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Good Advice.

If you're a [illegible] you will be more concerned about [illegible] than to the world than you will be about what the world thinks about it. It's the fellow who can forget what the world may think, in the desire to give the world the best, who really deserves praise. Forget the unkind words and dismiss the slighting acts of people about you. Censor all that you hear for the good that's in it and profit by the result. You will be far more comfortable and the world will hear from you.

Memorial to Fallen Horses.

In Japan is a tall stone monument erected as a memorial to the horses killed in the Russian-Japanese war. It stands in the public park of the town of Sano in the Tochigi prefecture. A photograph of the townsfolk gathered about it shows the headman of the district attired in a Prince Albert coat. General Viscount Oshima, one of the heroes of the war, wrote the principal inscription, from which it appears that 1,200 horses from the county and vicinity are so remembered.

Real Heart of Paris.

The Place de la Concorde is almost more the heart of Paris than the Place de l'Opera. In it the famous Rue de Rivoli ends and the Champs Elysees begins. It is the true termination of the Grandes Boulevardes, for Parisians consider the Rue Royale as part of that celebrated chain of wide cafe-lined streets. It is one of the most important and by far the most beautiful of the many "places" from which the main streets of Paris radiate.

Albatross Wonderful Flyer.

The albatross spends its life, with the exception of a few weeks given each year to nesting, entirely at sea, and is on the wing practically all the time. Furthermore, it does not progress by flapping its wings, as most birds do, but seems to float at will, rarely, if ever, giving a stroke of the wing, seeming to need no impetus. At nesting time, which is early in the year, the albatross repairs to an isolated island, such as one of the Crozet islands, in the southern Indian ocean, or Tristan da Cunha, in the South Atlantic ocean.

Be it [illegible]

The [illegible] in hope [illegible] of unspent [illegible] con[illegible] concentrate[illegible] Anguish [illegible] of a down[illegible] over the world [illegible] Such is [illegible]—Milwaukee Journal.

When You Are Chilled.

Chilled hands or [illegible] should not be put near the fire or in hot water, as this causes the blood vessels to dilate too rapidly and chilblains result. The chilled members may be put in tepid water and [illegible] water added from time to time, but the best plan is to warm by exercise and by rubbing.

Venetian Gondolas.

It was not until the end of the seventeenth century that the Venetian gondola assumed its present simplicity and sombreness of color. A vain attempt has been made to introduce it in other countries, but it has apparently resisted all efforts at acclimatization.

The Legal Way.

"What's the matter with that lawyer?" "Huh?" "Why does he keep yawping about the learned judge?" "That's the only way you can take a slam at a judge."

Politeness Pays.

A mathematician has figured out that the telephone company loses 125 hours of work every day through the use of the word "please" by operators, and yet it pays.

Famous Castle of Durnstein.

The ragged towers of the castle of Durnstein, in which Richard of England was imprisoned, still rise by the Danube, and there is a Napoleonic legend that, as the French emperor rode by in his Wagram campaign, he pointed to them with horror as a reminder of a barbarous incident. Seemingly his revery was untroubled by any prevision of the far harder fate in store for him.

Holly Used as Symbol.

It was usual at Roman weddings to present the bride with a wreath of holly, significant of the warmest congratulations. In India and Persia the followers of Zoroaster, the founder of fire worship, soak pieces of holly bark in water and throw the infusion in the faces of newly born babies, believing this will insure them prosperity and safety in this world.

Opportunity at Funeral.

Shortly after the new family moved into the house across the street the old grandfather took ill and died. When my little son heard of his death he said he was going to the "fooneral." "Why, Bobbie, you don't even know them," I said. "I know, mother," was his reply, "but I think the fooneral would be a good place to get 'quainted."—Chicago Tribune.

Good in Strawberry Wine.

Regarded medicinally, strawberry wine is held to be superior to grape wine. Spanish doctors who have investigated the matter report that strawberry wine gives the greater strength to a weakened constitution. The strawberry wine industry is said to be assuming some importance in Spain.

Seagulls Foretell Weather.

It is a widespread belief both in Scotland and in Ulster, that "Seagull, seagull, sit on the sand. It's never good weather while you're on the land," alludes to the fact that when the birds fly out early and far to seaward, or remain on the sand, fair weather may be looked for; while if they take a contrary course storms most frequently follow.

Saw Her Limitations.

Edward's highest ambition was to some day be an engineer. He delighted in the workings of his electrical engines, and one day he undertook to explain the various parts to Janet. She listened indifferently and finally he became exasperated and said: "Oh, well, go on and play. I don't suppose you will ever be anything more than a mother, anyway."

The Canadian West In "Movies"

(1) An Alberta Wheat Field.
(2) Movie Men Near Banff Springs Hotel.
(3) An Irrigation Stream.

At the present time there are being shown in various parts of the United States some pictures of actual scenes of various phases of farm life in Alberta, one of the prairie provinces of Canada. They show this country in a very different light from what many had been led to believe it to be. The films, which have been produced under the direction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Department of Colonization and Development, deal with irrigation farming, the dairy industry, and the lighter side of the farmer's life in Western Canada.

The film dealing with irrigation farming shows the land being prepared for irrigation, the application of water, growing crops of grain and alfalfa, harvesting, and livestock on the irrigated farm. It also shows the irrigation works, including the great Bassano Dam, the largest of its kind in the world. The idea one gathers of these structures from the picture is that they were built to last, and that those who provided the money had great confidence in the country and the undertaking.

The dairy film shows the rapid progress this industry has made in Alberta during the last few years, and some of the reasons for this progress. Every operation is given life; milking the cows on the farm, delivering the cream to the creamery, grading the cream, making the butter, packing it, and shipping it to the markets in Europe or on the Pacific Coast. The government grading station where the butter is tested and given the grades under which it is sold show that this new country is not taking second place to any other in the methods employed in promoting its dairy industry. In sterilizing, bottling, and delivery of milk to the city residents everything is also up-to-date.

But that it is not all work over there and that the farmer and his family have many diversions is shown in a picture dealing with what may be called the lighter side of life on the farm in Western Canada. A farmer and his family are pictured in their comfortable home, the children have been to school, the mother has finished her household tasks, has fed the chickens and milked the cow, the father has returned from his work in the field. They are planning to go to the summer fair at Calgary. They decide to go. They are shown at the fair mingling with the crowd, enjoying themselves on the roundabouts, in the shows, and watching the automobile races and [illegible] cattle, sheep and hogs on view at the exhibition are also pictured. Altogether the party spends a very enjoyable day.

Later in the season, they go for a holiday. They have not far to go. They find in the same province holiday resorts that afford an excellent change. They go to one of these places on the shores of a large inland lake. Here they enjoy themselves bathing, boating, fishing and basking in the sunshine on the sands. Afterwards they visit Banff in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, and in connection with their visit, some magnificent mountain scenery is thrown on the screen. Evidently the life of the farmer in Western Canada is not all work and no play.

WRIGLEYS
All three brands sealed in air-tight packages. Easy to find—it is on sale everywhere.
Look for, ask for, be sure to get
WRIGLEYS
The Greatest Name in Goody-Land
WRIGLEYS SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM
MINT LEAF FLAVOUR
SEALED TIGHT
WRIGLEYS DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM
KEPT RIGHT
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM
THE FLAVOUR LASTS
48
MADE IN CANADA
The Flavour Lasts

A NEW IRISH PARTY.

"Home Rule Within the Empire" Is Their Policy.

Although it is, as yet, too early to attempt any forecast concerning the prospects of the new Centre Party in Ireland, there is no doubt that the prime movers in the scheme can lay claim to the confidence of both sides. Sir Horace Plunkett is himself the very personification of the via media. The fairness and resource with which he filled the supremely difficult office of chairman of the Irish Convention, eighteen months ago, won cordial recognition from all parties. No Ulsterman felt any reason to doubt his regard for Ulster or his sympathy with her position, and there was no man from the South or West who did not feel that he had in Sir Horace a tried friend. Then Capt. Stephen Gwynn, the chairman of the new party, whilst he sat in the last Parliament as a Nationalist, and was widely known for his ardent advocacy of Home Rule, has, by his signal services at the front, given proof enough of his loyalty to the Empire and the cause of the Allies to satisfy even the most exacting Ulsterman. As to Gen. Sir Hubert Gough, five years ago Ulster would have claimed him unreservedly as her own. It was Sir Hubert Gough who, on that memorable day in March, 1914, when informed by Sir Arthur Paget, commander-in-chief in Ireland, that his brigade might be required for active service in the northern province, sent in his resignation rather than risk being obliged to take part in the "coercion of Ulster."

In those days Sir Hubert Gough had very strong and imperative views; but, between March, 1914, and February, 1919, lies the war, and Sir Hubert has come back from the war, where he saw Irishmen of all creeds and political views fighting side by side in the trenches, with that broader outlook which so many men and women have gained in France and on other battle fronts. To-day Sir Hubert is a convinced supporter of Home Rule, as he understands it, and it is refreshing to find how well he does understand it. There is nothing vague about his views, as he unfolded them, recently. Ireland, he insists, needs self-government to steady herself. Irishmen abroad have shown themselves eminently capable in the art of government, and, once admitted to the management of their own affairs in Ireland, they will know how to deal with extremists. Extremism will disappear, he declares, because it cannot survive the practical tests. Ulster, however, cannot be, and must not be coerced. Sir Hubert is quite as definite on this point as he was in 1914, and so he urges for Ireland "self-government, within the Empire, on federal lines, subject to the Imperial Parliament in certain matters concerning the whole Empire, and permitting local provincial self-government within her own borders." This plan would, he considers, meet the objections of Ulster, and would avoid the evils of partition. With partition, indeed, as a solution of the question, Sir Hubert Gough will have nothing to do. Partition, he declares, would result in an impenetrable wall being built between Ulster and the rest of Ireland, a result the very opposite of that aimed at by the Centre Party.

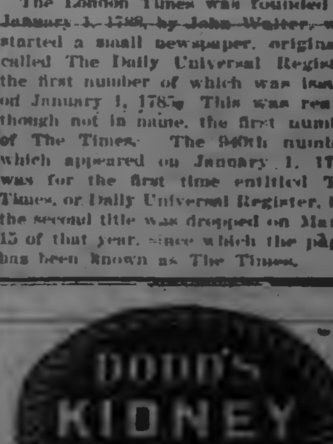
Now as to the arguments for or against Sir Hubert Gough's views, they may be for the moment disregarded. They are sufficiently well known. Indeed, it is difficult to imagine that there remains, at this date, any argument for or against Home Rule for rleland which has not been adduced. What renders Sir Hubert Gough's views and the whole intent of the Centre Party tremendously important, at the present juncture, is that the desire for compromise which they represent is clearly the only line along which solution is in any way possible. There is no solution in the wildly positive attitude of Sinn Fein, just as there is no solution in the doggedly negative attitude of Ulster. There is, however, always hope in the spirit of compromise, and it is the spirit of compromise that pervades the policy of the Centre Party. As Capt. Stephen Gwynn, its chairman, put it, recently, the new party desires a conference of Irishmen as soon as possible, a new Irish convention. For the Centre Party recognizes two facts clearly enough; first, that the Irish question can only be settled as the result of compromise, and, second, that the Irish question is an Irish question, and must be settled by Irishmen.

Shakespeare Stands Alone.

Admitting to the fullest that the present age cannot forestall the judgment of posterity, it seems unlikely that a copy of the work of any contemporary dramatist will ever sell for $28,000. Such a thing happened recently in the case of four Shakespeare folios; but Shakespeare was Shakespeare, even when his contemporaries took him as a matter of course, and since then the judgment of time has made him a standard by which the enduring genius of later playwrights can be reasonably estimated.

The London Times.

The London Times was founded on January 1, 1785, by John Walter, who started a small newspaper, originally called The Daily Universal Register, the first number of which was issued on January 1, 1785. This was really, though not in name, the first number of The Times. The 940th number, which appeared on January 1, 1788, was for the first time entitled The Times, or Daily Universal Register, but the second title was dropped on March 15 of that year, since which the paper has been known as The Times.



STORIES OF ZEPPELIN RAIDS OVER ENGLAND

Huns Attacked Again and Again With Added Zest—119 Bombs Dropped in One Night in Metropolitan Police Square.

(By an Aeronautical Expert in The Hamilton Herald.)

With facts collected like fragments of this bombs in all parts of the country, it is possible now to piece together some of the little known stories of the early Zepplin raiders.

The majority of the raids on Northern England were carried out by Kapitan-Leutnant Heinrich Mathy, the most brilliant Zeppelin commander, who, after many subsequent raids, was shot down in flames in L-31 by Lieut. W. Tempest, R.F.C., at Potter's Bar on the night of October 1-2, 1916. In the first northern raid on April 14, 1915, Mathy crossed the North sea to the Scottish coast, and then came southwards to the Tyne. He dropped a 110 lb. bomb within 20 feet of two policemen, who escaped by lying down.

Gunners say Mathy used parachute flares in an endeavor to "blind" the searchlights and guns. He appears to have adopted these tactics on the night of September 25-26, 1916, when he made his remarkable trip over Portsmouth Dockyard. It is believed that on this occasion the electrical bomb-released gear refused to act, as his cargo was not dropped until he was in open country on the way home.

Early on the morning of May 10, 1915, an airship, believed to have been a military one, with a load of 90 incendiary bombs, attacked a prisoner-of-war hulk moored at an east coast resort. The vessel was not hit, but, when over the town, one of the crew dropped the following message:

> "You English. We have come and will come again soon. Kill or cure. German."

The raider struggled home "with a twisted tail," as one gunner put it. A week later an hotel in Ransgate was damaged to the extent of £1600.

An airship, stated to be Z-38, made the first attack on London in the light of a full moon on May 31, 1915, unloading 119 bombs within the Metropolitan police area. The explosive bombs were all small, man-killing grenades, weighing 51 lbs. each. Three incendiary bombs, each weighing 25 lbs. fell on the Shoreditch Empire theatre. The manager averted a panic by a prompt speech from the stage. A second later an explosive bomb fell outside.

Mathy appeared over the northeast coast again on the night of June 6-7, 1915. On this occasion his visit caused a riot in Hull, and all the German shops were wrecked by infuriated residents. Flying extraordinarily high and fast, a raiding airship on the night of June 15-16 caught a number of northern factories.

In August, 1915, guns were added in large numbers to the London defences, and the Huns attacked with added zest. On August 9-10 the latest airship was hive over Dover by gunfire, but escaped by landing in Belgium. Her commander is said to have survived to bomb an open English town, Hertford, on October 13, 1915, and September 2, 1916

Another naval commander, who subsequently was struck by lightning, invented "blast-furnaces" to justify his bombing of defenceless Woodbridge on August 12-13, but on August 17-18 either he or Mathy found London to some purpose. Military airships only once reached London on the night of September 8-9, but the following night Mathy, in a new ship, came over the metropolis too high for the defences. He dropped 70 bombs, killing 20, wounding 91, causing damage to property estimated at over £530,000.

He hit the National Penny Bank, and photographs with the words "ban" plainly visible were afterwards published in Germany as "proof" that the bank of England had been destroyed. Another bomb caused over £200,000 damage of a woollen warehouse in Wood street, E. C. One motor-omnibus was destroyed near Liverpool street station, and another, in which nine people, including the driver, where killed and 10 injured, in Northern Folgate.

The facts of the case from a striking contrast is the swashbuckling interview published in America in which Mathy hinted that he was so low he had difficulty to avoiding collision with the dome of St. Paul's Trained observers say he was at 8500 feet. It is clear, however, that throughout the raid Mathy knew his exact position and his object was to et things alight. He dropped the first 700 pound bomb on London

In North London a scraped bambone attached to a parachute was thrown overboard. On one side it bore a drawing of "Edward Grey" in a high clerical collar about to receive on the crown of his head a large bomb from a painted Zeppelin. An inscription runs; "What shall the poor devil, do?" and on the reverse side: "A memento from starved-out Germany."

On the night of October 13-14, 1915, the heart of London was attacked by several ships, only one getting through. Two ships nearly collided over Bromley, and from German reports it appears that Mathy was to blame. The raider breaking through got to work at about 9000 feet over the Strand and one bomb killed 17 people and wounded 21 outside the Lyceum theatre. Nineteen civilian casualties were caused outside the Strand theatre, and a salvo of bombs in the district of the law courts did much damage.

Another airship obviously "funked" the trip to London and bombed an inoffensive town before returning to lodge a bombastic report of an attack on the metropolis, the essential details of which he obtained by haupt working amid the searchlights and shells. The airships in the raid dropped 189 bombs, killing 71 and wounding 128. In Germany men say they repaired rents in the balloonettes when in the air and several balloonettes could be shot throughout without losing much weight.

The great raid over the Midlands on January 31-February 1, 1916, was carried out by nine airships commanded by the ablest German airship "stars." Six ships travelled more than 100 miles inland, and one 180 miles; Burton-on-Trent was bombed at leisure by three ships, betweent 8.45 p.m. and 9.45 p.m. Altogether 39 bombs were dropped on the town, causing 85 casualties.

During the raid 366 high explosive and incendiary and 3 illuminating bombs were dropped, inflicting casualties on 182 civilians. Not one shilling's worth of military damage was caused. Two guns only were in action against the raiders, one of which fired a single round.

The raid of March 5-6, 1916, is known as the "reprisal" raid, following the loss of L-19 in the North sea, and resulted in the methodical and callous bombardment of undefended Hull. With his target showing up black in the snowy landscape, the commander came down so low that his victims could watch the opening of the trap-door through which the bombs were released. An hour later another ship came and hovered for some time over the city. An old seaman was burned to death in the Mariners' almshouses.

On this occasion an airship made a wonderful trip from near Spurn Head, and passed at 9.15 p.m. over the eastern counties to Deal, which was passed at about 2.30 o'clock the following morning. The commander steered through several snowstorms and lighted his way by throwing out illuminating bombs which lit the countryside for miles around. Mathy did not visit Hull, which received 41 bombs, killing 17 and injuring 50.

An attempt to raise the wind in Scotland was made on April 2, 1916, when two airships attacked Edinburgh. An old woman in Leith calmly got out of bed and, pouring water through the hole in the floor made by an incendiary bomb, extinguished the fire in the room beneath. A whisky warehouse suffered to the extent of £44,000, and the Castle rock was hit.

The attack by eight airships on April 24-25 is considered to have had some connection with the political crisis in Ireland. One ship, when over Kimberley, dropped a bundle of German illustrated papers attached to a parachute and a few minutes later killed the racehorse Coup-de-Main. The "clouds of smoke" which airships threw off when attacked are now known to have been nothing more than water ballast, which turned into snow on contact with the cold air, and not poison gas, as many people believed.

It was during the raid of November 27-28 that L-34 was destroyed off the Durham coast by Lieut. I. V. Pyott, R.F.C. Flying a B.E.2 C. aeroplane, he passed underneath the airship at nearly 10,000 feet, and then attacker and attacked flew side by side for five miles at over 60 miles an hour. After being continuously fired on the airship burst into flames, and although the pilot of the aeroplane swerved 300 yards away his face was scorched.

A sister ship was destroyed over the North sea the same night after a terrific battle with three B.E.2 C aeroplanes piloted by Flight-Lieut. Cadbury and Flight Sub-Lieuts. Fane and Pulling, R.N.A.S. Lieut. Cadbury attacked first at 8000 feet, and fired four drums into the airship without effect. Lieut. Fane then closed to 100 feet, but his gun jammed. Lieut. Pulling, regardless of a hot fire from the Zeppelin's machine guns, drove in almost to touching distance, and after a few rounds the airship caught fire.

Even when falling in flames the crew of the Zeppelin continued to fire after Lieut. Pulling as he dived to avoid the falling debris. This raider crossed the Yorkshire coast at 9.20 p.m., passed over the Potteries at 1.20 a.m., and was destroyed off Yarmouth at 6.42 on the morning of November 28.

AIR SMUGGLING.

Two Aviators Debate Its Possibilities In the Future.

We were talking in the mess about the future in the air — a common topic nowadays.

"I," said a young lieutenant, "am going to be a smuggler. That will be a paying game."

"And I," said a captain, "shall be an aerial policeman. It will be very nice to catch you at it, and see you sent to jail for a few years."

"I shall have plenty of time to make my fortune before you catch me," remarked the lieutenant with some asperity.

"I should fly on dark nights at ten thousand feet or so. I should carry no lights. My 'pals' would be waiting for me in a large field, where they would show a certain arrangement of lights.

"I glide down to two thousand feet and flash my signal lights. The people on the ground answer. My goods are arranged on something like bomb-racks under the machine, with parachute attachments; so I fly low, pull a lever, and off they drop and float down into the field, whence they are taken away with great rapidity. Then I buzz off and become a respectable citizen once mere—until the next time.

"That's the scheme, roughly. You'd have to be pretty sharp to see me doing things like that in the dark."

"There is one thing at least which you have overlooked," replied the captain. "It is certain that all machines flying at night will be required to carry plenty of lights and a large illuminated number. If you are heard flying about without lights you will soon have dozens of searchlights on you. You won't be 'Archied'—that would be dangerous to other machines and to people on the ground.

"But I, who would be in the air looking for bold buccaneers or anything else Hunnish, seeing you challenged, would, proceed to investigate. Finding you without lights or a number, I should signal you a command to land on the nearest airdrome, where you would be arrested, and I should have the mortification of seeing my old comrade-in-arms sent to jail."

"But suppose I don't obey your policemanship's command to land?"

"Then I shall have much pleasure in proceeding to shoot you down. There won't be many opportunities of shooting anything down in the piping times of peace," said the captain, with a shade of regret in his voice.

Then he continued: "And if you tried it with your lights on—well, I don't think I'm too blind to notice a machine flying off the usual routes, signalling to the ground, and generally behaving suspiciously. No, if there is a good aerial police force, I don't think there will be much smuggling."

"Well," said the lieutenant, "if I am to be shot down, I hope it won't be by a bally policeman."

"I hope that we shall be called the Aerial Vigilance Corps, or something like that," replied the captain.—London Daily News.

Differing Mexican Coasts.

It cannot be reiterated too often that Mexico is a vast country.

Mexico extends in length over two thousand miles, or as long as from Iceland to Africa. It measures a thousand miles across the widest area. It is vast; it contains every climate from tropical to northern; it has huge mountains, some of the grandest volcanoes in the world; and some of the largest rivers are to be found in the south, although water is lacking in the north. The north is flat and hideous, the south beautiful and mountainous. Mexico produces every class of ore and every form of agriculture and some of the most picturesque and beautiful old Spanish towns in the world remain from the days when they were built by Cortes in 1519.

One cannot help being struck with the contrast between the two coasts. On the Pacific shore everything is dry; on the Gulf (Atlantic) everything is wet. A depth of eight or ten feet of soil is common.

A Destructive Ant.

The destruction wrought on all but the hardest wood by the white ant, or termite, is not surprising when a few facts are known of its prolific character. A nest, some six feet in height, was found in the tropics, and about one foot below the level of the ground was a conical mound of hard earth. Inside this dwelt the queen-mother. After careful observation she was found to lay 9,120 eggs in an hour. On account of her great size she was unable to leave her cell, her only function being to lay eggs.

11 First Run Reels ROYAL 16c. ..TO.. ALL

SPECIAL---WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

R. A. WALSH'S Drama

THE PRUSSIAN CUR

Revelations by Capt. Horst Vonder Eoltz, Self-confessed German Spy - - - 8 PARTS

A FOX FEATURE COMEDY.

CHOOSE YOUR EXIT, 2 Parts

MUTT AND JEFF

COMEDY 1 PART

To-night's Program is one of the Best we have had. The feature, The Prussian Cur, is an exceptional Picture and you should not fail to see it. Appeared Last Week at Loew's Theatre, at big Prices

ITALIAN HYDRO-ELEC. PREPARING FOR PEACE

After-War Commission Submits Conclusions on Many Industrial Questions, Including Electric Traction.

Rome, March 24.—ection 15 of the after-the-war commission,, of which Senator Righi is chairman, is studying the utilization of hydraulic power. It has finished its work so far as it concerns the more urgent demands of the immediate future. It has formulated its conclusions on numerous questions, the following being among them:

1. That for hydro electric service of vital importance all persons with technical training should be released from the army as rapidly as possible in order to resume their peace time occupations, for which they are indispensable.

2. That facilities and precedence be given in the transportation of supplies in cases of proved urgency.

3. That every facility be provided to supply the industry with materials, especially the metals it needs, and of which the state has a large quantity at its disposal.

4. That premiums be awarded for the rapid initiation and completion of new plants, as well as for those who shorten the time needed to complete those under construction.

5. That relief be given from the temporary burden of the consumption tax on electricity, and that the rate be fixed by the State.

6. That a definite sum be appropriated yearly for a number of years to meet the expense of rapidly electrifying railroads in Italy.

Asked about the policy of the commission, Senator Righi answered that the industrial wealth of Italy in the future wil depend in the first place on the use made of the waters of the mountains, and an effort will be made to promote the erection of new power plants as speedily as possible and complete those now building.

To the remark that clauses have been rejected by the state railways which would make a stiff fight to prevent the granting of concessions for hydraulic power, Senator Righi answered that this question had brought on a long discussion among the commissioners and had led them to suggest a modification of the terms of certain franchises for electric plants when they are burdensome.

In regard to electric traction, the senator said the section had made a decision of first importance. "It is certain," he added, "that only when this great ideal is realised will the country be emancipated from paying a huge yearly tribute to foreign dealers for coal. To attain this the commission decided on a bold step. It proposed that Italy should set aside not less than 100,000,000 lire each year for ten years for the electrification of railways. Such a sum may seem large at first glance, but it is not. In any case it would be well spent, because it would further the industrial development to which the new national conscience of the country, strengthened by the war, gives the right to aspire."

Beneath the Flowers.

That was a beautiful and moving conception of Sir John Fraser's spoken at the Pilgrims' luncheon that the burial lands of the war in France should be made gardens of flowers. In his eloquent words:

"I would like to see—and I do see sometimes in my vision — the flowers of America growing over where lie so many of your gallant sons.

"I know there will be mighty stretches of fleur-de-lis marking the sleeping place of 1,500,000 brave Frenchmen. I would like to see the blooms of Belgium nodding over the graves where brave Belgians sleep, and I know that out there I would like to see a mighty avenue of maple trees, all glorious with their crimson and with their gold, telling the place where the Canadians rest, and there will be mighty masses of the wonderful Australian wattle showing where the Australians are sleeping; yes, and I know that out there will be roses everywhere, the white rose, the red rose, the roses of Old England, of Lancaster and of York, telling where 500,000 brave Englishmen lie.

"Perhaps out in that Garden of the Brave I would come across stretches of heather, beautiful gold-purple heather. I would know there were Scotsmen buried there. There would be playing—I would hear the sound of the pipes, for the pipes always play where dead Scottish soldiers lie; that is the vision that comes to me."

Pigeons as Beer Hunters.

At Brampton, near Chesterfield, England, homing pigeons are extensively used in the detection of that rare beverage which one time was known under the name of beer. The thirsty souls have formed a committee, who send out to the neighboring villages a scout to find out which saloon has beer on sale.

He reports by homing pigeon, and the arrival of the bird sees an exodus in the direction of the fortunate hostel.

The Landmark.

The first number of the monthly magazine of the English Speaking Union, the Landmark, has just been received from the London headquarters of the union. It contains a foreword by former Premier and present Foreign Secretary A. J. Balfour and a full report of his speech at the first meeting of the union, a luncheon given to the group of American editors visiting Europe in the closing months of the war. Among other contributors are Lord Suydenham, George Roberts, Labor member of the War Cabinet; George Santayana, Dr. Albert Shaw and F. P. Glass, both the British Empire and the United States being represented in articles and viewpoint, as befits an international publication for the promotion of better understanding between the English-speaking peoples.

Zinc.

Zinc is ductile between 212 and 302 degrees Fahrenheit, and can then be shaped as required. But when either above or below these limits it becomes brittle and unpliant, and therefore not adapted for treatment. It melts at about 786 degrees Fahrenheit if volatilization is guarded against.

Women Decorated.

Thirty-seven women workers have been presented with the order of Queen Elizabeth by the Belgian minister. Two Japanese and five American women were among those who received the decoration.

Indirect Action.

Said the almost philosopher, "It may sound like a paradox, but when a fellow has a weight lifted off his mind it makes his heart light."

Not Knocking the Doctor, Either.

Sometimes it looks like the doctor is the only person in the community who hasn't a sure cure for bad colds. —Galveston News.

PROFESSIONAL TOASTMASTERS.

British Institution Which Is Unknown In Canada.

England has an institution unknown in this country—the professional toastmaster, whose duty it is at all large public dinners and luncheons formally to announce the toasts, as well as to call the guests to order. In fact, he performs the functions of a herald

The Lord Mayor of London has his own toastmaster as well as his individual liveried servitor who attends and serves him when he dines, both at the Mansion House and elsewhere. He stands behind the Lord Mayor's chair, clad in suitable raiment; a dignified, handsome old man, clean-shaven and gray haired.

The present Lord Mayor, Sir Charles Hanson, looks the part. He is jovial and urbane, of a very pleasant visage withal. Clad in his medieval robes of office, wearing his chains and star, he is a commanding figure, recalling the best traditions of this place.

A Canadian, of course, thinks of Dick Whittington when he imagines a picture of the Lord Mayor of London, and indeed the present incumbent very pleasantly gratifies this imagination by his appearance and speech. Apart from the picturesque aspect which is in keeping with the office, the present Lord Mayor is an exceedingly efficient executive, and has made a splendid record.

The other evening I was present at a dinner attended by the Lord Mayor. He did not wear his robes, but, of course, he carried the chains about his neck suspending the large, ancient, jeweled badge of office, and wore a glittering star on his left breast. Behind his chair stood his dignified liveried servant, silently attentive to his needs.

When he arose to speak he made a pleasant picture, to which his genial remarks added piquant zest. In concluding them he raised his glass and said: "Here's to our next merry meeting." "Merry meeting" was just what the Lord Mayor of London ought to have said. It recalled fairy-story books, and was most gratifying.

There are probably many professional toastmasters in London, but the one I happened to hear frequently is a solemn-faced individual, clad in black, with weary eyes and a heavy, drooping black moustache. He is perfectly impassive; lacking the faintest sense of humor, he takes himself and his office most seriously, and is never seen to smile. He has a wonderfully penetrating, sonorous, massive voice, which he uses to magnificent effect.

Preceding the dinner or luncheon he stands with sepulchral dignity at the entrance to the reception room announcing the guests as they arrive It is "the Voice of London" heralding the advent of the individual who approaches "Lord Loveus!" "The Right Hon. William Brown!" "The Earl of Pawtuckett!" "Col. Jones!" "Admiral Smith!" "Sir Thomas Robinson!" "Mr. Nobody!"

After the menu has been disposed of, he, meanwhile, standing back of the chairman, mallet in hand, raps smartly on the table, and says in a commanding voice something like this "Your excellency, my lords and gentlemen, pray silence for the chairman, who desires to offer a toast."

The toast being proposed, he again raps. "Mr. Chairman, your excellency, my lords and gentlemen, the toast is the King." Thereupon the toast is drunk standing, after which he says: "Mr. Chairman, your excellency, my lords and gentlemen, you may now smoke."

After the chairman has spoken, calling upon some one present to respond, the toastmaster pounds with his mallet on the table and says: "Mr. Chairman, your excellency, my lords and gentlemen, the toast is"—whatever it may happen to be, and after it is drunk, to the invariable preliminary he adds: "Pray silence for Sir Thomas Brown," enumerating his office and titles in minute detail.—Wm. C. Egan in the Bellman.

Silent Joffre

Frenchmen, as a rule, are loquacious and unrestrained, but Marshal Joffre is neither. Brevity and composure are among his most marked characteristics, and, shortly after his victory on the Marne, he gave an example to a party of war correspondents whom he had agreed to receive at his headquarters. They eagerly anticipated his speech. It contained sixty-five words.

Villhjalmur Stefansson Possesses Unique Record Among Arctic Explorers

VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON has won the name of being the most extraordinary northern explorer in history. This is despite the fact that his object in the Canadian Arctic is the very reverse of sensational. He had and has no intention of doing "stunts," of making a dash farthest north, or similar things that appeal to popular imagination. His purpose is purely scientific, and such romantic results as his discovery of the so-called "blond Eskimo" are incidental. Mr. Stefansson is not particularly elated by the world-wide fame that has accrued from this aspect of his work.

The sensational character of Mr. Stefansson's truly amazing feats is due simply to the fact that in order to prosecute his elaborate investigations it was necessary that he should live for continuous long periods (from two to four years at a time) in the Arctic Circle with freedom to travel great distances in all seasons. He could not do this if handicapped by the historic and accepted polar method of establishing chains of supply stations with the heavy transport of provisions, men, and dogs thus made mandatory.

VILHJALMUR STEFANSSON.

He determined, therefore, on the apparently desperate method of entering the Arctic Circle with no encumbrance except vital scientific equipment, and depending for every necessary of life on the rifle alone. The world's explorers, with hardly an exception, prophesied disaster. When he had been long lost to human knowledge on his last voyage, the Canadian Minister of Naval Service declared, in response to a Parliamentary inquiry, that there was not the slightest hope of his survival. But he "came out," and he had succeeded in doing not only what he had set out to do, but more.

"The rifle-bullet," said he recently, "is a travelers' check that is honored everywhere." He has proved it. He has lived in the Arctic Circle for years at a time without any communication with the world outside. His experience in the circle now aggregate eleven years. In that time he has journeyed more than 20,000 miles by sled over North America's continental Arctic region over frozen oceans far from land, and across polar islands greater in extent than the British Islands, some of them unknown even to Eskimo.

He has not only survived, but he declares that he lived in perfect comfort. This is his view of it, and it is entitled to respect, for he certainly has lived, alone and "getting his food from God," in close neighborhood to mournfully famed regions where magnificent expeditions of many men, supplied without regard to cost, have perished tragically.

THE NAME GUARANTEES ITS EXCELLENCE

PURITY FLOUR

(Government Standard)

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD AND BETTER PASTRY"

Western Canada Flour Mills Co. Limited
HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO, ONTARIO
Canada Food Board License Nos.—Cereal 2-009—Flour 15, 16, 17, 18
"PURITY OATS MAKES BETTER PORRIDGE"

MEMORIAL TABLETS

(Continued from page one)

Death" (St. Paul)—Capt Maurice Park.

Sounding of the Last Post—(Congregation standing with bowed heads).

Unveiling of Tablet to those returning, by Dr. T. N. Greer.

Solo—"Home, Sweet Home"—Mrs. Maurice Park.

Presentation of Tablets to the congregation on behalf of the choir by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.

God Save the King!

Hymn 210—"For All the Saints."

Anthem—"The Crusader's Return"—Hill.

Sermon—By Rev. Robt. Pogue.

Hymn 642—"When Wilt Thou Save the People?"

Benediction—Rev. Canon Davidson.

Organ postlude — "Hallelujah Chorus."—Handel.

Tablets Unveiled.

After Mrs. Angus McIntosh, who had herself lost two sons in the war, had unveiled the tablet to the memory of the fallen by drawing aside the flags which draped it, Captain Maurice Park ably rendered the beautiful solo, "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death", and the Last Post was sounded by a bugler in the lobby of the auditorium of the church. The effect of this was not lost upon the congregation. Those who know nothing of military life and find other calls of this instrument meaningless could not but realize the significance of the wailing note which gradually died into silence. It seemed to speak and send a thrill through the hearts of the listeners similar to that which is produced by the playing of "The Dead March in Saul."

"Home Sweet Home."

Dr. Greer, who had a son spared to come back to him from the war, unveiled the tablet to those returning, after which Mrs. Maurice Park sang that solo, so full of pathetic yearning and so expressive of the tendencies of the human heart, "Home, Sweet Home." Few in the congregation but had listened to this selection many times in their lives, but one might safely venture to say that there were none who had ever heard it sung so sweetly and with such just emphasis as marked Mrs. Park's rendering of the beautiful song yesterday morning. Nothing could have been more appropriate after the unveiling of a tablet to the soldiers who had returned from the very land in which John Howard Payne bad been inspired by the lonliness of temporary separation from dear ones to write the great masterpiece—for it must be considered as such especially when sung as it was in St. Paul's church, yesterday morning.

Formal Presentation.

H. R. H. Kenner made the formal presentation to the congregation of the tablets on behalf of St. Paul's choir. He paid tribute to the memory of the brave men of the congregation who had gone into a foreign land to fight for the liberty, justice and freedom of the world and had laid down their lives upon the altar of patriotism.

They are sleeping the last sleep. now, after the awful din of the battle; resting after warfare and the fathers and mothers who will see their loved ones no more in this life will find great consolation in their belief of the immortality of the soul, for they know that only a few more seasons shall roll before they will see their boys again in a greater and happier life where there shall be no more partings.

One tablet would remind the congregation of the debt they owed to the men who had been spared to return to their homes. The other would keep green in their hearts the memory of the heroic members of the church who had given up their lives for their country and their loved ones. Both would serve as an inspiration to the younger members of the congregation to live useful lives.

Faithful Unto Death.

Rev. Robt. Pogue preached an eloquent sermon, taking as his text these words from chapter 12 : 11, Revelations: "And they loved not their lives unto the death."

He spoke of the high sense of duty which had actuated the men who had gone forth in the service of their country, realizing fully the debt which they would, in all probability, be called upon to pay and giving up all the joys of this life and the hope of having posterity to petpetuate their name, upon the shell-torn slopes of the battlefield; in the dark waves of the ocean or crashing down from the air.

He paid tribute to the splendid courage which had made it possible for these boys who had not been brought up in the arts of war and were not citizens of a militant country to go forth into battle and give such an account of themselves as has placed the name of Canada forever upon the lips and in the hearts of the liberty-loving people of the world.

He commended that unselfishness which had manifested itself in the letters which had been written home by the soldier, making light of hardships and the likelihood of death in order that loved ones would not be torn with anxiety.

Battle of Life.

Men who had returned showed a modesty in speaking of their experiences overseas which was characteristic of those who had performed great things and were responsible for many valliant deeds. They had been spared to return and take their place once more in the social life of the community with a purpose; their work was not done and they would require a bravery equal to that shown up upon the battlefield in dealing with the gigantic problems which would confront them in this life if they were to make the best of it.

The tablets, the pastor stated, should prove a source of inspiration to the congregation. They should remind them of the sacrifices and hardships suffered by those who had fought their battles and should give them confidence to fight the battle of life courageously and not shirk its difficulties by following the channels of least resistance.

Rev. Canon Davidson, who had entered towards the latter part of the service, after that of St. John's had been concluded, pronounced the benediction.

Handsome Tablets.

The tablets are handsome ones and are composed of brass upon which are inscribed the names of the fallen and returning men of the congregation. There are 31 of the former and 130 of the latter, 161 connected with St. Paul's Church having enlisted. The one upon which appear the names of the heroic dead is placed upon the wall to the left of the pulpit and the other upon the right.

Mr. Kenner in his address made reference to Mrs. John Allan, who was the chief promoter of the undertaking, having been responsible for the idea and convenor of the committee appointed to undertake the task of having it carried out. Mr. Alexander Gibson had charge of the work connected with the preparation of the two handsome tablets.

Roll of Honor.

The names of the fallen which appear upon the tablet to the memory are:

Major Arthur Wood, M.C.; Capt. C. Ross Cameron, Capt. Harold F. Hill, Capt. Grant D. Mowat, Lieut. Harry Hastie, Sergt. John F. Davidson, Sergt. Norman A. Hartshorn. Sergt. Clarence Smith, Corp. H. Angus McIntosh, Lance-Corp. A. Stuart Anderson, Pte. C. Laidlaw Anderson, Pte. James Alp. Spr. R. G. Stewart, Anderson, Gnr. Max. Breckenridge, Pte. Gordon Brotherson, Pte. John H. Cameron, Pte. Robert S. Donaldson, Bombr. George Finnie, Pte. Harry Gregory, Bandn. Preston Grange, Pte. Harold A. Henry, Pte. Charles Hartman, Pte. Lionel McIntosh. Pte. T. Vincent Mulligan, Pte. Ernest Mein, Pte. Russell G. Martin, Dvr. John Ranger, Pte. Charles Ratchford, Pte. Max. Smith, Pte. Odley Taylor. Pte. Victor Thorndyke.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

IS IT NOT CATCHING

Good vision is not contagious. You can't catch it, but you can lose it very simply. Neglect of the first signs of weakness of the eyesight is the surest way to make the trouble worse, while if you let Dr. Fowler care for your eyes, the sight is kept at its best and the weakness corrected.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

The Name Rose.

The name "rose" varies only slightly among different nations. The Romans called it rosa—a form adhered to in Italian, Portuguese, Spanish and Russian. In Polish it is roza; in Dutch, roos; in Swedish, ros, and in French, German and Danish, rose.

Height of Clouds.

Clouds are very variable in height—from 500 to 2,000 feet. The clouds in thunderstorms may be very deep—from two to five miles and more—hence the appearance as to distance is very deceptive. Cumulus clouds are intermediate.

No Separation in Sight.

Mrs. Mark—"Mrs. Skanner tells me that her husband is an ardent lover of books." Mr. Mark—"I wish he'd prove fickle to two volumes of mine which he enticed away more than five years ago."—Buffalo Express.

Profits by Experience.

Of course others may do as they please, but, personally, we never expect to invest in another oil well until it proves able to grease its own machinery.—Dallas News.

Turn About.

Pocahontas Star—Fred Jones, our worthy postman, has purchased an auto in which he carries the mails on weekdays and the females on Sunday. —Boston Transcript.

Life's Minor Worries.

Frequently a woman worries a great deal over the question of calling on another woman who doesn't care in the least whether she calls or not.—Boston Transcript.

Judging Materials.

When buying woolen materials hold them up to the light and look through them; the best qualities are free from uneven and broken threads.

Correcting an Error.

No, Gladiolus, strictly speaking, opera glasses are not the kind the ticket buyer goes out for between acts.

Daily Thought.

Thanks to the gods! My boy has done his duty.—Addison.

NATIONAL KITCHENS.

An Experiment That the English Women Are Trying.

The English woman has gained the vote, but political emancipation is not complete liberation, says a London correspondent of the New York Evening Post. Within the household itself there are disabilities and tyrannies from which she has still to be freed. For many enlightened persons have been crying out against the economic wastefulness of the tradition which requires each of twenty housewives living in twenty consecutive houses to spend several hours a day in cooking separate meals for her own family. A solution was the national or community kitchen.

The national kitchen, started as a temporary wartime expedient under the pressure of food scarcity, is likely to become a permanent institution. Its benefits are too conspicuous for it to be allowed to pass away when more normal conditions return.

There is no need to tell the advantages of these kitchens. The most obvious are the large economies effected in food, fuel and labor. As compared with the middle class, or working class household, the national kitchen can buy to better profit, can utilise expensive labor saving devices, can employ better skilled assistance, and can turn to good account "substitutes" which the ordinary housewife has not yet learned how to deal with. During the wheat shortage these kitchens, by encouraging the use of rice, barley, oatmeal, tapioca, beans, lentils, swedes and onions, diverted many people from an undue consumption of bread. No one can tell how great a boon the national kitchen has been to many a household where the mother has to be at work outside the home for several hours of the day.

The movement for the establishment of public kitchens began in the spring in 1917. The experiment was tried in various provincial towns and in the East End of London, and gave such promise that it was soon officially encouraged and assisted by the Food Ministry. At the first, it had many stubborn hindrances to overcome. Nothing but the hardships of the food situation would have enabled it to conquer the tenacity of the old habit and the prejudice which confronts all innovations in so conservative a country.

It carried with it some reminder of the old-fashioned "soup kitchen," which used to dole out portions to the starving poor. There was accordingly in many families some apprehension lest respectability should be compromised by any dealings with it. In many towns opposition was shown by the catering trade through fear lest the competition of this public enterprise should diminish its own profits. Moreover, some critics of the scheme expressed an honest anxiety lest it should encourage idleness. They really believed that the housewife would have nothing to do if she were relieved of the necessity of preparing meals.

In spite of all these obstacles, the reform was so valuable in itself that it soon gathered headway. In some places a national kitchen was established by private enterprise. A group of public spirited men and women formed themselves into a company, as shareholders, and ran the kitchen as a business proposition. The more usual plan has been a combination of municipal, state and private effort. The Food Ministry has assisted a local committee by a grant of 25 per cent. of the cost of equipment, together with a further 25 per cent. as a loan. The local authorities have been empowered by the Local Government Board to raise the remaining 50 per cent. out of the rates, or local taxes. This has left to private effort the responsibility of meeting the cost of initial stocks, the running costs, and the risk of a loss in the early days. As a rule, only the cooks and the kitchen staff are paid. The superintendence and serving are undertaken by voluntary helpers, many of them Salvation Army and social workers of the neighborhood.

In many cities school feeding schemes have been a most useful preparation for the larger undertaking, as, for instance, in Bratford, where it had been shown that 10,000 meals could be cooked by the labor of one skilled cook and one baker, with the aid of seven or eight unskilled assistants.

Where feasible, it is found to be the better plan to set up in each district one central kitchen, from which several depots are supplied. The meals, as soon as cooked, are sent by motor transport to these depots, where customers apply for them, bringing their own jugs, basins, plates and other receptacles. At the New Bridge Street Depot in London for a small deposit containers can be had for taking meals to neighboring offices and stores. In some places, however, the central kitchen scheme does not work well, owing to the shortage of gasoline and drivers, and the consequent difficulty of getting a large number of meals delivered at several depots at about the same time of day.

Rabbit Skins.

There is a market for rabbit skins. Before the war an enormous trade was carried on abroad. It is said that Great Britain and Ireland alone produced about 30,000,000 skins annually. Most rabbit skins are sold in bales by weight, the fur from them being used for felting purposes, and the skins for making glue. The war interrupted the importations from Europe and Australia to such an extent that the price has greatly increased. The better skins are sold by the dozen. When dressed they become the "cony" of the fur trade, often sold under fanciful names. American breeders are raising all kinds of rabbits that produce the best "cony" of the fur shops."

Lake Huron Islands.

Lake Huron holds the curious record of having more islands than any other lake in the world. It has at least 3,000.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

REPORTS AGAINST ELECTRICITY AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR COAL

Must Not Be Relied on For Heating of Homes Conclusion of Hydro Electric Commission

The Hydro-Electric Commission, after extensive enquiry into the question, concludes that Canada must not rely on electricity as a substitute for other fuels for heating purposes. The Commission's report says in part:

"Regarding the future outlook for the use of electric energy for heating, it may be said that to push the matter on an extended scale would be economically unsound in Canada where such enormous amounts of energy would be required for this purpose alone, as all other fields of application for electric energy would suffer seriously thereby.

"At existing rates for coal and other fuels, compared with those for electricity, electric heating is too expensive to be adopted extensively, but as an auxiliary its advantages are so attractive that efforts will undoubtedly be made to reduce the cost so as to make its use in this way more popular.

"It can be readily demonstrated that, of the total energy in fuels, at the present time and under the most favorable conditions possible in the largest and most modern plants, a maximum of 12 to 15 per cent. is obtainable in the form of mechanical power; this is only about one-third of the percentage obtainable in the form of heat in the average house furnace and only about one-fourth of that obtainable in the form of mechanical power from the water power of a hydro-electric plant.

"True conservation, therefore, lies in using, to the fullest practicable extent, water power for the generation of mechanical power and fuels for heating. Where no water power is available, then the fuels must, of necessity, be used for mechanical power purposes, but this will preferably be done in large electric generating stations."

EMPLOYER SUES GIRL SECRETARY

HE HAD HIM ARRESTED AS A "CAVE MAN" ON CHARGE OF ANNOYANCE

Chicago, March 22.—The relation of complainant and defendant is about to be reversed in the case of John B. Devoney, president of the Chicago Toy Works, who was arrested Dec. 14 on the complaint of his former secretary, Miss Ethelyn Landwer, 915 Diversey parkway. She charged that Devoney had annoyed her by writing her inumerable letters, forcing his attentions upon her, introducing her as his wife, threatening to harm her if she refused to be his wife, and generally "acting like a cave man."

The frequent continuance of the case, together with Miss Landwer's failure to appear in Judge Charles Williams' court, where the case was called this morning, led the court to dismiss the case. On the basis of this decision Devoney announced he would file suit for false arrest.

Mr. Devoney, who has declared throughout the case that he is "anxious to effect a reconciliation in spite of all that has happened," repeated this statement today and added: "I do not blame her for this action, but I shall fight it to the end, just the same."

Miss Landwer said later that she was not in court owing to the serious illness of her father, but that she intended recovering her suit against Devoney in the near future.

TO SETTLE STRIKE.

New York, March 24.—Settlement of the New York harbor strike today was predicted by Paul Bonynge, who is counsel of the Boat Owners' Association, in a statement in which he declared, "We are now in the closing stages of the strike."

OPEN AT SOUTHAMPTON.

Southampton, March 24—The fishing tugs have returned from their winter quarters. The harbor is free of ice and navigation is now open.

SHIPBUILDERS' STRIKE.

Vancouver, March 24.—Two hundred and fifty shipbuilders working on ships for the French government, went on strike at Port Coquitlam on Saturday because their wages had been reduced 1½ cents an hour.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO THE HAIR

DARKENS BEAUTIFULLY AND RESTORES ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LUSTRE AT ONCE.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients; a large bottle at little cost at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

1919 Deposits In Penny Banks Show Increase

LIST SHOWING RESULTS FROM SCHOOLS WHERE SYSTEM IS OPERATED

The following list shows the average monthly deposit made by each pupil in the Penny Banks during the months of January and February.

An extract from the circular issued by the Department of Education for Ontario makes this comment in regard to the movement:

"The Minister desires to express his appreciation of the devotion shown by the teachers in those schools where the Penny Bank has been in successful operation. He also wishes to point out that it is not enough merely to establish the system in a school. There must be loyal co-operation and persistent sympathy upon the part of the teachers; otherwise some few may take the opportunity of exercise a natural thriftiness, but the Bank will fail in its effort to encourage thrift among the unthrifty. Thrift needs to be encouraged as steadily and persistently as good manners or as any other desirable habit."

Arnprior school, 13c; Barrie, 31c; Minesing, 11c; Belleville, 47c; Blenheim, 14c; Bowmanville, 47c; Brampton, 60c; Campbellford, 30c; Cape Croker Reserve, 48c; Carleton Place, 11c; Collingwood, 26c; Cornwall, 53c; Corwall S. S. No. 3, 68c; Fort Frances, 53c; Galt, 54c; Goderich, 80c; Guelph, 47c; Hanover, 11c; Harriston, 28c; Kitchener, 20c; Leamington, 19c; Lindsay, 19c; London, 19c; Midland, 25c; Montreal, 4[illegible]c; Newmarket, 42c; New Toronto, 86c; Niagara Falls, 42c; North attleford, 50c; North Bay, 37; Ottawa, 40; Paris, 54c; Port Colborne, 50c; Port Hope, 29c; Prince Albert, 35c; Renfrew, 62c; Sault Ste. Marie, 42c; Smiths Falls, 22c; St. Thomas, 20c. Stratford, 40c; Sudbury, 53c; Toronto, 47c; Tweed, 29c; Sulphide, 50c; Welland, 59c; Crowland, 47; Winchester, 21c; Woodstock, 24c; York County, 58c. Canada average 42c.

Total deposits made during:

	January	February
1917	$32,793.40	$32,494.45
1918	36,918.70	33,645.57
1919	46,964.87	44,558.40

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is greater. Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

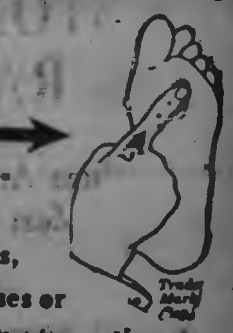
The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fate that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

See the Sun Life agent about this.

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario
Crown Chambers Building, Peterboro, Ont.
D. H. MOORE
J. D. CAMERON } Inspectors
PHONE 14



Have You Pains, Cramps, Callouses or a Burning Sensation at or near where the finger points? If so,

DR. SCHOLL has perfected a special appliance known as the Anterior Metatarsal Arch Support which will positively relieve that particular foot ailment.

For Sale at all RELIABLE SHOE DEALERS.

Write for Dr. Scholl's Free Booklet "Treatment and Care of the Feet."

The Scholl Mfg. Co., Limited
Dept. G 1
112 Adelaide St. East, Toronto
Also Chicago, New York, and London, Eng.

SCHOLL Eases the Feet

Units at Kingston Are Disbanded

All the units that were used for the enlistment and training of recruits and draftees which included the depot battalions, engineers, signallers, and the four depot batteries of the R. C. H. A., including "C" Battery, have been completely demobilised and the personnel struck off the strength. This has all been done under the personal supervision of Brig.-Gen. Williams, G.O.C., since assuming command January 1. The present machinery used for carrying out demobilization is the district depot and the 3rd C. G. R. The latter unit has been recently reorganized into small detachments stationed at Ottawa and Fort Henry, for the purpose of performing guard duties. The district depot is divided into dispersal station "G" at Kingston for the western part of the district and dispersal station "H" at Ottawa for the eastern part.

Why it Is "Czecho-Slovak."

Speaking of the awkward cognomen of "Checho-Slovak," the Independent says it is partly due to linguistic accident and partly to political exigence. The old familiar name "Bohemia" has, like the name "Serbia," a territorial rather than a radical significance and is too small to cover the ethnical entity on which the modern concept of nationality is founded. The Slovak language is only dialectically different from the Czech or Bohemian, but the differences were purposely intensified during the nineteenth century to keep the Hungarian branch of the race apart from Austria. Even in America Slovak and Czech newspapers are distinct, although either people can read the other language.

Prof. Masaryk, head of the new Czecho-Slovak republic, is a Slovak. The Slovaks, being inferior to the Czechs in numbers, wealth and education, are naturally insistent upon equal rights and recognition. The spelling "Czech" is neither native nor English. It is a Polish form of the word, foisted upon the world by persistence of Viennese journalists. The true Bohemian spelling "Cech" is impossible to our newspapers for lack of type with inverted caret over the C to represent Ch. The final ch is sounded like the German guttural or the Scottish ch as in "loch" but to the ordinary ear is hardly distinguishable from plain K.

AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!
Coughing Spreads Disease
SHILOH
30 DROPS—STOPS COUGHS
HALF THIS FOR CHILDREN

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

KITCHEN MAID TO ASSIST cook, and other kitchen duties, for a large apartment house; wages $30 per month; board and lodging; fare to Toronto paid. Apply Review Office.

CHAMBER MAID FOR LARGE apartment house; wages $30 per month with board, and transportation to Toronto. Apply Review Office.

HELP WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS COOK FOR A large apartment house. Wages $50 per month with board and lodging. Apply Review Office.

WANTED

WANTED — AN INCUBATOR. State make, condition and price to Box 441, Review.

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

WANTED—30 GAL. COPPER or galvanized iron boiler with or without gas heater. State how long in use. Apply Box 439 Review Office.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED stenographer used to dictation. Permanent position; highest salary. Apply in writing, stating experience, to Box 239.

VICTORY BONDS WANTED. All issues bought for cash. Apply Box 237, Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINSON Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden, fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

Children's Aid Society
—of—
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 388 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 98b

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m. 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 545

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

If one-half of the world doesn't know how the other half lives, it is not because it doesn't spend a lot of time trying to find out.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 24.—Receipts of live stock were heavy, trade slow.

Choice export cattle..	$15.00	$15.50
Choice butcher cattle	10.50	12.75
Medium butcher cows	9.50	10.50
Ewes	11.50	13.50
Lambs	18.25	19.25
Hogs, f. a. w.	19.25	20.00
Hogs f. o. b.	19.00	19.25
Calves	15.00	17.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag..	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
ed Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 00
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'..	25	25
Deacon and bob calf..	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do, green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

A Revival of Poetry.

An interesting item of literary news from London has it that poets and essayists are receiving an unusual amount of attention. So far as the poets go, this is not astonishing, for the last decade has seen a marked revival of poetry, both in England and America. Perhaps the enlarged vogue of the writer of essays follows in turn the discovery that other forms of literature than fiction can be equally interesting. Whether or not it will ever again be fashionable to read essays, as it was when Addison wrote them in the London Spectator to amuse polite society and the town in the periwigged period of Queen Anne, any real increase in essay reading will cheer the essayists, who have written chiefly for comparatively few readers and little profit. Yet some of the most distinguished names in literature have been signed to essays; and everybody who reads the editorials in a newspaper is an essay reader.

Pat Went East.

In a small village in Ireland the mother of a soldier met the village priest, who asked her if she had had bad news. "Sure, I have," she said. "Pat has been killed." "Oh, I am very sorry," said the priest. "Did you receive word from the War Office?" "No," she said. "I received word from Pat himself." The priest looked perplexed, and said, "But how is that?" "Sure," she said, "here is the letter, read it for yourself." The letter said, Dear Mother,—I am now in the Holy Land."

Scrappy Pair.

"I was single and had a dog's life," said the widower. "I married and lead a cat and dog's."—Exchange.

In a Restaurant.

"Waiter, bring me a glass of [illegible] I want to strengthen [illegible]"

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA. NUT. STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

China and Japan

WHAT does Japan want in China? Japan says she has only the most laudable desire to help a stumbling sister. China says Japan is trying to gobble her up, and opinion on this continent seems to sustain the Chinese view. The Ottawa Citizen states the position concisely as follows;

"The entrance to North China is through the Gulf of Chihli, which, in turn, is nearly closed by two pincers in the shape of peninsulas. The possession of these pincers means the possession of North China. As a result of the Japanese-Russian war the former now hold Port Arthur and Dalny on the northern arm of the pincers, and by the taking of Kiaochou on the southern arm, virtually control all the northern part of the vast empire, and would at any time be in position to transport troops into the heart of the country."

Meanwhile, China has appealed to the Peace Conference, and the Chicago Tribune says:

"China has got Japan's hand away from her mouth long enough to utter at least one shrill call for help to the Peace Conference and to the United States, challenging our self-advertised championship of oppressed nationalities."

China's appeal to the Peace Conference was in the nature of a threat to publish the secret treaties Japan forced her to enter into in May, 1915. Japan was immediately reported to have retorted with a threat of war, if the treaties were published, and this report was as quickly denied. But the Philadelphia Record observes:

"Japan is coercing China to deny that it is correct. The process cannot be concealed, and the more secrecy is maintained the more sinister the Japanese policy will be supposed to be. The wiser thing would be for Japan to open the door and disclose in full its relations with China. It is not likely that Europe and America will allow Japan to establish itself as the overlord of China, and the secrecy is a suspicious circumstance that must of itself arouse distrust of Japan. If a few millions of Poles and Slavs are to be endowed with power to control their own destinies, it is not likely that Europe and America will allow Japan to subject 400,000,000 Chinese to its own will."

The New Orleans Times-Picayune and the Portland Oregonian both think the Peace Conference will interfere to block Japanese designs.

The Oregonian called the Japan-China imbroglio the "first job for the league," and said further:

"The conduct of Japan toward China and the plea of the latter country to the Peace Conference suggest that one of the first duties of the five great powers may be to exert the authority of the League of Nations against one of themselves while the league is still in process of incubation. Japan shows contempt for several of the fourteen points. It prefers secret treaties to open covenants. It disregards self-determination of nations by attempting to hold the piece of China which it took from Germany. It tries to hold Shantung in defiance of its promise when it declared war on Germany to return it to China. Its claim is based on conquest, not on a mandate from the League of Nations."

The Chinese delegates to the Peace Conference charged that while their ship was lying in the harbor of Yokohama their baggage was rifled and their copies of the secret treaties that they were taking to Paris were stolen. This feature of the affair comes in for a good deal of attention. The Memphis Commercial Appeal writes:

"Speaking of card playing and diplomacy—for they have many psychological similarities — the heathen Chinee will have to surrender his laurels to his slant-eyed Japanese brother.

"The Chinese delegates to the Peace Conference left home with their grips filled with copies of malevolent secret treaties showing how the Flowery Kingdom had conspired against the land of Confucius. On their way to Paris they passed through Japan. When they arrived at Versailles they opened their baggage, to find that all of the telltale secret documents had been extracted. And 'subsequent proceedings interested them no more.'

"The Japanese idea is that opportunity is now ripe for euchring China out of all her iron mines, railroads and other productive assets worth having. It seems to be a plain case of the big bully and the little boy, and it may be readily believed that the sympathies of the Allied powers are with China."

Gas Saved.

The results of daylight saving are shown in figures collected by the gas company at Washington, D.C., that the people of the district saved $60,000 in gas bills. Basing estimates on these figures, it is considered that the conservation of gas throughout the United States will amount to a saving of $3,000,000. In the matter of gas and electricity the saving was no less than 10 per cent. of the money formerly spent for them.

Fair.

Fortune Teller—You will marry a rich man who will give you a princely allowance. Two dollars, please.

Customer—I'll pay you out of the allowance. Good day!

Naturalists state that serpents can live six months or longer without food.

Women wouldn't be so talkative if they only spoke their minds.

Get Your Printing Done
at the
Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

- Letter Heads
- Bill Heads
- Envelopes
- Account Headings
- Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

Telephone 189 and 435

The Peterboro Review Co., Limited

Theodore Roosevelt Will Be Given Unique Honor By the Admiring British

THROUGHOUT the British Empire there will run a feeling of deep satisfaction over the decision of the British Government to honor the memory of the late Col. Roosevelt by a service in Westminster Abbey, and perhaps by the erection of a tablet bearing his name. Such an honor is rarely paid to one not a British subject, although there are some precedents for it, and this makes more marked the fact that a tablet in the abbey is the highest honor that the British Empire can pay to the memory of a man. To be created a duke, a lord chancellor or an archbishop is esteemed a less honor than to have won a right to burial at Westminster. No American of this generation, we believe, has so well deserved the tribute that will be paid as Col. Roosevelt. He was the greatest American of his time, a profound influence in world affairs, and a staunch friend of the Empire's.

Interment in Westminster and the erection of a memorial there are, of course, two very different things; but an American citizen had the very remarkable honor of being temporarily interred in the abbey, his remains afterward being sent to the United States, and of a permanent memorial being built in the form of a stone in the nave. This was George Peabody, the great American philanthropist, who was born in the United States of English parentage. He returned to the Old Country in 1837, and lived there for thirty years. In the course of that time he gave away £500,000 for the benefit of the poor of London. The Peabody buildings in the poorer districts of London are to-day providing comfortable tenement homes for more than 23,000 artisans and laborers. In recognition of his great gifts he was made a freeman of the City of London, and a statue of him was erected near the Royal Exchange.

When Peabody died his remains were buried in the nave of the abbey, but a month later they were disinterred and sent to a final resting place in his native country at Danvers (now Peabody), Mass. As a special honor Queen Victoria had the body sent back to the United States on H. M. S. Monarch. George Peabody was the only American who ever had the honor of burial in Westminster. In a review of some of the Americans whose careers have been commemorated by tablets or windows at Westminster, Margaret C. Getchell, in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, recalls the fact that George W. Childs, for many years publisher of the Ledger, was responsible for two of them. These are the windows to George Herbert and William Cowper. There is also a memorial to Col. Joseph Lemuel Chester, who was born in Norwich, Conn., in 1821, and died in London in 1882, having spent nearly a quarter of a century there studying American genealogies. His investigations in this direction were held to have entitled him to special recognition.

Herbert and Cowper, both [illegible] of Westminster, were described by Dean Stanley (who, by the way, was responsible for the happy phrase "Poet's Corner") as representing opposite poles of the Church [illegible] land, and Mr. Childs was called by the dean "the Angel of the Church of Philadelphia." Not less happy was the impression the dean made upon Americans in the course of the visit in which he met Mr. Childs, and his friends on this side of the Atlantic subscribed the cost of one of the memorial windows in the chapter house that later were unveiled in his honor. Longfellow's memorial stands in Poets' Corner. It is a very fine bust, and there never was any question that he had deserved the honor. The same may be said of James Russell Lowell, who although he was a staunch American, was a great admirer of the British, and while Ambassador to the Court of St. James from 1880 to 1885, did much to cement the friendship between the two countries. Both the Longfellow and the Lowell busts were presented by English subscribers. Curiously enough, the bust of Samuel Taylor Coleridge was presented to Poets' Corner by his American admirers, and on the occasion of its unveiling by Lowell, the address he made was held to be one of the finest tributes ever paid to the poet.

A monument of peculiar interest to both British and Americans is that of Major John Andre. This gallant young British officer fought in the Revolutionary war, was captured by the Americans and executed as a spy. He was no Benedict Arnold, but a devoted soldier who met an ignominous death in the discharge of his duty. The writer in the Ledger tells us that memorial wreaths are often placed on his monument by American visitors. One token of affection was a small cross of goldenrod which was accompanied by the following card: "Every American schoolboy regrets the fate of Major Andre, and this goldenrod has been brought from Delaware, in America, as a tribute to the young British soldier." Major Andre was buried beneath the gallows on the banks of the Hudson, where he was executed, but forty years later the remains were removed to England and buried anew in the abbey. The wooden chest in which they were taken back is carefully preserved at Westminster. Not far from the abbey is St. George's Church, Hanover Square, and here Theodore Roosevelt was married to Edith Kermit Carow, on Dec. 2, 1886, and here thousands of his admirers have read his signature and that of his wife on the register. So, for many years past, the great American had a tie of peculiar affection with England.

Good Ends Require Good Means.

Let no man turn aside, ever so slightly, from the broad path of honor, on the plausible pretense that he is justified by the goodness of his end. All good ends can be worked out by good means. Those that cannot, are bad; and may be counted so at once, and left alone.—Charles Dickens in "Barnaby Rudge."

Mother's Poor "Rememberer."

Mother had been searching for her purse. Having found it she shortly afterwards mislaid her eyeglasses and asked Doris, who was playing nicely with kitty, to hunt for them. Doris poutingly obeyed, but said: "You is always losing sompething, muvver; I wish to doodness you had as good a rememberer as aunty has."

Good Speaking.

Discretion in speech is more than eloquence; and to speak agreeably to him with whom we deal is more than to speak in good words or in good order.—Bacon.

Of course, we all believe it is better to give than to receive—until someone passes around the hat.

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

6:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

2:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

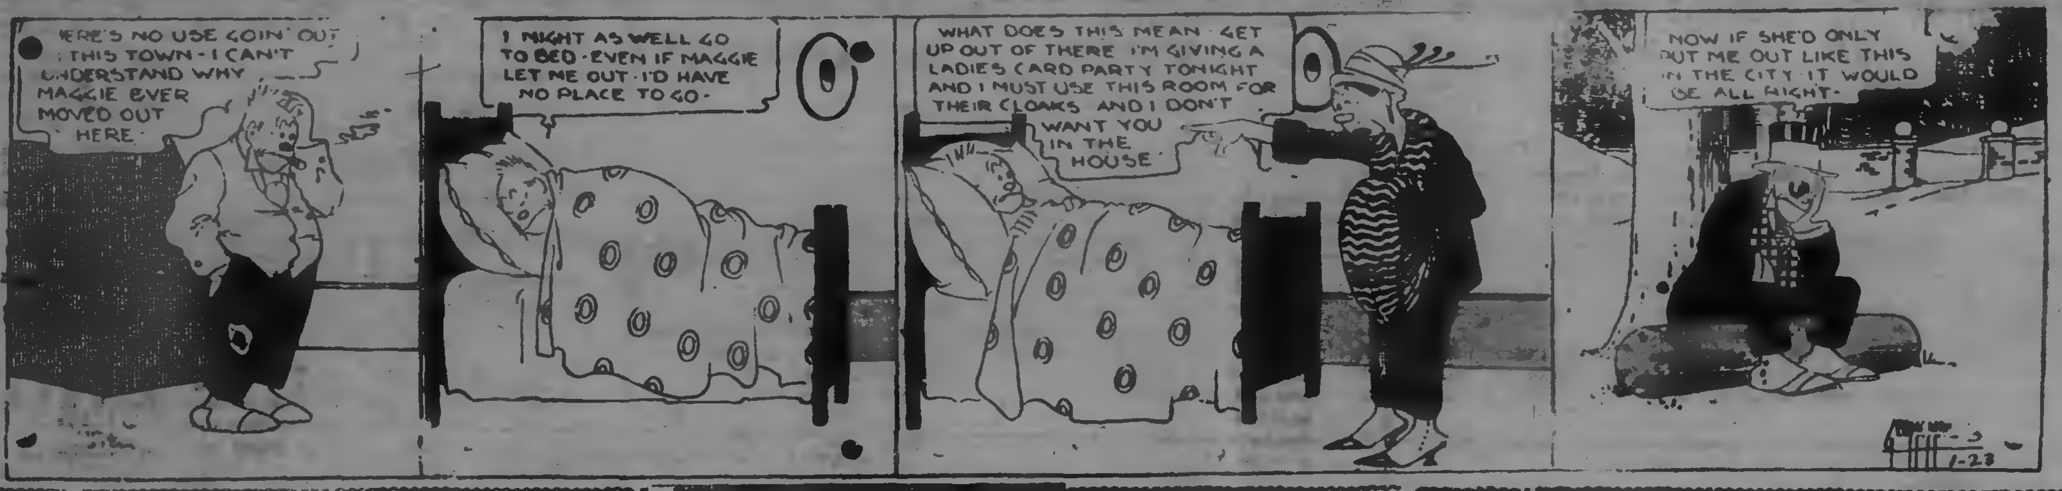
2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:15 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



IT'S NO USE GOIN' OUT - THIS TOWN - I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY MAGGIE EVER MOVED OUT HERE
I MIGHT AS WELL GO TO BED - EVEN IF MAGGIE LET ME OUT - I'D HAVE NO PLACE TO GO -
WHAT DOES THIS MEAN - GET UP OUT OF THERE I'M GIVING A LADIES CARD PARTY TONIGHT AND I MUST USE THIS ROOM FOR THEIR CLOAKS AND I DON'T WANT YOU IN THE HOUSE
NOW IF SHE'D ONLY PUT ME OUT LIKE THIS IN THE CITY IT WOULD BE ALL RIGHT-1-23

BASELALL

ONTARIOS ORGANIZED.

The Belleville Ontarios have organised for the coming season, electing the following officers: Honorary President, Lieut.-Col. E. D. O'Flynn; President, R. Colling; First Vice-President, Lieut.-Col. A. P. Allen; Second Vice-President, W. H. Lattimer; Secretary, Gerald Lynch; Treasurer, Vernon Weir; laying Manager, Walter Gerow; Management Committee, John Penny, W. Canning, W. Green.

RUTH'S SALARY $72,000.

"Babe" Ruth, pitcher and hard-hitting outfielder of the Boston Americans, has come to terms with Harry Frazee, president of the Boston club, and signed a contract for three years. The amount of his salary was not mentioned, but Mr. Frazee announced that both he and Ruth were entirely satisfied. Ruth left to join the other players of the club at their spring training camp at Tampa, Florida. Before he left Ruth asserted that he would receive $27,000 for the three years. It is reported that there is some suggestion of a trade by which Ruth will be exchanged for Walter Johnson of Washington.

FIVE TEAMS.

The Toronto Senior Amateur Baseball League will consist of five teams this coming season. This much was decided at their annual meeting last night, the clubs admitted being St. Mary's, Judeans, St. Andrew's, Great War Veterans and Parkdale A.C.

The league will hold their next meeting a week from Monday, when applications will be received for the positions of secretary-treasurer, umpires and groundkeeper.

The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—James A. Murphy.

Hon. First Vice-President—P. J. Mulqueen.

Hon. Second Vice-President—J. V. Vonroy.

President—Alf. Verrall.

First Vice-President—Sam Leonard.

Second Vice-President—J. F. McGarry.

Secretary-Treasurer—(Left open.)

High Scores At George St. Alleys

The prize winners at the George street alleys last week were Wm. Douma, P. Gettas and D. Forsythe.

Orders for Coal

taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Card Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.

Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.

Store and Apartment to rent.

LOW & COMPANY
262 Simcoe St. 385 Bethune St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 396

COAL
AND
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

PRIZE FOR MEN OF ALLIED NATIONS

TO BE PRESENTED BY KING FOR EVENTS AT THE HENLEY REGATTA

London, England, March 22 (via Montreal).—Announcement is made by the Henley regatta committee that King George has promised to present a trophy for an eight oar race in the 1919 regatta. This event will be open to amateur crews of service men representing any allied nation of British dominion and colony which has raised its own expeditionary force or the equivalent.

The committee has decided not to accept any entries from overseas or foreign countries except in the four events already arranged for crews from the allied forces.

Want Canadian Boxers For U. S.

AT AN INTERNATIONAL BOXING TOURNAMENT ON MARCH 28

Norton H. Crow, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, has received and invitation from the Amateur Athletic Union of U. S. A. to select three or four Canadian boys from the coming Internation Boxing Tournament, to be held March 28, 29 and 31, to compete in the coming American national championships, to be held in Boston on April 7 and 8.

Will Hitchen, the new boxing instructor of the Riverside A.C., and Will Hanna, instructor at the Base Hospital, both won the national championships at Boston previous to going overseas.

A large number of entries are coming in fTTHHTHTTHHTHTHTTHT ing in for the International Boxing ourney to be held here next week, and it looks as if it is going to be one of the best tourneys ever held in Toronto.

U.T S. Win Round From the Pats

University Schools again defeated the Regina Patricias on Saturday night, when the return or second game of the series was played, by a score of 16-5. This win gives the Toronto team the round by 21 goals, the scores being 14-3 and 15-5, or a total of 29 to 8.

Saturday's game was played under the Saskatchewan rules, which call for three twenty-minute periods, but do not allow skating onside. This, it was thought, would bother the O. H. A. champions, and disrupt their great teamplay, but such was not the case, for the Bloor street boys never showed better teamwork, and the majority of their goals were the result of neat combination plays. The score by periods was 8-4, 10-4 15-5, and the only interesting hockey of the night was in the second period, when the westerners' goalkeeper took a new lease of life, and, backed up by this, his team help the opposition to two goals.

Greey was the big noise on the scoring end, with five goals, while Munro was close behind, with four. Aggett and Jeffrey each secured three.

Line-Up and Summary.

Patricias (5)—		U Schools (15)—
Brown	Goal	Sulilvan
Wingham	Defence	Monroe
Hackney	Defence	Rowell
Harding	Centre	Aggett
Conrad	R. wing	Jeffrey
Duthowski	L. wing	Greey
Crapper	Sub.	Gunn
Molisky	Sub.	Kearns
Cameron	Sub.

Officials—Billy Finlay, Winnipeg, and Lou E. Marsh, Toronto.

Some very high scores were made in the different contests. Good prizes will be given this week for high score on the different alleys.

Turnbulls Won From Shamrocks

On Friday night at Water street alleys in the Five Pin League Turnbull's won two games from the Shamrocks. Perry was high man with a total of 540 for Turnbull's, while Craig for the Shamrocks rolled 509. The scores:

Turnbull's
Schleffel	127	127	192	446
Perry	197	192	153	540
Moore	175	141	139	452
J. Gettas	115	157	220	494
Wood	112	190	164	466
	718	812	868	2398
Shamrocks
Sullivan	168	126	142	436
Pidgeon	183	189	107	479
Gorham	107	90	182	479
Morrison	143	183	159	483
Craig	196	213	100	509
	807	501	688	2386

This week's bowling in the Five Pin League is as follows:

Tuesday—Turnbull's v. Bankers.

Thursday—Shamrock v. Matthews-Blackwell.

Friday—De Laval v. Lawn Bowlers.

Canad'ens Spring Surprise on Seattle

Seattle, March 24.—The Canadiens, champions of the National Hockey League, turned the tables on the Seattle Metropolitans, champions of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, last night, and won the Stanley Cup game, 4 to 2, thus evening up the series, each team having won one game. Outplaying their opponents by a margin not so very well, the visiting flying Frenchmen showed Seattle fans how hockey is played in the east. A whirlwind but futile effort was put up by Seattle against a successful attack by Montreal.

Seattle, playing under western rules, won the first game, 7 to 0. The next game is on Monday night.

Last night the Montreal team, it was evident, were playing under their rules. They took the lead in the first period. Seattle made a gallant effort to even the score in the final period, when they scored two tallied within 32 seconds. But the Canadiens' defence tightened, and the locals' efforts henceforth were of no avail.

Newsy Lalonde gave a great exhibition, and scored all four of the Canadians' points. Lalonde was the star of both teams. The leader of the visitors was a fiend on defence and impossible to stop when he gained possession of the rubber. He beat Rickey and Rowe time and time again around the Seattle nets, and his shooting was deadly accurate.

Pitre played good hockey as well, while Corbeau was in excellent form on both defence and forward. Vezina stopped a flock of hard ones, while Hall also showed up well in spots. Of the Mets, Frank Foyston was in best form.

Line-Up and Summary.

Seattle—(2)		Canadiens—(4)
Holmes	Goal	Vezina
Rowe	Defence	Corbeau
Rickey	Defence	Corbeau
Rickey	Defence	Hall
Walker	Centre	Lalonde
Wilson	R. Wing	Pitre
Foyston	L. Wing	Berlanquette
McDonald	Sub.	McDonald
Cleghorn	Sub.
Couture	Sub.

Referee—Hickey Ion.

—First Period—

1—Montreal...Lalonde 8:44

—Second Period—

2—Montreal...Lalonde 8:18

—Third Period—

3—Montreal...Lalonde 8:17

4—Montreal...Lalonde 9:44

5—Seattle....Rowe 1:44

6—Seattle....Royston 1:00

Daylight saving is to go into effect next Sunday on the Pere Marquette, Michigan Central and Wabash railways in St. Thomas.

MERCANTILE LOSSES.

One Sacrifice Made by Great Britain In War.

In urging that immediate steps be taken to rebuild the British merchant marine, Archibald S. Hurd, the naval writer, in an article in the London Telegraph, says that, although the United Kingdom was not invaded, Great Britain has paid for victory in the loss of more than 9,000,000 tons of shipping, ten times as much as that lost by either France or Italy. The British losses were 17 times as much as that of the United States.

"Owing to little having been said of the injuries inflicted on this country in the war," Mr. Hurd says, "there is an impression in Allied and neutral countries that we paid a relatively small price for victory. It is true that we were not invaded, but that was due, not to good fortune, for the sea is the easiest and quickest medium for an invader, but to good policy. It is also true that we were not starved, but that was the result of judgment and organization. It is very necessary that due importance should be attached to the injury inflicted upon us as a people who follow the sea, because there is a temptation to exaggerate the damage sustained by the Allies on the land and to ignore the results of enemy action by sea.

"It is certain that if it had not been for the British merchant navy France and Italy would have been driven out of the war and America would never have been able to intervene. When the war came the vast volume of British merchant shipping was placed at the service of the state and became the principal target of the enemy's naval forces. The result was that approximately half the tonnage under the British flag was destroyed.

"The following figures show the total losses in gross tonnage of merchant steamers sustained by this and other countries during the war:

	Tons.
United Kingdom and Dominions	9,055,668
United States	501,038
Belgium	105,081
Brazil	31,279
Denmark	245,302
Holland	229,041
France	807,077
Greece	414,675
Italy	861,485
Japan	270,033
Norway	1,171,760
Spain	237,862
Sweden	264,001

"The British tonnage sunk, therefore, was more than ten times as much as that lost by either France or Italy and 17 times as much as that lost by America.

"We depend on shipping for almost all that we require. Virtually all of our remaining ships need to be overhauled, which means that they are handicapped in trading, and it is doubtful if some are worth the expense of the restoration. In effect, we have to build the whole of our mercantile marine as soon as we can.

"That is one item in the war bill due to us as a maritime nation, and our case is separate from that of other countries which are not islands and are not pivotal points of maritime empires. Moreover, the above figures do not exhibit the value of the cargo sunk, the number of lives destroyed, or the inestimable injury caused by our withdrawal of ships from distant trade routes in order that we might help our allies and transport over the Atlantic a majority of the American troops which turned the scale on the western front."

The Bells of London.

In the days before clocks, to say nothing of watches, were common, the bells of London occupied a much more important position than they do to-day. 'Prentices depended on this bell and that to call them unwillingly from work of an evening, whilst bells were requisitioned for all manner of special purposes. And so there were many bell foundries in the city. Relics of them are to be found in many places, even if it is only a street name, such as Billiter street, which, as Mr. Lanfeur Lucas points out, was undoubtedly Bellsitzers or Founders Lane. Then Belsize probably owes its name, he declares, to a bell foundry on the lower part of Hampstead Hill. Something of this sort is all that remains of many of them, but others, like the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, which has been charged with retuning and rehanging the bells of Westminster Abbey for the peace rejoicings, have continued to do business through the centuries. The foundry commenced business in 1570.

This Rooster a Veteran.

The rooster now twisting as a weathercock on the clock tower of the First National bank building in Portland is 130 years old, his first roosting place having been the top of the old courthouse in Portland in 1778. He weighs more than sixty pounds and is said to have been made of oak. Now he shines with a new coat of gilt paint.

Why Kitchener Never Married

It appears that after all there was a love romance in the life of Lord Kitchener, the details of which are now made public, for what reason it is not quite clear. Why the great soldier never married was for a long time a common topic of gossip, and at various times his name was coupled with that of some famous beauty, now an American girl, now an Irishwoman whose Fenian principles were supposed to be the only obstacle to the union. Others asserted that Kitchener was a woman-hater. The theme recently inspired Miss Marjorie Benton Cooke to write a remarkably impudent story of the love which Kitchener was supposed to have kindled in the wife of a member of the War Cabinet, who happened to be also a German spy. To Kitchener's Joseph-like bearing in this adventure the authoress attributed his death on the Hampshire. The real story of Kitchener's heart affair disposes of all the various legends that his aloofness from women's society has given rise to.

Miss Caroline Hutchison was the object of his affections, and the fact has been known for some years to those most intimate with Kitchener. Miss Hutchison is said to have exerted a more powerful influence over him than any other man or woman. He was never too busy to think of her comfort, to write her notes, or to pay her frequent visits when they were in the city together. In her he found an inspiration for his patriotism, and it is said that on only one occasion did she seek to dissuade him from the path of duty. This was when he told her that he was about to visit Russia. Miss Hutchison said that she had a presentiment that she would not see him again, and begged him not to go. Kitchener replied that he was going at the request of the Czar, and could not ignore so plain a duty. After the destruction of the Hampshire Miss Hutchison refused to believe that her hero was really dead, and the belief that he was somewhere a prisoner in Germany sustained her until her own death some time later.

Kitchener and Miss Hutchison met when they were boy and girl, he two or three years the elder. The Kitchener family lived in Kensington and their near neighbors were Mrs. Robinson and Miss Lucy Hutchison, two sisters, ladies of wealth and distinction who made their home together. Mrs. Robinson was a widow, and her only son had died when in his 'teens. Young Kitchener was about the same age as the lad whose death had almost broken the mother's heart, and Mrs. Robinson and her sister came to entertain a great affection for the young soldier. Their home became a second home to him, and the two sisters like mothers. Miss Caroline Hutchison was a niece of these ladies. She was born at Peterhead on Deeside, her father being Alexander Hutchison, a gentleman of independent means. Miss Hutchison was a beautiful Scotch girl, as intelligent as she was charming, and her aunts eventually persuaded her parents to permit Caroline to make her home with them. They devised to her all their property, the value of which was very great.

It was in Mrs. Robinson's home that Kitchener and Miss Hutchison became acquainted. They were pals and confidants before they were lovers, and indeed the record does not say that they ever were betrothed, although their eventual union was never doubted by the friends who knew them both. It happened, however, that Mrs. Robinson brought home a neglected child who had the whooping cough and she contracted the disease. To people of middle years the whooping cough is a most dangerous malady and Mrs. Robinson became an invalid for life, some of her organs having become completely paralyzed. Her mind too, became affected, and she would eat nothing that was not given her by her young niece. It soon became apparent that as long as Mrs. Robinson should live her niece Caroline must be her chief nurse. Not long afterward the other sister was thrown from her horse and received spinal injuries which made her a bed-ridden cripple for the rest of her life.

The doors had closed upon Caroline Hutchison. Her duty was to remain with her helpless aunts as long as they lived. Her career was henceforth to be in that house in Kensington. Kitchener's career was cast in Egypt and India and in other parts of the world. It was impossible in the circumstances that they should marry; equally impossible, because of their deep affection, that they should choose other mates. And this is why Kitchener lived and died a bachelor. In later years when Miss Hutchison was freed from the care of her aunts and inherited their property she was noted for her philanthropies, and became the founder of the "K. of K. Empire Association," which did noble service in the war. When she died a couple of years ago, it was found that most of her great fortune had been distributed in charities, and particularly to the various causes given birth to by the war. Shortly before Kitchener set forth on his last voyage he suggested that Miss Hutchison should destroy the letters he had written her, numbering several hundreds, all of which she had lovingly preserved. This was done, and half a dozen only survive as sad memorials of a great love and a great sorrow greatly borne.

Dyes.

For the standardization of dyes and textiles a color card has been issued for general use by a New York concern which shows 128 shades, named principally from natural objects.

Raining "Cats and Dogs."

In England the male blossoms of the willows are called "cats and dogs" and a rainstorm would shake them off and strew them on the ground. Hence arose the expression "raining cats and dogs."

Columbus Boasted.

"These latest passengers needn't be so stuck up," he cried. "I was the first man to cross the ocean in three ships."—New York Sun.

Bobby's Version.

Asked to define "lunch," Bobby replied: "Lunch is what you have for dinner when your father is away."

Newspapers Run by Women.

More than a score of daily newspapers in the United States are owned and actively managed by women.

Equally Hard.

In many cases it is as difficult to stay at the top of the ladder as it is to get there.

Daily Thought.

Innocence in genius and candor in power are both noble qualities.—Madame de Stael.

Speak Up, Then.

Said the facetious feller, "You've all heard that old wheeze about hearing Pike Speak; but did any of you ever hear Jack and the Beans Talk?"

Hunting Trouble.

When a man is looking for trouble he doesn't have to go to the dictionary to find it. He can get it in the telephone directory.

Do Justice Promptly.

When it is our duty to do an act of justice it should be done promptly. To delay is injustice.—La Bruyere.

Daily Thought.

A religious life is a struggle and not a hymn.—Madame de Stael.

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-262

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches
in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.
CLOCKS, JEWELRY
Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.
Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra
Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.00 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.
E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Firth of Forth.

The Firth of Forth is, of course, one of the most notable things in all Scotland. From Kincardine, where it officially begins, to that imaginary line just west of the Isle of May, from the East Neuk of Fife to the mouth of the Tyne, in Haddingtonshire, where it officially ends, is a distance of 48 miles; while from shore to shore from one and a half miles, at Queensferry to seventeen and a half miles off the Isle of May, says an exchange. Within this great expanse of water whole fleets may ride at anchor in perfect safety, and, although little is known of the great scenes which must have taken place in these waters during the last four years, the story of the Firth of Forth during the great war, culminating, as it did the other day, with the surrender there of the German high seas fleet, will be not the least interesting of the many stories which still remain to be written.

Wanted Glasses.

The battalion commander saw a fire on the opposite hill, and thinking it might be a signal, despatched his orderly for a pair of glasses. The orderly ran over to headquarters and, sticking his head in the door where the intelligent group were discussing war, liberty, etc., asked, "Has anyone a pair of glasses?" There was absolute silence for five seconds—then come one innocently inquired, "Nose glasses?"

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices ---executed by men who are craftsmen---try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.
HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

Yours Eyes Will Tell You

If your eyes are laboring under an undue strain you must be conscious of something wrong. For your own good, allow us to make a careful examination of your eyes. See W. H. LACEY, Exclusive Optometrist, 410 George Street.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE.

A special meeting of the Ashburnham Patriotic League is called for tomorrow (Tuesday) evening at the home of Mrs. Parsons, 104 Douro St., at 8 p.m. All members and those interested in the league are urgently requested to attend. Important business is to be discussed.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1083.

SPECIAL MEETING.

A joint meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, the Building Trades League and the Painters' Union will be held in Labor Hall this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

A. J. BOLWELL, President. WM. STEVENS, Secretary.

AUCTION SALE.

Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 3 p.m., I will sell for Mr. Samuel Landry two houses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 425-431 Bethune street; this property will be sold without reserve. Terms $500 cash, balance can remain at 5 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

NOTICE
TO CONTRACTORS AND BUILDERS

On and after May 1, 1919, the union rate of wages for carpenters will be 67½ cents per hour, 8-hour day. Saturday afternoon off during months of June, July and August.

THOS. J. McMURRAY, Pres.,
F. SHEARER, Rec.-Secretary.
Local Union No. 219.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

NOTICE.

I take this opportunity of making known to the public the fact that I have no connection whatever with the painting business being conducted in my name at 416 Water street, as I sold my painting and decorating business nearly a year ago and my name is being used without my consent. My time, energies and interest are used entirely in connection with my General Insurance Business at 202-203 Barrie Building.

HUGHSON JOHNSTONE.

NOTICE ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS

All members of the above who have returned from overseas are requested to attend the next regular meeting, Tuesday, March 25th, at 8 p.m., in S. O. E. Hall. This is important.

A. W. LAWS, Chief Ranger.

AUCTION SALE.

Monday evening, commencing 6.30 p.m., of household furniture, etc., at the home of Mr. Wm. Stuart, 234 Lansdowne street, near Park street; entire contents will be sold without reserve.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

GEORGE STREET CHOIR.

All members of the chorus are reminded that the practice this week will be held Tuesday night in the practice room of the J. M. Greene Music Co., Charlotte street. Ladies at 8 o'clock, men at 8:30. Please be prompt.

Actions speak louder than words when deaf-mutes talk.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Donald Edwards of Toronto is visiting Mrs. James Wood, Monaghan road.

Mr. Meredith Huycke, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, spent the week-end with his parents, Judge and Mrs. Huycke.

Capt. Arthur Field, who has been visiting in Peterborough, leaves today for Toronto.

Miss Vera Knox, Fenelon Falls, paid a flying visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street. She returned today, accompanied by her sister, Miss Dorothy Helen Knox.

Major Whittaker, who was one of the passengers on the Olympic, is expected in Peterborough tomorrow. He will be the guest of his father-in-law, Mr. W. H. Moore.

Rev. Jessie Gibson, of Toronto, who preached in the city yesterday, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Scott. Rev. Gibson preached in the Bethany Tabernacle in the morning and in Park Street Baptist in the evening.

Mr. Joseph Little spent the week-end in Peterborough the guest of Mr. Carl Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Knox, Havelock, spent the week-end with the former's parents.

Mr. Cumberland McQuigge of the Nipigon Construction Co., spent the week-end with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street. He left today for his home in Toronto.

Mr. R. W. Joyce of Peterborough spent the week-end at his home in Havelock.

Mrs. Thompson of Havelock spent the week-end the guest of Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street.

ST. ANDREW'S NOTES.

Prayer meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Ladies' Aid sewing meeting Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Business meeting of L. M. B. on Tuesday evening at 8.

Regular monthly meeting of the W. M. S. Tuesday afternoon.

TRINITY CHURCH NOTICES

Monday, 8 p.m.—The Epworth League will meet in the basement of the church instead of in Reid street hall.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—The first of a series of Wednesday night public services will be held in the church. The pastor, the Rev. F. E. Malott, will preach. The choir will lead the singing. These services will be continued until Passion Week when nightly meetings will be held. A large attendance is hoped for. All welcome.

Friday, 8 p.m.—Entertainment by the Whatsoever Class in Reid street hall.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Monday, 7:30, Girls' Auxiliary.

Tuesday, 2:30, W. A. sewing meeting; 5 p.m., evening service.

Wednesday, 8 p.m., Lenten midweek service. Address by Rev. Mr. Taylor, of Australia.

Thursday, 8 p.m., choir practice Boys at 7:30.

Friday, 2 p.m., C. W. A. sewing meeting.

Saurday, 9 a.m., boys' choir practice. 5 p.m., evening service.

V. C. FOR N. S. CAPTAIN

London, England, March 22 — Capt. Sassell Tucker of the American expeditionary force has been invested with the military cross by King George at Buckingham Palace.

LIEUT. SHARP RETURNS.

Lieut. and Mrs. Sharp of Toronto spent the week-end with the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Knox, Gilmour street.

Lieut. Sharp has just returned from overseas, where he has been for the past three years. Lieut. Sharp and his son, Harold Sharp, both enlisted in the 155th Battalion and went to France together. Pte. Harold Sharp is at present convalescing from wounds and gas received before the armistice was signed. Lt. Sharp returned without having sustained injury of any kind.

PAYS FOR HIS SPREE.

A Peterborough man, who was before the court a week ago and was remanded, appeared before Magistrate Dumble today, charged with having been drunk in a public place, and was fined $10 and $4.10 costs.

Social and Concert In S. of E. Hall

A very pleasant concert and social was held in the Sons of England hall Thursday evening last under the auspices of the Daughters of England. An excellent program was rendered, and judging by the hearty applause given to each performer, was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The marked ability shown by the juniors taking part is well worthy of special mention.

At the close of the concert refreshments were served and games indulged in. The program was as follows:

Piano solo—Mrs. Poole.
Reading—Mrs. G. Thomas.
Solo—Mr. Inch.
Violin solo—Miss Winnie Evens.
Recitation—Mrs. Barnes.
Piano solo—Master Willard.
Solo—Master Dick Evans.
Solo—Mrs. Thompson.
Piano solo—Miss Ruby Rumbelo.
Solo—Master Herb Read.
Solo—Mrs. Wagstaffe.
Piano solo—Mrs. Lucas.

"THE BRIDE SHOP" THE BEST EVER

MANAGER OF RUSSEL THEATRE, OTTAWA, ENDORSES IT AS TRULY A GREAT SHOW

Manager Dahn, of the Grand Opera House, has received the following telegram from the manager of the Russell Theatre, Ottawa:

"'The Bride Shop' opened here last night, and is one of the very best musical shows we have ever had. It ranks with 'Miss Springtime,' 'You're in Love,' and 'Katinka,' and you can praise it to the limit. It is truly a great performance, and your people will be delighted."

"The Bride Shop" is billed for the Grand Opera House Thursday, this week, March 27th, and booking should be of a capacity nature.

Assistant Manager Mother's Bread Co.

J. J. Corbett, one of the few of the originals of the Princess Pats who enlisted in Toronto in August of 1914—at the very beginning of the war—and served for over four years and was wounded four times, has been appointed assistant manager of the Mother's Bread Company and will reside in this city.

Mr. Corbett returned to Canada in September of 1918 and is bringing his wife from England.

TRIUMPH OF OLD CONTEMPTIBLES

ACCLAIMED BY A CHEERING MULTITUDE — BRITISH GUARDS REVIEWED

London, March 22.—The first triumphal march on a large scale of British troops which fought in France and Belgium occurred in London today. Fourteen battalions of the Guards, representatives of all units of Great Britain's crack corps, accompanied by their bands, proceeded from their barracks to Buckingham Palace where they were reviewed by King George. The line of march thence led through the main streets of the city.

Despite the gray skies of the day great crowds assembled to cheer the men, many of whom belonged to the "Old Contemptibles," and had fought from August, 1914, until the signing of the armistice.

The procession was led by the Earl of Cavan, the first commander of the Guards' Division, with his staff, which included the Prince of Wales. The city was gaily beflagged and the troops received a tremendously enthusiastic reception.

WILL START TOMORROW

The members of the young ladies' organizations which have taken charge of the sale of tickets for the Motor Show are starting out tomorrow. The committee looking after the arrangements hopes that they will be well received by the public.

STRIKERS REFUSE CONFERENCE.

Regina, March 24.—Four striking labor unions—bricklayers, carpenters, plasterers and painters—have rejected the proposal of the builders' exchange for a joint conference, with a view to a settlement of the dispute regarding wages and hours. A conference of the builders in the province will be held probably tomorrow.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

Norma Talmadge Subscribes $200,000 To Liberty Loan

Norma Talmadge, the popular Select star, did her bit in the large way typical of this charming screen actress, by subscribing $200,000 to the Third Liberty Loan. Her subscription, which is one of the largest individual purchases in the New York district, was made through the Harriman Bank on Fifth Avenue, where Miss Talmadge keeps her account. The officials of the bank confirmed the reports of this sale.

The bank's respresentative secured Miss Talmadge's signature to her subscription blank by calling in person at her studio in East 48th street, where she was at work on "De Luxe Annie," which will be shown here today, Tuesday and Wednesday (matinee daily) at the Grand Theatre. The banker volunteered to wait until the scene was finished, since he realized the cost of keeping the entire company waiting while the star affixed her "John Hancock" to help can the Kaiser, but she would have none of it. "The Liberty Loan comes first," said she, as she picked up her trusty pen, "if anything is delayed, it cannot be helped under the circumstances. Our boys 'over there' cannot wait; we must oversubscribe this loan, the first since we actually entered the war, and without a moment's delay."

So the Kleiglights were turned off, and while the star wrote NORMA TALMADGE on the official blank the director and the entire cast of "De Luxe Annie" waited—held up by the Government Special!

"De Luxe Annie" was adapted from The Saturday Evening Post story by Scammon Lockwood, later made into a play by Edward Clark, which had a successful season in New York. The scenario is by Paul West, the direction by Roland West, and Norma Talmadge is presented by Jos. M. Schenck, as in all her Select Pictures.

The balance of the program will be confined to first-class comedies, and the famous Humphrey Sisters in their original singing and dancing specialty, one of the best popular price programs ever presented at the Grand.

OBITUARY

MRS. DAVID KENNEDY.

Elizabeth Dalzell, wife of Mr. David Kennedy, 224 Park street, passed away at Nicholls Hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock after a prolonged illness at the age of 68 years.

Deceased was born in Kingston where she resided for some time, later moving to Montreal, and finally coming to Peterborough. She was a member of Knox Church here and prominent in the W. M. S. and other kindred organizations.

She leaves the husband, four sons and one daughter. The latter are: Robert and William, Montreal, Samuel, with the Quaker Oats Co., this city, and David, also of Peterborough. The daughter is Miss Margaret, at home.

A service is being held at the house this evening at 7:30 o'clock by Rev. Robt. Pogue. Tomorrow the remains will be taken to Kingston via the 8:30 G. T. R. train, where interment will be made in Cataraqui cemetery.

FUNERAL OF H. KENT

The funeral of the late Herbert Kent, of Vancouver, and former manager of the Bell Telephone in this city, was held this afternoon to Little Lake cemetery from Comstocks' undertaking parlors, the Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson conducting the services.

Pallbearers were: Messrs. Alex. Elliott, W. H. Lytle, Chas. Stapleton, H. C. Winch, G. W. Hutton and T. Fortye.

U.S. BUYING AUTOMOBILES

Washington, D. C., March 23. — Motor truck manufacturers have delivered to the war department 96,551 trucks of all types out of orders for 115,127 that remain to be filled after the cancellation of contracts due to the close of the war had been made. Of the trucks delivered 51,884 were shipped overseas. Department reports made public today also show that all but one of 20,038 motor cars which remained on order after cancellations had been delivered on Feb. 1, and approximately half went overseas.

Among other orders for motor vehicle deliveries nearing completion are 14,072 ambulance and 39,239 motorcycles.

Special Services At George St. Ch.

A campaign of special evangelistic services began yesterday in the George Street Methodist Church and will continue every night except Saturday during the next two weeks. The pastor of the church will be in charge and will be assisted by local ministers. The meeting will begin each evening with a song service at 7.45 and as special gospel hymn sheets have been provided, the singing will undoubtedly add greatly to the success of the work. The services will be held in the school room which will accommodate about 500 and when occasion demands, the church auditorium will be used. The prospects are exceedingly bright for a successful campaign as was evidenced in the service last evening when about twenty signified their determination to seek the forgiving grace of God and live the Christian life. This is a work which should commend itself to everybody for the spiritual quickening of individual hearts will result in better citizenship, happier homes, a purer city and a more prosperous nation. The public are heartily invited to attend as many of these services as possible.

SETTLEMENT OF

(Continued from Page [illegible])

says that the new experiment of the Coal Commission is too bold and too successful to be dismissed to deal with a special case, but its results should be examined as a test of what can be achieved in the solution of industrial difficulties by a public tribunal.

The Observer points out that the Government's adoption of Justice Sankey's report opens up for the coal industry a prospect of intensive reconstruction which other industries might well envy, and that a strike now would be a plain act of revolution which the community would nerve itself to overcome at all costs. Therefore, it says, the history of the Coal Commission is a portent which the policy of the industrial triple alliance must take into account.

Result of Larger Outlook.

C. N. Barnes, the Labor Leader, and member of the War Cabinet, in an article in The Weekly Dispatch, referring to agreements recently made shortening hours and raising wages, says these conclusions have not been altogether extorted by trade unions, but are the result of a larger outlook and a new note of humanity on the part of employers, who have been stirred by the events of the last four or five years, and have emerged better from the ordeal of enduring common privations for a good cause.

'Pretty Baby" Draws Record Attendance

A capacity attendance greeted the presentation of the musical comedy "Pretty Baby" in the Grand Opera House Saturday afternoon and evening.

This is considered to be the best performance of its kind that has come to Peterborough this season and the theatre-goers of the city were well pleased and state that the management's boast that it was the musical comedy of the hour was well founded.

Brilliant song hits, good singers, catchy dances, tasteful costumes and pretty chorus girls combined to produce an entertainment which would be hard to beat in its class.

Howard Myers, as Mike the house boy from Dixie, and Joe Richardson, as Sam, the negro waiter, were real comedians and put across some "originals" which kept the audience in good humor all the time.

Nulle "put one over" on the audience when he appeared upon the stage in response to his third encore and when the silence of expectancy had settled upon his auditors he enjoined them to remain that way and scampered off the platform.

Thursday evening the musical comedy surprise, "The Bride Shop," will be presented at the Grand. This promises to be another good one and should draw a large house.

CALLED TO ASHBURNHAM.

The fire department had a run yesterday afternoon to the residence of Mr. Thomas Reid, 149 Maria street Ashburnham, to a chimney fire. No damage is reported by the Chief.

INFANT PASSES.

Mary Agnes, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Toole, 826 Charlotte street, died Saturday morning aged eight weeks.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

To-night, Tuesday & Wednesday MATINEE DAILY 2.30
Select Pictures Present
NORMA TALMADGE in "DE LUXE ANNE"
SPECIAL COMEDY — SCREEN MAGAZINE — AND COMEDY DRAMA
VAUDEVILLE: HUMPHREY SISTERS, Sing and Dancing.
EVENING 15c MATINEE 10c

THURSDAY Evening Only
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE
THE BRIDE SHOP
With EDDIE VOGT
AND A DISTINGUISHED CAST OF PRINCIPALS.
THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTLY GOWNED ORGANIZATION ON EARTH.
PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, Seats Tuesday.

THE "BRIDE SHOP"

George Choos, producer of the successful musical show, "The Bride Shop," which will be on view at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, March 27th, prides himself on the acquisition of a new word to his vocabulary. He invited a friend to see one of the rehearsals of his show and said friend expressed himself as being unusually pleased with the production, particularly," he added, "as it is one of the few musical shows where the whole company is full of spizzerinktum." After he had gone Mr. Choos became puzzled as to what his friend meant by spizzerinktum. He asked several people but no one could explain. After he reached his office he picked up a 1918 dictionary and found that spizzerinktum is a new and honest-to-goodness word and is defined as meaning, "full of vim, activity, life and pep." So now Producer Choos uses the word regularly. Seats on sale tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Y. W. C. A. Gym Schedule for Week

The gymnasium classes at the Y. W. C. A. this week are as follows:

Monday:
4:30—Junior School Girls.
8:00—Business Girls, Beginners.
Tuesday:
4:30—Junior School Girls.
6:00—Athena Club.
8:00—Silver Link Club.
Wednesday:
4:30—Junior School Girls.
8:00—Special Classes.
Thursday:
7:00—Advanced Class.
8:00—Business Girls, Intermed.
Friday:
4:30—School Girls, basketball.
8:00—Ladies' Class.
Saturday:
9:30—Juniors.
10:30—Babies' Class.
2:00—Junior Club Classes.
8:00—Beginners' and Intermediate Classes and Basketball.

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a recital of readings given by several members of the Elocution classes. The program will be given in the green room and all members are invited.

LINDSAY STORE WAS ROBBED

DUNDAS AND FLAVELLES SUFFER LOSS OF CONSIDERABLE VALUABLE PROPERTY

Dundas & Flavelle's store at Lindsay on Friday night was robbed of a quantity of valuable goods, including silk skirts and dresses.

It would appear, says the Post, that the robbers entered the building during opening hours and secreted themselves. Later on in the dark, when the clerks had all retired, the robbery was committed. A raid was made on one department only, that of the ladies' ready-to-wear, and the thieves helped themselves to the very best in the stock, including high-grade and rich quality goods.

In conversation with one of the directors of the firm, it was stated that the firm realizes that police protection in Lindsay is inadequate, and it has been decided to employ their own special night watchman.

The Coughlan shipyards at Vancouver are to be placed under a committee of six for operation for at least sixty days.

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone 670 PETERBORO

The situation in Egypt has greatly improved and Cairo and Alexandria are now tranquil.

The Canadian Government had been asked to establish a direct steamship service with Jamaica.

NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:

A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Hurleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of these sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary.
Provisional Committee,
21 Brown St.

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors, LEATHER, RATTAN, WICKER, WOOD, METAL and GLASS or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle AT

Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Keenan
149 HUNTER STREET.
Phone 443 J. Peterboro.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Fair and mild today; showers on Wednesday.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 71 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1919.

Price Two Cents Per Copy

HUNGARIAN BOLSHEVIST GOV'T. ABSORBS HOMES AND PROPERTY

Will Abolish All Titles and Separate Church and State—Held First Meeting Saturday —Cossacks Check Bolshevik Reg't.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Amsterdam, March 25.—The new Hungarian Bolshevist Government at its first meeting Saturday, says a despatch from Budapest, decided to abolish all titles of rank, to separate church and state, and is inviting Workmen's Councils to select directorates of four members each. The formation of revolutionary courts was decided upon, and the Council ordered at People's Commissioners to take over all homes, business and art treasures in private hands.

Bolsheviki Checked.

London, March 25.—Six Bolshevik regiments on the Northern Don front have been driven over the Donets river by Don Cossacks, according to undated despatches from Ekaterinodar. The Cossacks also re-occupied Ekaterinovshaya, in the northwestern part of the Don territory.

Boys Before Court Are Reprimanded

Desmond Hunt and Fred Willard, two young boys who were accused of assaulting Fred Shambo, were before the Juvenile Court this morning and were let off with a warning, upon the parents agreeing to pay the costs of the case and the doctor's charges for attendance upon the boy they had maltreated.

The two boys while playing with Shambo tied a clothesline rope about his neck and bound him in such a manner as to cause painful injuries. They claim they were imitating the exploits of Buffalo Bill in the Wild West, but had it not been for a little girl, Sadie Foy, who untied the ropes the game would undoubtedly have proved a very serious one for the victim.

CONSIDER TAXING CHURCH PROPERTY

DECIDES IT SHOULD BE CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL IF IT EVER BECOMES LIVE ISSUE

At a meeting of the Legal Committee, held last night at which Chairman Turner, Mayor Duncan and Aldermen Phelan, Hamilton and Garside were present, the clerk was authorized to notify Mrs. Mary Burns that the city was not liable for the damage caused to her property by the recent flood.

A letter was read from J. E. L. Goodwill stating that the flood on March 17th damaged the plants of the William Hamilton Company.

It was decided upon motion of Aldermen Hamilton and Phelan that in view of the high cost of living and the likelihood of adding to it if the suggestion of the Board of Health to have bread wrapped was adopted, to take no action in connection with this matter.

Mr. G. N. Gordon wrote the Board on behalf of the executors of the Hanna O'Brien estate reminding them that $600 damages was claimed as a result of damage caused to the property through water flowing against it from the street.

Street Commission Evans was heard in connection with this question and a letter read from C. R. Widdifield, city solicitor, stating that in his opinion the city was not liable.

Upon motion of Mayor Duncan and Alderman Hamilton the city solicitor was ordered notified that no action would be taken in this matter and that Gordon & O'Brien be informed of this decision.

The letter from the County Orange Lodge signed by the recording secretary, W. G. Bartley, and enclosing the resolution asking that church property be taxed, was read and after some discussion it was decided to recommend to the Council that this question should be taken up whenever the movement seems to be general throughout the provinces of the Dominion. A copy of this resolution will be forwarded to the recording secretary of the Lodge.

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN SAILS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 25.—The Empress of Britain has sailed and will arrive at St. John, it is expected, about the 1st of April. Nearly three thousand soldiers are on board, including 1100 from Ontario points.

DUBLIN FORBIDS ALL PROCESSIONS

MILITARY ACTIVITY MONDAY—TEN ARMORED CARS LANDED FROM STEAMER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 25.—In reporting the issuance of a proclamation at Dublin forbidding meetings and processions in that city on the date of Professor De Valera's arrival and reception, the Mail says ther was some military activity in Dublin on Monday.

The newspaper states that ten armored cars were landed from a steamer during the day and that their passage through the streets of Dublin attracted much attention.

Sentence Suspended In the Skeaff Case

Billy Skeaff, who pleaded guilty to a double charge of theft, this morning in Police Court, was allowed to go upon suspended sentence, provided he made restitution of the amount he had stolen and paid the costs of the court.

Skeaff is a returned soldier who went overseas with the First Contingent. His home is in Toronto but since the beginning of the year he has been employed as a painter in Peterborough. His employer informed the police that he had never known Skeaff to do anything dishonest before in spite of the fact that he had plenty of opportunities while working in people's houses.

Crown Attorney Hatton made a plea of leniency for the prisoner upon the grounds that he was a returned soldier who had served his country and had stolen money in his boarding house from two of his friends while suffering from blood poisoning which prevented him from working. He admitted that this was no excuse for Skeaff's conduct but should be urged in palliation of his offence. He thought as representing the Crown that little good would result from punishing him severely especially as he was prepared to make compensation and pay the court costs.

Magistrate Dumble gave the young veteran a severe lecture and let him go upon suspended sentence though expressing no sympathy with him and characterising his action in stealing from his friends as mean and contemptible.

48.10 is the amount Skeaff had to pay. This covered the costs of the court and the amounts stolen, $22.00 and $16.00.

PRESS BLAMES CONFERENCE

FOR HUNGARY'S EMBRACING OF BOLSHEVISM— GENERAL DISSATISFACTION

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 25.—The morning newspapers unanimously charge the Paris Peace Conference with the responsibility for Hungary's embracing Bolshevism, and express general dissatisfaction over the delay in concluding peace.

Rotary Clubs are passing resolutions favoring daylight-saving.

FRENCH TROOPS IN HUNGARY MAY HAVE TO BE DISARMED

Advisability of All Allied Missions Being Withdrawn Under Consideration—Two British Monitors Reach Budapest—Many Rumors, However, Are Doubtful.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 25.—Unofficial reports from Budapest state that the Allied missions there are debating the advisability of leaving and that the disarmament of French troops in the city is being considered. Order prevails, and no injury has as yet been done to foreigners. Martial law has been declared and the death penalty has been prescribed for armed resistance to the Bolsheviki, for robbery and looting. A fine of 5,000 crowns has been fixed for the sale of alcoholic liquor, and a fine of 10,000 crowns for drinking it.

British Monitors There.

Two British monitors are reported to have arrived at Budapest, having been under fire on their way up the Danube. Other British and French vessels are near at hand. A British patrol boat was seized by the authorities, but was returned with apologies by the government.

Rumors Denied.

It is said that rumors that Hungary has declared war on Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia are extremely doubtful. Six hundred Hungarians, who have been prisoners of war in Russia, are said to be returning daily across the Carpathians, being under the influence of Bolshevik doctrines.

Panic in Budapest.

Copenhagen, March 25.—Claims of the establishmnt of an Hungarian Soviet government in power, as set forth in its wireless communications, are largely untrue, according to a Vienna despatch. A panic prevails in Budapest, but the country, it is declared, has not yet resolved upon a Soviet republic.

To Discontinue Daylight Saving

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, March 25.—Despite protests from cities, it is understood that the government is determined to accede to the demands of the farmers and discontinue daylight saving this summer. It is expected that an announcement along these lines will be made this afternoon.

LOCAL HOTEL MAN IS FINED $500

PROPRIETOR OF KING GEORGE HOTEL CONVICTED OF SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE

W. H. Hamilton, proprietor of the King George Hotel, was this afternoon in police court convicted of selling liquor without a license and was ordered to pay a fine of $500 and $9.10 costs or go to jail for a term of six months. The fine and costs were paid.

Scaffold Collapses Injuring Workers

Edward Barnes was seriously injured, James Jordan painfully shaken up, and Harry McDonald got off with a sprained thumb this morning when a scaffold upon which they were working collapsed at the old Murray street church building which the G. W. V. A. are renovating for a hall.

Dr. Moir was called to the scene and had Barnes moved to Nicholls Hospital in Belleghem's ambulance. Jordan was able to walk to his home and McDonald was able to continue his work.

This afternoon it is stated that in spite of the fact that Mr. Barnes is suffering from a severe scalp wound and other minor injuries, he is doing very well.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 25.—The terms of the report which it will make to the Peace Conference were decided upon Monday by the Commission on International Labor Legislation. Members of the commission adopted a resolution thanking Chairman Samuel Gompers for his work during the sessions.

BIG SPAN IN HUNTER STREET BRIDGE QUESTION OF ECONOMY

Safety Also Assured—Arguments in Reply to Recent Letter of Mr. Fitzgerald's

To Editor of The Daily Review:

Sir,—Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald discusses the proposed Hunter street bridge and myself in a letter in your issue March 19th. Will you allow me space for a brief reply?

First, as to his proposal to narrow the roadway by 20 feet leaving a 22 foot roadway with sidewalks in addition. We must assume that he would place at least a single track electric railway on his bridge, as he would not wish the Ashburnham people to walk for the next century, which he figures his bridge would serve. If this track were placed as near to one side of the road as possible it would leave a roadway of about 12 feet on the other side, which would be the only space available for all vehicular traffic going in both directions. Vehicles could not pass in this space. It is less than the roadways on country sideroads, which are at least 16 feet wide in most parts of the Province.

It must be then that Mr. Fitzgerald will place the track in the centre of his road. In this case there would be a roadway on each side of a trolley car of about 7 feet. An automobile meeting a car would require a careful hand at the wheel you must admit. I should be tempted to think that Mr. Fitzgerald had written somewhat hastily, if it were not for his assurance that he had made a thorough study of the question. Even so, I am afraid there is a point that he has missed. The regulations of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board which apply to all bridges carrying cars on tracks require a minimum roadway of 31 feet between curbs for a single track carrying the smallest cars, for the safety of the public. For the cars decided upon by Council after having taken the matter up with the Hydro Electric Commission the minimum width for single track allowed would be 33 feet. This would allow the narrowing our proposed roadway at most only 9 feet instead of 20 as Mr. Fitzgerald proposes. These considerations as well as others equally conclusive also dispose of the possibility of ever using the present Smith street bridge for trolley cars as proposed by someone in a previous letter to your paper.

Again Mr. Fitzgerald proposes to greatly cheapen the approaches by using a fill of earth or other material retained by 2 concrete walls. The

(Continued on page 8)

TRADES COUNCIL OBJECTS TO THE MAYOR'S ACTION

MEETING CLAIMS HE HAS VACATED SEAT ON LIBRARY BOARD AS RESULT

At a joint meeting held last night of the Trades and Labor Council, the Builders' Trades Council and the Painters' Union, the action of Mayor Duncan in accepting the contract for the painting of the Public Library while sitting as a member upon the Library Board and while Mayor of the city which grants money towards the support of the Libray was thoroughly discussed.

President A. J. Bolwell, after outlining briefly the reasons for the meeting, called upon Mr. F. Sindon, a painter contractor of this city, who was the first to bring the matter to the attention of the Council by a letter in the press, to state his case to the meeting.

This Mr. Sindon did. He scored Mayor Duncan for failure to observe the law as regarded the taking of contracts which would be paid for by a public body upon which he himself had a seat.

Mr. J. G. Guise-Bagley was present and read the extracts from the Public Library Act and the Municipal Act dealing with the matter under consideration. In explaining the application of these he expressed the opinion that, from a cursory examination of the wording of the enactments, he would conclude that the Mayor could at once be called upon to vacate his seat upon the Public Library Board and that if the treasurer had paid over the money for the contract—and it was stated that the work had been completed—that official could be compelled to make good the sum he had paid out, even though the Board had ordered him to make such payment.

A representative sitting upon the board of management of the Public Library or of any other institution supported partially or wholly by public funds, who entered into or whose firm entered into any contract to do work for that institution for which remuneration would be received, vacated his seat upon the Board, ipso facto.

Upon any one bringing the matter before the County or District Court, provided the case was established, the erring member's seat would at once be declared vacant by the judge and the secretary of the Board notified of such action so that he could call for a re-appointment to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Bagley also stated that if the mayor had not put himself in a position where it would be possible to disqualify him from continuing to hold the office he now held, he had come very near it.

Different members present expressed opinions upon the question. Some demanded to know why the contract had not been let out by tender, and others thought that the mayor should be given an opportunity to explain his position. One thought that they should go the whole length and take whatever action was necessary to have the Mayor vacate his seat. Several of the aldermen were present, and they advised against any drastic action until the facts of the case could be enquired into.

Alderman Morrison was sure that Mayor Duncan would not do anything which he knew to be wrong and thought that the idea of appointing a committee to take the matter up with him was a good one.

This met with the approval of the president, and the committee was appointed, composed of the following members: President Bolwell, Secretary W. Stevens and Mr. F. Browne.

In addition to interviewing the Mayor this committee will go fully into the matter from the legal standpoint with Mr. Bagley, who announced last night that it would afford him the greatest pleasure to give the Council the benefit of his professional knowledge and advice in connection with the situation which has arisen.

Mr. Sindon showed a disposition last night to precipitate a discussion which would have been outside the province of the meeting, but President Bolwell promptly ruled such action out of order, and the meeting was adjourned.

REVOLUTION IN POLAND AND ROUMANIA IS NOW IMMINENT

LESS ANXIETY OVER EGYPT

THE TROUBLE WAS PREDATORY RATHER THAN POLITICAL, SAYS CURZON

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, March 25.—(Canadian Press Despatch from Reuter's). —Lord Curzon, President of the Council, speaking in the House of Lords, said that news from Egypt now gave cause for less anxiety. The recent manifestations, he said, were preditory rather than political.

MORE TROOPS LEAVE KINMEL

TWENTY THOUSAND CANADIAN SOLDIERS LEFT FOR HOME LAST WEEK

London, March 25. — The troopship Regina left Liverpool on Saturday for Halifax with 36 officers and 1,700 other ranks from Kinmel, two officers and 22 men from Bramshott, 34 from Buxton and 80 air force cadets.

The Canadian camping season in England starts, weather permitting, today. As many troops as possible will be taken from billets and placed under canvas.

The Empress of Britain left Liverpool Sunday for Halifax with eight nurses, 89 officers and 2,784 men. All the men and 66 officers are from Kinmel Camp. All the troops at Kinmel at the time of the recent disturbances have left. A total of twenty thousand Canadians embarked last week.

RUSH TO CANADA

Detroit, March 25.—M. V. MacInnes, Canadian Government agent here, is shipping fifty-six settlers and four cars of stock and effects to Western Canada today.

MARTIAL LAW IN MADRID

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Madrid, March 25.—Martial law was proclaimed at five o'clock this morning. It is understood that constitutional guarantees may be suspended forthwith throughout Spain.

Funeral of Late Hon. W. J. Hanna Today

BUSINESS IN SARNIA SUSPENDED AND NOISE OF TRAFFIC IS HUSHED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Sarnia, Ont., March 25.—Business in this city was suspended and the noise of traffic hushed while the remains of the late Hon. W. J. Hanna, one of her prominent sons, were interred this afternoon.

Thousands viewed the body as it lay in state at the Methodist church here today.

May Make French Mission Prisoners

RUSS. SOVIET GOV'T. URGES THIS TO SECURE THE EXCHANGE OF SOVIETS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 25. — The Russian Soviet government, according to the Matin, has sent messages to Budapest asking the new Soviet government there to detain members of the French military mission as prisoners. The Russian authorities, it was added, desired this action with a view to bringing about an exchange of this French mission for the Soviet mission held by the French authorities at Salonikl.

Jugo - Slav Delegates Look For Spread of Bolshevik Activities

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 25.—The Jugo-Slav delegates to the Peace Conference took a pessimistic view today of the situation in their countries, Poland and Roumania, and said that those regions were likely to be affected by the Bolshevik revolution in Hungary.

Changes in Covenant.

Paris, March 25.—During a three-hours session last night the League of Nations Commission, considering proposed amendments to the covenant, disposed tentatively of the first sixteen sections, agreeing upon a number of changes in a form which the members of the commission believe will meet more than fifty per cent. of the objections offered by U. S. Senator Lodge and other American senators.

French Ambassador Will Go to Austria

Paris, March 24.—Henri Allize, French Minister at The Hague, who was recalled last week to undertake a mission to Vienna, will leave Paris for Austria soon. He will have the title of Extraordinary Envoy. His assistant will be Francois Romieu, formerly an attache of the Embassies in Berlin and Vienna.

Heavy Gale Too Much For Olympic

COULD NOT DOCK THIS MORNING—BIG LINER RETURNS TO ANCHORAGE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 25.—After an unsuccessful attempt to dock the Olympic in the teeth of a twenty-three-knot northwest blow this morning, the giant liner returned to her anchorage in the stream and prepared to disembark the civilian passengers by tender.

An attempt is now being made to dock the Royal George.

Bolshevik Army Reaches Brody

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berne, March 25.—The Bolshevik army, which is on its way to Hungary, has reached Brody, according to the latest news received here.

Brody is a city in northeastern Galicia, about fifty miles east of Lemberg. During the first two years of the war Brody was frequently the scene of hard fighting between the Russians and Germans and Austrians.

CAPT. McKEGNEY KNEW NO FEAR

ONE-TIME TORONTO CHAPLAIN TWICE RECOMMENDED FOR BRAVERY

Toronto, March 25.—The chaplain of the 58th Battalion, Capt. (Rev.) S. E. McKegney, M.C., formerly of Brantford, and at one time curate at St. Mark's Church, Parkdale, is a fighting parson. The boys of the 58th and the officers, too, worship their padre. He was with the battalion a little over a year. Twice he was recommended for the Military Cross for devotion to duty in superintending the bringing in of wounded and assisting the M. O. to bandage the men. At Amiens he was recommended, but the white and purple ribbon never came. At Cambrai he was decorated.

"He was with the boys all the time in the thick of it," stated one officer. "At Amiens and at Cambrai he went out on the battlefield assisting to evacuate the wounded."

Capt. McKegney will take a charge in Clinton after he gets out of khaki.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 160-166 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager. R. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 188. Editorial ... 484.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 331

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1919.

A DANGEROUS SITUATION.

AVOIDABLY OR UNAVOIDABLY, the Peace Conference has delayed so long in reaching an agreement on even a preliminary peace that the march of events threatens to throw the whole of Eastern Europe into such a state of chaos and anarchy that their labors may have been in vain in so far as there being any governments that the Allies can accept as responsible sponsors for their respective nations. It is all very well to spread abroad the claim that Hungary's reported alliance with the Russian Bolsheviki Government is merely a bluff to alarm the peace makers into offering easier terms, but we are constrained to reflect that the Bolshevik movement in Russia was not at first given credence by the Allies as one which could materially affect either the war or the after-the-war situation in Europe. But for all that, the Reds in Russia have had considerable success which our Allied forces have so far been impotent to materially check, and Bolshevism is marching through Europe and westward with a speed that promises a recall for a renewed armed offensive if we are not to experience a return to the horrors of war exaggerated a hundredfold beyond those through which we have passed during the past four and a half years.

The situation in Austria, Hungary, Ukrania, Poland, and Germany is very disquieting and much resembles the first stage of the Russian revolution, when we did not give heed to the actual part Bolshevism was playing in Russia. We had our excuses then for not realising what was coming and for failing to give effective help. We were in the middle of one of the most difficult phases of the war, we were necessarily absorbed in the purely military aspects of the situation. There are fewer excuses now with the Russian example before us and the clear proof that, given certain economic conditions, political chaos and savagery will follow.

At last, after too long an interval, however, the Allies are shipping food into starving European countries, and let us hope that it is not too late to save the situation. But food is not all that is wanted to settle that unrest and uncertainty which is fast blossoming into extreme socialism and anarchy. Peace and a return to normal economic conditions, with industrial activity and international business and commercial relations re-established are factors which must be forthcoming before any stable governments for those stricken European countries are assured. An armistice is not peace, and unless the peace terms are soon ready for acceptance, and signed, we may well awaken to the appalling fact that the demobilization of our armies is very premature.

A PERVERTED VIEW.

THERE SEEMS TO BE an occasional school teacher or university professor who does not warm up much to the great advantages of musical instruction in the schools because the children enjoy their music classes. The type of man in mind appears to act on the principle that a study, to count for anything, must be one that is considered by the pupils to be a disagreeable grind. What a foolish notion.

The fact that music, well taught, always proves an enjoyable study to the average school class is one big reason for its place on the curriculum. After a more or less wearisome period of grammar to be followed by another spell at history, a song in the interval relieves the strain on the children's minds, freshens them, and puts them in a receptive mood for the next chapter.

Again, it is so much easier to go through a day's work at school knowing that with 4 o'clock comes a period of orchestra practice. The school orchestra is destined to prove a big factor as of direct educational value and as one means of training pupils to make a wise use of their leisure time. The fact that any subject, of the acknowledged education status that music has, has an immediate appeal to school children is a decided argument in its favor, for its potentialities are unlimited.

STORY OF SINN FEIN.

IT IS THOUGHT that today general home rule for Ireland on all domestic questions is gaining favor, and reports indicate that very shortly the Irish question will have earnest attention in the Imperial Parliament. But it is regarded as impossible that an independent republic such as the Sinn Feiners are determined on will result from Professor De Valera's so far irrepressible activities Apart from any other consideration, Great Britain cannot afford to take any step which will render it possible for an enemy to establish bases for invasion only two hours distant by steamboat from both Scotland and Wales. Therefore, while Great Britain may be willing to give Ireland the status of a self-governing dependency like Canada, it cannot be expected that she will willingly submit to the Emerald Isle being constituted a republic controlled by De Valera and the Sinn Fein political organization, which is practically indistinguishable from Fenianism.

To properly understand the Sinn Fein and what it means one must go back to the inside history of Ireland from the time of the Norman invasion, and P. S. O'Hegarty, in his book, "Sinn Fein," offers an illumination of timely interest. By his study of Ireland he has established a right to be heard, and he sets forth the story of the growth and meaning of the movement with the vigor and directness which we have learnt to expect from the author.

A writer in the London Times says:

"Mr. O'Hegarty's thesis is that Ireland was an organised nation when the country was invaded by the Normans in 1169; that her physical subjection was not completed till the treaty of Limerick in 1169; that her spiritual subjection was made possible by the Act of Union in 1800; whilst her spiritual regeneration dates from the foundation of the Gaelic League in 1893, Sinn Fein, as a political force, being a necessary development of the language movement. It is characteristic of the contempt which each generation of Irish politicians feels for its predecessors that neither the 'Independence' movement of Grattan in 1872, the 'Repeal' movement of O'Connell, the 'Young Ireland' movement of 1848, nor the Land League revolution engineered by Parnell and Dewitt is thought worthy of a place in this classification. Indeed, another Sinn Fein enthusiast has quite recently spoken of the 'baleful influence' of O'Connell, who poisoned Irish life by substituting Anglicization, Liberalism and Benthamism for the pure milk of nationality and language.

"Mr. O'Hegarty's chosen turning points in Irish history are useful for the grouping of facts, but historical students will hesitate to accept them as an adequate classification. He admits that politcal unity in Ireland was only 'dawning' in the time of Henry II., whilst contemporary authorities seem to indicate that the tendency at that time was rather toward ultimate dissolution ban oward unity. Pope Adrian, as an Englishman, may be suspect; but an even severer judgment than his is that of Pope Alexander III., who in 1172 urged 'the illustrious King of the English' to persevere in his good work in Ireland, where the people, 'in utter disregard of the fear of God, are wandering with unbridled licentiousness into every downward course of crime, and have cast away the restraints of the Christian religion and of morality, and are destroying one another with mutual slaughter.' That does not suggest a very hopeful dawn for political unity; and the Popes must have gathered their impressions of the country—uniformly unfavorable—from the reports of the Legate and the Irish hierarchy, with the illustrious St. Laurence O'Toole, Archbishop of Dublin, at their head. Mr. O'Hegarty, it is true, has already pointed out in his 'Indesructible Nation' that the influence of the Church was 'constantly and consistently' against the Irish; and we would suggest, in the light of this, that the true 'spiritual subjection' of Ireland might be thrown much further back than the Act of Union.

"But the story of Sinn Fein is the important matter, and Mr. O'Hegarty traces it step bp step. Fenianism, we are told, 'has never died out of Ireland since its foundation in 1858 by James Stephens and T. C. Luby.' It permitted itself to some extent to be merged in Parnellism, but 'with the death of Parnell died all chance of the policy of Parliamentarianism achieving anything for Ireland.' and Fenianism again asserted its individuality. In 1893 the Gaelic League 'turned men's thoughts towards the old independent Ireland.' The celebration of the centenary of the Rebellion of 1798 gave further impetus; and when in 1899 the 'United Irishman' was founded by Mr. Arthur Griffith, 'the modern separatist movement was definitely on its feet.' In 1902 Mr. Griffith formed the 'National Council,' and in 1905 came the 'Sinn Fein League.'

"Mr. O'Hegarty insists, quite correctly, that the Easter Rebellion of 1916 was no part of the program of Sinn Fein although a certain number of Sinn Feiners allowed themselves to be 'rushed' into it b strong-headed men. With the outbreak of the war and the expulsion of Mr. Redmond's nominees from the Volunteer movement the Fenians dominated it, and they headed straight for the inevitable insurrection. Only one Sinn Feiners, we are told, signed the Republican proclamation; but the distinction does not seem very clear, for we are told a little later that 'there has never been in Ireland a constitutional or quasi-constitutional movement which was not founded in Fenianism, impregnated with Fenianism, and propagated with Fenianism (save the movement under Mr. Butt and Mr. Shaw, which never held the Irish people).' And further we are told that 'Sinn Fein represents at present (1) the old Sinn Fein movement, (2) Fenianism, and (3) the whole public opinion which has swung round from the Parliamentarian policy to the policy of no compromise.' It is 'based frankly on separation.' Mr. O'Hegarty, who, as he tells us, was a member of the National Council in 1902 and continued a member of the Sinn Fein executive till 1911, is obviously entitled to write 'from the inside'; and he gives us some interesting glimpses, although, as he says, 'the scope of the book has precluded any mention of individuals save Mr. Arthur Griffith, who is the Hamlet of the piece.' Indeed, Mr. Griffith occupies a whole chapter, from which we learn that 'he believes intensely in himself' and in nobody else; that 'his immediate friends and co-workers are far below his level in intellect and outlook'; that 'as a writer of obituary notices he is unsurpassable'; that 'as a controversialist he is able and totally unscrupulous,' and is nearly always right.'"

NOTES AND COMMENT.

EX-KAISER WILHELM has since residing in Holland cut down so many trees that he must be developing into an expert woodsman. Wonder if he is thinking of coming to Canada.

• • • • •

THE OTTAWA CITIZEN contends that the property qualifications for municipal candidates is a relic of junkerdom. Peterborough's Trades Council appreciates that fact and is endeavoring to get rid of the relic.

• • • • •

A BOLSHEVIK newspaper reports that Madame Sternberg-Jakoleva has been executed for conection with the counter-revolution in Russia. Madame herself has been accounted responsible for a thousand executions. She must have been a female Robespierre.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

THEN WHY THE HOWL?

(Buffalo Courier.)

The Pan-German League denounces those responsible for signing what it calls the "suicidal armistice." If the armistice was "suicidal," why prepare to howl over the terms for peace?

THE IRON RATION.

(London Opinion.)

The iron age gallery of the British Museum is now reopened. Some specimens of war bread would render it complete.

CHILDHOOD'S ENERGY.

(Saturday Evening Post.)

Laziness is an adult vice. Children are almost never lazy. Little children do not want to play, they want to work. Toys are their tools—the objects they use in trying to exercise their faculties in imitation of their elders. Time out of mind the most popular toys have been those that best satisfied this impulse—a doll that the tot can mother, blocks to build houses of, and so on. A top appeals because the child can make it go. The ant and the little busy bee have nothing on a company of small children engaged in digging a canal through the sand on the beach.

DON'T ROCK THE BOAT.

(London Daily Express.)

Great Britain led the world in the race for constitutional government. It is peculiarly her duty to see that the welfare of the world, which was the object of the war, is not lost in general disorder. Every class and individual must exercise during the armistice the same self-restraint and self-sacrifice practised to attain the overthrow of Germany. The motto for today is, "Don't rock the boat!" Let it not be written of us in the future that we fought like heroes an dthrew the result away like fools.

WIT AND WISDOM

"The kaiser's future uncertain? Oh, no. There's a certainty about his future that delights me," said Congressman Fess of Ohio. He went on:

"An Ohio hired girl said one day to her mistress:

"'Can I have the afternoon off three weeks from next Monday, ma'am?'

"'I don't know, Mary. Why do you want to get off?'

"'I want to attend Bill Scraggs' funeral, ma'am. Bill was my fiance.'

"'What nonsense is this?' demanded the mistress. 'You want to go to a funeral three weeks from now. Why, you don't even know he's going to die. That's something none of us can foretell—the date of our own death.'

"'Maybe not, ma'am; but I know about Bill. He's going to be hanged'."

Like a flying dumpling, Uncle Flopwit projected himself from the moving 'bus to the pavement. Christmas mud was everywhere.

His feet touched the paving stones for a fraction of a second, but he proceeded for the next ten yards of his way face downward. He was still prostrate when a Samaritan's voice exclaimed:

"Oh, dear! Have you hurt yourself?"

"Hurt myself? Of course not. That sliding business is the first figure of a new dance—the walrus glide. Supposed to be a walrus sliding off a block of ice into the sea! Did it rather neatly, I think, don't you, you idiot?"

"A horse, a horse! My kingdom for a horse!" roared Richard III.

A wag in the gallery shouted: "Wouldn't a donkey do for you?"

And the quick reply came back: "Yes; come round to the stage door."

"The German crown prince," says Former Ambassador Gerard, "was much coddled by the ladies in the past, but I once heard an American girl in Berlin hand him, as the slang phrase goes, a good one.

"She was a breezy western girl, a millionaire's daughter, and the crown prince was much taken with her flashing beauty.

"'I can trace my ancestry back twenty-seven generations,' he said to her.

"She looked him over and her lip curled.

"'What else can you do?' she said.

"Did you show that account to Ardup again today?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you tell him it had been on the slate long enough and I'll like to rub it out?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did he say?"

"He said it looked as if you were trying to rub it in."

RHYME TO MARCH.

(The Cave Scout, in Boy's Life for March.)

How are you, March, you blustering duffer,
You red-necked old pirate, you windy old bluffer!
You're scheming right now just how you will mix
Your weather surprises—we're onto your tricks;
Don't think for a minute you'll fool us again,
With your camouflage dodge "coming in like a lamb";
We know your soft breezes and soft April rain
You'll change to a blizzard and hit us ker-slam!

Our lesson we've learned from your stunts in the past,
Whatever you start isn't likely to last;
Rain in the morning, sunshine at noon—
You changeable rascal, you're wild as a loon!
So if you rush at us with volleys of sleet,
Growling and howling with lion-like roar,
Puffing white frost, stamping your feet,
You won't scare us any, you've tried that before.

Of course, we don't know what you're trying to do,
And yet we feel certain that neither do you;
For search as we will, no reason we find
To show why you always are changing your mind.
So here we've a challenge, old fellow, for you,
For any old time and any old place,
Bring on your old weather — show what you can do.
We'll take all you've got—and laugh in your face!

Marmalade

made with

10 Lbs. Pure Cane
Lantic Sugar
Extra Quality
Granulated

Your only trouble will be to make enough of it. Send 2c. stamp for our three booklets on "Lantic Sweets" delicious recipes for cakes, preserves and desserts.

Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd.
McGILL BUILDING, MONTREAL.
20

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Humility is a virtue we all admire in others.

It takes a woman to smile when a rival is praised.

Blessed are they who expect little, for they usually get it.

It is sometimes better to try and fail than never to have tried at all.

Ever notice how things that are none of your business will interest you?

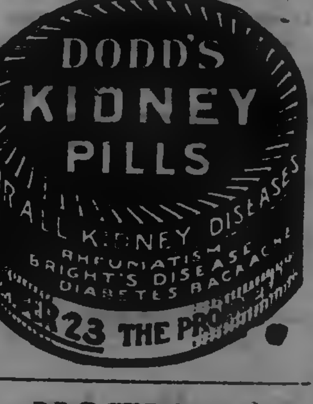
No woman would wear eyeglasses if they did not improve her looks.

The louder a man talks—well, you know what there is in a bass drum.

A girl may have a face that is a poem—but lots of men don't understand poetry.

When it comes to dispensing flattery, the photographer has other men beaten a city block.

We are told that the millennium is coming, but it isn't coming with a rush. Perhaps a messenger boy is bringing it.



NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:
A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Hurleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of these sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary.
Provisional Committee.
21 Brown St.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

THE PARK AVE. NEWS

Weather. Peeple that dident hold their hat on wishing they had wile other peeple chase it.

Big Perrade. A big perrade of about 15,000 soldiers from the war marched down Broad street last Satidday followed rite in back by Benny Potts, Ed Wernick, Skinny Martin and Leroy Shooster.

Spoarts. Puds Simkins and Lew Davis had a setting down contest in Pudses parler last Thursday to see wich one could set down the hardest. Puds winning by breaking one of the skinnie legs of the gilt chair they was using for the contest, wich they put it together agen to look as if it hadent been broak yet, and Puds is wundering weather his mother will think the setting down contest is a good enuff ixcuse wen she finds out.

Bewty Departmint. Deer editor, how can I make myself bewtifill if I aint? Skinny Martin.

Amser. Ware a bewtifill falts face.

Intristing Facks About Intristing Peeple. Sam Cross always gets dizzy wen he looks down on the ground frum away high up. For this reason he is seldom saw on roofs.

Sissiety. A electrick door bell by pushing a button has jest been put in Miss Mary Watkinses house insted of the kind you haff to pull the nob, being easier to work but not making the door open any sooner.

LEE PAPE.

The burly butcher and his wife were airing their views in no uncertain manner on the pavement. Presently a good Samaritan intervened.

"See here, my man," he protested, "this sort of thing won't do."

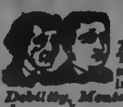
"What business is it of yours?" snarled the man, turning from his wife to the intruder.

"It's only my business in so far as I can be of help settling this dispute," answered the Samaritan, mildly.

"This ain't no dispute," growled the man. "She"—jerking his thumb toward the woman—"thinks she ain't goin' to get my week's wages and I know she ain't. Where's the dispute in that?"

You may know some men if you know some people they know.

Most men are more prompt about paying a grudge than a debt.



Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

MADE IN CANADA

GILLETT'S
LYE
E.W.GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED
TORONTO ONT.

Used for making hard and soft soap, for softening water, for cleaning, disinfecting and for over 500 other purposes.

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

E.W.GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED

EDMONTON POLICE UNIONIZE

Edmonton, Alta., March 24.—The city police have formed themselves into a union, and are applying to the Trades and Labor Congress for a charter.

HOTEL COOKS STRIKE

Montreal, March 24.—The majority of the cooks at the Windsor Hotel went on strike yesterday afternoon for higher pay. Five cooks remained at work.

Diamonds come highest when sold at cut rates.

ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Women suffer more than men from far-sight. This is probably due to their spending so much time indoors in work requiring near vision. Neglected this will cause untold agony, nervousness and at times a total breakdown. Every woman should have her eyes examined to see whether or not she needs glasses.

BY the use of temporary glasses young people often avoid the use of permanent glasses in later years.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Hastings,
Keene, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE Monday and Tuesday

CATHERINE CALVERT with HERBERT RAWLINSON in Out of the Night
By E. LLOYD SHELDON

LEAH BAIRD in the Great German Spy Serial
Wolves of Kultur Chapter 13. 2 Parts THE HUN'S HELL TRAP

ALSO A FINE COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

BESSIE BARRISCALE in MADAME WHO

The Escape Thru The Flames
From 10th Episode of THE LION'S CLAWS Serial

CHARLIE CHAPLIN SKETCH BY WEST THE CHIEF COOK

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

FARMERS

For Forty Years We Have Been Allies

Do you remember what farming was like in Canada forty years ago?

We remember very well what manufacturing was like, what there was of it.

The farmers were struggling on farms and getting low prices for their produce.

The few manufacturers were also struggling, for the most part unsuccessfully.

For forty years we have woaked together. Have we not both prospered?

We buy from you most of what you grow. You buy from us most of what we make. That has been and is the basis of our alliance.

The manufacturing establishments in Canada employ nearly 700,000 people. Their wage-roll is about $700,000,000 a year. Moreover, they buy annually nearly $2,000,000,000 worth of raw material, mostly in Canada. Around these factories are congregated a hundred other forms of business. All these are your customers, and statistics show that this home market is four times as valuable to you as your entire foreign market. Decrease its buying powers, and your sales lessen and your prices drop.

How A Minority Seek to Sever Our Alliance

The Prairie Grain Growers are urging the Government to throw down the tariff wall between Canada and the United States because they want to save a little money (mainly on freight rates) by buying from the United States manufacturers just south of them. They, who constitute about 20 per cent. of the agricultural population of Canada, ask all the other farmers, who constitute the remaining 80 per cent., to change the policy which they have supported for forty years.

Furthermore, to raise the Dominion Government revenue, they would substitute for the tariff, which collected last year about 60 per cent. of that revenue, an increase of income taxes, inheritance taxes, corporation taxes and taxes on unimproved land values. As it is quite obvious that such taxes would affect the farmer but little, this is the inducement they are using to get you to forsake us and follow the free trade prophets no one knows where.

We think this appeal will fail. First, because it seems to be founded on the assumption that the farmers of Canada want to slip out of paying any increased taxes that may be needed for soldiers' pensions, gratuities and re-establishment. We have found in all our experience that the farmers of Canada are not this class of men. Second, because the argument is unsound. It requires little reflection to see that if our market is thrown open and flooded, many of our manufacturers, caught in the struggle to re-adjust themselves from war to peace conditions, will not be able to keep going. Would this not result in many of our people, unless they were able and willing to take up farming, leaving for the United States? Would not the rest of the population then, which might consist chiefly of farmers, have to pay all the taxes?

The Grain Growers do not represent the entire population of the Prairie Provinces. They do not represent the business population; they do not by any means represent all the farmers. The Prairie Grain Growers' Associations are dominated by a group of free traders whose one idea seems to be to get free trade all over the world. Unfortunately for their theories, just at the present time all the rest of the world seems desirous of getting protection.

Tariff Policy of Other Nations

GREAT BRITAIN is shutting out the goods of other countries (except the Dominions). FRANCE and ITALY are shutting out the goods of other countries by import restrictions.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY in the United States, which advocates low tariffs, seems to be going out of power, and the Republicans, who always support high tariffs, have now a majority in both Senate and Congress. Do you think that this means that the United States' tariff is going up or down?

SOUTH AFRICA is increasing its tariff. Australia, New Zealand, Newfoundland, Japan, Brazil and Portugal are all jealously maintaining their tariffs.

Why is this wave of protection sweeping over the world? In a word, because the various countries are trying to produce all they need at home, in order to provide work for their own people—many of them returned soldiers.

Why then is this Western minority of the farmers of Canada determined to go in the exactly opposite direction?

In opposing the demands of the Grain Growers, we do not in any sense intend, as they sometimes say, to show hostility to them. They are our customers. Is not our prosperity affected by theirs? Beyond all this, if the farmers do not prosper, neither we nor the country can prosper. Agriculture and industry are the basis of the country's strength.

But we feel that these demands of the Grain Growers aim a deadly blow, not only at industry but at the whole farming community.

What justifies the Grain Growers in demanding that their personal grievances be cured at the expense of the rest of the country? Are they in a desperate position? Have they been losing heavily? Are they suffering from too much adversity or too much success? Are they in any danger comparable to the one great danger in Canada now?—

THE DANGER OF UNEMPLOYMENT

the danger which may place thousands in need of shelter, food and clothing?

Most Canadians feel strongly that until this danger is avoided, and the country safely restored to a peace basis, the nation should not be disturbed by any tariff controversy at all.

When this danger is passed, and the country knows where is stands, and what other countries of the world are going to do, then the tariff question should be taken up and such a tariff should be framed as will suit, not the manufacturers merely, nor the farmers merely, but the country as a whole, and by adding to the prosperity of the nation, add to the prosperity of each and every class—the only safe path to prosperity for any country or any class in that country.

Issued by

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association

3

ABOUT OUR VEILS

Face Coverings Abandoned by the Women of Paris.

Curious Arrangement, Imitation of the "Flu" Mask, Is Being Worn by American Women.

The story comes from Paris that women have abandoned the veil. They are tired of it. They have taken to cartwheel hats and do not wish to destroy the outline of the brim by the folds of a face covering.

There are women over here, however, writes a fashion correspondent, recently returned from Paris, who are wearing the most curious veil America has seen. It is attached to a turban; it is as thick as the heaviest coarse net can be woven, and it is drawn tight around the eyes and the top of the nose, leaving the neck and lower part of the face bare. It is the best imitation of a masque that we have had so far, and it is intimated that it was taken from the influenza mask which was worn over the lower part of the face. One of our own designers of eccentricities has produced a genuine influenza mask of dyed lace which is drawn upward over the chin and nose to the back of the head. The French one is more seductive and coquettish.

In America we are addicted to veils. We wear them at all seasons, whether or not we know how to adjust them. The reason for their diminished fashion during the last year is due to the war activities of the great mass of women. First, a veil takes a long time to adjust; it should be done well, or not at all; and, secondly, it is not a good addition to uniform caps. So the veil dropped out, except among a certain segment of fashionables who would feel ashamed of their nakedness, as they say, if they went without it. The hurry and flurry of life has not allowed much time for leisurely dressing, and although the veil was insisted upon by the shops during the influenza epidemic, the doctors thought it was extremely harmful and injurious. They knew what the shops evidently did not know, that an influenza mask must be washed every three hours in a disinfectant. The extreme danger in the veil rested in the fact that it was not washed for days at a time, if ever.

For those who wear the veil, the milliners and jewelers have united in introducing a trifle which has gained much prestige. It is an arrow, an aviator's wings, a dagger or the fleur-de-lis done in jewels. This catches the veil at the extreme upper tilt of the hat in front.

It has been the jewel of the war. Women have turned their brooches into these veil pins; they have had other jewelry reset to possess the luxury of the moment, and they have bought them in real or imitation stones, in order to be in the procession of fashionables.

Explaining Cities' Destruction.

Modern science has explained many ancient mysteries, and a recent suggestion is that outbursts of natural oil have produced such catastrophes as that of Sodom and Gomorrah in the vale of Siddim. In the northern Caucasus an eruption occurred in August, 1895, in which 50,000 tons of oil were discharged in the first three days. At the San Diego oil field in Mexico a great outburst from a newly bored well in July, 1908, caught fire, and resisted all control for 58 days, the fountain of flames rising 500 yards, with a breadth of 150 yards.

Silvered Plate-Glass.

Silvered plate glass with beveled edges, sometimes with little figures cut on the surfaces in intaglio, were first made in Venice. For many years these mirrors were of small dimensions, five feet being the largest. Indeed, till late in the seventeenth century large looking glasses were made up of several separate pieces, the divisions between the plates being covered by subordinate lengths of gilt moldings within the general frame. Louis XV covered the walls of his great Salle at Versailles with looking-glass panels.

Married Men, Read This.

A translator of the Bible into the New Guinea tongue wanted a proper idiom for the phrase, "Far be it from me to do this thing." He consulted a learned native, who replied, "I understand. We have the precise idiom; we say: 'May I speak to my mother-in-law before I will do this thing.'" That sounded rather like a joke to the translator, but it wasn't, for in that land of strange taboos, one of the unpardonable sins is for a man to open his lips to his wife's mother.—Boston Transcript.

CARE OF THE MILKER

(Experimental Farm Notes.)

In the production of pure milk with a milking machine, great care is necessary in the handling and washing of the machine. Milk that is allowed to become dry on the parts is very difficult to get off. To avoid this, as soon as the last cows are milked and the milk emptied, but while the pump is still running, cold water should be drawn through the teat cups into the can. The machines should then be removed to the dairy and dismantled. The can covers to which the pulsator is usually attached should be washed, wiped dry and hung up. The teat cups and tubes should be washed in hot water to which has been added some alkaline washing powder. This will dissolve any fats adhering to the parts. Once a day, a brush should be used on the interior of the tea cups. These parts should now be put into a sterilising solution until next milking time. Once a week, the teat cups and attached rubbers should be taken apart and thoroughly washed in hot alkaline water with the special brushes supplied for this purpose. The cans may be handled with the rest of the dairy utensils in the ordinary way, steaming or scalding and draining in a room free from dust being important.

On taking the teat cups from the sterilizing solution for the next milking, they should be rinsed in fresh, cold water and then be assembled. At this stage, the drawing of scalding water through the teat cups into the cans would have a beneficial effect but is liable to injure the rubber. When adjusting the milker and attaching the teat cups to the cow's teats, be careful not to draw barn through the tubes into the can. In shifting the machine from one cow to another and changing the cans let the milk and cans be exposed to barn air as little as possible.

One of the best sterilizing solutions to use is composed of chloride of lime and add a gallon of cold water. Break up the lumps, stir thoroughly and then allow to settle. Cover and keep in a cool place. This is a stock solution and only the clear liquid off the top is to be used. In making up the solution for the teat cups use one pint of this stock solution to every ten gallons of water. As the sterilizing action gradually decreases, add another half-pint of the stock solution every three or four days as long as this solution is kept in use. The old solution should be emptied out and a new solution made often as is necessary to keep it clean. A new stock solution should be made at least every two weeks.

The keeping of the outside metal parts of the teat cups and pails bright is not so important but improves the appearance of the machines. For this purpose such polishing substances as Bon Ami, Dutch Cleanser, etc., may be used.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address:
THE COOK MEDICINE CO.
TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

Four important township educational conventions have been held in Halton county, resulting in the formation of organizations of the trustees and ratepayers.

A movement has been started to erect a monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Jacques Cartier Square, in the heart of Quebec East, which he represented in the Commons for 40 years.

TO RELEASE 500 HUNS.

Men Considered No Longer Dangerous to Be Freed on Parole.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Between five hundred and six hundred Germans no longer considered dangerous will be released on parole from internment camps at Fort Oglethorpe and Fort Douglas within the next two weeks, it is announced by the department of justice. There are persons who never committed actual hostile acts, but were under suspicion during the war or violated regulations restricting movement of enemy aliens.

Clarence Engel of Waterloo, aged 15, accidentally shot and killed his sister, aged 12, with his brother's revolver.

GIN PILLS
Neglect your kidneys now and the results will be fatal later. [illegible] Nature's warnings: headaches, [illegible] ness, pain in the back, etc., are [illegible] symptoms. If you have them [illegible] Pills are necessary [illegible]
50c. a box [illegible]
The National [illegible] of Canada, Limited, [illegible]

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

1871 HEAD OFFICE MONTREAL 1919
T. B. MACAULAY, President

Splendid Record Achieved during 1918

THE year 1918 was for the business of life assurance a year of supreme achievement.

Owing to the combined effect of the war and the influenza epidemic, death claims were unusually high. The payment of these claims enabled the Companies to render an unprecedented measure of public service, and to fulfill to a more noteworthy degree than ever previously the beneficent purpose for which they were founded.

The record achieved during 1918 by the Sun Life of Canada was one of particularly striking success. For the first time in the Company's history new assurances paid for exceeded Fifty Million Dollars. The growth in size, strength and prosperity accentuates the Company's position as not merely the leader among Canadian life offices, but one of the great insurance corporations of the world.

The Company's financial power is emphasized by its large Assets, Income and Surplus. During the year $7,460,000 was added to the Assets, which at December 31st, had reached the huge total of $97,620,000. The Income is now $21,651,000, while the undivided Surplus is $8,027,000.

Some idea of the magnitude of the benefit the community from the Company's operations is afforded by the disbursement to policyholders of $9,768,000, of which [illegible],268,000 represented sums paid to the beneficiaries of policyholders swept away by death.

The Policyholders have again had the opportunity, of taking, through the Company, the leading part in subscribing to the 1918 Victory Loan. Besides fulfilling to the utmost of its ability its patriotic duty in this regard, the Company has also been able to take advantage of the unique opportunity to purchase on very favourable terms large amounts of long-term securities, the beneficial effects of which will be felt on the earnings for many years to come.

The impetus given to life assurance by the experience of 1918 continues into the current year, and the results of the operations for the first two months greatly surpass all previous records.

THE RESULTS FOR 1918

ASSETS

Assets as at 31st December, 1918	$97,620,378.85
Increase over 1917	7,460,204.61

INCOME

Cash Income from Premiums, Interest, Rents, etc., in 1918	21,651,099.69
Increase over 1917	2,362,102.01

PROFITS PAID OR ALLOTTED

Profits Paid or Allotted to Policyholders in 1918	1,546,607.16

SURPLUS

Total Surplus 31st December, 1918, over all liabilities and capital (According to the Company's Standard which is more severe than that laid down by the Insurance Act).	8,027,378.55

TOTAL PAYMENTS TO POLICYHOLDERS

Death Claims, Matured Endowments, Profits, etc., during 1918	9,768,564.28
Payments to Policyholders since organization	78,862,881.15

ASSURANCES ISSUED DURING 1918

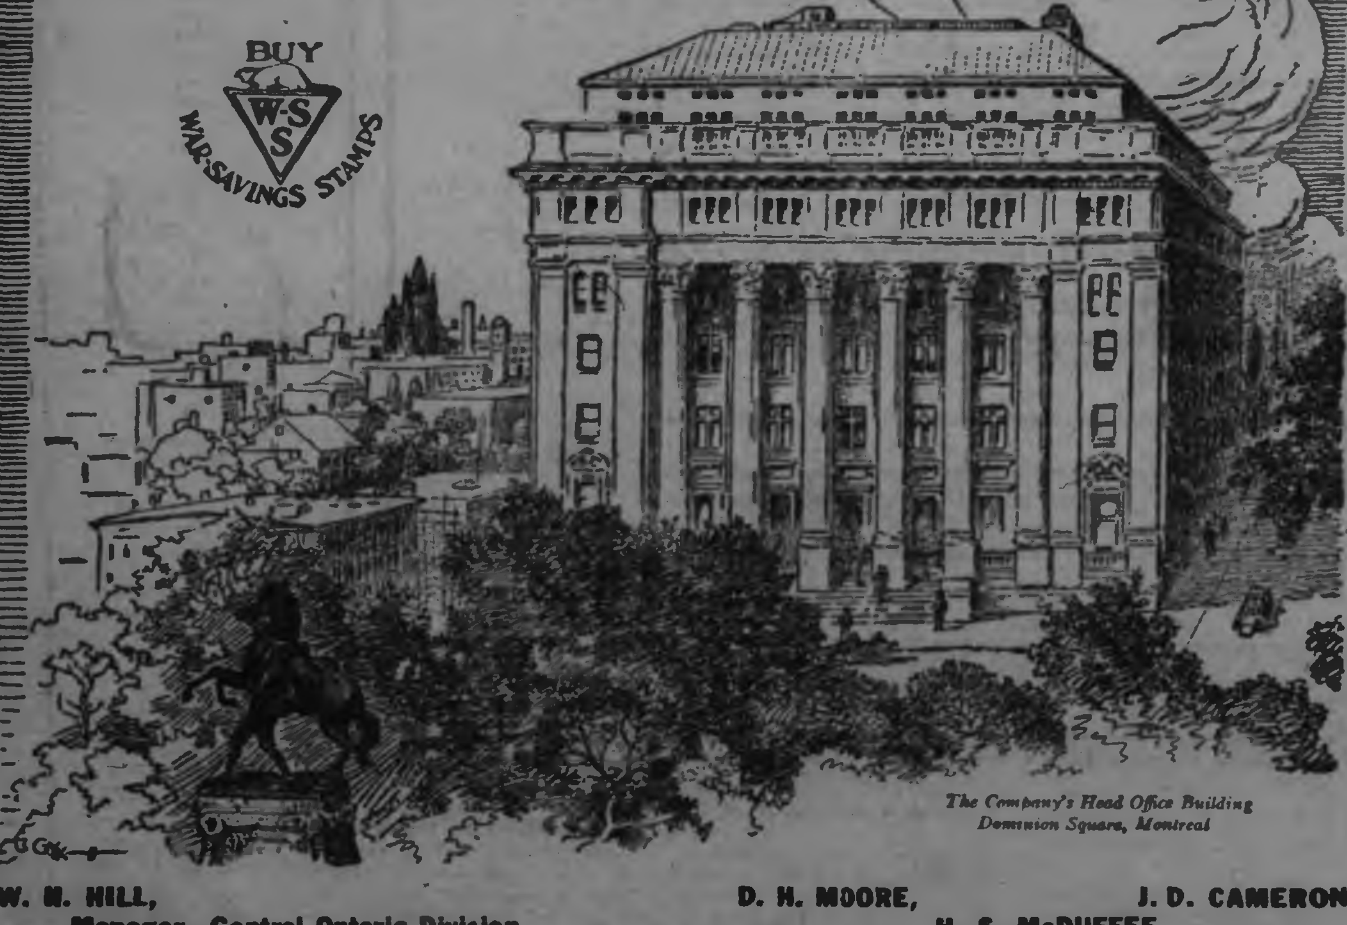
Assurances issued and paid for in cash during 1918	51,591,392.04
Increase over 1917	3,779,824.56

BUSINESS IN FORCE

Life Assurances in force 31st December, 1918	340,809,656.13
Increase over 1917	28,938,710.42

THE COMPANY'S GROWTH

YEAR	INCOME	ASSETS	LIFE ASSURANCES IN FORCE
1872	$ 48,210.73	$ 96,461.95	$ 1,064,350.00
1883	274,865.50	735,940.10	6,779,566.00
1893	1,240,483.12	4,001,776.90	27,799,757.00
1903	3,986,139.50	15,505,776.48	75,681,189.00
1913	13,996,401.64	55,726,347.32	202,363,996.00
1918	21,651,099.69	97,620,378.85	340,809,656.00



The Company's Head Office Building Dominion Square, Montreal

W. H. HILL,
Manager, Central Ontario Division,
Peterboro, Ontario

D. H. MOORE, J. D. CAMERON,
H. S. McDUFFEE,
(General Agents for Peterboro)

OLD WATCHMAN DEAD

Ingersoll, March 24.—An illness of two weeks terminated last night in the death of Charles F. Brown, for many years a resident of this town. For some time he had been watchman at the Thames street crossing of the G.T.R. Two weeks ago he was stricken with pneumonia. He was in his seventy-fourth year, and is survived by his wife and one brother.

GOOD FERRY RECORD

Dunnville, March 25.—The T. H. & B. car ferry Maitland has been laid up for a few weeks for repairs. The boat has made a record in lake navigation, having been on the run between Ashtabula, Ohio, and Fort Maitland on the Grand River, continuously since April 1 of last year, excepting when delayed by freight shortage. A return trip has been made across the lake every fifteen hours in every sort of weather for practically one year.

SUDDEN DEATH

Harriston, March 25.—Robert Thompson, a highly respected and prosperous farmer of the 4th Concession, dropped dead this morning. He had gone to the barn to do his chores, and his sister, becoming anxious, as he had not come to breakfast, went to the stable, where she found him lying dead. Mr. Thompson had had a severe attack of the "flu" a month ago, and it left his heart in a weakened state. Two sisters resided with him.

Chatham Chinese are planning to open a library and evening classes in English.

RETURNED SOLDIERS' WEEK AND WAR VETERANS' DRIVE

House-to-House Canvas Will Be Made to Raise Funds For Completing Veterans' Hall and Rooms on Murray Street—Whole Week of Entertaining Events.

The Great War Veterans are to make a big week's drive the week ending May 24th, with the object of raising the necessary $15,000 with which to complete the Veterans' hall and rooms on Murray street. This occasion is to be known as "Returned Soldiers' Week and G.W.V.A. Drive," and a number of our leading citizens have taken the initiative and offered to assist the Veterans in the drive also to make this week one of general welcome to the returned boys. A program of events has been planned for each day and placed under the direction of capable citizens of the town. A house to house canvas will be made so that every person will have an opportunity to contribute to the fund.

Here follows a list of the officials Executive Committee, and teams who will make a canvass of the several areas into which the city has been divided for contribution purposes:

Officials.

Mr. R. Denne—Chairman.

Capt. A. S. Morrison—Vice-chairman.

Mr. W. H. Dunsford—Treasurer.

Capt. R. E. Layfield—Secretary.

Mr. R. M. Glover—Publicity Chairman.

Executive Committee.

Messrs. J. W. Fraser, T. H. Hooper, Thos. Barrie, R. H. Turner, A. L. Killaly, J. V. McElderry, G. H. Roper, Comrades Capt E. H. Wood, George Coleman, S. Whatley, F. Dainton, H. R. Yates, Capt. Maurice Park, R. Muir and H. Staunton.

Teams and Area.

Group A—The north side of Smith street and north, including east side of the river, north of Smith street and Auburn—Mr. G. H. Roper, Captain of team; Comrades F. C. Haggart, A. Lassenby, T. Williams, J. A. Bonsells, C. H. Cheverell, W. Nicholls; with power to add to their numbers.

Group B—Boundries south, the north side of Brock and Weller streets, east of the river, north of the south side of Smith street, west boundary road—Capt. Maurice Park, Captain of team; Comrades W. Radley, J. Bacon, J. Foster, H. A. Graham, A. E. Miller, A. A. Ringer; with power to add to their numbers.

Group C—Boundries south, the north side of Charlotte street, east of the river, north of the south side of Brock street, west the boundary—Mr. V. J. McElderry, Captain of team; Comrades E. A. Everett, L. W. Lebarr, G. W. Lilly, W. Primeau, M. H. Parks; with power to add to their numbers.

Group D—Boundries north, the south side of Charlotte, east the west side of Park, south the river and west the limits, including Browntown—Comrades H. Staunton, Captain of team; R. T. Cooper, W. Dwyer, M. J. Cahagan, Capt. V. Lancaster, M. McConomy, A. C. Steel, P. O. Sturgeon; with power to add to their numbers.

Group E—Boundries north, the south side of Charlotte street, east the river, south the river, west the east side of Park street—Mr. T. H. Hooper, Captain of team; Comrades F. Cole, J. W. Coppock, R. A. Browne, F. A. Dainton, W. Dalliday, H. C. Wilson, G. Findlay.

Group F—Boundries all the East City south of Smith street—Comrades G. R. Coleman, Captain of team; B. C. Carpenter, J. McGrath, H. J. Rush, J. F. Strickland, H. M. Young, A. Naish.

Special Teams.

Manufacturers and financial companies—Mr. R. H. Turner, Captain of team; Mr. W. H. Dunsford, Mr. J. W. Fraser, Mr. R. Denne, Comrade Capt. A. S. Morrison.

The secretary will write to all patriotic, social and benefit societies in the city asking for their assistance and co-operation.

THE WEEK'S PROGRAM.

Monday Evening.

Formal opening of the new hall on Murray street under the direction of Capt. A. S. Morrison, president of the association. If weather permits this will include a reception on the grounds. Admission to hall by card only as our space is limited.

Tuesday evening.

Concert in the hall under the direction of Comrade Capt. Maurice Park.

Wednesday Evening.

Revue by Y.M.C.A. in the Veterans' hall under the direction of Mr. Asa Huycke.

Thursday Evening.

Smoker, under the direction of Comrade S. Whatley.

Friday Evening.

Dance, cards and reception on the lawn, under the direction of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Saturday Afternoon.

1.30—Parade to exhibition grounds by the Fire Brigade; returned soldiers and bands; athletic events on the grounds; vaudeville on the platform in front of grandstand; league game of base ball; tug-of-war and boxing on the grounds.

7.30—"Over the Top" show, under the direction of the G.W.V.A. band, including attack, defence of entrenchment, bombing and fireworks, ending with reinforcements by several bands, ending with a tattoo; vaudeville and musical on platform in front of grandstand.

Sports Committee.

Comrade Capt. E. H. Wood, Chairman; Mr. R. H. Roper, Mr. Chris Graham, Mr. Gene Hurtubise, Comrades Norman Saxby, W. Dalliday.

Grounds Committee.

Mr. Felix Bronscombe, Mr. Fred Hall, Mr. R. E. Layfield.

Booths and Concession.

Comrade A. A. Ringer—Manager.

Admission Charges.

Entrance to entertainments on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening, 25 cents. Friday evening dance is for the ladies to decide. Saturday sports, to grounds, afternoon and evening, 25 cents adults, 10 cents children; grandstand, 25 cents each.

Notice to Carry On.

The committee asks that you will note where you fit in, and take this as a notice to "carry on" to make every event a success.

Captains of teams will be notified as soon as their route lists and cards are completed. They will then call their committees together for organisation.

Each director or team captain are responsible for their area or work, and are asked to report frequently to the secretary in order that all details can be properly arranged.

R. E. LAYFIELD,
Secretary Joint Com.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles you

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms a uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer causes irritation thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

DROWNED AT PRESCOTT

Brockville, March 25.—Frank Major and Abram St. Louis, two Prescott men, rowed across the St. Lawrence from a camp a short distance below that town last night to Ogdensburg. Returning this morning shortly before 2 o'clock they were within hailing distance of their camp when Major fell out of the boat and was drowned. St. Louis raised an alarm but the body was not found until shortly after daybreak, when it was located in two feet of water. An inquest is being held.

Owing to another outbreak of Spanish "flu" Lethbridge churches, schools and theatres are closed.

For Piles

A Free Trial of Pyramid Pile Treatment Will Be Just Like Meeting a Good Old Friend.

PYRAMID IS A-WONDER

Have you tried Pyramid? If not, why don't you? The trial is free—just mail coupon below—and the results may amaze you. Others are praising Pyramid Pile Treatments as their deliverer—why not you? Mail coupon now or get a 60c box from any druggist anywhere. Take no substitute.

FREE SAMPLE COUPON
PYRAMID DRUG COMPANY,
[illegible] Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
Kindly send me a Free sample of Pyramid Pile Treatment, in plain wrapper.
Name.......................................
Street.......................................
City.......................... State..........

For 30 Years In City of Vancouver

In connection with the death of the late H. W. Kent, whose funeral was held in this city yesterday, a Vancouver paper has the following to say in connection with his death:

"After a lengthy illness Mr. Herbert W. Kent, a pioneer resident of Vancouver and one of the most prominent business men of the city, died at the family residence, 3937 Osler avenue, Shaughnessy Heights, this morning. He leaves a wife.

"A resident of Vancouver for nearly thirty years, Mr. Kent was for a greater portion of that time manager of the B. C. Telephone Co., leaving that service four years ago to become district manager of the Northern Electric Company.

"A keen and enthusiastic lover of sports, he was identified with the establishment of the Rowing Club and Horse Show Association and was a patron of all branches of clean sportsmanlike athletics.

"Mr. Kent was prominent in club and social circles and had a large circle of friends throughout British Columbia who will extend their sympathies to Mrs. Kent in her bereavement.

"He was born at St. Catharines, Ont., on August 3, 1862. In 1891 he came to Vancouver to take the management of the telephone company. He was a keen oarsman and was a member of the senior crew which represented the Burrard Inlet Rowing Club at the annual international regatta. He was married in 1896 to Miss Florence Findlay.

"The body will be shipped east to Peterboro on Tuesday morning and a brief service will be conducted by Rev. E. D. McLaren at Center & Hanna's undertaking parlors on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

"A kind-hearted friend and a public-spirited citizen, his death will be a source of deep regret to a large number of people and a profound sorrow to the rapidly diminishing ranks of the oldtimers."

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock the funeral was held from Comstocks' undertaking parlors to Little Lake cemetery, the following acting as pall-bearers:—G. W. Hatton, H. C. Winch, Thos. Fortye, W. H. Lytle, Alex. Elliott, C. S. Stapleton.

Mr. J. F. Little, of Vancouver, who brought the remains to Peterborough remained over for the funeral. Mr. Neilson, of Toronto, an uncle, of the deceased was present, also and the Northern Electric Company was represented by Mr. Beach, of the Toronto branch, while Mr. G. O. Cameron represented the Bell Telephone Company.

While in Peterborough, Mrs. Kent, mother of the deceased, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Stapleton, 2 Fleming Place.

BARLOW PLEADS GUILTY

Fred Barlow of Peterborough appeared in Police Court this morning, charged with havin ghad liquor in a public place. He pleaded guilty and his evidence seemed to implicate several other men. His story did not seem satisfactory to the magistrate who remanded him for a wek upon the request of the chief who staten that he would investigate the case further.

FISH COMPANY INCORPORATED

Port Dover, March 25.—The Port Dover Fish Company, Limited, has been incorporated, with head office here, and capital of $60,000. All but one of the incorporators are local men.

Cocaine and morphine to the value of between six and ten thousand dollars were seized at Windsor Station, Montreal.

694th Bargain Annex Event

Bargain Annex
Registered

Wednesday, March 26th, 1919

IN CRESSMAN'S SHOP FOR MEN.
A DISCOUNT OF 10% will be given to every soldier on his first civilian outfit. We know how to dress you up properly. Come in and see us.

DAILY CALENDAR.
The highest compact we can make with our fellow is: Let there be truth between us for ever more.
—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

LEADER.
20 PIECES ART CRETONNES, SILKOLINES AND DRAPERIES ALL AT 25c Yard
Our regular stock 35c, 40c and 50c values; several pieces are exactly half price to-morrow in the Annex. A splendid range of good looking and serviceable cretonnes, silkolines and draperies. Early selection is most advisable. All one price for an Annex bargain leader at, yard 25c

LEADER.
30c and 35c ENGLISH CURTAIN SCRIMS 19c Yard
Three hundred yards of our regular stock to sell on Wednesday at this very low bargain price. Every piece is 30c or 35c a yard value. Curtain Scrims of fine English weaves with self or fancy colored borders. In colors white, ecru and cream. Remember this saving opportunity when you think of the new curtains you need. Annerx leader at, yard 19c

SECOND ANNEX LEADER.
CANADIAN PRINT MILL ENDS SHORT LENGTHS, 19c Yard
A mill shipment of "short lengths" of the best qualities Canadian Prints. All are regular 30c and 35c values, and the lengths are from 2 to 10 yards. Colors include reds, pinks, navys, lilacs, greys, light blues, black and white grounds. Today's wholesale price is more than we will sell them for in the Annex on Wednesday. Leader Price .. Yard 19c

LEADER.
85c CREPE DE CHINES 59c Yard
A Spring shipment of dainty Crepe de Chines that can be used for afternoon and evening dresses or novelty blouses. Width 36 inches. A range of beautiful colors includes: white, shell pink, rose, sky, brown, grey, reseda, tuscan, hunter's green, maize, mauve, Copenhagen, navy and black. The Annex Leader price Wednesday .... Yard 59c

LEADER.
GIRLS' SPECIAL $1.69 "MONARCH KNIT" SWEATER COATS 99c
A clear-away Annex Sale of Girls' "Monarch Knit" Wool Sweater Coats. Specially priced in our regular stock at $1.69, and in sizes from 22 to 28. Colors: brown and cardinal. Values much below the manufacturer's price for a rush clean up sale. Annex Leader at 99c

ANNEX VALUES YOU'LL FIND HARD TO DUPLICATE

5c Skeins of Mending Yarn .... 3 for 10c
$1.45 Duplex Folding Curtain Stretchers .. 98c
Imperial Linen Writing Tablets, Empress size ...... 2 for 20c
"American Maid" Crochet Cotton, white and ecru, ... 2 for 15c
Ladies' 90c White Cambric Night Gowns .. 74c
25c Bottles of O'Cedar Oil Polish 21c
15c Packages of Lever Bros. Washing Lux .... 2 for 25c
18c Packages of Matchless Ammonia Powder .... 2 for 19c
"Panshine" Cleaner, large size cans .. 2 for 17c
40c English Nainsook, 36 inches wide, yard 29c

LEADER.
600 YARDS 30c ENGLISH LONGCLOTH, 19½c Yard
Six hundred yards for sale on Wednesday of this soft, needle finish, full bleached Longcloth of English manufacture. Width 35 inches. Ideal for ladies and children's under-garments. Regularly sold at 30c a yard. Save money by buying it in the Annex Wednesday at the Leader price, yard ... 19½c

25c, 38c and 40c Yard-Wide Flannelettes, 25c Yard — The best Canadian made Flannelettes, in fine, heavy qualities. Assorted colors in stripe patterns, also pure white combed finish Saxonys. Excellent flannelette values at this Annex bargain price Wednesday, yard ... 25c

20 Dozen Hemstitched Pillow Cases, 59c Pair—Splendid quality English cotton Pillow Cases, nicely hemstitched. Sizes 40, 42 and 44 inches. If bought to-day we could not sell them less than 50c apiece. Buy them in the Annex Wednesday at, pair.. 59c

29c and 35c Fine Dress Muslins and Voiles, 19c Yard—Ten pieces of fine washoble Dress Muslins and Voiles. Mostly light grounds with fancy floral, spot and stripe patterns. The every day stock prices are 29c and 35c. You can buy it in the Annex to-morrow at .. Yard 19c

Introductory Annex Sale New Size Lenox Laundry Soap, 8 Bars 25c — The first Annex shipment the new size bar Lenox Laundry Soap. Manufactured by "Proctor and Gamble" for a special 5c soap and is somewhat smaller than the old Lenox bar. Wednesday Annex introductory price ... 8 Bars 25c
No 'phone or mail orders.

LEADER.
LADIES' DOLLAR VALUE OVER-ALL APRONS 79c
An exceptional Annex value in these good quality Print Over-all Aprons for ladies. Made kimona styles, with the neck, sleeves, pocket and belt piped with white bias binding. Light and medium colors, and sizes from 36 to 42. Apron values equal to one dollar. Annex Leader Price 79c

Japanese Floor Mats, 27c—Three bales of Japanese Floor Mats, size 27 x 54 inches. An excellent range of colorings and attractive patterns. These are strong, serviceable mats and good value at this particularly low price. In the Annex Wednesday 27c

Half Price Sale, 10c Embroideries, 5c Yard — Half price and less for this lot of regular 10c and 12½c embroideries Widths 4 and 5 inches. A selection of twenty pretty patterns. A remarkable half price sale, on Wednesday in the Annex, yard 5c

85c Full Bleached Table Damask, 56c a Yard — Full bleached, splendid quality Damask Tabling Three attractive patterns for your selection; all 5 inches wide. The every day price is 85c a yard Buy it on Wednesday for an Annex bargain At, yard 56c

Linen Finish Envelopes, 6 Packages 29c—A four-year-old price for these French fabric linen finish Envelopes. Princess style with long pointed flaps Twenty-five envelopes in each package. A real saving opportunity. Don't miss it. In the Annex on Wednesday ... . 6 Packages 29c

The CRESSMAN Company Limited
ANNEX OPENS AT 8:30 A.M.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited
ANNEX CLOSES AT 5:30 P.M.

EDITOR'S MAIL

M. P.'S PAY

24th March, 1919.

To the Editor The Review:

Sir,—Mr. Gordon has written an extraordinary letter to The Examiner, the chief burden of which is that the pay of the member of Parliament should not be increased.

The reply to Mr. Gordon's letter, however, best suited to the occasion is a repetition of what I said before, namely, that men sent to Parliament should, as the Rev. Dr. Eaton truly says, have the interests of the public along to serve, and not any private interests for themselves, for clients or for companies, as they may have at present, and unfortunately, frequently do have. This view accounts for much of the disastrous waste of public money, and until people say to their member that he must drop all private interests when serving their interests, his services are only for the purpose of being sold out.

Mr. Gordon's pretended ignorance of the hours of work of members of Parliament is laughable. The member of Parliament opens his mail at 9 a.m. and usually has from 25 to 40 letters. He does good work if he can answer them before 11 a.m.

It frequently happens that the member, in order to satisfy the business referred to in the letter, has to visit departments and wait his turn. It takes a great deal of labor to follow up the requests of letter writers and answer them satisfactorily. Each member belongs to about three committees. These committees meet at least once a week from 11 to 1 and sometimes 1.30, and as they settle the clauses of the various applications made to them and of bills presented to the House, the labor is most arduous, especially in banking and commerce, and railways. It is fine work done in the committee that puts such clauses into bills brought into the House as gave $10,000,000 unexpectedly to the G.T.P. directors, because the word "implement" was put in by the lawyers and was allowed to pass by to the committee.

From 3 to 6 the House sits and from 8 till all hours of the morning—often 2, 3 and 4, and frequently during a session till 5, and I have known as in the Naval Debate when we sat for two weeks night and day.

From the 1st January, 1916, to the 31st March, 1917—a period of 7 months—I was 13 months in attendance at Parliament and had 2 months general election besides. Surely that with the program that I have outlined ought to satisfy anybody that a member of Parliament has a hard time of it. No man in public or private life has such long hours of hard work as a member of Parliament. They extend, as I have said from 9 in the morning, on an average, till 2 o'clock next morning.

But don't let Mr. Gordon attempt to draw a herring across the scent. He will never get to Parliament if he is going there to serve private as well as public interests. That day is done, and he may make up his mind to cut it out.

The present salary of a member of Parliament is more than half of what it used to be in value to him, though $2,500 nominally it is not more than $1,200 in reality, which means that the average member must leave his family at home and be separated from them entirely for never less than six months in the year.

Mr. Gordon would do well if he will apply the same principle to other peoples' payment that he did to his own when he voted in favor of an increase in the lawyers' tariff on the ground of the increased cost of living.

For him to throw stones at members of Parliament is rather amusing, but I fancy he would not have done so if it had not been the fact set out by me that members of Parliament shall not in future serve private and public interests at the same time hit him a bit hard. However, we bear him no ill will as our cause is surely just and fair.

J. H. BURNHAM.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

IS IT NOT CATCHING

Good vision is not contagious. You can't catch it, but you can lose it very simply. Neglect of the first signs of weakness of the eyesight is the surest way to make the trouble worse, while if you let Dr. Fowler care for your eyes, the sight is kept at its best and the weakness corrected.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

~~DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL EVENING~~ WAS THE RECITAL IN ST. PAUL'S

Dorothy Allan Park and Maurice H. Park Are Heard to Charming Advantage.

Peterboro has never listened to a better vocal recital, composed exclusively of local talent than was given last night in St. Paul's Church by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, soprano, Mr. Maurice Park, tenor, and Mr. John Allan, accompanist. A large and appreciative audience heard Mrs. Park's beautiful soprano voice to the best advantage and thoroughly enjoyed Mr. M. Park's tenor contributions.

Unfortunately, the organ was not in good playing condition, owing to its cyphering, and for that reason Mr. John Allan's organ solos had to be omitted—to the regret of all present.

The first group of songs sung by Mrs. Park was contrasts. That ever popular "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," by Handel, is always a good number and a general favourite of Peterboro audiences. The third part of the first group was "Bid Me Discourse," by Bishop, and although the most difficult of the three selections, it was by far the best rendered, Mrs. Park's runs and breathing being perfect and her soft passages extremely well expressed. The other selection in the first three songs sung by Mrs. Park was Marshall's "I Hear You Calling Me."

Later in the evening Mrs. Park sang "Sognai," by Schira, and "The Cry of Rachel," by Salter. In "The Cry of Rachel," a mother has lost her boy, and is asking death to let her in. This was the gem of the evening, and Mrs. Park was heard to perfection, throwing her whole heart into the song. This selection was enthusiastically encored and Mrs. Park was presented with a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses by little Miss Dorothy Moir on behalf of the choice members of St. Paul's Church.

Mrs. Park's last two songs were "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny." The last named selection called for an encore, and Mrs. Park responded with the "Lay o' the Last Minstrel," which was well received.

Mr. Maurice Park's fine tenor voice was heard to good advantage in "Onaway! Awake!", for which he received a well merited recall. Mr. Park's other two solos, "When the Dew is Falling," by Schneider, and "All the Roses o' June," by Geehl, are old favorites, and two songs which always take well with any audience. The last named selection was extremely well rendered and was without doubt Mr. Park's best effort during the recital.

The only duett, soprano and tenor, sung during the evening was Lohr's "Where My Caravan Has Rested," and which was sung by request. Mr. and Mrs. Park have never been heard to sing to better advantage than when they render "Where My Caravan Has Rested," and last night both singers were at their best, and this made the offering one of the premier selections on the program. The duett carried away the audience whose applause was prolonged and insistent.

Mr. John Allan, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's Church, accompanied in his usual capable style, and in perfect sympathy with the singers. The two organ solos which Mr. Allan had intended to play were:

(1) "Military Symphony" (1st movement), Haydn.

(2) "Tristesse" (Romance Sans Paroles), Streleski.

The Program.

The following is the program which was so successfully presented:

God Save the King!
Soprano Recit and Aria—(From Theodora)
(a) "Oh! Worse Than Death Indeed," "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," Handel.
(b) "I Hear You Calling Me," Marshall.
(c) "Bid Me Discourse," Bishop.
Tenor solo—"Onaway! Awake!" Coleridge Taylor. (From Hiawatha's Wedding Feast.)
Soprano solos—(a) "Sognai" (an Italian Reverie), Schira; (b) "The Cry of Rachel," Mary Turner Salter.
Intermission.
Soprano and tenor duett—"Where My Caravan Has Rested", Lohr. (By request.)
Tenor solos (a) "When the Dew is Falling," Schneider; (b) "All the Roses in June," Geehl.
Soprano Solos — (a) "The Last Rose of Summer," Moore; (b) "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," Bland.
"Rule Britannia."

STOMACH UPSET?

Pape's Diapepsin at Once Ends Sourness, Gas, Acidity, Indigestion

Don't stay upset! When meals don't fit and you belch gas, acids and undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion, pain, flatuence, heartburn or headache you can get instant relief.

No waiting! Pape's Diapepsin will put you on your feet. As soon as you eat one of these pleasant, harmless tablets all the indigestion, gases, acidity and stomach distress ends. Your druggist sells them.

To Form Baseball Team Wed. Night

There will be a meeting of those interested in baseball in the Empress Hotel on Wednesday to organize a ball team to represent Peterborough in the Midland League, to be formed shortly and which promises to be most successful.

Seven teams are already in line: Lindsay, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Belleville and Peterborough. The meeting to organize the league will be held April 3.

Every one interested in the game is asked to be present at the meeting of the local club Wednesday in the Empress Hotel, when the ball team of this city will be formed.

News From Corp. S. C. Kerneghan

Lance-Corp. S. C. Kerneghan, 2nd Canadian Divisional Mechanical Transport Company, writes to his parents from France that he is in the best of health. He is in the quarter master's store at present, but expects to leave on a vacation at Brussels and Antwerp in a few days. After that trip, he will, he says, have seen most of France and Belgium, and also some of Germany.

Corp. Kerneghan says Sunday is just the same as any other day in France and Belgium, but one sees the demonstration of more real Christian principles in a week there amongst the boys than in a whole year at home. "No hypocricy here," he concludes.

Vice-Admiral Sims, Commander of the American naval forces in European water, lunched yesterday with King George.

A man is seldom as black as he is painted or a woman as white as she is powdered.

APPRECIATION OF WORK OF THE ART ASSOCIATION

W. H. Pretty Gives Impression of the Recent Exhibition Held in This City.

The ladies of the Art Association of Peterborough, Ont., having for four and a half years or more given their services to the noble work of aiding the appeals of humanity in the cause of those following the arts of war, in the righteous cause of defence against brutal influences; are now returning to their accustomed routine work and ambitions in the cause of the arts of peace.

Only a few weeks have passed by since the Association gave an exhibition of arts and handicraft work which well repaid a visit, and, when some fine examples of combined art and handicraft skill were on view, indicating throughout that interdependence of art and handicraft skill which is ever a necessary factor in producing those individually beautiful results, which no machine, however complex, can produce either from this standpoint of excellence, appeal, durability or intrusive value.

We have during the past week had another opportunity of seeing the work of those possessing artistic and handicraft skill, but of another kind. On the former occasion the exhibits covered a wide field and represented, or rather let us say illustrated, the fact that there is no restricted media for expressing artistic skill, for the work covered by this exhibition represented book-binding, leather-work, woodwork, embroidery, painting, metal work, etc. The exhibition of the past four days, however, was almost entirely devoted to etching, mezzotint and associated arts. There has been a great revival in this latter work, and the society of painter etchers in England are revivifying what almost promised to be a lost art. Many fine and rare examples of mezzotint are to be found in Canada, belonging to the period of about one century ago, when the essentially English art was at its best. On the other hand the distinct art of etching has many friends and adherents, chiefly on account of the fact that artists possess in it a medium which enables them to express their individuality in an almost inimitable manner, and enables the connoisseur to immediately recognise their work and its merits.

The work of the association is not restricted to class or creed, and all exhibitions and lectures held under the auspices of its members, are open to the public. Those of our young people who possess ambitions and abilities in the field of art and handicraft will find a hearty and cheery welcome at any exhibition or lecture given, and which are always advertised in the local press. Art is one of the greatest of democrats and distributes her treasures and gifts, often of priceless value, in the most unlikely places, which like the gems delved from the rocks and sands, can be cut and polished in kindly hands to shed their radiance abroad for the benefit of all.

W.H.P.

HUMOR OF THE COUNTRY.

Doctor — Good morning, Mrs. Brown. Did you take your husband's temperature as I told you?

Mrs. Brown—Yes, doctor. I borrowed a barometer off a neighbor, and put it on his chest, and it said, "Very dry," so I gives him a pint o' beer, and he's gone off to work.

Small Boy—I say, dad, what's the future tense of "courting"?

Father (sadly)—Caught!

Nearly seventy million wild animals are killed yearly for the sake of their fur.

NP SOAP
The Big Bar
that meets all claims

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

WANTED

WANTED — AN INCUBATOR. State make, condition and price to Box 441, Review.

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINSON Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE — THREE HAMburg and three Brown Leghorn cockerels. Apply 726 Harvey street.

FOR SALE—MORRIS GRAND piano and household furniture. Apply 172 Adaline ave.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden, fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

Children s Aid Society
— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 985

SEIZED THE DRUGS

Montreal, March 24.—Cocaine and morphine to a value between $6,000 $10,000 were seized at the Wind- [illegible]tion here over the week-end. [illegible] were contained in a trunk [illegible] was aroused by its [illegible] the fact that straw was [illegible]uding from its lid. Ar- [illegible]tated to be impending. The [illegible]-addressed to the United

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 387½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
124½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m.; 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 228.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. / Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 126 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 248

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Karl Radik, the leading Russian Bolshevik agent in Germany, who was under arrest, has been released by the Berlin Government.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 24.—Receipts of live stock were heavy, trade slow.

Choice export cattle	$15.00	$15.50
Choice butcher cattle	10.50	12.75
Medium butcher cows	9.50	10.50
Ewes	11.50	13.50
Lambs	18.25	19.25
Hogs, f. a. w.	19.25	20.00
Hogs f. o. b.	19.00	19.25
Calves	15.00	17.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
ed Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'	25	25
Deacon and bob calf	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

6:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

8:35 a.m. — Lindsay, Orillia Port McNicoll and intermediate point.

3:35 p.m. — Toronto, Hamilton Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

3:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

6:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:45 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston.

Dangerous Patriots.

Seumas McN. O'Rouski, the Irish poet, said in a lecture in Chicago: "Ireland would have done her duty better in this world war if it hadn't been for our so-called Irish patriots. These men sowed discord everywhere but in Connemara. The one part of Ireland that has always kept peaceful and loyal and has always done its full war duty is Connemara." The poet paused, then he went on with a smile: "For in Connemara, friends, the peasants don't speak English, and the patriots can't speak Oirish."

Had to Use Germans.

The half German king, George III of England, employed about 30,000 troops from thirty different German states, especially from Hesse, against the colonists, before the United States was a nation. The reason was that the war was very unpopular, few men enlisted and the Government dared not conscript Englishmen to fight their brothers in America.

11 First Run Reels ROYAL 16c. ..TO.. ALL

LAST CHANCE TO-NIGHT---WILLIAM FOX PRESENTS

R. A. WALSH'S Drama
THE PRUSSIAN CUR
Revelations by Capt. Horst Vonder Eoltz, Self-confessed German Spy - - - 8 PARTS

A FOX FEATURE COMEDY.
CHOOSE YOUR EXIT, 2 Parts

MUTT AND JEFF
COMEDY 1 PART

To-night's Program is one of the Best we have had. The feature, The Prussian Cur, is an exceptional Picture and you should not fail to see it. Appeared last Week at Loew's Theatre, at big prices

THE NEW AUTO BATTERY NEEDS PROPER CARE

SHOULD BE EXAMINED BY EXPERT BEFORE BEING USED FOR PROTECTION OF PURCHASER

The first thing that the owner of a new automobile should do is to go to the Battery Service Station and let the battery expert test his battery, according to Mr. G. S. Rich, the local Willard expert. He gives the following reasons for this:

"The battery really commences to wear the instant that it is assembled. As long as the plates are in contact with the electrolyte, the battery is slowly discharging itself.

"If, therefore, an automobile is a long time in transit from the manufacturer to the dealer and then is a long time in the hands of the dealer, it is entirely possible that the battery may have become considerably discharged. This slow discharge is perfectly natural. Before the car owner puts it to hard usage, he should have it fully charged. If this is once done, the generator should keep it in that condition.

"It is to prevent the motorist starting out with a half charged battery when he expects a fully charged one that we advise all new car owners to have their batteries tested immediately.

"This step is really more than just seeing that the motorist gets the full value for the money spent on his machine. It is really the first step in assuring him a long and useful life of service from the battery, for if the battery starts its life fully charged and then is closely watched by the owner during the first three months of its life, the odds are a thousand to one that it will give little trouble. If, on the other hand, it goes into commission half charged, this condition gets worse and worse until finally the battery is thoroughly starved and the owner thoroughly disgruntled. This starved condition is particularly bad, for no amount of charging at the Service Station will put the battery back in the excellent condition in which it was at the start."

Renewed attacks on communications were made by Egyptian Nationalists at Cairo on Sunday, together with some demonstrations in the city.

Singing Wires.

The singing of telegraph wires is sometimes regarded as a weather prognostic, though opinions differ as to the kind of weather it foretells. There has been much discussion as to the cause of this sound. Probably it is simply the aeolian harp effect, and its occurrence depends chiefly upon the direction of the wind in relation to the direction in which the wires run. Variations in the pitch of the sound depend upon changes in the tension of the wires with varying temperature.

Jack of All Trades.

Edinburgh once enjoyed the distinction of possessing the most prolix signboard on record: "John Main, Stationer. Bibles, Testaments, Psalms Hymns, Prayer Books, Catechisms Proverbs, Books, new and old, in various branches of literature. Money or exchange for old Books; Papers, Pens, and Ink; Wax and Wafers; Blackheads, Hair and Hair Pencils; Coloured Books, Memorandum Books, Religious Tracts. Books neatly bound, on moderate terms."

True Version of Cinderella.

Cinderella never had a glass shoe This is sad but true. The pretty story of the Cinder Girl came from the French and the author made Cinderella wear a "pantoufle en vair," a slipper made of "vair," a word which means fur. There is a French word "verre" which means glass, and the translator mistook "vaire" for "verre" and consequently history records Cinder Ella as wearing a glass slipper.

Great Britain.

In 1707, on the union of Scotland Great Britain became the official name of the British kingdom, and so constituted until the union with Ireland in 1801. Since January 1, 1801, the official name of the kingdom, including England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland, and the neighboring smaller islands, is the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Science.

Only things in nature proved, not beyond a reasonable doubt, but beyond any doubt, can be classed under the majestic word science. The slightest trace, or even suspicion, of doubt will exclude instantly any assertion, statement or hypothesis from being placed in a list of laws of nature, and shift them all over to the extensive catalogue of theories.

Masterpieces.

Masterpieces have never been produced by men who have had no masters.—Henry J. van Dyke.

Optimistic Thought.

The stingy man loves to give advice; it costs nothing.

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS

TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS YOU.
5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor
JAKE SOLOMON . . Mgr

British Plan Memorials.

In a statement on the work of the Imperial War Commission by Rudyard Kipling, announcement is made that memorials to commemorate the part borne by various army divisions or regiments in the campaigns and battles, as, for instance, by the Canadians at Ypres, the South Africans in the Deville Wood, the Australians at Amiens, and the British at the breaking of the Hindenburg line, will be considered by representatives of the military committee.

It has been recommended that in each cemetery there should be erected "a cross of sacrifice," and an altar of stone in remembrance of the dead and that the headstones of graves should be of uniform shape and size. On these would be chiseled the name of the dead and regiment, and also a cross or other religious symbol of the dead man's faith.

It has also been recommended that a Mohammedan and Hindoo temple should be erected as a remembrance of the sacrifice made by the Mohammedans and the Hindoos in the war.

Big Fertiliser Project.

Announcement is made of a $27,000,000 project at Workington, Eng., for extracting nitrogen from the air, and the chairman of the company (Nitrogen Products & Carbide Co., Limited) says: "It is the intention to carbonize the coal from the coal colliery at a high temperature, to recover all the by-products from the coal and convert them into intermediates for synthetic dyes, and to utilise the gas and coke for firing boilers to generate steam to produce electric power, which will be used for the production of carbide of calcium and cyanamide, with the object of rendering Great Britain independent of outside sources of supplies of nitrogenous fertilizers.

Used British Posters.

Many American posters used in the last Red Cross drive in the United States were posed and acted by well-known London women at the great poster fair held there for the benefit of the Red Cross of Great Britain.

Detecting Forged Bank Notes.

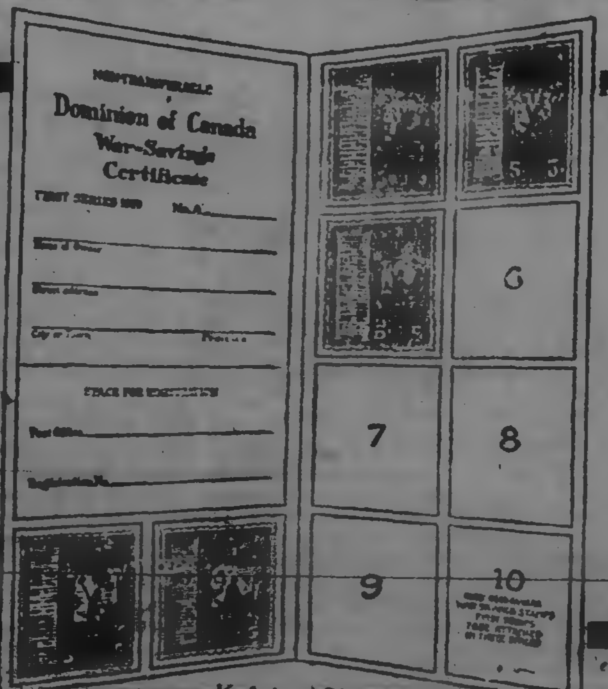
The Bank of England has 32 different methods of detecting forged bank notes.

During the war the London County Council loaned nearly $50,000,000 to the British nation.

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life
WANTED
Some good Houses for rent.
FOR SALE
Good Houses and Lots, cheap.
Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.
Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.
It will pay you.



½ Actual Size

BUY
W-S-S
WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

WHAT CAN BE DONE WITH
War-Savings Stamps

From Feb. 22nd, 1916, to Jan. 18th, 1919, War-Savings Certificates were bought in Great Britain to the amount of $1,435,151,000.00

From Dec. 1st, 1917, to Jan. 31st, 1919. War-Savings Stamps were bought in the United States to the amount of $1,042,908,904.00

If every person in Canada invested in one War-Savings Stamp each month, the sum raised by this method in one year would be $336,000,000.00. Fill your War-Savings Certificate.

W-S.S. Cost During March $4.02

WOMEN SEEK NO FLATTERY BUT EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

No Question of Taking Bread Out of Mouths of Men or Ousting Them From Rightful Place.

Violet Markham writes to the West Minster Gazette, London, England, on woman's position in the world as follows:

Sir,—The position of women at the Peace Conference is a somewhat anomalous one. Women's interests are of course profoundly concerned in the world settlement, yet to judge by the composition of the various missions the Peace Conference might be dealing with the affairs of a purely man-made world inhabited by men alone. The Suffrage societies have had representatives at Paris, but no nation has sent a woman delegate to deal officially with the intricate labour problems which are bound to arise, or those social issues of the League of Nations which will affect every home. Not a woman civil servant or official apart from the clerical members is included among the staffs who throng the hotels of Paris. Women as a sex are long-suffering by temperament, but the Government will make a great mistake if it does not recognize that discontent is as widespread at the moment among professional as among industrial women. The women of England have held closely to their hearts through four and a half years of intolerable strain the noblest ideals of the war. But women, like all the rest of the world, are tired, and therefore doubly sensitive to hardships which arise from a lack of justice or equity. Flattery and praise have been heaped on them, and they are heartily tired of both. They seek, not flattery, but equal opportunity, and not praise, but a fair chance to prove their capacities in the public service.

I have referred to the absence from the World Peace Conference of a single woman delegate or official. Why, also, does the end of the war find English Department life inspired by the old pre-war reluctance to carry out the recommendations of the Royal Commission as regards the appointment of women to Class I. posts in the Civil Service? The recently published Reconstruction Report on the Machinery of Government urges the same point. We are told that the practical failure to employ women in the administrative staffs of departments "has in the past deprived the public service of a vast store of knowledge, experience, and fresh ideas, some of which for particular purposes have been far more relevant and valuable than those of even the ablest of the men in the Civil Service." The committee point out that the practical experience of the war has resolved any doubts which might have existed as to the capacity of women to fill the Class I. posts. Further, they insist that an extension "of the range and variety of duties entrusted to women" is a necessary element in any improvement in the functions of government.

There is no question in all this of taking the bread from the mouths of the men or ousting them from their rightful place. But we shall only get the best out of our men when we are equally getting the best out of our women. Government is at the moment in the melting pot. The era of scientific administration into which we are passing calls for the specialised work of women no less than men in many and varied branches of the public services. Departments are being remodelled, others are being created. One rule should hold good throughout—namely, that in every Department whose work, or part of whose work, in relation to the civil population deals with the welfare of women or children, at least one woman with a rank not less than that of Assistant Secretary should be included in the administrative staff.

The reparation in central administration of matters affecting the welfare of women from those of men is undesirable from the point of view of the wider national interests involved, and administration should aim, not at the creation of special women's sections or of special women's posts, but of a body of women officials capable of handling the large block of central questions where the concerns of men and women are inextricably interplaced. Departmental specialisation will, of course, occur in practice. No sensible person would suggest the appointment of a woman Inspector of Mines or Fisheries, or a male Inspector of Day Nurseries. But the experience of the war days proved that superior administrative talent is not vested in the masculine brain alone, and women claim today right of free entry to the higher posts in the Civil Service, a right of entry subject to no limitations beyond tests of capacity and fitness already applied to the men.

Women themselves will demand no less than this in the reconstruction of Government. The position of subordinate women officers and inspectors whose recommendations are always at the mercy of the men immediately above them was no doubt an inevitable phase of a period of transition. But the phase is at an end.

The doctrine of equal opportunity, equal work, and equal pay will prove no light one for the woman worker. The doctrine itself may be open to criticism in certain of its aspects, but when women advance if they do so in a spirit of complete loyalty towards the men with whom they compete. It is difficult at least to understand how any man can be found to oppose the principle, for in it is rooted the security of his own standard of life. In all forms of professional, clerical, and industrial employment, it is the semi-skilled, semi-trained, under-paid woman who is a drag on the standard of the higher grade workers. The higher the standard of the woman's skill, the more she approximates to that of the man, the less he has to fear from her competition.

Now the hour of flattery is past and gone, all the omens point to a hard struggle if a position honourable and fairly won is to be maintained. No attack on that position will ever be made in the open, but it may happen all the same. Government remains a close ring of favoured persons, and the power of the machine still makes a mock of the hopes of democracy. No woman is included on the Treasury Committee set up to review the question of appointments to the Civil Service in the light of the war. An omission so grave naturally leads to much anxious speculation among women as to whether ground won by the Royal Commission may not be lost through a Departmental Committee. It is for the nation in its own highest interest to insist that no artificial barriers shall block the free development of whatever service it lies in woman's capacity to give to the State.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

VIOLET MARKHAM.

Reports from Vienna say that a Szecho-Slovak army has been sent to Hungary. Prof. T. G. Masaryk, President of Czecho-Slovakia, has resigned.

COULD NOT STOP THE HEADACHES

Until She Tried "Fruit-a-tives" —Made From Fruit Juices

112 Coburg St., St. John, N.B.

"I feel I must tell you of the great benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives'.

I have been a sufferer for many years from Violent Headaches, and could get no permanent relief.

A friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so with great success; and now I am entirely free of Headaches, thanks to your splendid medicine".

MRS. ALEXANDER SHAW.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price, postpaid, by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Canadian Candy and Chocolate

In recent years, it has been demonstrated to the world that in most lines of manufacture the Canadian product is equal to, and in many, superior to foreign-made goods.

In the manufacture of candy and chocolate, Canada is at the top. The Pure Food Laws guarantee a wholesome product, while skill in manufacture has produced a quality and deliciousness unequalled in any country.

Within the last few months a tremendous demand for Canadian candy and chocolate has grown up in England and Europe. The large supplies sent to our men overseas during the war gave to many Europeans their first opportunity of appreciating the high qualities which the Canadian product possesses. European merchants and candy lovers are now clamoring for Canadian candies.

There may be some Canadians who do not realize that the most wholesome and delicious candy and chocolate are made here at home —but this is true.

You can eat Canadian-made candy and chocolate with assurance of their high quality and wholesomeness.

Candy and Chocolate Made in Canada.
The Best.
They are Splendid Food.

THE CONFECTIONERY AND CHOCOLATE INDUSTRIES OF CANADA

36

Keeping Hands in Shape.

For the man who does the work about his own car and yet does not care to have hands look like a garage mechanic's, the following is valuable: Four ounces of grain alcohol, three ounces of glycerin and three ounces of water, shaken up in a bottle. If this liquid is applied to the hands before beginning work, a good washing with soap and water afterward removes all traces of the labor.

Another One Settled.

Yes, Ettie, it is perfectly proper for a gentleman to remove his hat on entering a house. A great many husbands have become confused on this point, it appears, as they will oftentimes remove their shoes on entering their homes, especially if the hour be rather late. This, of course, is a conservation measure of questionable value.—Indianapolis Star.

One Cuttlefish Handicapped.

There is one unfortunate specimen of cuttlefish, Nautilus, which cannot produce the smokecloud, but all the other species are able to do so by the simple process of discharging the contents of their inkbags. The result is a dense, impenetrable cloud of sepia, under cover of which they have little difficulty in effecting their escape.

Contradictory Camel.

As far back as history records, camels have been domestic animals, but no one familiar with camels ever entertains the least affection for them. The poison of all other beasts is the camel's food. It pines and wastes in fat meadows, but grows fat, powerful and savagely independent among alkali-crusted sands.

Real Meaning of Expression.

"Don't care a fig" is one of the commonest of expressions, but it isn't correct and means little, whereas the original has some real meaning: "Don't care a fico." The word fico is used by Shakespeare and is a Roman word meaning a contemptuous snapping of the fingers.

Greatness.

Greatness is the aggregation of minuteness; nor can its sublimity be felt truthfully by any mind unaccustomed to the affectionate watching of what is least.—Ruskin.

The Sun Life Leads All Can. Companies

TOTAL ASSURANCES $340,000,000 —NEW HIGH BUSINESS RECORDS

It is evident from the report published elsewhere in this issue that the Sun Life Assurance Co. not only closed the best year in its history but has easily maintained its lead over other Canadian companies.

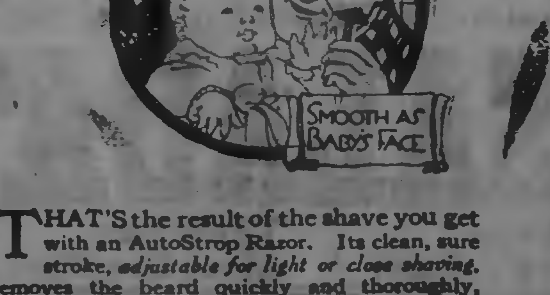
The figures show that the big Montreal company made new high records in volume of business transacted, in its total assurances in force, in income received, in total assets, and in net surplus.

The amount of new policies paid for amounted to $51,591,000, while the total assurance in force now stands at $340,800,000, a gain of nearly $29,000,000 during the year. This large gain furnishes ample evidence of the careful methods employed by the company to obtain only the best business and to conserve it when secured. The total income assets now amount to $97,620,000 a gain of nearly seven-and a half million dollars. The undivided net surplus over all liabilities and capital stock exceeds $8,000,000, showing that ample provision has been made for safety.

The past year was a trying one to insurance companies owing to the war losses and the influenza epidemic. As a result the company paid out to policy holders and the beneficiaries an unusual large sum yet the net undivided surplus stands at the large sum of $8,027,278. Altogether the showing made by the Sun Life is a most gratifying one and policyholders and shareholders have every reason to feel gratified at the records made during 1918. It is the best year in the company's history, ever surpassing the records made during 1917, which in itself was a record year.

Before stropping (magnified)

After stropping (magnified)



THAT'S the result of the shave you get with an AutoStrop Razor. Its clean, sure stroke, adjustable for light or close shaving, removes the beard quickly and thoroughly, leaving the face soft and smooth.

Such comfort is possible only with an AutoStrop Razor. Why the AutoStrop Razor in particular? Because with its stropping feature there's always a sharp blade ready for use. A few turns on the strop re-aligns the saw-like edge that results from shaving; it keeps the blade free from rust; and gives you for each day's shave a keen-edged blade. You do not need to take the blade out to sharpen it, nor do you have to take the AutoStrop Razor apart to clean it.

Self-stropping, shaving and cleaning are all done without removing the blade from the razor.

Everywhere—razor, strop and 12 blades, complete for $5.00.

AUTOSTROP SAFETY RAZOR CO., Limited
AutoStrop Building, Toronto, Canada

AutoStrop Safety Razor

A miller, noted for his keenness in financial matters, was in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill.

The stream was flooded and he was taken past the point at which he desired to land, while, farther on, misfortune again overtook him to the extent that the boat was upset.

His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice; when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out:

"If I'm drowned, Molly, don't forget that flour's gone up fifty cents a sack!"

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Orders for Coal

taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Cord Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.

Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.

Store and Apartments to rent.

LOW & COMPANY
362 Simcoe St. 286 Bethune St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 306

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
163 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches

In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's
307 George St. Next Turnbull's

Mixed Wood $8.00
per cord

Hard Wood $12
per cord

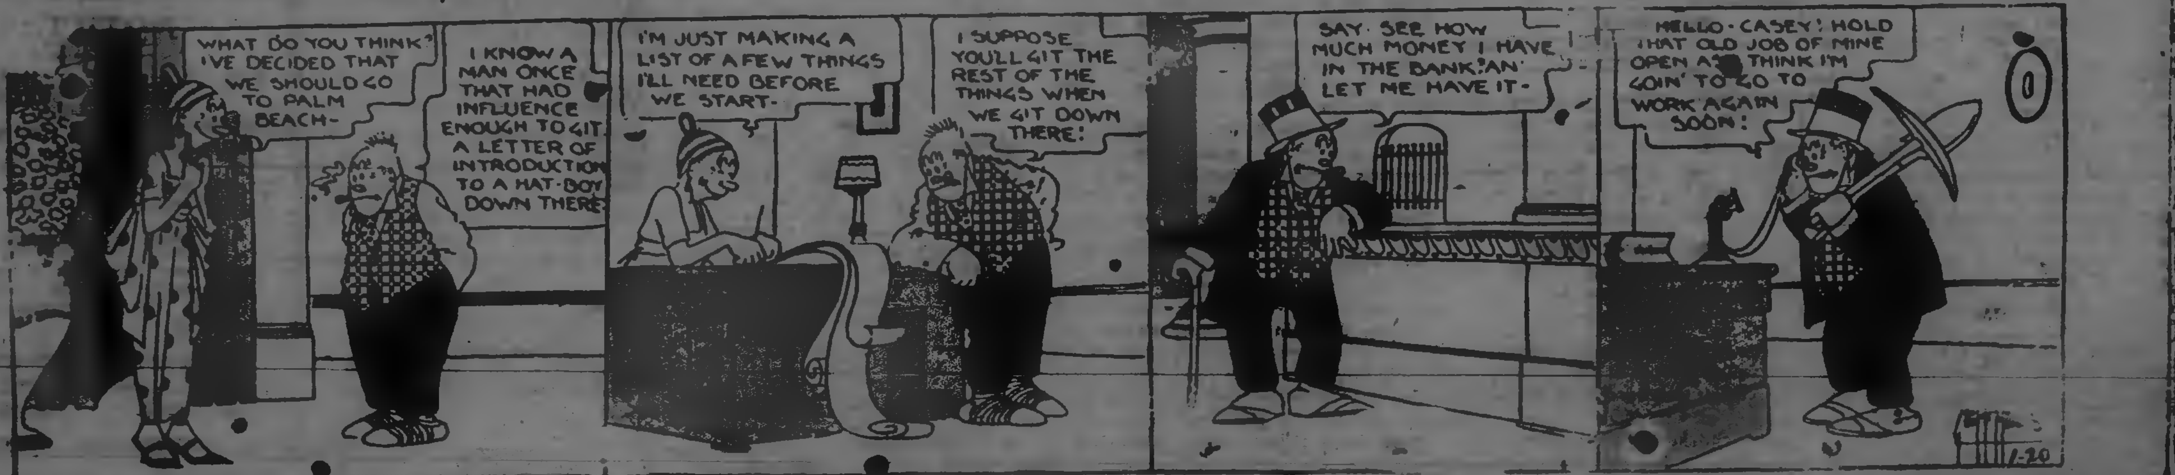
Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



WHAT DO YOU THINK? I'VE DECIDED THAT WE SHOULD GO TO PALM BEACH-
I KNOW A MAN ONCE THAT HAD INFLUENCE ENOUGH TO GIT A LETTER OF INTRODUCTION TO A HAT-BOY DOWN THERE
I'M JUST MAKING A LIST OF A FEW THINGS I'LL NEED BEFORE WE START-
I SUPPOSE YOU'LL GIT THE REST OF THE THINGS WHEN WE GIT DOWN THERE!
SAY- SEE HOW MUCH MONEY I HAVE IN THE BANK! AN' LET ME HAVE IT-
HELLO- CASEY! HOLD THAT OLD JOB OF MINE OPEN AS I THINK I'M GOIN' TO GO TO WORK AGAIN SOON!
1-20

A Happy Combination—

Fineness of Fragrance
Purity & Delicacy of Flavor
Strength & Fullness of Infusion Refreshing & Stimulating Qualities

"SALADA"

Best and Goes Farthest } Therefore Most Economical.

Barrie's LIMITED

FURRIERS
Peterborough, Ont.

Positively
The Last Week For Reductions
in FURS

The Barrie Building
Phone 340w

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

BAND PRACTICE

The 57th Regiment Band will practice tonight at 8 o'clock.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1083.

AUCTION SALE.

Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 3 p.m., I will sell for Mr. Samuel Leadry two houses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 425-431 Bethune street; this property will be sold without reserve. Terms $500 cash, balance can remain at 5 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

YELLAND—BOSKILL

On Monday afternoon at the Murray Street Baptist church parsonage Mr. Frederick Boskill, of Regina, and Miss Olive May Yelland, daughter of Joseph P. Yelland, of this city, were married by Rev. J. R. Webb. The happy couple left on the 3.30 C.P.R. train and will make their home in Regina.

Miss Myrtle Pethick, who was in the city to attend the silver anniversary of her parents' wedding, returned to Toronto yesterday morning.

Mrs. George H. King, soloist of Trinity Methodist Church, left this morning for Western Ontario, where she will assist Mr. Harold Jarvis of Detroit in several vocal engagements.

E. R. McClanathan, inspector for the National Cash Register Company, was in Peterborough for a few hours this afternoon. He left on the two o'clock train for Belleville.

Miss Iva Tynes and Miss Ina Tynes, twin sisters from Napanee, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. U. T. Arnott, R. R. No. 6, Otonabee.

Oscar Williams, Napanee, is in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Arnott, R. R. No. 6, Otonabee.

AT THE ROYAL

Tonight will be your last opportunity to see the great spy picture, entitled "The Russian Cur," showing all the intrigues of the German spy system in America. This is a wonderfully instructive picture and you should see it tonight, which is your last chance to do so.

UKRAINE WANTS PEACE.

Are Already Negotiating with Russian Bolsheviki.

Vienna, March 25. — It is learned from Ukraine that negotiations between Ukraine and Bolshevik delegates for the settlement of differences has begun. Bolshevik leader Radowsky has already arrived at Ukrainian headquarters, it is reported.

TEMPLE BAND NOTES

The Temple Band will meet for practice tonight at 7.30. It is important that every member should make an effort to be present and on time.

TEMPLE GIRL GUARDS

There will be a practice for the S. A. Girl Guards tonight at 7.30 sharp.

W. C. T. U. MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held in the Green room of the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. Kendry will give an address and every member is requested to be presented and to bring a friend.

A CURE FOR THE BLUES.

Music is a sure cure for the blues, hence a Victrola will cure the blues, for it means music of every kind. Why not call at Heintzman Hall George and Hunter Streets, and see some of these instruments and hear some grand records? Very easy terms can be arranged if desired.

NOTICE ANCIENT ORDER OF FORESTERS

All members of the above who have returned from overseas are requested to attend the next regular meeting, Tuesday, March 25th, at 8 p.m., in S. O. E. Hall. This is important.

A. W. LAWS, Chief Ranger.

The Buffalo and Goderich line of the Grand Trunk Railway System has been removed from the London Division and placed back in the Stratford division.

OBITUARY

MR. LEIGHLAN NOLAN

Mr. Leighlan Nolan, one of the oldest residents of Douro, having reached the advanced age of 98 years, passed away yesterday morning.

Deceased was born in Ireland but came to this country when he was very young and resided in Douro from that time forward.

He leaves three sons, namely, James, of Michigan; Gus, of Wisconsin, and Thomas Edward, of this city.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at nine o'clock to the Sacred Heart Church and St. Joseph's cemetery, Douro.

BIG SPAN IN

(Continued from Page 1.)

greater part of both the approaches in my design consists of an earth fill retained by only one concrete wall, the wall being on the south on the Peterboro approach and on the north on the Ashburnham approach. I considered that the second wall was not necessary as the fill would be naturally retained by the high banks which will take its place. But it must be evident that adding a second concrete wall will not decrease the cost. However, Mr. Fitzgerald proposes to lengthen the earth approaches on each side and thus do away with some of the concrete arches. Let us try the effect of extending the fill on the west approach, for instance. Here the fill goes down to the railway sidings, and all the space from the fill to the river is taken up by sidings. Even if the first arch, that next the fill, were done away with and the fill between 2 concrete walls should take its place, and 2 present sidings and a third prospective siding would be blocked. Mr. Fitzgerald would find that the Quaker Oats Co. would take considerable interest in his plans if the Council appeared likely to adopt them.

As to the suggestion that two river spans should be used instead of a single span. I have to say what I frequently said in answer to questions as to this before our studies of the bridge were concluded, that no bridge engineer could say before designing the bridge both ways which would prove to be best in this instance. This was done, after making a boring in midstream to find out what the materials of excavation for a centre pier would be, and a single span was adopted on the ground of econmy. A centre pier would leave the floor system and its supports practically unchanged, and would have only a slight effect on the abutments; but the arch ring itself could be made considerably lighter if it were supported by a pier in the centre. Against this saving would be the cost of the pier sunk to bed at the most difficult place in the river. It is true that the Smith street bridge has three river spans, but here there was no choice—the arches are flat enough as it is. Their floor was not high enough to allow of longer spans.

As to Mr. Fitzgerald's insinuations as to rule of thumb engineers, I consider that it needs no formal reply from me. I have designed and built many bridges both as engineer and contractor, not one of which has failed even partially. At least it cannot be said of me that I have gone outside of my specialty and attempted to dabble in other lines of engineering. I may say, however, that the insinuation applies equally to the engineer of the Ontario Railway Board for one instance, one of the most experienced bridge engineers in the Province. My plans have been under review by him sinc last fall and he is only now completing a minute and comprehensive scrutiny of the whole bridge and every member of it. A bridge designed by rule of thumb methods would scarcely pass him unless he applied equall "criminally careless" methods in checking them. The plans must also pass the engineers of the Dominion Department of Public Works, the Department of Railways and Canals, and the Dominion Railway Board.

Yours truly,
FRANK BARBER.

UNIONIST ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Unionist Association of West Peterborough will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Victoria Hall. F. C. Miller, Sec'y.

BIG LINER DOCKS.

Halifax, March 25. — The Royal George docked today.

Mrs. C. L. Laing of Niagara Falls died of influenza at Woodstock, whither she went to attend the double funeral of her sister-in-law and her aunt, who both died of "flu."

MRS. BURR, AGE 79, GAINS 27 POUNDS

ILLINOIS WOMAN SUFFERED THIRTY YEARS—TANLAC RESTORES HER.

"I have actually gained twenty-seven pounds by taking Tanlac, and while I am now past seventy-nine years of age I declare I don't feel that old by forty years," was the remarkable statement made by Mrs. Mary E. Burr, of Bradford, Illinois, R.F.D., No. 1, recently.

Mrs. Burr relates some very trying experiences of Civil War days, one of which was the loss of her first husband, who was killed in the great conflict. At the close of the war she moved to Illinois with her parents, in an "old covered wagon," and remained a widow until November of last year when she was happily married again, becoming the wife of a prosperous farmer of Bradford.

"Those Civil War days certainly were dark ones," said Mrs. Burr, "and if I should live to be twice as old as I am now I could never forget the terrible suffering and sorrow so many had to go through. I feel sure the nervous strain and hardships that came to me was what caused my health to break down later on. But while I have seen the dark and bitter side of life I have also enjoyed the greater part of it. I had always been blessed with fairly good health until about thirty years ago, when all of a sudden I just seemed to collapse almost completely. This was about the hardest trial of my life, as I had always been in the habit of getting out doors, raising chickens, gathering fruit and doing lots of out-door work.

"I commenced first to be bothered with my stomach. Every little bit I ate would sour and form a sort of gas which caused me the most awful suffering. This gas would press against my heart and I would be so short of breath for hours that I could not walk. If I even tried to walk I would get so dizzy, weak and trembly that I would lose my balance. My nerves got in such a bad shape that I could hardly sleep and would just roll and toss all night long. I just couldn't stand a bit of noise. Just the chickens cackling would almost drive me distracted. I had no appetite and what little I did eat caused me so much pain that I would almost die. I kept going down until I was almost a complete wreck. I had lost so much in weight that none of my clothes fitted me and I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the room, let alone do my work.

"I tried most everything, but nothing helped me and I had given up nearly all hope of ever being well again. While I was on the lookout trying to find something to help me a friend of mine who had taken Tanlac with wonderful results advised me to try it. I started on Tanlac and the way it helped me right from the start was almost like a miracle. I have taken twelve bottles now and have not only been relieved entirely of all my sufferings but I am enjoying better health than I have in thirty years. My meals taste as good to me as they did years ago. I can eat just anything without the slightest trouble afterwards and I simply sleep like a child. I can now easily do all my work, including my washing, and my strength for a woman of my age is just remarkable. I am perfectly well and enjoy life as well as I ever did. Just lots of people have asked me what I have been taking to make me look so well and it's a pleasure for me to tell them Tanlac. I know as well as I know I am here that I owe my health and happiness to this grand medicine and I will always praise it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

"THE BRIDE SHOP"

A most pretentious production and one that is bound to please even the most fastidious, is "The Bride Shop," the musical comedy in two acts by Fred De Gressac, author of "The Enchantress," "The Purple Road," and "Sweethearts," which George Choos will present at the Grand Opera House on Thursday, March 27th.

In a clever book full of witty lines and funny situations, Mr. De Gressac appears to have given the stage the best work of his career, and this, supplemented by the excellent lyrics and tuneful music of Dari. MacBoyle and Walter L. Rosemont, all of which are interpreted and rendered by a most capable company of farceurs, makes a most delightful evening's entertainment.

It is in the mounting of the play that the press has devoted considerable space, the encomiums, which have been unanimous, proclaiming "The Bride Shop" one of the best and most artistic presentations of the season.

"The Bride Shop" is a farce—a most delightful farce—brimful of snappy action, interrupted at the right time with the most tuneful melodies and above all is well played. Furthermore in the second act, the scene of which is where the play derives its name, there is the most dazzling and bewildering display of gowns and lingerie ever shown on the stage anywhere. In fact there is a doubt in the minds of everyone who has ever seen the production, if there is any greater display in any of the best shops either here or abroad.

Mr. Choos also has given his undivided attention to the selection of the cast, chorus and models, among the principals being Eddie Vogt Lew Naden, John Sully, George Gould, Edith Benjar, Nan Hopestill, Muriel Rastrick, Sally Hunt, Frances Allison, Muriel Thomas and a de Luxe chorus.

The production from a scenic standpoint is most picturesque, and it is promised that every detail will be presented with the same precision here as has characterised the presentation in the larger cities.

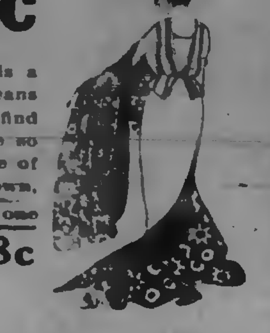
WEDNESDAY BARGAINS

Special Purchase Sale Wednesday

$1.75 Silk Dress Poplins. In a range of the New Shades, 35 inches wide. Yard 98c

That is just what it is—a $1.75 Silk Dress Poplin—and what's more, it is a beautiful, rich, heavy and superior high-grade quality, yarn dye, which means dyed before weaving, insuring permanent and uniform coloring. You will find it a poplin singularly appropriate for Spring Dresses and Suits. We have so many shades that you will want to buy two and three dress lengths. Some of the colors are: Blue, Black, Navy Blue, Grass Green, Taupe, Pewter, Nut Brown, Victory Blue, Nigger Brown and Alpine Blue. An important purchase from one of the best silk houses in Canad enables us to offer ou this regular $1.75 high-grade Silk Poplin at the Wednesday Bargain price, yard 98c

Displayed in our large show window for your inspection to-night.



$1.25 English Sheeting, Plain and Twill Qualities Yard 98c

Every woman who knows the real value of English Sheetings in these days of high prices should be interested in this sale to-morrow; 72 inch English Bed Sheetings, full bleached, plain and twill qualities; made from the best round twisted cotton threads; firm weaves. Thoroughly dependable qualities. Sold regularly at $1.25. A Big Wednesday Bargain .... Yard 98c

$1.25 White Gabardine, Yard 98c

We sel lthis lovely white washable Gabardine at $1.25, and it's a real good quality. We have a special lot of this quality Gabardine to sell at 98c. It's fresh, new and crisp, and full 40 inches wide. You will certainly like it. For wash suits or skirts we know of nothing better. Come in and let us show you this line to-morrow. Wednesday Bargain, yard 98c

THIS IS A READY-TO-WEAR AT THE STORE

And on our second floor you will find a comprehensive display of the very newest New York fashions in Misses' and Women's Suits, Coats, Dresses, Capes and Blouses.

We would like you to see our special showing

BRUSSELS TAPESTRY AND AXMINSTER RUGS
Wednesday Bargain
EACH $27.50

Axminster, Brussels and Tapestry Rugs. Odd lines, not all sizes in any one quality, but a complete range of sizes in the lot. Note the sizes: 3 x 4 yards, 3 x 3½ yards, 3 x3yards, 3 x 2¼ yards, 3½ x 2¼ yards and 2¼ x 2½ yards. Wednesday Bargain, each $27.50

REMMANTS OF CURTAIN NET AND CHINTZ
Regular Value for 75c to $1.50 up
Odd Lengths in the Drapery Department
Wednesday Bargains, Yard 50c

Window Drapes

4 only Window Drapes, that have been used on our own windows for show purposes. They include valance and side curtains. Wednesday Bargain:
3 at ....98c 1 at $2.98

$1.25 New Model, Low Bust Corsets, Yard 85c

Women's Low Bust Corsets, in medium weight white coutil, graduated front-clasp, reinforced; four elastic hose supporters. A limited quantity of this new model $1.25 Corset ...... Wednesday Bargain, pair 85c

Children's Fleeced Waists, 59c

Children's medium weight fleece lined Waists, in natural shade; sizes to fit from 2 years to 10 years. Reinforced with tape and fitted with buttons. Wednesday clearing, each ... 59c

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

Boys, What Does This Mean to You?

Big showing of re-built Bicycles at C. R. Banks' garage, Charlotte St. Good as new at half the price.

Save your money. We're crowded for room.

BORN

SKITCH—At 231 Dublin street, Tuesday, March 25th, to Mr. and Mrs. W. Frederick Skitch, a daughter, Mary Isobel.

DIED.

BULLEN—Died at St. Joseph's Hospital, on Tuesday, March 25, 1919, Miss Martha Bullen, aged 77 years, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bullen of Cavan. Funeral private from Comstock's undertaking parlors Wednesday to St. John's Church, Ida.

FITZGERALD—On Monday, March 24th, 1919, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. R. W. Davidson, 171 Antrim street, of John S. Fitzgerald, aged 78 years.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon, March 27th, at 2 o'clock. Interment at the Lakefield cemetery.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT AND WEDNESDAY MATINEE DAILY 2.30
Select Pictures Present
NORMA TALMADGE in "DE LUXE ANNE"
FARLE COMEDY A Trimmed Lamp | SCREEN MAGAZINE | MAX SENNET COMEDY A Polished Villian
MATINEE 10c | VAUDEVILLE: HUMPHREY SISTERS. | EVENING 15c

THURSDAY Evening Only
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE
THE BRIDE SHOP
With EDDIE VOGT
AND A DISTINGUISHED CAST OF PRINCIPALS.
THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTLY GOWNED ORGANIZATION ON EARTH.
PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, Seats Tuesday.

PARIS BOURSE UPSET

Paris, March 24.— The Temps Bourse report says:

"The Bourse had its worst day since the beginning of peace negotiations. The Bolshevist developements in Hungary caused a rush of selling orders and very important declines. Rentes dropped appreciably, and the general tendency was heavy."

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone 497 PETERBORO

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Heenan
149 BURBIDGE STREET.
Phone 448 J. Peterboro

Strong east winds, mild, showers tonight and early Thursday then north west winds and turning a little colder.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 72 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

LINK TOGETHER POWERS IN ONE PEACE TREATY

Germany to be the Responsible Head—While This Step Would Delay Completion of Treaty Till May First it Would Really Save Time in the End.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 26.—It became known here today that serious effort was being made in the highest quarters to join together all peace treaties with Germany, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, thus making one comprehensive treaty, in which Germany would be linked with other central powers as their responsible head.

While such a step would cause some delay, yet British and American leaders here feel that it would save time and in the end in completing the work on all peace treaties. Should this plan be adopted it is expected four treaties could be linked together and completed by May 1.

Peace Far From Certain.

London, March 26.—In the House of Lords last night Viscount Milner, the Secretary for the Colonies, said that in his opinion, the country was still far from a certain and well established peace. Therefore, he declared, the army and navy estimates could not be reduced.

RUSSIAN REDS DEFEATED; ENEMY'S FRONT PIERCED

Are Fleeing in Disorder, Leaving War Stores and Prisoners.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 26. — Reuter's learns in a message from Omsk, Russia, that General Kolchak's army has pierced the enemy's front on a 30-mile breadth and advanced nearly 40 miles along the right bank of the Kama river, between the already captured towns of Okhansk and Ossa.

The Red army is being pursued in three directions, abandoning large quantities of war stores and many prisoners. The enemy's position is precarious.

Another Transport Leaves For Canada

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 26.—The transport Canada, with 1,352 Canadians on board, sailed from England March 24, and will reach Halifax April 2, with 1,352 of all ranks, of whom 550 are from Ontario points.

COUNT CAROLYI ARRESTED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, March 26. — Count Mychael Carolyi, former president of Hungary, has been arrested and will be brought before the revolutionary tribunal for trial, a Vienna despatch says.

GT. BRITAIN'S SEA POWER TO STILL RULE THE WAVES

League of Nations Would Endorse Full British Doctrine of Blockade

London, March 26.—The Times correspondent on the war, discussing the strategy of peace as based on the League of Nations covenant, contends that there is no justification for the suspicion that the league would fetter the employment of sea power. On the contrary, it restores it to something like the pristine vigor it enjoyed before the Declaration of Paris, which aggrandized the neutral at the expense of a belligerent's rights. The correspondent points out that at the beginning of the war neutrals with a seaboard claimed they were entitled to enjoy the protection affordable by a belligerent with the supremacy of the sea, but simultaneously claimed they were entitled to trade with the enemy.

"A Continental militarist state," says the correspondent, "similarly endeavored to fight behind the cover of a neutral and yet draw its supplies from neutral lines immune from sea attack. An island power was liable to be blockaded, but could not blockade. A really effectual blockade of Germany only began after the war had lasted over a year."

The correspondent declares that article sixteen of the covenant clearly abolishes neutrality. The covenant enables the enforcement of the full British doctrine of blockade.

The correspondent further asserts that the abolition of neutrality is the strongest reinforcement yet made to claims for sea power.

Dealing with the second serious obstacle to the use of Britain's full naval power in war time—namely the closing of inland waters like the Baltic and the Black Sea, the correspondent says that despite the covenant and steps taken temporarily impairing Germany's naval power no definite measure seems yet to have been decided upon ensuring that these waters be kept open.

In regard to the Black Sea, he says, the present situation enables the internationalization of mandatory control of the straits leading thereto. Poland's future is primarily bound up with the question of how the league's naval power in the Baltic can be best assured.

The correspondent suggests that the best safeguard would be the formation of a maritime alliance of the Baltic powers, excluding Germany and Russia, until they are admitted to the league, which would act as a mandatory league in preserving free entry by the northern passages, holding the Kiel Canal as an international waterway. The principle of the united command should be recognized in naval matters, the correspondent concludes.

SENATOR GEORGE TAYLOR DEAD

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 26. — Senator George Taylor, Gananoque, is dead

He represented the riding of South Leeds in the House of Commons for 29 years, and accepted a nominal appointment of emolument under the Crown to create a vacancy for Sir Thomas White in 1911, died this morning.

Senator Taylor was born in Lansdowne, Leeds county, in 1840, and was educated at the public school in that town. He started in the mercantile business when he was 11 years of age, and continued with the same firm, afterwards as partner, for 25 years. He was president of several manufacturing companies.

In 1882 he was elected to the Commons as Conservative representative for South Leeds, and was re-elected at all subsequent elections until 1911 when he stepped aside in order that Sir Thomas White might have his constituency, and was appointed postmaster at Newborough.

He was summoned to the Senate on Nov. 17, 1911. At the time of his retirement as member of Parliament Senator Taylor was, with the exception of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, John Haggart and two others, the oldest member in the House as regards years of service. In religion he was a Methodist.

MUST SHOW WORLD THEY ARE EUROPE'S MASTERS

This Course Must Be Pursued by Allies to Avoid a Demonstration of Impotence to Others Besides the Magyars—Must Accept Bolshevik Challenge.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 26.—Commenting on the situation in Hungary, the Daily Chronicle says:

"The position is that one of the defeated enemy states has broken the armistice and declared war on us.

Must Take Up Challenge.

"If we take up the challenge and reinforce our control, the world will know that, despite war weariness, demobilization, strikes and disagreements, we are still masters of Europe and are determined to remain so until we establish the foundations of a new and better system for which we fought. But if we do not take action our impotence will be naked before all, and many people beside the Magyars will hasten to take advantage of it."

Communication Broken.

Berlin, March 26.—It is reported here from Vienna that communication between Vienna and Budapest has been interrupted through the capture by the Czecho-Slovaks of the town of Raab, on the Danube, about midway between the two cities. Large Hungarian cannon foundries are situated at Raab.

Olympic Did Not Try to Dock

DISEMBARKING HER SOLDIERS BY TENDER BEGINS IN EARNEST.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, N.S., March 26.—The Olympic did not attempt to dock this morning, owing to the continued high wind sweeping the troopship pier, and the work of disembarking her soldier passengers by tender was begun in earnest. It is hoped to complete the work today. The giant liner will then dock at the new southend terminals, where she will coal.

U. S. Captain Faces Serious Charges

London, England, March 25.—The court-martial in the case of Capt. Edmund G. Chamberlain of San Antonio Tex., an officer of the United States marine corps, the story of whose exploits in bringing down a number of German machines in an air battle while he was on a visit to the British front last July has been under investigation for some time, was begun at American navy headquarters here today. Capt. Chamberlain was formally charged with "scandalous conduct tending to the destruction of good morals" and "falsehood."

DOUKHOBORS WANT LAND.

Lethbridge, Alta., March 26. — Word comes from Cowley, west of here, that the large Doukhobor colony there, far from intending to turn over their lands for returned soldiers, were bargaining as late as Saturday, for more land to add to their colony.

Berlin to Settle City Men in Country

Berlin, March 26.—The Vossische Zeitung says it is advised that the government is perfecting plans for promoting the emigration of industrial and city workers to the rural districts in view of the growing surplus of labor in the metropolitan centres, which already exceeds fifty per cent. of the demand.

The government's plans, the newspaper adds, include improvements in wage and housing conditions in the agricultural sections.

SCHIFFER TAKES A SOLEMN OATH

THAT HUN GOVT. WILL NOT YIELD ONE INCH OF TERRITORY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 26.—"I take a most solemn oath that the Government will not surrender to the enemy one inch of German territory either east or west," said Dr Schiffer, Minister of Finance in the New Cabinet, in addressing a great crowd in front of the Chancellor's Palace on Sunday.

RETURNED MEN JOIN A. F. OF L.

Chicago, March 26.—Fighting men who have just returned from Europe and have their discharges from the army have taken final action to gain the charter which will admit them to the American Federation of Labor.

Hamilton beat Western University at London by 30 to 24 in the first of home-and-home games in the O. A. B. A. intermediate series.

AUTO THIEVES REAP RICH HARVEST IN CHIGAGO

Seven Hundred and Eleven Cars Stolen Since First of Year—543 Recovered.

Chicago, March 25.—Automobile thefts for the first quarter of 1919 are 200 per cent in excess of the corresponding period of 1918. This fact was announced today by Sergt. Patrick Hamilton, who has charge of the automobile squads at the detective bureau. With the figures he issued a warning to automobile owners to take extra precautions to protect their machines, for a vast increase in the activities of automobile thieves is looked for with the coming of spring. Sergt. Hamilton said that the business of stealing automobiles has been such a gigantic success for those engaged in it that petty thieves and burglars are deserting their regular occupation to take up the less dangerous and more lucrative game of seizing motor cars.

"We have had 711 automobile thefts reported since the first of the year," said Sergt. Hamilton. "Of these 543 have been recovered and 168 are still missing. That means a clear loss at a conservative estimate of $158,000. In the last forty-eight hours there have been thirty-three thefts and only twenty recoveries.

"Many of the crimes are chargeable to joy riders, who abandon the cars in a few hours or a few days. But the large number of machines that disappear entirely shows the extent of the organized thievery. Gangs in Chicago are co-operating with gangs in other cities. Arrests we made a few days ago led to the discovery of three cars in an old barn, all ready for shipment to confederates in an eastern city."

Armed with figures to prove that an average of more than thirty crimes daily have been committed in Chicago since Jan. 1, city officials and criminologists prepared for the reconvening of the city crime commission tonight in the council chambers, at which efforts will be made to fix the responsibility for the startling criminal wave.

JEWISH LEADER PLEADS FOR ZION

RABBI WISE SAYS PALESTINE SHIULD BE TURNED OVER TO THE JEWS.

Chicago, March 25.—An appeal for the restoration of Palestine to the Jews was made before an audience of 3,000 Jews and gentiles here, who crowded the Auditorium theater to hear Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York speak. He is one of the most ardent supporters of the Zionist movement in America, as well as one of the best informed on Jewish problems. He called Palestine the "Jewish Alsace-Lorraine" and said it was the duty of the peace conference to turn it over to the millions of homeless Jews of the world under ample protectorate. Great Britain, he believed, is the logical nation to assume the mandatory. A contribution of $10,000 to the Zionist fund was made by the audience in the collection.

"If Armenia were to ask the United States," he said, "to act as a big brother to her, to take on a few responsibilities as well as some of the gains of the great war, I am sure every loyal American would vote to act as mandatory. They shall be free, but for a while these smaller nations will need protection and guidance."

President Wilson, he said, is a strong Zionist.

KING HONORS FIVE CANADIANS

London, March 26—The King yesterday presented the following orders to Canadian officers at an investiture held in Buckingham Palace:

Companion of St. Michael and St. George: Cols. Hugh Chisholm, Arthur Snell, Robert Wright.

Bar to Distinguished Service Order—Col. William Walker.

Distinguished Service Order—Col. Harry Muerling, Major Alfred Butler Shaw.

Officer British Empire Order—Majors William Robinson and William Thompson.

Red Cross, First-Class — Matrons Jean Urquhart, Evelyn Wilson.

Sverdloff's Death Causes Suspicion

SUPPORTER OF LENINE AND CHAIRMAN OF SOVIET COMMITTEE.

Paris, France, March 25.—Brief dispatches from Moscow announcing the death of Sverdloff, chairman of the executive committee of the All Russian congress of soviets, are causing much speculation among Russians in Paris, who are eagerly awaiting fuller details. His death is reported to have occurred February 16, after the convening of the 16th congress of Russian soviets, which continues its meeting in Moscow.

Sverdloff was one of Premier Lenine's strongest supporters, presided at the opening of the constituent assembly and has been a dominant figure as chairman of the executive committee of the all-Russian congress of Soviets. He supported Lenine in his effort to check the power of commissions for the suppression of the counter-revolution, which had been taking over the functions of the Soviets and threatening to supplant them.

NEW PRICE FOR SILVER

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 26.—The Government has fixed a new maximum price for silver, dating from today.

It is equivalent, at the current rate of exchange, to 95 cents per standard ounce.

CONDUCTORETTES TO GO.

Kingston, March 26.—Kingston still has four conductorettes on its street railway, but they will finish their service on April 19, when their places will be filled by returned soldiers.

CHURCHILL SAYS WHOLE OF EGYPT IS IN REVOLT

Need For a Large Army is Evident—Great Britain Must Not Squander Her Naval and Military Forces Before Permanent Peace is Signed

London, March 26. — Defending the Military Service Bill in the House of Commons yesterday Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for War, declared that the whole of Egypt was in a virtual state of insurrection. The position was so dangerous, he added, that the Government had to appeal to men on the point of demobilization to return and save their comrades from being murdered.

The declaration of the War Secretary was brought about by the remarks of Sir Donald MacLean, who had said that Great Britain was grossly over-insured with respect to the strength of the army. Mr. Churchill asked if he followed what was taking place in almost every country at the present time, and if so, how could he say that there was over-insurance in keeping 900,000 men for every purpose, including ten divisions on the Rhine and four divisions in the home country, less than the number kept here in the peaceful days before the war.

Only three days ago, continued the Secretary, a situation developed in Egypt which was of very far-reaching danger, and which made it necessary to appeal to the men who were collected at various ports for demobilization to go back and help their comrades and save them from being murdered.

The whole of Egypt was virtually in a state of insurrection

Agreement Not Reached.

Had Sir Donald read of what was taking place on the Black Sea, in Hungary, and on the whole frontier of those small States which were guaranteed protection by the League of Nations? Sir Donald had said, continued the Secretary, that the German army was to be reduced to 100,000 men, and that the Germans were to have no boy scouts. That, the speaker asserted, was what the allies were going to demand. But had the Germans agreed to it, and was there any chance of their agreeing to it if the allies divested themselves of all their forces at the present time?

"The Government," said the Secretary, "have to face the real facts. If we squandered our forces at the present time before our terms are secured, with European conditions of increasing gravity and perplexity then we should throw away with both hands all the results gained by the sacrifices of millions of our men during four years."

Voluntary Army Needed.

The Liberal Opposition had proposed a series of amendments to the Military Service Bill which Mr. Churchill declared were intended to wreck the bill. There was no truth in the accusation that the Government had not tried the voluntary system. The Government had tried, and would try, every means under the voluntary system.

Objection was taken to men being invited to re-enlist for as long as two, three and four years. But unless men were secured for those periods it would be impossible to relieve territorial and other troops in India and elsewhere, who ought to have effective relief. He thoroughly agreed that the Government must do everything possible to recreate a voluntary army at the earliest possible

CONCRETE STRUCTURES ARE CHEAPER THAN THOSE OF STEEL

Comparisons Drawn Between Steel and Concrete For Use in Hunter Street Bridge.

The Editor Review,

Sir:—In an editorial on the proposed Hunter Street Bridge on March 21st you say that you are advised that weather conditions in Canada militate against concrete bridges of the proposed design, concrete being subject to expansion and contraction; and secondly, that a steel bridge might be cheaper.

Concrete is subject to expansion and contraction from temperature changes, but it is not different from other materials as to this, except that the changes are slighter than in some other materials—steel for instance. In concrete arch bridges, such as the proposed design, the expansion of the arch is relieved by the arch rising at the crown (a fraction of an inch). This induces slight movements in the spandrels and superstructure of the arch, necessitating expansions. The expansion in steel bridges is taken care of in other ways, which need not here be particularly mentioned. The effect of the temperature stresses is exactly calculable just as the effect of a moving live load is calculable, and has been fully provided for. There are a great number of concrete bridges in Canada. It is true that occasionally a concrete bridge has failed due to faulty workmanship or faulty design, though the number of concrete bridge failures; but I dare affirm as being failures; but I dare affirm is being familiar with the literature of the subject that it has never been charged by authorities on the subject that any of them have succumbed to the climate. The two longest concrete arch bridges in Canada at the present time, both over 1000 feet long and over wider streams than the Otonabee, are situated one in Calgary and one in Saskatoon, the climate of which is said to be equally as severe as that of Peterboro.

Before the war steel superstructures were in general about ten per cent cheaper in first cost than concrete superstructures. Since that time steel has more than doubled in price and concrete bridges have risen in cost about forty five per cent. The latter are now therefore cheaper than steel in first cost, unless the position is peculiarly adapted to steel only, which is not the case here. I say this as being disinterested as to which material is used. I have designed about as many steel bridges as concrete. In my judgment a steel bridge cannot be built as cheaply as concrete unless a designer sets out to "beat the specifications," and skimp material on the assumption that the cheapest bridge will be adopted regardless of value.

I will mention one point in favor of concrete which should appeal to the people of Peterborough. A concrete bridge is practically manufactured on the site giving labor to many people, only about one-tenth of the cost of the bridge being spent on material outside of Peterborough. In the case of steel superstructures, on the other hand, practically nine-tenths of the the cost of the erected steel must be spent outside the city.

Yours truly,
FRANK BARBER

Will Land Men On Dalmatian Coast

Paris, March 26.—Reports have reached the Peace Conference that inter-allied troops will be landed at Spalato, on the Dalmatian coast, because the disorders that have occurred there and for fear graver troubles may arise. The Hungarians are reported to be trying to spread Bolshevism to that part of the Adriatic coast which they controlled before the downfall of Austria.

The Hungarians are credited with aiming to seize the portion of the former Austrian fleet held by the Jugo-Slavs.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; G. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept. ... 131. Editorial ... 486.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 331

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1919

LABOR AND INDUSTRIAL MANAGEMENT.

FORMER CANADIAN Minister of Labor W. L. Mackenzie King recently addressed the Industrial Club of Chicago, and his talk on plans by which Labor may be brought into more intimate relations with industrial management, so that all might co-operate for the benefit of all, met with hearty approval, according to the Chicago Daily News. Of the four parties to industry, according to Mr. King—capital, labor, management and the community—all now exercise active control except Labor. He insists that Labor must also be recognised as having rights of control by means of full and frank conferences, investigation accorded to all complaints, collective bargaining and other benefits of organization and representation on boards of management.

These views have, it seems, found experimental adoption in Great Britain, where the Government and leaders of great industries met and are meeting heads of big Labor organizations in a spirit of conciliation and recognition, which has prevented strikes and promises to avoid a threatened paralysis of industry. Britain's triple alliance of Labor—transport workers, miners, railwaymen—met representatives of their employers and the Government on the issues at stake; committees were appointed to report on each phase of the workers' demands, and from present indications it looks as though by May 20 a solution of all the problems involved will have been reached. All of which is an acceptable exemplification of mutual consideration of the interests of both parties concerned, and incidentally the welfare of those outside the controversy.

Workers today have resolutely determined to insist on some order of society which will improve their lives and conditions in accord with the new valuation they have set upon themselves. These objects are to be commended, as also is the spirit in which the alliance of Labor in England has apparently conducted its campaign for those objects, recognizing the right of a division of an agreed-upon valuation.

This principle of co-partnership in the economic situation is coming more and more to the front and conferences between employers and workers on questions involving their respective rights are now the rule rather than the exception.

Labor should, and undoubtedly will, be accorded all the rights, benefits and privileges which an enlightened era calls for; and it is to be hoped that in return it will studiously avoid any class attitude which will hint at bolshevik principles. For, as an exchange puts it, "good will in industry, as in nations, is necessary if our civilization is to be saved and advanced."

SPEEDING UP NEEDED.

UNLESS ALL SIGNS FAIL, Canada, after an unusually mild winter, is to be blessed with an exceptionally early spring. And this will surely be a blessing for out-of-door workers, if open-air work is to be found. Schemes are being formulated for providing labor for the unemployed, of whom there are thousands, and those projects should be brought to a consummation at the earliest possible date. The housing problem and good roads enter largely into the plans for relief of the unemployed, and also public improvements. And all governing bodies should start on their building and road schemes without delay, to relieve the distress that is fast approaching the doors of so many good citizens through no fault of their own.

The labor situation throughout Canada is disquieting, and promises to reach an acute stage unless the present and evidently growing industrial depression finds relief in some shape or form.

With the signing of the armistice on November 11, last year, at the drop of the hat, so to speak, munition workers were discharged, and the vast majority of them have been idle ever since. Other trades quickly felt the reaction after four years of war-time boom, and in every town and city today there is a narmy of unemployed. In this city it is computed there are two thousand men out of work, and conditions are comparatively the same elsewhere.

Bolshevism and hunger, it is said, go hand in hand—without hunger there would, at least, have been no Bolshevik activities in Russia, and now in Hungary. The Russian Bolshevik armies were raised by feeding starving men who would enlist and starving those who would not enlist. Had there been sufficient food for all, Russian Bolshevism would not have prevailed. Napoleon always said that a man fights well on a full stomach, and he always saw to it that his armies were well fed. This same principle applies generally. A man is more law-abiding, more loyal to his country and thinks and forms conclusions more intelligently when sufficiently fed. Lack of food and the comforts man craves for have been responsible for more crime in the world than any other agency, not excepting drink. This brings us to the thought that Bolshevik sentiments are found in our neighboring republic. Twenty-six thousand Bolshevik names were discovered through a raid in New York City. And the voice of Bolshevism has also been heard in Canada.

If food and employment are the remedies for anarchy and bolshevism, they are also preventatives, and the lack of food and creature comforts are incentives. Therefore we must see to it that conditions in Canada do not degenerate into such a period of depression as will encourage the insidious Bolshevik to circulate his mischief-making propaganda.

At the front we have fought together, at home we have also fought unitedly, against the common foe in Europe. And now let us, as in war, all pull together to tide over the dull times upon which we have fallen. Let our governments and corporations vie with each other in providing permanent improvements and public work which will find employment for both skilled and unskilled labor, and, above all, let time be taken by the forelock.

CHRISTIAN UNION.

LORD HUGH CECIL, speaking on this subject in London, England, described Nationalism as the sentiment which made us distinguish our own country from all other countries and made us feel a measure of hatred and antagonism towards other countries. It was a sentiment which denied the homogeneity of the human race. Though we admitted and maintained with perfect sincerity that all mankind were brothers and that we were bound to one another with bonds of brotherly affection, nevertheless, especially during the past four or five years, we found that we could not help hating the enemies of our country.

The sentiment of Nationalism differed from patriotism in this respect, that it had not part of its essential qualities, hatred, which was fundamentally inconsistent with Christianity in the same sense as slavery was inconsistent with Christianity, and for the same reason. It was altogether a good thing that we should love our country better than ourselves and sacrifice ourselves for it; but Nationalism, which made us feel that we did not owe the same duties to other peoples that we owed to ourselves and our own nationality, was fundamentally inconsistent with Christianity, and had all along been the enemy of Christianity.

He was afraid that it was to an exaggerated idea of this Nationalism that the dreadful war through which we had been passing was greatly due. The Germans had come to think that their country stood altogether before the moral law. It was not that they lapsed occasionally, under the influence of passion; it was that in cold blood and systematically they pursued a policy totally inconsistent with any moral principle, because they thought the interests of their country justified it. They even came to speak of a German God. That was the very essence of the idolatry of nationalism. They made God and His laws and revelation German instead of Germany's God. They put nationalism first, and religion as a graceful handmaid following in its trail.

Nationalism, therefore, was a sort of heresy and evil way of thought which Christianity had to get rid of, as it was a great obstacle in the way of the moral and religious progress of the human race. It could not be denied that at the present time we were approaching the problem of Christian reunion with a nationalist atmosphere, and many people reconciled themselves to the ideal of the League of Nations in the belief that they would be able to maintain all their national hatreds and antagonisms quite irrespective of it.

If it were possible to bring all the Christian denominations in England into a single church he believed that it would be a calamity rather than a benefit, because the critic would become the flatterer, and the benefit of the independent religious teaching that we now enjoyed would be lost. What we must aim at was a wider and more catholic union outside the limits of our own nationality, which in course of time might grow into the size of a world-wide church in which all Christians would co-operate effectively against the great evil of nationalism, which had shown itself such a curse to humanity.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

SO WE ARE NOT to have daylight saving this year, after all. Well, let us save something, anyway, by buying Thrift Stamps.

• • • • •

THE BALTIMORE American irreverently remarks that it might be well to send the whole of Congress to France after the President returns.

• • • • •

AN ENTERPRISING journalist in England describes Toronto as being a seaport. Well, that's better than being in the backwoods, where not a few English people imagine Toronto is.

• • • • •

WILLIAM HOHENZOLLERN cut down a thousand trees in Holland—sawing wood and saying nothing, so to speak. Would have been better for the world had he followed that occupation for years past instead of rattling the sword.

• • • • •

THE GLOBE THINKS that when the Germans learn the peace terms there may be an outbreak of bolshevism in Germany. There probably will, for Germany will use any tool to foil the Entente. "By fair means or foul" is the principle underlying German policy.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

GLORY ENOUGH FOR ALL.

(Buffalo Express.)

Jealousy is bound to crop out and it is no secret that Canada, war weary and badly bled, is annoyed at the claims that she hears to the south of her. She should not be. Canada's part in the war will take many pages in the history of this conflict. Hers was a gallant role. This country will never forget how her troops turned back the German hordes at the time of the first gas attack at Ypres and saved the Belgian coast. That is but one of her glorious feats. At the same time, Canada must not forget how the United States turned back the Germans at Chateau-Thierry and saved Paris in one of the darkest moments of the war.

TRADE BETWEEN CANADA AND BRITAIN.

(Canadian Gazette, London.)

Canada has her own commercial treaty with France, and it is obvious that the export interest of dominions like Canada will lead to a great development of their commercial relations with countries outside the British Empire. Would it not be wise, before these problems become urgent and complicated by specific difficulties to thresh out the question of treaty relations on an Empire basis? For our part we see no solution consistent with the effective unity of the Empire except a system of joint negotiation. It would be negotiation by plenipotentiaries representing the British Empire as a whole, and taking full cognisance of the needs of the dominions concerned, as well as of those of the Mother Country, thus securing the maximum of benefit to each over the whole field of Imperial interests. As was admitted by colonial delegates at the Imperial Conference of 1907, the bargaining power both of the United Kingdom and the Dominions would be greatly increased by their joint action in dealing with foreign nations.

OUR SESSIONAL LETTER

Toronto, March 26. — The outstanding event in the proceedings in the Legislature last week was the conclusion of the budget debate with a speech by Mr. H. H. Dewart, member for Southwest Toronto, in which he attacked the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act by the License Board and charged grave impropriety on the part of Chief Inspector Ayearst. In a speech of over an hour and a half's duration, Mr. Dewart commented adversely on the employment by the Board of private detective agencies and concluded with the direct statement that an investigation would prove that Mr. Ayearst would be found to be profiting from the money paid to operators of these private detective agencies while they at the same time were in the employ of the Board.

As Mr. Dewart's motion for an investigation was made on the motion to go into committee of supply it was, under our parliamentary system, a motion of want of confidence in the Government. Hon. I. B. Lucas, Attorney-General, who replied to the charges, said that Mr. Dewart would either have to lay a formal charge on his responsibility as a member of the House or be branded all over the province as a public slanderer. Mr. Lucas pointed out that if there was one jot or tittle of truth in Mr. Dewart's statements, or if it could be shown on investigation that any officer of the License Department was guilty of any act of wrong doing, that officer would not remain "more than ten hours in the department, and whatever remedies we may have to punish him we will follow."

A Royal Commission.

Following this discussion the Prime Minister subsequently made a statement that the Government would refer the whole matter to a Royal commission with the widest latitude possible for an inquiry, and while "the Government has no reason to believe that the official in question has been guilty of wrong doing, should he or any other officer of the Government be found guilty of misconduct he will be forthwith discharged from the public service and made to answer for his offences so far as the laws of this province or the criminal law of Canada may apply thereto."

Sir William To Act.

When the House resumed its sittings today the Prime Minister made a further announcement that the Chief Justice of Ontario, Sir William Meredith, had consented to act as commissioner, and Mr. Peter White, K.C., as counsel, and the whole of the matters involved in Mr. Dewart's statements, including the recent Homer case, as well as the public accounts back to the year 1912, would be thrown open to the widest possible scrutiny.

The prompt and vigorous action on the part of the Hearst Government with respect to the administration of the liquor law in this province is in marked contrast with the efforts of other governments throughout Canada under somewhat similar conditions to "sit on the lid" and stifle investigation. So far as the Government is concerned, it will court the fullest inquiry, and no stone will be left unturned to assure the people of the province that in the administration of the liquor law the Board of License Commissioners has an absolutely free hand, and if advantage has been taken of the confidence which the Government placed in the officials of the Board, those who are found guilty will be punished.

A Fitting Answer.

The small group of people throughout the province who, particularly since the recent bye-elections, have sought to discredit the leadership of Sir William Hearst, will find a fitting answer to their efforts in a vote of confidence passed by the Conservative members in caucus the past week. A resolution was passed, after being carefully considered by a committee of caucus, which no doubt will serve to put a stop to the agitation, although it may have little effect on those whose hostility to the Government's liquor policy has inspired their campaign.

The resolution adopted was:

"That the Conservative members of the Ontario Legislature in caucus, upon the first occasion since the signing of the armistice, do extend sincere congratulations and hearty thanks to our leader, Sir William Hearst, for the eminently able, conscientious and worthy discharge of the onerous duties devolving upon him since his elevation to the office of Prime Minister, and particularly for his war policy and war work which have redounded to the credit of this great province, and further, that with the knowledge of his tasks and the tremendous responsibility resting upon him, we declare ourselves to be unitedly and loyally behind him in his leadership of the great Conservative party, and we do pledge him our unanimous support."

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Lee Pape.)

My sister Gladdis was setting in the setting room, reeding with a ixpression as if it was a good book, and I sed, Gladdis? Her not ansering, and I sed, Gladdis?

Wat? sed Gladdis.

Potts, I sed. Being her bole name, Gladdis Potts. And Gladdis kepp rite on reeding as if she hadent even herd me, and pritty soon I sed, Gladdis?

Wat, wat, wat? sed Gladdis.

Potts, I sed.

You sed that wunts, for goodniss sakes cant you let a body alone wen theyre trying to reed? sed Gladdis. Proberly not understanding the joak yet, and she kepp on reeding with a ixpression as if sumthing had bin worrying her, proberly being me, and pritty soon I got up, saying, Well, I guess Ill go out now, theres nuthing to do heer so I mite as well go out. Wich I started to do, and wen I got to the door I terned erround, saying, O by the way, Gladdis?

For pity sakes, wat? sed Gladdis.

Potts, I sed. And I quick went out of the room, Gladdis saying, If you were haff as brite as you think you are you would still have a long ways to go. Meening I woodent be very brite even then. Proving she proberly didént see the joak even yet, and I went down stairs and ma was in the kitchin mixing dough with her hends, and there was a box of candy on the sidebord in the dining room with some still in it and I sed G, ma, whose candy is this, can I have sum?

Its Gladdises, you can if she says so, sed ma. And I quick ran up stairs agen and stuck my hed in the sitting room door, saying, Gladdis?

Go to the dickins, you can fool some of the peeple all the time but not me, sed Gladdis.

I wasent going to say Potts, honest I wasent, Gladdis, I sed, and she sed Good by, good by, dont you see your not wunted? Me thinking, Maybe I better jest take a peece and call up and tell her I got it.

Wich I went down and did, going out the frunt door fast so I wouldent heer her anser in case it wasent favorable.

MARCH.

(By Walt Mason.)

Windy March is now on deck; winter gets it in the neck, and we hear him say, "By heck, it is time to loop the loops"; gentle spring is on the way; there are balmy winds today, and the hens begin to lay in their richly furnished coops. March will try us for a spell; she will rant and she will yell, raising forty kinds of Hail Columbia; but it's all an empty bluff; winter has his final fling ere the birds begin to sing, and we welcome gentle spring; oh, the springtime is the stuff! March may dish up snow and sleet, fill with slush the village street, and annoy rheumatic feet, but no dead game sport will sigh, for the sun will follow fast on the coat tails of the blast; March's tantrums will be past in the winking of an eye. Soon the bumblebee and ant on the lawn will gallivant, and the pelican will chant like a bulbul to its mate; soon the aardvark and the owl and the common barnyard fowl will sit up at night, for old winter pulls his freight. Oh, the rapture and the bliss when the blizzards cease to hiss, and the sunbeams come and kiss dewy lilies and the rose! March's winds may rant and shout, but they cannot bluff us out, for we know beyond a doubt they are winter's dying throes.

NEW BISHOP OF ALBANY

Buffalo, N.Y., March 25.—The Rt. Rev. Edmund F. Gibbons, rector of Saint Theresa's Church, was consecrated Bishop of Albany at Saint Joseph's Cathedral today.

SENTENCED TO HANG

Port Arthur, March 25.—Manuel Niemi, a Finlander, has been sentenced to hang on June 27, being found guilty at the Supreme Court here for murdering Joseph Stess at Graham last year.

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

C.P.R. OFFICIALS INVADE QUEBEC

VISITED QUEBEC AND "LIONS" OF CANADA'S ANCIENT CITY

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Quebec, March 26.—Over two hundred officers and chiefs in charge of the executive appointments of the Canadian Pacific Railway scattered along the system from coast to coast and from the various centres of the United States C. P. R. agencies visited the ancient city of Quebec over the week-end, arriving Sunday night by a special train made up of ten Pullman passenger sleepers and two dining cars. Some one hundred and fifty put up at the Chateau Frontenac, while the balance were obliged to occupy the sleepers.

The officials are in charge of Mr. J. McMillan, manager of the C. P. R. company's telegraph system, and include representatives of the civil engineering department, legal department, stores and purchasing departments, operating department, secret service representatives of the telegraph system, dining and sleeping car service, passenger departments, land departments, and the heads of U. S. agencies, etc.

The officials had attended a convention at Montreal, which ended in that city with a banquet given by the chief executive of the C. P. R. at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel on Saturday night.

The party broke up here Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock by a visit to the Quebec bridge, when many proceeded to their respective homes and quite a few remained over in Quebec for a couple of days to see the city. His Worship Mayor Lavigneur, who had previously received an invitation to meet the officials on their arrival and dine with them at the Chateau, met the visitors and wished them welcome. The dinner later served was absolutely informal. No toasts were proposed and no speeches made.

Monday morning a number of the visitors proceeded to Ste. Anne de Beaupre to visit the shrine and get a glimpse of Montmorency Falls, while others made a tour of the city in sleighs, and also had a visit to the Louise docks and the military clearing depot.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A miserly father maketh an extravagant son.

Ever notice what a lot of friends your enemies have?

Many a picture illustrates the story of the artist's hard luck.

We all have our opportunities, but most of us manage to dodge them.

Acquire the gambling habit if you would learn the art of not saving money.

The man who makes a dollar and spends two will never break into the tax dodger class.

Some people spend so much time handing out advice that they have no time to accomplish anything.

Run over the list of your friends and you will be surprised at the number you could dispense with.

When a woman has occasion to hit her husband for a little pin money she is apt to make a few remarks that are striking.

SCHOOL GIRL TELLS OTHERS

How They Can Find Relief From Periodic Sufferings.

Nashua, N. H.—"I am nineteen years old and every month for two years I had such pains that I would often faint and have to leave school. I had such pain I did not know what to do with myself and tried so many remedies that were of no use. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and decided to try it, and that is how I found relief from pain and feel so much better than I use to. When I hear of any girl suffering as I did I tell them how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me."—DELIMA MARTIN, 29 Bowers St., Nashua, N.H.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, therefore is a perfectly safe remedy to give your daughter, who suffers from such painful periods as did Mrs. Martin.

The reason so many girls write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice, is because from their 40 years experience they have a store of knowledge which is invariably helpful.

BOY CATCHES BIG SAILFISH

SIXTEEN - YEAR - OLD FLORIDA BOY CATCHES A SIXTY-POUNDER.

Watterson Miller, of Marne, Florida, aged 16, grandson of the Ace of American Journalists, Colonel Henry Watterson, is keeping pace with his grandfather as a lover of clean sports.

Watterson went out on the Gypsy Queen with W. G. Duncan, first vice president of the Miami Anglers' Club to enjoy a day's fishing. When the Gypsy Queen dropped anchor yesterday afternoon at Elser's Pier there were hundreds of people gathered to see one of the biggest sailfish caught here this season, which was landed by Col. Watterson's grandson. Members of the Anglers' Club congratulated the lad, and he is the youngest man in Miami eligible for membership in this organization. Colonel Watterson has every reason to be proud of his grandson, for the lad fought the big fish, like a veteran. No one had to instruct him and he played the sixty-pound sailfish out.

The sailfish is one of the gamest of fish in these waters, and anglers are always glad to land one. Mr. Duncan, who is a warm personal friend of Col. Watterson's says young Miller, who is still in knee trousers, will be one of the best anglers in the country if he keeps up his present pace.

The 60-pound sailfish is within a few pounds of the record fish of this kind caught here this season. Yesterday two old anglers had sailfish on their lines but did not land them for one cause or another. Where others failed Colonel Watterson's grandson succeeded yesterday and brought in the only sailfish caught.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

EMPIRE THEATRE WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

GRACE CUNNARD and FRANCIS FORD in In Treason's Grasp
A Drama in 5 parts

KING BAGGOT and MARGUERITE SNOW in The Eagle's Eye Chapter 15
THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST COTTON. 2 parts

Charlie Chaplin in EASY STREET COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS.

THE STRAND, TO-DAY 12 Reels

SEE the celebrated Screen Star Ruth Roland in her new Western Serial Entitled

HANDS UP

ANOTHER REEL OF
Famous Canadian Regiments in France
48th HIGHLANDERS

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

The Red, White and Green Package is Familiar to All

FOR over twelve years the original Red, White and Green corn flake package has been a familiar combination of colors to all Canadians.

During all these years millions of Canadians have enjoyed

Kellogg's

TOASTED

CORN FLAKES

ALWAYS make sure you are getting the genuine original Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes which are only sold in the red, white and green package.

Accept No Substituted Imitations.

Only Made in Canada by

THE BATTLE CREEK TOASTED CORN FLAKE CO., LIMITED.

HEAD OFFICE AND PLANT:

LONDON, ONT.

20

Kellogg's
TOASTED
CORN
FLAKES
MADE IN CANADA
TOASTED CORN FLAKE CO.
LONDON, ONT.
The sweet heart of the corn

A FITTING TRIBUTE TO THE HONORED AND HEROIC DEAD

Paid by Rev. Robert Pogue at St. Paul's Church—Animated by Devotion, Courage and Unselfishness They Laid Down Their Lives in Defence of Home and Empire.

Following is a report of the beautiful and exceedingly appropriate sermon delivered by Rev. Robert Pogue at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday morning when tablets to those heroic members of the church who had made the supreme sacrifice in the great war and to those who have enlisted with the colors were unveiled:

The reverend gentleman based his discourse on the text, "And they loved not their lives unto the death," taken from Revelation 12 : 11.

It is a very solemn service, he said, which we hold today. A service in memory of departed loved ones, must, of necessity, be solemn. But though solemn it need not be sad or gloomy. The clouds may be dark overhead, and yet there may be peace in the heart. The Christian has a secret spring of joy even in his sorrow. We meet together today, not as pagans, but as Christians, as those who believe in the resurrection of the dead, the life everlasting, and the blessed and comforting hope of reunion beyond the grave. We should try to think of life as those see it who have passed within the veil and are now in the world of light. We know they are happy, and we know that they would wish us to be happy also. So, though our thoughts are occupied this morning with matters serious and solemn, I trust there may be in all our hearts a little of that peace which those know who "loved not their lives unto the death," and are now "where glory, glory dwelleth in Immanuel's land."

Heroic Deeds.

We have met this morning to commemorate the heroic deeds of our immortal dead, and the equally heroic deeds that we who remained at home and on whom there rests the responsibility to "carry on" and make permanent in our civilization the liberties they died to win, may gather up the heroic traditions of their lives and receive inspiration from their deeds. What I shall say, therefore, will be in the form of a tribute, first to our honoured and heroic dead, and secondly to those who fought side by side with them and showed a courage the equal of their's, and whose lives a kind Providence has spared to us. And, then, thirdly, I shall say a few words in closing on the message of their heroism and sacrifices for us of today.

Gave Their Lives For Us.

1.—How shall we think of those who gave their lives for us, some of them on red fields, others on grey seas, and others in the viewless air; and whose bodies lie buried, where poppies grow, in Flander's field; or in desert sands, where Syrian stars look down; or in deep seas whose laughing waves sing a joyful requium for those who lived nobly and died bravely? How can we suitably commemorate the noble deeds of those rich dead:

"Who laid the world away; poured out the red
Sweet wine of youth gave up the years to be
Of work and joy, and that unhoped serene
That men call age, and those who would have been
Their sons, and gave their immortality?"

When we think of them and try to put into words our thoughts of them; when we attempt to speak of their heroic deeds and their heroic death, we feel the poverty of human speech, and we long for a gift other than human that some measure of justice might be done those whose lives were ended ere they were scarce begun.

Fine Sense of Duty.

I pay a tribute to their fine sense of duty. When the call came there was no drawing back. They knew well the probable cost. Few believed they could ever return. The most they did was to hope. When duty called—

"There's not to reason why,
There's not to make reply;
There's but to do and die."

They had the same love of life which we all have. God has made man for life and not for death. Death is an intruder, a something foreign to God's purpose for the race. They had an inate love of life and all things pleasant and beautiful; but when duty spoke their "loyal souls swung like a needle to its pole" and, counting not their lives dear unto them,

"They never turned their back.
But marched breast forward."

Some Were School Boys.

I pay a tribute to their courage. Who were these whose heroic deeds we recount today and which will be recounted by generations yet unborn. They were school boys, some of them; office and bank clerks, others of them, sons of farmers and artisans, still others of them. They were not professional soldiers. They did not love war. They hated it. They were gay and careless youths belong to a militant nation. It was sometimes said by advocates of universal military training that only by such discipline could that heroism be developed which would be needed if we ever found ourselves in a great war. And yet our boys were not found wanting in courage when the time came. In the hour of trial they faced the foe without blanching. They would not have been human if they had not felt the loneliness of that last night in the trenches before going over the top, and if their thoughts had not been often on home and loved ones far away. And yet we know that they wrote their last message with a firm hand and a stout heart and faced the sudden blotting out of the fair horizen that opened out before them, without either sorrow or regret. And then when they charged the foe it was with a sublime disregard of life and limb, their only thought being that they might not fail in their duty to those they left behind, to their country, or to their God. And that "they loved not their lives unto th edeath" was evidence that their courage did not fail them.

Admirable Unselfishness.

I pay a tribute to their unselfishness. Had they thought more of themselves and less of us they would never have enlisted. Had they thought more of ease than of duty, more of a good time than of liberty and of truth, more of life than of honor, they never would have made the sacrifice which they did. In all they did they put the consideration of others before their own. Those of us who have visited their homes know how frequent and cheery were their letters, how they made light of their hardships and their dangers, how they avoided all reference to the likelihood of being killed. We know how they practiced the art of camouflage in hiding from anxious mothers the dangers to which their lives were exposed, and the hardships they endured. And then we have heard of their unselfishness to each other. We have read of how a comrade has risked his life for a friend. I have before told the incident, which I beg to repeat, of the soldier, who, seeing a bomb fall in the midst of a group of companions threw his coat on it and then sat on it. He was horribly lacerated, and yet he lived. On being asked why he had done it, he replied, "I forgot myself!" Of course he did. This is what our men were doing all the time. They forgot themselves, but they did not forget us, and they did not forget their country, nor did they forget the cause for which they fought and gave their lives.

Can Never Forget Them.

Nor shall we forget them. We shall ever hold dear the memory. We shall ever be inspired by their example. When tempted to ease and self-indulgence we shall be shamed by their sufferings and sacrifice. We sorrow because they will come home to us no more. But we do not sorrow as those who have no hope. God will give them back "bright, pure and beautiful." In that hope we will dry our eyes and be as heroic in our loneliness as they were in the midst of the horrors of war. And we shall say as we think of them:

"Because you live, though out of sight and reach,
I will, so help me, God, live bravely too;
Taking the road with laughter, gay and speech
Alert, intent to give life all its due."

Back From Jaws of Death.

2.—I can only speak very briefly to you who have come back from the jaws of death, back from the mouth of hell, whose lives have been graciously spared. You would not have me dwell at length on anything you have done. I have noticed how difficult it is, in conversation with you, to get you to tell anything about yourselves, even those of you who are decorated with medals. I cannot look upon you today without a feeling of thanksgiving. God has spared your lives. Some of you feel that it is a miracle of His grace and love that you are here at all. What hair-breadth escapes some of you have had! Two of you, at least, were shot to the earth by German airmen, and still you live to tell the tale. Others of you could mention deliverances just as miraculous. You cannot help but feel that you were spared because your work was not done. It lies before you. You will not forget the past but you will not live in it. Your country and your God need you here just as truly as they needed you on the battle fields of Europe. There is a great work to be done which will call for the exercise of equal heroism to that which you displayed on the field of battle.

Those Who Stayed at Home.

3.—I am concerned this morning in the time at my disposal to speak a word to those who stayed at home and whose liberties have been made secure by the heroic dead whom we seek to honor, and by such men as those whom I see before me, and those whose names are on one of these tablets just unveiled. And that you may rightly appreciate what you owe to the livinga nd the dead I am going to read to you a tribute recently paid our soldiers by Lloyd George. It is only as we grasp the full measure of their endurance, their unflinching courage, and their wonderful services and sacrifices that we ourselves can live worthy of the sacrifices they made for us, and that we can honor them as those ought to be honored who risked their all for us.

Wonder at Heroism.

Continuing the reverend speaker said:

To this hour, I cannot think of the heroism of our soldiers without wonder—without wonder and reverence. There has never been in the history of mankind such a courage as their. Never! Think what it was. The least of us is capable of a flash of valour. In a sudden emergency the meanest of us might be brave. Once or twice in his life a coward might do noble things. But think what those men did. It was not for an hour, nor for a day, nor for a week, nor for a month, nor for a year that they did fine things.

Year after year their life was a fine thing. It was not valour they displayed; it was not even heroism; it was something so new and terrible, so undreamed of, that man has created no word for it. I try to find some word to define it, to suggest it. I can't. The nearest word I can get is "endurance." They were in hell every day of their lives, and they endured. They were in peril of death, and worse than death, day after day, night after night and they endured. They were exposed to all the nerve shattering rage of artillery, artillery which rived the soil like an earthquake, which hurled the bodies of the dead in the air, and flung the bodies of the living into a deeper sepulchre; and they endured. They went out into the darkness to storm the trenches of the enemy, to destroy machine-gun nests, to break a line of fire, the very thunders of which deafened men; and they endured. But something more. That is what haunts me. They endured for all these years a manner of life utterly unnatural—utterly unnatural and horrible beyond expression of words. Our people are the cleanest in Europe; to keep their bodies clean is one of their joys, a part almots of their religion, and think how they lived in unutterable filth, breathing an air that choked the lungs with disgust, their young bodies attacked by vermin, their feet sinking into squalor, their hands touching at every turn things which one dare not speak about. And our people are the most domesticated in Europe, our climate has enforced us into making indoor life the very heart of existence; and these young men were exiled from their homes, were forced to live almost entirely without the grace and charm and consolation of women, were obliged to herd together in great companies in a foreign country, and not only a foreign country, but a torn and blasted country from which the sulphurous flames of satanism had scorched the leaf of the meanest weed.

There they lived, always in the presence of death, always in the midst of horror, always on a rack of torture, a rack which stretched and tortured not the muscles of the body, but every nerve, and the whole mind, and the entire soul, and they endured. Yes, they endured, endured inexpressible agony with patience, even with honor, and at the end, flinging themselves upon the enemy, drove him headlong, they drove him out of his trenches, sent him flying, beat him, beat him to his knees. There has been nothing like this in the history of the world.

Liberty at Great Price.

What kind of people ought we to be in view of these sacrifices? What should we make of the liberty they secured at so great a price? But for their valor, their courage, their endurance, the Hun flag would be floating today over large parts of France and England, and even Canada itself, and many of you who are here this morning would not be living at all. How shall we think of that holy thing which they have purchased for us? Why should we seek to keep their memory green and to treasure all their heroic deeds? Is this memorial service a mere sentiment? Will it be to any purpose in our lives will it be anything but a solemn mockery if we go out from this place to "amuse ourselves, to shirk difficult duty, to seek soft and easy places?"

We cannot speak of the dead without using the word sacrifice. Have the living no sacrifices to make? Nothing but our sacrifice can answer to their sacrifice. If they loved not their lives unto the death, we must respond by giving to the death all selfishness, and pride.

Spirit of Comradeship.

Our soldiers developed a sweet spirit of comradeship. They were one in their sufferings, and one in their struggles. They fought like brothers, and many of them sleep together in kindred graves. Can not that same spirit of brotherhood be fostered and practised among all classes in our national life? The war has been a great leveller, greater than a few snobs have yet learned. It has brought home to us the old Scripture which tells us that God has made of one blood all nations that dwell on the earth; that

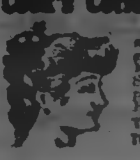
"What man so 'ere I chance to see
Amazing thought, is kin to me,
And if a man, my brother!"

Unless this be our creed, unless it be with us a living faith embodied in the very warp and woof of life, and in all our relationships with our fellowmen, then the war will have been fought in vain, and instead of erecting such monuments as these to our dead soldiers and our returning brave, let us bury them deep out of sight, and go through life with drooped head and shamed cheeks.

Oh, could our dead, who see the meaning of life with clearer eyes than we, but speak to us this morning they would say: "Do not sorrow for us. It is well with the faithful dead. Live for God. Be brave, be unselfish, be kind, be true, be generous. Take Jesus Christ as your Saviour, Friend and Brother. Then, you too will come where we are, and where all go who for Christ 'loved not their lives unto the death.'"

A good fighter dodges lots of quarrels.

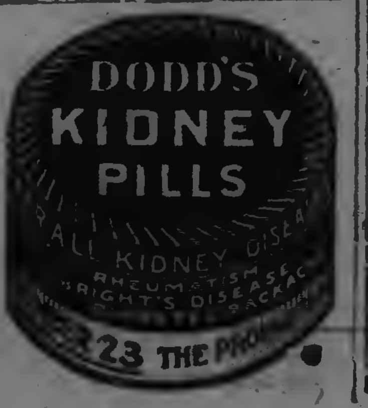
Many a man lives a cat-and-dog life. He purrs in the parlor and barks in the kitchen.



Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all [illegible] prepaid on [illegible]

THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)



CONCENTRATION

(H. Addington Bruce, in Chicago Daily News.)

You have come to me as a student seeking suggestions that will help you study to best advantage. The first thing I would urge upon you is to remember that ease and efficiency of study are, as a rule, proportional to the degree of interest in the subject studied.

And I would have you at the same time keep in mind that, no matter how uninteresting any given subject may seem, interest in it can always be worked up.

Talk it over with people who know much about it. Get from them a clear understanding of its practical applications. Ask them to suggest books that will give you a broader view on its bearings on life's problems.

The more you can link it by reading and reflection with things in which you already are interested, the greater will become its appeal to you and consequently the more easily can you concentrate attention on it.

Of course, however, you will always be more interested in some subjects than in others. That is inevitable if only because of differences in natural aptitudes. People do not all like the same things in similar degrees.

And because those things which interest you least will fatigue you most it follows that you should make a careful choice of study periods with regard to differences in interest. Subjects in which you are not so interested as you might be should always be studied before subjects in which your interest is exceptionally high.

For if you already are tired when you take up the subjects of least interest you will very soon find yourself nodding over them. Certainly the impressions you then gain from your study will quickly fade from your mind.

Again, whether you are much interested or little interested in any subject you can study it to best advantage by concentrating on it intensely for short periods rather than by concentrating on it for a long period at a low intensity rate.

Remember, too, that memory power and concentration power are much affected by the surroundings in which you study.

It is easier to study efficiently in a quiet room than in a noisy room and in a bright room than in a gloomy one. Also a well ventilated room favors study efficiency; a stuffy one hampers it.

But always the factor that counts for most is interest. Interest may overcome the most unfavorable physical conditions for efficiency in study. Above all else you must make it a point to cultivate as keen an interest as possible in the subjects you are called upon to master.

NOSE CLOGGED FROM A COLD OR CATARRH

Apply Cream in Nostrils To Open Up Air Passages.

Ah! What relief! Your clogged nostrils open right up, the air passages of your head are clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, mucous discharge, headache, dryness—no struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh is gone.

Don't stay stuffed up! Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Ely's Cream Balm is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer has been seeking. It's just splendid.

DESPISED FOODS AGAIN FAVORED

Correcting Stomach Faults With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Has Revived the Doughnut, Pie and Other Good Home-Made American Dishes.

The shortage of help has taken thousands of women back to their own kitchens to do their own cooking. And how natural they should revive the cookie, doughnut, pie and other distinctly American dishes. But the recipes have been revised; flour is coarser and different; less wheat and more of other kinds, and a lot of indigestion was complained of.

It is gratifying to know you can safely eat any kind of flour food without consequent distress. Simply take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals. Not only does it aid digestion but it arouses the stomach to secrete the juices necessary to relieve sourness, heartburn, gas, the sense of stuffiness and the drowsiness that so often follow the good things you eat.

Try these tablets and you will then realize what influence they have, not only to assist digestion, but as contributing in a remarkable degree to the sense of comfort and well-being. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in all drug stores at 50 cents a box, and throughout the United States an Canada.

DOWNEYVILLE.

(Special Correspondence.)

Downeyville, March 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Herlibey are renewing old relatives in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lucas have returned from Peterboro after a short visit.

Messrs. Jas. Guiry and William O'Brien are in Peterboro on business.

There is a meeting of the Farmers' Club here on Tuesday night. A large crowd are asked to attend.

HUN STEAMER ARRIVES

Leith, Scotland, March 26. — The first German merchant ship to be turned over to the allies under the new economic agreement arrived here today. Her German crew will be replaced by Americans and she will be employed in transporting troops from France to the United States.

Get Your Printing Done at the Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

- Letter Heads
- Bill Heads
- Envelopes
- Account Headings
- Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

Telephone 189 and 435

The Peterboro Review Co., Limited

You Buy
Satisfaction
when you purchase

PURITY
FLOUR

GOVERNMENT STANDARD
More Bread and Better Bread and Better Pastry"

WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS CO. Ltd., TORONTO, Ont.

For Better Porridge Use
PURITY OATS

Canada Food Board License Nos.
Cereal 2-009, Flour 15, 16, 17, 18.
50

HUNGARIAN SOVIET TO CREATE AN ARMY PROPERLY EQUIPPED

Conditions in Hungary Have Affected German-Austria—Date Fixed For Transforming Gov't. into Soviet One.

Paris, March 26.—Conditons in Hungary seem to have affected German Austria. Advices to the American Peace Conference delegates from private agents in Vienna indicate the existence of a threatening state of affairs there. One of these agents, who has just come from Vienna, reports that even the date has been fixed for some time in April for the transformation of the existing government into a Soviet government, which will co-operate or merge with the government of the Hungarian Soviet.

Soldiers to Rejoin Units.

Basle, March 26.—The Hungarian commissioner for military affairs, according to a Budapest despatch, has issued an order instructing all soldiers to rejoin their units without delay. "If the soldiers do not do their duty the Hungarian Soviet republic is doomed," adds the commissioner. The revolutionary government requires armed discipline, and it will create an army well equipped and disciplined.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels th eprevious day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to billious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results both in regard to health and appearance.

YESTERDAY'S O.T.A. FINES OVER $500

Nine hundred and twenty-seven dollars and thirty cents was the amount of money paid into the public exchequer yesterday in this city in fines by three offenders under the Ontario Temperance Act.

One local man, convicted of selling liquor without a license, was assessed $500; another, who bought the liquor from him and was caught in an intoxicated condition in a public place about 5 o'clock Monday evening, was assessed the usual $200, and the owner of the establishment paid a similar amount.

There were the regular costs, totalling $9.10 in each case, which makes the amount quoted above.

Orillia town council has awarded paving contracts amounting to about $180,000.

A Proper Building For Bathers' Use

A rough plan for a building which it is felt would provide adequate dressing facilities at the proposed public bathing beach was submitted to Ald. McIntyre by the Playgrounds Association, as a basis upon which to work, and was presented by him for the inspection of the members of the special committee, which met last night to discuss the question of proper public bathing accommomdation.

It provides for a building 80 x 20 feet, with a central entrance upon one side of which would be an apartment 14 x 40 feet for the boys, and on the other side of this passage, which is 12 feet in width, there would be an apartment for the girls, the dimens'ons of wh'ch, as shown, are 14 x 32 feet. There would be 18 private dressing rooms in such a building, and at one end of the dividing passage accommodation for the caretaker.

Asked for an approximate estimate of what it would cost to erect such a structure, Ald. McIntyre thought the figure would be in the neighborhood of $1100.

TORONTO WORKERS BEING LAID OFF

ONE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED MEN MAY SOON BE OUT OF WORK.

Toronto, March 26.—"Unless the Government makes a decided change in its pol'cy of dealing witht he shipbuilding industry over 1,200 men will shortly find themselves out of work in this city," said Secretary J. V. Conroy, of the Toronto District G. W V. A.

Mr. Conroy stated that owing to the fact that no Government contracts for ships had been forthcoming, both the Dominion Shipbuilding Company, and the Polson Iron Works were laying off men in "batches" of 250.

"We are sending strong recommendations to the Government that this work should be continued and that contracts which are now under consideration should be placed in Toronto as soon as possible" he said.

LEONARD C. HANNA DEAD

Cleveland, O. March 24.—Leonard C. Hanna for many years the active head of M. A. Hanna & Co., owners of one of the largest fleets on the great lakes died at his home here yesterday. He was a brother of the late United States Senator Marcus A. Hanna.

PLUMBERS' UNION ADVISE ACTION

CLAIM REGULATIONS REGARDING PLUMBING NOT BEING OBSERVED IN CITY

Mr. Walter Fisher's tender for the market tolls was accepted last night at $700 by the Property Committee, and for another year he will be the market clerk.

A communication was read from the local Plumbers' Union, in which they proposed at their own expense to bring a plumbing inspector who would be recommended by the Toronto Board of Health, to this city to examine the plumbing in several of the buildings of the town which, it was claimed, did not comply with the regulations. The only proviso was that the committee would promise to act upon the advice contained in his report.

Regulations Violated?

In the communication it was alleged that several of the public buildings of the city and many of the most modern residences had plumbing systems installed which did not measure up to the regulations. Laxness was charged against the city's plumbing inspector, and the local union contended that if the law provided a standard for plumbers to observe it should be enforced.

Ald. Edgar favored complying with the suggestion of the plumbers and submitted a motion to that effect which stipulated that the committee be furnished with a list of the buildings examined and the report of the inspector in each case. The Council could then, if they considered the matter sufficiently serious, engage an inspector of their own to bring in a report and settle the matter finally.

Chance to Answer.

Ald. Phelan claimed that Peter Thompson, the city's plumbing inspector, should be given an opportunity to appear before the committee and defend himself against the charges made by the local union before any drastic action was taken. He tabled a motion providing for this, which was seconded by Ald. McIntyre.

Mayor Duncan favored Ald. Edgar's view, and felt that the matter should be investigated by some outside man capable of giving an intelligent opinion on the condition of the systems in the buildings which were complained of. This would clear the local inspector if he had carried out his work properly, and if not it would show the committee that there was something wrong.

Vote is Tied.

Ald. Edgar's motion had not been seconded up to this time, and he left the meeting. Immediately after, the amendment was submitted, and was supported by its mover and seconder. Mayor Duncan seconded the motion of Ald. Edgar, and Chairman Hamilton voted for it, but as Ald. Edgar was not at the board to cast his vote both amendment and motion were declared to have been lost.

A communication from Turner & Sons regarding the bulletin board on the island, complaining that the rent the city wished to charge them for the use of the property was too high, was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee for consideration.

An applicaion from J. Simmonds to be allowed to handle government fish this season was accepted and the chairman requested to inquire from the vendors who participated in this business last year whether they wished to continue.

Cheaper Food In States Promised

MISUNDERSTANDING IN STATEMENT THAT WHEAT MAY GO TO $3.50.

Washington, D.C., March 25. — Cheaper food in the near future was predicted today by Chairman Peck of the department of commerce industrial board as a result of a conference with food administration officials in New York. With wheat prices reasonable, Mr. Peck said, reasonable prices of other products could be expected, because wheat was the barometer of the food trade.

Mr. Peck said there had been general misunderstanding of a recent statement by Mr. Hoover this wheat might bo to $3.50 a bushel, and added that the billion dollar grain appropriation was made by congress to enable the public to get wheat products at reasonable prices, as well as to make good the guaranty to the producer.

LAWS FOR WOMEN.

Kingston, March 25.—Last evening a large audience heard J. C. Elliott, M.P.P., give an address in Queens' Convocation Hall on "Canadian Laws Pertaining to Women," under the auspices of the local Canadian Clubs.

HOUSING BILL OF GREAT BENIFIT TO WORKINGMEN

Will Save Them Ten Per Cent Profits And Give Workers Good Homes on Small Initial Payment—Speech of James Thompson M.P. on the budget

Toronto, March 21.—One of the most acceptable contributions to the budget debate in the Legislature last week was the speech made by Mr. James Thompson of East Peterborough. He took issue vigorously with the remarks of the member for South Wellington (Mr. Carter) who had dealt the temperance cause in Ontario an injury which would prove a delight to the liquor people. Mr. Carter had sought to discredit the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, instead of upholding the Government in its efforts to give honest, fair and intelligent administration to what was admittedly a war measure and at best a most difficult law to have observed.

"As a consistent temperance man," said Mr. Thompson, "if these conditions were general I would feel it my duty to vote against the Ontario Temperance Act. I have had the privilege of visiting nearly every city, town and hamlet in Ontario, and I can say from my own knowledge that the conditions described by the member from South Wellington are absolutely untrue as they effect the Province as a whole."

The Housing Bill

Proceeding, Mr. Thompson said he was glad to be able to congratulate the Government on its continued programme of advanced legislation. He believed the housing bill, which was about to become law, would bring about a great improvement in the social conditions of the wage earners. He differed with the statement of the member for North Exford (Mr. Calder,) who said that the bill would not benefit the returned soldiers or the Labor men. Mr. Thompson said he had during his experience considerable to do with the construction of home for laboring men, and he would like to take time to show just what benefit would follow to the man who purchases his home on the small payment plan.

A house that sells for $3,500 costs about $2,750 including land. The contractor must raise say $1,500 and ake a second mortgage for the balance, which brings the net cost up to $5,050, to which would have to be added 10 per cent profit. The government's plan will eliminate the item of profit, provide the worker with a good house and a small initial payment, and enable him to return the debt gradually and have a home in which he can take pride.

Provincial Highways

Commenting on the good roads programme, Mr. Thompson said that the Government had acted wisely in withholding construction until there was a demand for work. Peterboro county would benefit largely from the good roads scheme. So far as the provincial highways were concerned, the Province should be a unit on the policy, but he did not think they should hinder the construction of the county road systems. He was disappointed at the indifferent attitude of the Leader of the Opposition toward provincial highways. In contrast with that position Mr. Thompson showed that the State of New York last year voted $60,000,000 to be raised for good roads by way of a bond issue. It carried thirty to one in the cities and towns and sixty to one in the country districts, and in addition there was a state appopriation of $25,000,000 for the same purpose.

Abolish Statute Labor

Mr. Thompson believed the time had come to institute a campaign to abolish statute labor. He advised the House not to worry over the question of rural population. Ontario would continue to produce 60 per cent of the wealth of the whole of Canada. Only disunion and class prejudice could interfere with the growth of the Province, and with the settlement of conditions after the war he was assured there would be a great expansion in population, wealth and production.

MILLBROOK

(Special Correspondence.)

County Organization.

Millbrook, March 26.—Among those who attended the county organization of Durham held in Port Hope in the Queen's Hotel parlors in the interests of the United Farmers of Ontario, were Messrs. Robt. McCamus, J. H. Sanderson, G. Shields, H. Gardner, Thomas Donaldson, H. Fallis, J. Johnston, Col. D. Sulton, Wes. Williamson, T. W. McComus, S. S. Staples. It is very encouraging to see farmers bury their old-time party feelings and unite in their efforts to impose the present conditions of Canada's basic industry. The other townships were in no way behind Cavan and had their clubs properly represented. A resolution was moved, seconded and drafted without a dissenting voice, that this county association, representing the United Farmers of Durham County, believe that the time has come when it should place itself clearly on record that it is its determination to support only such political candidates as are farmers and who will agree to support the farmer's platform.

Mr. L. A. Mahood, representing the Massey-Harris Co., Toronto, was in town on Thursday.

Mrs. Elias Jones and daughter, Miss Olive, of Gorden Hill, were visitors in town Thursday.

Congratulations to Harold Wood son of Mr. Wesley Wood, who won the gold medal, presented by J. W Deyell, editor of the Lindsay Warder for oratorical contest, subject, "How God Made Canada."

Mr. A. A. Birchard was in Lindsay Thursday on business.

Mr. Earle Sootheran, of Toronto was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Steele over Sunday.

Mr. G. W. Sayles and son, Walter were guests of friends in Toronto over Sunday.

Mr. Harry Francey, of Oshawa, was a guest of his mother, Mrs. James Francey, ower the week-end.

Corp. W. C. McKim, of Peterboro was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richards, this week.

Mrs. S. R. Nichols was a guest of Port Hope friends last week.

Miss Marjorie Sayles was a guest of her aunt, Mrs. George Jemison, at Peterboro over Sunday.

Mrs. B. Raper was a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Bateson, at Campbellford last week.

Mr. Harry Stenson, of Peterboro was a guest of Millbrook friends on Sunday.

Mr. Fred. Long, of Peterboro, was in town over Sunday.

Pte. C. Alvin Richards, of the 2nd C.M.R., 3rd Division, arrived home on Tuesday evening.

Pte. Charles Blakely, 49th Battalion of Edmonton, who has been three years and four months in France and Belgium, arrived home Thursday night last. He looks well. He will leave for Edmonton in a month's time.

Late James Foster.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Foster, of Cavan, took place Tuesday, the 18th instant, to St. John's cemetery, was very largely attended The service was conducted at the house and church by Rev. Canon Allen and was very impressive, the text being, "Thy will be done." Besides the sorrowing husband and one daughter, Jean, there remain to mourn her loss, three sisters, Mrs. William Prouse, Aberdeen, Dak.; Mrs. O'Brien Peterboro; Mrs. Fred. Duncan, Garden Hill, and two brothers, William Tucker, Manvers Station, and Walker overseas.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Norman Gillis, Lewis Winslow, Rupert Winslow, William Pritchard, Lewis Morton, Fred. Duncan.

86th Anniversary.

Mr. John Raper celebrated the 86th anniversary of his birthday on the 19th of March. He is hale and hearty yet and walks from the station to town and back almost daily. He was born in Yorkshire, Eng., and came to Canada in 1857. He has five children three of whom are living, they being William, of Millbrook; Mrs. Frank Clarke, of Rochester, and Mrs. Robert Lunn, of Orono.

OPENING NEW OFFICE

Dominion olice Removing to New Quarters on Simcoe Street

Today the Dominion Police are removing to their new office at 163 Simcoe street, in the old premises of the Crown Life Insurance Company.

Up to the present time they have been accommodated in the civic police quartrs but as their force is established with all appearances of permanency it has been decided to open up offices for themselves.

MONCUR'S
double-strength
LUNG SYRUP
is
REMARKABLE REMEDY FOR

Obstinate and Racking Coughs
Colds
Congested Lungs
Bronchitis

People who have used this Remedy, do not Believe there is a Better
PRICE 25c and 50c
Moncur Drug Store 407 George Street

CHIEF INSPECTOR AYEARST SUSPENDED PENDING ENQUIRY

Prov. License Inspector Mr. Geo. E. Morrison Sends in Resignation Which is Accepted

Toronto, March. 26.— Premier Sir William Hearst, in his address to the Legislature Monday, referred to the charges made against Chief Inspector Ayearst, and said that in view of the charges made against Mr. Ayearst he has been suspended from office pending the investigation of such charges and the report of the Commissioner with respect thereto.

Mr. George E. Morrison, he went on to say, has sent in his resignation and the same has been accepted, and he is no longer in the employment of the Government. Mr. White has been instructed to examine into the facts concerning certain financial interests Mr. Morrison is said to have had while an official of the Government, and to take such steps and to conduct such investigations with reference thereto as the circumstances may warrant.

The House will note that the Government proposes to refer to the Public Accounts Committee the accounts connected with the last six years, being all the accounts mentioned in the amendment moved by the member for Southwest Toronto, Seat 'A,' last week, to the motion of the Provincial Treasurer that the Speaker leave the chair and the House resolve itself into Committee of Supply. But in addition to doing this, the Government is appointing the Chief Justice of Ontario to hold a judicial investigation into the specific acts of wrong-doing mentioned by the honorable member in his address.

"Is there any truth in the current report to day that Mr. Ayearst has resigned?" questioned Mr. William Proudfoot, the Liberal Leader.

"I don't know anything with reference to that," replied the Prime Minister.

Discussing the probe Mr. Peter White said last night that he expected to confer to-day with Sir William Meredith as to the date of the inquiry. "You may rely on it that there will be no time lost," said Mr. White.

RUB RHEUMATIC PAIN RIGHT OUT

ON'T SUFFER! RELIEF COMES THE MOMENT YOU RUB WITH "ST. JACOBS LINIMENT."

What's rheumatism? Pain only! Stop drugging! Not one case in ifty requires internal treatment. Rub he misery right away! Apply soothn, penetrating "St. Josephs Liniment" directly upon the "tender spot" nd relief comes instantly. "St. Jacbs Liniment" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica relief which nevr disappoints and can not burn or iscolor the skin.

Limber up! Get a small trial botle from your druggist, and in just moment you'll be free from rheumtic and sciatica pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer "St. Jacobs Liniment" has relieved illions of rheumatism sufferers in he last half century, and is just as ood for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, ackache, sprains and swellings.

A substantial increase in rural telephone subscription rates is allowed by the Quebec Public Utilities Commission.

Brantford G. W. V. A. branch desires the constitution changed so that the organization shall become political in future.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

SAYS WE MUST KEEP FEET DRY, AVOID EXPOSURE AND EAT LESS MEAT.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Continuance Of Fire Protection

ASHBURNHAM'S SAFETY WILL NOT BE JEOPARDIZED WHILE BUILDING BRIDGE.

The necessity of providing adequate fire protection for Ashburnham during the construction of the new Hunter Street Bridge, which was raised by Ald. Morrison some time ago at a Committee meeting is being seriously considered.

When the present Hunter street bridge has been removed it will be impossible tp take the big motor apparatus across the the temporary structure and it is a long way around by Smith street.

It is suggested in order that the part of the city lying across the river be assured of a continuance of the excellent fire protection which they now enjoy thta a reel with a good length of hose attached, a team of horses and a detachment of six men might be stationed at some convenient place in Ashburnham until the new bridge is completed.

Of course work has not commenced upon the new structure as yet nor have the tenders been let but when the time comes there is no doubt that unimpaired fire protection for the part of the city lying on the east side of the river will be one of the problems to be solved.

HARD TO CONTROL.

St. John, N. B., March 26.—Capt. Kane and his officers gave evidence yesterday at the opening of the inquiry into the loss of the Montreal steamer Troja on the Old Proprietor ledge off Grand Manan. They said the vessel was hard to steer, and she struck in thick weather.

President Ador of Switzerland has replied to a letter President Ebert, thus recognizing the German government.

FOR RETURNED MEN.
Cressman's Clothes Shop for Men offers a DISCOUNT OF 10% to all men returned from overseas on their first civilian outfit.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

DAILY CALENDAR.
Take the bitter with the sweet, the unknown with the known, as we all must do in life, unless we wish to live and die alone.—Kingsley.

Announcing,---For The Next Nine Days Starting Thursday, March 27---Our

Semi-Annual Sale Of Notions

Nine Days—March 27 to April 5—Economy Buying Opportunities in NOTIONS, STATIONERY, SOAPS, TOILET PAPER, etc. The first sale day is to-morrow, Thursday and the last day is Saturday, April 5. Many lines will be displayed in the window and a great many more in the department. Economy Notion Section Street Floor-fifth and Sixth Circles

HAIR PINS—"Triumph" Hair Pins, in boxes. Superior quality, assorted long lengths. Nine Day Notion Sale .... 2 Boxes 9c

PINS—"Churchgate" Pin Sheets. The reliable "made in Canada" 5c sheet. Five gross sheets only. Notion Sale .... 3 for 10c

BIAS TAPE—10c and 13c rolls of black and white Bias Tape, half inch wide. Six gross rolls for this Nine Day Notion Sale at .... 2 for 15c

NAIL SCRUBS—5c Nail Scrubs; strong bristles and natural wood. Half price at the Notion Sale .... 2 for 5c

FINISHING BRAIDS—Clear-away lots of Finishing Braids, in white and colors. Regular 2c, 4c and 5c a yard. Notion Sale .... 4 Yards 5c

DARNING COTTON — 5c spools of Collingbourne's Darning Cotton in black and white. Buy it at the Notion Sale .... 3 for 10c

WRITING PADS—Cressman's Imperial Linen Writing Pads. Three sizes, and 50 and 60 sheets to a pad. At the Notion Sale:
Large letter size .... 2 for 25c
Empress fold-over size 2 for 20c
Small letter size ... 2 for 19c

AMMONIA POWDER—Matchless Ammonia Powder. Large size packages that regularly sell at 13c. Notion Sale price .... 2 for 19c

SOAPS — "Ivory," the floating bar soap, and "Lifebuoy," an antiseptic toilet soap. Notion Sale price ..... 6 Bars 39c

TOOTH BRUSHES—Regular 25c Tooth Brushes. Superior quality, Japanese make. At the Notion Sale 17c

SOAPS—Olive Oil and Cucumber Toilet Soaps. Our regular 5c cakes. Buy it at the Notion Sale for .. 3 Cakes 11c

TOOTH PASTE—"Mennen's" 25c Tooth Paste, including war tax, at the Semi-Annual Notion Sale 17c

STATIONERY—29c Boxes Oriental tinted, linen finish Envelopes and Paper. Colors pink, mauve, corn, green and white. Special value at the regular price, 29c. Notion Sale 19c

ENVELOPES—10c packages ducal linen finish Envelopes. Wallet shape; splendid value at the Notion Sale .... 3 Pkgs. 19c

TALLY CARDS—In dainty designs, suitable for bridge or any card games. Selling at the Notion Sale at .... 7 for 5c

LAUNDRY SOAPS — New size Lenox Laundry Soaps. Somewhat smaller than the old Lenox bar, manufactured for a special 5c retailer. Notion Sale .... 7 Bars 25c

HANGERS—Canahan felt covered skirt and trouser hangers. The hanger we consider best for our store use and sell regularly for 10c. Notion Sale .... 2 for 15c

SHOE LACES—Twenty-five gross of black Shoe Laces; a strong Sea Island lace. Selling at less than to-day's cost, at the Notion Sale .... 5 Pairs 10c

HAIR BRUSHES — Substantial hair brushes with black ebony finish backs. Notion Sale Bargain at 24c

TALCUM POWDER—"Corylopsis" and "Violet" Talcum Powder selling at a remarkably low price at the Notion Sale .... 2 for 19c

HAIR NETS—Colors dark brown, black, mid brown and light brown. ~~Made with~~ elastic. Regularly 5c each. Notion Sale .... 3 for 10c

MENDING YARNS — Fine wool "Ideal" and "Arco" skeins; colors: black, brown and white. Buy it at the Notion Sale .... 4 for 15c

MENDING WOOL — "Fireside" Mending Wool, on cards. Colors: black, brown, grey and white. Regularly sold at 5c. Notion Sale .... 3 for 10c

PEARL BUTTONS—Sew through buttons of extra fine quality. Your choice of four sizes. One dozen buttons on a card. Regular prices 10c to 15c. Notion Sale .... 2 Cards 15c

HOOKS AND EYES—5c cards, in black and white; sizes 1 and 2. Clifton make, with straight invisible eyes. Half price at the Notion Sale .... 2 for 5c

ELASTIC—Black garter elastic; regularly 15c a yard. Warranted splendid quality; ¾ inch wide. Notion Sale, yard 11c

SKIRT BELTING — Black and white; 15c and 20c qualities. Choice of two widths. Both one price at the Notion Sale, yard 10c

HANDKERCHIEFS — 25c dainty embroidered handkerchiefs, with white and colored embroidered edges. Especially fine qualities. Half price at the Notion Sale .... 2 for 25c

SAFETY PINS—Cornet 5c cards of safety pins. Sizes 1 and 2. Three gross cards only. At the Notion Sale .... 3 Cards 10c

HAIR ORNAMENTS— "American Maid" shell ornaments for the hair. Regular 15c and 25c values. To clear at the Notion Sale 5c

HAIR PINS—Paper packages of black hair pins. Eighteen pins in a package. Buy them at the Notion Sale ... 4 Packages 5c

LUX—The regular 15c packages. Ideal for washing woolens, laces and fine fabrics. Notion Sale .... 2 Pkgs. 23c

PINS—"Kitchener" Pins, regularly 7c a paper; 365 pins on sheet. At the Notion Sale for .... 2 for 9c

STATIONERY — "Carki-Cool" light grade boxed stationery. Colors white, green and pink. Regularly 49c. Notion Sale Box 36c

LAUNDRY SOAPS — Your choice of "Sunlight," "P. & G. Naptha," or "Comfort" (new large bar). The best laundry soaps in the market. Notion Sale .... 8 Bars 59c

TOILET PAPER — "Waverley" Toilet Paper, extra large 10c rolls best grade crepe tissue. At the Notion Sale .... 8 Rolls 49c

TOILET PAPER — "Victoria" 7 rolls of toilet paper. Fifty cases for the Nine Day Sale of Notions, at .... 9 Rolls 39c

INFANT'S DELIGHT—A pure borated toilet soap; excellent for the children and grown-ups alike. At the Notion Sale .... 3 Cakes 25c

DRESS SHIELDS — Kleinert's Dress Shields, size four. Our regular 40c value. At the Nine Day Notion Sale .... Each 33c

DRESS SHIELDS — Kleinert's "on-and-off" dress shields; size four and our regular 40c value. For the Notion Sale 35c

POST CARDS—Picture postals of interesting local and Kawartha Park views. Nine Day Sale of Notions .... 8 for 5c

CROCHET COTTON—"American Maid" Crochet Cotton. Good range of sizes, in white and ecru. Regularly sold at 13c a ball. Notion Sale .... 2 for 15c

TOOTH BRUSHES—Twenty dozen in assorted sizes. Regular 18c and 20c values. At the Notion Sale .... 2 for 19c

EASTER BOOKLETS—In a selection of beautiful subjects and attractive designs. Regular 10c values. Nine Day Sale of Notions .... 2 for 10c

WILL SELECT SITE FOR PUBLIC BATHING BEACH

Committee Decides to Visit Promising Locations When Ice Leaves the Shores.

A special committee of the City Council composed of Alderman McIntyre, chairman; Mayor Duncan and Aldermen Hamilton, Gainey and Taylor which is charged with the task of considering the question of public bathing places for the city; met last night and were waited upon by the following deputation from the Playgrounds Association who promised to work in collaboration with them: President A. G. Roberts, Mrs. W. R. Morris, and Messrs J. W. Worth, W. G. Henderson and B. F. Ackerman.

Work was Hampered

President Roberts stated his views upon the question after which Mrs. W. R. Morris outlined the work which had been carried on in the past and dwelt upon the difficulties which had been experienced as a result of inadequate accommodation for teaching the children the art of swimming.

Only five or six girls had learned to swim in a season on account of the difficulty the supervisor experienced in watching the thirty or forty children in the water at one time in dangerous places. If a proper beach could be had the instructor's attention could be concentrated upon teaching his charges to swim.

Favors Little Lake

Mr. Ackerman favored the lake as an ideal place to establish a public bathing place. For some years there had been practically no logs inthe bay bordered by Crescent street and he felt that a suitable building could be erected there, even if it should project out over the water as was the case at the beach of Britannia to which the people of Ottawa went in such numbers during the summer months.

Mayor Duncan reminded Mr. Ackerman that the water in the bay was stagnant and was far from pure. In the summer it was covered with a scum and the pipes from the gas works emptied into it as well as a certain amount of refuse from the Matthews-Blackwell plant. He felt that it would be too bad to spend money in preparing a bathing place and find that the water was unfit for such a purpose.

Should be Remedied

Different members expressed the opinion that the conditions complained of by the Mayor should be remedied and that the water should not be polluted in such a manner as described.

Mr. Worth expressed his views upon the question from the general standpoint at some length. He complimented the chairman, Alderman McIntyre upon the stand he had taken in regard to the proposal at the meeting of the Council. He felt that the establishment of public bathing places would be a boon to the working man, particularly, and was assured by Alderman McIntyre that it was the interests of this class which he kept most at heart.

Many Suggestions

A great many locations for a bathing pond were suggested last night but in nearly every case there was some reason urged against their adaptability for such a purpose.

The foot of Lake Street was considered favorable although it was felt that a building blocking this thoroughfare would inconvenience the icemen, seriously, in the winter in getting out their supply for the next season.

Source of Revenue

In discussing the proper building for dressing accommodation the suggestion was made that a shoot the shoots be constructed which would augment the revenue obtainable from the rent of private dressing rooms, towels, bathing suits, etc.

The city would have to maintain a caretaker at the establishment who could take charge of this part of the work in addition to his other duties and it was thought that sufficient revenue could be realized from the rent of the private dressing apartments and other conveniences mentioned to pay his salary.

Little Progress

Little progress was made as regarded the selection of a site which would prove satisfactory and without deciding upon this important matter it was felt that there would be little use in endeavoring to arrive at even an approximate estimate of the probable cost of the undertaking as this would be largely governed by the natural conditions found to obtain at the place selected for the preparation of the beach and the erection of the building.

As the ice is not yet broken up around the shore it was deemed advisable to wait until the water was open when the committee in conjunction with representatives from the Playgrounds Association could visit the most promising spots upon the river and lake and decide upon the one which would best answer the requirements of the case.

SUFFRAGETTES CONVENE

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—With a definite map of its future presented in an address by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt last night, the first business session of the National Women's Suffrage Association began here today.

Allied gunboats and monitors have been ordered to Budapest and are likely to have started.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

IS IT NOT CATCHING

Good vision is not contagious. You can't catch it, but you can lose it very simply. Neglect of the first signs of weakness of the eyesight is the surest way to make the trouble worse, while if you let Dr. Fowler care for your eyes, the sight is kept at its best and the weakness corrected.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!
Coughing Spreads Disease
SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS-STOPS COUGHS
HALF THIS FOR CHILDREN

BOARDS OF TRADE MEET THURSDAY

ANNUAL CONVENTION IN TORONTO—IMPORTANT PROVINCIAL MATTERS FOR DISCUSSION

Toronto, Mar. 25.—The Ontario Associated Boards of Trade will meet in annual convention here on Thursday and Friday next.

Sir William Hearst and Mayor Church will welcome the visitors Thursday morning at 10.15 at the board's rooms, Royal Bank Building. The Toronto Board of Trade will tender the delegates a banquet on Thursday night in their own dining hall, and the city will tender a luncheon at the King Edward Hotel on Friday at 1 o'clock.

Owing to the death of the President, Mr. H. L. Frost of Hamilton, Mr. Arthur Hewitt, Vice-President, will occupy the chair.

The Toronto Board of Trade are submitting a resolution asking that the business tax should be equalized if possible in view of the fact that the tax in the Province of Ontario is much higher than in the Provinces of Manitoba and Quebec. The Toronto board are also asking that daylight saving become operative again with the dates concurrent with those adopted by the United States.

The Brantford Board of Trade resolved that an act should be passed by the House of Commons and the Senate of Canada, setting apart November 11 in each year as the day of national thanksgiving throughout the Dominion of Canada. The board are also resolved that it deems it wisdom on the part of the Government to retain a sufficiently large force of permanent soldiers, for the present, to ensure peace at home, and a dignified and responsible part for Canada as a partner in the Society of Nations.

Resolved, by the Goderich board that the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade place itself on record as approving the principle of establishing uniform rates for Hydro-electric power distributed and sold to municipalities by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, and that this board memoralize the Hydro-Electric Commission to adopt uniform rates for Hydro-Electric power delivered to municipalities in the Province of Ontario.

The Owen Sound Board are asking that the Theatres and Cinematographs Act be amended so that no child under sixteen years of age shall be allowed to attend any exhibition by cinematograph, moving picture machine or similar apparatus, unless accompanied by the parents or parent, where an admission is charged. They are also asked for a more rigid censorship of films intended to be shown in any theatre in Ontario.

Unsightly bill boards and signs on the highway should be prohibited, says the Belleville Board of Trade.

A subsidy to aviation for commercial and industrial purposes is advocated by the Belleville Board, which recommends that the Government establish airdromes and camps as far as possible to encourage aviation for postal and commercial enterprises.

Railway to James Bay

The Cochrane Board are strongly in favor of having the Government make an extension of the T. & N. O. Railway of James Bay.

The Collingwood Board is urging that the Dominion and Provincial Governments make liberal appropriations of money to be devoted to the encouragement of technical education in Canada.

The Hamilton Board of Trade are on record in favor of the following resolution: "That the Ontario Associated Board of Trade make representation to the proper authorities to prevent the undue importation of cheap goods originating in enemy countries."

A number of other resolutions are also being submitted by the various Boards of Trade in the Province, dealing with many important questions that are now at issue.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

IF CROSS, FEVERISH OR BILIOUS GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love the pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

Kostich and Capablanca, chess masters, played for five hours to a draw yesterday. They will resume on Monday.

One of the Beauties in "The Bride Shop," at the Grand Opera House, Thursday Evening.

COUNCIL MAY NOW PURCHASE AERO HANGAR

SUGGESTED LAST NIGHT IN CONNECTION WITH DRESSING BUILDING FOR BATHING BEACH

In discussing the question of a proper building with dressing apartments at the public bathing place to be provided by the city, in committee last night, Ald. Hamilton made a most original suggestion when he advised writing the liquidation committee of the Imperial Munitions Board in regard to the possibility of obtaining one of the hangers of the aviation camps.

These buildings, situated along the border of the aerodrome, are well over one hundred feet in length, and the material which could be obtained in the letter that the material was for the purpose of the Council for the construction of a suitable building for dressing purposes.

The Munitions Board, Ald. Hamilton stated, seemed to be selling most of their camp equipment at a price which was very moderate, and if they had not already found purchasers for all the hangers or other buildings in the camp which they intended to dispose of, they might consider the proposition of the Peterborough committee favorably, especially if it was stated in the leter that the material was to be used in connection with the establishment of a public swimming beach.

This suggestion was adopted, and it was also decided to interview the Quaker Oats Company in regard to the possibility of obtaining the bunk house there.

AMERICANS CAPTURED.

Washington, March 26.—The Central Powers captured 4,765 American prisoners during the war, according to revised figures issued by the War Department. Of these, 4,376 have been reported released, 233 are dead, and records of the Central Powers are being checked to find the names of the 156 unaccounted for.

FARMER LEAVES $26,310.

London, Ont., March 26.—An estate of $26,310 was left by Samuel Leamen, a farmer of North Dorchester, who died on February 28. The will, which was filed for probate yesterday, names the immediate members of his family as beneficiaries.

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED lady clerk for coal office, who is well acquainted with city. Apply Box 443, Review.

WANTED

WANTED—TO BUY, SMALL house, with lights and garden preferred. Apply to Box 442, Review.

WANTED — TWO OR THREE furnished rooms, with or without board, in central locality. Apply Box 444, Review.

WANTED—TO PURCHASE, A good refrigerator. Give full particulars and price. Box 440 Review.

TO RENT.

TO LET—ROOMS IN ROBINson Block, stuiable for office or light housekeeping. Apply 225 Charlotte street.

FOR SALE.

ONE FLORENCE AUTOMATIC coal oil stove, three burners, burning asbestos wicks; first-class condition. Apply 302 Water street.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—MORRIS GRAND piano and household furniture. Apply 172 Adaline ave.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden, fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

Children s Aid Society

— of —

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]

D. M. MINICOLA

Best Fruit— Cheap

Best Vegetables— Reasonable

Best Groceries At Right Prices

410½ GEORGE STREET

Bell Phone 98o

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
184½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 232.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 26.—Receipts heavy, trade slow:

Choice export cattle	$14.50	$15.00
Choice butcher	10.25	12.50
Medium butcher cows	9.10	10.50
Ewes	11.50	13.50
Lambs	12.25	19.25
Hogs, f.a.w.	19.00	19.00
Hogs, f.o.b.	18.25	18.25
Calves	14.50	15.75

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	25	30
Potatoes, per bag	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'	25	25
Deacon and bob calf	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.
Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

L:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

6:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted)

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston.

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches

in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's
307 George St. Next Turnbull's

12 First Run Reels ROYAL 16c. ..TO.. ALL

POSITIVE ENTIRE CHANGE OF PROGRAM TO-NIGHT

Present for the first time here the HIGH CLASS DRAMA in 5 parts

A GENTLEMAN OF QUALITY

With EARLE WILLIAMS as the Leading Star

THE HANGING PERIL
Episode 13 in 2 parts, of THE IRON TEST

THE SPIES' NEST
Being Episode 4 of BOYS' SCOUTS to the RESCUE
Many Thrilling Exploits

EARL MONTGOMERY and JOE ROCHE in the Big V Comedy, A Roaring side-splitter, in 2 parts

BUMS and BOARDERS

THIS BIG STITRING PROGRAM in which Dramatic, Military and Comic Featu-es are shown all for the one small price of 16c to all

BRINGING UP FATHER AT HOME

When the author of the popular song which tells us to pack up our troubles in an old kit bag and "Smile Smile Smile," conceived this gem of musical and lyric effort, he evidently had in mind the latest of the "Bringing Up Father" series of cartoon plays. "Bringing up Father at Home." Complete and brimful of fun which has no limit and which somehow weeds itself into our very marrow and makes life one long ray of sunshine and happiness, this triumph of modern American humor, revely, frolic and screams will be the next attraction at the Grand Opera House, matinee and evening. Saturday, March 29, with the customary matinees. To dwell on all the good things contained in this unusual concoction of joy, laughter and incessant hilarity, would take more than ordinary space to enumerate. Suffice to say those who have enjoyed the previous adventures of "Father" and his illustrious family will undoubtedly aclaim the latest account of his side-splitting doings as the best ever. Manager Gus Hill, who took "Father" from the pages of the newspapers and placed him on the stage, has selected a company of capable people to make the newest adaptation of George McManus' world-famous comics something to conjure with. Upwards of fifty artists are employed including John E. Cain, the creator of "Father;" Lida Kane the original "Mother," Blanche Newcombe, a chic and inimitable comedienne and a champion beauty, singing and dancing chorus of twenty-five. Catchy songs, infectious music, gorgeous costumes, features, highclass specialities and elaborate scenery are promised. We have the assurance of Mr. Hill that it is a great show. As he has always kept his work in the cast, it is dollars to doughnuts he won't fail us now. Seats now on sale.

COUNCIL UPHOLDS AMERICAN VIEW

SUBMARINE CABLES NOT TO BE TAKEN AS PRIZES OF WAR.

Paris, March 26.—The American view that submarine cables are not prizes of war was upheld by the Supreme Council late yesterday. The question was presented in a report by a committee covering three main points. First, the committee was unanimous that cables could be cut as an act of military necessity; second, the committee was divided on the question as to whether cables were prizes of warlike warships, the British, French and Japanese holding them to be prizes, and the United States and Italy taking the opposite view. Third, the committee was unanimous that the United States or other third parties should be consulted on the final disposition of German cables landing on their shores. The council finally approved the view that cables are not prizes but are subject to the same disposition as other private property. It is in this form that the subject will be drafted for insertion in the treaty.

The decision affects thirteen German cables, including those to America and several in the Pacific connecting former German colonies.

PREMIER ASSASSINATED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berne, Marc h26.—According to an unconfirmed rumor reaching Prague from Budapest, former Premier Karolyi of Hungary has been assassinated.

"THE BRIDE "

Much interest in being manifested in the forthcoming engagement of George Choos magnificent production of "The Bride Shop," a musical comedy in two acts by Fred De Gressac, author of "The Purple Road," "The Enchantress," "Flo Flo," etc., with lyrics by Darl MacBoyel and music by Walter L. Rosemont, which is scheduled for appearance at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening next.

"The Bride Shop." has been justly termed the "Quality Fashion Show," of the season's offerings, inasmuch as it introduces in the second act, the shop from which it derives its title and in which is displayed numerous creations from many of the best and most noted modistes of both continents. In fact a conservative estimate of the outlay in gowns and lingerie amounts upward of twenty thousand dollars.

This is probably one of the many reasons for the enormous success of the attraction, for where there is style there are women, and where there are women, there are men. Aside from the wonderful display of gowns and female apparel, "The Bride Shop." is conceded to be one of the classiest and funniest musical comedies produced in many years, for the dialogue is made up of the brightest satire and repartee, the plot, like all musical comedies being just a thread to connect the story. It does however, bring about the formation of a number of scenes and situations that are both natural and funny, each following the other in such rapid successsion that one could almost say they enjoy as many laughs in as many minutes as it takes to unfold the story.

There are also introduced during the action of the play some twenty of the catchiest and most tuneful musical numbers, ever written.

DISCUSS BRIDGE SPECIFICATIONS

F. W. Paulin and F. A. Magee representing the Canadian Engineering and Contractnig Company, Ltd., of Hamilton are in the city today looking over the situation before submitting their tender for the contract of constructing the new Hunter street bridge.

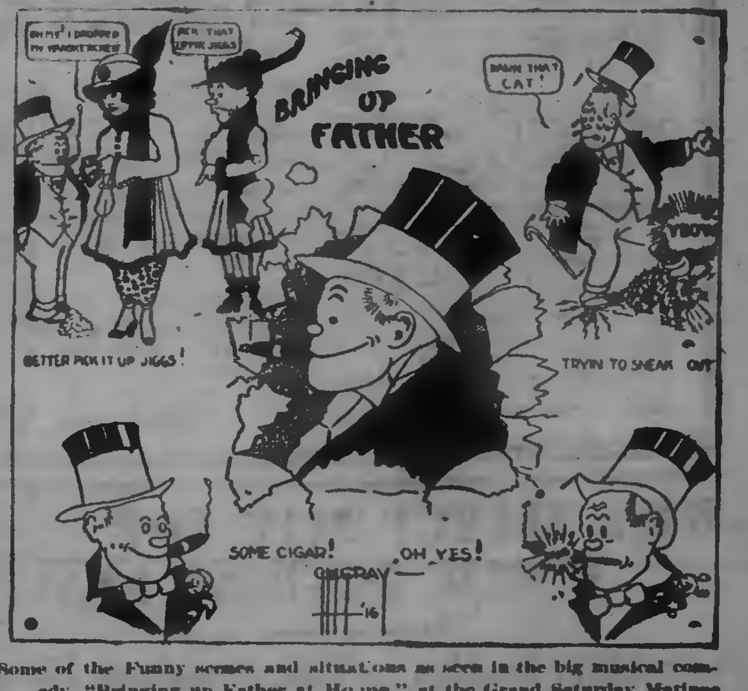
These gentlemen stated that they had come to Peterborough to size up the local situation, solely. Their firm was the lowest tenderer for the contract upon the former occasion.

In discussing the specifications as submitted they expressed the opinion thta had a bonus and penalty system been adopted it would have proved much more satisfactory to all parties concerned. They did not think that the fair wage clause inserted in the specifications recently as a result of action taken by Alderman Gainey will have much effect upon the tenders as firms in arriving at an estimate would base their figures upon the union scale for laborers in a city such as this where a laborer's union exists, as no other course would be open them when they are bound to give the preference to local labor.

Mr. Paulin thought that after the scale had been set in April or May the contractor could enter into the usual contract with the union and if they broke their agreement the same would be no longer binding upon the contracting firm, who could look elsewhere for men.

BRIDGE COMMITTEE MEETS

There is a meeting of the Special Bridge Committee this afternoon to discuss questions relating to the new Hunter Street Bridge.



Some of the Funny scenes and situations as seen in the big musical comedy, "Bringing up Father at Home," at the Grand Saturday Matinee and evening, March 29th.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS REJECTS TARIFF MOTION

Low Tariff Resolution Defeated on Division of 115 to 61—Gov't Was Supported by 54 Votes.

Ottawa, March 25.—At an early hour this morning parliament rejected a low tariff resolution which had been submitted evidently with the intention of dividing the government.

The motion was defeated by 115 to 61, a majority in favor of the Government of 54 votes. It was the first division of the present Parliamentary session. Not only did the Opposition fail to win over to its side the low-tariff men of the West, but lost the support of two of its own members, Mr. F. N. McCrae, of Sherbrooke, Que., and Mr. L. A. Lapointe of St. James, Montreal, while Hon. W. S. Fielding, who said that he would have liked to be on the side of the Opposition, also voted with the Government forces.

Mr. McCrae opposed the amendment because he is a paper manufacturer and disagreed with several features of the amendment; Mr. Lapointe of St. James voted against the party because he represents a manufacturing constituency; Mr. Fielding stood with the Government for the reason that tariff amendments, in his opinion should be introduced during the debate on the bugdet.

The Westernu grain growers who have been clamoring for the things the amendment advocated, spoke against it and voted against it because "the sole object of it is to put us in a false light."

While supporting the Government now, they made it clear that they will expect tariff concessions when the Budget is brought down. The Acting Premier, Sir Thomas White, stated that he would produce a Budget that would appeal to a majority of the Members of the House and the people of Canada.

W. P. Sparrow was instantly killed by a ginpole striking him on the head while at work on the Hydro power canal construction at Niagara Falls.

WILL PRESS FOR WAR INDEMNITY

Ottawa, March 26.—Speaking yesterday on a resolution introduced by P. R. Du Tremblay (Laurier-Outremont) that Canada is entitled to an indemnity as a belligerent nation. Sir Thomas White, acting Prime Minister, said that Canada's claims would not be overlooked. "I am quite sure also," said Sir Thomas, "that in the event of Germany being able to pay an indemnity, Canada will be placed in precisely the same position as Great Britain and the other allies. The principle will be the same."

"There should be a cold, economic calculation as to what Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria can pay, and then, in my opinion, they should be made to pay. That is one of the questions under consideration at the Peace Conference."

TRAPPED IN MINE.

Trapped at the bottom of a mine shaft where they were filming scenes for their latest photoplay, "Smashing Through," which comes to the Grand Opera House on Friday, matinee and evening, Elmer Clifton and his company of players, headed by Herbert Rawlinson and Sally Starr, put in one of the most trying hours of their existence when a "four-minute flare" exploded.

A flare is a block of highly inflammable substance which produces a brilliant light and is used when no other means of artificial lighting is at hand.

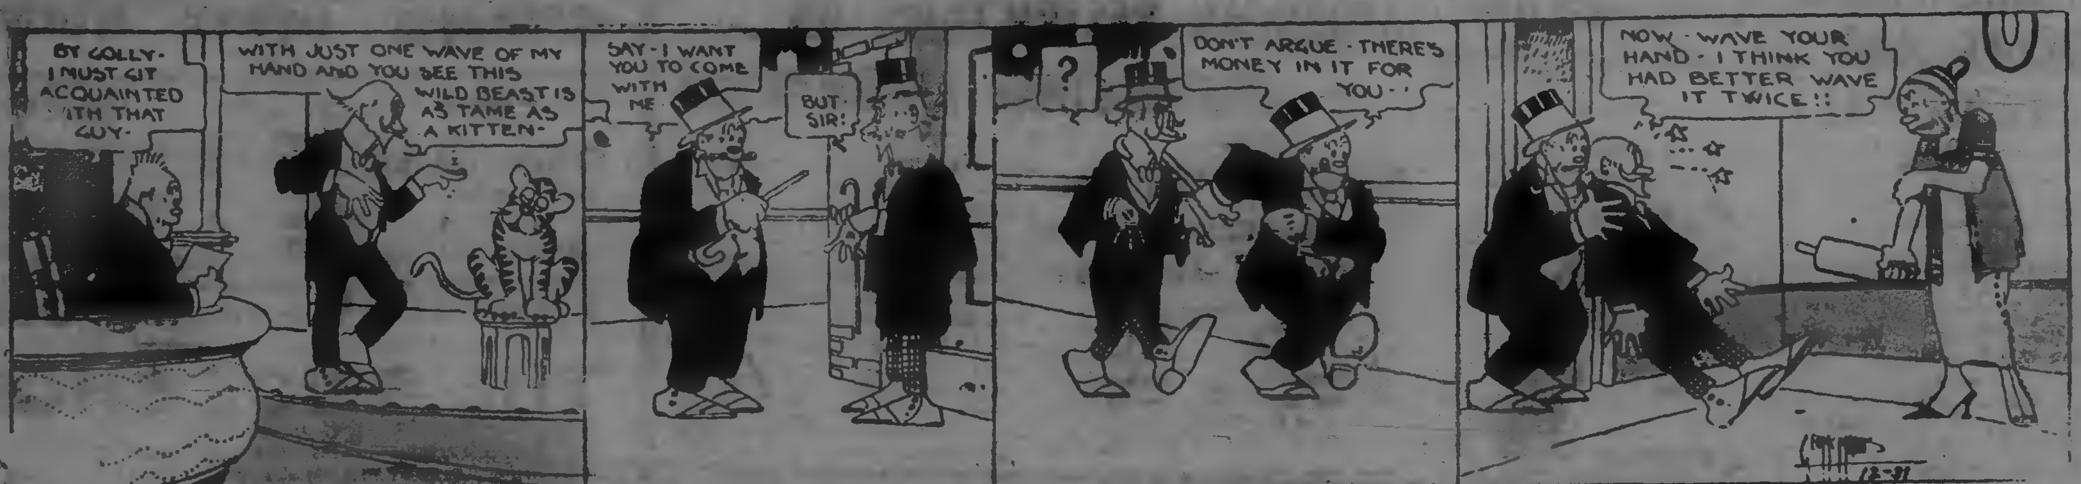
This particular flare, instead of brning as a good, respectable flare should burn, decided to do it quickly. It went off all at once, filling the passage with suffocating and poisonous gases. Only by lying flat on the mine floor were the players able to avoid suffocation while lighted candles at a higher level burned weakly or went out altogether. It was fully an hour before the passage had cleared sufficiently so that the players could stand up.

PROMOTED TO CAPTAIN

Word has been received that Harold H. D. Robertson, who has been with the 64th Chinese Labor Corps in France has been promoted to captaincy. Capt. Robertson is now stationed at Bologne.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS



BY GOLLY- I MUST GIT ACQUAINTED WITH THAT GUY-
WITH JUST ONE WAVE OF MY HAND AND YOU SEE THIS WILD BEAST IS AS TAME AS A KITTEN-SAY - I WANT YOU TO COME WITH ME
BUT SIR!
?
DON'T ARGUE - THERE'S MONEY IN IT FOR YOU - - NOW - WAVE YOUR HAND - I THINK YOU HAD BETTER WAVE IT TWICE !!
12-31

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
N. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING NEWS

On Saturday, March 22, Richardson won all three games from Hamilton.

Scores
Richardson	148	123	147	—418
Young	90	106	96	—292
Kirn	152	151	170	—473
	390	380	413	—1183
Roper	114	64	88	—266
Moore	111	72	99	—282
Hamilton	71	139	137	—347
	296	275	324	—895

Last night, March 24, Ivey won three games from Patterson.

Scores
Smith	144	120	139	—403
Woods	113	95	154	—362
Ivey	136	172	131	—439
	393	387	414	—1204
McBride	83	108	71	—262
Calvert	105	90	73	—268
Patterson	119	90	127	—336
	307	288	271	—866

Are The Big Ball Leagues a Trust

Washington, D.C., March 25. — Trial of the $900,000 treble damage suit, under the Sherman anti-trust law, of the Baltimore Federal Baseball League Club against National and American League Clubs and former Federal league officials was ordered yesterday to begin today before Associate Justice Spofford of the District of Columbia Supreme court.

Chairman Hermann of the National Commission, Ban Johnson, the president of the American league, and other baseball magnates were in court yesterday expecting the trial to begin, but Justice Stafford was engaged and it went over until tomorrow.

The litigation is similar to that in the federal district court at Philadelphia two years ago, which was halted in the midst of trial. The Baltimore club claims an actual loss of $300,000 from the disruption of the Federal League and asks the threefold penalty of the Sherman law. Whether baseball is "commerce" within the scope of the Sherman law is one of the principal questions said to be involved.

Moses Beauchamp, living a couple of miles from Penetanguishene, died a moment after remarking that he guessed he would go like Charles McGibbon of Penetanguishene, who died of an apoplectic fit on Saturday.

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices —executed by men who are craftsmen—try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.
HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

TURNBULL'S WON FROM BANKERS

Last night in the 5-pin league at the Water street alleys Turnbull's defeated the Bankers for two games, puting them in 1st place in the 5-pin league. Burtis for Bankers and Perry for Turnbull's both hit the rubber bands for 571 each. The scores:

Bankers.

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Hayes	135	155	171	—461
Cranfield	158	175	145	—478
Giroux	132	190	152	—474
Burtis	138	187	246	—571
Ivey	124	149	155	—428
Totals	687	856	869	—2412

Turnbull's.

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
J. Geltas	196	132	138	—466
Moore	126	157	167	—450
Perry	161	266	144	—571
Dolan	169	191	83	—443
Wood	94	198	129	—421
Totals	746	944	671	—2351

A New Fuel.

Little short of a complete revolution in the coal business and, consequently, far-reaching changes in industry are the results which, it is predicted, will follow from the invention of a new commercial process of converting bituminous coal into an equivalent of hard coal. The new fuel is entirely smokeless, and under the new process by-products now wasted are recovered. These largely compensate for the cost of conversion. A plant has been in operation in the east for some time, perfecting the process and making tests of a practical character.

The raw coal is subjected to a distillation process at low temperatures, the residue being pressed into hard, durable bricks that are again subjected to distillation and produce an intense heat. If the claims of the large interests already identified with the process prove true, it means that future problems arising from hard coal shortage have been solved, that in many cases power can be produced near the coal fields and transported at low cost to large industrial centres and that cities remote from an anthracite region can procure a smokeless fuel for domestic and other uses, which can be sold at a moderate price. It is interesting to note that the Government is preparing to establish a plant for producing this fuel in an eastern coal region.—Popular Mechanics.

Lindley Murray.

The first American grammarian to attain distinction, Lindley Murray, died ninety-three years ago He was a native of Pennsylvania and a Quaker, and his famous "Grammar of the English Language" was the first text book of its kind written by an American to be used in the school on this side of the Atlantic. It first appeared in 1795, and for more than half a century was the standard ... on the subject throughout the ... States.

Passing of Kurt Eisner Contains Great Lesson For Leaders of Reform

"FROM the beginning of the war Eisner had all the courage of Liebknecht, but in practical leadership Liebknecht was a fool, while Eisnor was a man of consummate wisdom." In these words Frank Bohn, one of the leaders of American pro-war, pro-Ally Socialists, epitaphed the assassinated Premier of Bavaria.

The belief is general, that Kurt Eisner fell victim of a profoundly laid monarchist conspiracy, of which the young Count Arco-Valley merely acted as a tool. Despatches reporting the arrest at Munich of Prince Leopold of Bavaria and other junker leaders point in this direction. And the London Daily Chronicle expressed the thought of many when it wrote that Eisner was murdered because at the Berne Socialist conference he had told the truth about Germany's guilt in the war. As Frank Bohn remarked: "Prince Joachim, Ludendorff and Scheidemann have known exactly whom to assassinate."

According to a special correspondent of the New York Times, Eisner realised the probable cost of his intrepidity:

"After his second speech at the Berne conference, in whichhe revealed the inhuman treatment inflicted by the German military authorities on Allied prisoners of war, Eisner remarked to friends who congratulated him on his courageous frankness: 'You don't know what Germany is like to-day. By making this speech I have probably signed my death warrant.'"

Commenting on Eisner's death, the Springfield Republican writes:

"The situation in Bavaria was extraordinary from the fact that Premier Eisner was bitterly hostile to Bolshevism, while at the same time so radical that German conservatives could hardly have found a Bolshevik more odious."

Everybody must discern in the happenings at the Bavarian capital a "lesson in forbearance" for Canadians. For the present we can take a lesson from the violence of transition in the old states. Canadians must bear with each other, having kindly consideration for all and refraining from inflicting intolerable political changes without due regard for human emotion. If there is advantage in some movement it must not be pressed beyond the point of common acceptance. Forbearance is a double virtue, operating alike to the benefit of reformer and reformed. The one may insist to a reasonable and just degree and theo ther will accept it in a reasonable and just degree. Let us strive for reasonableness and justice and not the emotionalism that overwhelms.

Danger Everywhere.

Little Millie's father and grandfather were Republicans, and, as election drew near, they spoke of their opponents with ever-increasing warmth, never heeding Millie's attentive ears. One night as the little maid was preparing for bed she cast a fearful glance across the room and whispered in a frightened little voice: "Oh, mamma, I'm afraid to go to bed. I'm afraid there's a Democrat in the closet."—Organizer.

"Side Line" All Right.

Those women who can do something should not be ashamed to be up and doing it. There is a dignity attached to all honest labor, no matter how ordinary or commonplace it may be, and those of us who are qualified to help out at home will feel better and stronger—providing, of course, our family will in no way suffer as a result—to be up and at our honest little "side line."—New York Evening Telegram.

...kes in the Ocean.

It is not generally known that there are snakes in the ocean. There are numerous varieties of small snakes that live in all oceans; then there are the eels, of course, which go from the salt water to the fresh. In the waters around southern Asia there lives the banded sea snake, which has stripes around its body and broad tail, and can swim with great speed.—Christian Science Monitor.

Hard to Explain.

Has it ever been fully explained why it is that a man on a cold, raw day will sit four hours uncomplainingly on a hard board in a rowboat and hold a fish pole, yet squirm and figet and fume if he is asked to sit more than an hour and fifteen minutes on a cushioned seat in a well-warmed church?

Secret of Concentration.

One reason for the remarkable powers of concentration possessed by some is the intense love of their work, into which they throw themselves with such ardor as to forget everything else about them. And this, after all, is the secret of all success—to forget oneself in one's work and to become a part of that work itself and so achieve "forgetting and forgot" of all about except the one task to which force, physical and mental, has been brought.

Remember the Golden Rule.

Perhaps the person isn't living who hasn't certain little peculiarities, but that is no reason why some narrow-minded individual should take it upon herself to weave into whole cloth those tiny, discordant ravelings and then pass on her "discovery" to anyone who will listen. If the listener is a believer in the Golden Rule she will not only turn a deaf ear to such a recital, but dismiss her uncharitable informant as quickly as possible.—Exchange.

What Canals Can Do.

There are 400 miles of navigable waterways in Britain, yet the actual percentage of craft on them at the moment is less than one per mile. On the other hand, Germany owes much to her highly efficient and economical canal system. Her water roads link up 700 industrial centers, and goods sent by canal route cost much less than by rail.

Saved to Some Effect.

In Greenville, N. H., a man who believes in saving coppers and nickels paid his taxes with $119.55 in buffalo nickels, $11.80 in old-style nickels, $6 in Lincoln cents and Indian-head cents. Buying a buggy, nearly new, at auction, he paid for it in coppers, and he also paid $27 in cents for a purchase made away from home.

Crude Tools, Artistic Work.

The natives of Torres straits, Queensland, make numerous ornaments out of tortoise and pearl shells. Hair combs, earrings, finger rings, chains and brooches made of tortoise shell and inlaid with mother-of-pearl are given an artistic finish. And often the only tool used is a knife or a piece of broken glass.

Labor Savers.

Both time and trouble are saved by placing an ordinary three-arm towel rack above the right end of the sewing machine. On this rack can be hung the sewing tape, etc., and pieces of unfinished goods which otherwise slip on the floor beneath the machine.—From Good Housekeeping.

Health in Outdoor Sports.

The great increase in the number of inmates at asylums for the insane is to be taken as a sign of the worry and uncertainty of our times. The resumption of outdoor play as soon as possible will restore equilibrium. Did an old base ball player ever become insane?

Seaweed en Masse.

"In the space between the Azores, Canaries and the Cape Verde Islands lies the great Sargasso Sea," says a writer in All Outdoors, who continues:

"Covering an area equal in extent to the valley of the Mississippi it is so thickly matted over with gulf weed that the speed of vessels passing through it is often much retarded. The weed always 'tails to' a steady or constant wind, so that it serves the mariner as a sort of anemometer, telling him whether the wind as he finds it has been blowing for some time or whether it has just shifted, and which way. Columbus first found this weedy sea on his voyage of discovery. There it has remained until this day, moving up and down and changing its position, like the calms of Cancer, as affected by the seasons, the storms and the winds; according to Maury's authority, exact observations as to its limits and their range, extending back for fifty years, assure us that its mean position has not been altered since that time. There is also a sargasso to the west of Cape Good Hope, which, though comparatively small, is clearly defined. Mention is gradually made of it in the logs as 'rock weed' and 'drift matter.' The weedy space about the Falkland Islands is probably not a true sargasso. The seaweed reported there most probably comes from the Strait of Magellan, where immense masses of algae grow. These straits are so incumbered with seaweed that steamers find great difficulty in making their way through it. It so clogs their propellors as to make frequent stoppages necessary."

Experience of Sailor Trapped in a Submarine And How He Saved Himself

THE story of a restless English schoolboy "who listened wearily as his teacher talked Boyle's Law and Archimedes' Principle" and later thanked his lucky stars is told in the Popular Science Monthly, by Joseph Brinker:

"What was Boyle or the laws that gases and liquids under pressure obey to him?

"The time came, ten years later, when they meant life or death to him. It happened during the war, when he was one of the crew of a British submarine.

"His boat was lying idly on the surface of the water. All the officers ing a holiday ashore. He went below to work in the engine room and left the conning tower hatch open. Then something happened—the young man never knew just what—and the boat lurched down by the bow.

"He thought of the conning tower hatch, and rushed forward to close it. But the water was already pouring in with such force that he was unable to accomplish his purpose. He returned aft to the engine room and locked himself in by means of a watertight door which separated the boat into two compartments.

"He was safe temporarily, but the other half of the boat was filling with water and the submarine was sinking lower and lower.

"The engine room was in complete darkness, due to the short-circuiting of the electric system. Everything he touched shocked him.

"The salt water on the storage batteries generated suffocating chlorine gas. He rushed blindly at the engine room hatch and tried to force it open. But his strength was no match for the pressure of the water outside; and, even if he had been able to open it, he would have been no better off, for the water would have rushed in and drowned him before he could possibly get out.

"Realizing that his last chance was gone he grew quite calm and, as is the custom of dying folk, reviewed the things he had done and those he ought not to have done while here on earth.

"As he came to that day in school when he unwillingly learned of pressure he stopped. Water, gas, pressure—what about them?

"Then he remembered that, in the case of a body submerged in water, the combined force of the gas within and the strength of the body material must equal the force of the water without, or the water would crush the body in. Just so the combined force of the air in the submarine and the steel of the hatch equalled the force of the water pressing down on it. If he could make the force of the air in the boat equal to the pressure of the water on the boat then the hatch would be relieved of the strain of holding off the water and would be easily lifted.

"How could he increase the force of the air? Then he thought of Boyle's law, which he had been forced to memorize on that long-ago schoolday—the volume of a gas varies inversely with its pressure. If he decreased the volume of the gas in the submarine he might increase the pressure enough to make it equal that of the water. This done the hatch would be in equilibrium and consequently easily moved.

"His next problem was how to decrease the volume of the air. There was only one way to do this—by letting the water in. If he did that he would be taking a last desperate chance, for he did not know how much compressing the air needed before it would exert a force equal to that of the water outside. If this failed him, he would drown without a doubt.

"He decided to take the chance. So, groping in the dark, he opened the bilge valve and let the water in. As it crept up about his waist he philosophically decided that he would much rather drown than suffocate anyway. But when it reached his waist he grew somewhat nervous and thought he'd better try the hatch.

"He pushed against it, and it opened slightly; but it slammed shut again, crushing his fingers, for the pressure of the air was not yet great enough to resist the water without the aid of the ...

"Nursing his injured fingers he waited stoically until the water in the engine room reached the hatch coaming. Then, with just his head above water, his eardrums strained from the compressed air, he made a third attempt to raise the unwilling hatch.

"His patience, bravery and coolheadedness were rewarded. At last the air was compressed enough to equal the force of the water and the ...

"After helping him thus far, physics decided to see him through. The compressed air in the submarine repelled the water which was trying hard to pour in and drown him. The air shot upward with great force, taking the sailor along with it to the surface of the water and leaving him there breathless.

"After he had righted himself and shaken the water from his eyes he looked about and saw, a little distance away, a friendly destroyer, which soon picked him up.

"Such an experience must surely force on any man a great respect for school, teachers—and Fate."

Want the Full Price.

An Australian digger consulted a doctor, and then went to get the prescription. "How much?" he asked the chemist. "Well, let me see. There's seven-and-sixpense for the medicine and a shilling for the bottle." He hesitated, as if uncertain. "Oh, hurry up, boss," said the impatient miner; "put a price on the cork and let us know the worst."

More Pleasant to His Ear.

"Lemme see one o' dem cuckoo clocks," said Mr. Ernstuk. "Here you are." "Could you kind o' change de tune a little?" "What's the idea?" "I wants an alarm clock. I don't take to dese hasty an' excited alarm clock. If you could train one o' dese to cackle like a chicken I could wake up spry an' hopeful every time."

Real Meaning of "Salad."

Salad literally means salted and is a direct descendant of the Latin word sal, or salt. The use of "salad" to mean the greens from which or on which a salad mixture is placed is one of only recent origin. The Italian insalata and the Spanish salads, meaning salad in those languages, actually mean salted.

Gosh!

While a Toledo man was shooting bedbugs in his room, a bullet glanced and wounded his roommate. We have roomed in other towns where you had to go after the bedbugs with a hammer or a baseball bat, but we'd hate to room in Toledo, where you have to go after 'em with a gun.

Allegorical October.

In some of the calendars of our ancient Saxon ancestors the month of October is allegorically represented by the figures of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulder and sowing grain. It was the sowing of the fall or winter wheat, as we call it in this country.

Well, Many Don't Seem to Have.

Robert was a thoughtful child and was used to reasoning out the "why" to his own questions. One day a little boy came in from next door. He asked questions continually and Robert finally looked at him curiously and said. "Haven't you a think of your own?"

Natural History.

A woman recently selecting a hat at a milliner's asked, cautiously:

"Is there anything about these feathers that might bring me into trouble with the Bird Protection Society?"

"Oh, no, madam," said the milliner.

"But did they not belong to some bird?" persisted the lady.

"Well, madam," returned the milliner pleasantly, "these feathers are the feathers of a howl; and the howl, you know, madam, seein' as 'ow fond he is of mice is more of a cat than a bird."—Tit-Bits.

Insects Have Distinctive Colors.

Naturalists for a long time were at a loss to understand how it was that insects were enabled to so quickly recognize an intruder among their family or settlement. It has been determined that in most cases they recognize each other by smell. Among the bees each distinctive class of workers—the guard, the fanner, the pollen carrier, the waxmaker, the architect, etc.—has its own distinctive odor. And besides this each bee has its own separate hive odor, which is its passport into its own particular home.

Osaka, Japan, has nearly 16,000 factories, employing over 92,000 men and 95,000 women.

Sadder Than Ever.

What makes a kid the maddest is to get sick so he won't have to go to school, and then to find out that the teacher was sick on that day and that there wasn't any school.

Suspicious.

"Have you got a lawyer looking after your interest?" "Nominally; but I gather think he has his eye on my principal."—Boston Evening Transcript.

COAL
I...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawanna Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
163 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 276-562

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 98 TERMS CASH

Orders for Coa
taken now. Prompt delivery. Mi
Cord Wood for sale, also bundles
Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leath
Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.
Highest prices paid for all kinds
Junk.
Store and Apartment to rent.
LOW & COMPA
362 Simcoe St. 686 Bethune
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 396

Mixed Wood $8.00
per cord
Hard Wood $1
per cord
Cutting and Splitting ...
Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.00 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.
E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Mr. McMaster's tariff ... in the House of Commons was ... ed on a vote of 115 to 61, all ... ists and Hon. W. S. Fielding, ... Messrs. McCrea (Sherbrooke) ... Lapointe (St. James,' Montreal) ... ing with the Government.

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the 57th Chapter of the I.O.D.E. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 in the green room of the Y.W.C.A.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKeaty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover-seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1083.

AUCTION SALE.

Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 2 p.m., I will sell for Mr. Samuel Londry two houses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 4?6-421 Bethune street; this property will be sold without reserve. Terms $500 cash, balance can remain at 5 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

AUCTION SALE

Household furniture, etc., at the home of the late A. J. Gaddye, 717 George Street on Thursday, March 27th, sale to commence 1.30 p.m.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

TRINITY LENTEN SERVICE

A special Lenten Service will be held in Trinity Church tonight. The pastor, the Rev. F. E. Malott, will give the address. Mrs. Rehill and Mr. Albert Lee will sing. The service will begin at 8 p.m. The pastor would like to see the church filled. Young people and those desiring to unite with the church are especially invited. All are welcome.

WOODWORKERS WANTED

For out of town. First-class Sticker and Double Cut-off Saw Hands, also, good Crater and Shipper. Apply at office Renfrew Manufacturing Co (old Cordage Plant) Thursday morning. Phone 27.

AUCTION SALE.

I will sell the household furniture of a six-roomed house at the home of Mr. Wm. Cooney, 507 Albert street, on Friday, March 28, including good Gurney-Oxford range heater, parlor suite, beds, rugs, dining-room suite, dishes and large quantity of firewood, etc. No reserve; sale at 1:30 o'clock.

J. T. THORNTON,
Auctioneer.

ANNUAL CONCERT.

Annual Concert, Ladies' Aid, Park Street Baptist Church, Friday evening, March 28th. Good program. Tickets 25c, children 15c.

AUTOMOBILES, TRUCKS, ETC.

Two 1918 Ford Touring Cars, one Roadster, one 1916, one 1914 Touring. Also one 1916 Ford One-ton Truck complete with body. One light delivery truck.

We can satisfy you in price and appearance.

Select the car you wish now; we will store it till you need it.

DUFFUS GARAGE.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Misses Gillman, 466 Mark St., wish to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of their mother.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Gus Whittaker left today to meet Major Whittaker who arrived from overseas on the Olympic.

Rev. Robert Pogue was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. James Johnston of Bailieboro is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. A. A. Smith with her son who has been visiting in Collingwood returned to the city today.

22 Join G.W.V.A. at Meeting Last Night

The following men were elected members of the Peterborough Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association at an Executive Meeting held last night:

Lt.-Cp. William Ernest Axford, 18th K.R.R.C.
Pte. W. C. Brown, 4th Can. Inf. Bn.
Sergt. J. J. Corbett, P.P.C.L.I.
Pte. E. Hosking, 26th Bn.
Pte. Frederick James Hall, 4th C.M.R.
Gnr. William David Hawley, C.F.A.
Pte. V. Jackson, 5th C.M.R
Pte. David Miller, Forestry Corps.
Gnr. Robert Munro, Trench Mortar Battery.
Spr. Bertie Clarence Mason, 12th C.R.T.
Gnr. Chester C. Mowry, C.F.A.
Pte. C. Morrison, 5th C.M.R.
Cpl. Edwin Norman, C.O.C.
Pte. Cornelius Oxford, 4th C.M.R.
Pte. Fred C. Riddell, 38th battalion.
Gnr. Charles Sharpe, 48th Bn.
Gnr. C. Spilsbury, 52nd battery.
Lt. A. P. Stock, R.A.F.
Pte. Arthur G. Sims, 5th C.M.R.
Pte. Charles Veenman, 4th C.M.R.
Gnr. S. Whitehouse, 52nd battery.
Pte. George Henry, Webb, 5th C.M.R.

Addresses To The Art Association

Last evening in the lecture hall of the Public Library Mr. F. J. A. Morris delivered a lecture on "Wordsworth and the Romantic Revival." The lecture was under the auspices of the local branch of the Woman's Art Association, and those who attended enjoyed a delightful literary treat.

Mrs. Vincent Eastwood, president of the W. A. A., occupied the chair.

A vote of appreciation was moved by Mr. A. Mowat, seconded by Mr. Arthur Stevenson and tendered Mr. Morris.

THE CHAPERON.

A bright, clean place, full of laughter and interest throughout, interspersed with tableaux and good music. Forty-seven members of class taking part. A tennis drill, one main feature. You can't afford to miss it. Friday evening, March 28th. Trinity (Reid street) Sunday school room. Admission 25c.

BOARD OF TRADE

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the election of the officers and council and for the consideration of routine special business is called for Tuesday evening, April 1, 1919, at 8 o'clock sharp in the council room of the Board on the 2nd floor of the Dominion Bank Building at George and Simcoe streets. The presence of all members of the Board and delegates of all affiliated associations is especially desired at this meeting when subjects of extraordinary interest to Peterborough are to be submitted for concerted discussion and action.

J. J. TURNER, President.
BASIL D. HALL, Secretary.

DEMONSTRATING GRAY DORT.

The Duffus Garage has obtained a cut out illuminated Gray Dort automobile chassis in which the mechanism is exposed to view. Gears, differential, and one of the cylinders are open and can be seen working in response to the power of a small electric motor which is belted to the main drive shaft.

DEATH OF INFANT.

Howard Fredericks, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fredericks, died yesterday at the residence of the parents, 25 McGill street. Interment was made this morning in the Little Lake Cemetery.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps are now issued in French.

"DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR

Stop dandruff and double beauty of your hair for few cents.

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several application the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. You hair appears soft, glossy and twice as thick and abundant. Try it!

KILLS CHILDREN AND THEN HERSELF

SEPARATED FROM HUSBAND — WIFE, BOY AND GIRL DEAD BY GAS.

Chicago, March 26.—Mrs. Veronica Towjanska, aged 24, and her two children, Henry, 6 years old, and Irene, 4 years of age, were found dead in their apartment yesterday when the police broke into the premises.

A month ago, Mrs. Towjanska's husband, John, who is a machinist, left her.

"Go to Paul," was his parting admonition, according to the neighbors. Paul is the other man. Last November, John returning home early from work, found Paul, whose surname is said to be Zaleski, in the house with his wife. John got a revolver and shot Paul in the right shoulder, after a fusillade of shots. John was subsequently arrested and on Nov 16 he was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to the county jail for one day.

Found on Bed.

In the room where the wife was found today two bullet holes in the wall gave mute testimony of past strife. The two children lay upon a bed in a room adjoining. They were holding hands. On the floor beside the bed was a crumpled sheet of paper bearing the words, written in the childish hand of Henry, "Pa—Mr—Henry—Irene—" and their address, 2050 West 23rd street."

Thinks had not been going well for Veronica. On the rear porch was a note from the milkman asking for his money. A number of other bills were also found by the police. The rent of the house was three weeks overdue.

Received Letter.

During the last month, according to neighbors, Mrs. Towjanska has been doing housework for Zaleski at his residence, 1214 West Ohio street Last night Mrs. Towjanska received a letter, the police believe, from her husband. No trace of it has been found by the police, however.

Search has been started for Zaleski, who, the police say, was the last one to see Mrs. Towjanska.

METAL PRODUCTS PLANT DEAL IS NOT CONCLUDED

MR. LOW ADMITS NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS--REFUSES FURTHER INFORMATION.

Mr. Thos. A. Low of the Renfrew Manufacturing Co., arrived back in the city this morning and when asked for information in regard to the negotiations for the sale of the plant to an American firm, which he admitted in his telegram of yesterday to this paper were in progress, refused to state anything more definite in regard to the deal.

It is generally believed that the American firm which is negotiating for the purchase of the plant in Peterborough is engaged in the manufacture of automobiles for trucks and has its headquarters in New York.

Mr. Low denied the report which found its way into the press to the effect that the deal had been concluded on Saturday. He stated this morning that it had not yet been concluded, and therefore he had nothing definite to say in regard to it, although promising that the papers would have the details of the transaction at as early a date as was compatible with good business.

It would not be in the best interests of Peterborough to publish the name of the firm which is about to purchase the Metal Products plant, even were they in possession of the information, before the deal was closed.

AMERICAN RESTRICTIONS ON IMMIGRATION ALARM ITALY

Movement Will Have a Re-active Effect on Italian Labor Market

Rome, March 26.—Alarm is expressed in Italy at the schemes to restrict immigration which are assuming a menacing shape in the United States. In view of the large number of Italians who went to America before the war, and the numbers who might be expected to seek employment there with the return of peace activities the measures proposed are of the greatest interest here.

What may be asked are the sources and reasons for this movement which will have a reactive effect on the Italian labor market and shut a safety valve of the greatest importance in solving the problem of unemployment? It is apparent that the industries of the United States are doing through a crisis more or less serious, like those of every other country, while being changed from a war to a peace footing. Thus, for example Henry Ford, who specialized in the manufacture of small automobiles, employing thousands of hands, transformed his entire plant to building "tanks," after the United States entered the war, interrupting his own business and throwing out a large number of hands.

Expect American Doors to Close.

The same thing may be said of all the other American industries, so that it is well to recognize that the conditions of the labor market are influenced by demobilization and the stopping of war industries. All these conditions may be improved as a result of the measures contemplated by the government, and especially by reason of recent regulations, which permit soldiers who have not found employment at the time of discharge to remain with the colors; which provide farm and building work, and especially grants of land on fixed terms, to discharge soldiers including those of the Allies.

Besides to understand the reasons for the movement to check immigration it is necessary to consider two other things: The first is the pressure exerted on Congress by the labor associations, headed by Gompers, and which have the interest and desire to restrict the supply of labor in the American market.

It should be remembered that restrictions on immigration were favored by Congress before the war, since it enacted laws to shut out illiterates, and they fell hard on the emigrants from southern Italy. Since the large number consists of peasants and therefore cannot compete with American mill labor, other reasons must be sought for the movement. In Rome the opinion prevails that the real reason is the fear of a bolsheviki movement pushed among the masses by elements coming in through immigration.

Double Citizenship Discussed.

Meanwhile the disposition to restrict, in fact to stop all immigration has gained such headway that it is fair to assume that the prohibitory laws will be passed. Indeed two bills have been introduced in Congress The Burnett scheme would prohibit immigration, with certain exceptions for four years. The Lufkin bill would close the doors for two years only.

The committee on immigration of Congress which seems to prefer the Burnett bill has made several amendments which would permit the parents of the foreigners already naturalized or living there to follow them to the United States. Burnett also wants the question of double citizenship defined by the peace congress, finding it insufferable that naturalized Americans should be compelled to serve in the armies of their native lands, which might even be enemy countries For that reason the naturalization of foreigners serving in the American army is greatly facilitated. The press says that 160,000 foreign-born soldiers have been so naturalized.

France Offers Only Relief.

It can be foreseen that the Burnett scheme will encounter little opposition in the house. At the outside the four year period may be reduced to three, or even to two. It is probable that this question which interests us greatly has been discussed by Baron Sonnino with President Wilson in Paris to the end of obtaining some concessions in our favor.

In any case when it is considered that 376,776 Italians entered the United States in 1913, and that in 1914 the first year of war they were $y67,351, it is easy to understand what the American labor market means to Italy.

Although probably immigrants from Canada and Mexico will be excluded and a few Italians may filter into the United States through those countries they will not be enough to affect the gravity of the situation.

Boundary Extension Was Discussed

At a meeting held in the Sunday school room of St. George's Church last night the proposition to extend the boundaries of the city to include part of North Monaghan was discussed in an informal manner.

Mr. H. B. Rye, who was to have presided at the meeting at which representatives of the township and city were to have discussed the project, was ill, and in his absence Mr. T. E. Bradburn occupied the chair.

Ald. Turner, Ald. Morrison and Mr. G. W. Hatton addressed the meeting, as well as representatives of North Monaghan. Some viewed the proposed boundary extension with favor while others were opposed to certain of the suggestions made as regarded the basis for the change.

There will be a large meeting held in the Council chamber Thursday night, at which the city and North Monaghan will be fully represented and the proposal thoroughly discussed from every standpoint.

Peterborough Men Landed at Halifax

Advice to the local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission states that the following men landed at Halifax from the steamer Olympic on Tuesday afternoon, March 25, and are being despatched for the west as fast as trains can be made up to relieve the congestion at the port, consequent upon the arrival together of several boats, detained by fog:

Privates C. Avery, P. Maynard, H. F. Rigg, W. Wood, H. Wood, E. W. Hamlin, S. Thomas, J. Flood, H. J. McMaster, W. Tillcock, W. C. Edwards, B. Spillsbury, E. F. Hamlin.

Boys, What Does This Mean to You?

Big showing of re-built Bicycles at C. R. Banks' garage, Charlotte St. Good as new at half the price.

Save your money. We're crowded for room.

DIED

FITZGERALD—On Monday, March 24th, 1919, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. R. W. Davidson, 171 Antrim street, of John S. Fitzgerald, aged 78 years.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon, March 27th, at 2 o'clock. Interment at the Lakefield cemetery.

NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:

A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Harleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of those sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary,
Provisional Committee
31 Brown St.

The Musical Comedy Sensation
BRINGING UP FATHER
PRETTY GIRLS
CATCHY MUSIC
AT HOME
The Biggest Laughing Hit on Record

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT - LAST TIME - TO-NIGHT
Select Pictures Present
NORMA TALMADGE in "DE LUXE ANNE"
FABLE COMEDY A Trimmed Lamp | SCREEN MAGAZINE | MAX SENNET COMEDY A Polished Villian
MATINEE 10c VAUDEVILLE HUMPHREY SISTERS EVENING 15c

THURSDAY Evening Only
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE
THE BRIDE SHOP
With EDDIE VOGT
AND A DISTINGUISHED CAST OF PRINCIPALS.
THE MOST EXTRAVAGANTLY GOWNED ORGANIZATION ON EARTH.
PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c. Seats Tuesday.

SATURDAY MATINEE and EVENING
PRICES MATINEE 25c & 50c EVENING 25c—50c 75c—$1.00 SEATS ON SALE NOW

FRIDAY at 2:30 and 7:30
Special Variety Program
15 BIG REELS 15 INCLLUDING HERBERT RAWLINSON IN
"Smashing Through"
ALICE HOWELL in a Screaming Comedy
"BAILED OUT"
Screen Magazine — "The World Before Your Eyes"
Special Star Comedy and New Two-Act Railroad Drama Entitled
"Tapering Fingers"
Prices—Matinee, 10c; Evening, 15c

PRES. ABSENT GOV'T MUST ACT

AMERICAN CAPITAL STIRRED UP OVER HUNGARIAN SITUATION.

Washington, D.C., March 25.—concern was evident in official and diplomatic quarters here over the news of the seizure of government in Hungary by a bolshevist regime which has inaugurated its advent by declaring a state of war with the entente powers and seeking an alliance with the Russian Bolsheviki.

With President Wilson and Secretary Lansing in Paris the attitude of the American government toward any measures that may be proposed will be determined and announced there.

One feature of the situation that is attracting so much attention here is the plight of Roumania. Roumania survived one attack of Bolshevism, it was pointed out today. Whether or not she can weather a second attack is regarded as a serious question. With Hungary turned Bolshevist Roumania is two-thirds surrounded and it is believed that the Bolshevists will devote every effort to bringing her under control.

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors. LEATHER, RATTAN, WICKER, WOOD, METAL and GLASS or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle

AT

Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.

FULL FACE VALUE PAID FOR VICTORY - BONDS -

WE WANT $45.000.00

Hughson Johnstone
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
Phone 958

WE WILL CALL FOR THEM
OPEN WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Hoenan
140 Rubidge Street.
Phone 443 J. Peterboro

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
PETERBORO

Strong north west wind, turning colder with light local snow. Friday fair and cold.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 73 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

PANDEMONIUM DOMINANT IN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

French Socialists Bitterly Attack French Government's Policy Toward Russia—Foreign Minister Criticized—Deputies Pounded on Their Desks.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 27.— Tumultuous scenes occurred in the Chamber of Deputies last evening with the right and left engaged in controversy, each charging the other with being Bolsheviki, while cries of "liar" were heard in the midst of the storm of protests.

Socialists Bitter

Socialists were bitter in their criticisms of the address made by Stephen Pichon, Foreign Minister, in answer to interpellations made by Marcel Cachin and Ernest La Font on the government's policy in Russia. Paul Deschanet, resident of Chamber, was unable to restore order for a long period and the pandemonium later resolved itself into a bedlam, in which many deputies added to the noise by pounding on their desks.

WASHINGTON TAKES HUNGARIAN UPHEAVAL AS JUNKERITE BLUFF

Suspects the Bolshevists Hide Plot Only to Escape War Penalty—Food Delay the Real Peril.

According to a Washington correspondent to the Chicago Daily News, in the Bolshevist outbreak in Hungary unofficials of this Government today profess to see the marks of a game of bluff on the part of the central powers and at the same time a well formed plot to prevent the allies from collecting from the central powers the fruit of their victory.

It has been the opinion in Washington ever since the armistice was signed that the old regime in Germany, particularly, still exercised a power behind the scenes in the new government of Germany, and that in Austria and Hungary the old leaders under professions of new nationalism and progressiveness, were engaged in controlling the new government along lines prevailing under the old but with certain concessions to the new conditions.

It has been noted by close observers of the central European situation that with each new imposition in the armistice terms there has been a revival of Bolshevism and other forms of political activity over which, sooner or later, the existing governments have regained control.

Hand of Junkers Seen.

The theory exists here in well informed quarters that as long as the aristocratic junker and business elements of the central powers see a hope of retaining any vestige of property, power or prestige, they will not hesitate to fight to uphold the position of any government in Germany, Austria or Hungary favorable to their interests.

On the other hand, the fear has often been expressed here that if the final terms imposed by the allies and the United States are so severe as

(Continued on Page Eight.)

Liner Minnekadha Docks at Halifax

HAS FIVE HUNDRED RETURNING CANADIAN SOLDIERS ON BOARD.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, N.S., March 27.—Atlantic transport liner Minnekadha, with twenty five hundred returning Canadian soldiers, docked at 8 o'clock this morning. Disembarkation was begun an hour later.

Daylight Saving For Can. Railways

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Montreal, March 27.—Despite the reported decision of the government not to reintroduce daylight saving this year, all Canadian railways will operate under the scheme. They were ordered to do so by the Canadian Railway War Board this morning. The order from the War Board states that the change will be made at 2 a.m. on Sunday.

NEW JERSEY STRIKERS RETURNED TO WORK

A Woman Leads 4,500 Workers to Botany Plant — Forty-Eight Hour Week.

New York, March 27.—Sixteen thousand textile workers who have been out on strike in Passic, N.J., for seven weeks paraded back to their old jobs Tuesday joyously, celebrating the granting to them by the manufacturers of a 48-hour week and the right to organize. It was regarded as a great victory parade even though they had lost millions in wages through their idleness during the parleying.

The workers met in five halls early in the morning where labor leaders announced that articles had been signed by them with manufacturers before Charles J. Fury, Federal conciliator. The 48-hour week instead of 55 hours, no discrimination against men in mills for union activities, right to have shop committees handle grievances and wages to be fixed by a committee of five, two manufacturers and two labor delegates meeting with Mr. Fury as chairman, seemed to delight everyone of the workers.

The parades followed, the workers entering the factories at 7 o'clock singing and cheering. The Botany Worsted Mills parade of 4,500 was led by Margaret Haray, union secretary. Police marched with the workers. The New York Belting and Packing Co., a United States Rubber Co. plant, not connected with the textile strike, also opened, and the Dundee Textile Mills will open today. Shorter working hours were granted by both.

Settlement of the Lawrence, Mass. textile troubles is predicted as a result of the agreement reached at Passaic, although conferences of strike committees with representatives of the American Woollen Co. and the Kuhn, Hart Mill were called off Monday, when the employes objected to the presence of strike leaders, who are not employes, as members of the committees. Strikers were informed by Everett Mill officials that no concessions would be granted.

CHARGED WITH INTIMIDATION

FAILED TO APPEAR IN COURT—STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Henry Hughes, of Norwood, failed to appear at Havelock yesterday on a charge of intimidation by the use of a shot-gun. His counsel, Mr. Joseph Wearing, strongly urged an adjournment, which was strenuously objected to by Mr. J. A. O'Brien, counsel for the private prosecutor. Magistrate Langley finally granted on adjournment until March 2nd, and later it transpired that Hughes had had a stroke when leaving for Havelock.

GERMAN SHIPS ARE SEAWORTHY

LARGER BOATS WILL BE USED TO REPATRIATE AMERICANS AND AUSTRALIANS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 27. — The Supreme Economic Council reports that 38 German ships that have left German ports to be turned over to the Allied and associated powers are generally in a seaworthy condition.

None of the ships are of less than 7,500 tons capacity. The larger ships will be used to repatriate American and Australian troops.

ITALIANS OCCUPY PRESSBURG TOWN

WITHIN HUNGARIAN BORDER — 35 MILES FROM VIENNA.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 27.—Italian troops have occupied the town of Pressberg, 35 miles southeast of Vienna, on the Hungarian side of the border, according to a despatch from Budapest, forwarded by the Central News correspondent at Berlin.

Lindsay Boy Has Narrow Escape

A little son of Mr. Fred Short, St. Paul street, had a narrow escape from drowning Tuesday afternoon when he fell into what is known as Fee's creek.

It appears that the little fellow was playing at the edge of the water and accidently tumbled in. The current is quite swift at this season of the year and the lad was unable to scramble out, but was being carried down stream when his cries arrested the attention of Mrs. Barnsley, who rushed to his rescue and without the least hesitation jumped into the water. She succeeded in getting the lad out and thus saved him from losing his life.

Master Short is a grandson of Chief John Short.—Lindsay Warder.

Does Anyone Know Pte. C. R. Clarke?

Several letters addressed to Pte. C. R. Clarke, No. 196049, have been handed to the Patriotic Fund Office, in the hopes that the soldier may be found, or his whereabonts determined. The letters have all been to France and returned. One of the letters, which had been opened, is signed "Ella," and the statement appended that she is a sister of the soldier. If any one knows of the whereabouts of the man will the information be sent to the Patriotic Fund, city building.

EMPLOYMENT FOR VETS

Washington, March 26.—Chambers of commerce in twenty-six cities today were asked by Col. Arthur Woods, special War Department assistant on soldiers' employment, to take responsibility of providing work for the returning service men.

SUFFRAGISTS KEEP CLEAR OF PARTY POLITICS

RESOLVE AGAINST ENDORSING ANY POLITICAL CANDIDATES.

St. Louis, Mo., March 26.—A resolution recommending for adoption by the executive council of the National American Woman Suffrage association presented to the jubilee convention here yesterday provides that the association "shall not affiliate with any political party nor indorse the platform of any party, nor support or oppose any political candidates unless such action shall be recommended by the board of directors in order to achieve the ends and purposes of this organization." The resolution continues saying that "nothing in this resolution shall be constructed to limit the liberty of action of any enfranchised member or officer of this association to join or serve the party of her choice in any capacity whatsoever as an individual."

The resolution was presented as a new definition of "nonpartisan" in relation to the national association. Prominent delegates have already stated no woman's party was to be formed.

ACT RESPECTING LOAN COMPANIES

PRESENTED BY MR. LUCAS IN REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Toronto, March 27. — Hon. I. B. Lucas, toward the end of yesterday's session presented to the Ontario Legislature the report of the special committee which sat during recess to revise the laws respecting loan and trust corporations. He also introduced the bill which was based on the report and which was considered by the committee at its last meeting. There were no changes in the draft as submitted yesterday, and the clause which the corporations objected to, prohibiting them from putting more than fifteen per cent. of their assets into any one company had not been deleted.

Three Toronto bills were introduced, two of them standing in the name of George H. Gooderham (Southwest Toronto) to amend the Local Improvement Act and the Municipal Franchise Act, and one in the name of Mr. Mark Irish (Northeast Toronto) to amend the Public Health Act.

Canada Expected To Finance Self

Much has been said during the past two years of the necessity of Canada financing herself. The need of this was brought home early in the war through the closing of the London money market to Canadian flotations. When the United States entered the war this was repeated in that country. With the doors thus closed against her, Canada undertook to do her own financing and astonished both herself and the rest of the world by the results of the two Victory Loans.

Since the signing of the armistice Canadian financial leaders have been saying that Canada must continue to finance herself as she has been doing during the last two years. Reliable reports from London show that a similar opinion is held there. In a recent cable the London correspondent of the Montreal Gazette, himself a Canadian and thus well acquainted with conditions bith in this country ond in the United Kingdom, said:

"Canada is expected to meet her loans in the British market as they fall due. About twenty millions become due in June. The British claim that if Canada can offer credits to European countries, she cannot expect Britain, which needs all her available money, to extend credits to Canada. This view is endorsed by Canadians here, who feel that we must finance our growing foreign trade on our own money, and not on British loans."

War Savings Stamps are part of the plan that it is hoped may enable Canada to finance herself. Those who buy thus lend their money to the Government for five years on the best possible security and at a good rate of interest.

MILITARY SERVICE BILL HAS PASSED ITS REPORT STAGE

No Intention of Raising a Conscript Army For Service in Russia, Says W. Spencer Churchill —But Will Not Exclude Liability For Service in Russia.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London. March 27.—The military service bill passed through its report stages without amendment in the House of Commons yesterday. The proposal to limit the operation of the bill to December 31, 1919, instead of April 30, 1920, was rejected by a vote of 282 to 70 and another amendment excluding liability to service in Russia from the scope of the bill was voted down by 381 to 48.

No Large Army For Russia

In declining to accept this amendment, Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for war, said the Government had no intention of raising a large conscript army to be sent to Russia. The general question to the Russian policy he said "is not a question for the British government. It is a matter to which the League of Nations, or League of Victorious Nations must address itself.

MINERS DEMAND, ARMY WITHDRAWN

THREATEN LABOR PARTIES WILL ENFORCE THEIR DEMANDS.

London, March 27.—A resolution passed by the miners' conference today unanimously calls upon the Government immediately to withdraw the British troops from Russia and to induce the allies to do likewise. The resolution also declares for the withdrawal of the military service bill before Parliament. Otherwise the resolution declares, the conference will take steps in conjunction with other labor parties to compel Parliament to withdraw the bill.

Start on Big Ship Building Program At Prince Rupert

Winnipeg, March 26.—Mr. Newman Erb, Chairman of the Board of the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Engineering Co., who is also President of the Ann Arbor Railway Company, with headquarters in New York, has just passed through here en route to Prince Rupert, B.C., The Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Engineering Co., has, effective this month, taken over under lease from the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway the ship-building plant and dry dock located at Prince Rupert, and is at present entering upon the construction of two 8100 ton freighters of the Dominion standard.

The material for these two ships has been ordered and their construction will necessitate the employment of a large number of men, at least for a period of a year and a half or two years. As the business develops, Mr. Erb states that it is his company's intention to materially enlarge the ship-building plant. The dry dock is the largest sectional dock on the Pacific coast. Mr. Erb spoke enthusiastically of present prospects, but, of course, development of trade through the port of Prince Rupert with the Orient is the essential feature to that city's permanent progress. Mr. John L. Milton, President of Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Engineering Co., is already at Prince Rupert directing the organisation work.

3,000 SOLDIERS REACH HALIFAX

WHITE STAR LINER CEDRIC WILL DOCK AT FIVE TODAY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, N.S. March 27. — The White Star liner Cedric from England with three thousand returning Canadian soldiers arrived in Port today. It is expected she will dock at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

BOY SAVED BY RUBBER HEELS

TOUCHED LIVE WIRE, BROTHERS FLEW TO HIS RESCUE.

Chicago, March 26.—Lawrence Ramm's study of electricity was not for naught. The young Ben Franklyn, who is 12 years and his brother John, two years his senior, went out with the "gang" They encountered the end of a broken electric wire, still charged with a strong current. With boyish curiousness John touched the wire. He could not let go. The other boys became frightened and ran. But Lawrence remained Tearing off his rubber heels, he jammed them against the wire and his brother's hand was released.

ALLIED ARMIES SHOULD MARCH THROUGH GERMANY

And Effect Junction With Poland, is French Military Opinion—Sword of Marshal Foch not Yet Sheathed, Declares General Malleterre

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 27.—General Manins, one of the leading officers of the French army, was recalled from his command at Mayence, newspapers announced, to undertake a mission, the character and scope of which "is indicated plainly by events in Hungary."

According to Gaulois he would receive a very important command in eastern Europe, undoubtedly the Balkans, with view to possible operations on the Hungarian frontier and south western Russia.

March Through Germany

General J. M. G. Malleterre, military critic, in an article in Le Matin apparently reflecting military opinion suggests that as a means of checking the Bolsheviki and rendering a definite victory of the Allies, Allied armies should march through Germany and effect a junction with Holland. Gen. Malleterre adds that the Allies must finish the job by thunder stroke and declares that the sword of Marshal Foch is not yet sheathed.

New measures

Paris, March 27.—New measures must be taken by the Peace Conference in view of the situation in Hungary and other parts of the Central Empires. The Temps says. The newspaper suggests the following program for the Conference.

"The allies can no longer pretend to settle entirely the fate of the entire world, but they must feel that it is their absolute doty to solve some essential questions and agree

(Continued on page eight)

SINGLE CAR TRACK BRIDGE FOR HUNTER STREET IS SUGGESTED

Would Answer the Purpose and Save in Cost —New Plans and Specifications Are Advised.

Editor Review:

Dear sir:—With your permission I wish to add to the articles that have been published on the Hunter Street Bridge

I am sure the citizens will endorse and approve of the City Council keeping faith with the Quaker Oats Company in building an overhead bridge across the river on Hunter street.

Out of Proportion to Needs

I am persuaded that the proposed bridge as designed is out of all proportion to the needs of the City now or for a great many years to come; that when the City, especially East City increases in population surely they will not all want to come across on the one bridge. Rather that when the proper time comes another bridge across the river at another place will be necessary; further the Street Railway would be more likely to be self-sustaining by being able to use two crossings on the river, thereby serving a larger number of people properly.

Imagine This Movement

I understand that the bridge as at present designed calls for double street car tracks; right and left vehicle space; right and left hand space for pedestrians, which provides the bridge with a floor space fifty-four feet wide. Imagine the City of Peterborough putting up this big monument, far in excess of any requirements now, or for many years or for all time possibly.

(The writer here submits plan of floor space as designed, a sketch for a single track roadway) He then goes on to say:

Sketch No. 2 (for a single track bridge) shows a floor plan of a bridge forty-three feet wide, which is of ample size to meet the needs of the city; provides for a single street car track with right and left hand space for vehicles, one foot wider than that provided for on the original design.

Saving in Cost

I understand that the tenders received for the bridge as designed run from three hundred to three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. If the bridge was narrowed, as per Sketch No. 2, I venture to say it would cost from fifty to sixty thousand dollars less than as per Sketch No. 1, the original design.

Why will not a steel bridge with concrete floor and rail of narrower width not answer our needs, and which probably could be built for less than two hundred thousand dollars?

During the war structural steel sold up as high as $8.00, per hundred pound basis. Today it is $2.45 per hundred pound basis.

Prepare Other Plans

I would suggest that the City should engage an engineer to prepare plans and specifications, and call for tenders on a bridge as suggested; then the City Council would have full knowledge, and could decide on this important matter. The general impression among the people is that the bridge as designed is going to waste a lot of the citizens' money.

H. G. PATTERSON.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 106-108 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; G. A. PECK, M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 181. Editorial ... 486.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1919.

PETERBOROUGH MOTOR SHOW.

WE TAKE PLEASURE in drawing attention to Peterborough's annual Motor Show, billed for April ninth, tenth and eleventh, in the Armories, as heretofore. Previous events of this nature have always met with public approval and practical endorsation in the way of attraction and revenue therefrom, and this year's show promises to excel all others in every respect. Exhibitors [illegible] in line with what is expected of them, and the advanced ticket sale is already meeting with gratifying encouragement. The exhibits will include motor cars, motor boats, motor trucks, and all the accessories which go with them. There is also being prepared an entertainment program together with special features of a nature which will discount all previous efforts in this connection. There is no doubt but that the Motor Show will be "worth while" and that the attendance of past years will be exceeded by that of nineteen-nineteen.

If there is one thing more than another that should call for th fullest measure of generous patronage it is the fact that the receipts at the Motor Show are for a philanthropic purpose. They will be devoted to the needs of the Peterborough Health Association, an organization which devotes its unselfish attention to promoting and conserving the city's health generally. The work of the association commends itself to all who give it consideration. The poor in sickness are given nursing, medical aid and nourishment, and even instructed, when necessary, in the observance of those sanitary conditions and the practice of those domestic principles which make for good health. It is a God-given work, and as such should be recognised and supported financially. Necessarily some plans of the association had to be curtailed by reason of the war, but the members now hope that the revenue made available by the coming Motor Show will put them in a positon to prosecute those plans to the utmost advantage to those for whom they were originated. Let all heartily unite in making this event the unqualified success, financially, its object calls for.

THE TIME HAS COME.

WE HEAR FROM Washington that the time has come for the Allies to take a definite and firm stand, and crush out Bolshevism. But from indications in the East, the time has passed when that crushing out can be accomplished very readily. When too late the plenipotentiaries in France have awkened to the knowledge that peace must have precedence to the League of Nations, and are now racing against time to reach an agreement as to the actual terms to be submitted to the Central Powers. And by the time those terms are ready for acceptance or rejection, as the case may prove, will there be any governments but those controlled by anarchy and bolshevism to whom they can be submitted? It is quite probable that Germany will not accept any terms which deprive her of territory without a protest, and with the rapid advance of bolshevism into the countries of her one-time allies she may well be tempted to, like Hungary, accept alliance with the Russian Bolshevik government, and defy the Entente.

Repeatedly warned of the danger lying in the Russian situation, the Allies have chosen to regard that menace lightly, until now we are faced with the prospect of another call to arms, and another war in which they may be combined against us former friends as well as foes. War with a bolshevik Europe is unthinkable, for, apart from all the horrors it would entail lies the grave menace of bolshevism securing a dangerous footing even in Entente nations. It has already spread beyond all expectations, and unless crushed without further delay its tide may still flow on until the whole world is affected.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY.

THE POSITION of women in industrial occupations has undergone such a radical change during the war that figures in that connection are positively astounding. Women have flocked into occupations heretofore only open to men, until industries formerly monopolized by feminine labor have been depleted. In Great Britain the actual number of women employed increased from 3,276,000 in 1914 to 4,808,000 in April, 1918, a jump of 37 per cent. Of this figure, 1,516,000, or practically the whole increase, are stated to have definitely replaced men released for the army or army needs. And now that the army and workers are being demobilized, the question arises, will these women take kindly to being replaced by men returning to civilian life? There are many vexed problems to be wrestled with in after-the-war reconstruction, and the position of women in industrial life is one of them.

WHAT ABOUT GARDENING?

THE WEATHER MAN has given us every hope to expect an early Spring, and once again the question of back yard and vacant lot gardening comes into the foreground of coming events. Now is the time to plan for this work, as our short Canadian season will not permit of procrastination.

Throughout Canada generally the war was actually responsible for stimulating city and town people to till the soil in their own back yards or in vacant lots, as a war measure to beat the submarines, and the results last year were phenomenally gratifying and illuminating. In thousands of Canadian homes home-grown vegetables and tomatoes were the rule rather than the exception, as heretofore, and by reason thereof the sovereignty of the food profiteers modified. Then, besides, the more grown by the individual for his own family's needs, the more of that product is released for other disposition, and from all accounts, the world will not be out of the woods in regard to food shortage for a year or more yet. And it is advanced that food must be the weapon to defeat bolshevism.

City or town gardening is not a difficult task to make profitable, when intelligence and energy are applied. The work is health giving, and the results a real pleasure and satisfying. Every man who has a reasonable amount of spare time should garden; if totally ignorant on the subject, magazines and the press offer sufficient information, which, with acquired experience and observation, will enable one to work a small piece of fertile soil to encouraging effect.

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

THE BROCKVILLE Recorder and Times has the following fitting tribute to the late Mr. Hanna, from the pen of G. P. G.:

"I would like to say a word about this big-hearted man, for he was that and more. People who did not know Hanna thought he was austere, while as a matter of fact he was playful as a kitten, and nothing tickled him as much as to get a real good one on a friend. Here is one that he delighted to tell on a fellow member who has since passed away. This member came from a Tory hive where the fight was over when the convention was won. Hugh Clarke had been elected for the Legislature and the seat became vacant through protest proceedings. The Tory whip was asking the members for contributions for legitimate expenses of a new election and they approached the member from the Tory hive. "Hasn't Hugh got the convention?" he asked. "Surely, but the election has to be fought." "G'long; if he's got the convention, what the deuce does he need money for?" He wouldn't give a cent.

He came to the Legislature with a great reputation as a lawyer, and he maintained it. When Hon. A. G. MacKay was leader of the Opposition Hanna was the only man who pretended to cross swords with him, and the duels were interesting. It took Mr. Hanna some time to get going as a legislator, and the members began to wonder what Fred Pardee meant when he sent word that his successor in the Legislature was a "good 'un." But Fred was right. When the question of aid to the Lake Superior corporation was being discussed and the Liberal majority was at the vanishing point, Hanna made a speech that really established his reputation. His voice was strong, his heavy locks waver back and forth, his glasses bid the twinkle in his eyes and allowed him to masquerade as almost ferocious. But his logic was good, and from that occasion he became the man on whom the Conservative party in the Legislature leaned. On another occasion he almost turned the Liberal Government out by manoeuvring a Liberal member into an impossible position on the question of railway assessment.

"Although not overly fond of politics, he usually knew his way about. Having been Provincial Secretary myself, I was anxious as to who would succeed to the position, and when Mr. Hanna was selected there was a confidence created that he would carry on the humane side of that department with energy and feeling—and he did. The idea of more rational treatment of law violators, particularly first offenders, to which I had given some thought, was developed by Mr. Hanna with great success, while no one can say that the unfortunate insane did not find in him a real friend. He was a great student of human nature, and when he peered over his spectacles and his prominent dimples began working, it was noticed that he was sizing up the individual before him. Of course, when he became Provincial Secretary there was an almost irresistible demand that a pretty clean sweep should be made of officials in our public institutions. Brockville has one of them, and Mr. Hanna called me in and asked me frankly about a certain official here. I advised him to leave that man alone, for he would find him so efficient that probably he would be needed to instruct some of his new appointees. He took that advice, and on more than one occasion told me Mr. —— was the best official of his kind in the service. On another occasion he sent me a note across the floor of the House to meet him in the corridor. "See here," he said, in his most winsome way, "there is a deputation in my office now wanting to discuss ——, and to tell the truth I do not know a blessed thing about it. Will you come in and help me out?" Of course, there could be no refusal, and what to him was better still, there could be no criticism from his predecessor as to the decision arrived at.

"The last good visit I had with Mr. Hanna was when we spoke at a recruiting meeting in Pembroke. After the meeting he decided to accompany me to Montreal, as he wanted to go west in the morning, and, as he said, would enjoy a good night's sleep. But he didn't. There was little sleep. We assumed very comfortable positions in the buffet car, and at that hour were its sole occupants. He was in a happy mood, and with an inexhaustible fund of stories and an exchange of political reminiscences, the few remaining hours of the night sped swiftly by, and the early morning hours chased them in their flight, till the rising sun peeping through the window warned us that a couple of hours' sleep might assist us in the day's work—and we took them. Looking back now, I would not have missed that night for a great deal."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

A WRITER in an English journal says that electricity as regards domestic heating must always remain the luxury of the rich.

• • • • •

THE CHICAGO Daily News thinks that from the scrambled news coming out of Russia one cannot tell whether the bolshevik are coming or going. It's coming, all right.

• • • • •

TWENTY THOUSAND Canadians left England for home last week. We hope they'll not be wanted again after reaching home. The state of Europe is far from promising, but we may perhaps look for more reason for optimism now that the members of the Peace Conference have taken off their coats and settled down to work.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

POWER OF THE PRESS.

(Toronto Star.)

Bundles of newspapers have been used as barricades in street fighting in Berlin. Another example of the power of the press.

NOTHING EXCITING.

(New York Tribune.)

A pair of Sir Walter Scott's slippers has just been sold for $75, which, after all, is not a startling price for foot gear in these exorbitant days.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

(Hamilton Herald.)

By reason of international conventions that have never been repealed, it is claimed that a German living in Germany has more copyright privileges in Canada than has a Canadian. Our Government should not ally itself with the Boche. Let Canada be given an Act that will give our own writers an equal chance.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Lee Pape.)

We was eating suppir today, being chickin croketts and peez, and I started to choak on a peece of bred on account of it starting to go down before I ixpected it to, and I was having a pritty good choak, and my sister Gladdis sed, For mersey sakes Benny, is that enything to do at the suppir table?

Wich I stopped choaking, saying Well, wat would you do if you got a hunk of bred down your throat wile you wasent looking?

That will do, sed Gladdis. Meening she was too refined for sutch tawk, and we kepp on eating suppir, and pritty soon I sed, Pop, sippose you was out sumwares for dinner and you had to choak, could you choak and still be considered polite?

Well, in a case of ixtreme necessity, to save your life, perhaps, yes, sed pop.

Well, its not polite to choak in compinny, is it, pop? I sed.

Its not polite to strangle to deth, either, if youre meerly there as a guest, sed pop, and Gladdis sed, Father, I think this is dredfill, I reely do.

And we kepp on eating suppir, and aftir a wile I sed, Maybe if you practiced choaking long enuff, pop, do you think you could learn to choak to yourself without enybody noticing it?

Possibly, sed pop, ony most peeple would consider a scheme like that the insidious propersition of some unscrupulous undertaker.

I declare Ill leeve the table if I heer another werd, sed Gladdis, father, Im serprized at you, youre worse than he is.

Benny, plees consider the subjeck closed, sed pop. Meening not to say eny more about it.

Wich I dident, not thinking of enything more to say about it, enyway.

CRAZY SIGNATURES.

(By Walt Mason.)

I look on strife as out of place; it is absurd and a disgrace, and sane men seldom need it; but I would like to climb the frame of that galoot who signs his name so no one else can read it. I think all men while dwelling here should hand out smiles and cheer, and sing and dance and fiddle; but I would like to use a club upon the maple-headed dub whose signature's a riddle. As transient guests we tread our path and every sign of spite and wrath we ought to check and muzzle; but I'd be glad if I might slay the drooling idiotic jay whose signature's a puzzle. This sort of fellow has his gall; I hate his fancy, swirling scrawl, I simply can't abide it; I wonder why a human gink will fill his fountain pen with ink, and then get up and ride it? Oh, does he think he'll make a hit by throwing chirographic fit with asinine endeavor? And does he think that folks will say, "Beshrew us; this gymnastic jay must be absurdly clever"? My time is worth two bones a day; I need it all to earn my pay, and I rear up and grumble, and take the shotgun from the floor when I run up against the bore whose signature's a jumble.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Too many men mistake gall for ability.

The price of liberty often depends upon the judge.

A signal failure has wrecked many a train of thought.

Don't worry yourself and others with what can't be remedied.

When luck furnishes the music the dancers are always numerous.

Prohibitionists are respectfully reminded that water is always getting into the soup.

It is the easiest thing in the world for a woman to tell when a man is going to propose.

Drinking may induce a general good feeling, but the good feeling isn't there the next morning.

Occasionally a man knows a good thing when he sees it, but most men are too dignified to recognize it.

It is better late than never; but the man who buys a summer suit in March is rather early than late.

Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

LAKEFIELD

(Special Correspondence)

Lakefield, March 27.—Sergeant Oscar Steeper, of the 126th Battalion spent a few days in the village visiting friends. Sergt. Steeper was formerly a Lakefield boy. He is at present residing in Guelph.

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Curling Club will be held in the Forresters' Hall on Friday evening March 28th, at eight o'clock. At the conclusion of business a smoker will be held. A full attendance is requested.

Miss Vina Mounce, of Toronto, is spending a few days at her home in the village.

Support home talent. Don't miss this two act play, "Majorie Makes Good," which will be presented by the Methodist Epworth League in the lecture room of the church on Tuesday, 25th. Musical and vocal selections will also be rendered.

Mrs. S. Hamblin and Mrs. Rowley left on Wednesday for Delorane, Man. Their many friends join in wishing them a safe journey.

Mr. Sherin spent Friday in Peterboro.

The many friends of Misses Gertie Galvin and Ester Hanrahan will be pleased to learn that they have received their diplomas from the Nurses' Training School, Massillon, Ohio.

Mrs. Azor Northey is spending a few days in Fenelon Falls.

Pte. W. Shewan, of the Princess Pats, returned to his home in Burleigh Falls on Thursday.

Miss Melissa Alford is spending a few days in Peterboro the guest of Mrs F. Gray, 218 Aylmer street.

Pte Norman Dunford, of Athabaska passed through the village on Saturday enroute to visit his mother, Mrs. Jos. Dunford, Burleigh Falls. Pte. Dunford has just returned from overseas. He enlisted in April, 1917, in Calgary. While in the village he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson.

Mr. Stewart Hanna, of Peterboro spent Sunday in the village.

Mrs. Marling, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Fitzgerald were guests in Peterboro on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Wall of Peterboro, are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ed. Watley.

Mrs. Wm. Crowe, of Warsaw, was a guest in the villae on Monday.

Mrs. Jos. L'may and Mrs. Jim Millers are the guests of Mrs. S. Carmichael, Toronto.

Capt P. Young, of Young's Point left on Friday for Rochester.

Mr. Harry Rorabeck, of Peterboro spent the week-end at his sisters, Mrs. J. Rorabeck.

Mrs. Charles Bickell and daughter returned to their home in Toronto on Wednesday.

Miss Marion King returned to Toronto on Saturday.

Mr. Harry Portsmith, of Peterboro spent the week-end at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. Bell.

Messrs. James Acton, G. H. Parks and J. A. Brown, of Toronto, were guests in the village on Saturday.

Misses Neil, of Peterboro, spent a few days in the village this week.

Pte. Albert Graham arrived in the village from overseas on Thursday Pte. Graham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham of the village Pte. Graham was attached to the Princess Pats.

Miss Georgina Everett, of Indian River, spent the week-end at her home in the village.

Mr. Jack Millage spent Saturday in Peterboro.

Mrs. Fred. Brown spent Friday in Peterboro.

Mr. W. Kearns, of Peterboro, spent a few days in the village last week.

Mrs. Ed. Watley and Mrs. R. H. Alfrord spent Thursday in Warsaw

M. and Mrs. J. Perry, Peterboro spent Wednesday in the village.

Mr. Morley McDonald spent a few days in Peterboro.

Mrs. A. J. Kidd has returned home after spending the past week with friends in Dummer.

Corp. Stanley Hill left on Friday for Toronto where he expects to get his discharge.

Mr Jack Blewitt met with a very painful accident on Thursday morning while moving a gasoline launch. The launch slipped from the supports falling on his left hand, pulling the flesh from the bone of the third finger.

Capt. Gray, of Lindsay, spent a few days with his parents this week

On Tuesday evening the Maple Leaf Club held their final meeting at the home of their president, Miss Hilliard when the members turned in their work. Since the club was organized two years by Miss Hilliard, they hav been doing splendid work. The following articles were shipped with the Comfort Club bale:—8 knitted wash bags, 25 property bags, wristlets an trench caps, besides the work they sent to individual soldiers and the Maple Leaf Club in Enland.

Mrs. Robert Duff spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mr. Percy Northey, of Young's Point, passed through the village enroute for Toronto

Mr. L'Illcrap and Miss Ywonne Stuart left on Wednesday for Toronto where they will visit relatives.

Soldier Injured.

Word has been received in Peterboro that Pte. Jack Vincent had his knee very seriously injured and is now in hospital at Epson, Hants, Eng. Jack was with the 5th Division in Germany, and while going up a hill, his mule slipped, throwing him to the ground, injuring the knee cap Pte Vincent enlisted at the beginning of the war getting as far as England, but was declared too young for service and was returned home, but he re-inlisted with the Cobourg heavy battery and with that division went to France. Jack was formerly a Lakefield boy. He is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vincent, now of Peterboro.

Afternoon Tea.

A very successful afternoon tea was held at the Gordon House on Thursday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church. The door was presided over by Mrs. (Capt.) Marling; the candy table by Miss B. Graham, the tea tables by Mrs. T. Waldon, assisted by Mrs. Chappell, Mrs. Stinner, Misses D. Hilliard, A. Watson, R. Alford, E. Ogilvie, L. Smith, Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. W. Watson. The following programs were played during the afternoon and evening by the Symphony orchestra:

—Afternoon Program—

1.—Tiger Rose Waltzes.
2.—Smiles.
3.— Barcarole.
4.—Underneath the Stars.
5.—The Only Girl.
6.—The Shepherds Dance.
7.—There's a Long, Long Trail.
8.—In the Shadows.
9.—Moon, Lovely Moon.
10.—Major and Minor Waltz.
11.—Keep the Home Fires Burning.
God Save the King!

—Evening Program—

1.—Tiger Rose Waltz.
2.—Smiles.
3.—Baracoles.
4.—Moon, Lovely Moon.
6.—Solo—Because—Mrs. Osborne
6.—A Perfect Day.
7.—Castellano Waltzes.
8.—Underneath the Stars.
9.—In the Shadows
10.—Solo—April Day—Mrs. Fitzgerald.
11.—The Only Girl.
12.—The Shepherds' Dance.
13.—A Long Long Trail.
14.—A Little Birch Canoe.
15.—Solo—We Come From Somerset—Mrs. Fawcett.
16.—Banjo duet.
17.—Major and Minor Waltz.
18.—A Little Bit of Heaven.
19.—Vision of Salome.
20.—God Save the King!

Mrs. Dunford, of Burleigh Falls, pent Monday in the village.

Miss Amy Watson spent Saturday in Peterboro.

MADE IN CANADA
THE WHITEST LIGHTEST
ROYAL YEAST CAKES
TORONTO ONT

ROYAL YEAST

ALLIES INTERNED IN BUDAPEST

THEY INCLUDE COL. VIX, CHIEF OF THE FRENCH MISSION.

Vienna, March 26.—All members of the allied missions in Budapest have been interned, including Col. Vix, the Chief of the French Mission, according to travellers arriving here by automobile from the Hungarian capital.

Except for official messages, there is no communication by telephone between Budapest and Vienna.

PETROGRAD'S POLICE CHIEF.

Stockholm, March 26.—The present chief of police in Petrograd, it has been learned here, is William Schotov, more frequently called "Bill Schotov," said to be widely known in New York labor circles, where he was formerly active as a Socialist agitator.

Constitutional guarantees have been suspended throughout Spain.

The British commission at Spa has invited the German government to send a financial commission to Versailles.

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE | WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

GRACE CUNNARD and FRANCIS FORD in In Treason's Grasp
A Drama in 5 parts

KING BAGGOT and MARGUERITE SNOW in The Eagle's Eye Chapter 15
THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST COTTON. 2 parts

Charlie Chaplin in EASY STREET COMEDY

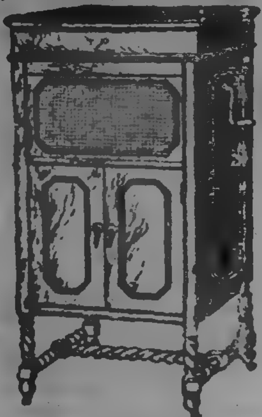
PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, TO-DAY 12 Reels

SEE the celebrated Screen Star Ruth Roland in her new Western Serial Entitled
'HANDS UP

ANOTHER REEL OF
Famous Canadian Regiments in France
48th HIGHLANDERS

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c



Compare! The Pathephone

DON'T believe everything you hear—without the proof. Do not permit mere sales talk to influence you in purchasing a phonograph.

When you are planning the purchase of the greatest of all musical instruments let your EARS, EYES and BRAIN compose the jury that will return the verdict as to which is the best phonograph for you. Compare the Pathephone with any other phonograph and in your comparison note particularly the following:—

TONE	Rich, full, musical and natural—a true reproduction of the original.
CONVENIENCE AND ECONOMY OF OPERATION	Reproduction being by means of a sapphire ball, there are no needles to change and no wear on the record.
PERFORMANCE	It will play any record. Do not knowingly limit yourself to only one kind of record.
CABINET DESIGN	Beautiful reproduction of classical furniture instead of ugly boxes.
CONSTRUCTION AND FINISH	Note with what care and expert workmanship the Pathephone is built and the extra fine finish not only on the front but all over, the quality goes right through.
PRICE	Although the Pathephone is better built, better finished, better designed and better value than any other phonograph it costs no more money than the ordinary phonograph.

"JACOBEAN" PATHÉ
Price $214.00
In Jacobean Oak, Mahogany and Walnut

The Pathe dealer will show you how easy it is to own a Pathephone, how a small cash payment—probably less than you expected to pay will bring to your home the greatest entertainer ever invented.

PATHÉ FRÈRES PHONOGRAPH SALES CO.
TORONTO

Montreal Office: 1004 New Birks Bldg.

48

Genuine Pathé products can only be obtained from

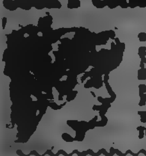
E. V. WARNE

Music in the Home

MORE SINGING IN ENGLISH DEMANDED

If some wealthy personage in Europe were to die and his executors wrote you a letter in French or Italian advising you that the deceased had bequeathed you a million dollars, until you could have that letter translated into English you wouldn't feel particularly overjoyed would you? If a song is sung in a foreign tongue its message is not understood excepting by the extremely few persons who know the language in which it is rendered. There was a time when people refused to appear foolish by protesting against singing in foreign tongues. They felt it was decidedly not the thing to thus object. Indeed after a number in French or Italian or, at one time, in German they applauded all the more. They simply insisted on an encore.

But now we are down to the realities musically. The public is clamoring for more singing in English. "If the great works suffer by translation," they say, "that cannot be helped, but give us an English text." "As near the original as possible" with English is preferable to "the original" in any other language. Certain of the great soloists say they prefer singing a selection in the language in which it was orignially written. More than one artist interviewed on the question has expressed a preferance for performing in English. One of these said "I enjoy singing in any one of four languages but I am very partial to English." Singing in foreign tongues is likely to find fewer champions every year.



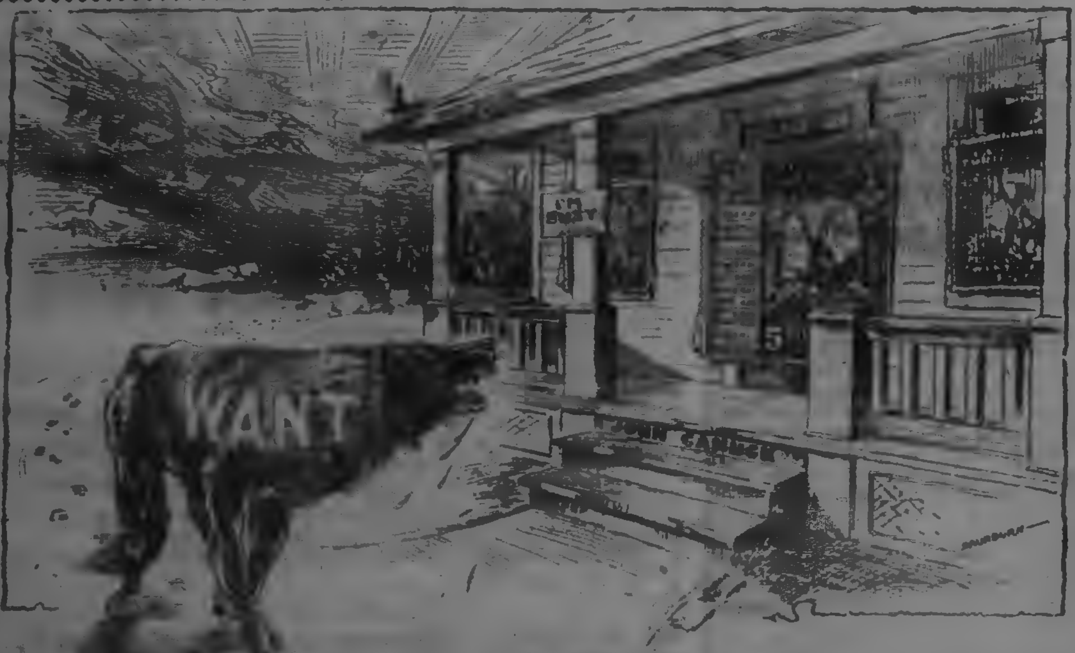
Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

MAKE USE OF THE BLUE PENCIL

"Not much it isn't" exclaimed a choir leader at practice the other Friday night. "At least if your copies say that, they are different to mine" he added. The anthem being taken up was Samuel Baldwin's "Tarry With Me, O My Saviour," and on the last page, the choir was singing "Lay My Head Upon Thy Breast (pause) Till the Morning, Then Awake Me, etc," instead of "Lay My Head Upon Thy Breast Till the Morning; (pause) Then Awake Me, etc." The result of being corrected was that some of the members took out their pencils and marked the passage so as not to repeat the mistake.

By Sunday the leader had collected all copies of that anthem and marked the passage with big blue pencil "watch phrasing." Then no one could go wrong. This incident recalls a reference to the blue pencil in Dr. Coward's book "Choral Technique and Interpretation" like this: "Here allow me to digress for a few words on the blue pencil. It should be a law of the Medes and Persians that every member has a blue pencil to mark all instructions from the desk. Some clever ones will object to the unnecessary labor, but insist or you will pray to be delivered from clever but idle choristers who are a terror to the conductor.

"The use of the blue pencil are manifold. The mere re-marking of an existing mark calls attention to the composer's wishes, and supplementary signs are often needed. The marks help the singers to memorize the music more quickly by acting as guide-posts and when used at the concert the singer can see these at a glance and they are reminders at the supreme... insist on its use, for great is the power of the blue pencil." Here Dr. Coward has touched a very practical suject, perhaps a rather far-fetched one in the mind of some, but it is an easy, matter of fact way of doing a very necessary thing. The blue pencil is commended to all choir singers.



BARRED

LEAVING FATHER TO WORK

Father had been left to wax the hardwood floors. His stent for the Saturday afternoon was the parlour, dining room, and hall. Being fortified with a good substantial dinner, he assumed a kneeling posture and rubbed wax on the floor until his knees were sore. Then swish, swish, swish, went the polishing brush backward and forward. It put on a gloss that apparently pleased the man of the house for when the writer dropped in, father was standing with his arms resting on the handle of the brush surveying with satisfaction the result of his work on the dining room.

"Walk right in" was the salute. We chatted about work and politics for a few minutes and then "have you heard our newest rolls," he asked. Without waiting for any reply he sat down at the player piano and put on a roll of "I Dreamt I dwelt in Marble Halls," from Balfe's Bohemian Girl. Perhaps he had visions of marble halls that had no hardwood floors to polish; at any rate he played the selection with evident delight explaining that unlike most operas this was composed not by an Italian but an Irishman. It went fine. Then there followed Dvorak's Humoresque, Marseillaise, Medley of Irish Airs, Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance, Chopin's Polonaise Militaire, and then one selection after another until before either of us knew how the time was going the lady of the house returned and in most emphatic English served notice on us that it was after five o'clock and almost supper time.

And poor father! He had forgotten all about the parlour and the hall He may have worked on into the evening. We didn't stay to see. The air was charged with an ominious something that suggested to a visitor a quiet withdrawal was quite in order They say music makes work easier. Probably it does—easier not do.

Got Drinking Water From Dew.

On the rock of Gibraltar and in some parts of England drinking water is obtained by condensation of the abundant dew in especially prepared "pans," which are pits in the earth filled with straw and covered with clay.

Greatness and Strength.

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right using of strength, and strength is not rightly used when it only serves to carry a man above his fellows for his own solitary glory.

Daily Thought.

He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in the loom and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten the cause.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Speed.

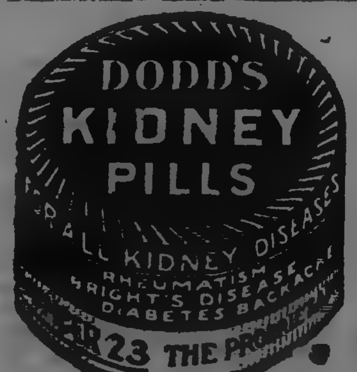
With ten pairs of revolving disks a static electric machine has been built in Paris that has developed 320,000 volts between its terminals.

Man and the Lower Animals.

Only about 5 per cent of the lower animals are defective at birth, a much lower ratio than among human beings.

Optimistic Thought.

Absence doth but hold off a friend to make one see him the more truly.



A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING

Prevented by "Fruit-a-tives" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

58 MAISONNEUVE ST., HULL, QUE.

"In my opinion, no other medicine is so good as 'Fruit-a-tives' for Indigestion and Constipation.

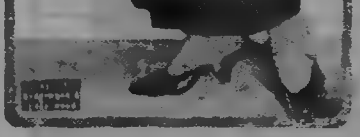
For years, I suffered with these dreaded diseases, trying all kinds of treatments until I was told I was incurable.

One day a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. To my surprise, I found this medicine gave immediate relief, and in a short time I was all right again".

DONAT LALONDE

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BROWN CHIFFON VELVET



This charming afternoon gown is fashioned in brown chiffon velvet. It has bands of satin trimming of the same shade. The hat is of brown velvet with a brim of brown angora. A soft band and bow of satin forms the sole trimming.

Current Crop.

Do you know that great light bulbs from little glass bulbs grow?

Daily Thought.

A little wind kindles, much puts out the fire.—Herbert.

NEWEST HANDBAG IS OF FUR

Convenience Matches the Muff, Toque or Trimming of Coat—Many Other Striking Designs.

Really perhaps there is nothing very novel in the handbags of the moment. But just the same there are many new ones in the shops, as fresh and crisp—if one can call a handbag of softest chiffon velvet crisp—as possible.

One handbag that is extremely seasonable is that made of fur. It matches, of course, the muff or the toque or the collar or the trimming on one's coat or frock. Sometimes, indeed, it is muff and handbag combined—although even this idea is not new, as it was introduced a couple of years ago.

Then there are the lovely bags of chiffon velvet or velours made with dull silver settings—not too much of the metal, and the metal not too bright and shiny. Some of these bags are the ones with the octagonal or oval top that clamps down at one side, faced with a really good mirror. And the bit of chased silver is the framework of the top, and of course the metal clasp, as well, is of the silver. This same idea is carried out with dull woods of various shades of brown. Sometimes, with these bags, a big wooden bead forms part of the tassel at the bottom.

Tassels are the almost universal finish to the smaller handbags. When a bag reaches that larger size that puts it in the class of a shopping bag, it is not tasseled at the bottom. But the handbag almost always swings a tassel, of strands of chenille, of heavy twisted silk, of beads, either of steel, of jet or of colored glass, or else a combination of wooden beads and heavy strands of silk.

Some of the new bags have linings of green, blue or pink and white checked silk, quite like gingham in general appearance. Indeed, they are of silk gingham. At first thought a little checked design of pink and white is no suitable lining for a stately bag of black chiffon velvet that costs anyway $10, but still this new lining is novel, and it is dainty and fresh as well. Moreover, it wears fairly well, something not always to be found.

Most of the handbags have small purses within that are attached to the top framework by means of little chains. This obviates the necessity of feeling blindly about in the depths of the bag for the change purse, as one has had to do in the small-mouthed bags of the moment.

Public Virtue.

That patriotism which, catching its inspiration from on high, and leaving at an immeasurable distance below all lesser, groveling, personal interests and feelings, animates and prompts to deeds of self-sacrifice, of valor, of devotion . . . that is public virtue; that is the noblest, the sublimest of all public virtues!—Clay.

Pizarro's Famous Voyage.

December 28 is the anniversary of the fifth start of Pizarro, in 1530, from Panama for Peru. The daring voyager refused to give up his dream of finding gold in the Andean kingdom The success of his enterprise from a money standpoint astounded the world and resulted in the conquest of the Incas.

YE OLDE FIRME

Significant

The widespread comment that has been made on the obvious superiority in construction and finish of the Heintzman & Co.

Player-Piano
"The Different Player-Piano"

is a significant and gratifying tribute to the musical knowledge and mechanical skill of the makers — knowledge and skill acquired by over 65 years of experience. Its many exclusive features put this instrument distinctly in a class by itself — the highest class.

HEINTZMAN HALL
George & Hunter Sts.
Peterboro Ont.

Warm Combination.

On a cold winter day Dr. Horatio C. Wood, Sr., noted specialist and medical writer, was chatting with his friend, the late Dr. Horace Howard Furness, the eminent Shakespearean scholar. A third man approached, whereupon, with a laugh, Doctor Wood said: "Doctor Furness, let me present Mr. Cole. Surely the three of us can now forget the cold."

Animals and Toes.

No living representative of the animal kingdom has more than five toes, digits or claws to each foot, hand or limb. The horse is the type of the one-toed creation, the camel of the two-toed, the rhinoceros of the three-toed and the hippopotamus of the four-toed, and the elephant and hundreds of other animals of the five-toed.

So We Will Find It.

Happy little Bell, sitting on the floor, was heard soliloquizing in a sing-song tone thus: "And Heavenly Father will take care of us . . . if we are good . . . but then . . . we're not always good . . . and so . . . we have to take care of ourselves pretty much."—New Century Journal.

Get Your Printing Done
at the
Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

Letter Heads
Bill Heads
Envelopes
Account Headings
Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

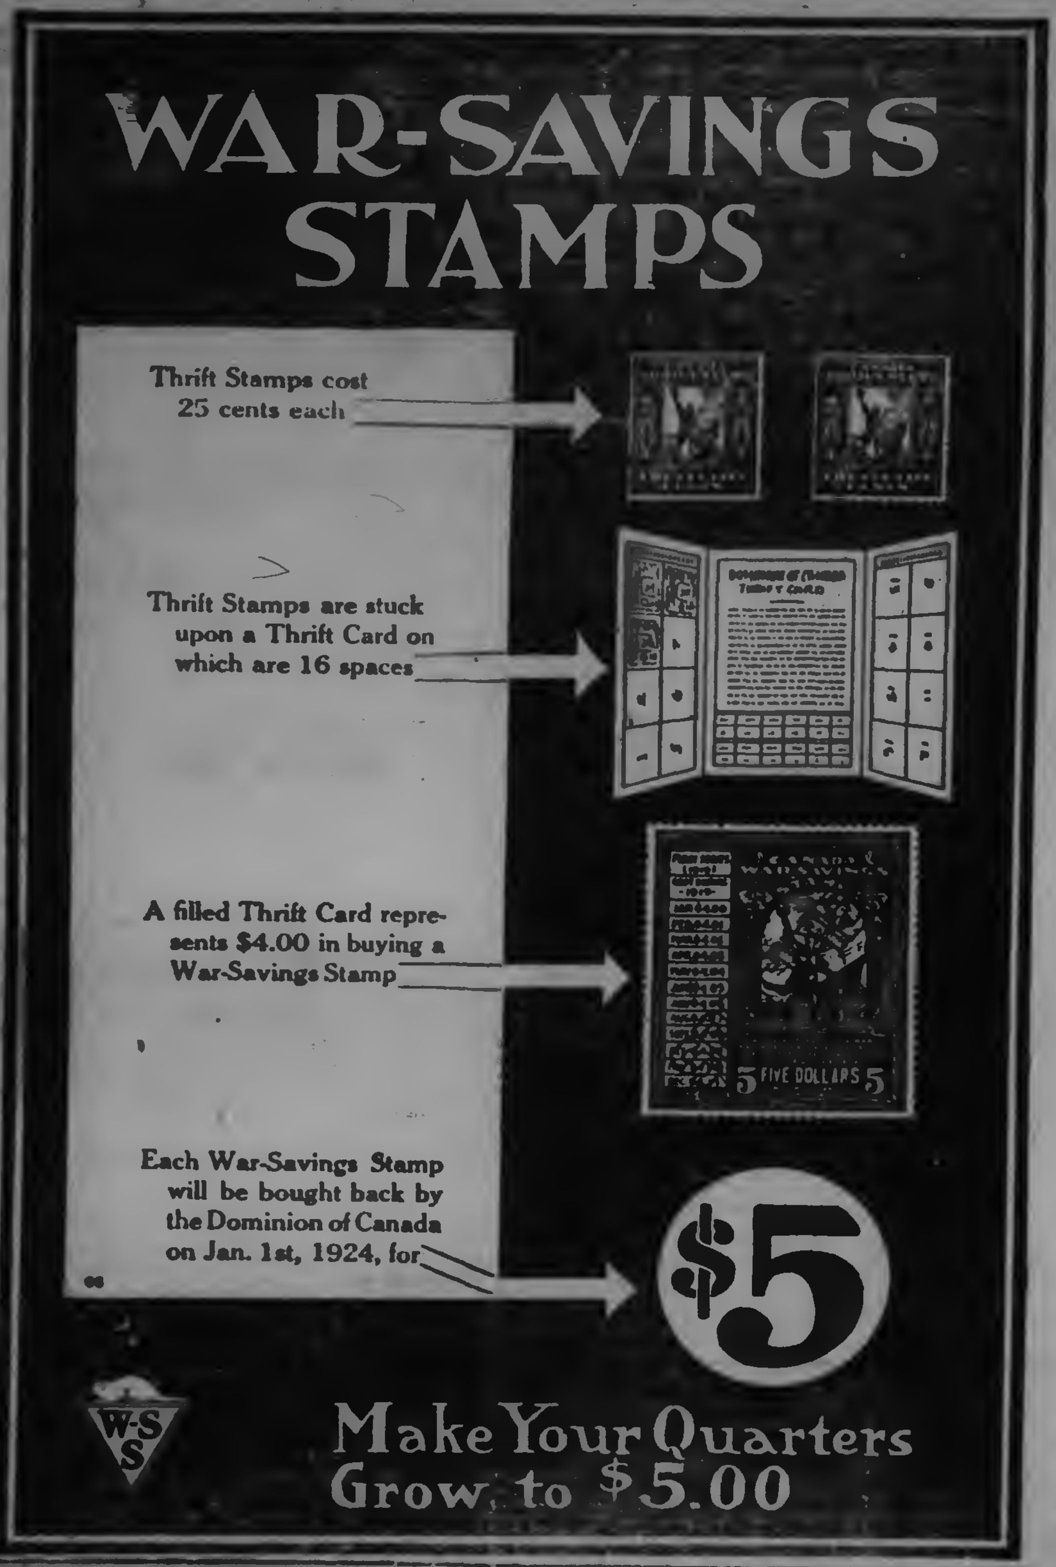
Telephone 189 and 435
The Peterboro Review Co., Limited



WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS
Thrift Stamps cost 25 cents each
Thrift Stamps are stuck upon a Thrift Card on which are 16 spaces
A filled Thrift Card represents $4.00 in buying a War-Savings Stamp
FIVE DOLLARS 5
Each War-Savings Stamp will be bought back by the Dominion of Canada on Jan. 1st, 1924, for $5
W-S S
Make Your Quarters Grow to $5.00

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, March 27.—The pulpit supply committee of the Mehodist Church met the chairman of the district on Monday afternoon to arrange for plupit supplies for the coming conference year.

Mr. D. Scriver has purchased a new Heintzman piano.

Miss Mae Huycke has returned after an extended visit with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Harold Beavis of Lindsay is spending a few days at his home in the village.

Mr. Harley Ennis of Warkworth was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. W. Atkinson, Peterborough, visited her mother, Mrs. S. Carter, last week.

Mrs. V. German took a trip to Campbellford last week.

Mr. Robertson of Toronto called here during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Davidson of Villiers spent Friday in town.

Mrs. J. Staples of Lindsay is holidaying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tate.

Mrs. F. Tyler is improving after a severe attack of "flu."

The evening train was delayed on Friday for some hours owing to a wreck near Campbellford.

Mrs. W. Hill is visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. Arthur Rutherford of Campbellford was in town Saturday.

Mr. Williamson of Toronto was in town for a few days during the past week.

Mr. James Stevenson spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mrs. Albert Armstrong of Toronto is visiting friends in town.

Work on the tannery is being rapidly pushed ahead and the building is assuming a very pretentions appearance.

It is rumored that Dr. Sweeney is selling out his practice here and will remove to London to take up hospital work.

Miss Anne O'Connel of Toronto is spending a few days with friends in Hastings.

Mr. Brisbois spent Sunday at his home in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wilson visited friends in Warkworth Sunday.

NORWOOD

(Special Correspondence.)

Norwood, March 23.—The remains of the late David Sanders, who passed away after a prolonged illness at his home in Toronto last week were brought to Norwood for interment. The remains arrived in Norwood on the 9 30 local on Saturday night and were removed to the residence of Mr. C. J. Searight from whence the funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30. Deceased who was a member of the Masonic fraternity was buried under the auspices of the Norwood Lodge who attended in a body. A large number of sympathising friends and acquaintances followed the remains to their last resting place in the Norwood cemetery.

Owners of sugar bushes are busily engaged in the manufacture of the delicious syrup. Reports from the surrounding country are not very encouraging for a big run of sap. Farmers say there is little frost in the ground and they anticipate a short season for sugar making. Some of the villagers who have maple trees around their property are tapping in the hope of securing a supply of the real thing.

Mr. Norman Laing of Peterboro spent a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Laing, Peterborough Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Searight of Peterborough spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Searight.

Mrs. S. Henderson and daughter Ruth, are visiting friends in Orillia.

Mr. Richard Lees, School Inspector was in the village on Monday.

Mr. Hartley Ivey of the 73rd Battery is expected home, as word was received he had landed at Halifax.

Miss Mary Kirkpatrick, formerly of this place is visiting at the home of Mr. G. Duffields, Peterborough street.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church intend holding an At Home on Monday night April 1st.

The United Farmers of Ontario. ship hogs and cattle every Tuesday from Norwood under the management of Mr. Robert Sedgwick.

Mr. Donald MacNaughton is moving to his new home in Peterboro this week.

A car load of horses were shipped from here to Toronto on Saturday of last week.

Mr. Basil Rogers entered the employ of the Union Bank here on Monday of this week.

Mr. J. R. McKelvie is getting his stores in shape for business and expects to open up with a full line of groceries and confectionery on Saturday of this week.

PREFER JAIL TO PAYING FINES

HORNERITES, A PECULIAR SECT COMPLAINS OF PERSECUTION.

Brockville, March 26.—Alleging that they were being persecuted for their adherence to Christian teachings, Albert J. Terien of Iroquois, and Percy Mainprize, Prescott, evangelists, and Frederick Crawford and Myron Lenton, both of Prescott, giving their occupations as students preferred imprisonment to payment of fines for disorderly conduct in Prescott, and are now lodged in the Counties Jail here serving sentences of ten days each, imposed by Police Magistrate Halpin of Prescott.

The men belong to a sect somewhat akin in its teachings to the Holiness Movement, the adherents of which are commonly known as "Hornerites." Far from it being admitted that they are being persecuted, it is said that they have been making nuisances of themselves in Prescott, and that recent occurrences have justified their arrest on charges of disorderly conduct. Haled before the Magistrate, they were given the option of serving ten days each or paying fines amounting to $7.50 each. The fines the men refused to pay, claiming that they would endure imprisonment as did the Disciples of the early Christian era, hence their incarceration in jail here. Terrien, who is the leading evangelist, Lenton and Crawford are Americans, while Mainprize is a Canadian.

QUEBEC IS TRANQUIL

Montreal, March 26.—Le Devoir, in referring to the talk about a rapprochement between Quebec and the other Provinces, says that "we must retain the same tranquility of mind in face of the protestations of love which come to us as we did in front of the reproaches of yesterday.

BURNED TO DEATH

New York, March 26.—While attempting to rescue her children from their burning home today, Mrs. Louise Mercier was burned to death. Two of the children, Helen, 3, and Lonia, 6, were also killed, while two others are in a hospital.

Mrs. Mae Foley was the hostess of an afternoon tea from 3 to 5 on Monday, March the 17th, in honor of her friend, Miss Kathlyn McNichol of Toronto.

Mr. Lou Barnett of Toronto spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Armstrong of town are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Harry Bond of Peterborough.

Mrs. Jas. W. Bryans is visiting her daughter Mrs. T. W. Quinn at Ottawa.

Annual At Home

The Anti Cigarette Fraternity held their annual at home in their lodge rooms on Thursday night of last week, when a large number of guests had their yearly opportunity of observing the working of the boys' society. The programme opened with an open installation of the newly elected officers, conducted by deputy grand sire A. C. Denike and marshal Robt. Wright. Afterward games of various kinds were indulged in, together with addresses by Messrs Wm. Mathison and Rev. S. Rene and Adams. Following are the officer for the ensuing year.

Grand Master—Wm. Copp.
Vice Grand Master—John Quackenbush.
Secretary—Geo. Baxter.
Treasurer—Gordon Burgess
Warden—H. Buchanan.
Guide—R. Jack.
Guardian—J. Wilde.
P. G. M.—E. Easterbrook.
Prelate—Wm. Bunkman.
C. A. Y. M.—S. Sexsmith.
A.A.G.M.—I. Higley.
C.A.V.G.M.—G. Denike.
A.A.V.G.M.—A. Kitchen.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD, HE SAYS

MARCH.
MILWAUKEE MAN SAYS MOTHER SUFFERED EIGHTEEN YEARS —TANLAC RESTORES HER

"If everybody in Milwaukee knew how much good Tanlac has done my mother there isn't one who wouldn't think just as I do—that it's worth it's weight in gold," was the interesting statement made by Frank J. Passage, brakeman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, living at 26 35th St., Milwaukee, recently. Mr Passage's mother, Mrs. Minnie Passage, at the time she came to Milwaukee, four years ago, had been a resident of Shannon, Illinois, for fifty years and is beloved by all who know her.

"For eighteen or twenty years," continued Mr Passage, "my mother has had trouble with her stomach and I can truthfully say that Tanlac is the only medicine I have been able to find in all that time to do her good. Nothing she would eat agreed with her and she was such ject to frequent attacks of acute indigestion. In a little while after eating, her food would sour and bloat her up with gas and cause her to suffer for hours. At times this gas would press on her heart, almost cutting off her breath, and I actually thought she was going to die. She complained of awful pains through her stomach and left side and would belch up sour gas for hours. I have often had to get up in the middle of the night and doctor her on account of this gas, and I don't believe she ever had a good night's rest on account of the pain she suffered. During the past year she lost twenty-five pounds in weight or more and all her strength seemed to leave her. During the past six months she has failed very much faster. All she was able to eat was a little soup or milk and soft boiled eggs, and even this would hurt her. Her condition became so serious that on December the seventh I quit work in order to stay home and take care of her.

"One day I noticed a Tanlac testimonial in the paper which was so straightforward and convincing that I told mother I wanted her to try the medicine. She agreed and at the time she started taking it she had been down in bed for five weeks and couldn't stand on her feet but a few minutes, if she tried. Well, she has taken two bottles now and you may believe it or not, she is up and doing all her cooking and housework and is just feeling fine. She is now sixty-nine years of age, but I declare she gets around like one many years younger. She sleeps like a child, eats anything she wants and that gas and indigestion has stopped bothering her almost entirely I have never seen such a change in anyone as Tanlac has made in mother. I am very grateful for it and she is feeling might happy herself. We can't say too much in behalf of Tanlac and have been telling everyone in the neighborhood about it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners, by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

Lindsay Young Man Wanted For Fraud

Lindsay, March 27.—Chief Short holds a warrant for the arrest of one C. W. Wood, who is wanted for theft and fraud. Postcards giving a description of the young man have been circulated throughout the district with a hope of apprehending him.

It appears that the young lad is accused of theft of a service button, and also for fraud. He has been in Lindsay selling magazines or books, and it is believed left for Bobcaygeon. A description is given as folows: Age 21 years, fair complexion, light brown hair, weighs 125 pounds, height 5 ft., 7 in., lame on right leg, wore brown suit with a white pin stripe and belt, light grey tweed raincoat and belt, gray fedora hat, nigger brown shoes, wore white bandag on left hand, clean shaven, hair brushed back.

Run over the list of your friends and you will be surprised at the number you could dispense with.

OMEMEE

(Special Correspondence.)

Omemee, March 27.—On Sunday afternoon three cars loaded with wheat and a van were derailed just east of the railroad bridge, cars and van were turned completely upside down and were badly smashed. The scene of the wreck was visited all day, Sunday and Monday, by many people, and the wonder of all is how the men who were in the van could possibly escape without injury.

Miss Annie Clement was a visitor to Lindsay on Saturday.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Borland, of Peterboro, accompanied their nephew Pte. Hillier Cunningham, to his home on Friday.

Rev. Mr. Drinnan, of Toronto, was the guest of Rev. J. P. MacInn's over Sunday.

Mrs. Kairns returned to her home in Peterboro on Saturday.

Miss Maud Laidley, of Lindsay, was in the village on Saturday.

Miss Pearl Rehill returned to her home in Peterboro on Friday after a pleasant visit with the Misses Parsons.

Miss Florence Colwell, of Peterboro, spent the week-end with Mrs Mathews.

Binder Hunter Lewis returned to Toronto last week after spending the past month with his parents, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis.

Miss Marion Carey returned home last week after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Irwin, of Sharlot Lake.

Mrs. T. J. Parsons is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Rehill in Peterboro.

Mr. Lemon, of Owen Sound, was a business visitor to Omemee last week

Nursing Sister Hayes, accompanied by Mrs. Cain, were visitors to Peterboro on Thursday.

Mrs. Stanley Sliegg tt entertained the Woman's Institute on Thursday

Mrs. R. Jay Cornwall returned last week from Toronto where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Fielding.

Mrs. Harry Lamb was a visitor to Lindsay on Wednesday.

Mr. James Rea, of Cutknife, Sask. was a visitor to the village.

Mrs. Bowie, of Toronto, was the guest of her uncle, Mr. J. Malloch, over Sunday.

Mr. John Malloch and sister, Mrs Agnes Johnson, were visitors to Toronto on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Southworth were visitors to Toronto on Tuesday.

Messrs. George and Walter Carey of Toronto, visited their parents, Mr and Mrs. Redmond Carey, last week many friends of Miss eJnn Smyth will regret to learn that she underwent a serious operation on Tuesday at the Ross Hospital last week.

Millinery Openings.

The millinery openings have been a feature of much interest to the ladies for the past few days. The millinery parlor of Mr. Charles Ivory being in charge of Miss Dewar, while Miss Odey is in charge of the MacPherson millinery display.

Home Again.

The people of Omemee are delighted to welcome home again Pte. Hillier Cunninfham and Pte. Jack Palmer, two of our most popular veterans. Both boys have seen much service and return to us without having been wounded.

WANT OWNERS REIMBURSED

NEW SCHEME INTRODUCED BY WINNIPEG VETERANS.

Winnipeg, Man., March 26.— At a meeting of the Dominion Executive of the Army and Navy Veterans last night a resolution was passed urging the Federal Governments to create a fund as a guarantee that should the high cost of building decrease within the next two years, the owner shall be reimbursed to the extent of the difference between the cost of such building in 1919 and the cost two years hence. A Federal Government's housing scheme was viewed unfavorably.

With regard to artificial limbs, it was decided to ask the Dominion government to enter into a financial arrangement whereby maimed men would select and purchase their limbs themselves, and so make them fit properly.

CONDEMNS DAYLIGHT SAVING

Fredericton, N. B., March 26.—Notice of a resolution condemning the daylight saving plan as disadvantageous to farmers has been given in the New Brunswick Legislature by Mr. Lewis Smith, of Albert

KEENE

(Special Correspondence.)

Keene, March 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Montgomery of Hastings and Mrs. Albert Betters of Peterborough are at Mr. James' cottagee on Ashburn's Point for the trapping season.

Mr. James Dickson returned home on Saturday from Smith, where he spent the past week with friends.

Mr. T. Storey of Peterborough has purchased Mr. J. C. Garvey's farm near Mathers' Corners.

Mr. Wm. Bishop was in Peterborough on Saturday on business.

Miss Lola Kempt visited friends in Norwood and vicinity over the week-end.

Mr. James Stewart was in Peterborough last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Roche returned on Friday from Peterborough, where they attended the funeral of the late Mrs. George Casey.

A meeting of telephone subscribers was held in the town hall on Monday afternoon, which was followed by a talk on a good roads system for Otonabee.

Mr. Frank Manley is moving to the farm he purchased from the Misses McNevan, recently occupied by Mr. Robert Richardson.

Mrs. Wallis Wood, who has been visiting friends in the village, has returned to her home at Toronto.

Mr. M. Kenneally and his mother, Mrs. Martin Kenneally, Miss Josephine Kenneally and Miss Pearl McCann attended the funeral of the late Mrs. George Casey at Petrborough last Thursday.

Sergt. Norman Taylor, of Peterborough, recently returned from the front, visited Keene friends a few days last week.

Mrs. Jas. McCann and Mrs. Daniel McCarthey visited friends in Hastings a few days last week.

Several camps of Indians are at Quinn's Point, Sandy's Landing and Foley's Point for the trapping season.

Mrs. George McCartney of Bethany is visiting Keene friends.

Mrs. James Ashburn and Master Willie Boyle returned last Wednesday after a visit with friends in Hastings.

Miss Crowley, who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Roche, returnd to her home in Douro on Saturday.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

BOLWELL 3—3 BOLWELL

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

CRUELTY FOR HUNS

Berlin, March 27.—Reports of cruel treatment of the non-Bolshevik population of Courland by Lettish Bolsheviki are printed by the Dokal Anzeiger. The Bolsheviki took a large number of old men, women and children from Mitau, when German forces approached that city, through the snow to a camp forty miles away.

Mr. Louis Downer has purchased the shop belonging to Mrs. W. Dainton and is busy tearing it down.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Sharpe have returned to their home at Ottawa after a pleasant visit with friends at Bralesford Cedars.

Miss Josephine Kenneally and Miss Catharine McCarthey are visiting at Hastings this week.

Mr. Robt. Londerville of Hastings spent a few days last week in the village.

Rev. Mr. McKenzie of Campbellford exchanged pulpits on Sunday with Rev. Mr. McEachern.

Mr. Wm. Kenneally has returned to his home at Peterborough after a pleasant visit with Keene friends.

Mrs. Akin of Bethany spent the week-end with friends in the village.

Miss Belle McFarlane was shopping at Peterborough last Thursday.

Messrs. Michael Kenneally and Michael McCarthey spent Sunday in Hastings with friends.

HAVELOCK

(Special Corresponddence)

Havelock, March 25. — Masters Jack and Billy Rose have returned home after spending the past three weeks with their grandparents at Port McNicol.

Miss Kathlyn McNichol of Toronto returned to her home on Saturday, after spending the past seven weeks the guest of Mrs. M. Foley.

Miss Kay Kennedy returned to her home in Toronto on Saturday, after spending the past month with her cousin, Miss Olive Rose.

Mr. Douglas of the Toronto Bank, Toronto is filling the vacancy in the Toronto Bank here, caused by the illness of Mr. Gordon Adams.

Miss Eliza Wright of Port McNicol spent the week end the guest of her sister Mrs. Wm. Rose.

Mr. W. L. Miles of Cordova Mines spent the week end in town.

Mr. and Mrs. McNulty of Toronto were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. McCann last week.

Mr. Campbell McIntyre of Moose Jaw, Sask., who has spent the past two weeks with his mother here, left on Saturday for his western home.

Sergt. Frank Trayner of Toronto who recruited the local platoon of the 93rd battalion was in town last week renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Ernest Williams returned on Friday last from the Wesley Hospital Toronto where he underwent a serious operation on his head, recently. He is still very weak and his friends are hoping for a speedy recovery

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Rose and little son, who have spent the winter at Kingston, where Mr. Rose was employed in the Militia Pay Office, are the guests of the former's mother Mrs. A. Rose. Mr. Rose left this week for Sudbury, where he has accepted a position as inspector with the hydro electric commission.

Mr. M. McNichol of Toronto is visiting friends in town.

Miss Dorothy Innis of Toronto was in town this week, en route to Ottawa.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER.

Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

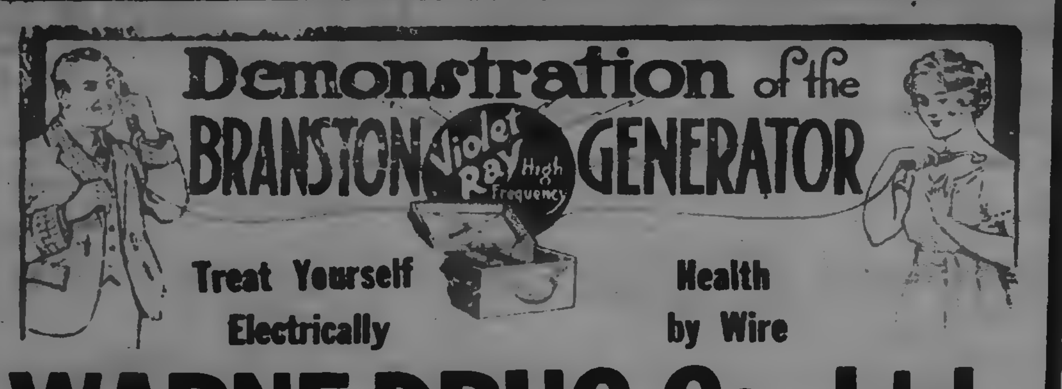
The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 35 WOULD BUY YOU $1440 at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fate that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

See the Sun Life agent about this.

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario
Crown Chambers Building, Peterboro, Ont.
D. H. MOORE }
J. D. CAMERON } Inspectors
PHONE 14



WARNE DRUG Co., Ltd.

CUT RATE DRUG STORE

351 George Street Peterborough, Ont.

THE BRANSTON VIOLET RAY GENERATOR IS THE LATEST AND MOST WONDERFUL SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY FOR THE RELIEF OF PAIN AND CURE OF DISEASE, ENDORSED AND RECOMMENDED BY PROMINENT PHYSICIANS, SURGEONS, HOSPITALS AND SANITARIUMS FROM COAST TO COAST.

IF YOU WANT FREEDOM FROM PAIN, AND RENEWED HEALTH, CALL IN AND ASK THE DEMONSTRATOR IN CHARGE FOR A FREE TREATMENT, AND HAVE HIM EXPLAIN TO YOU JUST WHAT IT WILL DO FOR YOUR OWN PARTICULAR AILMENT.

THE PERFECT RAY INSTRUMENT

For general afflictions, including Eye troubles, Deafness and many more, the Branston Violet Ray offers certain benefit, and lasting results. Fresh blood and nourishment are promptly brought to the suffering section and congestion disappears and the pain ceases.

It gives immediate relief and quickly dispels attacks of Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Neuritis.

In Plurisy, Tonsillitis, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, Hay Fever and such ailments, the Violet Ray has earned much praise.

In treating Skin Diseases the Violet Ray has been most successful, obtaining the most gratifying results.

AID TO BEAUTY

The Violet Ray is the most powerful aid in beauty ever perfected in the field of science or medicine. It restores the freshness of youth by restoring the vitality of youth. It reinvigorates the nerves that feed the skin. It restores the youthful curves that give the charm of freshness to the face and figure.

GET YOUR COPY "HEALTH RAYS"

It tells you all about this marvellous discovery. It is free for the asking.

DISEASE SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

The Violet Ray is largely used in the prevention, alleviation or cure of the following: ASTHMA, RHEUMATISM, BRONCHITIS, BRAIN FAG, COLDS, CATARRH, EAR TROUBLES, GOITRE, CONSTIPATION, ECZEMA, INSOMNIA, INDIGESTION, NERVOUS AFFECTIONS OF ALL KINDS. LUMBAGO, PYORRHEA, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, NEURITIS, and many other ills.

ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS

The Branston Generator can be used right in your own home by the youngest child or the most delicate invalid.

USED IN ALL MILITARY CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL

Extracts from a Canadian Military Convalescent Hospital Report:

"1800 massage treatments have been given, time varying from 20 to 90 minutes per treatment. Splendid results were obtained through the use of BRANSTON'S VIOLET RAY GENERATORS among the returned soldiers.

WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL

The reasonable price of the Branston Generator puts it within the reach of everyone. Keep it always in the home. It is invaluable for minor ailments such as Headaches, Sore Throat, Indigestion, etc.

OUT-OF-TOWN CUSTOMERS

Those who are unable to attend this demonstration are invited to send for free book, "Health Rays." Address Chas. A Branston Co., Toronto.

AN ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE is given with every generator.

EDITOR'S MAIL

MR. ELLIOTT AND GOOD ROADS

Editor Review:

Dear Sir,—"Will Not Let the County Clerk Interfere."

The above is the heading to a letter in The Examiner, March 22nd.

There seems to be some misunderstanding somewhere, for I have never written a letter from a standpoint of County Clerk.

Ever since the introduction of a system of County roads as a rate payer, in a small way, in the Township of Smith I have expressed my views with regard to the same, from the platform, and through the press as such ratepayer.

We all know with the writer of said letter that the Government will not contribute to a County road system unless at least four Townships unite for such purpose and when the writer suggests a plan to finance the scheme for one Township, then the only inference to be drawn, is, that his object is the initiative for four Townships to participate, and Smith would undoubtedly be one of the four, consequently as a ratepayer, there can be no objection to a ratepayer's opinion, honestly expressed. To carry out the system on the basis he suggests you would raise at a 3 mill rate on the four adjoining townships, on the equalized assessment, $16924.00 to receive $7455.00 on the construction basis, namely, 40 per cent. Of that less than $7000.00 would be from the Government, or about one-third of the auto fees collected from the city and county after almost 20 years of careful observation, and due consideration, recognizing the necessity of road improvement, I suggested before the following, which I submit is reasonable, namely:

60. per cent. from the county on main county roads ..$	30000 00
40 per cent. from the Government on main county roads	20000 00
40 per cent. from the Goverment on suburban area	8000 00
30 per cent. from the county on suburban area	6000 00
30 per cent. from the city on suburban area	6000 00
Auto fees locally collected	20000 00
Total .. ..$	90000 00

The above looks like road improvement at the same time getting $28,000.00 from the Government, of the millions about to be expended on highway improvements to come to our locality that would materially assist in providing employment to the returned soldier.

In order to make the desired improvement to the roads from a standpoint of the county at large, an amount similar to the figures shown above seems to be necessary, and are consistent with expenditures in the few counties that are now carrying on the work to any extent, so as to meet the object in view.

Under the terms of the Act as it now stands, such an amount would be an abnormal load to the farmer and small property holders in the county. But amendments are now being asked for, from different parts of the Province and I have every reason to believe that the Act will be amended to provide terms similar to the above, until the entire system throughout the county will be constructed, then with the auto fees and a smaller percentage from the Government, the county and city could maintain the main county roads and suburban area without any abnormal burden to any class in the community.

Criticisms of what I have written with regard to the terms set out in the Act re county road system, are accepted by me in a friendly spirit and when the writer in his last letter refers to "another attempt to prejudice the farmers," he must have no other motive than enthusiasm for the scheme for it involves the majority of the ratepayers with whom I have conversed from the county, together with the writer himself, who have stated on various occasions that their reason for non support of the scheme was due to the "terms" set out in the Act.

When he refers to interference in local township affairs, the only accusation that can be made is misinterpretation and I respectfully draw attention to what appears in his letter.

He explains the financing of the scheme as follows:

"The reeves of the townships in the county system each year decide on the amount required to do the work needed that year and the superintendent carries out the directions of the reeves."

In that, the enveloping idea is quite clear, for reeves and townships mean more than one.

A writer may have one idea, but the same must be closely adhered to or the reader on the outside is liable to misinterpret.

I have for at least 17 years expressed disapproval of the terms and can see no reason why I should change my mind, yet I have every respect for the opinion of another county ratepayer whether it be of long duration or short.

Respectfully yours,
ED. W. ELLIOTT.

MR. FITZGERALD REPLIES TO MR. BARBER

To Editor Daily Review, Peterborough:

In Mr. Frank Barber's letter to The Review, which appears in your edition of the 25th inst., he says:

"As to Mr. Fitzgerald's insinuations as to rule of thumb engineers, I consider that it needs no formal reply from me."

With all due respect to Mr. Barber I must say I made no insinuations in my letter, moreover, I stated most explicitly that I did not question Mr. Barber's ability or qualifications for this work as I knew nothing whatever of them.

In speaking of "rule of thumb engineer and criminal carelessness," I was merely quoting one of the best authorities on the continent on reinforced concrete work, Mr. Barber, not being in my mind at all at the time. I consider my letter a very moderate criticism, and as Gladstone said, "Criticisms never hurt anybody. If false they can't hurt you unless you are wanting in manly character; and if true, they show a man his weak points and forewarn him against failure."

Again Mr. Barber says:

"As to his proposal to narrow the roadway by 20 feet leaving a 22 foot roadway with sidewalks in addition."

I must say I made no proposal of the kind. What I did propose was to narrow the bridge and approaches by 20 feet, and if Mr. Barber will refer to my letter, he will find that I advocated a roadway from thirty-two to thirty-six feet on the approaches

Again Mr. Barber says:

"I should be tempted to think that Mr. Fitzgerald had written somewhat hastily, if it were not for his assurance that he had made a thorough study of the question. Even so, I am afraid there is a point that he has missed. The regulations of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board which apply to all bridges carrying cars on tracks require a minimum roadway of 31 feet between curbs for a single track carrying the smallest cars."

I will not call this an insinuation but will simply say Mr. Barber is wrong again. Suppose we have the roadway 31 feet and add to this 10 feet for two 5 foot sidewalks, this makes 41 feet, which taken from the width of the street, 66 feet, will leave room for a twelve and a half foot roadway on each side, between the street lines and the approaches.

Mr. Barber goes on to say:

"Even if the first arch, that next the fill, were done away with and the fill between two concrete walls should take its place, and two present sidings and a third prospective siding would be blocked. Mr. Fitzgerald would find that the Quaker Oats Co. would take considerable interest in his plans if the Council appeared likely to adopt them."

What utter rot, does Mr. Barber insinuate that I am not aware of the fact that subways must be left to accommodate the sidings to the Quaker Oats Co.'s plant, or does he mean that these retaining walls can no longer be called such, if we make one, two or three subways. I advocated reducing the number of arches to a minimum—I don't know how many arches or subways will be required on the east side of the river, but if any are put in for the convenience or accommodation of private individuals or corporations they should certainly pay for the extra cost.

I am still confident that our worthy Mayor and Aldermen will be able to reduce the original estimated expenditure on this work by $100,000.00 (they are already figuring on a cut of $40,000.00). Remember, gentlemen, we and our children will be digging in right here in Peterborough to pay for this bridge and another 150 or 200 thousands dollars for a sewage disposal plant, which must be undertaken at once, when probably Mr. Barber will be in Timbuctoo.

Apologizing for trespass, I am,
Yours respectfully,
J. W. FITZGERALD.

Labor Party to Become His Majesty's Opposition In British Parliament

THE determination of the Labor Party in Great Britain to take its seat on the benches in the House of Commons on the Speaker's left, and by placing its leaders on the front opposition bench, to constitute itself the official Opposition to the Government, is a matter of something more than mere casual interest. It is quite true that the right to be regarded as what it is usual to term His Majesty's Opposition, owing to the fiction that the Government is to be regarded as His Majesty's Government, does not belong to the Labor Party at all but to the Sinn Fein Party. Still when the Irishmen determined to set up a "banshee" government and house of commons in the Mansion House in Dublin, the right of the third largest party in the House of Commons to be regarded as the Opposition became unquestionable, and the Labor Party was not long in appropriating Elijah's mantle, the mantle of the great historic party which, since the day when Westminster first knew parties, had for centuries never failed to enter every new House either as His Majesty's Government or Opposition.

The famous Tory and Whig parties may not unfairly be regarded as the lineal descendants of the Cavaliers and Roundheads, whose support of or opposition to the King brought about the Great Rebellion. Cromwell chased the last Cavalier out of Westminster, but he returned, after the Restoration under the name of Tory, just as the Roundhead may be said to have returned, in a strictly straitlaced frame of mind, as the Whig. During the latter half of the seventeenth century, throughout the whole of the eighteenth, and until after the great Reform Bill had become an act, in the nineteenth, these two historic parties divided the government of the United Kingdom, if the phrase may be permitted, between them. When in the name of political exigency the Tory had become a Conservative, and the Whig a Liberal, this Liberal Party developed a left wing known as the Radical Party. Meantime there had grown up in Ireland at the expense both of Conservatives and Liberals, a new party known as the Home Rulers. As a result, when Mr. Gladstone gave hostages to Mr. Parnell, and incorporated Home Rule in the Liberal program, a large number of Liberals and Radicals abandoned their party allegiance, and allied themselves with the Conservatives in what was in the future known as the Unionist Party.

It was in these days that Mr. Keir Hardie, the beloved of Lanark, came to Westminster, a pioneer of labor in a deerstalker, and entered the Chamber where the immaculate silk hat of Sir Frederick Banbury shone resplendent on the Unionist benches. It was quite possibly a little bit of affection on Mr. Keir Hardie's part, but it was none the less one of those straws which show the setting of the historic winds. The stray swallows of labor increased gradually into the summer of the Parliament Labor Party and its brilliant if numerically insignificant ally the Independent Labor Party. So matters stood when the German Vehmgericht determined to stagger humanity. The war, the great war, roared across Europe. And then it was that the Independent Labor Party, in identifying itself with Pacificism, not merely destroyed its own chances at the late general election, but seriously damaged those of the Parliamentary Labor Party, though, perhaps, it would be more accurate to say that the labor dog in permitting itself to be agitated by its tail ruined its own chances. That at any rate was the view taken, on the declaration of the polls, by so able a judge as Mr. Barnes, and publicly stated by him in the press.

In spite of this, labor has come back to the British House of Commons stronger than ever before. It is true that, although it has proclaimed itself His Majesty's Opposition, it will take its place in numbers less than a centurion's band before the cohorts of the Coalition. But it is doubtful, at the same time, if it will ever be dispossessed of its new title. Almost inevitably the Coalition will absorb all the conservative elements in the electorate, whilst the advanced ones will drift toward labor, and two great historic parties will again continue the battle of the Constitution, even if once-more under new names.

"Old Clothes to Mend."

Chinese merchants who want a bit of mending done never have to go very far, for there are needlewomen seated along the street ready to sew and mend. Sometimes these workers sit on low stools and sometimes on the sidewalks, but there they sit sewing away hard, for they never are short of patrons. These women are generally the wives of fishermen or boatmen and are glad to get the little "odds and ends" of work to help increase the family income.

Progress.

Material progress is of value only in so far as it assists toward the realisation of human possibilities. Industry and commerce and the social conditions, which are in a large degree depending upon them, must be regarded from the point of view of the individual member of society, and if they cramp the life of the individual, no amount of economic argument will suffice to justify them.

Salary of Chief Executive.

The compensation of the president of the United States is fixed by congress, and may not be increased or diminished during the existing presidential term, that is, any increase or reduction of the salary or endowments of the office can only take effect at the next term. The original salary of the office was $25,000 a year, increased in 1873 to $50,000, and in 1909 to $75,000.

Bicycles at Bargain Prices

We have a few New Wheels, 1918 Models to clear out

Scout Wheels at - - - -	$40.00
Ivanhoe B-Grade Wheels - - -	$45.00
Ivanhoe A-Grade Wheels - - -	$50.00
Hislop Wheels - - - -	$45.00
Juvenile Wheels - - - -	$40.00

A few Re-built Wheels from $10 up, guaranteed in perfect running order

Columbia and Ivanhoe Bicycles are the two most up to date and reliable wheels made in Canada, sold in Peterborough for the last 15 years.

We carry the largest supply of bicycle repair parts and have the best equipped repair shop in the city, and give prompt and efficient service.

See our New 1919 Models of Columbia & Ivanhoe Bicycles

B-Grade Wheels to sell at - - -	$52.50
A-Grade " " - - -	$57.50
Juveniles " " - - -	$45.00
Motor Bike Models " - - -	$65.00

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP

225 HUNTER ST., Near Aylmer St. Open Evenings Phone 254

The Employees Of Hydro Are Entertained

At Hooper's Palm Parlours on Tuesday evening last, the employes of the Hydro Electric Power Commission's Gas Department were entertained to a banquet provided by the City Utilities Electric Department, as an aftermath of three strenuous hockey games played recently by teams representing these two departments, the result of which hinged on a supper to be provided by the losing team.

About sixteen employes of the two departments were present, and after the good things had been partaken of, speeches were indulged in by Messrs. W. G. Henderson, H. O. Fisk, H. T. Real, E. F. Reid, S. B. Cummings. Mr. Harold Frost, the official referee, and Mr. Melville Dobson, the captain of the victorious team, giving explanations of how it all happened. After voting the Utilities employes a bunch of good losers, the gathering broke up by a toast to the King.

Brantford and nearby ities are forming a Soccer League to be affiliated with the Ontario Association.

Jose Capablanca of Cuba beat Boris Kostich of Serbia at Havana in the second of their chess matches.

Will Support A Farmer Candidate

THIS IS RESULT OF MEETING OF REPRESENTATIVES OF FARMERS' CLUBS.

An important meeting of representatives from the Farmers' Clubs in Durham County was held in Port Hope on Saturday, March 22nd, to consider the formation of a County organization and what stand the organized farmers of the County should take on the farmer's platform. Mr. Donaldson, of Millbrook, acted as chairman, and Mr. S. S. Staples, of Ida, as secretary.

There was a good representation from the various clubs of the county, clubs being represented from Pontypool and other points, as well as clubs situated nearer to Port Hope. The delegates were invited to express their views in reference to the formation of a county organization. A considerable number did so and it was soon found that the meeting was strongly in favor of such action. It was finally decided unanimously to form such an organization.

The following officers were elected the delegates first organizing themselves according to townships to select their township representatives on the directorate: President, S. S. Staples, Ida; Vice-President, H Thompson, Nestleton; Secretary-treasurer, Wm Morton, Bethany; Directors—Darlington Township, A. Campbell, Bowmanville, R. R. No. 2; Cartwright, R. Suggett; Nestleton, Hope, John W. Walker, Port Hope, R. R. No. 1; Manvers, F. Barnstaple; Janetville Station, Cavan, W. Belch, Millbrook, R. R. No. 1; Clarke Township to be appointed later.

A full discussion was held in reference to what attitude the organized farmers of the county should take towards the selection of candidates to represent the county in the Dominion and Provincial Houses. This discussion resulted in the following resolution, being carried unanimously:

"That this County Association, representing the various U. F. O. clubs in the County of Durham, believe that the time has come when it should place itself clearly on record that is its determination to support only such political candidates as are farmers and who will agree to support the Farmers' platform."

Mr. H. B. Cowan, of Farm and Dairy, was in attendance at the meeting and spoke briefly at the beginning of the meeting, outlining the value of county organization and what could be accomplished by it. It is understood that the officers will proceed with the organization of additional clubs in those townships, which are not now organized.

SAYS JAPAN IS "OUT TO WIN"

According to U. S. Senator Boarh, Japan will attain her great objective of overturning America's immigration laws if the League of Nations' constitution as now drafted is adopted. The senator is of opinion that the real purpose of Japan in making this demand is to draw attention away from the provisions now in the constitution that are entirely satisfactory and will enable her to wipe out the immigration barriers imposed against the Japanese race.

Senator Borah made this situation clear in a telegram which he sent to Senator James D. Phelan of California in response to a request from the latter to assist in blocking the Japanese demands at the Peace Conference. Senator Phelan wired to Senator Borah urging him to cable to the American delegates a protest against giving racial equality to the Oriental races.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

DON'T BE CRUEL

The opportunity brings out the cruelty in man. You are cruel to your eyes, often without intending or understanding it. Simple neglect is the worst cruelty, and it is so easy to give them the proper Dr. Fowler care, that there is no excuse for such treatment as neglect. Consult Dr. Fowler at the first sign of trouble. It is safest and cheapest.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED — EXPERIENCED lady clerk for coal office, who is well acquainted with city. Apply Box 443, Review.

WANTED

WANTED—TO BUY, SMALL house, with lights and garden preferred. Apply to Box 442, Review.

WANTED — TWO OR THREE furnished rooms, with or without board, in central locality. Apply Box 444, Review.

FOR SALE.

ONE FLORENCE AUTOMATIC coal oil stove, three burners, burning asbestos wicks; first-class condition. Apply 302 Water street.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—MORRIS GRAND piano and household furniture. Apply 172 Adaline ave.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden; fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN

Phone 219 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society

— of —

Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, [illegible] George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit— Cheap
Best Vegetables— Reasonable
Best Groceries At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 930

Bill fines were imposed on deserters from New Germany in the Guelph police court.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 223.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist; Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845.

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.
W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

There is a wide diversity of opinion regarding the cuts that have been made in steel and iron prices at the U.S. mills. At best the new prices are plainly a compromise arrangement brought out to try and satisfy the extremists in each group. To get a fair idea of what the new prices are, when compared to war-time and pre-war figures, take a survey of the ten-year pre-war period. Excluding rail tonnage, the levels are as follows: Average for ten years before the war, 1904 to 1913, $36; Government limit under war-time control, $76; after the reductions of December, 1918, $72; after last week's reductions, $65. Thus the prices on an average are 81 per cent. below the pre-war average, and only about 14 per cent. below the war-time level. The extremists took the following positions: There should be no cut at all, or there should have been much greater cuts.

Whatever may be the ultimate effect of the new prices, there is a feeling in Canadian trade that it will open the way for more buying than has been done for some time past. Canadian mills were quick to notify the trade that they would meet the new price list announced by the American producers, and the benefit will be immediately passed on the consumer.

Machinery dealers report that they are handling a fair volume of trade Although it cannot be called large, it is much more than they had expected during the first three or four months following the war. In some circles it is still contended that the actual signing of peace is needed to put things on a right basis for good business. As long as matters stand as they are at present there is room for an unsettling influence to get in its work in a way that is very hard to meet or combat.

There is still a good demand for used equipment; in fact, the bulk of the business being due is in this class of goods.

Makers of tubes, chains, wire rope and other lines have hastened to announce that they will not reduce prices following the cuts in the steel market. Tubes are still much in demand especially the two-inch kind. There is a feeling that there will have to be reductions in a good many of these lines, now that the pace has been set by the steel group. There are cases where present prices are 200 per cent over the pre-war levels.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.
TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 27.—Receipts of live stock were light; trade more active.

Choice export cattle..	$14.50	$15.00
Choice butcher cattle.	10.50	12.75
Medium butcher cows	9.50	10.50
Ewes	11.50	13.50
Hogs, f.a.w.	19.00	19.25
Hogs, f.o.b.	18.25	18.50
Calves	14.50	15.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag.....	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beech)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush. .	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed ...	11 00	12 00
ed Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'..	25	25
Deacon and bob calf..	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1 ...	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

The regular executive meeting of the Local Council of Women, composed of the presidents of the affiliated societies, will be held in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday, April 1, at 3:30.

12 First Run Reels ROYAL 16c. ..TO.. ALL

TO-NIGHT ONLY--DON'T MISS IT

Present for the first time here the HIGH CLASS DRAMA in 5 parts

A GENTLEMAN OF QUALITY

With EARLE WILLIAMS as the Leading Star

THE HANGING PERIL
Episode 13 in 2 parts, of THE IRON TEST

THE SPIES' NEST
Being Episode 4 of BOYS' SCOUTS to the RESCUE
Many Thrilling Exploits

EARL MONTGOMERY and JOE ROCHE in the Big V Comedy, A Roaring side-splitter, in 2 parts
BUMS and BOARDERS

THIS BIG STITRING PROGRAM in which Dramatic Military and Comic Featu-es are shown all for the one small price of 16c to all

THEATRICAL

BRINGING UP FATHER AT HOME

More real fun, more hilarious laughter than one is accustomed to hear in the course of at least two distinct theatrical offerings, more side-splitting situations and complications and irresistable laughter is promised in the further adventures of "Father" and "Mother" in "Bringing Up Father at Home," the latest stage version of George McManus' world famous cartoon which is to be seen at the Grand Opera House, Saturday matinee and evening.

As usual Manager Gus Hill, who first saw the possibilities of placing these wonderfully humorous comics upon the stage, is sponsor for what is considered the best of the cartoon play series. It is a typical and characteristic Hill offering, replete with original features, innovations and composed on lines different from anything represented in similar entertainments. For three acts, "Father" and his doting better half will have opportunities of airing their domestic differences to a delighted multitude.

"Father," as we have grown to know him, is a most lovable character. His good nature invariably has been his undoing. However, in this instance, the proverbial worm will turn and it does. The evolution of things of course is all brought about in sheer good fun, welded with jingling music, specialties surprises, ensembles and novelties all interpreted by a capable cast of fifty people This includes John E. Cain, the creator of "Father," Lida Kane, the original "Mother;" Blanche Newcomb, daughter of Bobby Newcomb, a comedian who is still remembered as a jester of inimitable proportions, and a singing and dancing chorus of twenty-five smartly gowned, dashing and deliriously beautiful young women. From all accounts of the papers, this contribution is the most enjoyable of the "Father" series to date, which in itself is something exceptional to be able to chronicle.

"THE BRIDE SHOP"

Unlike so many musical comedies so critics say, "The Bride Shop," which George Choose will present here at the Grand tonight, contains a co-herherent story with a human appeal. It concerns the attempt of a title seeking mother to carry her daughter to an impecunious English nobleman of the "silly ass" type. The young girl is in love with a boyhood friend who appears on the scene in time to expose the nobleman as a crook. Of course he reaps his reward. Incidental to the action are a collection of handsome show girls, all of whom have parts and sing and dance. They also wear some of the most gorgeous costumes ever seen on any stage and wear them appropriately for these young beauties were specially culled from Broadway shows. "The Bride Shop" settings would be a credit to any Broadway show and leading newspaper critics have labelled it "the most ambitious musical comedy ever sent out on the road."

KNOX CHURCH CHOIR.

The choir of Knox Church will meet for rehearsal tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

BECAME STAR OVERNIGHT

The rise of many players on the stage and screen has been so rapid that it has been said "they became stars overnight." The statement can be made literally about Herbert Rawlinson's leading lady in "Smashing Through," his next Special Production. Only in this case the word must be spelled S-t-a-r-r. For Sally Starr, a very personable young woman and an ambitious actress, was born Magdalene Laur, in Zuerick, Switzerland, and her birthday is May 22.

Luck was with Sally from the start. She had no difficulty in being taken on as an extra at Universal City, and that was a good omen. Then for a first assignment she drew an Elmer Clifton picture, which was called "The High Sign." Before she was through with that picture she had attracted the favorable attention of Clifton, Rawlinson and Henry McRae. In the next picture, "The Man-Trap," she played a small part, and played it so well that in "The Flash of Fate" she was elevated to the post of official leading lady.

Miss Starr has an even more important role in "Smashing Through," a film which for strenuous action and pure excitement is a concentrated tabloid serial. Poor little Sally is pulled over all manner of obstacles by her athletic hero before she is finaly smothered safely in the strong arms.

Sally Starr has not been in America very long, and has had considerable difficulty in mastering the language although she speaks very good English now. Her face and jestures are unusually expressive, and Director Clifton attributes this to the trouble she had in learning English upon her arrival in this country, when she could make herself better understood with her eyes and hands than with her tongue.

Outside of her work at the studios and in addition to her English studies she puts in several hours every day in learning to ride swim and dance proficiently, so that she will possess all the accomplishments required of a photoplay star. Herbert Rawlinson, who is an exceptionally fine dancer, is teaching her the latest ballroom steps.

At the Grand Friday, matinee and evening.

THE CAVELL CASE

When "The Cavell Case," Select Pictures' great special attraction, produced by Joseph L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll, is presented at the Grand Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, moving picture patrons of this city will have the opportunity of seeing an impressive and striking picture embodying the great and dramatic sacrifice of an unselfish woman who lived only for her country—and died for it.

Edith Cavell refused an offer of marriage from the man she loved because she intended to devote her life to the care of the sick and suffering. A few years later Edith Cavell became an authority in the field of nursing. When the war broke out she was stationed at a hospital in Brussels. After the fall of Louvain and Liege the Huns entered Brussels. Nurse Cavell refused to leave her post, determined to administer to the wounded soldiers.

She has received a letter from her former sweetheart, who has since married, asking her to try and find his son, who has been listed among the missing. She finally finds him and determines to aid him to escape. That night he reaches the Holland broader. Edith Cavell is discovered and imprisoned. She confesses to having aided many English boys to escape from the cellar of filth and pestilence where the German sforced them to remain. She is ordered to be shot and at two 'clock in the morning of October 12, 1915. Edith Cavell was placed against a stone wall and became a target for the guns of the German soldiers.

In addition to this great masterpiece of the famous Canadian actress, Julia Arthur, there will be four acts of high-class vaudeville, also a Charlie Chaplin comedy, and the Grand magazine, "The World Before Your Eyes." Special Grand Concert Orchestra. Prices, evening, 25c, 15c, 10c; matinees, 10c and 15c. Seats reserved for all performances in advance.

A Georgia Philosopher.

We're all great on sayin' "The devil's to pay," an' never payin' him. A feller wouldn't have to walk across the street to settle with him, as he's always close enough to give us a dig in the ribs, or pat us on the back, an' tell us we're the finest he ever made! —Atlanta Constitution.

Ladybugs to Fight Aphides.

Ladybugs will be collected by forest service men in Oregon before the period of hibernation is ended and freed in the wheat fields of the state to fight the aphides, of which the ladybug is the natural enemy. The ladybugs hibernate on mountain tops and in protected canyons.

The Lobster.

Unlike most other marine animals, the lobster is not truly migratory in its habits. It remains on about the same ground, it is believed, from year to year, coming into shallower water in spring and returning to the less accessible depths in autumn.

Cotton Gears.

Cotton which has been put under hydraulic pressure of from 6,000 to 8,000 pounds and made into gears, produces an article superior to that made of steel. Softer than steel, the cotton gear yields where the steel gear wears under friction.

The Romaika.

The Romaika is a modern Greek dance, dignified in character, and although not as popular as other forms of the Terpsichorean art, is much affected by certain sections of the populace.

Hard to Classify.

Coming Author—"Well, they are sort of betwixt and between. They are too sensible for nonsense verses and too nonsensical for sensible verses!"—Boston Evening Transcript.

To Wax Paper.

If one needs some waxed paper quickly and there is none handy, melt some paraffin in a shallow pan and put strips of thin paper (tissue paper is good) through it.

Ancient Union.

The Cutlers' company of Sheffield, England, was incorporated by act of parliament in 1624 and invested with powers "for the good order and government of makers of knives, scissors, shears, sickles and other cutlery wares."

Almost a Panacea.

Apples are useful in nervous dyspepsia, they are nutritious, medicinal, and vitalizing, they aid digestion, clear the voice, correct the acidity of the stomach, are valuable in rheumatism, insomnia and liver troubles.

Interpreted.

When an obituary states that the dead man had the courage of his conviction that means he was a stubborn as a goat.—Atchison Globe.

Do Right Things Rightly.

We must take care to do right things rightly; for a just sentence may be unjustly executed.—William Penn.

Daily Thought.

Maintain your post; that's all the fame you need.—Dryden.

Multiplying and Progressing.

The most progressive element in Colombia is said to be, not the Spanish population or the natives, but a Jewish people called Antioquians, who have Old Testament names, raise large families and are fast becoming the dominant power in financial and political influence.

City Life.

City life is a fierce, mental struggle between neighbors, each of whom is trying to shove the other into the country to raise more produce and lessen the demand for city conveniences, so that living in the city will be cheaper and better.—Chicago News.

A Possible Cure.

Mrs. Lott—"Is there no way you can break yourself of that habit of talking in your sleep?" Mr. Lott, tremulously but hopefully—"Do you think it would help at all, my dear, if you'd let me talk more when I'm awake?"

Life's Jesters.

"It seems very strange," observed the almost-philosopher, "that the persons who regard this life as a huge joke are the ones who say they can see no point to it."

Death Rate in Europe.

In normal times Stockholm, Christiania, Berlin and London, in the order named, have the lowest death rates among the European cities.

Paradox.

Said the facetious observer; "After all there are few things that make a girl's heart warm toward you like ice cream."

Concerning Minds.

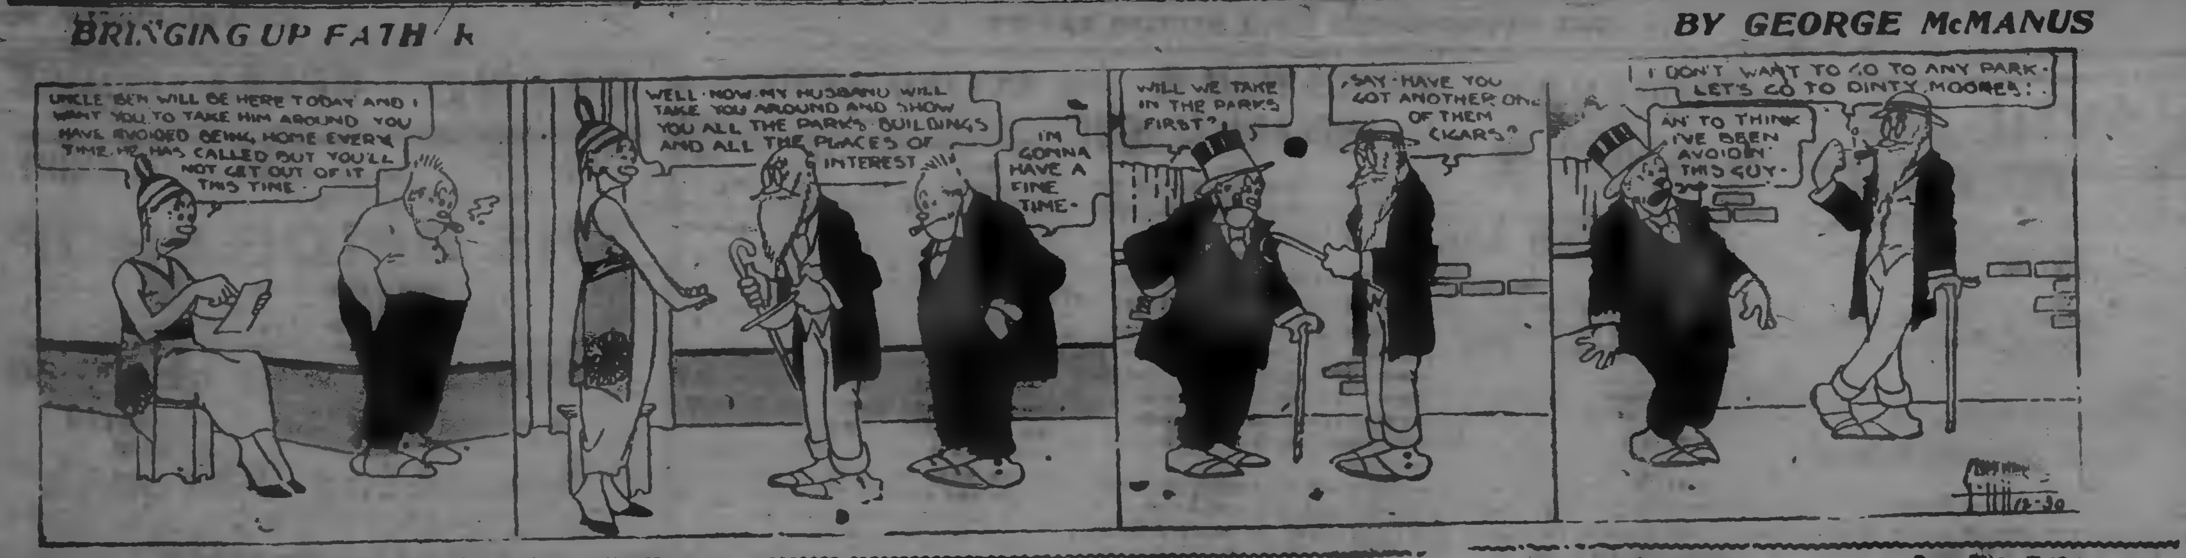
Minds, bouillon cubes and flavoring extracts are very much alike. They become stronger by concentration.

Optimistic Thought.

Advice after mischief is like medicine after death.

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches
In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.
CLOCKS, JEWELRY
Nothing but dependable goods; and at prices that will bear comparison.
Schneider's
387 George St. Next Turnbull's

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate



BRINGING UP FATHER
BY GEORGE McMANUS
UNCLE BEN WILL BE HERE TODAY AND I WANT YOU TO TAKE HIM AROUND YOU HAVE AVOIDED BEING HOME EVERY TIME HE HAS CALLED BUT YOU'LL NOT GET OUT OF IT THIS TIME.
WELL NOW MY HUSBAND WILL TAKE YOU AROUND AND SHOW YOU ALL THE PARKS BUILDINGS AND ALL THE PLACES OF INTEREST
I'M GONNA HAVE A FINE TIME.
WILL WE TAKE IN THE PARKS FIRST?
SAY HAVE YOU GOT ANOTHER ONE OF THEM CIGARS?
I DON'T WANT TO GO TO ANY PARK LET'S GO TO DINTY MOORE'S.
AN' TO THINK I'VE BEEN AVOIDIN' THIS GUY.

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS

TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS YOU

5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor

JAKE SOLOMON, Mgr

CANADIENS AND SEATTLE PLAY SCORELESS MATCH

Is Describee as One of the Bitterest Contests in Hockey History.

Seattle, March 27.—In the most bitterly contested game in hockey history Seattle and Canadiens last night battled to a scoreless draw after playing twenty minutes overtime. Both teams went at a terrific pace during the first sixty minutes, and even in the overtime had enough stamina left to get in some speedy work. Never before have two teams engaged in a game that was scoreless after eighty minutes.

Canadiens proved to be one of the most courageous sextettes ever seen here. Realizing that to lose last night's game would eliminate them from the series, they battled for all they were worth and by wonderful efforts kept the locals from scoring. On the other hand the speedy Seattle forwards kept up a fierce bombardment on Vezina and sailed in and around him like so many angry hornets.

Holmes Stops Many.

Harry Holmes was given ample opportunity to display his wares, and several times it seemed almost certain that Lalonde, Pitre and Berlinquette would beat him, but always Holmes was in the way and made a sensational save.

The crowd taxed the Arena to its capacity and they were kept in suspense from beginning to end. When the teams, on the point of exhaustion, left the ice they were cheered impartially. Canadiens made a host of friends by their gallant efforts and will not want for support in the remaining game or games.

Even in First.

The first period was evenly contested, but in the second Seattle showed a slight superiority. Wilson, Foyston and Walker outskated the opposing forwards, but were unable to beat Vezina. Canadiens made a bold bid to win the game in the third session. "Newsy" Lalonde cut loose and, assisted by Berlinquette and Pitre, forced the locals back on the defensive.

The overtime periods were heartbreakers. Both had chances galore, but Holmes and Vezina were impregnable. Near the close of the second overtime period Berlinquette made a brilliant dash but missed the net by inches. A few seconds later he was injured in a mix-up with Wilson and was assisted from the ice.

The teams were;

Seattle—Goal Holmes; defence Rickey and Murray; centre, Foyston; wings, Wilson and Walker.

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defence, Corbeau and Hall; centre, Lalonde; wings, Pitre and Berlinquette. Subs—Cleghorn, McDonald and Malone.

CONTROLLED EVERY PROFESS'L PLAYER

MONOPOLIST METHODS OF ORGANIZED BASEBALL AIRED.

Washington, March 27.—What he termed the monopolistic methods of organized baseball were described today by L. Edwin Goldman, former director of the Baltimore Club of the Federal League, testifying in the trial of the club's suit for damages, under the Sherman anti-trust law against the National and American leagues.

The witness said when the Federal League started to break the "baseball monopoly," the organized interests controlled every professional player in the United States including 226 clubs and nearly 9,000 players. In support of his charge of monopolistic methods of the major leagues

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices —executed by men who are craftsmen—try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.
HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

BIG PURSE FOR BOXING BOUT

POCATELLO (IDAHO) PEOPLE OFFER $160,000 FOR WILLARD-DEMPSEY FIGHT.

Pocatello, Idaho, March 26.—The Pocatello Athletic Club was organized here today for the avowed purpose of backing the recent offer of $160,000 for the Willard-Dempsey match next July. It was announced that the club would be incorporated within a few days with a capitalization of $10,000 and possible capitalization of $100,000.

The officers are: J. Bobb Brady, president; O. P. Barber, secretary; W. L. Trapp, treasurer; Dick Leach, promoter.

Concerning Pocatello's bid for the match President Brady said: "This is the biggest offer ever made in the fight game and Pocatello is entitled to consideration. The next step is up to Tex Rickard."

A luncheon of boxing enthusiasts from Utah, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho to consider the proposed bout will be held here next Wednesday.

Port Hope Team For Midland League

Port Hope, March 27.—At an enthusiastic meeting a baseball club for the Midland League was organized here and the following officers elected:

President and Manager — J. T O'Neill.

Vice-President—F. H. Briden.

Secretary-Treas. B. Lowe.

Executive Committee: R. Clarke, V. Bradburn and J. Horgan.

Objection was raised to the league meeting being held in Peterborough, as it was not conveniently located for the lake front towns.

Kitchener Badly Beaten Last Night

Hamilton, March 27.—In an exhibition game here last night the champion Tigers defeated Kitchener by a score of 12 to 3. The visitors came on very short notice, the arrangements not being completed until after 5 p.m. yesterday. Merrick played goal in the first period, the score being 4 to 0 when it ended. The O. H. A. medals and the Allan Cup were presented during the intermission. The teams:

Kitchener — Goal, Hainsworth; defence, Merrick and Karges; centre, Hiller; wings, Parkes and Hillman. Subs—Leroux and King.

Tigers — Goal, Reaume; defence, Reise and Matte; centre, Roach; wings, Green and Duncan. Subs—Smith and McCarthy.

Referee—Kinder.

Baseball Leagues In Damage Suit

Washington, March 27. — Testimony apparently designed to prove organised baseball a monopoly within the meaning of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act was introduced in the trial in the District of Columbia Supreme Court of the damage suit of the Baltimore Federal League Club against the National and American Leagues and certain officials of the former Federal League. The Baltimore club seeks to recover damages of $900,000.

he outlined the activities of the National Commission which he said acted as a court and adjudged appeals from players, made rules and regulations for all the clubs and issued opinions.

Two hundred thousand dollars, the witness said, was invested in the Baltimore Federals, and now it has unsatisfied obligations of $5,800 and owes its players $29,000.

Cornwall to Enter Lacrosse League

Cornwall, March 27.—At a well-attended and representative meeting of citizens in the office of Dr. Cavanagh, president of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club, yesterday, it was unanimously agreed that Cornwall should reorganize its senior team and enter a team in the senior league. Several former players of the team were present and promised to do all they could to assist in the scheme. In order to ascertain the feelings of all classes of the community it was decided to call a public meeting of the citizens for Friday night, April 4, at 8 o'clock.

Mayor Fetterley will occupy the chair, and if the citizens lend their support the team will be reorganized with a community backing and officers to conduct the affairs of the club will be elected.

Dr. Cavanagh read a letter from Eddie St. Pere of the Nationals of Montreal, who was seeking information as to the chances of Cornwall returning to the game, and the meeting was called to ascertain the feeling of some of the prominent citizens.

BOWLING RECORD IS BROKEN AGAIN

714 POINTS WAS POLLARD'S SCORE IN AMERICAN BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

Toledo, March 27.—For the second time within ten days the former world's record for individual score was broken yesterday in the American Bowling Congress tournament when A. Pollard of Indianapolis rolled into second place with a three-game total of 714, four points below the mark set by Harry Cavan of Pittsburg no March 17.

Pollard, who bowled Tuesday night with the Marmon No. 34, collected 223 pins in the first game, 245 in the second and 246 in his final. Pollard's nine games in the tournament gave him a total of 1,861 for seventh place in the all-events.

Two other changes resulted in the individual standings on the late squads yesterday afternoon when Jimmie Smith of Milwaukee and New York took sixth spot with 670, and F. Fox of Indianapolis bowled 663 for seventh place. Bowling with the Fred G. Smith five of Milwaukee on Tuesday night, Smith had 532 pins. In his doubles yesterday his share of the two-men total of 1,225 was 663, giving him sixth place in the all-events with 1,865 for nine games.

For the Fish Pan.

My family is very fond of broiled mackerel, but the pleasure is lost for the cook with the thought of washing the ill-smelling broiler. My husband suggested laying the fish on a common wooden picnic plate and then in turn on the broiler. The result was a whole fish, unbroken in taking it off the broiler, and no disagreeable task after the meal, since the wooden plate can be burned when the meal is finished.—Good Housekeeping.

World's Deaf-Mutes.

The amateur student of statistics will find plenty to ponder over in the figures as to the distribution of deaf-mutes throughout the world. A recent report on this phase of the census of the United States gives the proportion as 42.8 per 100,000, and shows that in the group of countries whose figures is 60 or less all are English-speaking except Holland.—Oregonian.

Admired His Pluck.

"Well," said Uncle Si Bruggins after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "if that ain't the rudest thing I ever saw. Just as soon as that young man began to sing, every other member of the choir stopped. But he went through with it, and I must say I admire his spunk."—Boston Transcript.

THE PORTUGUESE.

Nation Appeared After Years of Repression.

"The Moorish occupation that probably postponed the appearance of the Portuguese nation for centuries, and possibly caused the curiously spasmodic and uneven course of its subsequent growth, was, in itself, as progressive and prosperous a period in the history of the country as was the period of the Roman occupation. George Young writes in "Portugal: An Historical Study." The Ommeyad Caliphs were enlightened rulers who tolerated the municipal and ecclesiastical institutions that they found existing in the country, and greatly improved both the conditions of life and such culture as was possible in those days. The Arab words left in the language show clearly enough the scope of their activities; and the main industries of the country, especially that of agriculture, have vocabularies that are still largely Arabic."

"There was, indeed, as much good to be said for the Ommeyad rule in the Iberian Peninsula as for the early Ottoman rule in the Balkan Peninsula. Such foreign rule did not become wholly evil until the inevitable renaissance of the subjected western nationality, and the equally inevitable decadence of the eastern ruling race, brought on in either land the long-drawn-out dissolution of the eastern domination. This dissolution began in Portugal toward the end of the tenth century with the decline of the Ommeyad Caliphate; and thereafter, for a time, the history of the peninsula became one of small wars between the Moorish emirs of the Algarves and Beira, and the Christian nobles of Galicia and Asturias. This was the period of the Cid and of the Crusades, the school in which the future Portuguese chivalry was bred; and many of the ideals of Portuguese nationality date back to this dark age. But the liberation of the land was not yet due; and the unification of the Christians had, as a first result, the reconsolidation of the Moorish factions. The rise of a strong central power, the Almoravidee Caliphate, gave new life to Moorish rule; so that the war between Christian and Moor ebbed and flowed continually from the Douro to the Tagus. Meantime, the people of Portugal, the raw material of the new nation, lay like a flooded land awash under this welter of warring creeds, waiting until the tide of time should free them from the Asiatic flood; for the ebb and flow of the Moorish flood had broken up and beaten down into one solid society the Iberian, Celtic, Roman and Visigothic elements composing the new nation. The Portuguese state, unlike other West European nations, but like many Central and East European nations, was mainly the product of wars of race and religion; and we may say, perhaps consider, that Portugal, toward the end of the Moorish wars, had already acquired a nationality. But it had as yet no name, and was without any sufficient territorial holding.

"Late in the Moorish wars we first find the name of the country as that of a northern feudal province, the county of Portugal, so called because it contained the Portus Cale of the Romans—our Oporto. With the history of this province the political history of Portugal begins.

"It is a truth, though a much disputed one, that war can create nothing; and those who attribute the birth of Portugal as a nation wholly to the wars against the Moors are as far astray as those more enthusiastic nationalists who find its birth in the skirmishes of Viriatho against the Romans. But where the expression of an impulse toward civilized association, such as the impulse toward national association, is retarded by internecine and inherent warfare, an international war for a definite national purpose may be the lesser evil and will bring about a national unity that did not previously exist."

Easy Immobilization.

In birds and mammals immobilization can be occasioned at will. In the seventh century Kircher immobilized fowls merely by turning them upon their backs. The experiment can be successfully made with any kind of bird. I have performed it with sparrows, with a wryneck and with the finch immediately after their capture, thus excluding all idea of training. The same result can be obtained with various mammals, especially with mice.—Exchange.

An Improvement.

A young guardsman called the other day on a certain financier, who insisted on showing him over his magnificent private house, informing him not only where he purchased every article in it but the price he paid for it. When he had finished he asked his visitor if he could suggest any improvement in the arrangement of the house. "Well," was the reply, "if you were to mark all the goods in plain figures it would save you a good deal of trouble."

Cows Sleep Upstairs.

Three valuable heifers, belonging to a farmer at Blairgowrie, Scotland, were lost for three days recently, and it was supposed that they had been stolen. Passing an uninhabited house later in the week, a soldier was surprised to see the head of a heifer at an upper window, and the missing cattle were found together in the front bedroom of the house. How they got there is a mystery, and considerable difficulty was experienced in removing them.

Arteries of Commerce.

The Romans were the great road builders of history. Roads were the girders which sustained the vast superstructure of their empire. When a new province was conquered it was laced to the empire with roads. Over these highways there poured into Rome the products of the four quarters of the then known world—silks, laces, birds, animals, tropical fruits and slaves. And out from Rome poured the legionaries and the chariots.

Beet-Sugar Industry.

The United States and Spain are the only countries which produce both cane and beet sugar in any considerable quantity. The development of the beet-sugar industry in the United States has been one of the great agricultural and manufacturing growths of this country. From 1896 the beet sugar production in the United States increased from 50,000 tons to approximately 800,000 tons in 1915.

Fought Unnecessary Battle.

Very dramatic was the conclusion of the Peninsular war. Wellington had just won his triumph at Toulouse, the casualties on both sides numbering some 15,000, and the armies were rejoicing or sorrowing, when a tired courier rode up to announce that Napoleon had abdicated five days before, and the war was over.

Diogenes Knew.

Diogenes held his lantern before the face of a woman. It was Christmas morning and she was remarking: "How darling! It was just what I wanted!" Whereat, the old fellow shook his head in despair and passed on. "She is counting at this very moment," mused Diog, "on what she can exchange it for."

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

3:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

5:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield.

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

9:10 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston.

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 269

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-562

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COAL

WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Orders for Coal
taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Hard Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.
Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.
Store and Apartment to rent.
LOW & COMPANY
362 Simcoe St. 395 Bethune St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 190

Mixed Wood $8.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

A Bill to create a Federal Department of Public Health was introduced in the Commons by Hon. N. W. Rowell.

Dawson Graham, former first baseman of the Torontos has applied for a place with the 1919 team.

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACKY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

S. A. SCOUT MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the Salvation Army Boy Scouts to-night.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed left from last year which I can sell at $27 per bushel while it lasts. Also Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 per cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lakefield.

CAR FOR HIRE.

Will meet all trains day or night. M. Pammett, phone 1144 or 1082.

AUCTION SALE.
Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 3 p.m., I will sell for Mr. Samuel Londry two houses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 425-431 Bethune street; this property will be sold without reserve. Terms $500 cash, balance can remain at 8 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED

Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St. Phone 234j

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

AUCTION SALE.

I will sell the household furniture of a six-roomed house at the home of Mr. Wm. Cooney, 507 Albert street, on Friday, March 28, including good Oxford range heater, parlor suite, beds, rugs, dining-room suite, dishes and large quantity of firewood, etc. No reserve; sale at 1:30 o'clock.

J. T. THORNTON,
Auctioneer.

ANNUAL CONCERT.

Annual Concert, Ladies' Aid, Park Street Baptist Church, Friday evening, March 28th. Good program. Tickets 25c, children 15c.

BOARD OF TRADE

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the election of the officers and council and for the consideration of routine special business is called for Tuesday evening, April 1, 1919, at 8 o'clock sharp in the council room of the Board on the 2nd floor of the Dominion Bank Building at George and Simcoe streets... The presence of all members of the Board and delegates of all affiliated associations is especially desired at this meeting when subjects of extraordinary interest to Peterborough are to be submitted for concerted discussion and action.

J. J. TURNER, President. BASIL D. HALL, Secretary.

AUTOMOBILES, TRUCKS, ETC.

Two 1918 Ford Touring Cars, one Roadster, one 1916, one 1914 Touring. Also one 1918 Ford One-ton Truck complete with body. One light delivery truck.

We can satisfy you in price and appearance.

Select the car you wish now; we will store it till you need it.

DUFFUS GARAGE.

SONGSTERS' PRACTICE

The Temple Songsters are requested to be at practice this evening, 4.45 sharp.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Olga Cavanagh left yesterday afternoon for Toronto.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell of Toronto was in the city yesterday.

Girls' Meeting In Knox Sunday School

A mass meeting of the girls of the secondary division of all the Sunday schools was held in Knox Presbyterian Sunday school hall on Tuesday evening, March 25.

There were seventy-eight girls presenting the different Sunday schools of Peterborough. Miss Lancaster gave an interesting paper emphasizing the responsibilities of the girl of today, after which Miss Littlefield led the girls in activities and group games.

DEFAULTER FINED

Andrew Crawford charged before Magistrate Dumble this afternoon as a defaulted under the Military Service Act, was fined $300 and costs. His counsel was J. Fordyce Strickland.

The Aerial Race Across Atlantic

London, March 27.—The entries of the aerial race across the Atlantic Ocean for the prize of £10,000 sterling offered by the Daily Mail comprise machines of four companies: the Withholl Co., the Sopwith Aviation Co., Short Bros. and the Fairey Aviation Co. It is reported that still another company will make an entry.

A Sopwith machine already is in Newfoundland, where it is being assembled. It is of a special design intended solely for a long, swift flight. It is constructed to carry a large supply of petrol and will require little else.

Trade Boards For Daylight Saving

PASS STRONG RESOLUTION URGING NEED OF THIS BILL.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, March 27.—The executive of the Associated Boards of Trade meeting here today passed a strong resolution urging upon the Government the necessity for the daylight saving bill this year, the same as last year. The executive of the C. M. A. meeting in Montreal will also pass a similar resolution.

SIX MONTHS FOR RIOTER

American Soldier Who Participated in Riot Sentenced

London, March 26.— James Ross Campbell an American born private of a Scotch regiment, was sentenced to six months' hard labor in the Bow street court yesterday for his participations in the riot in the Strand on March 9. Campbell was accused of striking a policeman.

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

The special evangelistic services in George Street Methodist Church are being attended by a large number of people each evening and deepening interest is being manifested. Already several have decided to begin a Christian life.

The service last night will long be remembered. Each meeting opens at 7:45 with a song service. A hearty welcome is extended to everybody.

L. O. L. No. 50

Regular meeting Thursday, March 27. Special Business. Election of W.M. All brethren urged to be present.

W. E. PARSONS,
Rec. Sec.

AUCTION SALE

of Household Furniture and etc., at the home of Mr. James Theobald, 496 Chamberlain street, on Monday March 31st. The entire contents will be sold without reserve, including good Upright Piano and etc. Sale 1.30 p.m.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auctioneer.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR

Choir practice for all the members of St. John's Choir will be held in the Guild Room, tonight at 8 p.m. Boys at 7.30.

Senator Bradbury withdrew his bill aimed at the disfranchisement of enemy aliens.

A. FITZGERALD IS INJURED IN FALL FROM CAR

IS THROWN TO GROUND AS HE ALIGHTS FROM STREET CAR LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, city street inspector, a man of 73 years of age, was seriously injured last night as he was alighting from a north bound street car at the corner of Antrim and George streets when his umbrella caught in the step and hurled him to the ground, his head striking the rail.

The injured man was removed to Nicholls Hospital in the car of Dr. Harvey, who was summoned to attend him. Today he is resting quietly and it is not thought that the skull is fractured though concussion of the brain is feared.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who resides at 83 Hunter street, Ashburnham, was on his way to the residence of his late cousin, John S. Fitzgerald, who died on Monday.

MOMROE DOCTRINE AND THE LEAGUE

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT'S AMENDMENT CONSIDERED BY WILSON AND PREMIERS.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Washington, March 27.—An amendment to the League of Nations covenant was suggested by former President Taft and considered by President Wilson and the Allied premihers in Paris yesterday. It was sent from the White House less than a week ago after Mr. Taft had been assured by Secretary Tumulty that any suggestion from him would be welcomed by the President.

This became known today at the White House. Several suggestions were made by Mr. Taft, the principal one dealing with the Monroe Doctrine. This was stated officially, but White House officials decline to make known the text of the communication.

Daylight Saving Before Commons

CANADIAN RAILWAYS ADOPTING IT MAY ENFORCE RE-ENACTMENT OF BILL.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 27.—Daylight Saving and its continuance during the coming summer will probably be left to parliament for decision. It is likely that the question will come up in session today on Major Cooper's motion that "it is expedient to re-enact at once the daylight saving bill of last year."

Early Vote

When daylight saving came before the Government caucus, strong objection was raised to its continuance, and in view of the opposition raised it was decided that for this summer it be dropped. The fact that Canadian railways will be compelled to conform with American daylight saving time has however confused the situation. It is therefore considered likely that an early opportunity will be given for a vote in the houses of Major Cooper's motion, and a final decision reached in accordance with the result.

ASK MARTIAL LAW

Columbus Cotton Mill Unions Say Police Favor Bosses

Columbus, Ga., March 27.—Resolutions requesting martial law for Columbus during the strike of cotton mill workers, in place of the present system by which special deputies guard the factories, were adopted last night at a mass meeting attended by representatives of organized labor here, it was announced.

The union men asserted that the special deputies, granted police authority by city and county officials are paid by the mill operators and that clashes between deputies and strikers are due to action of the former. The chief disorder has been as mill employes pass the union picket lines morning and evening.

A copy of the resolutions was ordered sent to Governor Dorsey.

THIS MAN MUST DIE.

Ottawa, March 27.—The Government has declined to intervene in the sentence of death passed on John Wegrynuck at Cornwall. Wegrynuck is to be executed Friday morning.

ENTERS TEAM IN MIDLAND LEAGUE

DECIDED TO FORM TEAM LEAGUE ALSO AT MEETING OF FANS LAST NIGHT.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the Empress Hotel last night it was finally decided to enter a team in the Midland League provided this was conducted upon strictly amateur lines. Players for this team would be selected from those comprising the city league which it was decided to organize.

The meeting, at which Mayor Duncan presided was well attended and baseball matters as regarded the outlook for the coming season were thoroughly discussed.

It was decided that Jake Solomon represent Peterborough at the meeting to be held at Port Hope to complete the general organization of the Midland League.

The following officers were elected last night:

Hon. President—Mayor Duncan.

Hon. Vice Presidents—J. H. Burnham, M.P., and G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A.

President—Gordon Matthews.
Vice President—Chris Graham.
Secretary—Alex. Miller
Treasurer—Horace Walkey.
Committee—Fred Craig, Jake Solomon, and Arthur Johnson, with power to add the managers of the teams of the city league.

FOOD AT HAMBURG.

Berlin, March 27.—The American steamer West Garnifax, carrying six thousand tons of flour and fifteen hundred tons of other foodstuffs, has arrived at Hamburg.

MINOR CHORDS

The keys of the piano unlock the doors of melody. So do the keys of the organ.

The songs that are most used have easy accompaniments. Young men and women usually look to see if it is easy to play before buying a new song.

Prior to the 17th century there were no real organized military bands. Generals commanding armies were expected to provide music if they wanted it. The rise of the military band may be traced to the time of the Crusaders who brought back from the east kettle-drums and other instruments.

In one of the character sketches of Tschaikowsky, we are told that once as a boy when he was having a geography lesson, he shocked his governess by kissing the map of Russia and spitting on the rest of the world except France.

Rubinstein, had he saved his earnings, would have become a millionaire. But his generosity did not permit such an accumulation. He was always giving financial assistance to somebody.

The British Army authorities have officially approved the use of music for shell shock, especially in the form of songs. It has been found that shell shock responds particularly to singing, and efforts are systematically made to induce the soldier to sing with the records or with other singers certain well-known melodies; and the results of this method is restoring nerve function, especially when (aphasia) shock has affected the memory, are most encouraging.

From experiments it is accurately learned that music definitely affects the circulation and the heart beat, which vary with the changing character of the music. Investigations along these lines are to be continued and it is hoped in medical circles that some day music will be prescribed as is medicine, to fit a particular emotional or diseased state.

It is said that Tetrazzini was once approached by an agent of the Czar with a view of her engagement for the Imperial Opera. On learning the figure at which the singer would consent to go to St. Petersburg, the Russian emissary threw up his hands in horror. "Why that," he exclaimed. "is more than His Majesty pays his Field Marshals!"

"Very well," commented the lady serenely, "let him have his Field Marshals sing for him."

The Miners' conference in Britain has decided to recommend its members to accept the Sankey report for the settlement of their demands. A ballot is to be taken on the question.

Special cables from Petrograd state this the supply of food will determine the fate of the Soviet Government.

The Italian delegation to the Peace Conference has notified the conference of the suppression of the military and commercial blockade in the Adriatic.

ALLIED ARMIES

(Continued from Page 1.)

on a policy which will permit the reduction of the allied military forces and the gradual abolishment of chaos.

"The frontiers of Germany have to be fixed and decisions have to be taken with regard to Italian demands. The questions in which Belgium is interested have to be solved as well as the territorial claims of the Czechs. The Poles, Jugo-Slavs and Roumanians have to be conciliated. Common danger will make it easier. It is necessary to say what the allies have a right to demand payment for and to stipulate guarantees for this payment. It must be decided whether parts of Germany will or will not be occupied.

"The League of Nations must be established if it is needed to bind the allies together and to continue the work of the Peace Conference. These are the chief questions which a peace treaty ought soon to solve.

"The German government may refuse to sign or may even decline discussion on the basis fixed by the allies. Whether Germany gives or refuses her signature and whether we are to attempt to negotiate with her or not should not paralyze us. The Parliaments of the allied countries are qualified to sanction the final action of the Peace Conference and must sanction it."

WASHINGTON TAKES

(Continued from Page One.)

to destroy the future military and commercial prestige of the central powers, the present leaders, in desperation, might give way to a form of Bolshevism which would make it difficult for the allies to collect the fruits of victory, and which at the same time would enable the reactionary forces in the central powers to gamble on their chances of retaining part of what they now have.

Feeding Delay Held Factor.

The existence of this possible situation has been recognized ever since the armistice was declared. The danger has not been enhanced, according to the view here, by the delay in the framing of the peace treaty or of the constitution of the League of Nations, but it has been somewhat increased recently by the delay in getting foodstuffs into certain parts of Central Europe. With demobilization the employment problem has further increased the menace of bolshevism, and this fact is hastening the work of the Peace Conference more than any other one factor.

It is noteworthy that the Hungarian governmental turnover seems to have been inspired by the fixing of the geographical boundaries of Hungary at Paris. The alliance of the new Hungarian government with the Lenine and Trotsky government of Russia for the purpose of making war on the Allies, while full of threatening possibilities, does not necessarily imply, in view of the past performances within the Central Powers, that these possibilities will be fully realized.

Investigation Now Afoot.

Whether or not military action will be necessary will depend on the investigation now being made by representatives of the Peace Conference who are keeping the Allied military command thoroughly posted on developments in all quarters of Europe.

One of the chief difficulties now confronting the Paris council lies in its failure up to this time to agree on any plan of co-operation to counteract bolshevism. On this problem the British and American delegates are favorable to economic assistance for the regions afflicted with bolshevism while the French government has and still leans toward a military policy in dealing with the menace.

DR. STANTON DIES.

Simcoe, March 27.—Dr. George Stanton, who for nearly half a century practised medicine here, and who left for Denver four years ago, died there last week.

"WYANDOTTE KING" HONORED.

Port Dover, March 27.—Again honors have fallen to John S. Martin, the local poultryman, known over America as "The Wyandotte King," he having been elected as one of a committee of five to revise the constitution of the American Poultry Association. The committee began its labors in Philadelphia on Monday of this week.

WOULD FIGHT THE REDS.

Paris, March 27.—Boris Savinoff, acting minister of war in the Kerensky cabinet, declares in an interview given here that 300,000 Russians are ready to fight against the Bolsheviki but lack arms and equipment.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT - LAST TIME - TO-NIGHT
THE MUSICAL COMEDY SURPRISE
THE BRIDE SHOP
With EDDIE VOGT and
A Distinguished Cast of Principals
PRICES $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c.

FRIDAY at 2:30 and 7:30
Special Variety Program
15 BIG REELS 15 INCLUDING HERBERT RAWLINSON IN
"Smashing Through"
ALICE HOWELL in a Screaming Comedy
"BAILED OUT"
Screen Magazine — "The World Before Your Eyes",
Special Star Comedy and New Two-Act Railroad Drama Entitled
"Tapering Fingers"
Prices—Matinee, 10c; Evening, 15c

SATURDAY MATINEE and EVENING
THE SHOW THAT EVERYBODY LOVES

The Musical Comedy Sensation
BRINGING UP FATHER
PRETTY GIRLS
CATCHY MUSIC
AT HOME
The Biggest Laughing Hit on Record

PRICES, MATINEE 25c & 50c EVENING 25c—50c 75c—$1.00 SEATS ON SALE NOW

Monday, Tuesday & Wednesday MATINEE DAILY
REFINED VAUDEVILLE AND HIGH CLASS PICTURES
JULIA ARTHUR AS EDITH CAVELL
In THE CAVELL CASE
The Woman the Germans Shot
4 Big VAUDEVILLE Acts
- Charlie Chaplin -
in RECKLESS FLING
Screen Magazine, the World Before Your Eyes
Reserved Seats Evenings 25c; 15c. Matinee 15c, and 10c.
Telephone Reservations Held Until 7.30 for Evening Performances
SEATS ON SALE TOMORROW

LOYALTY CARDS.

Winnipeg, March 27.—Since the alien enemy investigation board began proceedings on January 1, 200 aliens have been granted loyalty cards and 300 refused them, J. H. Mansfield, secretary, asserted. The 300 have been classed as undesirable citizens. Government employment agencies have been instructed to prevent them securing jobs, Mr. Mansfield stated.

FOREIGN BUSINESS.

Ottawa, March 27.—An order in Council has been passed making provision for the resumption of commercial intercourse with persons residing or carrying on business in those parts of Belgium, France and Luxemburg formerly occupied by the enemy.

Boys, What Does This Mean to You?

Big showing of re-built Bicycles at C. R. Banks' garage, Charlotte St. Good as new at half the price.

Save your money. We're crowded for room.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

WANTED

Some good Houses for rent.

FOR SALE

Good Houses and Lots, cheap.

Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.

Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.

It will pay you.

REPAIRS — ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
PETERBORO
Phone 897

NOTICE

TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Heenan
149 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 448 J. Peterboro.

NOTICE

To Residents of North Monaghan:

A meeting will be held on

THURSDAY, MARCH 27th

at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chambers, Simcoe street, for the purpose of discussing the proposed plan of annexation to the City of Peterboro of the following district.

From the intersection of Smith Street and the Monaghan Road westerly along the boundary between the Townships of Smith and North Monaghan to the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th Concession of North Monaghan, thence southerly along the line between Lots 10 and 11 in the 13th, 12th and 11th Concessions of North Monaghan to the Road Allowance between Concessions 10 and 11 in said Township of North Monaghan, thence easterly along the last mentioned road allowance to the River Otonabee, thence north-easterly along the north-western bank of the said river to Braidwood Avenue, and then across the said river to the southerly boundary of the said city east of the said river.

As this includes all Byersville, Hurleyville, Crawford's Grove and Claraday district, the residents of these sections are particularly requested to be present.

T. GLOVER, Secretary.
Provisional Committee,
21 Brown St.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
North west winds decreasing to-night. Fair and cold. Saturday—fair and becoming milder.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 74 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

AMERICAN TROOPS BLOCK A BIG BOLSHEVIK SCHEME

Nipped in Bud Plot to Release and Arm Russian Prisoners Last Thursday—Americans Rushed Them on Board Trains and Saved Situation

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 28.—Prompt action by American troops looking after Russian Prisoners in Germany is believed to have nipped in the bud an important Bolshevik plot, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Berlin.

Planned Big Rising

The Spartacans in Spandau had planned a big rising for Thursday, intending to arm several thousand Russians from Ruhleben camp. The Americans, however, rushed the Russians on board trains Wednesday night, and scattered them, under Americans, throughout Germany.

Backing Up Hungarians

The Spartacans, the despatch adds, had intended to spring their revolt as a means of backing up the Hungarians in their Bolshevist movement.

GERMAN COURT TO TRY EX-EMPEROR

CROWN PRINCE AND GERMANS ACCUSED OF WAR CRIMES INCLUDED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 28.—Emperor William and the former Crown Prince Frederick William will be among those who will be tried by the High Court which the German National Assembly will create, Paris newspapers say.

Former Foreign Minister Zimmerman also will be brought before the court.

A Berlin despatch Thursday reported that the German government would create a court of investigation for Germans accused of crimes during the war, and who had requested investigation cases.

Drink Aggravated Rioting at Rhyl

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Rhyl Wales, March 28.—Evidence was an aggravating cause in the Kinmel Park rioting of March 5th, when five Canadian soldiers were killed, was submitted today at the Coroner's inquest, by Major Collier. Another witness, Capt. Scott, stated that the Russian element in camp was responsible for the rioting as well as the drink. Testimony from soldiers who saw rioters firing ball cartridges and from officers who swore that no order was given the men opposing rioters to use ball ammunition or their bayonets, was also taken.

THIRTY ARE KILLED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Venice, March 28.—Thirty persons were killed and thirty others injured by explosion of an oil tank steamer here yesterday.

Pte. C. A. Palmer of Tillsonburg, who returned home yesterday, and a chum of his in hospital in England, in 1197 read of their own deaths in a St. Thomas paper.

GIVES THE LIE TO RUSS. STATEMENT

FAKE DECLARATION AS TO GERMAN TROOPS IN THE BALTIC.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Weimar, March 28.—Replying in the National Assembly today to questions, Gustav Noske, the Minister of Defense, said that the Russian statement was untrue so far as it referred to Germen troops in the Baltic countries. German authorities, he stated, had agreed that no offensive should be undertaken in Courland or Ukraine by German forces.

Bribing Hungary To Attack Vienna

LENINE OFFERS HUNDRED MILLION KRONEN TO FINANCE WAR.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, March 28.—Premier Lenine has sent a wireless message to the Hungarian Government, urging it to send an army against Vienna according to a Budapest despatch received in Berlin.

Lenine promised to advance a hundred million kronen to finance the project.

EXPOSE DANGER OF BOLSHEVISM

NATIONAL SOCIALISTS TO START PROPAGANDA TO THIS END.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 28.—At a meeting of the executive body of the National Socialists party of Socialist Members of Parliament yesterday, a resolution was unanimously adopted urging the completion of a preliminary peace at the earliest possible moment, "in view of the chaos and anarchy developing throughout Europe."

At the same meeting arrangements were made for carrying on a special propaganda throughout British especially in the industrial centres with a view, to exposing the dangers and fallacies of Bolshevism

PROBLEM, PROTECTING FRANCE, SOLVED BY COUNCIL OF FOUR

Spirit of Understanding in Discussing Germany's Future Boundaries—Indemnity Will Lighten France's Budget.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 28.—Today's Paris newspapers, in discussing yesterday's sessions of the Council of Four, declare that extremely important problems directly connected with Germany's future boundaries were discussed by the Council in an excellent spirit of understanding.

Lightens France's Burden.

The Petit Parisian says it understands important results were achieved. According to the Matin the territorial questions involved and problem of protecting France adequately have been satisfactorily solved, although by means not forseen in discussions of the problem outside of the Conference.

As to financial problems, the solution reported to have been adopted provides for the payment by Germany of yearly instalments, on the indemnity of which France would receive a portion sufficient to lighten the burden of her budget.

U. F. O. BANQUET AT THE EMPRESS

INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESSES BY SEVERAL REPRESENTATIVES OF AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATIONS.

In spite of the fact that Mr. Maharg, president of the Grain Growers' Association and member of Parliament for Maple Creek, was prevented on account of illness from attending the banquet held in the Empress Hotel last night by the Peterborough branch of the United Farmers of Ontario, it was one of the most successful events of its kind which have taken place in years President's Address.

Mr. R. B. Rogers, president of the local branch of the U. F. O., presided, and gave an excellent address dealing with the work which is being carried on by the United Farmers.

In commencing, he welcomed the representatives of many outside clubs whom he saw in attendance, and the ladies, whom, he stated, were not being outdone in the movement to organize for the social betterment and improvement of conditions of farm life.

Objective Outlined.

He described the object of the banquet as being an attempt to bring about an exchange of ideas between the rural and urban communities so as to arrive at a better understanding of the problems which were never pressing for solution so much as at the present time and which are of vital interest to both sections represented.

An informal discussion of these questions could not help but make for the betterment of existing conditions. A better understanding between the rural and urban classes would be arrived at and this would be conducive to happier relations, which would usher in a more prosperous period of trade relations.

General Tendency.

Farmers' clubs had been formed with a view to proving a source of education and instruction. They had done much and would do still more to raise the plane of agricultural activity, and had led the farmers into doing business upon a co-operative basis such as is being adopted by all the professions and trades of the country.

Farmers of Ontario were taking advantage to a greater degree today of the expert information offered by the Experimental Farm officials and other such government institutions as well as that to be found in the excellent agricultural journals which are now going into the rural home.

Value of Organization.

Every order and condition of men are at the present time combining to adopt measures having for their object the shortening of the hours of labor and the raising of wages, continued Mr. Rogers. This could not but have a direct influence upon agricultural activity, and as a result it behooved the farmers of the country to keep abreast of the times in these matters and adapt themselves to the changing conditions.

President Rogers had to apologize for the absence of two of the speakers last night. Mr. Maharg had been unable to attend, and Mrs. Brody of Newmarket, president of the women's organizations of the U. F. O., was unable to attend through illness in her family.

Unavoidably Detained.

Information of the inability of the two chief speakers to be present had not been received until a late hour, but nevertheless Dr. Salem Bland of Winnipeg was secured to speak in the interests of the Western Grain Growers, and Mrs. Todd of Orillia, president of the Ontario Women's Institute and vice-president of the Dominion Federation of Women's Institutes, proved a most able substitute for Mrs. Brody.

The Toast List.

The toast to the "Women of the Farms" was proposed by Mr. Walter Garbutt, who paid a graceful tribute to the ladies, speaking of them under four heads, namely: mothers

(Continued on page 7)

MR. J. H. BURNHAM SUPPORTS FARMERS

ON THE QUESTION OF DAYLIGHT SAVING—CITIES CAN ADOPT IT IF THEY CHOOSE.

Ottawa, March 27.

The Editor of The Review:

Sir.—Yesterday we had the ann attack on Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, late Chief Justice and member for Canada of the Provincial Committee of the Privy Council of the Empire. The resolution condemning him for not returning the money received by him from parliament for the expenses of a journey he did not make was talked out, but it is on the order paper for another day. If Sir Charles has much sensitiveness of character he will return the money. The debate was fast and furious, members on both sides being for and against. How a man can take money appropriated for a certain purpose when he did nothing whatever to carry out that purpose for which it was granted is beyond me.

Daylight Saving is up to-day. Sir Thomas White hopes that the debate would be a free for all and it will be. I am going to support the farmer this time. If cities and towns want it there is nothing to prevent their having it. But this business of forcing opinions down people's throats has gone too far and I am on the side of my rural friends in the debate.

I am paired with Maclean of the Toronto World, a furious advocate of Daylight Saving. A large majority is out, determined to free Canada from foreign dictation.

J. H. BURNHAM

Parliament Vetoes Daylight Saving

SEVERAL CITIES IN ONTARIO, HOWEVER, WILL SET CLOCKS AHEAD SUNDAY.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, March 28.—The Dominion Parliament has rejected the Daylight Saving Scheme.

Cities Will Adopt It

Toronto, March 28—Judging from reports received from nearly all parts of Canada this morning, following the rejection last night by the Dominion Parliament of the summer daylight saving scheme, larger cities and principal industries of the country will be run this summer on time fixed one hour ahead of the rural districts, and the agricultural communities. Several cities in Ontario have already arranged to set their clocks ahead at 2 a.m. next Sunday morning, and others will do so as soon as the necessary bylaws can be passed by the Municipal Councils.

Montreal manufacturing and trade interests are meeing the civic administration this afternoon to advocate local daylight saving in that city. The Toronto City Council meets on Monday and is almost sure to pass the local bylaw.

The fact that railway, shipping and telegraph companies will run on the new time has compelled many other concerns to announce their adoption of the same, notwithstanding the action of the legislative bodies. It is not thought here that the Dominion Government or the Parliament of Canada will exercise its control over the railway war board, to compel railways to keep to the old time. The sentiment in cities is too strong for such interference, it is felt.

RUSS. ROYALIST CONSPIRACY

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Stockholm, March 28.—An alleged royalist conspiracy has been discovered at Peoza, northwest of Saratov, in Eastern European Russia, and 21 persons have been shot by the Bolsheviki in connection with the plot. The alleged leader was Sukoline, former marshal of the Russian nobility and local commissary under the Bolsheviki. Sukoline was executed.

The conspirators planned to palm off the nephew of the Bishop of Ufa as Grand Duke Dimitri Pavlovitch, carry him to Moscow, and make a dramatic appeal to the people from the Kremlin.

The real former Duke Dimitri Pavlovitch has been in England, and is an honorary captain in the British army. He is next in succession to the Russian throne to Alexis, only son of the former emperor.

STRIKE CALLED IN AUSTRIA FAMINE IS THREATENED

Railway Men Quit in Sympathy With Hungarian Revolution—Soviet Government For German Austria Feared—Situation Extremely Grave

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Vienna, March 28.— A railroad strike has been called, and it threatens to spread to all the roads in this country. The strike was called partly for higher wages and partly because of sympathy with the Hungarian Revolution. It is feared it may lead to the establishment of a Soviet Republic in German Austria.

The trouble began last night, when men employed by the southern railroad walked out. All traffic over this road is at a complete standstill even Allied food trains from Trieste being stopped.

The Situation Grave

As a result of this interruption of the transportation of supplies, Vienna is threatened with famine. The situation is considered extremely grave.

Son of Turk Sultan Has Surrendered

Tunis, March 28.—Prince Osman Fouad Pacha, who claims to be a son of the late Sultan Abdul Hamid of Turkey and is said to have come to Northern Africa for the purpose of setting up a government in Tripoli, has surrendered himself to a detachment of French troops. He has been turned over to the Italian military authorities by the French.

So far as known Abdul Hamid had no son named Osman Fouad, the only Turkish Prince by that name being a son of one-time Sultan Mehmed Mourad V., who was dethroned on August 31, 1876, and was succeeded by Abdul Hamid.

Wilhelm May Now Go To Switzerland

SAYS HE MAY MAKE DECLARATION IN NEAR FUTURE.

Geneva, Switzerland, March 28.—Former Emperor William of Germany, alarmed by the receipt of threatening letters, intends to leave Holland and seek refuge in Switzerland, according to the newspaper La Suisse.

The Swiss newspapers are printing many advertisements inserted by members of the German and Austrian nobility who are seeking houses in this country at moderate prices.

Replying to a renewed request for an interview, Emperor William sent this verbal message:

"I am sorry I cannot change my attitude in connection with making a public declaration. The time has not arrived for me to speak."

Numerous inquiries were made here with regard to rumors that the ex-Emperor had paid a visit to Amsterdam on Tuesday. These rumors were absolutely unfounded. The only person from the castle who has been in Amsterdam recently was Count Marshal von Gontard, who bears a resemblance to Herr Hohenzollern.

IS U. S. IN TOUCH WITH LENINE?

AMERICAN RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVT. SOUGHT.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 28.— A rumor was current last night that the United States had received a note from Premier Lenine and War Minister Trotsky, of the Russian Soviet Government asking recognition for their government, says Marcel Hutin in The Echo de Paris today. M. Hutin says that he cannot say that President Wilson is disinclined to give the request favorable consideration."

SIX THOUSAND DIED

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Brussels, March 28.—Six thousand Belgian civilians died during the war as the result of German ill-treatment, according to an official report made in the Chamber of Deputies, on Thursday.

7,000 Children Orphaned

Seven thousand children were made orphans. The indemnity which can be claimed from Germany by the Belgians on this account is estimated at nine hundred million francs. The Minister of Economic Affairs declared that all damages will be fully indemnified by Germany.

GIRLS BEFORE COURT

Three young girls appeared in police court this morning, one of the age of 16 years, and the other two 18, charged with vagrancy. Not being able to give a satisfactory account of themselves they were remanded, for a week, in custody.

FOCH EXPOSES MAT. ERZBERGER

MR. LLOYD GEORGE AND M. PICHON NEVER MADE STATEMENTS ATTRIBUTED TO THEM.

Berlin, via Copenhagen, March 28. Replying to questions put by Mathias Erzberger, president of the German armistice commission at Spa, Marshal Foch sent a telegram to Erzberger, saying: "Mr. Lloyd George and M. Pichon never made the statements attributed to them."

A despatch from Basel a week ago said the president of the German armistice commission had presented a note to the inter-allied delegates asking if Germany should consider as true statements in the French and British press that the peace treaty would be ready for the Germans as soon as President Wilson approved, but that the Germans would be allowed neither to discuss nor modify the document. No mention was made in the despatch, which originally emanated from Berlin, of the names of Mr. Lloyd George or M. Pichon, although they may have been contained in a section of the despatch which probably was held up by the censors abroad.

LIQUOR RUNNERS KILLED

Richmond, Va., March 28.—The mob at Winchester, which threatened the lives of prohibition agents for shooting two liquor runners, dispersed without violence. Officials, watching for whiskey runners, shot and killed R. C. Shackelford and wounded L. O. Hudson, when the autoists resisted search.

The delivery of German merchant ships to the Allies continues.

CHICAGO SALOON ROBBER IS SLAIN IN BATTLE WITH POLICE

Three Bandits Surprised at an Early Hour in the Morning—Thieves Get Away With $3,000 Worth of Gems.

Chicago, March 27. — Policeman Harry Burns of the South Chicago station killed a burglar whom he discovered early today robbing a saloon. Burns surprised three burglars at work. They fled and the policeman called on them to halt. They did not check their flight and he fired. The first shot brought down one man dead. The two others escaped into neighboring railroad yards. One of them emptied a revolver at the officer, but the latter was uninjured.

In the dead man's pocket was a registration card bearing the name of Fred Roller, 138 Front street, Rochester, N.Y. There was no other mark of identification. He had $1.50.

Sees Men in Saloon.

There has been a string of saloon robberies in South Chicago in the last ten days, more than a dozen places having been looted. Patrolmen were instructed to keep the closest watch in an effort to catch the robbers.

Burns was travelling beat in East 93rd street this morning and about 4.30 o'clock passed the saloon of Rada Stojopevich at Escanaba avenue. He looked in the front door and saw three figures fumbling about the back bar. He hurried to the side and back doors, but found them locked. He rushed back to the front to see the robbers, who had heard him, flee into a washroom.

Burns dashed around the building again and saw the last of the three coming out of the washroom window.

"Halt!" he commanded.

The three fled at full speed toward the Belt railroad yards, a block distant.

Kills One: Battles Others.

"Halt!" commanded Burns again, discharging his revolver in the air to frighten the fugitives into submission.

They continued their flight and Burns fired again, this time with deliberate aim. The last of the three plunged to the ground.

The policeman ignored him and sped after the two, firing as he went. He emptied his revolver, and then one of the burglars turned and began firing. He shot five times with bad aim, and then escaped into the railroad yards, where the policeman last saw him.

Policeman Burns has been on the force for ten years, and has been traveling out of South Chicago for half that time.

Bandits Get $3,000 Gems.

Four men, armed with revolvers staged a daring robbery but a few blocks from the loop last evening when they held up the New York Loan bank, 756 South State street, and obtained diamonds valued at between $3,000 and $5,000. More than $400 in bills and silver was untouched by the bandits in their hurry. The loan bank is owned by Charles Hernreich.

A man entered the store and asked a clerk, Samuel Bloom, 747 North Clark street, who was alone in the store with Mrs. Hernreich, to be shown some shoes.

Three other men entered just then. Suddenly the man who had asked for shoes drew a revolver and called to the other three, who also drew revolvers. One man went to the window where the diamonds were on display. As he passed a large safe in which the diamonds are stored at night he tried the door, but the safe was locked. From the window he took the contents of eight trays and put the stones in his pocket.

"I've got them," he called and the other men backed toward the door.

They ran down south in State street. Bloom called the South Clark street police.

Two men jumped from an automobile as Byron H. Burns of 119 East 17th street was nearing his home. They quickly separated him from $25 and a diamond ring and jumped back in their car. Burns notified the 50th street police.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited. 106-108 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager. E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 131. Editorial ... 434.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 321

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1919

INDUSTRIAL REFORMS.

Enactment of the following legislation to secure industrial reforms and restore confidence in representative government is suggested in the London Times by George S. Beeby, Minister of Labor for New South Wales, who has had twenty years close association with politics in Australia:

1. Legalization of the eight-hour day, i.e., 44 hours per week with a clear half holiday. Exceptions to meet certain cases to be fixed by a council of industry. In mining occupations, the hours of all underground men to be six hours per day, provided miners definitely agree to remove al restrictions on output and to work more than one shift, where necessary.

2. The appointment of a series of district councils with power, after inquiry, to fix minimum wages for adult male and female labor for the districts prescribed.

3. The recognition by the Sate of "the right to work," to be achieved by the registration of all labor's national bureaux; the duty devolving on the State to find work for the unemployed, and on the workmen to accept such work, wherever provided. The State to provide a living wage for those who through no fault of their own are unemployed. In cases of recurring short periods of unemploment he living wage to be made up from insurance funds.

4. The adoption of the Whitley scheme of industrial organization for the regulation of conditions above the statutory minima.

5. The creation of a permanet national industrial council representative of employers and workmen, such council to advise the Government on all legislation affecting the relationship of employer and workmen, and to hold inquiries as necessity arises on industrial and economic questions.

6. The immediate undertaking by the Government, and by the employers of large groups of workmen, of housing schemes—whatever the cost may be.

7. The acceptance by employers and workmen of the principle that in all industrial conflict the community has an interest, and that no strike or lockout shall be tolerated until all available machinery for conciliation has been exhausted. Statutory conciliatory committees to be maintained for the investigation of all matters of definite industrial grievance which may be stated at any time by workmen or employers as likely to lead to conflict.

8. The wide extension of co-operative marketing and distribution of necessary commodities.

None of these proposals goes beyond the full acceptance of the principle which is universally endorsed today, that every worthy citizen is entitled, so far as the total wealth production will permit, to the enjoyment of at least a minimum standard of comfort and to a reasonable opportunity of moving above that minimum on merit.

ONTARIO SAFETY LEAGUE.

IT IS ENCOURAGING to note, says Saturday Night, that the Ontario Safety League is planning a further development into an organization to be known as the Canadian National Safety League, operating from ocean to ocean. Already Manitoba has come into the organization through its labor department, which officially carries on a work similar to that of the Ontario League in relation to industrial workers; and it is anticipated that the other provinces will join in the movement.

Considering the fact that the Ontario Safety League came into existence shortly before the war, and has therefore encountered some difficulty in financing, its fifth annual report shows that it has been an enormous success. It is manifestly impossible to say how many fatal accidents have been prevented by the vast educational work it has carried on, but the number must be great. The real fruits of its efforts will, however, only be reaped in future years, through that most important branch of its activity which teaches children caution. The precepts learned in childhood will stick with the youngsters through life. In an age of speed and electricity, such a work is absolutely essential. The possibilities of fatal accident have bee nimmeasurably increased by modern invention; and since we cannot set back the clock of progress, the only logical course is to educate humanity to avoid the dangers. This the Ontario Safety League is doing in a marvelously original, detialed and efficient way. Its methods and objects should undoubtedly be extended throughout this country.

MUSIC IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

MUSIC in the High schools and Collegiates is usually discussed from the standpoint of its advantages to the school life itself. Too little is said of its broader aspect of relationship to the community. In analyzing this, it is, of course, obvious that the High school's musical activities count for most when they follow up a good grounding obtained in the Public schools.

If instrumental and vocal music, both solo and ensemble, are properly used in the High schools, there should be noticeable results in recruits for church choirs, local orchestras, large choruses, and amateur talent for all occasions. Many students will soon be going out to earn their own living, and when they do the problem of what to do in one's spare time comes to the front. With the love of music natural, and the enjoyment of music stimulated in the school course, the young man or woman readily turns to some branch of music in leisure hours. That results in frequent attendance at the musical concerts and recitals of all kinds. And the periodical hearing of some great artist, orchestra or chorus is a fine antidote for the tendency toward narrowness and selfishness which the routine grind of business or professional life always seems to carry with it. The application of music, the antidote, often is the only thing standing between a man's being a pessimist and a bright, companionable good citizen.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

THE STATEMENT MADE by Andrew Bonar Law in the British House of Commons that the Government's fiscal policy will include Imperial preference and protection of British industries against unfair foreign competition, sounds a welcome note in both Great Britain and her overseas dominions. Whatever advantages free trade may have had, they have been discounted by the elimination of some lines of English manufacture by reason of the dumping of cheaper foreign products on the market, and consequently compelling the home worker to emigrate against his will. It must be comforting to both British workers and producers alike to be assured that no longer shall they suffer from the importation of sweated goods. And the Government leaders' statement that adequate customs duties will afford protection against British industries being weakened by foreign competition, or falling under complete or partial control of aliens, is a timely reminder that the war revealed the fact that many industries in Great Britain, and even some strong financial institutions, were either actually German or German controlled. In this regard, as in reference to preparedness for war, it is comforting to learn that "never again" shall such conditions exist in the heart of our Empire.

In speaking of preferential trade within the Empire, Mr. Bonar Law fittingly recognizes the part Canada played in the war, although his contention that without Canada Britain would not have come off victorious is a trifle too flattering. However, Canada rose to the occasion with all her resources and all her manhood, and if that effort is to be a factor in any way in bringing about Imperial preference, both Canada and the Empire will have profited by the war. Preference in trade, by fostering increased productive power and man-power in the dominions, will be of Empire benefit. The red belt around the world will then signify "each for all and all for each" in peace as well as in war. But the preference must be reciprocal.

AGREEMENTS WILL BE ENDORSED.

SO VAST ARE THE POWER and resources of America and the British Empire that it would not be drawing on one's imagination to say that they in themselves as a league could enforce practically all the aims for which the League of Nations is proposed. But in a project from which all nations great and small will benefit, it is only fair that others besides the Anglo-American race should shoulder their share of the burden of maintaining and enforcing such conditions in the world as will prevent a repetition of that terrible war-tragedy through which we have just passed—if, indeed, it can be said that in the present state of Europe the tragedy staged by Germany is yet ended. It is only right that all countries in the world, including America, bear their quota of the expense and responsibility incurred by a League of Nations, and there is nothing in the attitude of the United States to indicate a contrary view.

The President of the United States, like the heads of all democratic governments, has not unlimited power. He is subject to the voice of the house of the people's representatives in all matters affecting national income or inflicting changes in government, and naturally in such a body diversified views on any proposition will find expression. But because there is that expression, accompanied by debate, it is not reasonable to conclude that the house will not eventually support its President and the League of Nations for which he stands.

A correspondent to an English exchange contends that "So many radical changes will come into effect with the signing of the peace treaty and the creation of a League of Nations that it is more than probable that the whole matter will be brought before both Senate and House for ratification before becoming effective so far as the United States is concerned. This will lead to extensive debate, but there is no doubt that in the end the agreement reached in Paris will be endorsed in principle, perhaps with some modifications considered important to the United States, but in no way jeopardizing the work of the Peace Conference. It would be folly to condemn offhand the United States senators who are said to be 'killing' the League of Nations, for, to begin with, the accusation is untrue, and again, the list of those who have signed the protest against an immediate ratification includes some of the ablest, most patriotic, and broad-minded men in American public life, to say nothing of the fact that many of them are most earnest advocates not only of a league, but of disarmament. On this list will also be found the names of those who have wielded the strongest pro-Ally and anti-German influence in the United States since August, 1914; men who have openly declared their belief that America should have come into the war long before she did. President Wilson has accomplished wonders in actual constructive work through his participation in the work in Paris. It is no discredit to him or any real danger to his ideals that men equally patriotic, broad-minded and internationally alert should wish to change the structure in some of its details. In their desire to achieve an honorable and safe peace for the world he and his critics are as one."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

A REPORT FROM PARIS says that there is under consideration by the peace delegation a plan for bringing together the factions in Bolshevist Russia. It looks as though the first thing needed is a plan for preventing Bolshevist Russians and anarchists in other countries from getting together.

• • • • •

IMMEDIATE and drastic action to remedy the serious depletion of the salmon fisheries of Great Britain and Ireland has been demanded by the Fisheries Boards of England and Wales. As a first step they urged the establishment of the Board of Fisheries as a separate department under its own minister. National control of all salmon and fresh-water fisheries was called for, as well as the investment of the new authority with full powers to deal with pollution, both river and estuarial.

WIT AND WISDOM

A wandering auctioneer had gathered about him a merry throng of villagers. He held up a battered violin.

"What offers for this ancient fiddle?" he inquired. "Look at the blurred finger marks of remorseless time. Observe the stains of hurrying years. To the merry notes of this fine old instrument the brocaded dames of fair France may have danced the minuet."

By this time the crowd was becoming exceedingly interested.

"Ha," continued the auctioneer, "It bears an abrasion—perhaps a touch of fire. It may be the very fiddle on which Nero played while Rome burned. Now, what offers?"

From the back of the crowd came a mournful answer. "A tanner."

"It's yours, sir!" replied the auctioneer.

Although it was snowing hard, the shabby looking man still maintained his position by the butcher's cart wheel.

When that worthy returned from handing in the family turkey, and his conversation with the pretty housemaid, the beggar was still in the same posture, one hand resting on the cart wheel.

"What do you want?" inquired the butcher.

The man made no reply, but wearily raised his hand, disclosing a match.

"What are you going to do?" asked the puzzled butcher, now slightly alarmed.

The man yawned, pulled himself together with a supreme effort and spoke:

"It's all right," he drawled. "I'm only holding my match to your wheel so that when you start it will light."

The tickets for the raffle were selling in thousands. McGregor wasn't having any, however. He called the whole thing a swindle. Eventually his friends persuaded him to buy one ticket. Who should win the pony but McGregor!

When the prize was brought to him he surveyed it gloomily, and finally said:

"I told ye the whole thing was a swindle!"

"What's the matter?" asked his friends.

"Where's the whip?" hissed McGregor.

In a village in Ireland the mother of a soldier met a priest who asked her if she had had bad news.

"Shure, I have sir," she said. "Pat has been killed."

"Oh, I'm very sorry," said the priest; "did you have word from the war office?"

"No," she said. "I heard it from himself."

The priest looked preplaxed anda said: "But how is that?"

"Shure," she said, "here is the letter, read it yourself."

The letter said: "Dear mother: I am now in the holy land."

It was Dora's first trip on the ocean and the water kept on going seesaw and slipside and heaveho. and all sorts of uncomfortable, disagreeable things; so that Dora began to get a little giddy and dazed and tired and hazy.

Clasping a large doll in her arms she stood upon the deck by her mother's side.

"Mamma!" she suddenly exclaimed and her face turned to a delicate pale green.

"Yes, darling; what is the matter?"

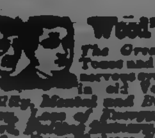
"Oh, nothing, mamma! But—I—I don't fink the rabbit I had for dinner could have been quite—quite dead!"

On the mantelpiece of his dressing room at Drury Lane theatre Alfred Lester has an array of quaint little wooden figures of Chinese workmanship. They were sent to him by a friend from Shanghai. I saw them the other day.

"This one is supposed to be me," said Lester, gloomily pointing to a little man in a cart. "It is either a hoodoo or a mandarin going to church —I forget which."

WILL OWN CANDIDATE

Medicine Hat, Alta., Masch 27.—The Unted Farmers will place a candidate in the field for the Dominion constituency of Medicine Hat, and will require the nominee to place his resignation in the hands of a committe of twenty-one. If the candidate is elected and his course in the Commons does not meet the views of this committee, the resignation of the member will be forwarded to the Government.



Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

HOME-MADE BREAD
Home bread-making reduces the high cost of living by lessening the amount of expensive meats required to supply the necessary nourishment to the body. The increased nutritious value of bread made in the home with should be sufficient incentive to the thoughtful housewife to give this important food item the attention to which it is justly entitled. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep fresh and moist longer than that made with any other.
ROYAL YEAST CAKES
Made in Canada

DEMANDS OF JUGO-SLAVIA

The Jugoslav delegates to the Peace Conference have now submitted their territorial claims at the Quai d'Orsay, their disingenuous attempt to secure a hearing at a separate peace table with President Wilson sitting at the head of it having failed. The Italian delegation properly declined to enter into the argument, and the President should be grateful that he will be spared the necessity of considering whether he ought to lend himself to any such backstairs proceedings.

Because of Mr. Wilson's broad and general observations on the Adriatic situation, delivered before he had the benefit of the instruction in matters European, which, as he has confessed, his sojourn abroad afforded him the Jugoslav representatives were justified in feeling that he would have been a sympathtic umpire in the sense that he would consider their claims on the face, as of equal merit with Italy's. It may be assumed that he has now cleared his mind of some of the fog with which the issue has been shrouded by Jugoslav propaganda. However that may be, the hearing should manifestly come before the full peace conference, as it will, where all other boundary cases are to be adjudicated.

The formal presentation of the matter discloses that the suddenly created, hybrid nation styled Jugoslavia "claims everything," almost literally on the eastern shore of the Adriatic. Italy would be graciously permitted to hold one of the Dalmatian islands. The Jugoslavs go so far as to "demand" Trieste.

The inspired Jugoslav propaganda might lead us to suppose as Mr. Wilson apparently supposed at the elementary stage of his education in European problems, that there actually is an Adriatic question in the form pretentiously contrived by the crafty statesmen of Central Europe, who are behind the Jugoslav movement. But at bottom, the Jugoslav claims are largely fictitious, while the manner of their presentation amounts to sheer impudence. Nobody thought of questioning Italy's right to consolidate her control of the Adriatic, won in war, before the announcement that the Serbians, Croatians and Slovenian provinces within the confines of the former Austro-Hungarian monarchy had "self-determined" themselves into a new State, under the tutelage of Serbia, their claimed frontiers embracing the latter kingdom, extending from Bulgaria on the east to the Isonzo river and the Adriatic on the west. So far as Italy is concerned, except for a paltry concession, this would mean to restore the intolerable situation which has heretofore threatened her — the control of the Adriatic by a foreign and unfriendly power. The Austrian Empire has disappeared from the map but the same power elements that under the Hapsburgs faced Italy across the Adriatic would still be facing her.

There is no need to probe deeply into the historic, geographic, ethnographic, economic and military considerations which support the Italian position. The Peace Conference at Paris may have delicate questions to adjudicate in determining the boundaries between Poland and Czechoslovakia, Poland and Germany, Roumania and Hungary. But as between Italy and the so-called State of Jugoslavia there should be no more perplexity than in setting the question of Alsace and Lorraine.

Some "greenhorns in the European chess game," who accompanied the hand-picked American delegation to Paris, may gravely discuss the Adriatic issue as if Jugoslavia were a suitor of equal rights with Italy. As a matter of fact, the former does not come into court even with clean hands. The Italians fought Jugoslavs on the field of battle, and none of the Austrian Emperor's soldiers were more loyal to his dynasty. These people were our enemies, not our allies, nor neutrals—that should never be lost sight of. They have always been enemies of Italy, and now are.

The attitude of Italian statesmen at Paris and at Rome in the irritating circumstances is something to marvel at. They are maintaining their composure and their dignity. Assuming that right, justice and intelligent statesmanship are to rule the deliberations of the Peace Conference, Italy may submit her case in entire confidence of the result.—The Providence Journal.

SURE CURES.

(By Walt Mason.)

There is a cure for every ill that gives your frame a wrench; a porous plaster or a pill, a capsule or a drench. No matter what disease you have, some delegate is nigh to tell you of a healing salve that makes your anguish fly. Some learned physician has the dope—it costs one buck a throw—that will revive the springs of hope and abrogate your woe. Some ancient dame in humble garb can brew a magic tea, the essence of some mystic yarb, to cure your housemaid's knee. This being true, as true it is, why are we in the soup, with gout and mumps and rheumatis, with rabies, itch and croup? Why do we weep and suffer on, and beastly ills endure, when we can buy a demijohn that's guaranteed to cure? Why do we die before our time and fill the boneyard lot when there are remedies sublime that always hit the spot? I buttonholed the village doc, and asked him things like these; for I was full, from neck to hock, of every punk disease. "That's easy," said the doc, "you hick; men's judgment is so poor, they always wait till they are sick before they take the cure."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Preferences as a rule go by contraries.

Filing a will sometimes rasps the feelings of the heirs.

Don't annoy a silent man; he may be a reformed prize fighter.

It's a pity a man can't dispose of his experience at cost.

Indifference sometimes wins where manifest desire stands no show.

No man with a knowledge of law ever mistakes the will for the deed.

A girl often discovers that the man after her own heart doesn't want it.

Adam had a childish experience with little green apples after reaching manhood.

All man's best deeds and all man's worst can be attributed to the influence of woman.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOO

(By Lee Pape.)

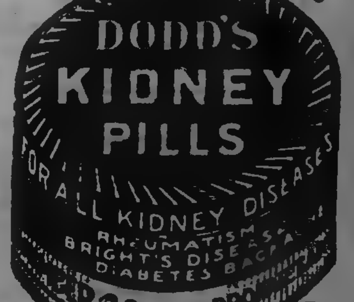
Pop wunted to telefone last and he picked up the reseever banged it back agen, saying, C found that fool Jones gerl, shes tawking to that fool fellow for m than an hour, and meenwile an h est taxpayer cant use his fone. Me ing himself, on account of wen derd Jones next door tawks to fellow Herbitt on the fone they sou as if theyre never going to stop hardly ever do.

And pop started to wawk up down the floor with a mad ixpressi and aftir a wile he picked up the seever and slammed it down ag saying, Heavenly Dick, and they c this a free country.

Reely, sed ma, wat he sees in is more than I can see. Meeni Milderd Jonses fellow, and I sed, bet he wouldent see mutch in her rite if he knew she was nock ne and he'll know it all rite if he ev sees her in a jimnasium soot.

A nock need gerl deserves no pi she has only herself to blame, s pop. And he went over to the fo with his big steps and picked up t reseever agen, saying loud as en thing, O deer, sumbody seems to using the fone, and by the wa speeking of fones, wat were you sa ing about Milderd Jonses nock nee

And then he lissened a minnit, sa ing. My goodniss, I never herd en body say good by so suddinly in a my life. Meening Milderd Jon had hung up, proving her nock ne are her sensitive parts.



EMPIRE THEATRE | FRIDAY and SATURDAY

WILLIAM DESMOND IN
"THE PRODIGAL LAR"
A Satire on Western Stuff

EDDIE POLO in the Greatest Serial Sensation of all time
"THE LURE OF THE CIRCUS"
Chapter 12

"A STRANGE ESCAPE" 2 Parts

ROSCOE ARBUCKLE IN
"FATTY, THE BOUNCER" COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Final Chapter of The Brass Bullet
Serial

Franklyn Farnum in a Fine Bluebird Photoplay
$1,000 Reward

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

Brown Sugar Cookies
"rich and crisp!"

Lantic
Old Fashioned Brown Sugar

Keep the cooky jar well out of reach or the children won't leave one for supper. Ask your grocer for Lantic Brown today. 14

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES Ltd., McGill Building, - MONTREAL.

AIR RAIDS IN SOUTH-WEST LONDON---DAMAGE BY HUNS

Recently the authorities have allowed the publication of extracts from the Fire Brigade reports of the air raids on London. On Saturday, September 23, 1916, the district round Streatham Common Station was attacked. One explosive and one incendiary bomb fell near the station. A box truck and contents were severely damaged, and two other trucks and contents were slightly damaged by fire. The explosion damaged a loading dock and 45 ft. of permanent way, and some overhead wires were broken. An incendiary bomb fell in the back garden of 50 Ellison road, damaging some of the produce. Three homes of eight rooms and contents were demolished another severely damaged at Estreham road by an explosive bomb. An old lady was killed and 13 people (four being children) were injured by shock. A large amount of window glass was broken by concussion in private residences and shops at Ellison road and at Pathfield road. At Gleneagle-road an explosive bomb caused breakage of windows at dozens of homes. An incendiary bomb slightly damaged 10 Leigham Court-road, in the occupation of Mr. F. B. Palmer. A few minutes later several ten roomed houses were partly demolished by an explosive bomb. The back of 17 Telford avenue was scorched by an incendiary bomb and a footpath was damaged. Two houses of 16 rooms each and contents were severely damaged by an explosive bomb at 70 and 72 Streatham Hill. The creater made in grass and earth measured 17 feet by 7 feet by 6 feet. A stable and store were slightly damaged by the explosion. There were breakages of roofs and glass at a number of adjacent and opposite premises. During the same night the booking office at Streatham Hill Station was damaged by an explosive bomb. Near by a tramcar on the road was severely damaged, four men being killed, and three severely injured, one of whom died. Roofs and windows were damaged at Streatham High road and quantities of window glass were smashed at Sternhold avenue, Drewstead road, Crickelade avenue. Barcombe avenue, Amesbury road, and Leigham Court road. At Leigham avenue two incendiary missiles fell in a field, the only damage being 12 feet by 12 feet of grass burned.

The South-west district was again visited during the week of raids from September 25, 1917. Much of the damage was of a comparatively trivial character and was caused by anti-aircraft shells. At Battersea Borough Council's electricity premises. Lombard road, a shell did some slight damage by breakage in a dynamo room. Outside 69 Plough road, the premises of Mr. J. Briggs, beer retailer, there was breakage on the footpath. At 50 Avarn road, Tooting, and 60 Ramsden road, Balham, shells crashed through the roof, causing damage by breakage and dirt. Produce was damage by breakage and falling in the back garden of 67 Totterdown street, Tooting. A large hole was made in the roof of 51 Solon New road, Clapham, and the back rooms and contents were damaged by breakage and dirt. The house was in the occupation of Mr. G. J. Benstead. A shell made a small hole in the roadway at Chestnut grove. Roofs were broken by shells at 95 Ferndale road, Clapham, 208 Elmshurst mansions, 58 Manor street, 23 South Side, 135 Streatham High road, 68 Crowborough road, and 134 Ferndale road. A ground floor front room at 12 Stewarts lane suffered by breakage and dirt caused by a shell. Shells dropped in back gardens at 86 Elms road, 187 Clapham road, and 145 Bedford. At 27 Crescent grove a shell broke a front balcony, damaging stone work and the iron railing.

On the night of September 29 there was another sprinkling of anti-craft shells. At 22 Ouseley road, Balham, damage was caused to a concrete footpath at the side of the building; at 14 Dorlcote road, Wandsworth, produce in the front garden was damaged. The footpath at Balham High road was broken and at 246 Trinity road a roof was pierced, a room beneath being damaged by dirt and breakage. Roof broke nat 7 Holdernesse road and at 10 Blanfield street, Balham, glass was damaged at the premises of Mr. A. Slade, tailor. Slight damage was caused to Oldridge road Mission Hall by breakage and dirt. At Nos. 86 and 102 Oldridge road the front lower rooms were damaged by breakages. At 274 Queen's road, Battersea, in the occupation of Mr. J. Mahoney, mineral water manufacturer, a shell caused slight damage by breakage. Outside 123 Wandsworth road a paving stone was broken, and at 6 Abbeville mansions the roof was broken and rooms by breakage. There was also breakage in the ground floor back room at 47 Fernlea road, Balham, and roofs were broken at 28 Crescent lane and 24 Deauville road, Clapham. The police station at Cavendish road had 3 feet by 2 feet of its roof broken by a shell, a front room on the first floor being also damaged. A shell penetrated the roof of 37 Crescent road and outside damage was caused at 32 Aristotle road. At 23 Kenwyn road the roof was broken and the first floor and contents damaged. There were small breakages through roofs at 24 Ludlow road and 52 Warple Way, Wandsworth, and a side wall was damaged at 92 Elborough street. Roofs were broken through at 109 Balvernie grove and 350 York road, the latter being in the occupation of Mr. T. Lockyer, beer retailer.

On the night of September 30 a canvas tent and flooring at the 3rd London Hospital, Trinity road, were damaged by a shell, and roofs were broken at 30 Thorndean street, 13 and 77 Littleton street, Wandsworth. The same night an empty oil tank was broken at Albion Wharf, Wellington road, Battersea, in the occupation of the Bowring Petroleum Company. An antrial-craft shell, it is recorded, was the cause of the blaze on October 1, 1917, at Grosvenor Bridge, Battersea Wharf, Queen's road, adjacent to the Brighton Railway. The report states "a large quantity of gas was destroyed, three 21 in. mains being fractured and about 100 ft. by 50 ft. of railway bridge damaged by explosion and fire, and ten carts were slightly damaged by fire under arch." Just after mid-night a shell fell in the roadway at Yelverton road, Battersea. At No. 54, in the occupation of Mr. E. Mason, the front room and passage were slightly damaged by the explosion and a woman was injured. From 38 to 58, houses let in tenements, there was considerable breakage of glass. Three women were injured by shock and were taken to hospital. The explosion broke a quantity of glass at five houses in Gwynne road. Another shell fell in Battersea Park, on a terrace by the sub-tropical garden, and a model allotment was damaged. A large hole in the roof of 14 Radbourne road, Balham, was caused by a shell and damage was done in three back rooms by breakage. At White Hart Wharf, Lombard road (Messrs. F. E. Scoones and Sons, barge builders), shell penetrated the dumb barge "Wheelead," a craft of 40 tons burthen, which was sunk.

In the early hours of November 1 anti-craft shells fell at Streatham High road. No. 61, a shop and eight rooms, was damaged by breakage and the projecting clock at the Tate Public Library and a lamppost were damaged. The explosion of a shell at 31 Crockerton road, Upper Tooting, caused considerable damage. One man was killed outright, another died in the infirmary, where also another man and woman were treated for serious injuries. There was considerable breakage of glass at adjacent and opposite houses. An explosion bomb demobilished 3' Romberg road, in the occupation of Mr. A. J. Page. Two men and one woman were killed, two females were slightly injured and one male was so severely injured that he was taken to the infirmary. Severe damage was done to houses at 37 and 41, adjoining, and there was much damage and breakage of glass in the vicinity. An explosive bomb fell in the vicinity. An explosive bomb fell in the allotments at Avoca road, Upper Tooting. A crater, measuring 20 feet by 16 feet by 6 feet was made and some garden produce was damaged. There were glass breakages at several houses in Montana road and Tooting Bec road, and also at 98 Elmbourn road.

In the early morning of December 6 an incendiary bomb fell through the roof and two floors below at 46 Rosenau road, Battersea. The contents of the house were slightly damaged by fire, heat, smoke, and water. An incendiary bomb fell on a projecting shop at 34 Clapham road, a restaurant in the occupation of Mr. J. Ames. Breakage and slight damage by fire was caused. A fire was caused by an incendiary bomb at 76 Clapham road. The contents of the rooms on the upper floors were severely damaged and the greater part of the roof was burned off. At 19 Ingate place, Battersea, where an incendiary bomb penetrated a building measuring 40 feet by 20 feet, the contents were damaged by fire, heat, smoke and water. A back room on the first floor of 42 Hambalt road, Clapham, occupied by Mr. M. A. Beetham, was severely damaged by fire caused by an incendiary bomb. The remainder of the house was slightly damaged. At 9 Meath street, Battersea, an anti-craft shell exploded and the contents of ten rooms were severely damaged. A cavity measuring 12 feet by 10 feet by 5 feet was made in the back garden of 97 Paradise road, Clapham, by an explosive bomb. The concussion caused damage to the contents of the house, which was tenanted by Mr. J. C. Murray. Neighbouring premises were also badly effected and two males and three females were slightly injured. Many houses had broken window panes, and a back building at 69 Larkhall lane was partially demolished. The same night a shell damaged a roof and flooring at the Silverthorne Works repair depot. On December 28 a shell penetrated the roof of 128 Grandison road, and scattered debris in the rooms below. An explosive bomb fell through the roof of an engine room at the South Metropolitan Gas Works, Wandsworth road, the contents being damaged by explosion. A number of windows of small houses in the vicinity were shattered. Another explosive bomb was dropped in the courtyard of Lennox buildings, a building of five floors and measuring 160 feet by 35 ft. Two males were killed, four males and five females injured.

In the early morning of March 8 last year an explosive bomb fel into the roadway at Burland road, Battersea, making a cavity measuring 30 feet by 30 feet by 15 feet. A four inch gas main and a four inch water main were fractured. Nos. 14, 16, and 18, houses of six rooms each, were partly demolished. One man was injured. Principally by breakage and dirt damage was done to 23 houses in the same street, at a series of shops in Webb's road, and at a number of private houses at Ashness road, Dalka road, and Leathwaite road. A chimney stack was damaged at Chatham road fire station.

PROBE JUGO-SLAVS CLAIMS

Spalato. Malmatio. March 28.—Sherman S. Miles, special envoy of President Wilson has arrived here to investigate Jugo-Slav claims.

READJUSTMENT PROBLEMS ARE SERIOUS TO MOTOR INDUSTRY

When hostilities ceased in Europe last November the automobile industry of this continent found itself standing in something of a daze at the station platform, so to speak, suitcase in hand—just back from a long trip away from home.

No industry back of the Allied armies gave more than the automobile industry, and our industry gave doubly, since it gave quickly and effectively.

What the aggregate production of the motor car factories amounted to in turning the tide to victory already is pretty well known. The average man in the street probably lost sight of one factor which has been of transcendent importance during the last ten weeks. I mean this:

In those weeks from the middle of November to the present day the automobile industry has faced and conquered a task as huge, in many of its aspects, as was our work of crowding the fighting fronts with the instruments that brought success to our armies. That is, we have made ready for peace-time production and have switched our plants from war work to a schedule of regular production.

I question right now if there is another predominant industry in the country that has grasped the task of reconstruction and readjustment within itself and accomplished it as our industry has.

We had some time to prepare ourselves for war production, but for this second task we had none. What the job amounted to can best be grasped by citing the fact that right now his country is short from 500,000 to 750,000 automobiles—cars which would have been made and readily taken by American buyers had war not interrupted everything.

With peace arriving just at the beginning of winter it was possible for the factories to keep up with dealer demands during the succeeding two months after the armistice, although we know that a great demand for motor cars was just under the surface of general conditions—ready to burst into action when the public has had a few weeks in which to recover its poise.

The great demand now is on. From an almost certain knowledge of what lies ahead of us in the next few months and during the next few years I predict that automobile shows this year will see a greater degree of interest than these events have ever shown.

T. J. TOLER.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if you feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralise these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

IN MEMORIAM

On the death of M. W. G. Purser, Editor Port Hope Times.

He is not dead, the tenantless,
Is now the house of clay,
For the immortal spirit owns
Not, death's cold, cruel, sway.

Just laid life's weary burden down,
Has winged a joyous flight,
To the Elysium of bliss,
Beyond frail mortal's sight.

Welcome as music, to his ear,
Was the soft, solemn, call,
That comes, by Heaven's allwise decree,
Or soon, or late, to all.

Scarce beyond midway, but he trod
Life's rugged, toilsome road,
When finished was his course, and won,
The goal, joy's bright abode.

The sunny vales of Paradise,
Fair ameranthine bowers,
Where rolls life's tranquil river down
Through fields of fadeless flowers.

Ours, is the sorrow, and the loss
The loneliness, and tears,
His the pure, raptureous, changeless bliss
Of never ending years.

He followed with unfaltering step,
Here in the Master's train
Finding it Christ, while here to live,
And dying, priceless gain.

MRS. A. F. CALDER

HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE

Rochester, Pa., March 28.—W. T. Clark, railroad engineer, shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Marie Clark, and Enrow J. Anderson last night, then shot himself and slashed him own throat with a razor. Physicians say he cannot recover. According to what was told the police, Clark had a long conversation with his wife outside the house, trying to effect a reconciliation. She left him and entered the house and he followed a few minutes later. The shooting ensued.

COOKING OF FISH

The following comes timely this season of lent:

Much of the palatability of fish depends upon the cooking of it. One authority gave as the reason for the poor consumption of fish in Canada the fact that Canadian housewives were indifferent cooks. Canadian women will not allow a statement like that to pass unchallenged and need only point to the physical hardihood of the Canadian Expeditionary Force as a refutation, but the fault has been that Canadian housewives have never been taught how to cook fish. However, this has been remedied by the Canada Food Board, which has compiled a Fish Recipe Book giving all the recipes necessary for the preparing of all kinds of Canadian fish. The Standard Cooking Manuals are nearly all British or American publications and the recipes given apply to native species or have ingredients which are either costly or unprocurable. The Food Board's Fish Cook Book was specially compiled for Canadian housewives and can be procured from the Canada Food Board, Ottawa.

A word might be said in favor of frozen fish. In our country of vast distances, fish is much more easily distributed in a frozen state and is less liable to deterioration in transit. Fish frozen as soon as landed is in first class condition and if kept frozen until it reaches the consumer, all bacteriologial decay is suspended. Frozen fish should be thawed out in cold water and immersed just long enough to take the frost out. It can be thawed out in the ice chest just as satisfactorily. —Journal of Commerce.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH 'DANDERINE'

SPEND A FEW CENTS. DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

TRY THIS! HAIR GETS BEAUTIFUL, WAVY AND THICK IN FEW MOMENTS.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents; apply a little as directed, and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire, soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

Used in Canada,
used Overseas,
used Everywhere -
NP SOAP

To Prove Our Claims

A Tea-Pot Test is better than a page of Advertisement.

"SALADA"

Is the Purest & Finest Flavored Tea your money can purchase.

FLU STILL FLOURISHES

Hamilton, March 28.—Spanish influenza still flourishes in this district. Yesterday morning the entire family of Fred Decotteau including four children, 30 Tiffany street, was wiped out by the dread disease.

New Zealand dairy butter is being sold in Brantford.

A number of cites wil ladopt daylight saving themselves.

Montreal is suffering an epidemic of crime, especially [illegible] robbery and shooting.

NOTICE OF AUCTION SALE OF LAND

TAKE NOTICE that the trustees of the Murray Street Baptist Church in the City of Peterborough, in the Province of Ontario (formerly the Baptist Church in the Town of Peterborough) will sell by public auction at the old Baptist Church, Murray street, Peterborough, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, on SATURDAY, 29th DAY MARCH, 1919 the property occupied by the old Baptist Church, being all and singular those certain parcels or tracts of lands and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Peterborough (formerly Town of Peterborough) in the County of Peterborough and Province of Ontario, being composed firstly of Lot Number Six, South of Murray street and West of George street, and secondly of part of Lot Number Five, south of murray and west of George street described as follows, that is to say: Commencing at the north-west angle of said Lot Number Five, thence easterly along the northern boundary of said Lot, four feet, thence southerly parallel to the western boundary of said Lot to the rear of said Lot, thence westerly along the rear of said Lot four feet, thence northerly along the west side of said Lot to the place of beginning. Terms cash. MOORE & WEARING, 408 Water street, Peterborough, Solicitors for the said Trustees.

"It's Confidence That Does It"

SATURDAY SPECIALS
—AT—
Porter S. White Co's

SUGAR

Lantic Granulated Sugar— 1 5-lb. package	59c
2 5-lb. packages	$1.15
Shredded Wheat, 4 pkgs.	54c
Quaker Corn Flakes, 4 pkgs.	49c
Puffed Rice, 4 pkgs.	59c
Purity Oats, 1 pkg.	30c
Quaker Oats, pkg.	30c
Rolled Oats, choice quality, 10 lbs.	65c
Chicken Haddie, 2 tins	39c
Salmon, pink, ½ lb. tins, 2 tins	[illegible]
Stewing Figs, lb.	22c
Seedless Raisins, 3 lbs.	50c
Griffin's Seedless Raisins, 1 pkg.	14c
Pure Gold Quick Tapioca, 2 pkgs.	25c
Pure Gold Quick Chocolate Pudding, 2 pkgs.	25c
Japan Rice 2 pkgs.	25c
Marrowfat Peas, 2 pkgs.	25c
Peas, standard, good, 2 tins	25c
Pumpkin, select, 2 tins	25c
Cream Cheese, pkg.	10c
Pimento Cheese, pkg.	10c
Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour 1 pkg.	20c
Oranges, Extra Large, Seedless, Juicy and Sweet, doz.	60c
Peanut Butter, the Squirrel Brand, 1 lb. tin	35c
Palm Olive Soap, 6 cakes	25c

POTATOES
Per Bag, $1.40

Potatoes purchased Saturday will be delivered Monday.

Try our Blends, Tea and Coffee.

Christie's Biscuits. Large variety. Fresh every week.

PORTER S. WHITE & CO.
354 George Phone 308

Canada Food Board License No. 8-6680.

The PLACE to get VALUE
Tomatoes,
CAULIFLOWER
NEW MAPLE SYRUP

Navel Oranges, 30c, 40c, 50c, 60c. Guaranteed sweet and juicy.

BANANAS—SPECIAL
Northern Spy Apples, and other varieties.

First-class Grapefruit, Celery, and Lettuce and Head Lettuce.

Strictly Fresh Oysters.

FRESH FISH and SMOKED FISH
CISCOES FILLETS OF HADDIE

QUALITY GROCERIES
STRICTLY FRESH EGGS

D. M. Minicola
Phone 925. 410½ George St.

The Old-time Painter Says:

"Whether I paint the home of a millionaire or the humblest cottage I always remember that they both meet the same kind of weather. I use

MAPLE LEAF PAINT

It Makes Good Because It's Made Good.

—the millionaire can't buy better paint anywhere.

—and the man who owns the humble cottage can't save money any surer way than with MAPLE LEAF.

MAPLE LEAF PAINT is the sum total motor-driven adding machine of paint progress when it comes to comparison with the old pot and paddle days I had to go through.

For the "old man" with his shirt sleeves up and nothing to do on a Saturday afternoon—but a little job of painting—there's nothing to it but MAPLE LEAF and follow the directions on the can. Perhaps he won't need my services, but here's my advice to him:—go to it strong with MAPLE LEAF and the eternal smile will become a permanent fixture on his face—for every time he'll look at the job he'll say MAPLE LEAF for mine every time.

The man with the MAPLE LEAF around his store is the man to buy paint from, look him up in your town.

C. B. ROUTLEY
379 George Street

MADE IN CANADA

None too soon to get your supply of Spring Seeds in and give them an early start. Season's fresh supply just received. —Economy Basement.

STORE OPENS 8:30 A.M.
STORE CLOSES 5:30 P.M.
SATURDAY 9:30 P.M.

One-third of your time is spent in bed. Let us show you how to spend it in comfort. New Bedding Department. —Top Floor.

HOSIERY SALE SATURDAY

33c Here are two big specials from the Hosiery Counter for Saturday shoppers. Buy early and buy all you can use at this special price 33c

FIRST 33c SPECIAL
300 PAIRS SILK HOSE 33c

These are mill "seconds," which means that there is some slight flaw which caused them to be rejected by the inspector and not sent out as perfect goods. In every case this flaw has been repaired and there is hardly a pair that will not give as good wear as if you paid the full price. Were they absolutely perfect the retail price would be 75c per pair. Because of this imperfection, which has been repaired, we sel lthese 300 pairs, white, black and brown, Saturday morning, at, Per pair 33c

SECOND 33c SPECIAL
250 PAIRS IN THIS LOT

Saturday night shoul dsee them all sold. Ladies' Lisle Hose, in black only; full fashioned, spliced heel and toe; properly shaped, perfect fitting, and a splendid wearing stocking. Worth to-day 45c or 50c at least. Absolutely perfect. Sizes 8½ to 10. Saturday Morning Special, per pair 33c

Still More New and Charming Spring Suits and Coats

Attractive in style, every one of them. Many right from the factory this week. All repesenting the newest ideas for the Spring of 1919. Choose from tsese, and you choose wisely.

A natty Suit made of fine wool Botany serge; lined with silk Paisley; back is shirred at waist with two narrow belts bound with silk braid; sides of coat trimmed with five rows of black silk braid at edge and finished with buttons; tailored collar and revers; new model skirt with detachable belt. In navy only, at $38.50

A very neat and stylish Suit of all-wool men's wear serge; plain back to waist, elaborately trimmed with silk braid and buttons below. Vest of cream serge with fancy black and white buttons; new flare cuff with four rows of braid; lined with good quality Habutai silk. In navy only .... At $42.50

A new Spring model in a misses Coat is of covert cloth. The back is extremely stylish in its high waister effect and is shirred at waist line and hangs very full. The front is belted from side to side and has two beautiful pockets; large pointed collar, piped with emerald silk and trimmed with buttons to match ... At $19.25

A practical and stylish coat is of fine all-wool navy poplin; the collar is large and the cuffs deep; lined with silk to the waist; back has panel effect to waist with row of pearl buttons across centre, and belts from side to front, hanging in two soft pleats below. Priced at $42.50

A beautiful modish coat is of fine quality gabardine. The back is slightly high waisted with tucked belt across centre; sides forming panels with two rows of pearl buttons; novel convertible collar and tucked turned-up cuffs. Panel pockets from front belt; lined throughout with fancy brocade silk. In reindeer shade only, at $57.50

New Silk Poplin Skirts

New Silk Poplin Skirts. The material will wear splendidly; shirred to fall gracefully from a well-fitting yoke which has a very wide novel crossed belt, trimmed with four large buttons. Can be had in navy, sand and black, at $13.75

Dressy Silk SKIRTS

Dressy Silk Skirts in a variety of pretty shades in fancy stripes and plaids. These are fully shirred to waist with tucked or folded belt, trimmed with self covered buttons. Two novel pockets. At $14.50

Splecdid Values at the Staples Counter

Every day staple needs can be supplied Saturday at these saving prices. Make a special note that in the Shirtings the dyes are absolutely fast, and the prices for cotton and sheetings are underneath those quoted by the mill to-day.

SHIRTINGS 29c

Good quality Shirtings, in blue and white stripes and checks, also black and white stripes. A good wearing and good washing material, at, per yard, only 29c

OXFORD SHIRTINGS 35c

This is an excellent shirting for Men's Shirts, Boys' Blouses, etc. Can be had in blue and white and grey and white checks and stripes. Fast colors ... At, per yard 35c

HEAVY SHIRTING 45c

Extra quality heavy Shirtings, in good patterns and fast dyes. This is extra strong and durable, and sells at, per yard 45c

UNBLEACHED SHEETING 75c

Unbleached Sheeting, 72 inches wide, either twilled or plain weave. Round, even thread, free from dressing. Will bleach soft and white .... Special, per yard 75c

BLEACHED SHEETING 75c

Good quality Bleached Sheeting, 72 and 80 inches wide. Twilled or plain weave. A good wearing sheeting, free from dressing. Special, per yard ... 75c

LONGCLOTH 35c

"Gold Coin" Longcloth, soft cambric finish, free from dressing, 3 4to 35 incho swide. A splendid material for fine underwear, etc. Special, per yard 35c

LONSDALE CAMBRIC 20c

Lonsdale Cambric, pure soft finish, free from dressing; 36 inches wide. A good material for almost any purpose for which you use a fine cotton. Special, per yard 20c

NIGHTGOWN CLOTH 35c

Twilled Nightgown Cloth, soft linen finish; 36 inches wide; specially adapted for making gowns or underwear. Per yard 35c

Four Good Corset Covers

Four particularly good Corset Covers for Saturday selling. See them at the Corset Department, Ready-to-wear Floor.

AT $2.25

A very dainty and pretty Corset Cover with filet pattern lace and fine embroidery insertion; medallion insets to form deep yoke, and small shoulder sleeve. Saturday $2.25

AT $1.69

A Corset Cover of fine nainsook with wide pointed shadow Val. lace yoke and shoulder straps. Neck and arm holes run with ribbon. Each $1.69

AT 75c

Mourning Corset Cover of pure black muslin, trimmed with fine Val. lace at neck and arms, run with ribbon .... Saturday, each 75c

AT 39c

A Corset Cover of strong cotton, with Cluny lace top and shoulder straps. A strong, serviceable corset cover. Each 39c

OUR NEW CORSET DEPARTMENT

The Corset Department is making new friends every day in its new location, Third Floor. It is in charge of an experienced Corsetiere capable of giving expert help in the selection of a proper corset. Every convenience for fitting Corsets if desired. Here are two of our popular numbers:

AT $4.50

Stout figures will find this comfortable well boned corset very effective. It is made of strong coutil with double steel rust-proof boning and has wide elastic inset at the sides .... Per pair $4.50

AT $3.00

A very dainty flesh colored Corset of coutil; has wide elastic band at bust which makes it very comfortable and holds it firmly to the figure; straight and girlish. At, per pair ... $3.00

HANDSOME TWEED SUITINGS

Beautiful and exclusive Tweeds, in heather mixtures and invisible plaids, 54 ins. wide. Saturday a special showing of these desirable spring fabrics at, per yard $5.00 and $5.50

HOMESPUNS MUCH IN FAVOR

These most serviceable materials, in sand and fawn shades; 54 inches wide. This is good for suits or separate At, per yard, only $4.00

Introducing "Old Dutch Cleanser" To the Economy Basement

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY SALE SATURDAY

500 tins to sell of this well known cleansing compound .... Special introductory price .... 3 Cans for 25c

WHITE KNIGHT SOAP 5 BARS FOR 32c

White Knight is a soap you can use with confidence on the most delicate fabrics because it is a soap that contains rich vegetable oils in generous proportions. It is also a very satisfactory soap for general laundry purposes. It is in bars of about seven ounces, and priced for Saturday specially at .... 5 for 32c

LIGHT WEIGHT UNDERWEAR

Particularly good value in Spring weight Underwear at the Underwear Counter Saturday.

LADIES' SUMMER VESTS—With plain or fancy yokes and short sleeves. Extra value at, each 29c

LADIES' COMBINATIONS—Light weight; short or no sleeves and umbrella drawers. These are travellers' samples and exceptional value at 69c

LADIES' COMBINATIONS—Summer weight, low neck and with short or no sleeves. Saturday, each 59c

Full Range of LADIES' SUMMER VESTS—Either plain or porous knit; low neck, with short sleeves or without. Special 50c

LADIES' SILK LISLE VESTS—With short or no sleeves; plain and fancy yokes. Each .... $1.00 & $1.25

LADIES' KNITTED DRAWERS—Summer weight, umbrella style, lace trimmed. Per pair 65c

A 25c SPECIAL

Two bars new Lenox Soap, 2 bars Ivory Soap, and 1 package Pearline. A big Basement 25c Special, the five for 25c

LAST CALL FOR THE ARMY BROOMS

Saturday we put on sale the balance of the Brooms made under special contract for the Royal Air Service. They are Brooms you will pay $1.50 for most any place. Made especially for Government use. 50 or 60 left to sell on Saturday at, each 79c

Other Basement Good Values

DOLLS' CARRIAGES—Made of white wicker, strong steel wheels. A good strong carriage at .... $1.75 & $2.50

DOLLS' SULKEYS—Of white wicker. Wheels with rubber tires. A toy any little girl will be delighted with. At $2.95

DOLLS' CRADLES—Made of white wicker. Three sizes, at $1.25, $1.45 & $1.75

GRANITE CEREAL COOKERS—Good quality grey granite, each 69c

GRANITE DISH PANS—Ten quart size, each 69c

GRANITE STEW POTS—Eight quart size, each 69c

Particularly well assorted stock of spring Hosiery and Gloves in This Popular Dept.

Fine Lisle Hose, in colors of beaver, pearl, medium grey. Spliced heel and toe. Saturday, per pair 89c

Penman's Heavy Soisette Hose, full fashioned and seamless. Can be had in black or white, at, per pair .. 65c

Ladies' Heavy Black Cotton Hose, full fashioned, seamless feet, spliced heel and toe. Per pair 40c

Ladies' White Kid Gloves, good quality; either plain white or with black points. Special, per pair $2.00

Heavy Double Silk Gloves, in white, black, mode or grey. All sizes, at, per pair $1.75

Silk Gloves, with fancy backs, in white and black or black and white; also pongee shades; double tips; all sizes, at, per pair 85c

Kayser Made Chamoisette Gloves, in mastic, grey, natural, black or white shades; either plain or with fancy points. In all sizes. At, per pair $1.25

Ladies' Chamoisette Gloves, in white, grey and black shades; either plain or with fancy backs. All sizes, at ..... Per pair 98c

White Washable Kid Gloves, with heavy sewn seams, one dome. A very serviceable glove, at, per pair ... $2.50

Black Kid Gloves, "Perrin's" make; extra quality fine kid. Can be had in plain or fancy backs. At, per pair .. $2.00

AT THE NEW TOILET COUNTER.

Turkish Bath Soap, large size .. Saturday .... 8 Cakes for 50c

Mennen's Shaving Cream, large size; with good shaving brush .... Saturday 69c

Good Quality Hair Brush, strong back and good bristles. Saturday .... 2 for 39c

Mavis Talcum Powder. Saturday Special 19c

One Tube Dental Cream and a regular 25c Tooth Brush. Saturday .... The two for 39c

An experienced Corsetiere is at your service, either to fit or give expert advice. New Corset Department. Ready-to-wear Floor.

J. C. TURNBULL CO., Limited

PETERBOROUGH'S GREATEST STORE

70 HUN CHILDREN DIE

Berlin, Monday (delayed) (by the Associated Press)—Seventy children are dead and twenty injured seriously as the result of a stampede during a juvenile entertainment at Gleiwitz, Silesia, today.

The children rushed toward the exits when some one raised the cry of "fire." Most of the casualties occurred in the rush down the stairways.

Coal prices are to drop 50 cents a ton in Brantford on the 1st of April dealers saying they can deliver more cheaply in the summer.

The Independent Socialists in Bavaria have demanded that the statues of all former royalties and statesmen be melted for industrial uses.

EDITOR'S MAIL

GOVT. vs. EMPLOYMENT

The war has changed humanity in many ways, but the greatest change has been a change in mind—in ideas. The old idea of human life as individual has lost its savour, and the newer idea of life as collective has come into being. This change in thought leads to a new attitude toward labor. From previously being considered merely an effort towards self-support, and despised and illtreated as such, it is now considered the real social process. As the ideas of men and women have altered, so the problem of labor must and will receive more stringent attention. The time has passed when the unemployed drag their weary feet round and round while economic knots are left to unfasten themselves. Prompt, fair and decisive action must be taken to solve the problems of labor at present, that of unemployment.

It must be solved or we shall fight another enemy, Bolshevism. Fed by unemployment and hunger the fires of insurrection are raging throughout Europe. With unemployment, the most effective fuel for the Bolsheviki—becoming more prevalent every day, what is to stop its rage on our own continent? At the end of January a million and a quarter were involuntarily unemployed, in the United States alone. Optimists among business men declare that the tide will soon turn, and they laugh at those who pronounce the situation serious. It is the business of an optimist to be optimistic but the business of legislators should be to safeguard the national welfare in any case.

It is the right of every man to have work—work that will make him self-sustaining, and the opportunity for everybody to work is the only remedy that can insure peace on this continent. Men out of work used to be considered "tramps", "bums," or "vagrants." But this can no longer be. Men who have fought in France and those who have backed them in the factories at home are not to be termed tramps because they can't get work. It is a well known fact that the army of unemployed is practically the army that helped to beat the Germans! The returning soldier has felt his freedom from the economic serfdom of pre-war days, and his are new views and he has a new impatience rather than habitual toleration of prevailing grievances. They can well hold their heads high and feel that they have done a real service to mankind. Having won the war, can they be expected to return and help do the nation's drudgery at a bare living wage and worse than that—to return to be involuntarily unemployed?

Such men are entitled to work at their trades, when they wish it, and at a fair wage. These men are the hope of the nation and they should have the opportunity, not of any work, but of the very best jobs they are capable of filling. Employers should see that no returning man should go without the job he wants. With a few exceptions, however, employers seem to have forgotten the spirit of self-sacrifice which the war engendered, and are steeped in the old self-interest. It is the duty of our government, then, to see that every worker who wants work shall have it. Some of our sages declare tht if we do not get right action quickly, it may be too late.

Many thinkers maintain that, just as the government claimed the right to ration out flour and sugar when they were scarce, so it has the right to ration out opportunity for employment. They maintain that the new idea of human life as collective rather than individual should be applied to the present crisis and established the principle that while there is work for anybody there shall be work for everybody. If there is not enough work to go around at ten hours a day, there would be at eight or maybe at six. What if business arrangements and routine should be disarranged temporarily? Far better disarrange plans than to let Bolshevism disarrange our country. They maintain that the scheme should not be refused because it is new or because it hurts some one's profits. The time has come when we realize that growth means change and that there must be more subordination of individual interests to the welfare of the whole.

It is the place of our legislators to work out some reorganization of our industrial system to relieve the victims of unemployment in our country. No need to say we can't do it. When war confronted us and we had to raise men and money, we did it. We didn't stop to think whether we were acting according to precedent or whether our action was conservative. We did it because it was necessary. It was a big undertaking, but it "got done." Why can't the unemployment situation be faced and solved as well? The necessity is quite as great and quite as evident.

E. CUFFE.

FREE TO ASTHMA SUFFERERS

A New Home Cure That Anyone Can Use Without Discomfort or Loss of Time

We have a New Method that cures Asthma, and we want you to try it at our expense. No matter whether your case is of long standing or recent development, whether it is present as occasional or chronic Asthma, you should send for a free trial of our method. No matter in what climate you live, no matter what your age or occupation, if you are troubled with asthma, our method should relieve you promptly.

We especially want to send it to those apparently hopeless cases, where all forms of inhalers, douches, opium preparations, fumes, "patent smokes," etc., have failed. We want to show everyone at our own expense, that this new method is designed to end all difficult breathing, all wheezing, and all those terrible paroxysms at once and for all time.

This free offer is too important to neglect a single day. Write now and begin the method at once. Send no money. Simply mail coupon below. Do it to-day.

FREE ASTHMA COUPON
FRONTIER ASTHMA CO., Room 1512T, Niagara and Hudson St., Buffalo, N.Y.
Send free trial of your method to:
....
....
....

AIRPLANE FERRIES FOR PALM BEACH

FIFTY-MINUTE SERVICE INAUGURATED—FLY TO BAHAMA ISLAND.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 27.—There is evidence here to support the prophecy that if the country goes entirely dry next summer it may become an established practice for persons to fly out of it for a legal drink and then fly back to continue the day's routine.

The Bahama Islands, English territory, are only seventy miles off shore. The Florida East Coast Hotel Company, which owns the Poinciana and Breakers at Palm Beach, has received a proposal from an airplane company to put on airplane ferries next winter operating between Palm Beach and Nassau, where the same company has another hotel. The proposal calls for airplanes to carry twelve passengers and make the trip in fifty minutes.

While the expense has not been worked out, it would be high but not to high for a very thirsty man.

ASKS AMICABLE RELATIONS

Emissaries of Hungarian Govt. Hand Credentials to Assembly

Copenhagen, March 28.—Emissaries of the Hungarian Revolutionary Governing Council handed their credentials to the President of German-Austrian National Assembly at Vienna yesterday, according to a Budapest despatch received here. Hopes for the continuance of amicable relations between Hungary and German-Austria were mutually expressed, it is said.

PRISON FOR AGED MAN

Chicago, March 28.—Dr. Arthur D. Blunt, aged Chicago physician, called by Federal agents one of the most successful violators of the Harrison anti-narcotic law, must serve a prison term, it was learned today. From the stand Blunt admitted selling more than $100,000 worth of "dope" to 850 drug fiends in a single year.

MOTHERS TO BE

Should Read Mrs. Monyhan's Letter Published by Her Permission.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia, I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when seven months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. Frank Monyhan, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received, by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Re-decorating days are here. On our third and fourth floorr you'll find all that is newest and best in FURNITURE, CARPETS, DRAPES and WALL PAPERS.

CRESSMAN Company Limited

DAILY CALENDAR.
In the school of life many branches of knowledge are taught. But the only philosophy that amounts to anything, after all, is just the secret of making friends with our luck.—Henry Van Dyke.

SPRINGTIME SATURDAY SNAPS BREATHE FORTH THEIR FRESHNESS

ANTICIPATING THE COMING SEASON

EDITORIAL

There is a belief that, in Spring we approach very near to the great mysteries of life Tender blades push through the ground. Trees burst forth into bloom. Birds, through no volition of their own, are given gayer plumage.

There is a sense of imminence; a realisation of unseen power, behind every living thing. Women, always closer to the invisible than men, sense it clearly, and manifest it in the clothes they wear.

It is not caprice, but the unfailing feminine instinct for the beauties of the Infinite that creates the new Spring Styles.

These Modish Ready-to-Wears

NEW SERGE DRESSES
Ultra smart Dresses, made of fine Botany serge, in colors of navy, black, green, fawn and brown. The styles are of the latest mode, straight lines, with overskirt and panier effects and some braid trimmed. Our regular prices are from $29.00 to $35.00. For Saturday they are specially priced All at ... $25.00

TOP COATS
New, smart and extremely practical, these Top Coats, in tweeds, lovely quality covert cloths and coating materials. A variety of styles, with button and braid trims predominating. Good size assortment. Excellent value at this Saturday Snap price ... $25.00

VOILE BLOUSES
Fine French Voile Blouses, made with round collarless neck in front and small collar edged with lace at the back. Embroidery trimmed. New sleeves with long cuffs. Regular $2.69 value. Saturday Snap price ... $1.98

SPRING SUITS
A stunning lot of new Sprin gSuits involves many of the most fashionable styles. In colors: sage, sand, navy, black and French blue, and of materials: serge, gabardines and velours. Trims consist mostly of braid and buttons and pretty stitching effects. All at one special price on Saturday ... $29.95

SEPARATE SKIRTS
Good looking Skirts, made of all wool Botany serge, in colors navy and black. Cut on the new straight lines. Braid and button trimmed; broad belts, crushed and pleated styles. Regularly sold at $12.00. Very special for a Saturday Snap sale at ... $10.00

HOUSE DRESSES
New House Dresses of good washing prints and pretty patterns. Flat collars, smart sleeves and pocket trims. Cut on good ample lines and well finished. Remarkably good value, if you buy them Saturday. Snap price ... $2.50

STAPLE SNAPS

BLEACHED SHEETS — Extra fine quality Bleached Sheets. Well made and all ready for use. Size 72 x 90 inches. Our every day stock price is $1.95. Buy them on Saturday at the Snap price Each ... $1.49

PLAIN VOILE — White voile, plain weave, splendid quality, fine fabric; 38-40 inches wide. Our regular stock 50c quality. Saturday Snap, yard ... 29c

GINGHAMS—Fancy dress Ginghams, in plain, check and stripe patterns. Width 26-27 inches. Regular 30c value. Saturday Snap ... Yard ... 23c

TRAY CLOTHS—Irish embroidered Tray Cloths that will give excellent washing and wearing satisfaction. Regular 75c value. Saturday Snap, each ... 59c

CLEARING SOILED MADEIRA CENTRES—A One Day Saturday clearance of Madeira Centres that have become slightly soiled with handling and displaying. Sizes 6 in., 10 in., 18 in., 22 in. and 45 in. All to be sold at exactly 25% off the regular prices.

The First Saturday of our Semi-Annual Notion Sale

Something you can't afford to miss — Cressman's Semi-Annual Sale of Notions. Two circles entirely devoted to lines of decided price savings on all lines of NOTIONS, SOAPS, STATIONERY, ETC. Ask at the Main Floor information desk for the dodger with a complete list of articles and prices. Notion Section, Street Floor, 5th and 6th Circles.

Get Your Hands in "Week End" Glove Sale, Queen Quality 80c Silk Gloves 69c

Queen Quality
SILK GLOVES

New shipment of "Queen Quality" Silk Gloves. Colors: black, white, navy, grey, and Palm Beach. Good range of sizes in each color. Every pair has double tipped fingers. Our regular selling price is 85c. Week-end Saturday sale, pair ... 69c
(Street Floor, 1st Circle.)

One-Day Sale of Knitting Wool, Saturday

35c BALLS "MONARCH and "GLORIA" FLOSS 29c
The popular Flos sthat is used all over Canada for making sweaters and jackets of all kinds. A wide range of colors includes; lavender, rose, purple, green, royal blue, Copenhagen, scarlet, orange, yellow, Nile green, black, white and others. The receival of a large delayed order makes this low price possible. On Saturday, One Day Sale, at ... 29c
(Street Floor, 4th Circle.)

Silk--Serge---Poplins, Interestingly reduced

SATURDAY, THE SECOND DAY OF THE TWO-DAY SALE OF $1.65 SILK DRESS POPLINS 95c

A new shipment of our $1.65 quality Silk Dress Poplins. A comprehensive color range includes: navy, royal blue, Copenhagen, maize, reseda, taupe, pearl grey, tank, rose, prunelle, amethyst, sand, black and others. Exceptionally good value Saturday at, yard ... 95c

$2.50 ALL-WOOL SUITING SERGE $1.79
Guaranteed all-wool Suiting Serge, in navy and Copenhagen blue; 52 inches wide. Three hundred yards for sale, and it's very special value at our every day price o f$2.50. Saturday Snap, yard ... $1.79

$3.25 BLACK DUCHESS DRESS SILK $2.28
A beautiful quality Duchess de Soie Black Dress Silk. Swiss manufacture and guaranteed color: all 38 inches wide. Splendid value at the regular price, $3.25 Saturday Snap, yard ... $2.28

Three Good Value Hosiery, Saturday Snaps

LADIES' LISLE HOSE 28c Pair
Ladies' 35c value "Radium" Black Lisle Hose. High spliced heels, no seams. In sizes 8½ to 10. On Saturday you can buy 3 pairs for 79c Or, per pair ... 28c

FIBRE SILK HOSE $1.19
Fibre Silk Sport Hose, for ladies. Colors: grey, navy, black, emerald, green, white, castor, brown and beige. Good range of sizes in each color. Saturday Snap ... 2 Pairs for $2.25 Or, per pair ... $1.19

BROWN CASHMERETTE HOSE 48c
Ladies' Spring weight Cashmerette Hose; nigger brown color. No seams; sizes 8½, 9½ and 10. The every day price is 69c a pair ... Saturday Snap, pair ... 48c
Two Pairs for 90c.

Snaps in the Home-Furnishing Department. Third-floor

LARGE SIZE WILTON VELVET SQUARES: HALF PRICE
Five only of these large Wilton quality Velvet Squares. Suitable for living-rooms and dining-rooms. In attractive Oriental and medallion designs. Size 10 ft. 6 in. x 12 ft. 6 in. Our regular price $85.00 ... Saturday Snap ... $42.50

INGRAIN CARPET SQUARES
Heavy quality, reversible designs, and most suitable for bedroom use:
Size 9 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in. Regular $12.00 for $8.00
Size 9 ft. x 9 ft. Regular $10.50 for .. $7.00
Size 6 ft. x 9 ft. Regular $7.00 for ... $4.75

TABLE OILCLOTH
Good quality Table Oilcloths, in colors: greys, reds, browns, etc. All 45 inches wide. Regular stock 60c and 65c values ... For a Saturday Snap ... 49c

EFFECT OF EMPLOYMENT ON THE HEALTH OF WOMEN

(From The Westminster Gazette)

Although so many people talk with an air of knowledge about the effects of industrial employment upon the health of women as mothers, there are few matters about which so little is really known. Moreover, exact knowledge is exceedingly difficult to acquire. Particularly important, therefore, [illegible] article by Dr. Rhoda Adamson, M.D., B.Sc. (Lond.), which appeared recently in the "Common Cause," and contains an account of over a year and a half's observations of women at work. As the "Common Cause" is not so universally read as it deserves to be, some brief summary of her experiences may be acceptable.

In April, 191, Dr. Adamson took charge of the health of several thousand women engaged in various engineering processes "which in the ordinary course of events would have been carried out by men." She began by careful examination both of each worker and each process, endeavouring thus to discover the degree of physical and mental development required by each process and the degree attained by each workers. The women were then graded for different operations according to these data

A great many of the women were found to be suffering from minor physical defects which they had never attempted to get cured. The local hospital now undertook to examine eyes and to prescribe suitable glasses.

As a result, inaccurate work was lessened and chronic headache. due to eye strain, was practically eliminated. Dental treatment was also kept very prominently before their consideration, so that, at the time of the Armistice, the general condition of these women's mouths would pass a very fair muster."

The Maternity Problem.

But it was mainly weaknesses of another sort that Dr. Adamson directed her attention. "One of the first questions to be considered was the presence of absence of previous child-birth," and, in the case of every mother, whether she had suffered "any permanent physical defect as a result of pregnancy or child-birth." Every person at all well acquainted with working women knows how sadly large is the proportion of mothers who do thus suffer—and need not, if life were better organized for the com- and preservation of working-class mothers. Women who had ever been damaged in this manner were judged unfit for work that involved "Long standing, heavy lifting, or sudden strain" (as, one may remark in passing, so much of their own domestic work does) and were graded for light work only. A certain number of women suffering from chronic internal inflammation were "totally unfit for heavy standing work or work which gave any risk of getting the feet or clothing wet," but "could quite well perform fine sedentary work without any lighting up of the chronic trouble." Expectant mothers, or mothers of recently born children, were relieved from night work, and after the fourth month of pregnancy employed only upon light sedentary work. With this relabation of exertion "they were capable of good work right up to the time of child-birth."

Cases of individual weakness, temporary or permanent, having been thus considered and appropriately treated, scarcely any women remained to whom work had to be entirely refused "on account of physical incapacity. The rest, who were suffering from no previous damage, and were otherwise in satisfactory health, were found capable of undertaking heavy and strenuous work "without any harm resulting from it." "The number needing regrading became progressively less." Instances of damage arising from the work were few —cerainly not more, one gathers, than would have occurred among men similarly employed; two cases of hernia from strain appeared in the course of seven thousand four hundred examinations, while cases of cardiac strain in previously sound hearts were extremely rare." Moreover, many of the women already damaged ownig to defective recovery or poor attendance at child-birth "actually improved in general health as a result of regular hours, good food, and exercise."

Investigator's Comment.

These facts, it must be remembered, arose in the engineering trade—a trade, as Dr. Adamson reminds us, "by general lay consent considered to be unsuited to the physical strength of women." Personal observation of them leaves her "entirely at a loss to find the site of the strain which may be expected to undermine the health of these women and their offspring for the rest of their lives." Since the generalisations recorded prove true for such processes as "the making of 6in., 9.2in., and 15in. howitzer shells, may they not also," she asks, "be assumed to be correct for other trades where such routine medical examination has not been carried out?"

It is at least clear that no generalisations of a contrary character can ever again be accepted unless supported by the evidence of such examinations.

With Dr. Adamson's further suggestion that the grading of all workers, male and female, might conduce to a better output and a decrease of accidents, every reader of her article will be inclined to agree. She has, in fact, rendered a double service, firstly, by collecting so significant a series of facts, and, secondly, by pointing the way to a new form of scientific management, beneficial almost equally to employer and employed.

German Chemicals Excluded From U.S.

Washington, March 28. — German hopes of reconquering American markets received another blow yesterday Users of dyes, chemicals, fertilisers and other products originated by German scince were notified by the alien property custodian that importations from Germany hereafter would be subject to prosecution as an infringement of parents licensed under the Trading With the Enemy Act for use by American manufacturers.

German authorities, according to a report to Paris, have refused to allow eight hundred Polish refugees to land at Dansig.

Fred Decotteau of Hamilton, his wife and one child died during the night of "flu," and three other children are critically ill of the disease in hospital.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

DON'T BE CRUEL

The opportunity brings out the cruelty in man. You are cruel to your eyes, often without intending or understanding it. Simple neglect is the worst cruelty, and it is so easy to give them the proper Dr. Fowler care, that there is no excuse for such treatment as neglect. Consult Dr. Fowler at the first sign of trouble. It is safest and cheapest.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
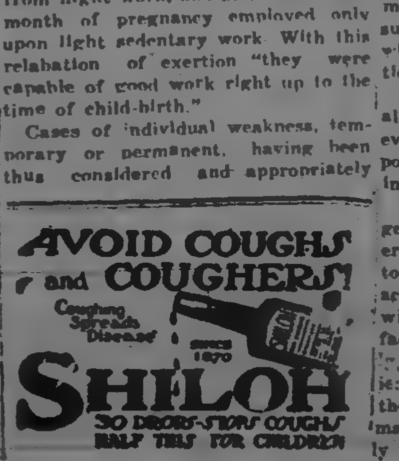
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT



AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!
Coughing Spreads Disease
SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS-STOPS COUGHS
HALF THIS FOR CHILDREN

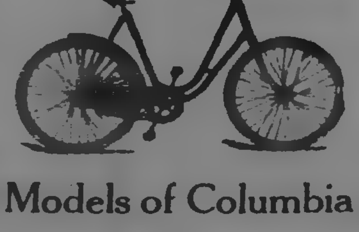
Bicycles at Bargain Prices

We have a few New Wheels, 1918 Models to clear out

Scout Wheels at	$40.00
Ivanhoe B-Grade Wheels	$45.00
Ivanhoe A-Grade Wheels	$50.00
Hislop Wheels	$45.00
Juvenile Wheels	$40.00

A few Re-built Wheels from $10 up, guaranteed in perfect running order

Columbia and Ivanhoe Bicycles are the two most up to date and reliable wheels made in Canada, sold in Peterboro for the last 15 years.



We carry the largest supply of bicycle repair parts and have the best equipped repair shop in the city, and give prompt and efficient service.

See our New 1919 Models of Columbia & Ivanhoe Bicycles

B-Grade Wheels to sell at	$52.50
A-Grade " "	$57.50
Juveniles " "	$45.00
Motor Bike Models "	$65.00

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 HUNTER ST., Near Aylmer St. Open Evenings Phone 234

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

WANTED

WANTED—TO BUY, SMALL house, with lights and garden preferred. Apply to Box 442, Review.

WANTED — TWO OR THREE furnished rooms, with or without board, in central locality. Apply Box 444, Review.

TO RENT.

TO RENT — LARGE FRONT room, with or without meals. Apply 382 Stewart street.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—TWO MAXWELL Touring Cars and one Dodge Touring. Apply Banks' Garage.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden, fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society
— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit— Cheap
Best Vegetables— Reasonable
Best Groceries At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 935

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 264.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845.

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.
W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

TWO DEFAULTERS FINED HEAVILY

ONE PAYS $300 AND THE OTHER IS ASSESSED $250—BOTH PAY COSTS.

Magistrate Dumble in police court yesterday afternoon fined Andrew Crawford $300 and costs and James Roy McGlynn $250 and costs when they pleaded guilty to having been defaulters under the M. S. A.

Crawford, who is a farmer in the Kirkfield district, was arrested on March 21, and upon appearing before the magistrate a few days later was remanded until yesterday afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to the accusation preferred against him.

J. Fordyce Strickland, his counsel, made a forcible plea for his client and drew his Worship's attention to many extenuating circumstances which should be considered in Crawford favor. Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $300 and costs of $14.10, with the alternative of one year at the prison farm at Guelph. Crawford paid his fine.

James Roy McGlynn, of 201 Rutherford avenue, city, was arrested at a farm house near Peterborough at 3 o'clock on the morning of March 23 by a posse of Dominion police under Sergt. Carmody.

He pleaded guilty to having been a defaulter under the Military Service Act yesterday afternoon, and his counsel, Mr. O'Brien, in answer to evidence of Sergt. Carmody, which went to show that McGlynn had tried to escape, stated that it was not an unusual thing for a young man to be in bed at 3 o'clock in the morning.

The witness replied that he would not have objected had McGlynn remained in his bed, but he rushed into another room and held the door from the inside so as to prevent the police from taking him into custody.

Mr. O'Brien, in his argument, urged his Worship to be lenient in dealing with his client as there were circumstances in his case which, while not excusing him for his action should in justice to him be urged in extenuation of his offence.

The costs of the court were made up of the fee of the crown attorney and other expenses connected with the trial. Expenses connected with the arrest of defaulters are borne by the Dominion Government.

DID NOT FAVOR PROPOSED UNION

The concensus of opinion prevailing at a meeting of the ratepayers of that part of North Monaghan which would be affected by the proposed annexation program, held last night in the Council Chambers as revealed by a test fote was not in favor of union with the city. The standing was 30 in favor of and 39 against the proposed measure.

There were about seventy-five in attendance at the meeting and Mr. J. W. Byers presided. The discussion was long and did not seem to suit in any definite decision. It was considered advisable that the area considered in the original program for inclusion in the city be considerably curtailed. Each speaker, and there was a considerable number of them, treated the question from his own particular standpoint and in many cases looked at it as it would effect his own particular case.

Favors Annexation.

Alderman Turner of the City Council, who has been most active in connection with the proposed change throughout, spoke last night in favor of it. He reminded his auditors that union was almost invariably followed by mutual benefit and referred to the confederation of the scattered provinces of Canada to illustrate his point.

Area Too Extreme.

Mr. G. W. Hatton felt that the area that it was proposed should be annexed to the city was too large. It was impossible to work out such a change with any degree of satisfaction to either of the parties concerned, and while he thought that if Byersville desired union with the city it might be a very good idea and one easy to accomplish by the adoption of the usual course of procedure he was equally sure that the Municipal Board would not sanction the annexation of such an extensive strip of North Monaghan as was being considered.

What Act Says.

He pointed out that under the Municipal Act it was provided that: Should the Council of any city or town by resolution decide that it is expedient that part of an adjacent township should be annexed to that city or town and the majority of the electors in the affected part petition the Municipal Board to add same to such city or town, then after notice of the resolution of the city or town Council had been forwarded to that of the township, the Board may order the annexation of such part to the city upon such terms, and conditions as regarded the adjustment of assets, liabilities, taxation, assessment and improvements as have been agreed upon or should be determined by the Board. It is further provided that if the terms and conditions agreed upon did not meet with the approval of the Board the petitioners or city may withdraw from such a proposed annexation.

The Order Followed.

Mr. Hatton stated that he was quite sure the Board would not sanction the proposed extension of the city limits as at first proposed. If Byersville wished to unite with the city the way to bring about such a change was clearly indicated in the Act.

The City Council would first pass a resolution of approval of such a measure; next the citizens of the part of the township affected would petition the Board then the town or city Council gives notice of the proposed change to the township council and an attempt is made to agree upon terms, after which the matter is submitted to the Municipal Board for its approval.

The speaker was sure the Board would not sanction the program outlined in this case.

Every man intends to have his own way after marriage, but sometimes his wife relieves him of a false impression.

Great Program TO-NIGHT ROYAL 16c. ..TO.. ALL

Entire Change and Wonderful Program TO-NIGHT

Feature Picture Seven Parts
A Rose Bush of a Thousand Years
Another Special Five Parts
A thrilling story of adventure and romance entitled
"Hitting the High Spots"
Episode Twelve of the Lightning Raider Showing Pearl White 2 Parts
Pathe Com In the Junk Man Two Parts
Pathe War Review We claim for this program that it is about the best program we hvave ever presented. Come tonight and matinee
Remember the SPECIAL SHOW for Children
Saturday Morning—9.30 o'clock 10c to all

THEATRICAL

BRINGING UP FATHER AT HOME

Though "Father" will always be the same despite what environment his creator, George McManus, choses to place him in, the fact remains that a change of scene is bound to make anything he says or does doubly interesting. We refer to the dear, lovable and always welcome old Irishman in "Bringing Up Father," the comics which have set the whole world a-laughing these many and merry years. Manager Gus Hill first saw the success of placing the highly humorous cartoons upon the stage. This was about six years and ever since then "Father" has been the hero of such enjoyable and hilarious concoctions as "Father Abroad," "Father in Politics," etc. The present attraction which comes to the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and evening, with the customary matinees, is entitled "Bringing Up Father at Home." The fun is patterned on new lines, running the gamut of ideas sure to be acclaimed original, divertin gand thoroughly modern. In fact, an offering while combining ingredients sure to make an audience sit up and take notice, also contains material destined to find favor with any audience under any circumstances.

Twenty-five beautiful women, talented, versatile, resourceful and vivacious comprise a chorus said to be able to compete with any similar aggregation in the realm of stagecraft. Ensemples song hits specialties sweet and catchy melodies innovations surprises unique lighting effects and other features place this entertainment above the conventional. "Father" will be entrusted to the skill of his creator John Cain. "Mother," will be impersonated by Lyda Kane, who first introduced the character on the occasion of the first performance.

The offering is in three acts and from all accounts is a musical comedy triumph certain to cement Mr. Hill's reputation as a producer and discoverer of unusual attractions.

THE CAVELL CASE

Edith Cavell, who lived with her mother in the little town of Norfolk, England, was being courted by a young neighbor, George Brooks. They were both very much in love with each other, but when it came time for the proposal, Edith declined. She intended to devote her life to nursing and the care of the sick and miserable.

A few years later Edith Cavell became a recognized authority in the field of nursing. She was directress of three Belgium hospitals and Incstructress at the Belgium School for Certified Nurses. During one of her trips back to England she again meets the sweetheart of her girlhood days, George Brooks, who has become a lieutenant in the English Army. During an uprising in Africa, Brooks has been blinded and his wife killed. He has come back to his home town and his only son, Frank, to attend to the preparation for restoration of his eyesight. Edith decides to remain until after the operation.

On August 4, 1914, Lieutenant Brooks regains his eyesight. The same day word is received that Germany has declared war on France and has begun its invasion of Belgium and that England has already begun to mobilize.

Brooks' son, Frank, answers the first call to England's sons and enlists. Edith Cavell goes back to her post of duty in the Brussels hospital.

After the fall of Louvain and Liege, the Huns are about to enter Brussels, when word is brought to Nurse Cavell. She refuses to leave her post. She has received a letter from her old friend, Lieutenant Brooks, telling her that his son has been reported as missing and asking her to do her best to locate him. During her daily trips to the cellars of the hospital where the wounded soldiers of the Allied nations have been placed, she comes upon Frank Brooks. She helps him escape to the Holland border. She is discovered and imprisoned. She confesses that she has helped many English boys to escape. Upon this confession she is taken before the German Military Court and sentenced to die. At two o'clock in the morning of October 12, 1915, this martyr to humanity was marched to the prison yard and shot.

This is the stupendous and dramatic story of "The Cavell Case," Select's big special, produced by Joseph L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll. which will be seen at the Grand Opera House Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Matinee daily.

A BIG SURPRISE

A big surprise is in store for the patrons of the Grand Opera House on Monday, March 31st, when hte manager will inaugurate the new policy of vaudeville and pictures for the first three days of each week. The vaudeville will be the best acts that are to be had, coming direct from Toronto. The price of admission will be slightly increased owing to the enormous cost of securing these big acts and pictures. Seats will be reserved in advance for the evening performances at a nominal price, 25c orchestra, 15c balcony. Telephone reservation will be held until 7.30 evening of performance. Matinees each afternoon at 2.30, exactly the same performance as the evening.

According to reports, Edward de Valera has been in Dublin since Tuesday last.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE
A. J. SMALL, SOLE OWNER

TO-NIGHT TO-NIGHT
Special Variety Program
15 Big Reels 15 —including Herbert Rawlinson in "SMASHING THROUGH"
ALICE HOWELL in a Screaming Comedy "BALED OUT" 2 Screen Magazine—"The World Before Your Eyes." Special Star Comedy and New Two-Act Railroad Drama Entitled "TAPERING FINGERS"
PRICES—MATINEE, 10c; EVENING 15c.

SATURDAY MATINEE and EVENING
THE SHOW THAT EVERYBODY LOVES

The Musical Comedy Sensation
BRINGING UP FATHER
PRETTY GIRLS
CATCHY MUSIC
AT HOME
The Bigge[illegible] Laughing Hit on Record

PRICES, MATINEE 25c & 50c EVENING 25c 50c 75c - $1.00 SEATS ON SALE NOW

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Matinee Daily, Refined Vaudeville and High Class Pictures. Julia Arthur as Edith Cavell in "THE CAVELL CASE." The Woman the Germans Shot.

3 Big VAUDEVILLE Acts
CHARLIE CHAPLIN in "RECKLESS FLING." Screen Magazine, the World Before Your Eyes.
Reserved Seats, Evenings 25c, 15c, 10c. Matinee 15c, and 10c.
Telephone Reservations held until 7.30 for Evening Performances.
SEATS ON SALE NOW

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.
Effective December 6, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:18 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a.m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p.m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

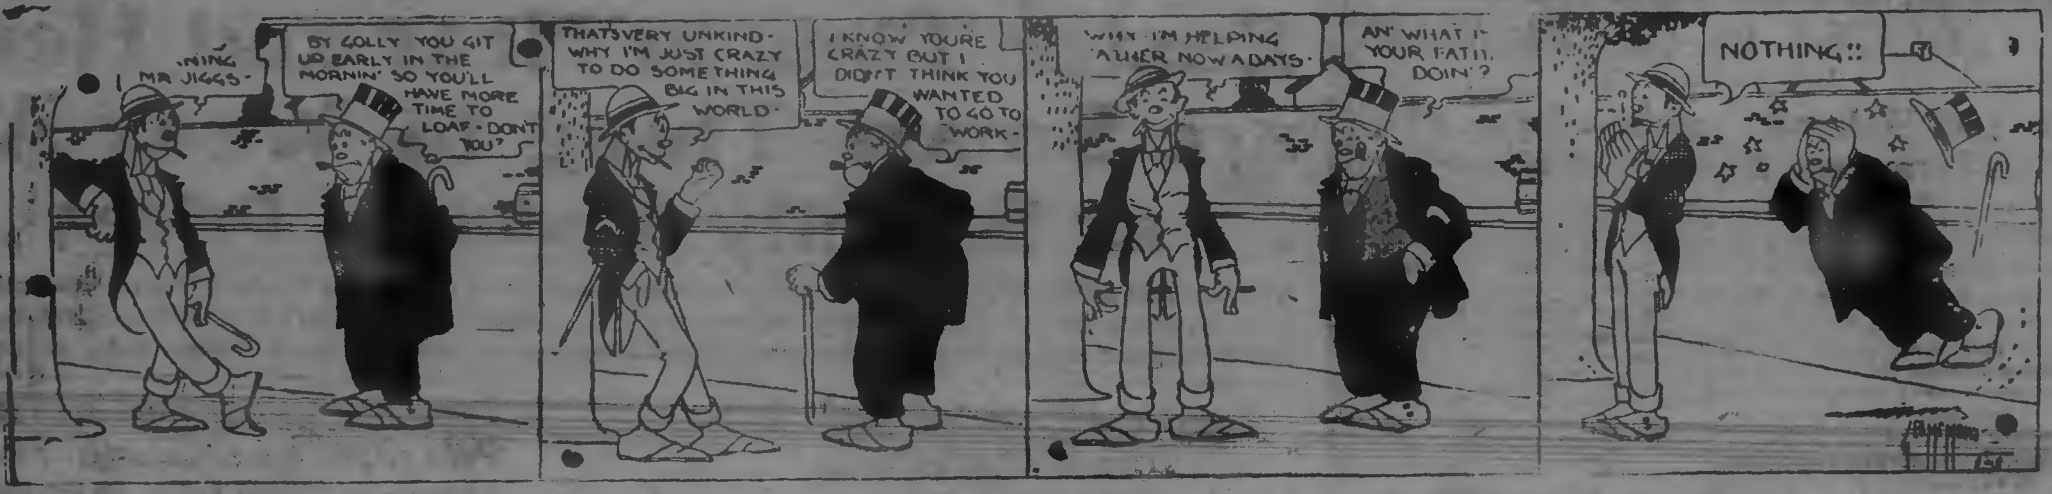
5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston.

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra
Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.00 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.
E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Choice Prunes
Best Apricots
Evaporated Apples
Canned Cherries, Canned Raspberries
Canned Strawberries, Canned Plums.
Canned Pears. Canned Peaches.
Canned Black Currants.
Come and try our fruit
CLOVER LEAF SALMON
Extra Good Potatoes
FRESH EGGS
And Choice Butter Always on hand.
INVALID STOUT
WHITE LABEL ALE
James R. Bell's
SANITARY GROCERY
Phone 455-W 197 Hunter St.
Goods Delivered
CANADA FOOD BOARD
License No. 8-5482

BRINGING UP FATH
BY GEORGE McMANUS



NING MR JIGGS
BY GOLLY YOU GIT UP EARLY IN THE MORNIN' SO YOU'LL HAVE MORE TIME TO LOAF - DON'T YOU?
THAT'S VERY UNKIND - WHY I'M JUST CRAZY TO DO SOMETHING BIG IN THIS WORLD -
I KNOW YOU'RE CRAZY BUT I DIDN'T THINK YOU WANTED TO GO TO WORK -
WHY I'M HELPING FATHER NOWADAYS -
AN' WHAT IS YOUR FATH. DOIN'?
NOTHING!!

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches

in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's
387 George St. Next Turnbull's

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING NEWS

Ivey won two out of three games from Richardson. Scores:

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Ivey	103	95	123	—321
Parsons	176	125	166	—467
Wood	132	121	119	—372
Totals	411	341	408	—1160
	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Richardson	121	116	90	—327
Calvert	120	96	115	—331
Lyle	81	96	115	—292
Totals	322	308	320	—950

MATTHEWS-BLACKWELL WIN FROM SHAMROCKS.

Last night at the Water street alleys in the Five Pin League the Matthews-Blackwell bowlers took three games from the Shamrocks. For the former, Everet was high man with a total of 597 and high single of 250. Moncrief was second with 515. For Shamrocks, Morrison was high with 481.

Next week's games in five pins are as follows:

Monday — Shamrocks v. Lawn Bowlers.

Wednesday—Bankers v. Matthews-Blackwell.

Friday—Turnbull's v. De Laval.

Eggs and Poultry Market is Firm

Market firm, jobbing and country prices unchanged. Consumptive and export demand good. Nine cars rolling seaboard. Poultry market firm. Sales reported frozen turkeys, forty-five (milk fed); chicken, forty-two; other varieties unchanged. Chicago, steady sales on board current firsts, thirty-nine, thirty-nine; half some storage packed sold forty; half forty-two. New York, steady southern firsts, forty; half forty-one; northern, forty-one; half forty-two half.

Denial has been given to the report of the resignation of President Maharyk of Czecho-Slovakia.

FITTING VALEDICTORY TO THE PRINCESS PATS

The Battalion's Record Proud and Glorious One—Ever Carried Out Duty Faithfully

Ottawa, March 26.—An impressive and historic valedictory has been issued by Lieutenant.-Col. A. Hamilton Gault, D.S.O., to the officers and men of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, whom he organized as a regiment and with whom he fought in France and led home in victory. The message as in the form of a "special order of the day" to the battalion on demobilisation.

After referring to the raising of the corps, under the patronage of the Princess Patricia, the Colonel says:

"During the past four and a half years of war, the battalion has ever carried out its duty faithfully; in defence, invincible; in attack, supreme. It never lost a position during the early days of the overwhelming German offensive, and when the time came to attack and the initiative passed into our hands it never failed to capture the objectives allotted to it.

A Glorious Record

"The battalion's record has been a proud and glorious one. On its color will be emblazoned the names of hard-fought battles and stubborn fights, including those of St. Eloi and Ypres, 1915; Sanctuary Wood and the Somme, 1916; Vimy and Passchendaele, 1917; Amiens, Arras and Cambrai, 1918; and to you, my comrades, is all the credit due, for by giving the best that was in you, by always playing the game, you have proved your loyalty to the colors and have made the battalion what it is today.

"The memories of our fallen comrades who have so gallantly given their lives for the great cause in which we have been engaged will ever be present in our lives, and amongst the sacred recollections will be foremost those of our first beloved leader, Lieut.-Col. F. D. Farquhar, D.S.O., who fell mortally wounded in front of Shelley Farm in those early days of 1915; of Lieut.-Col. H. C. Buller, D.S.O., who gave his life gladly in the action at Sanctuary Wood in 1916, and of Lieut.-Col. C. J. T. Stewart, D.S.O., who was killed in the severe fighting before Cambrai in 1918.

Cherished Memories

"To these men and a host of others the regiment owes its all, and it will ever be with affection and pride that their names will be recalled in the years to come.

"I believe we have all returned to Canada better fitted to take up the duties and responsibilities of citizenship in the country we love so well.

"Difficult days may lie before us in the re-establishment of life, but if they are faced with the same steadfastness of purpose which has characterized the years which we have passed through, I feel confident that you will succeed in whatever you may undertake to do.

"To you, one and all, I wish every success and happiness, and the best of fortune in the future years."

U.F.O. BANQUET

(Continued from Page 1.)

wives, sisters, and sweethearts. Mrs. Todd responded ably to this.

To the U. F. O.

Col. Johnston proposed the toast to "The U. F. O.," and Mr. H. B. Cowan, manager of the Rural Publishing Company of this city, made an eloquent reply pointing out the advantages which had followed co-operation and showing the improvement in conditions respecting agricultural interests which had resulted from bringing the influence of an organized nature to bear upon the proper authorities.

Grain Growers.

Mr. Chris. Moore proposed the toast to "The Grain Growers of the West." This was responded to by Dr. Salem Bland, D.D., one of the foremost ministers of the Methodist Church in the Northwest and for a number of years a professor in the Methodist university at Winnipeg.

Dr. Bland's Address.

In expressing the opinion that there had been too much blind trust imposed in party in the past, and in his condemnation of this system of government, Dr. Bland had the sympathy of a large portion of his audience.

His remarks in connection with the tariff question were also received with favor, as he treated this in a moderate manner, stating that it was not the wish of the Western Grain Growers to have the barriers thrown down completely, but they did desire to see them lowered considerably.

Dr. Bland's address from this point forward did not meet with the undivided approbation of his audience. He dealt with conditions in a manner savoring of the Socialist's viewpoint. He referred to a visitor from England, who had once described Canada as a first-rate place for a fifth-rate people to live in, meaning that the aristocracy could find no place here, as quite right. He felt that the advantages of life were not distributed with sufficient equality, and condemned the capitalist in most sweeping terms as a menace to the community.

Not Representative.

A great many of his auditors felt at the conclusion of his address that in so far as some of his opinions were concerned Dr. Bland had not reflected the sentiments of the Grain Growers of the West as a whole or even as a majority.

Mr. Harry Webber proposed the toast to the city, which was responded to by Alderman Edgar.

Short addresses were delivered by Mr. Melleville Staples, president of Fairmount Farmers' Club; Mr. Galvin, of the Lakefield Club, and by Mrs. W. R. Morris, who welcomed the ladies in attendance on behalf of the city.

Musical Selections.

Mr. Frank Whitehouse gave a beautiful selection upon the violin during the evening, which delighted everyone present.

Mr. Thompson gave two comic Scotch selections in such a manner as to make his listeners imagine that the great Harry Lauder was present in person.

The singing of the National Anthem brought a very enjoyable and instructive function to a close.

NEW ZEALAND MARKET OPEN

THE POSSIBILITY OF CANADIAN GOODS FINDING ACCEPTANCE BRIGHT.

The possibilities of Canadian goods finding an appreciable market in New Zealand are promising, says the Journal of Commerce. Previously, importing on the part or that country had been done on a very moderate scale. However, with navigation in full swing, and a larger amount of shipping space, the manufacturers of the Dominion should be able to use the Zealand markets to great advantage. We quote the Weekly Bulletin's deference to their immediate needs: In addition to tools and general hardware, of which large supplies are required, goods, which were largely imported from Germany before the war, will find a ready market in New Zealand if Canada can supply them:

(1) Toys and fancy goods made of leather, wood, metal and basketware.

(2) Lace hosiery (chiefly cotton.) Gloves (fabric and other.) Velvets suitings, underwear, cotton prints, etc.,

(3) Enamelware and aluminiumware.

There is a good demand for the old-fashioned style of enamelware and tinware, but with respect to some articles aluminum has superseded the other classes.

Germany flooded this market with cheap clocks, and the United States have also done a large business. The Canadian manufacturer cannot compete successfully until he manufactures on a much larger scale, making it possible to reduce retail to be on a party with foreign competition.

Many requests for samples of ware and crockery, wire and nails, have been sent to Can it seems very difficult to secure and the large importer who communicates with houses thro New Zealand must necessar supplied with a full line of before he can effect sales. ness is conducted in New the indentor is chiefly a glori mercial traveller, and he can goods numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, without samples.

HARD COA
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SO
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coa
Means Econom
Burns freely and i
of Best Anthracite
Trucking Orders
Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel &
Transfer Co.
163 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

Good Coal Makes War
Friends, and PITTSTON
COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NU
STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COA
WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East Cit
Phone 96 TERMS CA

Orders for Co
taken now. Prompt delivery.
and Wood for sale, also kindling Wood. Second-hand Le
Belting and Scrap Leather for Highest prices paid for all
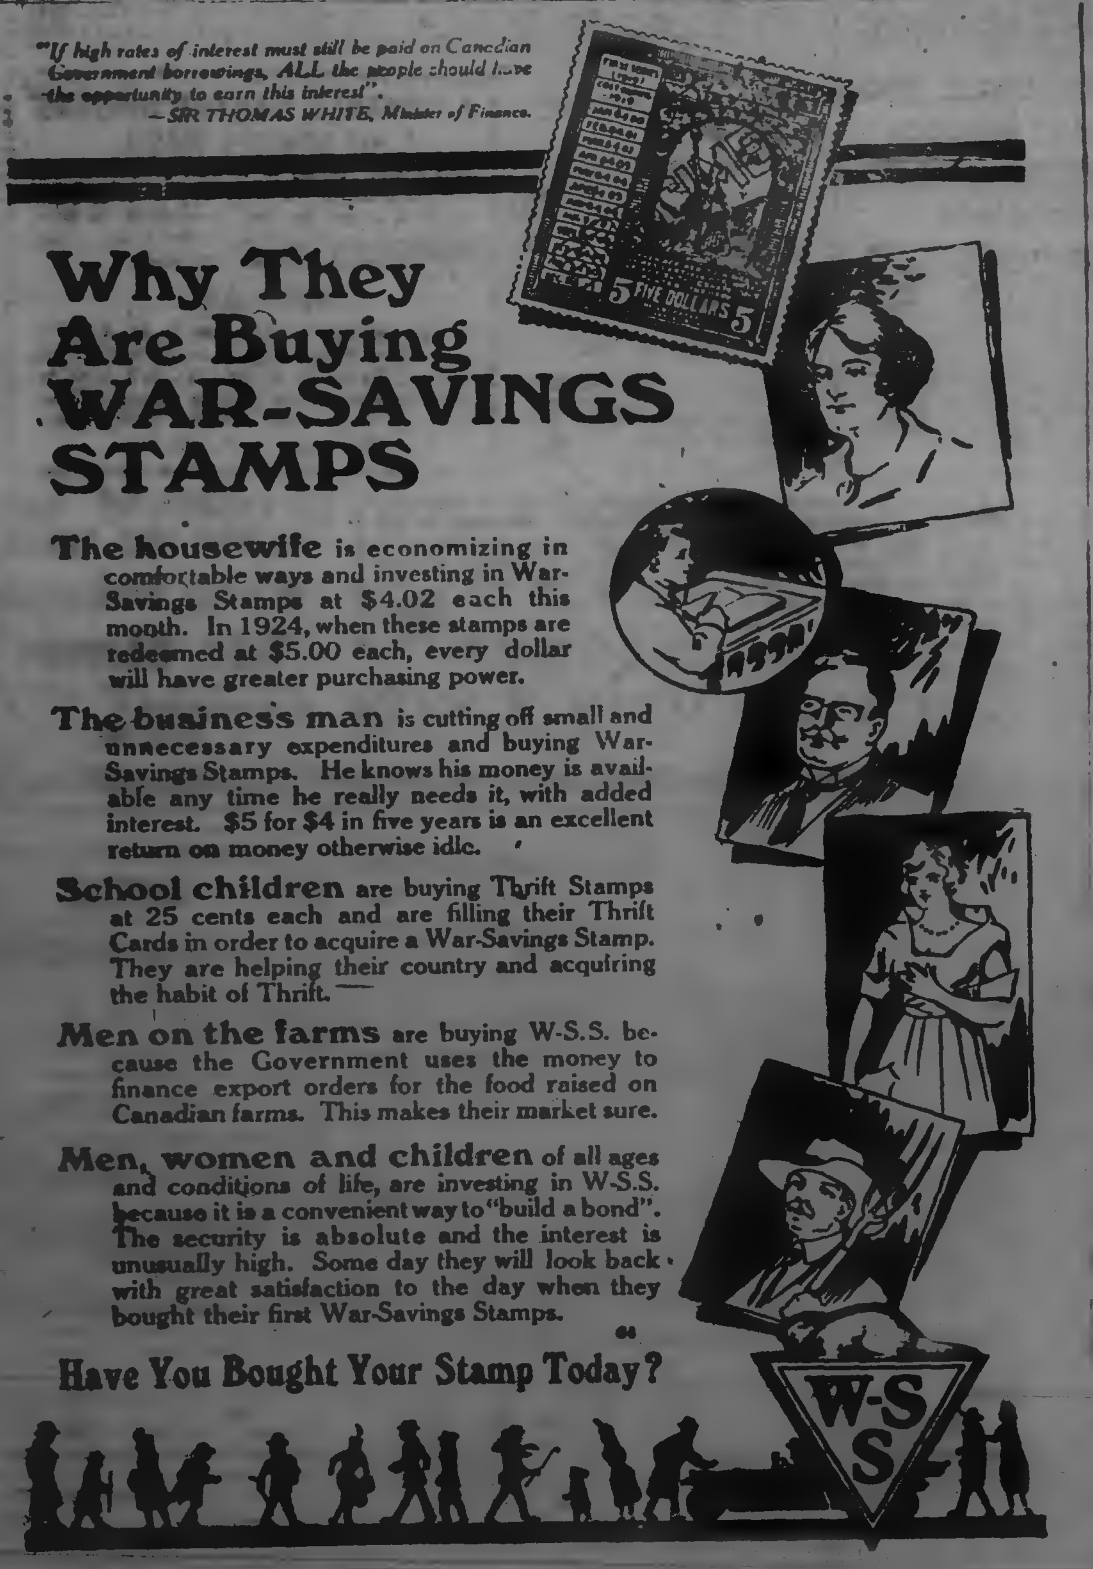
Junk.
Store and Apartment to re
LOW & COMPA
362 Simcoe St. 385
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays 386



"If high rates of interest must still be paid on Canadian Government borrowings, ALL the people should have the opportunity to earn this interest".
—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

Why They Are Buying WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

The housewife is economizing in comfortable ways and investing in War-Savings Stamps at $4.02 each this month. In 1924, when these stamps are redeemed at $5.00 each, every dollar will have greater purchasing power.

The business man is cutting off small and unnecessary expenditures and buying War-Savings Stamps. He knows his money is available any time he really needs it, with added interest. $5 for $4 in five years is an excellent return on money otherwise idle.

School children are buying Thrift Stamps at 25 cents each and are filling their Thrift Cards in order to acquire a War-Savings Stamp. They are helping their country and acquiring the habit of Thrift.

Men on the farms are buying W-S.S. because the Government uses the money to finance export orders for the food raised on Canadian farms. This makes their market sure.

Men, women and children of all ages and conditions of life, are investing in W-S.S. because it is a convenient way to "build a bond". The security is absolute and the interest is unusually high. Some day they will look back with great satisfaction to the day when they bought their first War-Savings Stamps.

64

Have You Bought Your Stamp Today?

Peterboro's
Motor Show
at he Armouries
Wednesday, Thursday & Friday
April 9th, 10th, 11th

Under the Auspices of
The Peterboro Health Association

You are invited to come and see the New Models of the following Cars:

PLEASURE CARS

BRISCOE	FORD
STUDEBAKER	GREY-DORT
REO,	McLAUGHLIN
WILLIS KNIGHT AND OVERLAND	MAXWELL
	CHALMERS
	DODGE

TRUCKS

FULTON	WHITE
STERLING	MENARD
REPUBLIC	FORD FORM-A-TRUCK

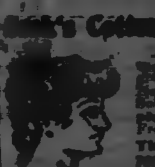
SMITH FORM-A-TRUCK

THE SHOW IS OPEN EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING, AND IN THE EVENINGS THERE WILL BE A GRAND CONCERT TO WHICH AN ADMISSION OF 15c IS CHARGED.

THE ENTERTAINMENT AND MUSICAL FEATURES HAVE BEEN GIVEN EVERY CONSIDERATION.

THE SHOW WILL OPEN WITH A MONSTER MOTOR PARADE, TO WHICH ALL MOTORISTS IN THE COUNTY ARE ASKED TO PARTICIPATE IN.

's Cotton Root C
[illegible]



Barrie's

FURRIERS
Peterborough, Ont.
Ladies Ready-to- Wear
Department

"What to Wear"?

A showing of Authentic styles for spring, in Suits, Dresses, Coats, Skirts, etc., for your inspection, at

BARRIE'S LIMITED

It's going to be a wonderful "dress up spring," and the all absorbing question of "what to wear," is answered here.

The Barrie Building
Phone 340w

hose who wear our glasses know hat to expect of our service. You always count on the quality of work and the spirit in which ur needs are looked after here. you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKeaty, Dentist, 370 George eet. Nitrous oxide and oxygen ad inistered for general anaesthesia. ecial attention to pyorrhoea, re ovable bridge-work and accurately ting dentures.

CLOVER SEED FOR SALE.

I have a quantity of clover seed t from last year which I can sell $27 per bushel while it lasts. lso Royal Purple Calf Meal at $5 cwt. W. J. CHARLTON, Lake ld.

AUCTION SALE.

Houses and Lot.

Saturday, March 29, at 3 p.m., I ill sell for Mr. Samuel Loudry two uses on a 60-foot lot known as Nos. 5-481 Bethune street; this proper y will be sold without reserve. rms $500 cash, balance can remain 5 per cent. Sale on premises.

W. J. HANCOCK
Auctioneer.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any nd, including Bill Heads, Letter ads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Cir lars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW ll give you the best price in the ty and guarantee you first-class . Give us a try. Ask for prices.

CARUSO ALWAYS A FAVORITE

Caruso Victor Records are always vorites. At Victrola Headquarters eatsman Hall, George and Hunter reets, will be found a full range of is famous tenor's records. The fol wing are particularly good: 88599, "Lord Have Mercy"; 88054, "Oh. Par ise"; 87122, "Because"; 81032 "Drinking Song" (Cavalleria Rustic a).

AUCTION SALE.

n Monday next, March 31st, the ousehold furniture, etc., at the me of Mrs. J. Barclay, 582 George reet. No reserve. Sale at 1:30 clock. J. F. Thornton, Auctioneer.

The Review Office will be open turday evening for receiving ac unts and subscriptions. If you are hind in your subscription we will preciate your calling on Saturday ening and paying amount due. Any bscribers not receiving The Review gularly each evening will confer a vor by letting us know. Telephone view 139.

GREETING FOR JEWS WHO FOUGHT IN GREAT WAR

New York Welcome Committee Organized—A Permanent Memorial to Jewish Patriots is in View.

New York, March 27.—To voice the high esteem in which Jewish men of New York who fought overseas are held by their racial compatriots of the city a Welcome Home Committee of prominent Jewish citizens was organized last night in the offices of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society, No. 229 Broadway. John L. Bernstein, president of the society will be chairman.

This committee was organized in special anticipation of the return of the Seventy-seventh division, in which there are about 14 000 men of Jewish birth. When they land in New York they will find that in addition to the general welcoming celebration organized for the division as a whole, a separate reception awaits them in which all Jewish New York, and particularly the east side, where so many of them live, will take part. The committee intends to carry on an extensive canteen service, to have a separate parade arranged for them, to feast them and to throw open all the Jewish theatres to them.

Among the other features which the Jewish Welcome Home Committee is preparing is the illumination of the east side and a dinner for the officers of the Seventy-seventh. The members also will co-operate with the Mayor's Committee in organizing the general celebration welcome for the entire division.

After the return of the Seventy-seventh the committee intends to turn its attention to the erection of a permanent memorial to the Jews of New York who died in France for their country. This will be erected in Seward Park, or in some other location advised by the city officials.

Among the members of the committee are Representatives Henry M. Goldfogle and Isaac Siegel, Jacob I. Friedman, Dr. Max Girdansky, Judge Aaron J. Levy, Jacob B. Sain, Samuel C. Lamport, Jacob A. Rosalsky. Joseph S. Marcus, Mrs. Samuel Mason representing the Jewish Red Cross, and Leon Sanders, formerly Judge of the Municipal Courts and the present Grand Master of the Independent Order of Birth Abraham, which has sent 8 500 members overseas.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Bertha Tamblyn is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. R. H. Fortye has returned from an extended visit to Hamilton.

Mr. Fred Brown, of Montreal, was in the city yesterday on business.

Mrs. William Todd of Orillia, president of the Ontario branch of the Women's Institute, was the guest of Mrs. F. E. Malott, Trinity parsonage, while in the city this week.

Rev. E. Snider of Toronto visited this city today, the former pastor of the Free Methodist Church.

REPRESENT PETERBOROUGH

Mr Jake Solomon and Fred Craig are the representatives from Peterborough to the meeting at Port Hope on Wednesday, which is being held to organize the Midland Baseball League.

WOOD FOR SALE

No sawmill operating in Peterboro this season. Save money on coal and hard wood by buying at once your spring and summer supply of mill and swamp wood from the McDonald Estate, Phone 176. Team loads delivered to any part of the city at the following low prices. Cash with order.

Lumber butts, a few loads, at ..	$4.00 per load
Pine mill wood, sawn 12in, 16in.	$4.00 per load
Hemlock mill wood, sawn 12in. 16in.	$4.50 per load
Swamp wood, good, sawn 12in., 16in.	$5.00 per load

BAND PRACTICE

The 57th Regiment Band will practice tonight.

"THE LAND OF PROMISE"

Where and what is it?

That is what the Young People's Society of Knox Church is going to let you know in the near future. Watch this paper for further announcement.

BOARD OF TRADE

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the election of the officers and council and for the consideration of routine special business is called for Tuesday evening, April 1, 1919, at 8 o'clock sharp in the council room of the Board on the 2nd floor of the Dominion Bank Building at George and Simcoe streets. The presence of all members of the Board and delegates of all affiliated associations is especially desired at this meeting when subjects of extraordinary interest to Peterborough are to be submitted for concerted discussion and action.

J. J. TURNER, President. BASIL D. HALL, Secretary.

Lloyd Smuck of Richmon, a well-known hockey player, has, while ill with a severe attack of influenza fever, recovered his hearing and is regaining the power of speech which he lost through typhoid fever in childhood.

ALL SAINTS' NEW CHANCEL

WILL BE FORMALLY OPENED ON EASTER SUNDAY—ARCHDEACON WARREN COMING.

It is evident that the English Church men of the South End are not asleep, for they have tackled a piece of work in the way of church extensions that will be of great credit to them.

There was no chancel attached to the Church. All there felt the need of that addition and a few weeks ago, a number of the men, led by Mr. George Lancaster, made up their minds to erect a chancel, on their own account, without costing the church a cent as far as the labor was concerned.

The new Chancel will be formally opened on Easter Sunday in the evening, when Archdeacon Warren is expected to be present for the occasion.

On the following Wednesday evening, which will be St. George's Day evening, the Bishop of Ottawa will be the preacher. This service will be held in St. John's as on former occasions, and on the following Sunday, April 27th, the Bishop of the diocese will be the preacher in the morning. Also a confirmation service will be held by the Bishop.

DANCING CLASSES

New classes in social dancing will be organized at the Conservatory Hall begining Tuesday evening next, April 1st. Children's Class will meet at 4.30, and adults at 7.30. Classes under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Hall.

One robbery a night has been the record at Brantford for some weeks past.

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

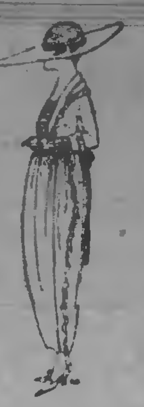
Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors.
LEATHER, RATTAN,
WICKER, WOOD,
METAL and GLASS
or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle
AT
Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.



Easter Time is Near and Here are Smart Thing to Wear All . . at Strictly Moderate Prices . .

And our Ready-to Weor Department is abloom with New Styles for Easter Time. Mostly all New Arrivals Directly from New York. SUITS, DRESSES, SKIRTS and BLOUSES. All carefully selected, because of the good Style they show and the good valne they represent

Smart and Exclusive Styles In Women's Easter Suits

Fashion's decree is well illustrated from our fine display of new Easter Suits, which are shown in a beautiful collection of choice models in both style and fabrics, and displayed in all the fashionable colors for Easter wear. As regards value, our suits offer you the best.

Special---Tailored Suits of Navy and Black Serge, $29.75

Always correct, always in good taste, suitable for every occasion—these splendid qualities endear the tailored suit to women who like smart simplicity. Then, too, you will certainly like the clear cut, simple lines of these smart suits. They are new—very new- and the value is something you will deeply appreciate. See them.

These New York Dresses are Prettier Than you've ever Though Possible

20 Styles to Choose From, all at One Price $18.50

Every Dress is a New York model—absolutely the last word in style, unique and original in design, and made from a very fine quality all wool botany serge. Sizes for misses and women. Navy blue, black and green. The low price at which we offer this special lot of New York Dresses brings these charming garments within the reach of the most moderate purse.

New Dolman Capes, $25.00

See These To-morrow

They are all of men's wear serge, in rich, deep shades of nevy blue. The full flare effects that have made such a hit with fashionably attired women. Some are trimmed with black silk braid.

Two Big Bargains from the Curtain and Drapery Department, you cannot afford to miss Saturday Morning. On Sale Sharp at 10 o'clock

NONE SOLD BEFORE NO TELEPHONE ORDERS ACCEPTED

English Chintz, Gobelin Tapestry and Silk Tapestry Regular Value for $2.50 to $4.50 yard, Saturday, yard $1.50

Some are in short lengths of 2 to 4 yards, others with as much as 20 yards to a pattern. Regular $2.50 to $4.50 a yard. Rush price Saturday morning, your choice, yard ... $1.50

$3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 Marquisette Curtains Saturday, Pair $2.98

90 Pairs of Fine Marquisette Curtains, 2½ yards long; some are plain with only hemstitched edge; others are trimmed with pretty lace edge, and others are both lace and insertion trimmed. Regular $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50 a pair, and extra value at these prices. They are an exceptionally big bargain at to-morrow's (Saturday's) low price of, pair $2.98

Rich Silk Suiting Poplins

PARTICULARLY SUITABLE FOR SPRING SUITS AND DRESSES

Regular $1.75, Saturday, Yard 98c

All the New Spring Shades

Owing to the great response we had on Wednesday to our sale of rich Silk Suiting Poplins, we will continue the sale on Saturday. We have added a good many different shades, such as victory blue, American beauty, old rose, nigger brown, pewter grey, taupe, grass green, as well as black, to make the assortment complete. Thirty-five inches wide. Do not miss this opportunity to buy high-grade, superior quality Silk Dress Poplins at a big bargain price. Regular $1.75. Saturday Bargain, yard 98c

SUPERIOR HIGHGRADE $1.25 WASHABLE CHAMO SUEDE GLOVES, PAIR 98c

An extra special Glove Bargain for Saturday. New Spring weight, washable Chamo Suede Gloves; perfectly made kid glove, cut two dome, self and fancy points; black and white and all the new costume shades; all sizes. Regular $1.25. Also a few pair of Black Kid Gloves are included, in sizes up to 6 only. Saturday Bargain, pair 98c

Boxed Stationery 15c

14 boxes only, odd lines that must be cleared. Regular 25c. Saturday Bargain 15c

Odd Lines in Veiling 5c

Odd lines in Veilings, in a big range of colorings and patterns. Regular up to 60c. Saturday Bargain ... Yard 5c

A NOTABLE EASTER DISPLAY OF SPRING HATS

Our Easter Display of Millinery is unrivalled for individuality in style and elegant taste. We have styles for everyone—children, misses, women and matrons. For street, afternoon, business or mourning wear.

SPECIAL

We are specializing this season on a line of smart New York Hats, in ready-to-wear and tailored styles, at $5.00. At this price we show Hats in all the leading Spring colors—Hats for misses and women. A big assortment of forty styles to choose from.

Staple Bargains

30c White Cambric, yard	25c
50c Oxford Shirting, yard	39c
40c Wrapperettes, yard..	29c
$1.25 Table Damask, yard	97c
75c Bleached Sheeting, yd.	59c
40c Linen Crash Towelling Yard	25c

Counter Soiled Neckwear, Regular up to $1.00 Clearing at 25c

About three dozen odd pieces of counter soiled Neckwear, in piques, organdies, net, voiles, and cord silk, in a range of good wearable styles. A trip to the tub will make them as good as new. Regular 75c, 85c, 90c and $1.00 ... Saturday Bargain 25c

INEXPENSIVE BUT DAINTY ARE THESE White Habutai Silk Blouses

Made up in smart tailored style, and priced at $3.00

RICHARD HALL & SON
LIMITED

FUNERAL OF LATE J. S. FITZGERALD

The funeral took place yesterday to the Lakefield Cemetery of Mr. John S. Fitzgerald who died on Monday, March 24, 1919, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. W. Davidson, Antrim street. The service was conducted by the Rev Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's Church, assisted by the Rev. P. L. Jull of the Lakefield Presbyterian church.

The deceased had been ill for about a year and had been confined to his room for the last six months. He was born in Smith township in the year 1840, where he lived all his life until afew years ago when he made his home with his daughter, his wife having predeceased him 23 years ago.

He leaves to mourn his loss three sons and one daughter, Mr. A. J. Fitzgerald, Toronto; Dr. J. W. Fitzgerald, Buffalo, N.Y.; Dr. R. H. B Fitzgerald, Lockport, N.Y.; Mrs. R. W. Davidson, Peterborough Ont. Also a brother and sister, Mr. Sam Fitzgerald, Chatham and Mrs. E. Sanderson, Chicago.

He was an elder of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church for over 40 years and always took a keen interest in church affairs up to the time his illness began.

The pall bearers were Mrs. Wm. M. Graham, Thompson Braden, Webster Blewett, and Sherman Garbutt, Lakefield; T. E. Finlay, Norwood and H. B. Cowan, Peterborough.

STOLEN BY A RUSE

Rome, March 28.—A million dollars worth of leather goods have been stolen here by a ruse, it was learned today. The goods were shipped from Turin and were delivered to unknown persons in the local freight yards on presentation of a forged bill of lading.

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone 837 PETERBORO

Real Estate Bargains

HOUSE NO. 514 BOLIVAR STREET, a first class two storey brick house, containing six rooms, bath room fully equipped, also a good furnace Deep lot and situated in a very nice part of the city. Can be purchased at a very low figure. For inspection call at my office 136 Hunter street.

HOUSE NO. 282 PERRY STREET, nice comfortable brick house, modern improvements, with large lot. Situated convenient to factories, schools and churches. I am offering this house at a very low price and would give easy terms to a purchaser.

583 BETHUNE STREET. Good two storey cement block house, situated near the corner of London Street and having all modern improvements except furnace. Convenient to the car line and also near the centre of the city. This house is offered for sale at a reasonable price and easy terms.

SPLENDID LOT CONTAINING NEW FOUNDATION 20 x 28 FEET, on Roger Street, East City, well built and all window frames, door frames required, also a quantity of lumber. Situated in a very nice locality and with the new bridge soon to be built this property will advance in price. Will sell now at a right price and give purchaser any reasonable terms.

For inspection of any of the above places and particulars, apply,

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, West
Peterborough, Ont.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Heenan
140 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 448 J. Peterboro

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED

Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St. Phone 224J

WEATHER FORECASTS.
North west winds. Sunday—cool and unpleasant.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 75 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

PEACE CONFERENCE WILL NOT VIOLATE TERRITORIAL RIGHTS

Points of Treaty Drawn Up by Lloyd George Deliberately Framed in Spirit of Great Moderation.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 29. (British Wireless Service)—Efforts which the delegation with the Peace Conference is making to procure for the world the clearest possible peace will bear fruit in the peace treaty shortly to be made public, a Paris correspondent of the Westminster Gazette declares. He states on the authority of "a highly placed personage" that the conference does not mean to violate territorial rights, and that fears on this point felt by interested people in Europe are quite unfounded. The correspondent says that points of the treaty drawn up by Premier Lloyd George, and which will serve as a basis for discussion, have been deliberately fromed in the spirit of great moderation, because it is felt that the treaty must be something acceptable and desirable.

"Certainly peace will be a stern one for Germany," the correspondent continues, "but the greatest care is being taken that it shall be just in the eyes of the moderate and well informed Germans.

SELF-DETERMINATION

The principle of self-determination will be rigorously kept in mind with regard to allocating the territories." The correspondent quotes his informant as remarking "there must be a casus belli left to Germany, otherwise you will have blocks of people clamoring for an alliance with the Fatherland."

The correspondent points out, however, that Germany had deliberately created a German populated wedge on essentially Polish territory and that Germanw will have only herself to blame if she finds her nationals under polish administration. "British influence," the correspondent asserts, "is nevertheless indefinitely arrayed against inflated pretentins."

ARTILLERY ACTIVE AT ARCHANGEL

ALLIED FORCES HOLD ROAD BOTH SIDES OF TOWN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Archangel, March 29.—Allied artillery was active today in the vicinity of the village of Bolshoia Osera, but cloudy weather hindered the work of the aviators, who were observing the effects of the cannonade. In the meantime, Allied forces holding the road on both sides of the town were engaged in strengthening their positions.

Conditions elsewhere along the front are unchanged, according to a headquarter's report.

Railways Will Put Clocks Ahead

The Canadian railways have issued official notice to their officers and employes to put their clocks and watches ahead tomorrow morning from 2 a.m. to 3 a.m.

RUSSIAN MONEY BARRED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 29.—A proclamation was issued last night prohibiting, except under license issued by the treasury, the importation into the United Kingdom of all ruble notes other than those issued by the financial department of the provisional government of North Russia at Archangel.

POLAND NEEDS WAR MATERIAL NOW LYING USELESS IN FRANCE

Might Need to Equip 500,000 Men to Repel Various Attacks—Not Affected by Bolshevism

According to a correspondent to the Chicago Daily News, the Poles are seeking unused war material from the Allies. "We have men and officers, but no uniforms, rifles, munitions or artillery'" said Gen. Pilsudski provisional head of the Polish state, in an interview here today with the American press representative of the American mission to Poland.

"Poland," continued the general, "is attacked on three sides and cannot protect herself without technical war material, which she is not yet equipped for manufacturing."

Gen. Pilsudski said he was grateful to the Allies, especially America, from which Poland had received something definite—food. Asked how many men he would need to equip, the general answered:

"I should say we might need to equip 500,000 men. Much material in France that the Allies have no more need for might well be spared for us. America has guns, ammunition, airplanes and automobile trucks, which she will not transport back to America. These equipments would be of infinite value to us."

Could Repel Attacks.

Questioned as to whether with the Polish army equipped the various attacks on Poland could be repelled so as to produce permanent peace, Gen. Pilsudski replied:

"I believe so. Our army would be superior in morale. The German army now is demoralized. When men have lost faith in the leadership of their generals their spirit has been broken and they no longer obey their officers properly. With the patriotic enthusiasm of our troops I believe we could soon bring the Germans to terms.

"The Ukrainians are superior to us now in equipment, but they are organized by former officers of the Austrian army. They may be capable of certain defensive fighting behind trenches, but they are incapable of offensive fighting. The Ukrainian army is superior to us in equipment today because it has the arms and ammunition which the Austrians and Germans left in great profusion.

"The Bolsheviki, our third enemy, have always conquered by destroying the morale of the troops opposed to them. They have negotiated with the soldiers of the enemy and when the day of battle came the generals opposing the Bolshevik forces have found themselves deprived of the support of their men.

No Bolshevism There.

"The impetuous patriotism of the Polish troops will be unaffected by 'k. On the contrary, there were many Poles in the Boshevik army who joined it to escape starving to death. These men, I know, will come over to us. Today the Bolsheviki themselves are superior to us, since they have the arms and munitions of Russia and also those which were obtained from the Germans. When we are properly equipped we will have little difficulty in defeating the Bolsheviki."

Gen. Pilsudski said he hoped the matter in issue between Poland and the Czecho-Slovaks would be settled by diplomacy. Asked if the other conflicts could not be settled by negotiations the general said he did not think so.

"Possibly the Germans may accept the allies' terms," he added, "but I doubt whether in spite of the question of right they will give up Poland without a struggle."

AUSTRIAN STRIKE SPREADS REDUCING BREAD RATIONS

Vienna Cut Off From Outside World—All Traffic Almost at Standstill—Hungaria Heeds Protest and Releases Ukranians.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, March 29—The strike in Austria was extended on Friday afternoon to the northern railway and as a consequence traffic between Vienna and the outside world is almost at a standstill, according to Vienna advices received here.

It is said that if the holding up of food trains continues today, the bread rations will be reduced by one half everywhere next week.

MISSIONS RELEASED

Hungarian Government Heeds Protest From Ukranian Government

Berne, March 29.—The Hungarian Government has released members of the Ukranian mission arrested at Budapest, restored property belonging to the Mission valued above one million crows, and made an apology to Ukraine, according to the Ukranian press bureau here.

The Ukranian government entered protest following the arrest of its mission at the Hungarian capital.

SUSPENSION OF ARMISTICE

This is Possible According to a Berlin Report

Berlin, March 29.—The Lokal Anzieger publishes a statement that it understands that a suspension of the armistice with the entente allies is possible.

WOULD NOT JOIN RUSSIAN SOVIET AGAINST ENGLAND

SAYS HUGO HASSE, INDEPENDENT GERMAN SOCIALIST, ATTACKS MINISTER OF DEFENCE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Weimar, March 29.—In the National Assembly today, Hugo Hasse, Independent Socialist Leader, made a violent attack upon Gustave Noske, the Minister of Defense, for his methods in suppressing recent strikes shooting o fSpartacans and othed alleged abuses of his power, claiming thta the Defense Ministers course constituted returning Imperialism.

Herr Hasse also attacked Chancellor Scheidemann for under-estimating Sunday's demonstration in Berlin in favor of General Ludendorff, declaring this showed that the present military leaders of the nation were standing solidly behind Ludendorff, supported by Conservatives and other parties of the right, as well as a portion of the Bourgeoise. Herr Hasse, who was frequently interrupted during his attack, declared in favor of entering into immediate relations with Russia, saying that Ukraine would soon be able to supply Germany with raw material and later with food. He said, however, that the Independent Socialists would not consider a treaty with Russia as one militating against England of the Entente in general.

Stop Mennonites At American Border

PRAIRIE PROVINCES INDIGNANT AT GOVERNMENT'S DELAY.

Regina, March 29. — Indignation over the delay of the Union Government in announcing its immigration policy is bringing on a crisis that may lead to serious results from the three prairie provinces, according to the G. W. V. A.

Negotiations have been opened with railway workers to tie up all trains carrying Mennonites into the Canadian West or to declare a general strike if these people are allowed to come in with the sanction of the Government.

According to statements made yesterday, the three entry points of the prairie provinces will be picketed with returned soldiers in an effort to stop Mennonites at the international border.

Wires have been sent to C. G. MacNeill, national secretary, acquainting him with the mood of the returned men, and to Hon. J. A. Calder.

RETURNED SOLDIERS.

Fourteen returned men for this city arrived on the G. T. R. morning train and were welcomed by Mayor Duncan and Secretary Whatley.

GERMAN REPLY ON LANDING OF ALLIED TROOPS

SAYS GERMANY DID NOT UNDERTAKE TO GIVE FREE ACCESS TO POLISH.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, March 29.—The full text of the German reply to the Allies concerning the landing of Polish troops at Danzig shows that Germany made a point that it did not undertake to give free access to the Polish army to West Prussia, in armistice agreement with the Entente powers. The reply says:

"Since conclusion of the armistice the entire situation in Posen, West Prussia and Danzig is entirely changed.

"In offering the ports of Stettin Koenigsberg, Memel or Libau, German Government says that, 'All necessary facilities for speediest possible landing and transit of General Haller's army to Poland will be provided'."

"From the standpoint of railroad facilities," the reply adds, "the routes to and from the city lead more speedily to the goal, without entailing interruption of importations of foodstuffs to Poland."

TORONTO CLOCKS AND WATCHES GO FORWARD

Toronto, March 29.—This morning Mayor Church issued a proclamation officially placing the city on a daylight saving basis, at 2 a.m. Sunday. From that hour daylight saving time will be Toronto city time, according to the proclamation. The City Solicitor is not quite sure of the Mayor's powers in this matter, or as to legality of his action, but the public sentiment in this city is generally behind the daylight saving proposal, and it is expected that the majority of citizens will put their clocks and watches forward accordingly.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 29.—The Peace Conference commission on a League of Nations probably will hold its final session on April 4th, it was indicated today. At that meeting foundations of the League will be definitely announced.

MASSACRES DENIED.

Buenos Ayres, March 29.—Charges said to have been made in the Unite dStates by the Zionist organization of America that hundreds of Jews were massacred here on January 9, were denied by Argentine authorities.

WILSON CABLES SUFFRAGISTS

EXPRESSES HOPE THAT SUFFRAGIST AMENDMENT WILL BE ADOPTED.

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—The following message from President Wilson at Paris was read at the session of the National American Woman's Suffrage association convention here yesterday:

"Best wishes for convention. I earnestly hope suffrage amendment will soon be adopted.

"WOODROW WILSON."

At a later meeting today Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston, Ill., will discuss how laws defining the legal status of women can be unified and improved, and Dr. Valeria H. Parker of Connecticut will explain how woman can assist the movement toward social morality and hygiene.

HUNS CHEERED BY FOOD AND PEACE

SHOW SIGNS OF RELIEF AT ARRIVAL OF FOOD FROM AMERICA.

Berlin, March 29.—With the arrival of the first American food ship this week and the conference of the German financial experts at Weimar preparatory to going to Versailles on Sunday, Germany seems to feel that peace is nearer than at any other time. The feeling of depression that had been growing in every part of the country at the continued disorders and the increasing Spartacan riots lifted at least slightly at the news that concrete results finally were at hand.

The arrival at German ports of the first American food ships was just in the nick of time to meet the crisis in the food situation. The potato ration in Greater Berlin was reduced this week to three pounds, and no fresh meat is available to residents of cities. They are receiving canned meat from remnants of the army stores.

Conditons in the illegitimate food trade offered one of the best indications of the approaching exhaustion of food stocks. A month ago the average restauranter could set before customers whom he could trust to protect him and who had plenty of money, a meal of the most satisfactory sort. Now some of the restaurant proprietors are scouring the country in vain.

Serious Disorders Occur at Danzig

Paris, March 29.—A rumor was in circulation here last night that the Interallied Mission at Danzig had been interned. This morning's newspapers, however, declare that no confirmation of this rumor had been received in French official quarters. According to a Paris edition of the London Daily Mail, the telegram received at the French Foreign Office reported serious disorders had occurred at Danzig, instigated by Pan-Germans. The demonstrations are declared to have been directed at the Inter-allied Mission.

MR. AYERST'S COUNSEL

Toronto, March 29.—The statement was made at the License Department this morning that T. L. Monahan had been retained by Inspector Ayearst for the investigation before a judicial commission into the charges made by Mr. Hartley Dewart of South-west Toronto. If the Government refuses counsel to the Opposition it is hardly likely that the License Department will be represented.

NORWEGIAN SHIP GOES DOWN.

Philadelphia, March 29.—The Joseph J. Cuneo, a Norwegian tramp steamer, sank near Lewes, Del., in an eighty-mile gale which damaged shipping along the Atlantic coast yesterday.

TURKS DO NOT REALIZE THAT THEY ARE DEFEATED

ARMENIANS ARE SLAIN AT ALEPPI

PEOPLE SHOT DOWN IN MARKET BY MOSLEM GENDARMES.

Athens, March 29. — Advices from reliable sources at Constantinople state that a massacre of Armenians by Moslem gendarmes occurred recently at Aleppo. It is reported that forty-eight Armenians were killed, 111 seriously wounded and 150 slightly injured. It is alleged that the gendarmes burst into the Armenian market and attacked the people assembled there and that the troops in the barracks at Aleppo did not arrive on the scene until two hours after the massacre.

The authorities have arrested two hundred persons and will try them before a court-martial composed of two British, one French, two Armenian and two Arabian representatives.

THINKS SERBIA IS UNGRATEFUL

AFTER SERIOUS REVERSES SERBS RECEIVED ASSISTANCE FROM ITALY.

Rome, March 29.—The advices reaching Rome by telegraph in regard to certain pretended declarations which the Serbian minister in Paris, Dr. Vesnitch, would like to have made in regard to the aspirations of the government of Serbia have made a deep impression in political circles where several persons of first importance are not adverse to recognizing a new species of interested movement against the just and legitimate demands of Italy.

Dr. Vesnitch who most likely will be one of the delegates of Serbia at the Peace Conference after indicating that the frontiers of a Greater Serbia, formd by the union of the Croats, Slovenes and Serbs living between the boundaries of the country called till now Serbia and outside in the lands at one time subject to the Austro-Hungarian empire should include Greece, Bulgaria, Rumania Hungary and the Adriatic, spoke of Italy as follows:

"Italy in the firm belief of the Serbian government has no right to reclaim the eastern coast of the Adriatic. The governments of Great Britain, France and Russia agreed with Italy to give her these coasts or a large part of them at the Conference of London in 1913. But neither France, England or Russia had any right to dispose of something which did not belong to them; and we cannot recognize on the basis of this agreement the right of Italy to any part of the eastern Adriatic littoral."

The Serbian minister to France would go further. In regard to Trieste he would raise doubts and opposition to the rights of Italy even to that city.

The comments of that portion of the Italian press which takes these remarks seriously are certainly not kindly for the one who made them, or for the Serbian government if it authorised them. The first comment made is that of ingratitude on the part of Serbia which during the war and after its reverses, received from Italy and almost alone from Italy the greatest assistance, which enabled Serbia to save the remnants of its army which had been scattered and put to flight.

One of the newspapers thinks is opportune to repeat the words of Caesar: "tu quoque, Brutus!"

Show Littte Regret That They Were Teutons' Allies During the War

The Turks are by no means convinced that they are vanquished, and show few signs of regret that they were ever the allies of the central powers, according to a French correspondent who has returned to London from Constantinople. The correspondent attributes this failure on the part of the Turks to realise their actual situation to the fact that the British and French commanders in the Turkish capital have not acted like conquerors and imposed their authority on the Turks.

The correspondent declares that he was unable to convince the leading Turks of the complete victory of the allies and of the definitive crushing of the German military power, and adds that this is due to the fact that the allied troops did not enter Stamboul with flags flying, because the allied officers did not install themselves as masters in the different ministries and because the military authorities did not take over all the administrative offices and police the city.

The committee of union and progress no longer exists, legally, says the Frenchman, but its creatures still occupy their posts in the ministries and in the police service. "They are very active and offer us a very bitter and systematic opposition," he continued. "This frequently takes the for mof spreadin grumors of disagreement between France and England on the subject of the future of Turkey. They assert that it would be to the advantage of England and France to placate Turkey and to leave Constantinople as the Turkish capital.

"On one of the Princes islands, Prinkipo, the German marshal, Von Sanders Liman Pascha, is comfortably lodged and receives the adherents of the old regime and between dessert and cheese they openly plot against us without far of disturbance.

"The Germans, who know the Turks treated them as they should be treated, with brutal force, and that is the only attitude which can be accepted toward them. We should bring home to them the realization that the allies are in reality the conquerors. We must act with energy and firmness if we desire to retain our predominant influence in Turkey."

ARMY OF WORKLESS PEOPLE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 29.—The support of the unemployed is costing the municipality of Greater Berlin one million marks a day. A clerical force of 2,300 with a weekly pay roll of 100,000 marks is required to keep track of the army of workless people.

NEARLY MILLION ALLIES ON ALL EASTERN FRONTS

369,465 Men Are on the Two Russian Fronts—Interesting Data

Paris, France, March 29.—The total strength of the allies' forces on the Archangel and Siberian fronts is 369,465, acording to figures given by Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister, in his address to the chamber of deputies last night.

U.S. Men at Archangel 4,920

The figures as to nationalities were given by the foreign minister as follows:

Archangel front—British 13,100; United States 4,920; French, 2,345; Italians, 1,340; Serbians, 1,290; Russians 11,700; total, 34,765.

Siberian front— British, 1,600; Canadian 4,000; United States, 7,500; French, 7,600; Italians, 2,300; Serbians, 4,000; Russians, 210,600; Poles, 12,000; Roumanians, 4,000; Japanese, 27,000; Czecho-Slovaks, 55,000; total 324,700.

Nearly Million on East Front

The total forces of the allies on the various eastern fronts, M. Pichon stated was 850,000. This total was divided as follows: French, 240,000; Russians, 190,000; British, 140,000; Italians, 40,000; Serbians, 140,000; Greeks, 200,000.

The eastern front alluded to by M. Pichon presumably take in the Balkans, Asia Minor and possibly the Ukraine.

THE DAILY REVIEW

Established 1879.
Member of the Canadian Press, Limited.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (Holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; R. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept ... 181. Editorial ... 434.
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

SATURDAY, MARCH 29, 1919

SALE OF MILITARY AND NAVAL STORES.

ATTENTION IS DRAWN to an advertisement in this issue announcing a sale by tender of surplus military and naval stores. The material to be disposed of includes dry goods, camp supplies, food, hardware, scrap metal, junk, cloth, new and second-hand clothing, equipment, tents, blankets, camp supplies, flour, jam, canned evaporated milk, tea, coffee, condemned clothing, old brass, leather, rubber, etc. This sale will offer a good opportunity for dealers to acquire the aforementioned material at a price which will allow a fair margin of profit for re-disposal. The sales will be made by tender, and those desirous of taking advantage of the occasion are asked to communicate with the secretary of the War Purchasing Department, Ottawa, furnishing in their communication a list of the goods in which they are interested, and whether new or second-hand, or both.

Arrangements will be made to have samples on exhibition at places throughout Canada; specifications, full details and tender forms will be mailed when ready to those who have registered as suggested above.

A special and commendable feature of this sale is that the War Purchasing Commission has established prices at which Dominion, provincial and municipal departments, hospitals, charitable, philanthropic and similar institutions which are conducted for the benefit of the public and not for profit may purchase goods without tender

SHOULD HEED THE WARNING.

MR. CHARLES H. CAHAN, K.C., was commendably outspoken before the Empire Club in Toronto when he told his audience that the seeds of revolution had been spread throughout Canada by Socialistic propaganda of German origin. But what good will come of it? All during the war, despite the well-known activities of German sympathizers in Canada and the United States, pro-German publications found their way into this country and were never thoroughly excluded. And papers teaching anarchial doctrines and recognising no laws, printed in foreign languages, are circulated ~~in Canada~~ today among those who can read them. As a remedy for this dissemination of pernicious literature, Mr. Cahan quite properly suggests that these papers should be forced to carry the English translation of their articles in a parallel column. And why not? Surely no country should be so freely democratic as to permit the stranger within its gates opportunity to propagate the seeds of revolt he brought with him from his fatherland, where in most cases he was marked as "dangerous' 'and "undesirable." The average Russian immigrant to this country is of the lowest order and readily receptive to sedition and treason. Others, besides the Russian, from Europe are of the same calibre, as we had evidence of the other day in the West, where a number of foreign-born refused certificates of allegiance. Such people are dangerous in any community and should be promptly returned whence they came.

According to Mr. Cahan, publications from Soviets had been circulated almost as widely in Canada as in Russia, and there are but few of the thousands of Russians in the Dominion who are not affected by this propaganda. If this is so, it is high time Canada took heed to the warning that we still have with us that same revolutionary Socialism which during the war gave signs of the will to take advantage of any vital reverse that British arms in Europe might sustain.

ROOM FOR SUSPICION.

THE REPORT that complete peace and order reigns in Budapest and that revolution and the inauguration of a Bolshevik government has been accomplished without bloodshed, comes as a surprise. It is so contrary to the appalling precedent so in Russia that one wonders what lies behind it all. The only changes in economic and social conditions seems to be that quite suddenly Budapest and the whole of Hungary have adequate food supplies, that illegitimate children have the same rights as legitimate, and marriage is to be one of civil ceremony only. Financial interests have been protected and the banking business is being prosecuted in an orderly manner. So foreign is al lthis to bolshevism, as demonstrated to the world since Russia fell its victim, that we must regard Hungary with suspicion as planning to use the name in a well-disguised attempt to intimidate the Entente Allies into a moderation of the peace terms under consideration.

USE IT EVERY DAY.

THERE IS ALWAYS something pathetic about seeing a home that does not possess a musical instrument of some kind, especially if there are children growing up there. Yet it is ~~doubly pathetic to see a home that~~ has an instrument, but a silent one. Do not allow your piano, phonograph or organ to fall into disuse. A musical instrument in the home is no good unless there is music in the home.

The best way is to plan to have some music every evening. There are families where this is done. One instance that comes to mind is of a mother that figures on her three little children hearing some music every night just before going to bed. Usually the mother plays and sings for them. A second family known of are making good and continuous use of their phonograph and their splendid collection of records. One evening they will have eight or ten violin selections by various violinists. Another time it will be choruses from the great oratorios and operas. Again, it will be a round of orchestral records. When feeling ready for some fun they will have monologues and popular songs. Sometimes the pieces are varied and records played promiscuously. But the point is, they are enjoying their music systematically day by day.

Family singing, unfortunately, is not as much in vogue as it ought to be. It is a great delight to see a family of boys and girls and their friends around the piano giving themselves up whole-heartedly to song. Use your musical instrument whatever it is. Use it regularly and as often as possible. There is rest and comfort and recreation and joy in music. Get all you can out of it.

A NECESSARY FEATURE.

THE WAR SAVINGS SOCIETY is a necessary feature of the War Savings campaign. The experience of Great Britain and the United States has demonstrated this. People these days move in large groups and masses. It is a period of mass formations. Not only does the uniting of persons into groups, such as War Saving Societies, promote thrift and saving among themselves; but it provides an organized force for the carrying on of the campaign among others. In other words, War Saving Societies supply a selling force.

It is necessary that something more should be done than to talk about War Savings and Thrift Stamps. They must be placed. Members of War Saving Societies, convinced of the benefit of saving both from a personal and a national standpoint, will help greatly to place these stamps. In short, they will be a continuous W. S. S. driving force in the community.

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND LABOR.

REPRESENTATIVE laymen and laywomen in England, appointed by their Graces, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, to consider the application of Christian principles, as found in the New Testament, to the social and industrial problems of the day, have embodied their conclusions reached in a volume entitled "Christianity and Industrial Problems."

Their report contends that Christianity offers mankind a spiritual ideal sufficiently definite and comprehensive to supply a criterion of human conduct and institutions. It works out this contention, and urges that the Christian principles of the sacredness of each human life, the rightfulness of claims for liberty of development and for equality of opportunity and consideration, the duty of mutual help and corporate service, are the indispensable and sovereign things. It also maintains that the character of the social order must be tested by the degree in which these sovereign principles are faithfully and courageously applied.

In reviewing existing industrial conditions, these churchmen and churchwomen conclude that the defectiveness of the industrial system is in itself so defective that the application and practice of Christian principles are exceedingly difficult, and they urge that the solution of the industrial problem calls for improvement in individuals and changes in the industrial system itself. The committee then go on to say, as outlined in the Westminster Gazette, that "the fundamental evil of modern industrialism is stated to be the encouragement of competition for private gain instead of co-operation for public service. Special stress is laid on such inherent defects of the present system as the treatment of human beings as 'hands'; the absence of responsibility on the part of these employed for the permanent results of their industry, and of human interest in the work which they do; a disposition on the part of some of those engaged in industry to seek their own advantage at the expense of the community by unduly limiting the output, raising the prices, or deteriorating the quality of the work which they perform; the co-existence of poverty and riches; the sense of insecurity and the mutual antagonism and suspicion between the different parties engaged in industry. . . . It is urged that the fundamental change in the spirit of the system which is essential to a solution of the industrial problem must be based upon a full acceptance of two principles. First, that industry is a social function, and is carried on to serve the community; secondly, that the relations between the different parties engaged in it should be determined by considerations of right and justice, not merely by economic expediency or economic power. . . . Among the specific reforms needed are the establishment of a full living wage, including continuity of employment; the application of surplus profits to the benefit of the whole community; the setting up of workshop committees, industrial parliaments, and a National Industrial Parliament representing the statesmanshep of all parties concerned in industry; the empowering of local authorities to acquire and hold land for such purposes as they may deem proper; the provision of sufficient and healthful housing accommodation by the State and by local authorities."

It is gratifying to learn that the Church of England has thus instituted practical energy in connection with those problems which today face the industrial world. For the Church, as the expounder of those Christian principles of the brotherhood of man, should go hand in hand with the State in advocating such conditions as will make for closer relationship between capital and labor and a permanent settlement of industrial unrest.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

REACTION.

(The Statesman.)

The extreme tactics of prohibitionists have resulted, as every sensible person must have foreseen, in the swing of the pendulum in the direction of greater freedom. That a return will be made to a beer and wine license is now generally conceded. Quebec is taking the lead in reforming the drinking habits of the people. This reform does not follow the lines of repression, but is dictated by the reasonable demands of those who see in the repression of legitimate desires an incentive to worse social evils than those wich have attended the old licensing system. Our prohibition friends forget that the spread of temperacne is due to the changing habits of the people. This cannot be forced by coercive laws.

THEIR PROPER NAME.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Cayenne pepper and other stuff calculated to distress players was thrown into hockey uniforms in a dressing-room at the Toronto Arena, and skates were tampered with. The object was to cause a team to lose a match. This is about the most disreputable of many unsavory incidents in connection with hockey in various parts of Canada. Some of our so-called sport followers are apparently just plain two-legged skunks.

THE SPRING TONIC FOR PALE, THIN PEOPLE

If You Want to Gain in Weight and Recover Your Appetite, Energy and Ambition, Try This Well Known Remedy.

With the passing of winter many people feel weak, depressed and easily tired. The body lacks that vital force and energy which pure blood alone can give. In a word, while not exactly sick, the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon them, and a blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic is needed to give renewed health and energy. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-year-round blood builder and nerve tonic, but they are especially useful in the spring. Every dose helps to make new rich, red blood, and with this new blood returning strength, cheerfulness and good health quickly follow.

If you are pale and sallow, easily tired, or breathless at the least exertion; if your complexion is poor, or if you are troubled with pimples or eruptions, Dr. Williams Pink Pills are just what you need to put you right. If you have twinges of rheumatism, are subject to headaches or backaches, if you are irritable or nervous, if your sleep does not refresh you, or your appetite is poor, you need the treatment which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone can give—you need the new blood, new health and new energy this medicine always brings.

A COMPLETE WRECK

Mrs. C. Forsythe, R.R. No. 2, Fisherville, Ont., says: "At the age of fourteen my daughter Viola was feeling very much run down in the spring. Then she was attacked with whooping cough which left her a complete wreck. She had no appetite could not sleep well at nights and was subject to chills which sometimes kept her in bed for the day. She was doctoring steadily, but not apparently getting the least benefit and I naturally grew very anxious One of my neighbors suggested giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a box. When she began using the pills she weighed only 87 pounds. Before the box was all gone I sent and got six more boxes, and under their use she constantly grew stronger. Her appetite improved, the color came back to her cheeks, she could sleep well and feels and looks like a different person, and with all this while using the pills she gained 20 pounds in weight."

A SALLOW COMPLEXION

Miss Gladys Marshall, Chatham, Ont., says: "I suffered from nervousness and my blood was in a very poor condition. My face broke out in pimples and my complexion was very sallow. I took doctors' medicine but without beneficial results. I was feeling much discouraged when a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used in all six boxes and was overjoyed to find that my complexion had become quite clear, pimples had disappeared, my nerves were strengthened and my old-time health and ambition returned. I shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.'

GAINED IN WEIGHT

Mrs. M. B. Rickert, Kitchener, Ont., says: "I was weak, run down, and losing weight when I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took the pills steadily for a month, and the difference they made in my condition was most gratifying. I gained both in strength and weight, and feel since I used the pills like a new person. I also recommended the use of the pills to my daughter-in-law, who was pale, thin and weak. When she began using the pills she weighed only 103 pounds and when she discontinued their use she weighed 137 pounds. For all weak people I think there is no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

A SPRING COLD

Mrs. Chas. Winegarden, Delhi, Ont. says: "Last spring my daughter Ruby was taken with a bad cold. She seemed weak, had a constant pain in her side, grew pale and as the remedies usually used in cases of this kind did not help her we feared she was going into a decline. I decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and got six boxes. Before she had used them all, she was well again and strong. The cough had left her, she had a good appetite, the pain in her side disappeared, and a nice rosy color had returned to her cheeks. I have therefore much reason to speak warmly in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Notwithstanding the increased cost of all drugs, there has been no change in the price of our Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They can be had through any medicine dealer at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, or will be sent on receipt of price by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MONTREAL DETERMINED ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

"If Government Does Not Give Us the Measure, We Will Take It," is the Cry.

Montreal, March 27.—The business heads of Montreal are, according to the Montreal Daily Star, very much agitated because of the indications from Ottawa that the Government will not adopt "daylight saving" time. If the Government kills the idea, then lynch law is likely to be applied to the old method of reckoning time in Montreal. "If the Government does not give us 'daylight saving,'" said one prominent business man this mornng, "we will simply take it. We will start a movement whereby the important centres of Canada will adopt daylight saving and our big industries will adopt it in spite of the Government's decision to the contrary."

Affects Steamboat Lines.

The Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., whose boats call at both American and Canadian ports alternately on the lakes, confess that they will be in a terrible state if the Canadian Government fails to enact daylight saving. "If the Government does not adopt daylight saving the confusion to the public will be terrible," said one official. "We will be losing and gaining hours alternately throughout every voyage. We were so sure that the Government would pass the daylight saving bill again that all our time tables for Rochester, Niagara, Clayton, Alexandria Bay and other connecting points had been prepared on that basis, and they will have to be all thrown away and some make-shift envolved. We are taking steps now to appeal to the Government to carry daylight saving. Everybody was so sure it would be re-enacted that no action to impress the value of it on the Government was taken—every business man was perfectly certain its usefulness had been so thoroughly proved that they have mapped out their program accordngly."

Resolutions strongly in favor of passing of a daylight saving law have been already passed by the Montreal Board of Trade, the Trades and Labor Council, the South Shore Board of Trade, the Rotary Club, the Canadian Club, the Chamber of Commerce, and many other organizations of influential business men.

Individual members of these organizations have determned that if the Government does not pass the law putting back the clocks an hour before the United States change in time takes place, they will launch a campaign with a view to forcing action to be taken.

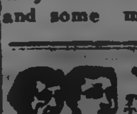
Banks Want It.

The banks explain that their business will be hindered by the clash of the system. Banks will have to be opened an hour earlier for out of town customers who have daylight saving time and kept open an additional hour for their regular customers.

Already many concerns have decided to adopt daylight saving. It is announced that the Montreal Stock Exchange will be operated on the daylight saving system. Present indications are that there will be a sort of hodge podge system of time reckoning in Montreal if it is not officially adopted in Ottawa.

The manufacturers, many of them, already have decided to adopt daylight saving without moving the clocks ahead, simply by putting their employes to work an hour earlier and permitting them to quit an hour earlier. A strong movement is on foot in Montreal which will doubtless take definite form this week.

It is a long time since the temper of the business men of Montreal has been so strongly aroused as in this instances.



Wood's Phosphodine.
The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

THE KNIGHT AND HIS FAITHFUL STEED.

A Play.

Scene—Olden times.

Knight, (Riding along on his faithfill steed looking for a lady in disdress to rescue out of it.) Its a fine day, all rite. Its a fine day and Im a fine night with a k. Joak. Well, Id bin riding erround heer for about a week now, and I must say I don't see eny more ladies in diadress. It ain't like the good old days wen there was more ladies in diadress than wat ther was knights. If I dont see one soon darn if I dont bleeve Ill stop being a knight and go to werk. Hark, wat do I see? A lady in diadress leening frum the top of yon tower with her bewtifill hair hanging down. Adv zerzooks, to the rescue!

(He galops over to beet the band on his faithfill steed.)

Knight (tying his faithfill steed to the bottom of the tower and starting to clime up to the top.) Im glad she's got her hair hanging down, thats the kind Id rather rescue than all the other kinds put together, maybe its jest because Im used to rescuing those kind.

Lady with her hair hanging down. Hay, who invited you?

Knight. I have came to rescue you. Im a knight and I dont need to be invited.

Lady with her hair hanging down. And I dont need to be rescued, either. I think its too bad if a lady cant come up to the top of her tower to dry her hair without some funny looking knight climbing up and scraping all the plaster off with his armor.

Knight. Well, aint yoo in diadress?

Lady with her hair ranging down. Sutch a ideer!

Knight. Good night without a k (Climes down and rides away on his faithfill steed looking diskusted.)

Lady with her hair hanging down. Hee hee.

The End.

The wisdom of a woman who is vain of her beauty is equal to that of a man who is vain of his brains.

Don't strike a man until you are sure that he deserves it—and then be sure he is smaller than you are.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the whole alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

Bad resolutions are good ones that have been broken.

DO YOU SEW?

A person with imperfect vision cannot do perfect work without proper glasses.

If after sewing a short time, you find your eyes smart and burn you probably need glasses.

At any rate you should have your eyes examined to determine just what is the trouble.

Better have your eyes examined NOW.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE FRIDAY and SATURDAY

WILLIAM DESMOND IN
"THE PRODIGAL LAR"
A Satire on Western Stuff

EDDIE POLO in the Greatest Serial Sensation of all time
"THE LURE OF THE CIRCUS"
Chapter 12

"A STRANGE ESCAPE" 2 Parts

ROSCOE ARBUCKLE IN
"FATTY, THE BOUNCER" COMEDY

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Splendid Bluebird Feature, FRANKLYN FARNUM
$1,000 Reward
Special for Monday LOUISE GLAUM in
S·H·A·C·K·L·E·D
CHARLIE CHAPLIN Sketch
DOUGHNUTS BY WISE

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c
Final chapter BRASS BULLET Tonight.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

Starting Monday March 31st
and each week thereafter

THE ROYAL THEATRE

WILL be a link in the chain of PARAMOUNT THEATRES LIMITED, and will offer a grade of pictures not to be equalled by any other chain of theatres

Time and care will be given to the shows selected for the Royal and Mr. Pappas will give his personal attention to the presentation of each production, to this end he will have the co-operation of the Paramount Theatres Limited executives.

The following is an example of what you may expect

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

William Farnum
AS JEAN VALJEAN
IN VICTORE HUGO'S
Immortal Masterpiece
"Les Miserables"
other attractions
Vitagraph Serial
Mutt and Jeff Comedy

Thursday, Friday & Saturday

After an absence of many months one of the screen's most pleasing personalities
Anita Stewart
Returns in
OWEN JOHNSTON'S
Sensational story from the Cosmopolitan Magazine
"Virtuous Wives"
other features
Pearl White Serial
Harold Lloyd Comedy
Pathe News Weekly

ALL WEEK
The Popular Tenor
FRANK BESSENGER
Late of Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo" Company
THE KIND OF SONGS YOU LIKE TO HEAR

16c TO ALL — Price Remains the Same Afternoon and Evening — 16c TO ALL

TORONTO POSTIES MAY STRIKE

MAY JOIN WESTERN LETTER CARRIERS IF GOVT. DOES NOT ACT AT ONCE.

Toronto, March 28.—The Executive Committee of the Postal Clerks' Association, Toronto branch, have forwarded a letter to the Cabinet Ministers, the Toronto M.P.'s, Mayor Church and the president of the Board of Trade calling attention to the fact that postal employes in the West have resolved to go on strike on April 15 unless their grievances are removed. It is pointed out that Toronto letter carriers and postal clerks are in sympathy with the Western men and may be involved in [illegible] urges that steps may be taken to induce the Government to remove the causes of unrest immediately.

The two main points of difficulty are the barrier of qualifying examination against third-class clerks, who receive their appointments after April 1, 1912, whilst those who received appointments prior to that date have been promoted to second class clerks at more pay for exactly the same kind of work, and the equalization of salaries between East and West.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, morning acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatuence, water brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Four Good Lessons to Remember

First—Once your kidneys are affected, chronic complaints are sure to follow—if you don't remove the cause immediately.

Second—You can't neglect kidney or bladder derangements and stay healthy. Putting off will never cure. You must assist Nature.

Third—The symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble—the commonest symptoms—are: Pains in the back and sides, swollen joints, painful urination, brick dust deposits, and constant headaches or dizziness.

Fourth—The sure and safe remedy for all afflictions caused by weak or deranged kidneys is Gin Pills.

Gin Pills have been the means of restoring thousands of chronic sufferers to health and strength again. If you suffer from kidney or bladder troubles—use Gin Pills. They seldom fail to bring relief.

Read what Gin Pills did for Mr. James Stackhouse, of Toronto. Mr. Stackhouse became convinced that he was in for an attack of Kidney trouble. Although subjected to X-ray treatment, the cause could not be located. Finally he was forced to leave his work and go to a hospital. His place was filled by another, as he never expected to go to work again.

Five boxes of Gin Pills put him on his feet again, and to-day he is physically fit again and ready for work.

Sold everywhere for 50c a box. A free sample on request by writing to The National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ontario. U.S. residents should address Na-Dru-Co., Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. 170

SINGER OF SWEET SONGS.

Few singers, indeed, have won such a reputation as that of Frank Bessenger so early in life, and it is with a great deal of satisfaction that the Royal Theatre announces his engagement for next week. Mr. Bessenger is a lyric tenor and has appeared with marked success at many of the largest theatres in America, and especially those which make a specialty of good music. He possesses a very extensive repertoire, including many of the best operas, and while he leaves nothing to be desired in his presentation of that class of music, it is no secret that the more popular class of songs are rendered with equal artistry and with decided effect. Mr. Bessenger sings songs that please, and his engagement here will undoubtedly prove extremely popular.

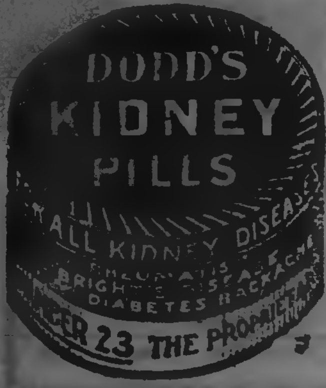
SIR SAM AND DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Sir Sam Hughes in the House of Commons on Thursday said he hadn't the slightest objection to the people of the cities and towns advancing their clocks. They could pass bylaws to suit themselves, but why inconvenience those who did not want the inconvenience. He protested against th resolution on behalf of the farmers.—Lindsay Post.

Scene from John Cort's show of youth, beauty and fashion, "Flo Flo," the big joyous musical furore that delighted smart New York all last year at the Cort Theatre, New York. Coming to the Grand Opera House on Saturday, April 5, matinee and night.

Educating the Many

Every once in a while we hear somebody breathing a protest against popular education. It is condemned as a breeder of discontent, a maker of unhappiness.



"There is no earthly use in educating the multitude," is about the way the protest usually runs. "It only puts into their heads ambitions they never can achieve.

"When they find that they cannot achieve them they become bitter and angry. Then they are fuel for any mischief-making demagogue.

"And even if they do not blossom into social malcontents they are certain to be unhappy because of the contrast between ideals they have acquired through education and the hard realities of their lives."

What are the facts?

An uneducated man is almost always a man severely handicapped economically. Only in exceptional cases can he make a good living. As a rule he finds it impossible, or next to impossible to make a decent living.

He may not appreciate the reason for this failure. But he is sure to appreciate the fact that he has failed this while others are prosperous he is in poverty. Then, not unnaturally, bitterness and anger fill his mind. He is only too likely to feel inclined to stir up trouble and pull others down to his unhappy level.

In others words, it is ignorance, not education, that gives rise to irrational outbreaks making for anarchy. What actually is needed is, not to put a check on popular education, but to provide more facilities for popular education than the world has yet seen fit to provide.

Education liberalizes, rationalizes, uplifts, fortifies men for the stern struggles of existence. It brings sweetness and light, not bitterness, even to those whom poverty oppresses.

Talk with the educated poor as a certain Englishman, Harold Begbie, has lately been talking with them. Question them, as he has done, about the effect of thought and learning on their souls.

Begbie talked with colliers, doorkeepers, porters, poorly paid clerks, workers of many types. What they told him compelled him to the conclusion:

"So far from supporting the conservative assertion that book learning brings only misery to those in poverty the general verdict justifies adult education on grounds that would satisfy the strictest utilitarian.

"For these men, at any rate, communion with the wisdom of the ages and the beauty of the world has not made their workaday lives intolerable. Rather has it so widened their vision and increased their responsiveness that only by this communion can life be endured.

"Their ignorance was never bliss their wisdom has never been folly. The Pierian spring has quenched a raging thirst and brought happiness without frenzy, joy without reaction."

You, too, I warrant, will make findings similar to these if you probe, as Begbie probed, the inner life of any large number of workers who, whether early or late in life, have gained an education.

And henceforward you will not dream of opposing—you will wholeheartedly support—every project for making the blessing of education available to a larger and larger numbers of boys and girls, of full grown men and women.

H. ADDINGTON BRUCE, in the Chicago Daily News.

DR. VERGE DEAD.

Quebec, March 29.—The death occurred here unexpectedly Thursday night of Dr. W. A. Verge, at the age of 65 years. He also took an active part in politics, and as a candidate was defeated in Quebec Centre for the House of Commons.

STUDENT SUICIDES.

Philadelphia, March 29. — George Hutchinson, aged 27, of Augusta, Maine, a third year dental student at the University of Pennsylvania, committed suicide by hanging himself in the basement of his rooming house here yesterday.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW

MONCUR'S
double-strength
LUNG SYRUP
is
REMARKABLE REMEDY FOR
Obstinate and Racking Coughs
Colds
Congested Lungs
Bronchitis

People who have used this Remedy, do not Believe there is a Better
PRICE 25c and 50c
Moncur Drug Store 407 George Street

CORRECT WAY TO BEAUTIFY SKIN

Why Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Recommended to Relieve Face of Pimples, Blackheads and Other Such Eruptions

SEND FOR FREE TRIAL PACKAGE

According to writers of medical fame calcium exerts a peculiar influence in the skin. It is thus considered a necessary constituent of cutaneous health. And it is this substance that has given Stuart's Calcium Wafers such popularity. As a rule, pimples, blackheads and other such facial blemishes may be traced to an excess of impurities being eliminated through the skin and it is the activity of calcium that enables this process of elimination to be carried on more completely.

The results have been noted in a much finer skin texture, the gradual disappearance of the blemishes and a really beautiful complexion. This is considered the correct way to a handsome, lily-like skin. Get a 50-cent box of these wafers at any drug store and observe how nicely the skin soon clears. If you would like to first test them, fill out the coupon below and mail it for a free trial package.

Free Trial Coupon.

F. A. STUART CO., 501 STUART BLDG., MARSHALL, MICH. Send me at once, by return mail, a free trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Name ....

Street ....

City .... State ....

IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

At the morning service tomorrow morning the Rev. W. L. H. Rowand will give the last sermons of the David series on "David the Poet," dealing especially with the twenty-third Psalm, which it is said that almost every Christian Scotchman sings at least once a day.

In the evening the Rev. Dr. Murray of Winnipeg will speak in the interests of the Forward Movement and will give an interesting exposition of conditions in Western Canada.

The public are cordially invited to these services. Special music will be provided.

Because they are somewhere between the upper and the nether millstone the sad eyed fourgeoisie can see no good in class warfare.

Cure That Cold Don't Get Grippe

You know how quickly Zutoo tablets cure headache and break up colds—how soon they allay the fever.

Take them at once when you feel the first pain or shiver—the first symptom of a cold.

Taken then, they will prevent the Grippe. Taken after it has developed, there is nothing better for the pain and fever.

Take Zutoo

First Meeting For Organization

OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COM. — PROBE WILL OPEN WEDNESDAY.

Toronto, March 28.—Preparations were made yesterday for the investigation which the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature will make into the accounts for the last six years of the Ontario License Board, following up the charges preferred against Chief Inspector J. A. Ayearst last week by Mr. H. Hartley Dewart. The first meeting of the committee was held yesterday for organization purposes, when Mr. Chas. McCrea of Sudbury was elected chairman.

Three motions were made for the producing of documents and for the appearance of officials before the commission. Lieut.-Col. H. A. C. Machin of Kenora, who attacked the Government for the methods pursued in enforcing the O. T. A. in the House a couple of weeks ago, presented the first motion. He asked for the appearance of all the members of the License Board—Chairmen J. D. Flavelle, Vice-Chairman W. S. Dingman, and Commissioner Smith—Chief Inspector J. A. Ayearst, Eudo Saunders, the solicitor to the board, and Mr. Mowat, an official of the License Department; also directing them to produce all papers, documents, etc., in connection with the enforcement of the law during the past year.

The second motion was made by another Government supporter, Mr. E. Elbert of South Huron. He asked for the production of the accounts covering the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act. Hartley Dewart, K.C., presented the third motion, asking for the production of all accounts of the License Board from 1913-14 down to the present time.

The first evidence will be heard next Wednesday morning, and each subsequent morning until the investigation is completed. The appointment of Mr. McCrea as chairman had the support of both Conservatives and Liberals. The nomination was moved by Hon. T. W. McGarry and seconded by Mr. Sam Carter (South Wellington).

TRINITY CHURCH

Sunday services in Trinity Methodist Church tomorrow, the pastor, the Rev. F. E. Malott, will preach at both services. His sermon themes will be, morning "The Growth of Faith;" evening, "The Great Invitation." Mrs. King will sing at night. At the meeting of Trinity Brotherhood at 3 p.m. Mr. Hughson Johnstone will give an address. All are welcome at these services.

WIDOW OF FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE INDORSES TANLAC

MRS. PATRIE GAINS TWENTY POUNDS AND HEALTH IS RESTORED.

A great many people, especially ladies of culture and refinement feel a great reluctance in publicly endorsing a proprietary medicine although they have derived untold benefit from its use, as publicity is more or less distasteful to them.

To a great extent this is the case of Mrs. D. E. Patrie, who lives at Portland Hotel, Portland, Oregon. However, to use her words, "she feels that he would be ungrateful and delinquent in her duty if she did not tell others of the wonderful benefit she has received from Tanlac."

While Mrs. Patrie has lived in Portland a number of years, her former home was in Idaho. Prior to his death, her husband was one of the most prominent men in Idaho, having been sheriff of his county several years, and later being elected sheriff and recorder of Bingham County. Afterwards he was elected secretary of state, and at the same time served as chairman of the central committee of the state Republican party.

In speaking of her experience with Tanlac, Mrs. Patrie recently said: "I weigh just fifteen pounds more now than I ever did in my life, and have actually gained twenty pounds since I began taking Tanlac. My health failed about a year ago. My appetite left me almost entirely, and I didn't relish what little I did eat, and I just felt tired and listless all the time. I was extremely nervous and never slept well and would just lie in bed and long for daylight to come. I finally decided to take a trip back to Idaho thinking that a change might do me some good, but I didn't improve at all.

"In a very short time after I began taking Tanlac I could see that it was going to do me lots of good, and it is simply wonderful the way I improved. I have a splendid appetite now, and thoroughly enjoy my meals without any bad after effects. My nerves seem to be in perfect condition and I am thankful to say that I get good, sound, refreshing sleep every night. It is wonderful how my weight and strength have increased and I can truthfully say that I am as well and strong now as I ever was in my life. I never lose an opportunity to praise Tanlac, and when my friends remark about my wonderful improvement, it affords me great pleasure to tell them that Tanlac is entirely responsible for it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield, by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

MARK ST. SERVICES

At Mark Street Methodist services tomorrow, the pastor will speak in the morning on "The Fourth Word From the Cross" or "Victory for Despair". In the evening he will take up the temperance issue.

This is a live question of very great importance. All citizens will be made welcome.

Have You Heard These?

The "Phonola" records are the newest double disc records. They are played with the sapphire point—no needles to change.

"Phonola"
REGISTERED

New Double Disc Records

are beautiful, clear, full-toned records, practically indestructible. The most popular artists in America make records for the "Phonola." Band, Orchestral, Instrumental, Vocal and Talking records in a wide variety of classical, popular, sacred, patriotic, Hawaiian, and dance selections are in the "Phonola" list.

A new list of 10-inch double disc records issued every month. All sold at one price—90c. each.

If there is no dealer in your locality handling these newest of records—The "Phonola" Double Discs—write us for list of records.

"Phonola" records are reproduced most faithfully on the "Phonola"—10 styles of cabinets, from $25 to $340.

DEALERS.—The "Phonola" line of phonographs and records make a most attractive agency proposition. There are some localities where we require good, live representation. Write us for particulars.

90c

The Phonola Co. of Canada, Limited
Kitchener, Canada

The only authorized Dealers in Peterborough for the "Phonola" and Phonola Records is

The House of Quality The Royal Music Co. 439 George St.

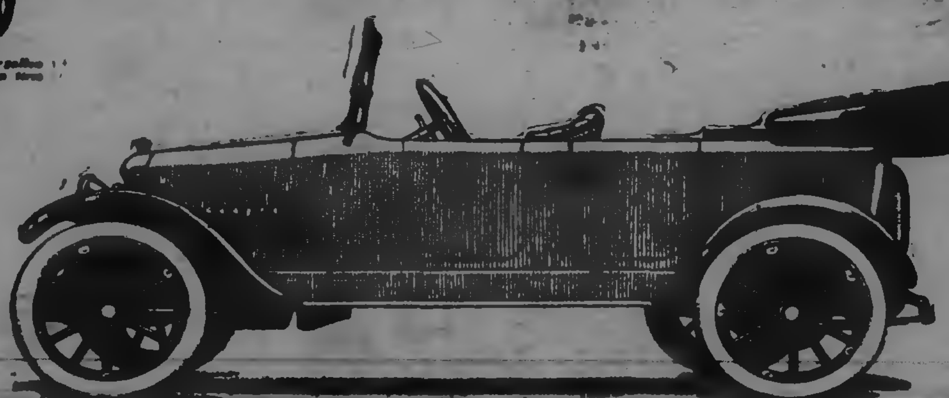
J. O. FIFE, Manager. P. J. SCOLLARD, Sec.-Treas.

More miles per gallon
More miles on tires



We couldn't make the Maxwell any better; so we made it better looking

AN artist never frames his masterpiece until he finishes it.

So the new Maxwell, a completed work, is now robed in new garments.

They do not make it run any better. They make it look better.

Mr. Whistler, the famous artist, were he here today and saw a new Maxwell pass on the street, would probably himself give it a second look.

A little touch here, the straightening of a line there, the bringing of a fender a little closer to the wheel, a circassian walnut dash before you as you sit at the wheel, the strength lent by putting the gas tank in the rear, the multiplication of bonnet vents, the adding of three more painting coats, the increased thickness of the seat cushions—these, though but a few of the many changes made,—show the tendency of the new beauty.

It is in the sum of many little things that the full story is told.

The car was first checked off in squares, as a doctor sometimes marks off a man's chest and back to test every square inch of the lungs.

And there was an improvement made in nearly every square.

When the task was done it looked like a different Maxwell.

But it wasn't.

It was the same, sound, go-get-there chassis built to stand the gaff of rough and ready driving, built to endure, to "stay put," to stand all the erratic moods of the careless driver.

It was a five year drive to reach this present peak of Maxwell efficiency. But the engineers, and the manufacturing men knew that building a chassis without fundamental change in design year after year would ultimately tell in results. For every one knows that doing one thing results in doing it well.

So in five years 300,000 Maxwells have come forth, all built on the original chassis plan—each new one better than the last.

There is no self-starting automobile in the world that has such a manufacturing record.

Think what it means to a man who owns one:

He has not paid for a false overhead.

He has not paid for manufacturing mistakes.

He has not paid for experimental work.

He has not paid for the changes of mind of another man.

Today you get a better Maxwell than any of the 300,000, and a better looking Maxwell. It is a finished work, a completed task, a thing well done.

You run no risk—and when you cast your eyes on it you are tempted to feel that the price might easily be $200 more.

MAXWELL MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, Limited, WINDSOR, ONT.

See the latest Maxwell at our Salesroom

G. A. GILLESPIE,
PETERBORO ONTARIO

Special Meeting At George St. Ch.

Last night concluded the first week's special meetings at George St Methodist Church. Five very interesting and inspiring meetings were held this week, in the Sunday School room of the church. But, if the attendence keeps increasing, the meetings will have to be held in the church. Let everyone come next week and overfill even the church. It will do everyone good.

Each meeting commences at 7.45 o'clock with a song service. Then an address is given by some local preacher. These addresses have been very inspiring, so inspiring in fact that several persons have definitely decided to open their hearts to God. After each address Mr. Thomas, the pastor, has asked those to come forward who wish to become a child of God. Several have responded and many others have asked to be prayed for.

Mr. Thomas organized this work and has received the hearty co-operation of the other preachers of the city. Special hymn sheets have been used all week, and new ones are printed for next week. Five very helpful addresses will also be given next week. Let everyone turn out and help along this evangelistic work. It is helping others and it can help you.

The addresses delivered this week were as follows:

Monday—Rev. Mr. Manning.
Tuesday—Rev. Mr. Greatrix.
Wednesday—Rev. Mr. Wattam.
Thursday—Rev. Mr. Manning.
Friday—Rev. Mr. Pogue.

SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright: the next raw and blustery is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus preventing or curing colds, simple fevers, colic or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A miserly father maketh an extravagant son.

This advertisement is intended to keep the old familiar name

PURITY FLOUR
(Government Standard)

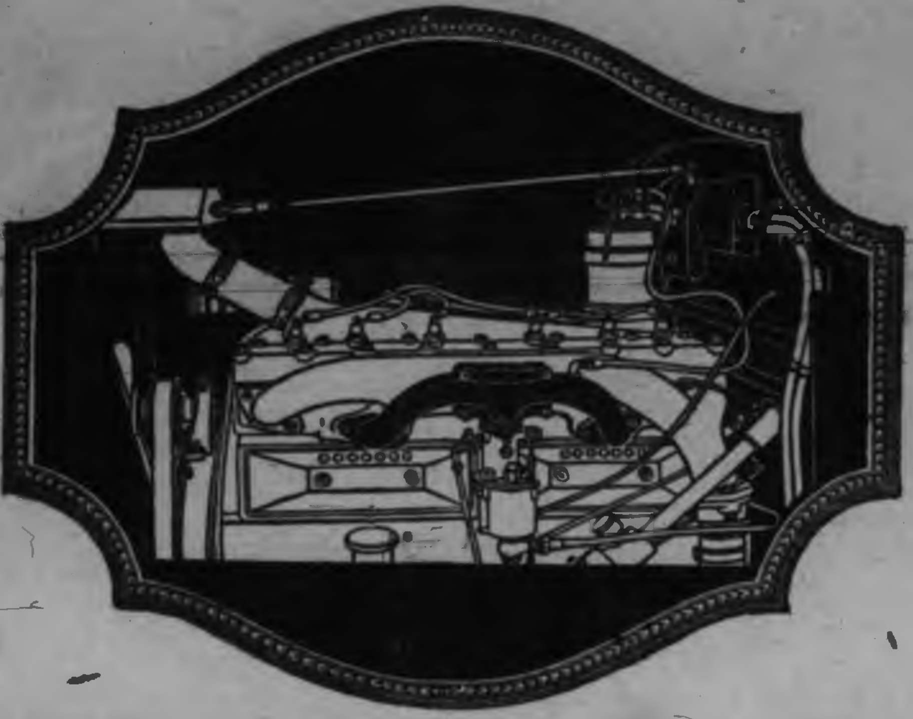
fresh in your mind.

"More Bread and Better Bread and Better Pastry"

Canada Food Board License Nos. Flour 15, 16, 17, 18: Cereal 2-009

Also remember Purity Oats.

WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS CO. LIMITED, TORONTO, ONT.



The Great Hot Spot Engine has made the Chalmers one of the few great cars of the world -

THIS great engine, which now has a record of many million miles behind it, has created a new movement in the automobile industry.

It has swung the attention from multi-cylinders, extra valves and the like to the subject of getting-the-very-last-bit-of-power-out-of-every-drop-of-gas.

For gas has gone down and down in grade; the price has gone up and up; and cars have not performed as once they did, while the public began to say "they weren't making cars as well as they used to."

The public was wrong. It was not the car. It was the low grade gas. The food for an engine had changed; a new digestive organ was needed.

Among the first to observe this condition were the Chalmers engineers. They were the first to supply the answer.

They designed a Hot Spot device and attached a new type of intake manifold now known as the famous Ram's-horn.

By means of the Hot Spot they cracked up, fine as powder, and heated the gas after it left the carbureter. This put the gas in perfect shape for combustion.

Now the task was to get this "fine as powder," or as the engineers say 'dry gas" into the cylinders without letting it condense on the short 18-inch but, hazardous journey. Gas is tricky.

They succeeded in designing a brand new type of canal or manifold—minus angles, corners, sharp corners and the like—and this they call the Ram's-horn.

Any man who drives a Hot Spot Chalmers can tell you how wonderful these two devices work.

They have made the Chalmers now a great automobile. This is what they accomplish:

Almost immediate starting on a cold day.
Perfect engine running in 30 seconds on a cold day.
More power out of gas than has ever been extracted before.
Prevent raw gas from going past the pistons into the crank case and subsequent lubrication trouble.
Develop a smoother, softer kind of power.
Cause a lower upkeep cost through less vibration.
Spin more mileage out of every gallon.
Cause the engine to run cooler on a hot day.

There are many more.
See the new Chalmers.

CHALMERS MOTOR CO. OF CANADA, Limited, WINDSOR, Ont.,

G. A. Gillespie, Peterboro, Ont.

SERVICES IN THE LOCAL CHURCHES TO-MORROW

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN

Major the Rev. Canon Davidson, Rector

Fourth Sunday in Lent

8.30 —Holy Communion

11 a.m.— Morning prayer and sermon.

Venite 16.

Benedicite 34.

Benedictus 45.

Office Hymn 117—Sinful, sighing to be free.

Before sermon 445— Dear Lord and Father.

Offertory— O Jesu, Thou art standing—Bowles.

God Save the King.

Hymn 396—All ye who seek for sure relief.

2.45 —Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Final subscriptions received for Mission Memorial.

7 p.m.—Evening prayer, choral, and sermon.

Chants 155, 2.

Magnificat 119.

Nunc Dimittis 55.

Office Hymn 491—I could not do without thee.

Before sermon 118—Lord not despairingly.

Offertory—Out of the Depths—Adamson.

God Save the King.

Hymn 684— When on my day of life.

Richard J. Devey, Organist and Choirmaster.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

Rubidge and Sherbrooke
RECTOR:—REV. R. B. GROBB, M.A.

11 a.m.—The Rector will continue his series of sermons on Prayer.

7 p.m.—The Rector will continue his series of sermons on Social Christianity.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Rogers Street
Ashburnham—East City
Rev. W. H. White, M.A., Rector
Rectory 344 Rogers Street
Fourth Sunday in Lent

The rector will continue both morning and evening his special Lenten sermons.

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning service and sermon.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evensong and Sermon.

Wednesday, 7.30 p.m.—Illustrated lecture on India.

Friday 8 p.m.—Bible Study and prayer.

Organist and Choirleader—Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

All seats free.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

Rev. Jas. Price, Rector

11 a.m.—Matins and sermon.

3.00 p.m.—Sunday school.

7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Preacher—Mr. Stewart.

30 Young Men's Club.

Wednesday, 7 p.m.—Confirmation

Thursday 2.30 p.m.—Ladies' Guild

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.

Friday, 7.30 p.m.—Boy Scouts.

Organist—Miss Beatrice Blake.

ST. ALBAN'S BOWNTON

Browntom
(Adjoining Mays' School House)

11 a.m.—Sunday School.

7 p.m.—Evensong and sermon.

Preacher—Rev. J. Price.

Wednesday, 7.30 p.m.—Boy Scouts

Organist—Miss Toone.

ST. PETER'S ROMAN CATHOLIC

Low Mass, 8 a.m.

High Mass, 10.30 a.m.

Vespers, 7 p.m., with sermon.

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Corner of Rubidge and Brock Streets
Capt. James Rollins, Pastor
Rev. W. L. H. Rowand, Minister in Charge
Manse, 439 Rubidge Street

11 a.m.—Morning service.

The pastor will preach

Subject—David the Poet.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

In the evening the Rev. Dr. Murray of Winnipeg will speak in the interests of the Forward Movement.

Cradle song—Lohr.

Anthem—O Gladsome Light—Sullivan.

Offertory—Pilgrims Chorus—Wagner.

Duett—My faith looks up to Thee—Miss Helen McLaren and Mr. Walter Farr.

Postlude—Marche Pontificale—Gounod.

Herbert C. Treneer, organist and choirmaster.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. Robert Pogue, Minister

11 a.m.—Morning service.

The Pastor will preach

Subject—The call of a world task.

3 p.m.—Sunday School in all its departments will meet.

Young Men's Bible Class—H. B. Cowan teacher.

The Deborah Bible Class—Rev. R. Pogue, teacher.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Rev. D. T. L. McKarroll, B.A., of Toronto will preach. Subject, The Challenge of the new era to the church of Christ.

Organist and choirmaster — Mr. John Allan.

A hearty welcome is extended to all.

KNOX CHURCH, PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. J. A. MacKenzie, B.D., Minister

11 a.m.—Song service conducted by the minister.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service, conducted by Rev. R. D. McKay, D.D., of Toronto.

8 p.m., Wednesday—Prayer meeting.

Good music at all services.

Geo Kenyon, "L. Mus." Organist and Choirmaster.

Seats Free. Strangers Welcome

MURRAY ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. R. Webb, Pastor
Residence—544 Aylmer Street

11 a.m.—Morning Service.

The pastor will preach.

Prelude—La Fontaine—Lysberg.

Anthem — The radiant morn — Woodward.

Postlude—Andante—Lemare.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

The pastor will preach.

Subject—A fearless preacher.

Prelude—Berceuse—Schytte.

Anthem—The light of the world—Saber.

Soprano solo — Selected — Miss Florence Scott.

Postlude—March—Ketterer.

A Huycke, choirmaster. Ida G. Sanderson, organist.

Strangers welcomed.

PARK STREET BAPTIST

Rev. Dougald Brown, Pastor
255 Reid Street
Sunday, March 2nd. 1919

The pastor will preach morning and evening.

11 a.m.—Sommunion service.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Supt.—Mr. F. A. D. Fry

Men's Bible Class teacher—Mr. A. Fallis.

Ladies' Bible Class teacher—Mrs. A. Nicholls.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Monday 8 p.m.—B. Y. P. U.

President—Mr. Neill Porter.

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice.

Seats free. Everybody welcome.

Come and hear the Gospel message.

Organist and choirleader—Miss Norma Moore.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST

Rev. A. J. Thomas, M.A., B.D., Pastor

The pastor will preach morning and evening.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

Subject— The son of Timeus.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

6.50 p.m.—Song service.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Subject—Who is a Christian?

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. F. E. Malott, Pastor
Parsonage 302 Reid St.
Phone 705

The pastor will preach morning and evening.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

Theme—The Growth of Faith.

Anthem—Outside the door—

Soprano solo—Selected — Mrs. King.

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Meeting of Trinity Brotherhood.

Mr. Hughson Johnstone will address the meeting.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Theme—The Great Invitation.

Anthem—The Radiant Morn.

Duett — Sun of my soul— Mrs. Rehill and Mr. A. Lee.

Strangers and visitors welcome at all these services.

Geo. H. King ,organist and choirmaster.

MARK STREET METHODIST

Rev. R. A. Whattam, Pastor

10 a.m.—Class Meeting and Junior League.

11 a.m.—Morning service.

Subject—Victory for despair.

2.45 Sunday School and Adult Bible Class.

7 p.m.—Evening service.

Subject—The temperance issue today.

Organist and Directress, Miss E. Kemp.

ST. JAMES' METHODIST

Corner Romaine and Aylmer Streets.
Rev. Benj. Greatrix, Pastor

11 a.m.—Morning Service.

2.30—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening Service.

Monday—Young People's Meeting.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—prayer meeting.

Thursday—Choir practice.

Friday—Boy Scouts.

A. Nicholls, organist and choirmaster.

Cordial invitation is extended to all.

SALVATION ARMY TEMPLE

Simcoe Street
Adjutant and Mrs. Buxton in charge
515 King St. Phone 440w.

7 a.m.—Knee drill.

10 a.m.—Simcoe and Park Streets.

11 a.m.—Holiness Meeting.

2 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

Those who do not attend any other Sunday School are cordially invited.

2 p.m.—Cedar and Cambridge.

3.15 p.m.—Musical Festival in the Temple.

6 p.m.—Open air, Hunter and George streets.

7 p.m.—Salvation meeting.

GOSPEL HALL

Corner George and Brock Streets

10 a.m.—Sunday School.

Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.

A hearty welcome to all.

ASSEMBLY HALL

First Floor Old Opera House Building, George Street

Meetings on Lord's Day:—
11 a.m.—Breaking of Bread
A hearty welcome to all.
"Christ died for the ungodly."

BETHANY TABERNACLE

459 George Street
Pastor, Rev. A. J. Doner, 535 Aylmer Street

10 a.m.—Sunday School.
Pastor Doner, Supt.

11 a.m.—Preaching

Thursday 8 p.m.—Prayer meeting.

GEORGE ST. METHODIST

The pastor, the Rev. A. J. Thomas, will preach at both services. In the morning his topic will be "The Son of Timeus," and in the evening, "Who is a Christian." New special hymn sheets will be used at the evening service, as they were last Sunday evening. But this Sunday the song service, with the use of the special hymn sheets will begin at 6.50 o'clock, ten minutes to seven. Everyone who wants a seat should come early. The pastor's address promises to be very interesting and helpful, especially to those who have given themselves up to God, at the special meetings, this week, and also to those who are contemplating doing so this coming week.

Lethargic encephalitis, of which doctors now talk learnedly, may be only spring fever dressed up in its stylish spring terminology.

Look for the Rennie Seed Display

15,000 dealers throughout Canada are ready to supply you with these tested seeds.
It's time to think about planting your backyard garden. Make your selections now.

Sow RENNIE'S Seeds

The wide variety of the Rennie line assures you of obtaining just what you want in either flowers or vegetables.

All Rennie's Seeds are tested for germination and their quality proven. Should your dealer be unable to supply all the seeds you require, write us direct.

Send for copy of Rennie's Tool Catalogue. It includes Poultry Supplies, Planet Junior Garden Tools, sprayers, fertilizers, etc.

THE WILLIAM RENNIE COMPANY LIMITED
KING AND MARKET STS. TORONTO
ALSO AT MONTREAL, WINNIPEG, VANCOUVER

RENNIE'S SEEDS

Try The Willard Service For Your Cars

If you get the habit of letting our Willard Service Station put in shape and take care of your batteries you will avoid all vexatious delays and trouble while on the road. Our mechanics are experts, and "know how."

Free Filling and Testing

Grant, Thorpe & Cowain
WILLARD SERVICE STATION—418 GEORGE STREET
EXPERT ELECTRICIANS

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

DON'T BE CRUEL

The opportunity brings out the cruelty in man. You are cruel to your eyes, often without intending or understanding it. Simple neglect is the worst cruelty, and it is so easy to give them the proper Dr. Fowler care, that there is no excuse for such treatment as neglect. Consult Dr. Fowler at the first sign of trouble. It is safest and cheapest.

CONSULTATION FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

ADVERTISING RATES

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

MALE HELP WANTED.

MEN, AGE 17 TO 55. EXPERIENCE unnecessary; travel; make secret investigations, reports. Salaries, expenses. Foreign Detective Agency, 744 St. Louis, Mo.

WANTED

WANTED — TWO OR THREE furnished rooms, with or without board, in central locality. Apply Box 444, Review.

TO RENT.

TO RENT — LARGE FRONT room, with or without meals. Apply 282 Stewart street.

FOUND.

FOUND — DISCHARGE PAPERS; made out in the name of John Alexander McArthur. May be had by applying to Harvey Staunton, G.W.V.A.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—TWO MAXWELL Touring Cars and one Dodge Touring. Apply Banks' Garage.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

HOUSE FOR SALE — NORTH end of Water street. Good garden, fruit trees and stable. Apply 786 Water street.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN

Phone 219 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society

— of —

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 388 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Canada Food Board License No. 8-[illegible]

M. MINICOLA

Best Fruit— Cheap

Best Vegetables— Reasonable

Best Groceries At Right Prices

[illegible] GEORGE STREET

Bell Phone 935

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.

Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.

Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.

Telephone 219.

G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.

Barrister, Etc.

and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING

Barristers and Solicitors

MONEY TO LOAN

408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public

MONEY TO LOAN

395 Water Street Peterborough

Phone 181

MOORE & WEARING

Barristers, Solicitors.

408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.

Crown Chambers

Money to loan at lowest rates.

W. H. Moore, K.C.,

Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON

County Crown Attorney

Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary

Office over Dominion Bank

Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.

Telephone No. 22

Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.

E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.

V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL

Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water Ct., Phone 191. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.

MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON

Barrister, Solicitor, etc.

Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY

Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment

D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,

154½ Hunter St. Peterborough.

Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL

Barrister, Solicitor, etc.

Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY

Silver Medalist, University of Toronto

Special attention to diseases of Women and Children

Office: 212 Brock Street

Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.

Phone 232.

DR. BUCHANAN

F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY

Osteopath Physician

Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 848.

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Lantic Sugar
EXPRESS

"Mother's Making MARMALADE!"

Only the best materials will do for mother on Marmalade day—fair sweet oranges with some grapefruit or bitter oranges to make a piquant flavor and pure "fine" LANTIC granulated from the original package.

The great jewels in Aladdin's cave were no clearer or sparkling than mother's Marmalades and other preserves made with LANTIC Sugar. The purity and the "fine" granulation is what makes them so beautiful and so good.

There are many new recipes for Marmalades and preserves in our little Lantic Library, 3 booklets on Preserves, Desserts, Cakes and Candies. We send it to you without charge on receipt of 2-cent stamp for postage.

ATLANTIC SUGAR REFINERIES, Limited

805 McGILL BUILDING, - - - MONTREAL. 10

THEATRICAL

JULIA ARTHUR IN "THE CAVELL CASE"
SELECT SP PICTURES

AT THE GRAND

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in conjunction with Vaudeville and Pictures. Matinee Daily.

"FLO-FLO"

That effervescent combination of gorgeous gowns and pithy epigrams John Cort's musical comedy triumph "Flo-Flo" is the attraction to be presented at the Grand Opera House, on Saturday matinee and evening, April 5th. It was one of the hits of Broadway last season, running at the Cort Theatre throughout the theatrical year.

Frolic, fun and frills form the "Flo-Flo" formula. It has won its way to public favor through its magnificent costuming, pertinent lines, pretty girls and lovely lyrics. Every member of its chorus is a "perfect 36." Each is blessed it is said with that rare attribute of the chorus-girl—a sense of humor and to this is credited a large degree of the play's success.

"Flo-Flo," is one of the most handsomely gowned productions ever seen on the American stage, the wares of Mosher and Simpson, exhibited in the Bride Shop where the scenes of the story are laid, having been selected from the most exclusive shops in New York and Paris.

The heroine of the piece is "Flo-Flo," Mosher and Simpson's most beautiful model, who although a vampire at heart renounces her love for a rising young man from Oshkosh, who has taken a position at three sixty a week in the Bride Shop in order that he may marry Angelina Stokes, who is being forced by a stern mother into a wedding with a bogus count; that she may thus retrieve the waning Stokes fortune.

Mosher and Simpson form one of the most popular comedy teams seen in a New York Production for many seasons. Silvio Hein's melodies, most popular of which are "A Wonderful Creature," "Good-bye Happy Days," "Would You Say No," "On the River Nile," "Don't Trust Them," and the Ziegfeld Girl," are heard at their best through the assistance of the special orchestra.

Mr. Cort's super excellent cast includes Louise Kelly, Jere Delaney, Carl L. George, William Cummings, Rose Southern, Mildred Beverly, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, William Burton Burns, Edward Lynn and others of musical comedy repute and the "Perfect Thirty-Six" chorus.

THE CAVELL CASE

Another one of Select's big specials will be seen at the Grand Opera House, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "The Cavell Case," produced by Joseph L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll, is the story of Edith Cavell the British Red Cross Nurse, whose name the whole world still remembers.

Although Edith Cavell loved and was loved by George Brooks, she refused to marry him because she believed there was a greater duty in life for her. A few years later Edith Cavell was the directress of three Belgium hospitals and Instructress at the Belgium School for Certified Nurses.

On one of her visits back home again she meets the sweetheart of her girlhood days, who has since become blind. Brooks has returned with his only son Frank, to prepare for an operation which may restore his eyesight.

The same day that George regains his eyesight Germany declares war on France and begins its invasion of Belgium. England has already begun to mobilize. Frank Brooks enlists and Edith Cavell goes back to her post of duty in the Brussels hospital.

Later. Mrooks in inetaoinshrdlu

Later, Brooks is informed that his son is missing and he writes to Edith, asking her to find him. She meets him one day and helps him to escape. She is discovered and imprisoned. Despite the many promises of the Germans to the American people that they would not harm her, on October 12th they lined her up against the wall and shot her.

The average fish story is a romance of real life.

The tailor's goose has a larger bill than any other bird.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN FINLAND

BLACK, SOGGY BREAD MADE OUT OF ROTTING OATS.

Representatives of the American food commission have arrived in Finland to investigate conditions growing out of the acute food shortage there prevailing, and to ascertain the amount of foodstuffs needed to relieve the distress of this unhappy country.

The chairman of this commission of American representatives, Capt. August A. Krantz, United States Army, has made a fifteen days' trip through southern, eastern and interior Finland. Upon his return he made a detailed report of the things he saw of the misery which is to be found in nearly all part of the country. The following statement was made by Capt. Krantz to Mr. Franzler Hunt, special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune:

"No one can picture the terrible food conditions in the greater part of the country. Money means nothing, the government food cards nothing—there's simply no food to be had. Children are dying by hundreds of 'swelling sickness' caused by malnutrition

Bread Made of Rotting Oats.

"In thousands of homes there is nothing to eat except possibly black soggy bread made from a 25 per cent. mixture of rotting oats or rye flour milled whole with 75 per cent. birch bark sawdust and ground barley straw. It's impossible to get food One man near the eastern border handed me a purse containing 40,000 Finnish mark ($4,000)and pointing to his starving children, cried, 'For God's sake buy some food for them'."

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling at for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

STREET CAR STRIKES DR. HARVEY'S AUTOMOBILE

A south-bound street car on George street about 8.45 this morning struck Dr. Harvey's automobile at the intersection of Brock street and threw it back several feet, bending the running board somewhat, but doing little additional damage.

The doctor, who was driving the car, himself, had endeavored to pass in front of the street car, which caught his auto before he got clear of the rails. He was able to run the machine to the garage on its own power for repairs.

"LES MISERABLES" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

At the Royal Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ANITA STEWART

ANITA STEWART'S NEW FILM RESULT OF UNUSUAL ACTION BY BOSTON PICTURE MAGNET

LOUIS B. MAYER BUYS HER VITAGRAPH CONTRACT TO MAKE HER STAR OF OWN CO.

Behind the appearance of Miss Anita Stewart in "Virtuous Wives", which comes to the Royal next week, the first production to be made by her own company, is an interesting series of events, which starte dn year ago when Louis B. Mayer, Boston film magnate sought to obtain her release from the Vitagraph Company and launch her as an independent star in a series of productions based on famous stories

Mr. Mayer finally concluded his negotiations with the Vitagraph organization by paying them a cash bonus said to run into five figures, for cancelling the contract they held for Miss Stewart's services. This is believed to be the first time that a motion picture producer has paid an extravagant sum in addition to the amount involved in the direct contract with the star, for the release of that personage from another agreement.

Miss Stewart's First Super-Picture.

Miss Stewart's first production under the management of Ur. Mayer is an adaptation of the famous novel, "Virtuous Wives," by Owen Johnson. The story is described as a truthful account of married life in New York society circles.

Supporting Miss Stewart in her role of Amy Forrester, society dilettante are Conway Tearle, as her husband, Andrew Forrester; Mrs. DeWolf Hopper as Mrs. Irma Delabarre society leader; Edwin Arden as Maurice Delabarre, her husband, and William Boyd as Monte Bracken, a social pet and self-admitted waster.

SALE OF SURPLUS MILITARY AND NAVAL STORES

Dry Goods, Camp Supplies, Food Hardware, Scrap Metal, Junk

Cloth; new and second-hand clothing, equipment, hardware, tents, blankets, camp supplies, etc.; Flour, jam, canned evaporated milk, tea, coffee, etc.; condemned clothing, junk, old brass, metals, leather, rubber, etc.

SALES WILL BE MADE BY SEALED TENDER

Persons desiring to tender are requested to communicate with THE SECRETARY OF THE WAR PURCHASING COMMISSION, BOOTH BUILDING, OTTAWA, stating the items in which they are interested, whether new or second-hand or both.

Arrangements will be made to have samples on exhibition at places throughout Canada; specifications, full details and tender forms will be mailed when ready to those who have registered as suggested above.

IF INTERESTED PLEASE APPLY NOW

Institutions May Make Direct Purchase Without Tender

Dominion, Provincial and Municipal departments, hospitals, charitable, philanthropic, and similar institutions which are conducted for the benefit of the public and not for profit may purchase goods without tender at prices established by the War Purchasing Commission

All communications should be addressed to the Secretary, War Purchasing Commission, Booth Building, Ottawa, who will be glad to supply lists and further details to those interested.

Brewed Exclusively from Choice Malt and Hops

Canada Food Board License L-15-102

Health

Imperial Stout is excellent for convalescents. The healthful principles of hops and malt are embodied in this O'Keefe brew, making a delicious beverage for the table or the sick room.

O'Keefe's IMPERIAL STOUT

For Sale at all Hotels and Restaurants. Order by the case from your Grocer or Dealer.

The O'KEEFE BREWERY CO. Limited
TORONTO
710

J. H. BROOKS, Distributor, 195½ Charlotte St., Peterborough, Ont.

Last Christmas a vicar was invited to dinner at the house of one of the leading men in the town. At the dinner table he was placed opposite a goose.

The lady of the house was seated on the vicar's left. Seeing the goose he remarked:

"Shall I sit so close to the goose?"

Finding his words a bit equivocal, he turned round to the lady and said, in a most inoffensive tone:

"Excuse me, Mrs. Blank, I meant the roast one."

Without the needle the mariner could never thread his way through the sea.

Change Your

VICTORY LOAN INTEREST COUPONS into

War-Savings Stamps

When you take your Victory Loan and other interest coupons to the bank, ask the teller for the equivalent in War-Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps.

MAKE THE INTEREST EARN INTEREST.

At the rate of interest paid on War-Savings Stamps your money doubles itself in less than 16 years.

Thrift Stamps cost 25 cents each. A Thrift Card is provided free of charge, and when 16 Thrift Stamps are affixed to it, it represents $4.00 on the purchase of a War-Savings Stamp.

With your first War-Savings Stamp, a Certificate is provided with spaces for 10 W-S.S. When filled, this Certificate is a Dominion of Canada "Bond", worth $50.00 on Jan. 1st, 1924.

Buy War-Savings Stamps at any Money-Order Post Office, Bank, or other place displaying the Beaver-Triangle sign.

Price in March, 1919	$4.02
" " April, 1919	4.03
" " May, 1919	4.04
Redeemed on Jan. 1st, 1924	$5.00

"War-Savings Stamps will provide financial assistance to the Government; an excellent investment for small savings; and a strong incentive to every-day economy".

—SIR THOMAS WHITE,
Minister of Finance.

67

LAKEFIELD

(Special Correspondence)

Lakefield, March 28.—Mrs. D. H. Morrison left on Tuesday to visit her mother in Otterville.

Mr Jarrell, the new manager for the Royal Bank, is expected to arrive from Spencerville this week.

Miss Barbara Kidd, of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kidd.

Mr. Braden, of the Canadian Cycle and Motor Company, Toronto, spent Tuesday in the village on business.

Mr. J. McKenzie Marvis, Montreal, was a guest in the village on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Armstrong, Havelock, are spending a few days in the village.

Forward Movement.

An eight day series of meetings will be held in the Presbyterian Church, Lakefield, in connection with the Forward Movement, commencing on Sunday, March 30th, when Rev. D. L. McKenoll of West Toronto, will preach in the morning and also on Sunday evening, April 6, with a special service by Rev. Gandir, of Knox Church, Toronto. Meetings will be held each week night except Saturday. The pastor will be assisted by Revs. Mr. McKenoll, J. A. McKenze, of Peterboro; A. H. McConnachie, of S. Monaghan, and others. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Kidd—Darling.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the bride's home on Wednesday, March 26th, when Olive Irene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Darling, Lakefield, was united in holy bonds of matrimony, to Elimo Evard Kidd, of Asphodel. The bride entered the room, supported by her father, looking very pretty in an ivory silk k-kaki-kool gown, trimmed with ivory satin and pearls, with veil and orange blossoms, carrying shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Vina Nichols, cousin of the bride, looked very dainty in an ivory jersey cloth gown, carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Mildred Darling, sister of the bride, acted as flower girl, looking very pretty in pink silk, carrying sweet peas and hyacinths. Miss Irene Davis, of Smith, looked very pretty in striped voile dress, carrying sweet peas and hyacinth making a dear little ring-bearer.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. John Kidd.

The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock under an arch of evergreens with holly and bells in the drawing room where the guests were assembled.

The wedding march was played by Miss Nelson, while Rev. Davis officiated.

The wedding supper was served in the dining room where about sixty guests partook of the dainty repast.

The bride's going away suit was of sand tricotine with hat to match. The many beautiful gifts showed in what high esteem the bride was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Kidd will reside in Asphodel.

FRANK BESSENGER

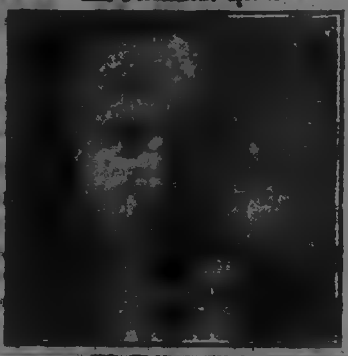
TENOR AT THE ROYAL COMMENCING ON MONDAY.

The singing of Frank Bessenger at the Royal Theatre will be one of the big features of next week's program. Rarely if ever has so sweet a singer been heard here. After a most successful career in the larger cities of the United States and Canada, Mr. Bessenger was engaged by the Regent Theatre, Toronto, which engagement he has just concluded, and in all the newspapers he was the subject of most favorable criticism. Mr. Bessenger puts a great deal of personality into his songs which makes them so very enjoyable. It is expected he will be given a right royal reception here.

The less honor a man has the more sensitve he is on the subject.

TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Quick and Permanent Relief



MR. P. H. McHUGH

108 Church Street, Montreal.
December 10th, 1917.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years, I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good.

Then, I began to use "Fruit-a-tives"; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, "Fruit-a-tives" overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and "Fruit-a-tives" relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health". P. H. McHUGH.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent post paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Strength of U. S. Navy In European Waters

HAD 374 VESSELS ON DUTY WITH 80,711 OFFICERS AND MEN.

The United States had 374 vessels on duty in European waters and a personnel of 80,711 afloat at base or headquarters when the armistice was signed, according to a summary of United States naval activities prepared at headquarters in London. Numerically the submarine chasers headed the list with 120, then came the destroyers with 70 while the third class was the unheralded 55 colliers that assisted in keeping a steady stream of coal moving from Cardiff to maintain the allied armies and prevent France from freezing.

Of the fifteen classes of ships enumerated in the report the work of the destroyers stands first in dramatic interest. The twenty that were here on July 1, 1917, immediately became active in the war game and that activity constantly increased as the number of boats gradually swelled until it reached the maximum number on November 11, 1918.

With 25 converted yachts and a few other vessels they escorted 900,000 troops of the United States expeditionary force to Europe without the loss of a man from enemy action, and they escorted 27 per cent. of all United States, allied and neutral shipping to France and England from April 6 1917, to Nov. 9, 1918. In this and other work they steamed approximately 275,000 miles every thirty days.

The convoy system was not adopted until shortly after the United States entered the war, but in the year and seven months from then until the end, 18,653 ships were brought over in 1,474 convoys that numbered from one ship to as many as forty. United States destroyers based at Queenstown and Brest escorted more than 400 single ships through danger zone and in this work encountered some of their greatest hazards. Only the largest, fastest ships were sent across alone, and in rough weather the destroyers were considerably battered when forced to maintain high speed against heavy seas.

Reports of contact with the enemy by American vessels total 256 and the most of them came from destroyer commanders. A submarine was actually in the vicinity in 183 of these cases but the others have been listed as false alarms. Methods of determining the presence of a submarine are varied but usually are based upon charts which show the surprising accuracy the day to day movements of the under-water craft.

The report gives a list of 22 encounters, the majority of which resulted in the submarine being "probably slightly damaged" or "possibly slighty damaged." One is given as "possibly sunk," three as sunk and one captured. The accuracy of information of the movements of submarines is evidenced in the case of the yacht Lydonia in command of Commander R. P. McCullough, who was credited with sinking a submarine although he never saw it. The Lydonia drooped depth charges after a torpedo had been fired at a conveyed ship. The submarine had been reported in that vicinity and as it did not return to its base it was considered sunk in that engagement.

It is known three American fighting ships were lost through enemy action—the destroyer Jacob Jones and the armed yacht Alcedo and the yacht Owasco, which was used on patrol work. Three were sunk as the result of collisions and the revenue cutter Tampa was sunk by an explosion the cause of which has never been ascertained.

It never improves musty opinions to air them.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

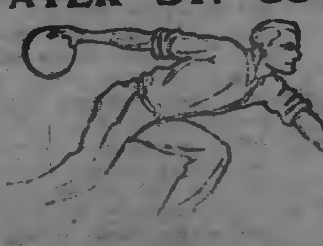
Alf. McDonald Estate

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra

Haro Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS



TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS YOU

5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor

JAKE SOLOMON ... Mgr

A man frequently outwits him in trying to outwit others.

The son of his father is oft poker chip off the old block.

WRIST & BRACELET Watches

in varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's

387 George St. Next Turnbull

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 200

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coal Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-362

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and

PITTSTON COAL IS THE BEST

All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.

Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL

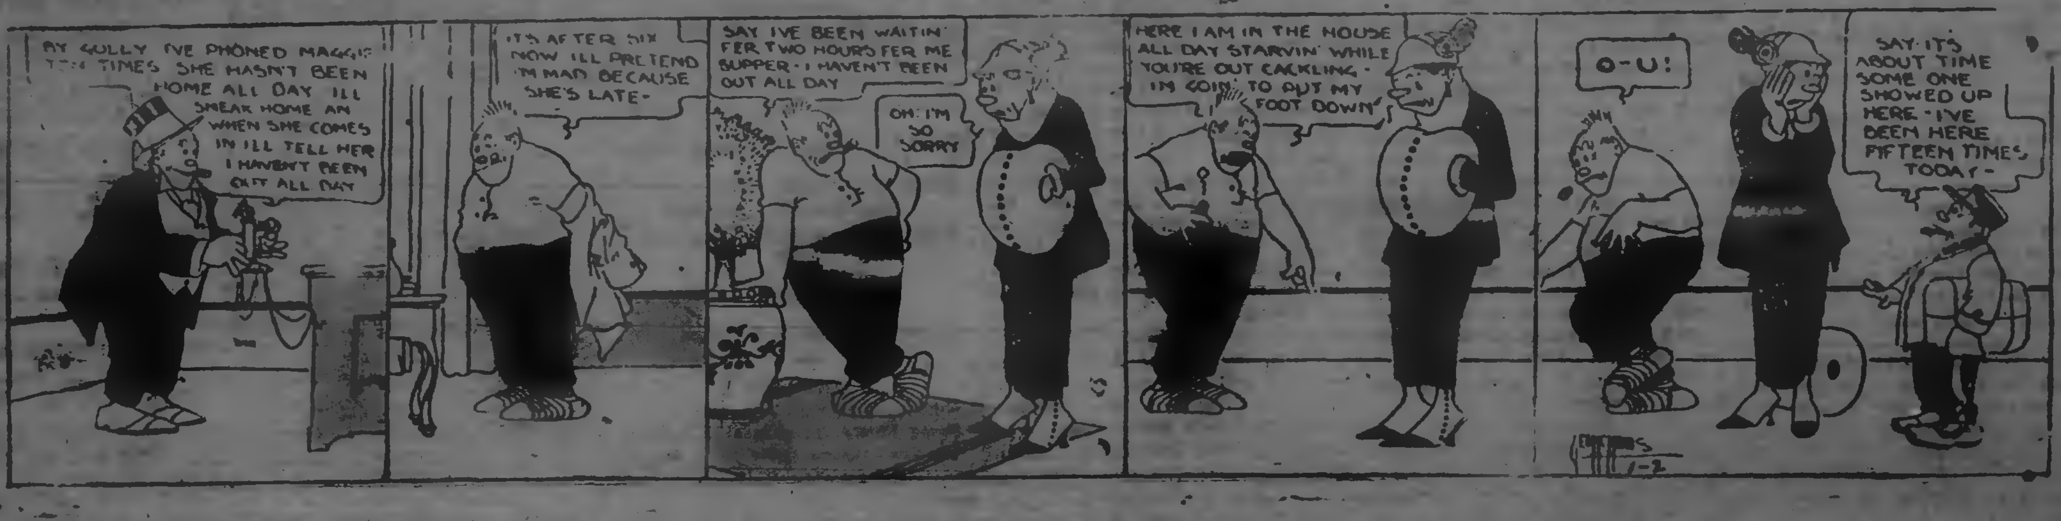
WEIR & McCA
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East
Phone 96

Orders for

taken now. Prompt delivery.
Kindling Wood. Second-hand
Belting and Scrap Leather
Highest prices paid for

LOW & CO
262 Simcoe St.

BRINGING UP FATHER BY GEORGE McMANUS



BY GOLLY I'VE PHONED MAGGIE TEN TIMES SHE HASN'T BEEN HOME ALL DAY I'LL SNEAK HOME AN WHEN SHE COMES IN I'LL TELL HER I HAVEN'T BEEN OUT ALL DAY
IT'S AFTER SIX NOW I'LL PRETEND I'M MAD BECAUSE SHE'S LATE-
SAY I'VE BEEN WAITIN' FER TWO HOURS FER ME SUPPER - I HAVEN'T BEEN OUT ALL DAY
OH: I'M SO SORRY
HERE I AM IN THE HOUSE ALL DAY STARVIN' WHILE YOU'RE OUT CACKLING - I'M GOIN' TO PUT MY FOOT DOWN
O-U!
SAY IT'S ABOUT TIME SOME ONE SHOWED UP HERE - I'VE BEEN HERE FIFTEEN TIMES TODAY -

There are five simple ways to tell good tea.

First, by the bright copper color of the tea when steeped.

Second, by the exquisite aroma.

Third, by the delightful, refreshing flavor.

Fourth, by the satisfying richness.

Fifth, by the economical strength.

Make a brewing and you will find all these qualities combined in Red Rose.

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

127

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. McNasty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately fitting dentures.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

AUCTION SALE.

On Monday next, March 31st, the household furniture, etc., at the home of Mrs. J. Barclay, 583 George street. No reserve. Sale at 1:30 o'clock. J. F. Thornton, Auctioneer

BOARD OF TRADE

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the election of the officers and council and for the consideration of routine special business is called for Tuesday evening, April 1, 1919, at 8 o'clock sharp in the council room of the Board on the 2nd floor of the Dominion Bank Building at George and Simcoe streets. The presence of all members of the Board and delegates of all affiliated associations is especially desired at this meeting when subjects of extraordinary interest to Peterborough are to be submitted for concerted discussion and action.

J. J. TURNER, President. BASIL D. HALL, Secretary.

WOOD FOR SALE

No sawmill operating in Peterboro this season. Save money on coal and hard wood by buying at once your spring and summer supply of mill and swamp wood from the McDonald Estate, Phone 176. Team loads delivered to any part of the city at the following low prices. Cash with order.

Lumber butts, a few loads, at .. .. $4.00 per load
Pine mill wood, sawn 12in., 16in. .... $4.00 per load
Hemlock mill wood, sawn 12in., 16in. .... $4.50 per load
Swamp wood, good, sawn 12in., 16in. .... $5.00 per load

NOTICE

The Rev. Franklin Sunday and family will arrive at Knox Church April 8th and 9th and present "The Land of Promise."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. James Black and Pte. Jack Denham of Warkworth were guests of Mrs. Reg. Turner, Gilmour street, this week.

Mr. Gordon Greer Gilmour street is on a business trip to Winnipeg and other western points.

Mrs. Geo. Mather and daughters, Mrs. (Capt.) Angus Richardson and Miss Bessie Mather left today for a month's visit at Baltimore, Atlantic City, New York and other points.

JESSIE ALEXANDER COMING

Keep the date open for the Jessie Alexander Recital, Friday, April 11th in St. Paul's Church, on behalf of the Fraser Auxiliary. The programme will consist of elocutionary and vocal numbers. Her "Bairnie's Cuddle Doon," is worth four times the price of admission.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, PETERBOROUGH CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The regular Quarterly Meeting of Shareholders will be held at 202 Rubidge street Thursday, April 3, at 8 p.m. All shareholders are requested to attend as business of importance will be brought up.

A. MURRAY, President.

RUMMAGE SALE.

The Ladies' Aid of George Street Methodist Church will hold a Rummage Sale on April 10 and 11, one door west of Turnbull's store, on Simcoe street.

AUCTION SALE

of Household Furniture and etc., at the home of Mr. James Theobald, 496 Chamberlain street, on Monday March 31st. The entire contents will be sold without reserve, including good Upright Piano and etc. Sale 1.30 p.m.

W. J. HANCOCK, Auctioneer.

AUTOMOBILES, TRUCKS, ETC.

Two 1918 Ford Touring Cars, one Roadster, one 1916, one 1914 Touring. Also one 1918 Ford One-ton Truck complete with body. One light delivery truck.

We can satisfy you in price and appearance.

Select the car you wish now; we will store it till you need it.

DUFFUS GARAGE.

NOTICE

A meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the City Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, April 1st at eight o'clock for the purpose of organizing a membership campaign.

All the officers and members and any who are interested in this work are urged to be present.

CHOIR UNION

The members of St. Paul's Church choir are invited to join Knox Church choir in the forward movement service to be held in Knox Church Monday and Tuesday evenings.

DANCING CLASSES

New classes in social dancing will be organized at the Conservatory Hall beginning Tuesday evening next April 1st. Children's Class will meet at 4.30p and adults at 7.30. Classes under the direction of Mrs. F. A. Hall.

AMATEUR PLAY PRESENTED IN REID ST. HALL

WHATSOEVER CLASS OF TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL GIVE SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

The seating accommodation of Trinity Church Sunday school hall, Reid street, was taxed to its utmost last night. The occasion was the presentation of the delightful comedy, "The Chaperon," which was in three acts. This successful event was staged and presented by the girls of the "Whatsoever" Class of the Sunday school, under the capable direction of Miss Winnifred Parker, secretary of the local Y.W.C.A. The teacher of this class of girls is Mrs. P. B. Wright.

The Players.

In the first act, with the exception of Joyce Dynecourt (Miss Eva Waugh), Suzanna Horton (Miss Hattie Pethick), and Nora, Mrs. Dynecourt's maid (Miss Daisy Stocker), the girls' voices could not be very plainly heard, but as the play progressed the girls became less self-conscious and the audience was able to hear all the words of the speakers.

In the play proper there were fourteen girls who appeared on the stage, and we do not think less of the acting of the other thirteen girls when we say that Miss D. Stocker, as Nora, Mrs. Dynecourt's maid, was the star of the evening.

Miss Nora's dress was of a delicate purple hue—borrowed from Mrs. Dynecourt's wardrobe with Nora's consent—which in no wise conflicted, oh, no, with a fine green hat which supported enough feathers of the color of the shamrock to make a small feather mattress. Mrs. Dynecourt wished more feathers on her hat so had simply bequeathed this featherless hat to her maid. Nora's parasol—we weren't told where it came from—needs to be seen to be appreciated.

In her initial appearance Miss Stocker brought down the house, which ever afterwards looked forward to her reappearance. Of the pupils, Miss Joyce (Jack) Dynecourt and Miss H. Pethick were the leading figures. In the first act, Joyce, with Miss Hattie Pethick as Suzanna Horton, was the only pupil who could be distinctly heard. All through the play she carried her parts out well, throwing her whole soul into it. But the most outstanding pupil of the whole school was Miss Suzanna Horton (Miss Hattie Pethick). She was consistently good, and as the dreamer and aspirer to world-wide renown as a poetess left nothing to be desired. Always reading or quoting Shakespeare—while here and there interrupted by the other pupils who recited poems of the Walt Mason variety—she filled her position perfectly.

The Three Leads.

Of the three main characters, Mrs. Dynecourt (Mrs. Morley B. Lyle) was the best, with Mademoiselle Jeanne (Miss Elva Jackson) a close second. Miss Marion Dugan as Miss Morong, the principal of the girls' school, carried out her short parts on the program very well. Mrs. A. F. Bookout as Miriam, the Gipsy, and Miss Lenore Lyle as Jill, the waif, and Miriam's companion, were exceptionally good, Miss Lyle deserving special mention.

The Plot.

Act 1 is staged on the campus of Crandon Hall of Selbourne Seminary, a school for girls. There is a group of girls on the lawn, and as is usual with girls, they are talking of the younger members of the opposite sex.

We learn that there is not much love lost between Mademoiselle Jeanne, the French teacher of this school, and the girls. While the girls are talking, Miriam, the Gipsy, and Jill, the waif, come on to the scene. Joyce Dynecourt, one of the girls on the campus, takes Miriam into the school to give her a rest. When Miriam and Joyce return to the campus Mrs. Dynecourt and Miss Morong, the principal of the seminary, are there, talking about Joyce. Miss Jeanne now enters and states that twenty dollars have been stolen from her room while she was absent, and the gipsy was in the school.

The gipsy will not consent to be searched, but when the two wanderers are turned off the campus Mrs. and Miss Dynecourt tell them that they may rest assured they have at least to friends. Here Miriam makes a prophecy in regard to Mrs. Dynecourt. It is that the dark cloud which came into her early life will be removed in her later life. When Miriam had first been introduced to Joyce Dynecourt the surname had strangely affected her.

Second Act.

Act 2 is laid in Geoffrey's (a cousin of Joyce's) studio. Early in act 1 the girls had been invited by Geoffrey to visit his studio and see a picture of Mrs. Dynecourt. There was some difficulty in arranging a chaperon until Joyce hit upon the bright idea of masquerading as her mother.

Geoffrey is not present at the time of the visit so the girls have the house to themselves. After exploring in the studio the girls go into the rest of the house, leaving the chaperon to sleep in the studio. Miriam and Jill, who are models of the artist, had come in, but gone off with the girls. Miriam returns, however, and mistakes Joyce, who is sleeping, for Mrs. Dynecourt. Miriam knows that the Dynecourts wished to adopt Jill, and she, realizing how Jill would benefit, is ready to let her go. Jill and Miriam now disappear. Just as the rest of the girls are about to set out for the seminary Jill rushes into the room and drops in a faint. The girls, wishing to learn where to send her, open a locket which is around her throat.

This locket contains the Dynecourt coat-of-arms, and is an exact replica of the one worn by Joyce. Joyce had as yet not opened the letter, which had been placed on her knees when Miriam and she were alone in the room, knowing that it was intended for her mother, but she does so now. This letter, written by Miriam, states that Jill is a baby which she had saved out west in a train wreck.

She had learned that the baby's name was Dynecourt before the nurse died, and ever since then she had been looking for Mrs. Dynecourt. This, then, shows that Joyce (Jack) and Jill are sisters.

In this scene the French teacher and Nora appear quite a few times and certainly add color to the act, Nora bringing in several especially ludicrous moments.

Third Act.

Act 3 is laid in Mrs. Dynecourt's drawing-room. Here all the differences between the teacher at the school and the girls are settled, also those between Nora and Miss Jeanne, and here Joyce tells her mother all that the gipsy had informed her about when mistaking Joyce for Mrs. Dynecourt. Here also Miss Jeanne clears Miriam of the robbery of the twenty dollars, and everything ends up happily.

With the news that Jill is her daughter, whom she had so long mourned as dead, the dark cloud which had entered Mrs. Dynecourt's life at an early stage, is swept away and the gipsy's prophecy fulfilled.

During these three acts music on a gramophone was supplied by Miss Greta LeBar.

During the play a tennis drill was put on by sixteen young ladies of the Sunday school under the direction of Miss Ruth Murray, accompanied on the piano by Miss Lillian Corbett. The young ladies in the drill were: Misses Almina Nelson, Rilla Arnott, Alice Tate, Ethel Webb, Iris Davidson, Carlotte Johnston, Annie Dryden, Velma Greenwood, Kathleen Edgar, Hilda Wharrie, Verna Zealand, Pearl Parker, Alma Lewis, Velma Roberts, Mae Fenn and Charlotte Tate.

Between the acts piano duets were rendered by Misses Lyda Taylor, Evelyn White, Marguerite Glenney, Garnet Thurston, Edith Allan, Evelyn Langman, the duet of the first two being admirably well given.

The ushers for the evening were all the members of the "Whatsoever" Class of girls. They were tastefully attired in white and answered the roll as follows: Misses Lena Elcombe, Violette Hollowell, Margaret Malott, Laura, Laura Soden, Kathleen Dunbar, Estelle Tate, Mabel Carter, Beatrice Carter, Grace Patterson, Greta Giles.

Synopsis.

Act 1.—"Jack and Jill." Scene: Crandon Hall Campus.

Act 2.—"The Chaperon." Scene: Cousin Geoffrey's Studio.

Act 3.—"Like Other Girls." Scene: Mrs. Dynecourt's Drawing-room.

Cast of Characters.

Miss Morong, Principal of Crandon Hall, Selbourne Seminary ..
.... Miss Marion Dugan
Mrs. Dynecourt of Selbourne ......
.... Mrs. Morley B. Lyle
Mademoiselle Jeanne ....
.... Miss Elva Jackson

Pupils:

Joyce Dynecourt .. Miss Eva Waugh
Judith Grey ..... Miss Hazel Maud
Phyllis Reynolds ....
.... Miss Georgie Elcombe
Barbara Creighton . Miss Lyda Wilson
Susanna Horton . Miss Hattie Pethick
Lillian Gordon .. Miss Ruby Sharpe
Mollie Howard—Miss Mabel Noftall
Anna Dayton . Miss Denelda Robinson
Miriam, the Gipsy ....
.... Mrs. A. F. Bookhout
Jill, the Waif .. Miss Lenore Lyle
Nora, Mrs. Dynecourt's Maid ....
.... Miss Daisy Stocker
Music .. Miss Greta LeBar

The entertainment broke up with the singing of the National Anthem.

RUB NEURALGIA AWAY! END PAIN

Instant Relief From Nerve Torture and Misery with Old "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Get a small trial bottle!

Rub this soothing, penetrating liniment right into the sore, inflamed nerves, and like magic—neuralgia disappears. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless neuralgia relief which doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Don't suffer! It's so needless. Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and gently rub the "aching nerves" and in just a moment you will be absolutely free from pain, ache and suffering, but what will please you more is, that the misery will not come back.

No difference whether your pain or neuralgia misery is in the face, head or any part of the body, you get instant relief and without injury.

Forward Movement In Three Churches

The Forward Movement of the Presbyterian churches will be launched in the three churches tomorrow when distinguished speakers from Toronto will occupy the pulpits of the city. This movement is taking in a series of churches around Peterborough as well as in the city.

In the morning Rev. Dr. R. P. McKey will speak in Springville and in the evening Knox Church. Rev. B. T. McKarroll will speak at Lakefield in the morning and in St. Paul's in the evening. Rev. Dr. Murray, missionary superintendant of missions of Manitoba will speak in Warsaw in the morning and St. Andrew's in the evening. The three churches are uniting for meetings throughout the week. The meetings will be held on Monday and Tuesday in Knox Church, Wednesday and Thursday in St. Andrew's, and Friday in St. Paul's. In addition to the speakers that will address the meeting on Sunday others from Toronto will be present.

OBITUARY

MRS JOHN FOOTE

Annie Rowden, widow of the late John Foote, passed away at Hiawatha, last night.

Her husband with two daughters was drowned in 1891. Surviving are five daughters, four in Otonabee and one in Toronto. Mr. Fred. Foote of 196 Perry street, is the only son.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 1.30 Monday afternoon. Service at the house at 1 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Honey will conduct the services.

INFORMAL RECITAL

There will be an informal Recital of readings in the Green room at the Y.W.C.A. this evening, commencing at 8.15, when the following members of the Elocution Class will take part: Miss Greer, Miss May Perry, Miss Marjorie Ingall and Miss Marjorie Bridge. Musical numbers will be given by the Misses Gardiner and Miss Ruth Murray. The public are invited

FULL FACE VALUE
PAID FOR VICTORY
- BONDS -
WE WANT
$45.000.00

Hughson Johnstone
Suite 202-203, Barrie Building
Phone 968
WE WILL CALL FOR THEM
OPEN WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY EVENINGS

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

WANTED
Some good Houses for rent.

FOR SALE
Good Houses and Lots, cheap.
Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.
Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.
It will pay you.

GRAND TWICE DAILY 2.30 & 7.30
EXTRA! EXTRA!!
Monday-Tuesday-Wednesday
-VAUDEVILLE-
3 Big Acts AND 10 Great Reels
PICTURES STARS
CANADA'S GREATEST STAGE CELEBRITY
JULIA ARTHUR
IN THE BIG FILM SENSATION
THE CASE OF NURSE CAVELL
SPECIAL HEADLINE ATTRACTION
"TOM MOORE AND SISTERS"
in classy musical comedy act
"CLOTHES AND GIRLS"
3 Mucial Shirleys 3
The Oriental Surprise NADOLNY
SCREEN MAGAZINE AND SPECIAL COMEDY
DAILY AT 2.30 10c&15c
EVENINGS 7.30 15c&25c
SEATS RESERVED IN ADVANCE FOR EVENING PERFORMANCES
SATURDAY, APRIL 5th MATINEE EVENING

JOHN CORT PRESENTS THE SEASON'S SENSATIONAL SUCCESS
FLO FLO
FRIVOLITY FAST AND FURIOUS
AND HER PERFECT "36" CHORUS
Book by FRED DE GRESAC Music by SILVIO HEIN

PRICES MAT. 25c—$1.50 EVE. 25c—$2.00
SEATS ON SALE THURSDAY

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

The general public are cordially invited to take a trip with the Efficiency League of Mark Street Church through the great Yellowstone National Park on Monday next. A special set of colored slides have been procured for this service. It will begin at 7.30 p.m. Come and bring along your friends.

MISS CLORAN DIES

Ottawa, March 49. — Miss Kathleen Aileen Cloran, daughter of Senator Cloran, died in New York today.

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone 697 PETERBORO

Real Estate Bargains

HOUSE NO. 314 BOLIVAR STREET. A first class two storey brick house, containing six rooms, bath room fully equipped, also a good furnace. Deep lot and situated in a very nice part of the city. Can be purchased at a very low figure. For inspection call at my office 136 Hunter street.

HOUSE NO. 322 PERRY STREET, nice comfortable brick house, modern improvements, with large lot. Situated convenient to factories, schools and churches. I am offering this house at a very low price and would give easy terms to a purchaser.

582 BETHUNE STREET. Good two storey cement block house, situated near the corner of London Street and having all modern improvements except furnace. Convenient to the car line and also near the centre of the city. This house is offered for sale at a reasonable price and easy terms.

SPLENDID LOT CONTAINING NEW FOUNDATION 30 x 36 FEET, on Roger street, East City, well built and all window frames, door frames required, also a quantity of lumber. Situated in a very nice locality and with the new bridge soon to be built this property will advance in price. Will sell now at a right price and give purchaser any reasonable terms.

For inspection of any of the above places and particulars, apply.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, West
Peterborough, Ont.

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS
Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.
FORD OWNERS
Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.
Anglesey & Heenan
140 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 442 J. Peterboro.

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED
Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St. Phone 2041

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Strong northerly winds, fair and cold today. Tuesday a few local snow flurries.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 76 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

BUILD BRIDGE OF RIGHT SIZE BUT DO NOT FOLLOW INSANE IDEA

The Extra Street Car Track Would Cost About $70,000—Turnouts on Regular Highway For Cars Should Be Allowed Instead.

To the Editor of The Review:

Dear Sir,—May I use your columns once more in connection with the much discussed Hunter street bridge.

I am persuaded that the citizens, including the city fathers, have not studied the design of this bridge very carefully, or sufficiently.

As designed it means a huge expenditure, and there is no reason now nor is there likely to be within the next forty years, that would justify adding three hundred thousand dollars to the city's indebtedness, when one hundred and fifty thousand, or less, would meet the requirements.

This bridge is designed with two street car tracks; whereas one is all that possibly could be used. Imagine a bridge over seventeen hundred feet long with an extra street car track clearance of about thirteen feet wide, which will cost about seventy thousand dollars for the extra track space At five per cent. this extra track will mean an annual charge, which will have to be collected from the citizens of thirty-five hundred dollars. Turnouts on the regular highway for cars to pass could be made instead of being put in the bridge.

Build a bridge of the right size, but do not follow somebody's insane idea that two street car tracks are necessary and at an annual charge of thirty-five hundred dollars for interest.

E. G. PATTERSON.

LLOYD GEORGE AND WILSON CONFER ON PEAGE PLANS

Will Expedite Proceedings—Germany Will Act on President Wilson's Fourteen Points Only—Huns' Finances,

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 31.—Premier Lloyd George and President Wilson conferred privately for an hour this afternoon before the Council of Four met at the President's residence. It is understood that the purpose of the conference was to expedite the Peace proceedings.

Wilson's 14 Points Only

London, March 31.—The Dept. of the German Foreign Office having charge of the Peace negotiations has reached a decision as to its attitude towards the negotiations.

The Department has decided that the German government should act only in accordance with President Wilson's fourteen points.

Germany's Finances

London, March 31.—German financial commission sent to Spa, has been authorised to give an exact description of the financial situation of Germany to the representatives of the Allies, according to a German wireless message.

FINANCIAL COM. ARRIVE AT SPA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 31.—The German Financial Sub-commission, which is to discuss pending financial questions with representatives of the Allies, has arrived at Spa.

The financial conference between German and Allied representatives, according to the first announcements was to be held in Paris. Later advices said the meeting was likely to be held at Versailles.

$20,000 For Loss Of Use of Both Legs

A VICTIM OF MANY INFIRMITIES THE RESULT OF ACCIDENT.

Chicago, March 30.—Edmund D. Brosch is at once the most unfortunate and the most fortunate of a large family that has been conspicuously the target of fate. Ed is 13 years old. He has but one arm He is crippled in both legs. All his infirmities are the results of accident. Yesterday morning in Judge Mangan's court he obtained a $20,000 judgment for the injuries which deprived him of the use of his legs He was struck by an automobile two years ago while riding on the back of his father's milk wagon. A few years earlier he had been run over by a beer wagon, and hurt so severely that an arm had to be amputated He obtained a $6,000 judgment for this injury. A few weeks ago his sister, Mrs. Lucille Zedansky, was killed by a street car. A suit for $10,000 has been filed.

A year ago two brothers, John and Joseph, while delivering milk were run down by an automobile. One sustained a broken arm and the other a broken leg. Each has a $10,000 damage suit pending.

The father is John Brosch. He lives at 2021 Ruble street.

Many trainloads of troops arrived in Toronto over the week-end.

LOCAL SOLDIERS REACH HOME

The following soldiers arrived on the Cedric which docked on Thursday and who arrived in the city last night on the midnight.

Kenneth McLelland Sig. Co 3rd C.A.D.C.
Melville Pringle, 3rd C.A.D.C.
Fred Primeau, 3rd C.A.D.C.
Harold Yelland, 3rd C.A.D.C.
E. H. Allison, 3rd M.G.O.
Stanley Hagerman, 33rd Battery.
Arthur Hornefield, 33rd battery.
Chas. Telford, 3rd Canadian Division.
Wm. Thornton, 3rd C.A.D.C.

GERMANS ADVISED TO LEAVE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 31.—The diplomatic agent of the German Government at Budapest has advised Germans to leave Hungary.

To Keep Up Fight On Lawless Agitation

AMERICA MAY NOW ASK FOR NEW SEDITION LAW.

Washington, D.C., March 30.—Congress will be asked for a new law by Attorney-General Palmer, if the department of justice finds it impossible to deal with lawless agitation after the proclamation of peace and the attendant expiration of the espionage act under which prosecutions for sedition are now brought.

"Any one who is counting upon being able to advocate sedition in this country with impunity after the expiration of the espionage act will find himself sadly mistaken," said the attorney-general today. "If I find it necessary I shall certainly urge upon congress the enactment of a law which will allow us to prosecute persons stirring up sedition.

"I am not ready to say whether I shall urge the re-enactment of part of the espionage act, or some other form of legislation."

OVERTURE TO THE ALLIES FROM RUSS. GOVERNMENT

Suggests Withdrawal of Entente Troops From Russia and Abandonment of Policy of Interference—Russia not to Interfere With Other Nations and Pay Her International Debts.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, March 31.—George Lansbury, editor of the new Labor newspaper, The Daily Herald, declares that the Allies have received a proposal for an understanding with present rulers of Russia, and intimates that the conditions of the understanding are the withdrawal of Allied troops from Russia and the abandonment of the policy of interference in Russian affairs. Russia, on her part, would be willing not to enterfere with the [illegible] of other nations, allow Finland, Esthonia, Ukraine and other republics formed from the by-gone Russian Empire, to choose their own forms of government, and to pay Russia's international debts.

Minimizes Outrages.

The writer minimizes stories of outrages by Russian revolutionaries, declaring that such happenings have been less frequent than in other revolutions on a similar scale.

He avers that Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik Premier, and Leon Trotsky the Bolsheviki Minister of War and Marine, have been "outrageously slandered," and describes the present administration of Russia as "clean and uncorrupt."

The reorganization of industries is proceeding everywhere in Russia, Mr Lansbury says.

BRITISH NAVY IS SURE SHIELD OF BRITAIN AND HER EMPIRE

England's Naval Arm of Service Must Be Prepared for the Future

Liverpool, March 30.—England's navy must be prepared for the future, said Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty, Commander of the Grand Fleet, speaking here today on the services of the navy during the war

"The navy learned many lessons during the four and a half years just past," he said. "We made many mistakes, and it is our business today to see that those lessons are taken to heart, and that we shall not again be found in such a state that we have to face the greatest crisis with improvised methods, working hand to mouth."

Admiral Beatty paid a tribute to the efforts of Liverpool in fitting out the famous tenth cruiser squadron, which during the war maintained the rigorous blockade of Germany.

Cruiser's Work.

"That blockade," he added, "was one of the most important factors in bringing about the defeat of the enemy. Its maintenance demanded seamanship of a high order, with vigilant, untiring devotion to duty Stretched across the waste of waters from west of the Hebridges these ships kept their watch and ward in weather that had to be experienced to be understood. Every ship sighted had to be be boarded and examined. These mariners had also to contend with an enemy which appeared in many guises. Raiders masqueraded as peaceful merchantment; blockade runners exercised every stratagem to evade detection, and the submarine was a constant menace.

Empire's Shield.

"We of the navy know full well our own defects, and it is our business to efface them to avoid the repetition of mistakes from which we suffered in the past. The work of reconstruction has to be taken in hand with a full knowledge of our requirements, learned by bitter experience in the past four and a half years. It must be our endeavor to profit by that experience.

"The navy is today, what it has been for the past 200 years, the sure shield of Great Britain and the British Empire. That sure shield must be kept sure by clean thinking and concerted effort on scientific lines. In the necessary struggle for retrenchment, such economies as certainly will be required must be applied with wisdom and a proper understanding of the problems before us in the light of knowledge gained during the war. Only so shall we be able to avoid impairing the essential efficiency of the navy

"Not Rattling Sabre."

"The navy is a shield, and not a rattling sabre. The navy and the merchantile marine have learned to know and respect each other as never before. It must be their care to foster and strengthen that feeling so that in future and for all time the Royal navy and mercantile marine together will provide a sure shield which will enable the Empire to continue to prosper."

FRENCH TROOPS ARE ATTACKED BY HUNGARIANS

PRISONERS TAKEN BUT HUNGARY PROMISES THEIR RELEASE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 31.—A small force of French troops stationed in the neutral zone between Hungary and Rumania has been attacked by Hungarian troops, 350 of French being taken prisoners, according to an official report.

On demand of the French general the release of the prisoners has been promised by the Hungarians. Greatly disturbed conditions are reported to exist in Hungary.

ACTION AGAINST RUSSIA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, March 31.—General Mangin who, it has been reported, will be appointed to command allied operations in the Balkans and Russia, had a conference with Premier Clemenceau today at the Ministry of War.

U. S. STEAMER IN DISTRESS

HOVE TO IN ROUGH SEA; BOUND FROM BREST HOME.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, March 31.—A wireless message, reporting U.S.S. "Calgoa" in distress off New York, was picked up here this morning. Message stated that the steamer was hove to in a strong northeast wind and rough sea. The Calgoa sailed from Brest for New York on March 5, putting into Azores, from which she sailed March 19.

An order in Council modifies immigration restrictions, now permitting British Columbia Hindus in their wives.

MUST GO TO PRISON

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, March 31.—Eugene V. Debs' application for a rehearing of his appeal from conviction and sentence to ten years imprisonment for violating espionage act, was denied today by the Supreme court.

HINDUS IN B. C. MAY BRING WIVES INTO PROVINCE

ORDER-IN-COUNCIL ALLOWS IMPORTANT MODIFICATIONS OF IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS.

Ottawa, March 31.—The question of East Indian immigration to the other self-governing dominions, which was taken up at the imperial War Conference in 1918, and especially to Canada, is the subject of an order-in-Council passed on March 26. It deals with the reciprocity of treatment of the several communities of the British Commonwealth, and allows certain modifications of the restrictive provisions of the Immigration Act.

The order in Council allows Hindus now residing in British Columbia to bring in their wives and families. It is, in part, as follows:

"The Minister, with the concurrence of the Minister of Immigration and Colonisation, recommends that the following declaration unanimously adopted at the Imperial War Conference, July 24, 1918, be approved, viz., that:

"(1) It is an inherent function of the governments of the several communities of the British Commonwealth, including India, that each should enjoy complete control of the composition of its own population by means of restriction from any of the other communities.

"(2) British citizens domiciled in any British country, including India, should be admitted into any other British country for visits, for the purpose of pleasure or commerce, including temporary residence for the purpose of education. The conditions of such visits should be regulated on the principle of reciprocity, as follows:

"(a) The right of the government of India is recognized to enact laws which shall have the effect of subjecting British citizens domiciled in any other British country to the same conditions in India as those imposed on Indians desiring to visit such country.

"(b) Such right of visit or temporary residence shall in each individual case be embodied in a passport or written permit issued by the country of domicile, and subject to vise there by an officer appointed by and acting on behalf of the country to be visited, if such country so desires.

"(c) Such right shall not extend to a visit or temporary residence for labor purposes or to permanent settlement.

"(3) Indians already permanently domiciled in the other British countries should be allowed to bring in their wives and minor children on condition:

"(a) That not more than one wife and her children shall be admitted for each such Indian, and (b) that each individual so admitted shall be certified by the government of India as being the lawful wife or child of such Indian."

Haldimand County Council has appropriated $100,000 for twenty-five miles of good roads construction during this year.

Concentration Of Czecho-Slovaks

RUMOR OF GENERAL MOBILIZATION IN BOHEMIA IN NEAR FUTURE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Basle, Switzerland, March 31.—The Hungarian Government is reported in Vienna despatches to have sent an ultimatum to the Czecho Slovak Government. This action, it is said, was taken because of the concentration of Czecho Slovak troops, and a rumor that there would be a general mobilization in Bohemia in the near future.

SERIOUS INCREASE OF STRIKES IN ESSEN AND OTHER HUN TOWNS

Withdrawal of Government Troops Demanded—Also 20 Per Cent Increase in Pay, Six Hour Day and Bonuses.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Cologne, March 31.—Reports from Essen and neighboring towns shows a serious increase in the number of strikers among the coal miners. Thousands of men are out, the result being that thirty shafts are closed down. In Witten and Dortmound, West Phalia, and elsewhere, meetings were held at which terms were demanded which seem directed by desire to bringing about the same disorderly red conditions as those which existed a month ago.

The demands include the withdrawal of the Government troops, twenty-five per cent. increase in pay, additional bonuses and a six hour day. The strike fever is also spreading to other fields, for instance, the Prussian Hessian Railway.

WILL PROBABLY ADVANCE CLOCK

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT AND WILL CONSIDER THE CHANGE OF TIME.

Tonight the City Council holds what is announced as a business session but at which there is not the slightest doubt the change of time adopted by the railways and by many of the cities and towns of the country will form one of the most important matters for consideration and action.

On Sunday morning the railways of the Dominion put their clocks forward one hour in spite of the fact that the Federal Government had rejected the Daylight Saving proposition.

Railways Change

Permission was given the railways by the Railway War Board to adopt the time saving system which had gone into effect in the States and would create a great deal of confusion at the border, did not the railways of Canada follow suit.

It is thought that most of the cities and towns of the country will be forced to follow the lead set by the railways, if confusion and trouble is to be avoided. Last night at eleven o'clock the city of Toronto set the example by putting forward the clock one hour.

Confusion Here

People leaving the city of Peterborough today are forced to solve a problem in mental arithmetic before they can be sure of catching their train and in the post office the clerks are indulging in frequent arguments as to the proper time to despatch mails.

A by-law will be necessary if it is decided to adopt the daylight saving scheme in Peterborough again this year. The matter will be settled at tonight's council meeting.

Asked to Decide

This morning the following telegram was received by the Mayor, in regard to the matter, from the Secretary of the Ontario Operating Committee of the Railway War Board:

"Action of railways in advancing to summer time being challenged by interests unfavorable to the change. The matter will be decided before the Railway Commission at Ottawa on Tuesday next, and the Railway War Board suggests that the Board of Trade of the various municipalities in favor of daylight saving place their views before the Railway Commission either in person or by telegram."

Wealth of Saar For the French

Paris, March 31.—The Council of Four has given fresh consideration to the question of the Saar Valley and it is believed that the Council has virtually settled upon a plan to permit Germany to retain political sovereignty, while France will be given economic control of the mineral resources in that section upon a time allowance for the settlement of indemnity.

STATES PLAN TO DEPORT INTERNED MEMBERS I.W.W.

Hundreds of Criminals, Spies and Enemy Agents Also on the List of Undesirables.

Washington, D.C., March 29.—Attorney-General Palmar, disclosing today that about 4000 enemy aliens were interned during the war, said paroles would be granted to some 600 of the harmless class, others would be repatriated and 900 dangerous persons would be held indefinitely including about 200 professed members of the I.W.W. or anarchistic organizations, whose cases would be referred to the department of labor with a view to their deportation.

Nearly all of the 4,000 interned are men and half of them are merchant seamen whose ships sought refuge in American ports. About 1,800 of the seamen and 500 other Germans regarded as dangerous have made application for repatriation and the department of justice expects that arrangements will be made soon through the state department for sending them back to Germany.

About 600 Paroled Recently

"The deparement of justice," said Mr. Palmer, "has recently directed the release on parole of about 600 persons belonging to the more harmless class of dangerous alien enemies. This group consists chiefly of persons who were interned because of repeated violation of parole or other regulations and are now no longer regarded as a menace to the public safety. When these men have been paroled and the repatriation plan above referred to is carried out, there will remain in the internment camps approximately 900 dangerous alien enemies, and it is not expected alien enemies, and it is not expected that any substantial number of those will be released in the near future.

"About 200 of this number are professed members of the I.W.W., or anarchistic organizations, and their cases will be referred to the secretary of labor with a view to securing their deportation if, in his opinion, the evidence warrants such action.

"The residue of these 900 dangerous alien enemies contains a large number of convicted criminals, spies and enemy agents, who, in the view of the atorney-general ought not to be permitted under any circumstances to remain in this country after the declaration of peace.

Further Legislation to Be Asked

"It is the intention of the attorney-general to renew at the next session of congress the request made to the last congress by Attorney-General Gregory and Secretary Wilson asking for legislation to provide the machinery for further investigating these cases and for the power to deport the most dangerous of these enemies If such legislation is enacted it is expected that at least one-half of the remaining 900 dangerous alien enemies will be deported.

"Unless legislation of this character is provided by congress it will become necessary immediately on ratification of peace to set free all alien enemies then in confinement including the criminals spies and enemy agents above referred to."

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:
A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; W. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:
Business Dept. ... 132 Editorial ... 43J....
Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1919.

ALL FOOL'S DAY.

TOMORROW, APRIL FIRST, has special significance from the fact that it is a day on which, according to custom and an unwritten law, practical jokers are licensed to play harmless tricks, and their victims are not licensed to take exception thereto. Like most other ancient observances that have been perpetuated down through the years by annual practice, that of "April Fool" originated in and is commemorative of important historic events which we in these days seldom stop to think of. In this case, "April First's" customs are, according to some authorities, commemorative of incidents quite reverential, although the manner of observance is foolish.

The Romans gave this month the name of Aprilis, from aperie (to open), because it was the season when the buds began to burst; by the Anglo-Saxons it was called Ooster, or Easter, month, and by the Dutch grass month. The custom of sending one on a bootless errand on the first day of April is, perhaps, a travesty on the sending hither and thither of the Saviour from Annais to Caiaphas and from Pilot to Herod, because during the middle ages this scene in Christ's life was made the theme of a miracle play at Easter, which occurs in the month of April. It is possible, however, that it may be a relic of some old heathen festival. The custom, whatever be the authority, of playing off little tricks on this day, whereby ridicule may be fixed upon unguarded individuals, appears to be universal throughout Europe. In France one thus imposed upon is called un poisson d'Avril (an April fish). In England such a person is called an "April fool," in Scotland a "gowk." Gowk is Scotch for the Cucko, and also signifies a foolish person. The favorite jest in England is to send one upon an errand for something grossly nonsensical as for pigeon's milk or the "History of Adam's Grandfather"; or to make appointments which are not to be kept; or to call to a passerby that his latchet is unloosed, or that there is a spot of mud upon his face. When he falls into the snare, the term "April fool" or "gowk" is applied with laughter. It is curious that the Hindus practise precisely similar tricks on the 31st of March, when they hold what is called the Huli Festival.

In Canada this year the farmers have unwittingly fallen into an "April fool" trap of their own setting as to daylight saving. Gaining the Government's ear and sympathy, they have caused a divided Canada on the question of time—one time for cities and towns, railways and steamboats, and another for rural districts. At least, that is the way it loks now, with the railways having yesterday morning adopted the daylight saving schedule, and cities and towns announcing their intention of doing likewise, whether or no. Farmers have more or less business relations with towns, cities and railways, and many a farmer this April and during the summer will make of himself an "April fool" by missing trains and business connections through his watch or clock running an hour behind the time of daylight saving communities and transportation lines.

LET RUSSIA HELP HERSELF.

FROM RUSSIA comes the menace of Bolshevism, growing more serious day by day, according to many trustworthy despatches. From Russia, that country which gloried in being the first of the European nations to adopt the clothing of democracy as a result of the war, emanates the will to contaminate her late allies with doctrines that make for the overthrow of free democracies in favor of unrestricted anarchy. The contention is advanced by many that Russia should be fed by the Allies, without separating anti-bolsheviks from bolsheviks, and in this way discourage bolshevism and check its menace. A correspondent declares that in Russia "food is simply beyond price; an egg costs more than a chicken used to cost, and a chicken is at the price of a lamb. Coal is almost as rare as gold. Hundreds of thousands of people are dying for want of food. What is their mental condition? They seem benumbed, incapable of anything but the daily struggle for food. They fight among themselves for food, but otherwise make no effort to restore order, and do not resist the fantastic imprisonments and violences of the Soviets. I think it is probably a mistake to suppose that fear is responsible for their passivity. Terrorism may explain certain things that revolt is, but the hopelessness of hunger explains more."

All this is deplorable, of course, and stirs up the sympathies of humane people. But even if food is the remedy for bolshevism, the Allies' first duty is to feed those nations with whom they hope to now make peace and thus encourage them in maintaining governments in whom some measure of confidence can be placed. And this does not prohibit the selling of food to Russia for the price, not, however, giving them preference. The bolsheviks of Russia are circulatin millions of roubles in Germany, Austria-Hungary and elsewhere on bolshevik propaganda which might be spent in food for their own people at home, were conditions in Russia such as to warrant national trade connections with the Allies. But it would seem a travesty on justice were the Allies to feed the traitors who are striking at them in the dark. A distinction should at least be drawn between bolsheviki criminals and their victims. There are other criminals in Europe who should be dealt with by the League of Nations as an after-war necessity besides the ex-kaiser and his clique, and they are to be found in Russia.

Millions of people in Russia are opposed to bolshevism, but passively submit to its horrors without a struggle. There were millions in France, oppressed, trodden under foot, so to speak, who finally emerged from their passive submission and, overthrew imperialism and autocratic oppression without aid from neighboring states. With all but naked hands, armed with scythes, knives and improvised weapons, men and women, in the name of freedom, stormed the Bastile and liberated France from tyranny. We are told the vast majority of Russia's millions want not bolshevism, but food and warmth, clothing and the right to live in peace. All these are theirs were they but to make a united stand against the terrorists; for with—unlike the French in their revolution—financial, material and manual aid from the Entente, success and the restoration of order would follow. The Allies have shown an earnest disposition to help Russia, but, unfortunately, they have not been awarded that measure of support from Russia which they reasonably looked for. The defection of Russia nearly proved the Allies' destruction in the West; it now threatens a deplorable delay in the establishment of world peace. And it now looks as though, instead of sympathizing with Russia in her internal difficulties, we must act vigorously toward her in regard to her pernicious external propaganda against our conception of a free democracy.

THE MAIL AND EMPIRE wants to know "why this embarrassing delay in executing the ex-kaiser?" The world is waiting for the League of Nations to appoint the executioner.

WHAT THE MONROE DOCTRINE IS.

WITH THE ATTITUDE of Americans at home toward the League of Nations as not complying with the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, it is of interest to get an insight into the real objects of this measure. And the Chicago Daily News gives us the following glance at reasons advanced for a lack of unanimity in the propositions of the League of Nations:

"How far the League of Nations 'universalizes' the Monroe Doctrine can be learned by glancing at the doctrine's history. As devised by Adams and announced by Monroe, it declared, in substance, against any attempt of a European government to force its political system upon a people of this hemisphere, or to oppress it, as 'inimical to the safety and the interests of the United States. It declared that colonization by any European government of any part of the two American continents, all of which was held to be within the lawful jurisdiction of some government, would be objectionable.

"That, however, is not all of the Monroe Doctrine. The doctrine has gradually unfolded, developed its implications like all vital principles and things. Grant, for argument's sake, that the League of Nations does attempt to 'universalize' the principle of no forcible aggression on this side of the water, is there anything in the present covenat that 'universalizes' or even recognises the principle that there can be no acquisition over here by a European nation of territory that voluntarily offers itself? The Monroe Dostrine means that. In 1848 Yucatan separated from Mexico by insurrection. The insurgents proposed to give Yucatan to Britain or Spain. President Polk declared that such a gift could not be permitted.

"Is there anything in the original League covenant that recognizes the principle enunciated by President Grant in 1870— in connection with the affairs of Santo Domingo—that the Monroe Doctrine forbids the acquisition by an overseas nation of land on this continent under any circumstances whatever?

"Is there anything in the present covenant of the League of Nations that 'universalises' the American contention, as set forth in the Lodge resolution of August 2, 1912, that corporations or associations having a close relation to the government of a foreign country cannot be permitted to obtain possession of strategic points in this hemisphere?

Is there anything in the original League covenant that sanctions President Roosevelt's declaration in 1904 that 'brutal wrongdoing, or impotence which results in the general loosening of the ties of civilised society, may finally require intervention by some civilised nation and in the western hemisphere the United States cannot ignore its duty'?

"No. The covenant as published not only does not make the Monroe Doctrine universal, but it does not even recognize some of its most vital implications. It raises a fear that we may be called on to submit to an 'executive council' points we have long since regarded as settled—and settled right."

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

TOO MUCH TALK.

(Toronto Star.)

Why all this delay in announcing any policy in regard to the disposal that is to be made of the ex-kaiser? Is there to be no policy in regard to him at all?

THE EMPLOYER'S DUTY.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Not only must the old "antagonism" between capital and labor disappear, but for the existence of both, the employer—the individual employer—must endeavor to obtain his employes' point of view. Not how little, but how much can be conceded toward the improvement of the lot of the worker, must be the angle from which employers—individual employers, large and small—consider their industrial problems.

JUST SO.

(Detroit News.)

Prohibition, as we understand the agitation of labor against it, would make an eight-hour day seem longer.

WELL SAID.

(Brantford Expositor.)

Speaking in military terms, Ontario has no desire to add a bar to its temperance medal.

SALOON SUBSTITUTE.

(Ohio State Journal.)

There is a wide variety o talk about what will be the substitute for the saloon, but we imagine that in a good many instances it will be the locker.

MUST NOT BE IGNORED.

(Kingston Standard.)

The charges brought by General Smart against those responsible for the Canadian medical services in Great Britain, France and Canada are too serious, and too specific, to be ignored by the Government.

PROTECTION FROM SKIRTS.

(Vancouver Sun.)

Twenty-six thousand Canadian soldiers have succumbed to the charms of the blue eyes and rosy cheeks of the English maidens and the casualties still proceed at the rate of a thousand a month. Canadian spinsters when the next war comes will have to devise some protection for the lads going overseas.

HYPOCRISY AGAIN.

(Toronto News.)

The fact that the Bavarian government includes a ministry of worship is in keeping with the hypocrisy for which the Hun has long been notorious.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL

One of the great dreams of engineers —the construction of the Channel Tunnel—is about to be realised as a post-war scheme. Although announced by the Government in a casual sort of way as a palliative to unemployment the Channel Tunnel will be one of the greatest landmarks in the world's progress, as great as the Suez and Panama Canals.

Opinion in favor of the Tunnel was slowly and steadily changing before the war. The war has broken down England's isolation as an island and revolutionized the European situation. Like many other schemes which appeal to the imagination, the conception of the Channel Tunnel is French. Just after the short-lived Peace of Amiens, a famous French engineer, Mathieu by name, proposed the Channel to Napoleon. The emperor looked upon the scheme favorably. "This," he said, to the British Ambassador, "is one of the great things which we should do together." The proposal was not then seriously considered but after more than 100 years England and France are about to do it together.

Agreement Between England and France

The project was next heard of during the reign of Napoleon III., at a time when cordial relations, amounting to almost an Entente and a temporary alliance in war, existed between the two countries. Again a French engineer, one De Gamond, brought it forward. For the first time the two Governments considered the proposal. An Anglo-French Committee in 1868 prepared a plan and submitted it to the Emperor. The two Governments were considering it when war broke out in 1870. Negotiations were resumed in 1872 and the British Foreign Office, on the advice of the Board of Trade, instructed Lord Lyons, the British Ambassador in Paris, to report on how the railway systems of the two countries could be brought into connexion by the Tunnel. Following on the report of a French Committee in 1874 in favor of a concession to a company, the British Government offered no objection. Bills were promoted both in the British and French Parliaments, and in 1875 a convention was signed between the two countries laying down the conditions under which the tunnel was to be constructed. In the negotiations the British Government insisted that no monopoly should be conferred on any company. In 1876 a protocol was signed between the two countries by Lord Clarendon, Lord Derby, the Marquis de la valette, and the Count de Jarnac. The memorandum said that: "The project adopted by the International Railway Commission was to be used as a basis for the treaty to be drawn up between France and Great Britain." This treaty deals with all questions which may arise from the existence of the tunnel in the dealings of the two nations, defining the submarine frontier the judicial standing of the French and British party, and makes provision for a permanent consulting international commission. Each government reserved to itself the right to stop the operation of the submarine railway, to damage or destroy the tunnel, to flood it—all this without any obligation on the part of the country taking advantage of this clause to pay an indemnity to the other country or to the operating company.

The French Channel Tunnel Company was formed in 1875, and included such men as Michael Chevalier and Leon Say. And this company, with some modifications, has been in existence ever since. It has spent more than two million francs on preparatory work, and it has been carried on under the egis of the French Northern Railway Company.

Opposition in England

In the same year the British Channel Tunnel Company obtained Parliamentary powers permitting it to undertake experimental operations in St. Margaret's Bay, but no work was done. The Southeastern Railway Company made the next experimental borings at the west end of the Shakespeare Cliff. Its works were taken over the next year by the Submarine Continental Construction Company. The only surviving subscribers of the original British company are Lord Hothfield, Sir Robert Perks, and Sir Ernest Cassel. Sir Robert Perks, who was the solicitor to the company as well as one of its financial supporters, discussed the scheme with all the great public men of the day, including John Bright de Lesseps, and Thiers, and went further afield, enlisting the interests of Count Witte, then at the height of his power in Russia, and of Kossuth in Budapest.

At this stage a political agitation arose around the Tunnel, and the Board of Trade intervened. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, then President of the Board of Trade obtained an injunction, stopping the progress of the works on the British side. A great Parliamentary inquiry was held on the schemes with Lord Lansdowne favored the scheme, but his report was negatived by six to four. The Channel Tunnel Bill was withdrawn and on subsequent occasions the House of Commons has rejected the scheme.

Pioneer Work

As stated above, public opinion was steadily turning in favor of the scheme before the war. The Tunnel was supported by the Chambers of Commerce and the great commercial magnates. Political opposition was breaking down. The Entente with France was an important new factor in the situation.

In the meantime, while Parliament held up the project, the pioneers were not idle. A new company with a capital of £275,000 was formed in 1886, the rival railway interests were reconciled, and experimental work carried on.

In 1913 the proposal was considered in the light of the new military situation by the Admiralty, War Office, and the Board of Trade, and it was well known that an overwhelming majority of Mr. Asquith's Government were in favor of it. Among the statesmen who voted for the Tunnel in 1890, and who have always supported it, are Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Asquith.

The chairman of the Channel Tunnel Company, who has kept on bravely with the preliminary work, is Baron Emile d'Erlanger, who succeeded his father in the position in 1911 and whose firm has expended over £150,000 in plans, organization, and experiments. While a Frenchman by birth, Baron d'Erlanger has lived in England since the age of eighteen, and has been a leading advocate for the Tunnel not only because he has recognized that it would be one of the most valuable and lasting means of cementing the good relations between England and France.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

THE SUN.

The sun is so meny miles away frum the erth that you would haff to be a champeen in arifmetick to think that far, and if you ever started to wawk there your legs would be rinkled frum old age before you got enyware neer it, even if you started to wawk wen you was a week old, wich you couldent enyhow.

The sun is so brite that the more you look at it the less you can see. It gives lite to the erth free of charge jest as a blessing, being more of a blessing before the invention of gas and elecktricity than wat it is now, altho it is still useful to distingwish day lite frum artificial lite and to enable trees and other objecks to cast shadows as a perfection frum the heet in summir.

Nobody knows for sure wether the sun is inhabited or not, but most peeple dowt it, and even the ones who bleeve it are glad they are not the inhabitants. It is jest a matter of lack wich planet you are born on, and if you happened to be born on the sun you mite be skortched to deth before you realised it.

The suu is so hot you could fry a egg agenst it eesy, wich for all we know maybe the inhabitants do, ony all the eggs proberly get hard berled about a minnit after they are laid, especially if the hens happen to lay them in a puddle.

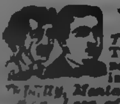
One reeson wy the sun would proberly be hard to get to is because it is surrounded by its own rays, the rays being the hottest part of it.

LEE PAPE.

A GERMAN VIEW.

(Vossische Zeitung, Dem. Party.)

Radek at the Spartacas congress said openly that Moscow hoped to recruit in Germany new forces for their war against the Entente. In fact, Germany is to make the starting point for their attack on the West, and the Bolsheviks are doing all they can to prevent Germany attaining peace either at home or abroad, in the hope of finally drawing her into a Bolshevik alliance. Germany must mobilise al lthe national forces against Bolshevism, and establish a military force large enough to ensure the country not being dragged into a new war against its will.



Wood's Phosphodine.

The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

WIT AND WISDOM

"You are an hour late this morning, Sam," said an employer to his negro servant.

"Yes, sah. I know it, sah. I was kicked by a mule on my way sah."

"That orght not to have detained you an hour, Sam."

"Well, you see, boss, it wouldn't have if he'd only have kicked me in dis direction but he kicked me de other way."

A well known judge was trying a case in which there was a dispute about a water supply. As he had just partaken of a hearty luncheon and counsel's argument was decidedly long winded he began to nod suspiciously. All at once the barrister thundered out:

"What we want, your honor, is water."

"Very little in mine, please; very little in mine," said his honor, suddenly starting up.

"Now, you wouldn't think to look at him that that man was a judge would you?"

"I don't know as I'd pick him out for a judge, but a glance at his nose would be sufficient to convince me that he had some thing to do with the bar.'

Now that a "manless airplane" has been flown 100 miles under wireless control, we have the hope that a manless world is in sight. It is logical to assume that the Ruler of the universe can steer the suns and planets without even the assistance of the United States Senate.

WOOZY WILLIE.

(By altW Mason.)

We'd better watch the former kaiser or he'll be back on Prussia's throne; we leave him free—it might be wiser to house him in a shack of stone. Some donjon keep of ancient pattern, with walls a score of cubits thick—with no one near but some grim slattern to hand him musty bones to pick. A lot of Huns are busy plotting to see their exiled Bill recrowned, and will be till his nobs is rotting in some damp dungeon underground. And Bill sits up, in watching, and doubtless murmurs o'er and o'er, "Unless they do some bonehead botching my friends will have me crowned once more." I hate to think what things may happen if Bill again his sceptre owns; perhaps some four years more of scrappin', with ghastly toll of blood and bones. It is no dream that Huns are planning to bring the old rule back again, all corners of the empire manning with Bloody Billy's kind of men. And we permit the exile cheesy to stay where he can help them plan; I wonder why we are so easy, why don't we squelch the also ran? We used to say we'd surely punish old Bill and wipe out every debt; for all his misdeeds, base and Hunnish, he'd have to pay in bloody sweat. He sits in peace, the monstrous vandal, who should be fed to hungry sharks; it is a blooming shame and scandal—and why are we such easy marks?

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Want of tact is an incurable infirmity.

The hand that rules the dyspeptic makes the pie.

An everyday man is not necessarily weak-minded.

A good-sized dining-room is to be found in an empty stomach.

AS FRENCH SEE IT.

(Cambridge Magazine.)

Renoult asks what the Allied governments mean to do now that the false Russian governments, representing nothing, have refused Prinkipo, and the true government, in being for eighteen months back, has accepted?

"The situation is serious. It is not because they are face to face with disaster that the heads of the Russian Socialist government show themselves conciliatory. Their position has never been stronger, their power better founded, their military strength more robust. Answering by deeds to the campaign of false news organized by the capitalist agencies, they have exhibited themselves victorious on all the fronts." Our unhappy Murman army is threatened, the physical and moral plight of our Eastern army, now sent to Odessa, is known to us. "It is for these fellow-countrymen, these Frenchmen forced out there, to make war on a prolearian republic. . . . . that we make our plea. . . . . We must recall our troops."

PRAYER OF THE GALLAS OF NORTHERN AFRICA

(Quoted by Bishop Colenso in his Book on the Pentateuch.)

Morning Prayer.

"O God, Thou hast let me pass the night in peace, let me pass the day in peace! Wherever I may go, upon my way, which Thou makest peaceable for me, O God, lead my steps. When I have spoken, keep off calumny from me; when I am satisfied, keep me from pride. Calling upon Thee, I pass the day, O Lord, who hast no Lord!"

Evening Prayer.

"O God, Thou hast let me pass the day in peace; let me pass the night in peace, O Lord, who hast no Lord! There is no strength but in Thee; Thou alone hast no obligation. Under Thy hand I pass the day. Under Thy hand I pass the night. Thou art my Mother, Thou art my Father!"

MEDICAL HIERARCHY IN ACTION

Concord, N.H.—The New Hampshire Legislature, on Thursday, unanimously defeated, in the House of Representatives, a bill to provide that "every city, union, special or town school district shall have medical inspection in its schools." A bill to provide that the state Board of Education, to be created under the provisions of the Educational Reform Bill, should have authority to install a system of medical inspection and education was defeated. No medical inspection laws will be enacted by the present session, although strenuous efforts have been made to take action along this line.

DO YOU SEW?

A person with imperfect vision cannot do perfect work without proper glasses.

If after sewing a short time, you find your eyes smart and burn you probably need glasses.

At any rate you should have your eyes examined to determine just what is the trouble.

Better have your eyes examined NOW.

M. J. ROCHE
Optometrist & Mfg. Optician
188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

EMPIRE THEATRE Monday and Tuesday

JANE GREY in A Guilty Wife

LEAH BAIRD in the Greatest German Spy Serial
Wolves of Kultur Chapter 14. 2 Parts The Code of Hate

BRONCO BILL'YS SQUARENESS Comedy

THE STENOGRAPHER, Comedy

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Fine Program LOUISE CLAUSE in
SHACKLED

MARIE WALCAMP, The dashing Screen Star in
THE LION'S CLAWS, Serial

And a . . Charlie Chaplin Comedy by West DOUGHNUTS

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

WANTED.

WANTED — TWO GENTLEMEN boarders, to room together. Apply 487 Parnell St.

WANTED — TWO OR THREE furnished rooms, with or without board, in central locality. Apply Box 444, Review.

TO RENT.

TO RENT — LARGE FRONT room, with or without meals. Apply 382 Stewart street.

CAR FOR HIRE—ALL ORDERS promptly attended to. Rates reasonable. J. J. Johnston, 'phone 652w.

LOST.

LOST—ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON on George or Hunter street, small black purse. Reward if left at Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — DISCHARGE PAPERS; made out in the name of John Alexander McArthur. May be had by applying to Harvey Staunton, G.W.V.A.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—TWO MAXWELL Touring Cars and one Dodge Touring. Apply Banks' Garage.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219 395 George St.

Children s Aid Society

— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 588 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m

[illegible] under new management and is to be independent of party politics, devoted to business interests.

The commander of the allied troops has declared Fiume to be in a state of siege.

The recent note of the Allies to the German Government regarding the landing of General Haller's Polish troops at Dantzig did not take the form of an ultimatum.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 297½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 23
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 111.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that a Quarterly Dividend of two and one-half per cent., being at the rate of ten per cent. per annum for the three (3) months ending 31st March, 1919, has been declared upon the Capital Stock of this institution, and the same will be payable at the offices of the Company in this city on and after the 1st of April, 1919.

The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st March, both days inclusive.

By order of the Board.
W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.
Peterborough, Ont.
March 14th, 1919.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Eggs and Poultry Markets Higher

Ottawa, March 31.

Market firm with tendency to higher prices. Reported some exporters offering forty-two f.o.b. next week's shipments. Chicago advancing firsts thirty-nine half with private sales forty. Sales storage packed forty-one half and forty-two. Sale reporten Chicago three cars to Canadian exporter at forty-seven seaboard export packed. Some export orders turned down. Montreal trade, rather job here, New York northern firsts forty-one, forty-three, southern forty, forty-two.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, March 31.—Receipts of livestock were fairly heavy; the market was slow for export, but ordinary butchers were higher and hogs unsettled.

Choice export	$14.00	$15.00
Choice butcher cattle.	10.75	13.00
Medium butcher cows	9.50	10.50
Ewes	11.00	13.50
Lambs	18.50	19.50
Hogs f.a.w.	19.50	19.75
Hogs f.o.b.	18.75	19.00
Calves	14.50	16.00

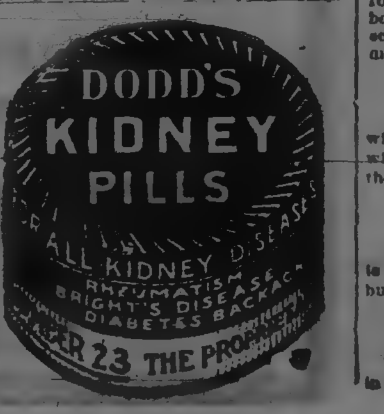
PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 0
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'	25	25
Deacon and bob calf	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

BOOZE AND WATER.

(By Walt Mason.)

Old Forty Rod is on the blink, its knell will soon be tooted; but water is a goodly drink when it is not diluted. Oh, water makes no strong appeal to sports all soaked with whiskey; they want a drink that makes them feel obstreperous and frisky. But soon 'twill be a groundhog cast, this thing of water drinking; man can't buy bitters for his face, or get the same by winking. And this will rack full many a mind, to some make life distressing; but soon the red-nosed sports will find that hydrants are a blessing. It is a noble thing to rise, at morn, with buoyant body, and have no sore and bloodshot eyes, no headache loud and gaudy. It's fine to spend a restful night, nor dream of alligators, and then to have an appetite for steak and eggs and taters. It's good to have a bone or two, to have a kopeck handy, that will not go for someone's brew, some brand of gin or brandy. The hydrant draws no gilded boys, no dead game sports surround it; but it increases human joys when once the soak has found it; when once he's learned to like the juice that from the hydrant trickles, he has to wonder why the deuse he blew for beer his nickels.



LET THE JOY BELLS RING

The Toronto Telegram says:—

"Every Toronto steeple that carries 'a choir of bells' should ring out a welcome to the returning soldiers in the music of 'Home, Sweet Home.'

"Toronto shares with other British cities the privilege of bidding welcome to the greatest warriors in all history, returning from the greatest war in all history, crowned with the laurels of the mightiest victory ever won for human freedom. Toronto is not a city of chimes, but the bells of rejoicing should ring a welcome to the home-coming sons of this city."

We have People's Chimes in Peterborough. Why not follow the Telegram's suggestion, and "let them ring."

Suggestions On Tomato Growing

The following comes timely just now:

Where growers of tomatoes have a suitable place for starting plants it is recommended that they should grow their own stock. By careful selection from individual plants from year to year a variety may be much improved from the standpoint of earliness, uniformity, and productiveness. When sown in green houses, in a sunny window, or in a hot-bed the seed should be sown in boxes or flats containing three or four inches of soil. The seed is usually sown in rows about four inches apart from one-quarter to one-half inch deep, the soil firmly pressed down with the hand and made moist but not wet. When the rough leaves appear the little plants are transplanted into other flats or hot beds about two inches apart each way. Further transplanting to about six inches apart is recommended as soon as the plants commence to crowd each other. This information is taken from Pamphlet No. 22 of the Central Experimental Farm which is available from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The pamphlet deals not only with tomato culture, but mushroom culture and the forcing of rhubarb during the winter season. The soil and planting for tomatoes are fully described as well as treatment for diseases, training to the centre stem and other useful information.

FISHERMEN NEEDED.

British Cannot Handle the Abnormal Catches.

The slow demobilization of service men is seriously affecting the fishing industry round Deal, England, where some abnormal catches of sprats have been brought in. The Downs seem to be full of these fish; something like 150 lasts (of about 10,000 fish each) have been taken, but owing to the shortage of labor and the lack of sufficient plant the fishermen have been unable to dispose of a large part, to the national loss.

One boat, measuring 17 feet long, and manned by only two men, made a record haul in regard to time, but the operation nearly ended in disaster. Their net became choked, and the boat was so heavily laden with fish that the cork buoys attached to the nets were dragged below the surface of the water. The men loaded their small boat until the gunwale was almost level with the sea and they were in danger of sinking, and the help of another boat was required. When these two boats reached the shore they found that they had captured in 1½ hours no fewer than 150,000 fish, which works out at something like 1,700 per minute.

It is estimated that 200 lasts have been taken in one day, and the men state that they can easily double or even treble this output if their skilled companions now on service or waiting to return could be demobilized a little more quickly.

Fishermen have been seen to shake out their first captures in the morning and go afloat for the second consignment, and when they have returned to shore they found their first captures still lying on the beach, as no men are available to pack them. As matters now stand a plentiful supply of easily accessible food is being lost to the nation owing to the shortage of labor, to say nothing of the financial loss to the fishermen themselves.

The men also complain that they are handicapped in the work by the immense number of ravenous seagulls which hover over their catches. As soon as they haul in their nets these birds swoop down and attack and devour the fish by thousands, in spite of the men's efforts to beat them off with oars and boat-hooks, while the continuous screaming of the birds makes the men nearly deaf.

To Polish Amber.

Amber may be polished by friction with whiting and water, and finally with a little olive oil well rubbed on the surface with a piece of flannel.

The World and Life.

The world is not a playground; it is a schoolroom. Life is not a holiday, but an education.—Henry Drummond.

Optimistic Thought.

There is no one that does not once in his life do a silly act.

WRAP OF BROCADED SATIN

Gold-and-yellow brocaded satin is the material in this luxurious evening wrap. The lines are extremely simple. The collar and cuffs are formed of wide bands of sable.

Rosettes of Velvet.

Large puffed rosettes of velvet, which were very popular as trimmings in millinery circles late last fall, are again being seen. On extremely large hats this trimming is placed at the front, while for the smaller shapes it is used at the side or back. Often the rosettes correspond in color with the facing of the hat. Another feature of the millinery situation is the increasing call for blue hats. Several shades of blue are being used in making small velvet hats, including electric, national, sapphire, Yale and French.

Night Air Not Dangerous.

There is still a prejudice among some against night air. For that reason some foolish people sleep with their windows closed. Night air is not dangerous. On the average it is more pure than that of the day. In malarious sections exposure at night may be dangerous, not because the air is bad but because malarial mosquitoes bite only at night. The danger is in the mosquitoes, not the air.

WRIGLEY'S
The Greatest Name in Goody-Land
YOU know the realm of childhood dreams is a land of sweets.
Make some of those dreams a delightful reality by taking home frequently.
WRIGLEYS
How about tonight?
SEALED TIGHT
KEPT RIGHT
The Flavour Lasts!
MADE IN CANADA
WRIGLEY'S DOUBLEMINT CHEWING GUM
WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT
WRIGLEY'S JUICY FRUIT CHEWING GUM

LABOR TO GET A PLACE

Paris, March 29.—The membership of the States in the Executive Council of the League of Nations, Reuters, Limited says it understands will be increased from two to three, the third member probably being a labor representative.

JEWS RULE HUNGARY

Basle, March 29.—The New Hungarian Government consists of twenty-four Jews and six Christians, the Reichpost of Vienna says. The paper expresses the belief that the Magyars will not submit to such a government.

The Brotherhood of Nature

(1) King of the buffalo.
(2) Buffalo herd at Banff.
(3) King and queen buffalo.

IN these days of hectic reconstruction it might be well for some peoples of the world to look on the way that community animal life is governed, on its placid contentment, its aspirations and its administration. No true contentment exists excepting there be a leader. Sheep follow the bell-wether, wolves follow the pack leader, bands of moose, or mountain sheep, herds of goats are all led by individual masters. Ants and bees are lost without their kings and queens, while the industrious beaver would never be satisfied in his aquatic home unless there was a head to the colony. The bull whale rules his herd, the bull walrus administers the high justice, the middle and the low in his own little world. In every band of wild or half wild horses that ranges the prairies there is one who is head keeper of order and strict government.

Always excepting the cases of the busy bee, the meek sheep, or the sexless mule the leader is a male, always when rebellion or insurrection breaks forth it is from among the vigorous youngsters of the same sex. When the blood of youth runs hot in the veins of a walrus bull, or the mountain buck, or the male young wolf or whale or ram, he aspires to conquer and to lead.

To one who has made even a superficial study of the habits of animals there is something akin to human in their methods and characteristics. There is ever an envious few who covet leadership, there is always a large number willing to rush with fang and claw and ripping horn to destroy one who had led but who has lost. And it is always noticed that the dictator of any herd or band keeps a watchful eye on his restless young males and stands ever ready to crush insurrection and high aspiration with teeth or hoof or crushing head.

This all leads up to the king of the buffalo herd in the great park at Banff beside the towering pile of Cascade Mountain where the C. P. R. tracks skirt the base. Six feet high at the shoulders he stands with a mighty depth of chest, a tremendous head and a patriarchial beard of brown silk that sweeps on a level with his knees. He is a stupendous creature and has impressed his powers of dominance on all the other bulls in the pastures. Visitors marvel at his bulk and his very apparent size and power. He is a ton weight of life-driven brawn and bone and flesh.

Yet he is a usurper, nevertheless. He stepped into the place of a better through force of circumstances and the ability to see the opportune moment. For many years "Sir Donald" was emperor of the buffalo at Banff. He more than topped six feet at the shoulders, his head was as hard and as heavy as a granite slab, his agility was that of a cat, his charge was like the rush of the avalanche down a steep mountain side. With ease he kept the young bulls in second place included in their number being the present leader. In time it needed but a slow swing of the heavy head to make the other bulls scamper. Like a wise leader he paid little attention to the private quarrels of young males, and naturally they fought among themselves to prove superiority. The present dictator whipped them all. And it came to pass that he looked again on Sir Donald with a red eye and that sturdy and astute leader recognized the need of the application of first principles. He broke a horn on the hard skull of the younger animal, but he trampled all feelings of equality or opposition from that vanquished beast.

The years rolled on. Sir Donald passed the thirty year milepost. His teeth grew poor, winter found him thin. A touch of rheumatism slowed him up, and his eyesight dimmed. It was the hour of the young bulls. Led by the last defeated contestant they attacked the veteran chieftain en masse, and, still respectful of his prowess were satisfied with keeping him outside the herd by uniting and remaining united. None were willing yet to dare his anger [illegible] handed. Sir Donald ranged in solitude, his former wives shunned him, his children ignored him, the young bulls rumbled when he came in sight. Then came a frosty night that so stiffened his rheumatic joints that he could not arise when the morning sun poured its golden light down in the broad valley. A wandering young bull finding him thus helpless roared the fighting call of the herd as he charged. The iron-hard earth trembled as the other great brutes thundered to the scene, and soon all that was visible was a half dozen buffalo bulls trampling and goring a [illegible] the ground while the air was [illegible] with the bawlings of victory. [illegible] to say, though the body was [illegible] by the hoofs of the bulls the [illegible] head was unmarred, and [illegible] took it away, had it mounted, and now it hangs in the building at Ottawa, broken horn and all.

The present king saw his [illegible] ity. He challenged the [illegible] his partners in the deposition [illegible] and thoroughly whipped [illegible] worked thus [illegible] ranks of the oth[illegible] dominance was [illegible] other brutes obeyed [illegible] had as promptly as [illegible] Sir Donald's. He [illegible] did his predecessor, [illegible] and a great dignity, and [illegible] erned for some years. [illegible]

What 25c. a Day Will Do

Invest 25 cents every day in a Thrift Stamp, to be placed on a Thrift Card.

Exchange Thrift Card with 16 Thrift Stamps attached, for a War-Savings Stamp, at any place displaying the Beaver-Triangle sign, paying in cash the difference between $4.00 and the price of a War-Savings Stamp at the time of exchange—$4.02 in March; $4.03 in April; $4.04 in May (the price increases one cent each month.)

As your War-Savings Stamps mature, remvest the money at the same rate of interest. Continue this without interruption and you will have

In 10 Years . $1,152.62
In 20 Years . 2,953.30
In 30 Years . 5,766.68

W-S-S

DOMINION OF CANADA THRIFT CARD

CANADA WAR-SAVINGS

71

HELP IN REPATRIATION AND RECONSTRUCTION

Buying of War Savings Stamps is Urged by Sir Herbert Ames

Toronto, March 29.—At a meeting in Toronto Friday, Sir Herebert Ames, chairman of the National War Savings Committee, said:

"Every time you induce some one to become a war saver you are helping repatriation and reconstruction and developing a habit which if it becomes universal assures Canada's prosperity." The meeting was held under the auspices of the Woman's Committee of the National War Sav- and Thrift campaign. Lady Hendrie presided.

The speaker stated we are often asked why the Government resorts to the War Savings Stamp method for raising funds, continued the speaker "Why not another Victory Loan?" is the question asked. It may be necessary for the Finance Minister to ask for further large sums by way of a Canadian loan, this is to be avoided if possible, for it will not be so easy to float loans as it was in wartime. During the hostilities the Government sought for money where money existed in large quantities. We stripped the heavily-laden boughs but did not glean the scattered fruit. Many of the avenues then open are now closed.

"It is astonishing what large sums are secured when participation is general. Our Government has authorized an issue of War Savings Stamps to the value of fifty million dollars this year; we hope that they will all be absorbed during 1919. This may seem a huge amount to be made up by the sale of $5 War Savings Stamps, but if saving and investment by this plan becomes universal throughout Canada, thrice fifty million can be easily raised.

"We are often asked what the money is needed for. The popular impression is that at the end of the war national expenditure can cease. This, however, is not possible. The reconstruction period is almost as expensive and may be nearly as dangerous as that of the war. Nothing would injure Canada so much today as a period of non-employment. This would lead to misery and restlessness at home; it would do Canada's reputation incalculable injury abroad.

In conclusion the speaker said: "In order to bring this plan to the attention of the Canadian public, the Government has created a national war savings committee. For Central Ontario Mr. W. K. George is chairman, Mr. W. Shapley vice-chairman, Mrs. H. S. Strthy, chairman of the ladies' executive."

NO NEED TO PARLIAMENT

Three Rivers, March 29.—At a meeting f all the manufacturing interests of the city of Three Rivers, it was unanimously resolved that irrespective of what action the Government of Ottawa may take regarding daylight saving, they would on April 1st, move all clocks forward one hour.

AVIATORS IN FLOES

St. John's, March 28.—The steamer Digby, which is bound here with Harry G. Hawker, and Lieut. Commander Mackenzie Grieve, British aviators and the airplane which they will use in an attempt to fly across the Atlantic, was stopped 120 miles off this port today by ice floes. This may delay the trans-Atlantic flight.

Co-Insurance Clause

THE REASON WHY INSURANCE COMPANIES DESIRE A CO-INSURANCE IN POLICIES.

It is a promise by an insured to the insurance company carrying his risk, that he will insure his property for an agreed amount, usually four fifths of the value.

What happens if a loss occurs?

If the promise has been kept nothing happens but if the promise has been broken, then the insured loses just to the extent that the promise had not been kept.

For instance, if the agreement was to insure for four-fifths of the value, and insurance was taken only for three fifths, then the insured loses in the proportion of the difference between the four fifths promised and the three fifths done. That is, he kept only three fourths of his promise, and if his loss was $10,000 instead of collecting that sum from the insurance company, he collects just three fourths of that sum, except in the case mentioned in the second succeeding paragraph.

If he had kept only one-half of his promise, he could collect only one-half, and on the other hand, if he had kept nine tenths of his promise he would collect nine tenths of his loss, while if he had kept his promise he could collect in full.

If however, his loss equals or exceeds the proportion of value for which he agreed to insure, he collects the full amount of any policy he holds, because if the value be $10,000, and his loss $8,000 or over even if he kept only half his promise which was to insure for $8,000 and had only $4,000 insurance then, while he would only collect half his loss, that half equals the whole amount of the insurance carried.

On the other hand, if he has more than kept his promise, that is, has insured for say 8,500 on a property worth $10,000 and which he had promised to insure for $8,000, then he can collect the full amount of his insurance of $8,500 if his loss equals or exceeds $8,500.

How can an insured comply with the clause?

The insured should know the value of his property beter than anyone else, and if he does not know it, should ascertain it. If the value of his property has increased through advance in market prices or from other causes he should increase his insurance. He will expect to be paid the present values and should insure on that bases.

Some insured write down the value of their buildings or machinery in their books or in their balance sheet. The real value is not affected by such writing down, and the insurance requires to be based on real value, not on the book value.

Now, if a loss occurs, how is the valne settled?

The appraisers appointed to settle the loss, decide not only on the amount of damage, but also the value, but the appraiser appointed by the insurance company cannot force the insured to admit an incorrect valuation, any more than he can force him to accept $1,000 of loss when he has really lost $2,000. Both of the value of the property and the loss sustained are settled by appraisers mutually chosen, and if the insured is not satisfied he can always appeal to the courts, which are not usually sympathetic toward a defending insurance company.

Now, why do insurance companies desire to place a co-insurance clause in their policies?

Because it is only in that way that they can charge a fair rate which does not discriminate between one insured and another, and against themselves.

The rate is a measure of contribution towards fund to pay losses, just as a rate of taxation in a city is levied on all property to pay the city's expenses.

If, however, instead of a city assessing all property equally, it were left to one man to put his assessment at two tenths of the value and so on, with only the remaining few assessing themselves for the usual amount of three fourth of the value, it will be at once seen not only that there would be gross discrimination but that as the total assessment of the city would only be about one-half the sum it would have been had all been assessed to the proper amount therefore the tax rate instead of being, say, twenty mills, would have to be forty mills to raise the necessary revenue.

The same holds true of insurance. In Great Britain practically every policy has a co-insurance clause and to be absolutely fair, every policy should contain such a clause. The insurance companies, however do not say an insured must but that if he is willing to promise that he will carry a proper amount of insurance, they will allow a substantial reduction in the rate.

Most prudent men, and practically all successful men, insure for the amount desired by the insurance companies, and generally for more.

In short, the co-insurance clause is merely a promise, for the making of which, the insured receives a payment by reduction in rate, that he will do the fair and proper thing with the promise to agree to lose something if the promise be not kept.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

CONTROL OF WHEAT PRICE.

Ottawa, March 29.—Mr. E. T. Myers (Kindersley) has given notice of a resolution that immediate action be taken by the Dominion Government in order to control the price of wheat in 1919.

FIRST PEACE BY APRIL 20

Paris March ..—Hopes were expressed last night in Peace Conference circles that the preliminary peace treaty might be signed by April 20.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

Cayuga, April 1.—Through the efforts of the Women's Institute medical inspection has been secured for Haldimand county.

PURE BRED SHEEP

If the greatest profit is to be realized from a flock of pure bred sheep they must receive the very best feed and care the shepherd can give them. Not that they of necessity require greater care and feed than the grade, but the fact that the breeder of a pure bred flock expects to put the most of his surplus stock on the market as breeders means that he must feed the best and give the best care possible, that his stock may reach its best development.

At the Experimental Farm, Nappan, this has been well brought out in the feeding and caring of the pure bred flock. It was found that even during the summer season the pure bred flock could not be neglected otherwise the results would be bound to show in the following season's increase and development of the young.

The flock must have a good pasture with not too rank a growth; preferably a short, thick bottom growth with an abundance of clover and plenty of good running water to which the sheep can easily get. Sheep take much more water than the average farmer would think. This holds true especially in the winter.

Just before the breeding season the ewes should be culled; all undesirables taken out; and a certain period given between weaning and breeding for the ewes to get into condition again. Best results are obtained where the ewes are turned in a nice clover field and flushed just before the mating season. It is found that where ewes and rams are in the best of health and condition a greater percentage of twins and triplets is dropped. All ewes should be tagged before the mating season. The best time to breed is in th fall. If you have warm quarters for the ewes and lambs it will pay to have the lambs dropped early; otherwise it is not advisable to do so. It is also found that a small flock of twenty to twenty-five per pen is beter than a large one. When ewes go into winter quarters they should be supplied with good, well cured clover hay. The next best is a mixture of clover and timothy. Pulped turnips at the rate of from 2½ to 3 pounds per head per day should be given up to within a month of lambing, with the addition of ½ to 1 pound of meal mixture (100 oats, 100 bran and 50 oilcake). This will keep the ewes in a good, thriving condition. For the best results ewes should not be too fat, especially at lambing time. We have had our heaviest losses from over-fat ewes. Just previous to lambing (say about a month) the turnips are gradually cut down to nothing. The percentage of bran, if it is good, is increased slightly until after the lambs are dropped. Then the oats are increased, as there is nothing like good oats to stimulate the milk flow. Salt should be supplied at all seasons of the year. A careful watch over the flock at lambing will often save the lives of many lambs that will, at the end of six or seven months be worth $3.00 to $30.00 each.

RETURN AS UNIT

St. Catharines, March 31.—Word has reached the city that Brig-Gen. W. B. King, whose home is here, is arranging to have all the St. Catharines artillerymen overseas merged into the 10th Battalion, so that the boys may come home as a unit. If this arrangement goes through, St. Catharines people will have for the first time the long-looked-for-opportunity of according a real welcome.

CANONIZE FRENCH HEROINE.

Rome, April 1—Pope Benedict has set April 6 as the definite date for the canonization of Joan of Arc.

WOULD MAKE BRIDGE A MEMORIAL STRUCTURE

Also a Monument to the Enterprise of the Citizens

Editor of The Review:

Sir,—I have had the privilege of hearing the bridge question discussed by a number of our leading citizens, and I find that the majority are in favor of adopting the plans as prepared by Mr. Barber.

It is true that the plans for the bridge have been condemned by several parties, but the critics admit that they are not experts, and while they no doubt are sincere in making objection to the plans of the bridge, their opinions are not of so much value as they would be, if the objectors were practical bridge builders.

The location and site of the bridge demand that it be made to present a good appearance, anything cheap would look mean in contrast with the beautiful buildings erected by the Quaker Oats Co. And it will be much used, more people come into the city over the roads leading to the site of the proposed bridge, than from any other avenue. As it will be permanent, it should be made the full width of the street. And it should be made to look well, a beautiful bridge, a monument to the enterprise of the men of this city who build it. And why not make it a memorial to our soldier dead.

I note that in several places in Ontario, the people are building memorial bridges in honor of their dead soldiers, and I have wondered that the suggestion was never made here to use the new structure as a memorial bridge, and have the tablets with the names of ur fallen heroes placed in suitable positions on it.

It is an ideal location for the site of a memorial. It is easy of access from all parts of the city. Numbers of people would pass it every day coming into the city from the east, strangers visiting the lift lock, all would see it.

Some time ago there was a discussion in the local newspapers, over what form the memorial to our dead heroes would take, some advocated a home for the returned soldiers, and some a monument to be placed in some public place. I believe that this question suggest that now is the time and now the opportunity to act, and place on the new bridge a monument to the memory of the men whom we desire to honor.

I am sure that Mr. Barber could easily work in the design and make it add to the beauty of the bridge.

The County Council would no doubt help in defraying part of the additional expense, and private citizens would also contribute towards providing the tablets.

Yours truly,
MEMORIAL.

LABOR RETURNS ENCOURAGING

IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS OF BIG GROUPS OF INDUSTRIES.

Ottawa, March 30.—The weekly returns which are now regularly received from employers enable the Department of Labor to keep in constant touch with the employment situation throughout the country. The number of employers reporting is now large enough to be thoroughly representative of most industries and of all important industrial districts. Thus for the week ending March 15, reports were received from 2,554 employers, with a total labor force of 262,743, and representing every Province in the Dominion except Prince Edward Island.

Among other things, these firms report the number of persons whom they expect to have on their payrolls for the week following the date on which the report is made. Thus, before the end of each week, the department has available an accurate forecast of the increase or decrease in unemployment in the eastern Provinces during that week, and by Monday of the following week has complete statistics for the whole of the Dominion.

The latest returns are decidedly encouraging, the anticipated reductions being relatively less than one-half as great as for the previous week. The 2,554 firms reporting expected to reduce their staffs from 262,743 to 262,099 during the week ending March 22. This is a reduction of 644 persons, or only .245 per cent of the total labor force. Last week the anticipated reduction was 978, or .471 per cent.

Another favorable feature is that while last week only three of the fourteen groups of industries into which the firms are divided, report improvement, this week increases were anticipated by no fewer than seven industrial groups, while in two others, the decline is so small as to be unimportant. Indeed, if the lumbering industry be disregarded the anticipated decrease of 644 persons would be converted into a net increase of 54.

Have You
Pains,
Cramps,
Callouses or a Burning Sensation
at or near where the finger points? If so,
DR. SCHOLL has perfected a special appliance, known as the Anterior Metatarsal Arch Support which will positively relieve that particular foot ailment.
For Sale at all RELIABLE SHOE DEALERS.
Write for Dr. Scholl's Free Booklet, "Treatment and Care of the Feet."
The Scholl Mfg. Co., Limited
Dept. G 1
112 Adelaide St. East, Toronto
Also Chicago, New York, and London, Eng.
SCHOLL

U. S. AVIATOR KILLED.

Fall of 3,000 Feet is Fatal to G. M. Gendreau at Miami, Fla.

Miami, Fla., April 1.—G. M. Gendreau, of Chicago, a student officer at the naval air station here, was killed when his airplane fell from a height of three thousand feet in a spinning nose dive into Biscayne bay.

CLEANLINESS QUALITY SERVICE

These three words sum up the success of

Mother's Bread

In future when you buy MOTHER'S BREAD
See that every loaf as the label

Your Grocer Sells
Mother's Bread

Or Phono 509 and our Salesman will call at your door

PETERBORO BREAD Co., Ltd.
241 DUBLIN STREET

Purity Flour is a high-grade flour because every care is used to make it so.

PURITY FLOUR

Government Standard

"More Bread and Better Bread and Better Pastry"

Canada Food Board License Nos. Flour 15, 16, 17, 18; Cereal 2-009.

"Purity Oats Make Better Porridge"

WESTERN CANADA FLOUR MILLS CO. LTD., TORONTO, ONT.

HELP NEEDED BY PEOPLE OF LIBERATED FINLAND

Have Passed Through Terrible Experiences—Red Cross Could Afford Much Relief

While the American Red Cross has done and is still doing a splendid work among the orphans and the needy in Belgium, Armenia, France and Poland, a less well-known, small and poorer country in the far north has been unnoticed. The people of this little known country have had to pass through terrible experiences during the past few years, the want, misery and suffering of which cannot be described in words.

The country is Finland, the land that has liberated itself from the oppression of the Russians, and which is now creating an independent basis fr a new democratic form of government with the consent and assistance of the allies. This new government and social structure is being organized along the lines suggested by President Wilson in his speeches on the right to self-government and self-determination for the various nationalities of the world.

Very little has been known in America and Canada about the sufferings through which the Finnish people have passed. The lack of information about Finland has been due in a measure to the fact that Finland was practically isolated from the outer world during the war, all means of communication having been severed, together with the fact that the meager news about Finland which has reached America from other sources during this period, have been misleading.

For these reasons the American and Canadian Red Cross has not given its attention in this direction and no effort has been made to extend aid from this side. At the present time, however, the fate of suffering Finland is beginning to be understood and the United States food administration has already sent grain from American supplies on hand in Denmark and Holland and additional shipments are to be made monthly. However, all this grain and other foodstuffs are to be for sale in Finland and will not relieve the sufferings of the thousands who have become orphans or who have lost persons on whom they were dependent for support.

It is hoped that the Red Cross will extend to these orphans and needy the generous and magnanimous aid which the organization has so efficiently and upon so large a scale given to the war orphans of Belgium and other war torn countries.

The Internal Conditions in Finland.

When the world war began, Russia sent hundreds of thousands of soldiers into Finland to guard its coast from a possible German attack This garrisoning of Finland has also a further purpose, for Russia desired to make use of the war to completely carry out its policy of russification in Finland, which it had unsuccessfully attempted during the preceding twenty years. The aim was to colonize the country with Russians and by this means destroy the semi-independent status of Finland, making of it a Russian province, much after the fashion of the Germans in German Poland. The Russian soldiers were permitted to act most arbitrarily toward the Finns, commit robberies, and impose severe punishment for the very slightest offenses on the part of the people of the country on the ground that they were dangerous to greater Russia. In short, the German system of punishments and deportations in Belgium was resorted to by the Russians in Finland.

When the revolution occurred in Russia, the little discipline remaining among the Russian troops stationed in Finland, was soon overthrown by reason of the Bolshevist agitation which had been secretly carried on among them by the agents of Lenine These Russian soldiers murdered their officers and began to incite the Finnish working men to revolt to overthrow their own recently won independent government, and take the power into their own hands and organize it along Bolshevist lines This caused the civil war in Finland during which time the country was isolated from the outer world. The food supplies became exhausted, for the revolutionists together with the Russians, robbed the food supplies of all parts of the country in which they were operating or which they had under their control.

When this red revolt was overthrown, the food supplies of the country were merely nominal. The bread in use contained ground lichen ground pine bark, and other additions containing even a slight amount of nourishment. Dreadful hunger prevailed in the country and many deaths resulted from diseases brought on by undernourishment, or caused directly by starvation.

Widows and War Orphans.

The saddest, however, has been the lot of the widows and orphans who lost their provider in the revolution and of those women and children the food shortage of the country, from which all have suffered, has also made their condition an extremely difficult one. The Finish Red Cross is doing all in its power to relieve their distress by distributing all the aid at its command in an impartial manner, but its work is restricted to the funds at its command

According to a cable dispatch received here from the foreign minister of Finland, the number of war orphans in the country is 25,000, as shown by the official figures This figure includes children whose fathers have been killed in battle, have fled out of the country, or are imprisoned for treason. In addition to this are the widows and the aged and infirm parents whose sons were killed in battle or were physically incapacitated, which swells the total number of needy to a figure much larger than that represented by the number of war orphans alone.

Under normal conditions there are about 125,000 people in Finland who must be cared for by the various municipalities. This number has been so greatly increased by war orphans and widows that the total number today is over 200,000,—an extremely high figure for a country having a population of three and a half million.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

YOU MUST SEE IT TO RECOGNIZE IT

You will never meet with success unless your eyesight allows you to recognize it when it approaches. That means that it will not pay to allow any eye troubles to develop without letting Dr. Fowler look after them for you. Better not waste time, but act at once when you notice anything wrong with the eyes.

CONSULT HIM FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS

Phm. B. Toronto University.

HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES

Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

CHEAP HOMES PLANNED FOR SOLDIERS' FARMS

Denmark Prepares For Trade Activity

COMMITTEES SEEKING MOST AVAILABLE MARKETS ABROAD.

Co-operation and combination are outstanding features of trade preparations in Denmark, according to a report from the United States Consul at Copenhagen who writes:—

"In addition to the Merchants' Guild and the Manufacturers' Association, there have grown up during the war purchasing committees selected by and acting for particular indutries. These committees make purchases abroad, seeking the most available market and the best possible terms; they then endeavor to effect the shipment of the goods, and after their arrival, supervise their division among the firms concerned. This is in every essential respect a scheme of joint purchase and joint import. The best organized of these committees is that of the Association of Textile Manufacturers, which purchases and imports cotton and cotton yarn. By the same method the Chocolate Manufacturers' Association purhcases and imports cocoa, nut-kernels and other materials for its members· the Tobacco Manufacturers' Association import tobacco; and the Leather Manufacturers' Association secures shipments of tanning materials and similar supplies. Although these associations have been brought into existence because of war-time restrictions on commerce, the manufacturers have readily seen the advantages to be derived and will probably cointinue joint import in peace times."

The Department will not, however, make any results obtained by a research association available to firms or, individuals who are eligible for membership of that association but have not joined it. Nothing in these proposals interferes with the broad policy of leaving the prosecution of research to the industries themselves and of securing complete autonomy to each industry. The £1,000,000 will certainly be money well spent, and with voluntary associations cooperation in the solution of problems of common interest, it should not be long before the scheme is productive of valuable results.

FIRST WILL BE WEALTHY

(New York Herald.)

The aeronaut who shall first cross the ocean by way of the air will find himself not only famous but wealthy. Sor the keen competition of modern times has given value to much that was formerly allowed to go to waste. In recent years publicity has proved itself of distinct commercial value.

As the newly arrived aviator steps from his machine to solid ground he will find publicity bowing before him, a man Friday, eager to serve him without pay. His name, even if previously unknown, will resound through the world, gathering momentum as it flies, until its happy possessor will be able to peddle it to the highest bidder.

To enumerate the various profitable ways in which the first transatlantic flyer will be able to utilize his suddenly acquired fame will tax the most vivid imagination.

Perhaps the Bolsheviki are doing better on their military fronts than in their economic rear.

The Federal Settlement Board to Build Homes For Vets at From $300 to $775.

Plans have been completed by the Federal Soldier Settlement Board for supplying standard houses to soldier settlers in the Prairie Provinces.

Four types are contemplated, ranging in price from $300 to $775, beginning with a moderately convenient and comfortable two roomed house suited to the needs of a bachelor settler, which can be erected for $3000. This house is 17 ft. 10 in. by 14 ft, and is so constructed that as the home needs of the farmer increase he can add to it without waste of material used in the original construction. This house is called type "A".

Type "B" is merely an extension of "A", one room being added and basement excavated. This building, which has dimensions of 24 ft. by 14 ft., when completed will cost approximately $590.

Tpye "C" is "B" with a portion of the roof lifted and an upstairs bedroom added. Total cost $700.

Type "D" is the same as "C" with the remainder of "B" roof lifted and two extra bedrooms upstairs added. The cost complete of "D" is approximately $775. This type of house will give the farmer living room kitchen and parlor downstairs and three bedrooms upstairs. If, in the course of time, he requires a still more pretentious home plans are being prepared by the Board for a wing which will give him a much more commodious and comfortable structure.

Cheap and Commodious

Great care has been given by the Board's architect to combine cheapness of construction with utility. The plans and specifications were submitted to a number of the leading pioneer women of the west, whose suggestions were incorporated. The proposed houses have been endorsed by these women. When a settler is ready to go on his land, he has the opportunity of selecting the type of house he requires and he is given full particulars as to cost and the amount of lumber required for construction. As previously announced the settler may buy from any of 1,200 lumber dealers in the West at greatly reduced prices. The settler may erect his own house, or he may ask the Board to do it for him. In any case construction will be under the supervision of the Board's architect.

The plans have been made to meet the needs of settlers who may require a small and inexpensive house in the beginning. If at some future time he wishes to enlarge to "B" or "C" types, there is no loss of material. Everything in connection with the construction has been standardised with this idea in view. Plans and specifications of the four standardized houses will be supplied to soldier settlers at any time.

Built in Eight Days

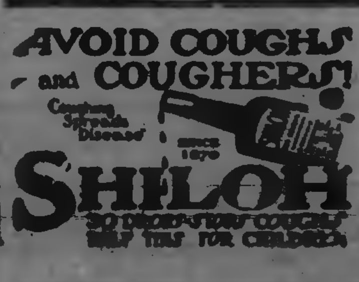
From three to eight days, according to the type, will be required to complete one of these houses, if building materials are on the ground. In the case of grouped farms, where a number of settlers may propose to locate together and build together there will be material reduction in the cost of construction.

The Board also plans to erect standard tables and implement sheds at the lowest possible cost to the setler. A settler may get along with a small stable, say 24 ft. by 12 ft., sufficient for the housing of two cattle and four horses, erected at a cost of approximately $200. The plans are so drawn that these buildings can be enlarged without loss of material.

With regard to Eastern Canada and British Columbia where different conditions are found, the architect of the Board is planning suitable types for different locations.

A group of New York women is said to have rebelled against hobble skirts. This, if true, is epochal, indicating a feminine revolt against the dictates of fashion.

As time goes on the Hungarian "revolution" begins to look more and more like a stage managed affair, under the direction of Prussian experts.



AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!

SHILOH

30 DROPS—STOPS COUGHS
HALF THIS FOR CHILDREN

NEW SKY ROCKET IS INVENTED, DESTRUCTIVE ENGINE OF WAR

Has Altitude Range of 70 Miles Straight Up in Air and Distance Range of 200 Miles

Worcester, Mass., March 31.—Dr. Robert H. Goddard, professor of physics at Clark college, acting under the patronage of the United States war department, has invented a new rocket that is reported to be a terrible engine of war, with an attitude range of seventy miles straight up into the air and a distance range of at least 200 miles.

The device, in the opinion of the scientists who have investigated its workings, is the most efficient rocket ever developed. It is said that the best known rocket in use today has an efficiency of less than 3 per cent. while the Goddard rocket has an efficiency of 63 per cent.

Soars Above the Atmosphere.

The signing of the armistice prevented its being put to actual use in warfare against the Germans, as all the local tests had been completed These tests, made by models, showed that a rocket weighing thirty pounds equipped with the Goddard system of propulsion, could be sent into the air far above the earth's atmosphere.

The Goddard rocket is propelled by a perfected gas engine installed in the lower part of the shell, and the explosions that generate the power came from cartridges that are fed into the chamber by a clock-like time device. The range of the rocket is limited only by the amount of propelling cartridges it could be fitted to carry. The rocket does not require a cannon to start it on its flight, the journey beginning from any point where a man can get. The weapon feature of the rocket is in the head where a chamber is fitted to obtain either high explosives or gas.

Can Be Used on Sea and Land.

Men who have followed the development f Dr. Goddard's rocket declare it can be made as efficient in naval warfare as in land battles.

Is a Brother Of G. H. Ferguson

In the financial section of the last issue of Toronto Saturday Night appears the portrait of Mr. A. McDonald, President of the5 Great West Life Assurance Company and one of the foremost figures in financial and commercial circles of the Canadian West.

Beside it is the picture of Mr. Collin C. Ferguson, the actuary and general manager of the Great West Life Assurance Company. He is a son of the late Senator Ferguson of Prince Edward Island, and a brother of Mr. G. H. Ferguson, of Peterborough. A person looking at the picture and unaware of the existing relationship would at once notice the striking resemblance.

Chickens Scratch Up Small Fortune

$5,000 AND HUNDRED GALLONS OF WHISKEY UNEARTHED.

Hamond, Ind., March 30. — Five thousand dollars' worth of loot and 100 gallons of whiskey were found here by Indiana Harbor Belt detectives as a result of chickens scratching in loosely packed dirt under a house. Andrew and Steve Sabor, George Dobda and A. Render were placed under arrest after a revolver fight in which Chief Detective A. Zielke of the New Rork Central police, shot the hat off Steve Sabol.

They had hidden the loot under the house and strewn corn over the cache so that chickens would scratch over the dirt. When the detectives saw the chickens scratching they investigated. The stolen goods included women's clothing, fine linen and a great variety of foodstuffs. Eleven children of Dobda, and Andrew Sabol were found wearing alleged stolen dresses.

Stiff Sentence Far Defaulter

Orillia, March 31.—Before Police Magistrate Clark yesterday morning George Joseph Macdonald of Mono Centre was found guilty of default under the Military Service Act and fined $600 and costs or one year's imprisonment. Macdonald failed to appear when notified to report for military duty in January 1918.

This is the second stiff sentence Magistrate Clark has imposed for a similar offence. On February 27 he fined Thomas P. Harrington of Udney $600 and costs for hiding in the bush all last summer in order to evade military service. The Magistrate said that the offence was deserving of a year's imprisonment, but he would give the convicted men their liberty and impose a fine equal to a year's earnings.

Foreign Orders For Brantford

Brantford, March 31.—The recent financial credits arranged by Canada for France and Roumania were brought orders here. Two local firms in the farm implement manufacturing line are now figuring on orders and Sir Herbert Ames, who visited here over the week-end, states that one of the big firms will be able to keep both its Toronto and Brantford plants running for some time. A further order for harrows is expected here very soon.

FIVE MORE RETURN

Five local soldiers returned this morning on the G. T. R. train and were welcomed by civic officials, after which they proceeded to their homes.

AMERICANS ARE TO CHAMPION THE IRISH CAUSE AT PARIS

Frank P. Walsh Will Demand Recognition of Repubtican Form of Government.

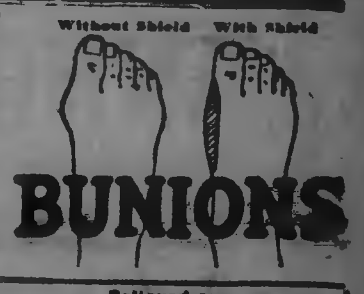
Washington, March 30.—Ireland's claims to self-determination will be presented to the Peace Conference at Paris by a committee representing the Irish race in America, which will sail for France from New York next Wednesday on the liner Touraine. This committee will be composed of Frank P. Walsh of New oYrk, chairman; Edward F. Dunne, of Chicago; Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, and Patrick Lee, of New York, secretary.

Chairman Walsh and Mr Ryan called at the State Department yesterday and made formal application for passports for the party. This afternoon they were officially notified that the passports requested would be issued to the committee not later than next Monday.

In stating the object of the committee in desiring to visit France Chairman Walsh made the following explanation in the application form:

"To obtain for the delegates, selected by the people of Ireland a hearing at the Peace Conference, and to place before the conference if the hearing is not given the case of Ireland, her insistence upon her right of selfdetermination; and to internation recognition of the republican form of government established by her people."

The committee was selected by the recent Irish race convention in Philadelphia, which was attended by more than 5,000 delegates representing every state in the Union.



Relieved by Dr. Scholl's Bunion Reducer Shield

This appliance has a peculiar concave shape, purposely so formed to fit snugly over joint and eliminate friction and pressure from footwear, and at the same time also prevents the enlarged joint from forcing the shoe out of shape.

Is superior to old-fashioned leather and felt protectors, as it is made from antiseptic rubber, and being worn right on bunion inside hosiery, it excludes air, forms and retains a moisture pocket which keeps the joint soft and pliable, removes that hard skin or callous that so often accompanies and increases the irritability of the enlargement, also reduces inflamed condition.

Made in three sizes and for right and left foot. Price 50c each, $1.00 per pair.

Sold by RELIABLE SHOE DEALERS

Free booklet "Treatment and Care of the Feet," mailed to any address on request. There is a Dr. Scholl Appliance for every foot ailment.

The Scholl Mfg. Co., Ltd.
112 Adelaide St., East, Toronto
Also
Chicago, New York, London, Eng.

SCHOLL [illegible]

CHINESE USE MOTOR TRUCKS

CHINK LAUNDRIES RAPIDLY ABANDONING OLD DOBBIN.

Perhaps the oldest customs and most ancient traditions come from China, and yet in the past few years this historic race has made rapid strides in modern methods. The greatest turning point came when the vast empire disappeared in favor of a republic, and with the old dynasty went the picturesque braided queue of the Chinaman. Their activity in this country is most noticeable in the far west and especially in California, where they reside in large numbers and have in many localities achieved high respect and notable business success. Chinese laundries are far more numerous than in eastern cities, and in the matter of vegetables and garden truck the Chinese merchants have developed an elaborate business that feeds a very large part of the white population.

In this connection, the Chinese merchants operatin glaundries in all parts of the country are right abreast of the Pacific Coast. They are rapidly abandoning old dobbin, according to statistics accumulated by Mr. L. Logie, sales manager for Maxwell cars in Canada.

Chinamen, as a rule, are not seen at auto shows, but this year in Los Angeles the Oriental idea caught on with great response in the large Crinese colony and the number of browned visitors was one of the unique and surprising developments of the show. Oddly enough, the passenger cars are not of very much interest to these industrious people. Although there were no trucks exhibited at the show, every Chinaman who entered the gates immediately inquired for the trucks. Due to interest the show stimulated in the Chinese laundry, several colonies and a great many Chinese produce concerns purchased light weight trucks. The Maxwell truck enjoys unusual favor with these people, and a number of cross-country champions were sold daring show week.

According to the old saw, "Every dog has his day." So has every saint, for that matter.

Yes, I Intend To But Not Now

Have YOU any idea what that decision is costing you—even if you live? Of course, if you die the cost is much GREATER.

Read the following facts and then decide for yourself:

The premium you would pay for $1000 of insurance at age 60 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $4000 of insurance at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age 50 WOULD BUY YOU nearly $2500 at age 21.

The premium you pay for $1000 of insurance at age [illegible] WOULD BUY YOU [illegible] at age 21.

Besides, while you may be insurable at age 21 you may not be insurable AT ANY PRICE at the other ages mentioned.

The one great fate that touches our lives is the verdict of NOW.

See the Sun Life agent about this.

W. H. HILL, Manager, Central Ontario
Crown Chambers Building, Peterboro, Ont.

D. H. MOORE
J. R. CAMERON } Inspectors
PHONE 14

ANNOUNCEMENT EXTRAORDINARY

STARTING TO-NIGHT

and each week thereafter

THE ROYAL THEATRE

WILL be a link in the chain of PARAMOUNT THEATRES LIMITED, and will offer a grade of pictures not to be equalled by any other chain of theatres

Time and care will be given to the shows selected for the Royal and Mr. Pappas will give his personal attention to the presentation of each production, to this end he will have the co-operation of the Paramount Theatres Limited executives.

The following is an example of what you may expect

"LES MISERABLES" WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Episode 14, The Million Dollar Serial. 2 Parts THE IRON TEST

Wm. FARNUM as Jean Valgean

In VICTOR HUGO'S Immortal Masterpiece

Les Miserables, 9 parts

Other Attraction Vitagraph Serial---Comedy---1 Part..... MUTT & JEFF

The Popular Tenor

FRANK BESSENGER

Late of Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo" Company

THE KIND OF SONGS YOU LIKE TO HEAR

High-Class Orchestra

16c TO ALL Price Remains the Same Afternoon and Evening 16c TO ALL

THEATRICAL

FLO-FLO

When John Cort brings his latest and snappiest musical comedy, "Flo-Flo," here on Saturday, matinee and evening, the patrons of the Grand Opera House will have an opportunity to see the only comedy chorus in existence. "Flo-Flo" is the breezy medley of tuneful songs and pretty girls which kept the Cort Theatre in New York crowded all last season.

The plot of the comedy which concerns the love intrigue of a shapely cloak model and the matrimonial machinations of a match-making mother is said to be well carried out by a splendid cast, a beautiful chorus, magnificent gowns, and one of the finest teams of eccentric dancers ever seen on Broadway.

The names on the program of the Cort production are, Louise Kelly, Jere Delaney, Carl L. George, William Cummings, Rose Southern, Mildred Beverly, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, William Burton Burns, Edward Lynn and others of prominence, and the "Perfect Thirty-six" chorus. The special "Flo-Flo" orchestra assures a musicianly rendition of Silvio Hein's score. Special augmented orchestra Seats on sale Thursday.

MASARYK NOT OUT

Washington, March 29. — The Czecho-Slovak mission here received today an official denial of the report of President Masaryk's resignation, which was sent from Berlin by way of Copenhagen early this week.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

THE GREAT JULIA ARTHUR IN 'THE CASE OF NURSE CAVELL'

"The Cavell Case," Select's latest big special, is the story of Edith Cavell, the British Red Cross nurse, who gave up love to devote her life to the caring of the sick and wounded. The picture, produced by Joseph L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll, will be seen at the Grand theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday. Matinee daily at 2.15. Edith Cavell loved George Brooks but refused to marry him because she felt she had another mission in life. When the war breaks out Nurse Cavell is stationed at the Brussels hospital. She helps Frank Brooks, her old sweetheart's son, to escape. She is discovered and imprisoned. "The shot which rang around the world and raised an army over night" was the shot that killed Edith Cavell.

There will also be a special bill of high-class vaudeville and pictures, including Backe-Jewett and Backe, in comedy and singing and and educated pony who can sing and dance. The three musical Shirleys, the world's greatest saxaphone trio, and Nadony, the Oriental Surprise. Seats can be reserved in advance for evening performances and patrons are requested to take advantage of this system. Avoid the crowds and reserve your seats by telephone.

AT WATER STREET ALLEYS

In the Business Men's Ten-pin League the following games will be played this week:

Monday—C.G.E. vs. De Laval.

Tuesday—Printers vs. Mathews Blackwell.

Thursday—High Rollers vs. Grocers.

In the 5-pin League:

Monday—Lawn Bowlers vs. Shamrocks.

Wednesday—Bankers vs. Mathews-Blackwell.

Friday—Turnbulls vs. De Laval.

J. Perry won last week's prize in 5 pins. Score, 707 in three games.

Vancouver Stages Strong Comeback

Vancouver, March 31.—Although the Vancouver Millionaires lost the final game and the two in three series with the Ottawa Senators, perhaps they nor any other professional hockey team ever made such a comeback in the last period of a game. Outplayed in every department of the game, during the first two periods, at the end the score was 6 to 0 in favor of them, the visitors held the locals scoreless in the third period, ran in five goals themselves and were going strong when the whistle called a halt to the evening's performance.

Rev. Robert Law, of Toronto, was taken suddenly ill just before entering the pulpit yesterday morning in Old St. Andrew's Church.

The Labor Department's employment reports for the past week are quite encouraging.

Canadiens Win By Dogged Endurance

Seattle, March 30.—Endurance won a great game of hockey last night and tied up the series of the hockey championship. Coming from behind after being outplayed for two periods, the Canadiens defeated Seattle in the second overtime game of the series, 4 to 3, before a crowded house of 4,000 people.

The finish was as spectacular as Wednesday's affair. The Seattle men were exhausted when Jack McDonald, the visiting substitute player, skated down the ice and notched the tally that won the contest. Saturday night's game was simply another instance of a team playing itself out in the early stages, and succumbing to a squad which had conserved its strength.

The Canadiens were 50 per cent the stronger club in the final period, and that they would eventually score the final goal was evident to the close followers of the play. To Captain Lalonde and his players credit is due for staging one of the greatest "comebacks" in hockey history. Many a team with a three to nothing score staring it in the face has been known to give up the ghost, but not the Frenchmen last night.

Manager Kennedy was delihted with the result. "I always claimed I had a plucky team," he said, "and the boys certainly proved it last night I expect them to win the championship now." The teams:

Seattle—Goal, Holmes; defense Rowe, Rickey; centre, Foyston; wings Walker, Wilson. Substitutes—Murray McDonald, Claghorn.

Canadiens—Goal, Vezina; defense Hal, Corbeau; centre, Lalonde; wings Pitre, Couture. Substitutes—Berlinquette.

Berlin Socialist Is Under Arrest

CHARGED WITH BEING LEADER IN THE JANUARY DISTURBANCES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, March 31.—Ernst Daumi, President of the Executive Committee of the Soldiers' and Warkers' Council of Great Berlin, was arrested yesterday on suspicion or having been a leader of the January disturbances with Georg Ledebour, who has been in jail for several weeks. Daumig is an Independent Socialist.

Is thought chief

Chief Thompson of the Peterboro Police Department was removed to the Isolation Hospital, yesterday, as a result of illness which contracted while out of the city and which is is suspected may develop into diphtheria.

The chief had been away from Peterborough and upon his return complained of a sore throat. He at once took all the precautions possible and while Dr. Amys stated this afternoon that his illness had not yet been diagnosed as diphtheria the case was considered as most suspicious.

LARGE BARK IS BLOWN ASHORE

VESSEL DRAGGED ANCHOR DURING GALE—CREW ARE SAFE.

New York, March 31.—The 1,381-ton Norwegian bark Yola, with a cargo of pig iron, was blown ashore off Bay Ridge Saturday morning by a heavy gale. The Yola was loaded in Philadelphia for the River Plate, but anchored in the lower bay to await additional cargo.

The vessel dragged her anchor during the gale and was thrown up on the beach at the foot of Nineteenth street, Brooklyn.

Capt. Isaac Telesen was not on the ship at the time, but hastened to Bay Ridge as soon as he heard of the accident. He said the bark was not in danger of breaking up just at present and that the crew was safe.

New Disembarkation May Be Established

UNPRECEDENTED SPEED IN UNLOADING RETURNED SOLDIERS FROM EMPRESS OF BRITAIN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

St. John's N.B., March 31.—That a new disembarkation record would be established was the indication today as the soldiers who arrived here last night on the Empress of Britain were hurried ashore to care and rushed off over the C. P. R. lines to their destinations. At 8 o'clock the officials boarded the steamer, at 9.45 o'clock the first two trains were enroute to Toronto. At 10.10 the third special got away to Kingston and Ottawa, and at 10.49 the fourth started for London and Hamilton At noon every man had left St. John's

Empress Carried Most

The Empress had the largest number of soldiers that have arrived at this port on any ship since the boys started returning home. There were 97 officers and 2764 other ranks. The steamer encountered fair weather. One soldier from Ontario developed pneumonia and died Saturday as the steamer was nearing the Bay of Fundy.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

3:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:53 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound, Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto.

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Base and all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

Alf. McDonald Estate

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord

Hard Wood $12
per cord

Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Canada Food Board Licence No. 8-[illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit—
Cheap
Best Vegetables—
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 93o

BRITISH DECORATED

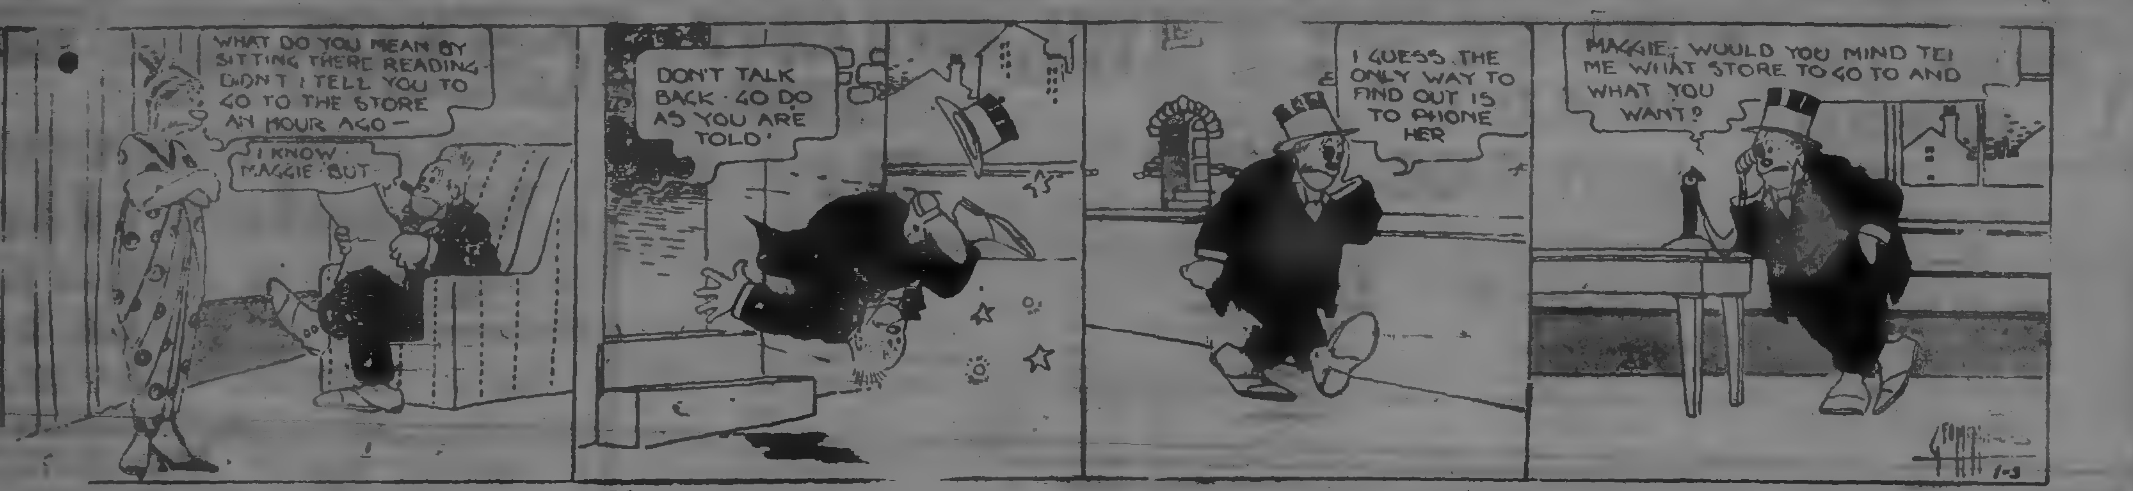
Archangel, March 30.—For efforts in organizing and assisting Russian anti-Bolshevik forces in the Pinega district, a number of British officers includin General Ironside, the Allied Commander, have been decorated by the Russians.

Orders from France and Roumania for farm implements have been received by Brantford factories.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.

A safe, reliable regulating medicine. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

BRINGING UP FATHER BY GEORGE McMANUS



WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY SITTING THERE READING DIDN'T I TELL YOU TO GO TO THE STORE AN HOUR AGO—
I KNOW MAGGIE BUT
DON'T TALK BACK - GO DO AS YOU ARE TOLD'
I GUESS THE ONLY WAY TO FIND OUT IS TO PHONE HER
MAGGIE, WOULD YOU MIND TELL ME WHAT STORE TO GO TO AND WHAT YOU WANT?

SURE SIGNS OF REVIVING INTEREST IN BASEBALL

Everything Points to Game's Returning Popularity in Canada and United States.

Mineral Wells, Tex. March 31.—Back to baseball and sanity! That was the slogan of Chicago fans cheering the White Sox and Cubs on their annual getaways last week. The Bruins, 18 strong including that persistent holdout, Charley Hollocher, departed Wednesday amid the plaudits of their well wishers. The White Sox suffused with cheers and surfeited with praise, departed Friday night, and Buck Weaver who said he would not be on the train under certain circumstances was among the well known noses counted by the writer. Buck made his peace with Commy, but it was a compromise, the shortstop receiving a portion of the demanded boost.

"One big, happy family," was the way Kid Gleason put it when the White Sox train steamed out of the La Salle station in Chicago. The Kid was bubbling over with joy about the signing of Weaver. The writer knows that both Commy left Chicago with orders to make terms and peace with the recalcitrant Buck. All the details of the peace agreement, signed by Gleason and Weaver weren't divulged, but suffice it to say both are happy and that means that Buck got his'n whatever it was.

All the White Sox players who hibernate in the North with one or two exceptions were aboard the train headed for Mineral Wells, when it left Chicago. The retinue compared favorably with the gang that left with the Cubs earlier in the week.

Newspapers Sense Public Interest

Few fans accompanied the Sox this year, but it is noteworthy that on only two previous occasions in 19 years have the Sox departed with as many scribes aboard as this season. Every one of Chicago's six daily papers is represented on the trip this year. Every one of these public prints will boast having two men on the road—one with the Sox and one with the Bruins. This shows a marked change in policy from the attitude of these papers last year, and is a sure sign thta baseball is coming back with a rush.

All the players in the Six squad seem eager to be at camp and at it again. The Sox have a sneaking suspicion they are going to slip over another world's flag for the South Side and they are keen to get in condition and down to weight for the fight that will begin in April.

Brooklyn, N.Y., March 31.—Real fodder for fans should be on the card from now until the opening of the season. All three of the New York contingents of the major leagues have started for their training quarters, and are accompanied by a raft of newspaper men. We mention the newspaper contingent, not because the fans care of the coming and going of the scribes of what they eat or are paid to eat on, but because it is evidence that those sounders of public opinion, the managing editors sense returning public interest in baseball.

Three Brooklyn Superbas sailed on March 20 for their camp at Jacksonville, Fla. They were Infielder Ollie O'Mara, Infielder Dick Sheridan, a Brooklyn youngster who was tried by the Superbas last summer and looked pretty good, and Outfielder Tommy Griffith, the sweet singing guardian of right who was obtained by Brooklyn from Cincinnati in the trade for Jake Daubert. With these three sea-going athletes went four Brooklyn and two New York newspaper men. The Brooklyn section was headed by Abe Yager sporting editor of The Eagle, who has been on that job since the time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary and looks as young today as he did the first day he sat in on the sport desk.

The New York Americans, who will also train at Jacksonville are said to have 14 Gotham newspapermen with them. It is to be presumed that the Giants at Gainsville Fla., about 30 miles from the quarters of the Superbas and Yankees in Jacksonville will have as many newspaper men with them as the Yanks.

INTERCOLLEGIATE SPORT HAS BEEN REORGANIZED.

Kingston, March 31.—With delegates from University of Toronto, McGill, Queen's and Royal Military College here at a conference on Saturday afternoon, arrangements were completed for the reorganization of all departments of Canadian intercollegiate sport, namely: football, soccer, hockey, tennis, basketball, track, boxing, swimming, wrestling and harriers. Officers were elected for each department and schedules and dates arranged.

8TH LINE WIN FROM 6TH LINE

Saturday night at the Water street alleys, the 8th line, Otonabee, five pin rollers, were again the victors over the 6th line boys. The games were keenly contested throughout, the former team finally running out by the small margin of 16 pins. The totals were 8th line, 1985; 6th line, 1969. For the 8th line boys J. Porter was the chief pingetters with a 511 total while R. Porter came second with 407 T. Hope and F. Hall were high for the 6th line with 440 and 423 for totals.

The 4th line boys have now challenged the 8th line boys. The match will likely be played Saturday night next.

The scores were as follows:

6th Line, Otonabee.

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
F. Hall	108	160	155	—423
J. Hall	107	102	129	—338
R. Hope	116	148	134	—398
S. Hall	115	159	96	—370
F. Hope	112	142	186	—440
Totals	558	711	700	—1969

8th Line, Otonabee.

	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
E. Johnson	126	101	121	—348
J. Fitzgerald ..	118	143	64	—325
J. Porter	184	183	164	—511
V. Fitzgerald ..	150	89	155	—394
R Porter	154	129	124	—407
Totals	732	645	608	—1985

THE WAR RECORD OF BALL LEAGUE

HONOR ROLL COMPLETED BY PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

National League players upheld baseball's war record in splendid fashion The honor roll compiled by President John Heydler shows a total of 110 diamond athletes owing allegiance to the senior major in service and that list contains some names that will stand out with the real heroes of the great conflict, notably Eddie Grant Hank Gowdy and Leon Cadore. Crediting Grant to the New York Giants three National clubs are entitled to gold stars in their service flags—Marcus Milligan, a young pitcher of the Pirates, was killed in an airplane accident at a practice in Texas, and Arthur Rico, the young catcher of the Braves, died of disease in a hospital on this side.

Two National club magnates saw service abroad, though they were not actually in the fighting. They were Branch Rickey of the Cardinals and Percy Haughton of the Braves. They were in the chemical warfare service as was Manager Christy Mathewson of the Reds. Manager Jack Hendricks of the Cardinals went overseas as a Knights of Columbus field secretary, being too old to fight, but he had a son in the student army to represent him as a prospective fighter

The National League's great star among its players, Grover Alexander saw much real fighting and a considerable percentage of the National's players got overseas. with the Brooklyn Club leading in this respect.

The National League club magnates did their full part in furnishing war funds, too, as their record of bonds bought and service contributions testifies and like the American League the National's parks were always open to men in uniform while benefit games played netted many thousands of war welfare and relief.

18 HUNDRED YARDS SWIMMING CHAMPION.

Philadelphia, March 31. — Charlotte Boyle of New York won the woman's national 100 yards indoor swimming championship here Friday night, her time being 1.08 3-5.

Bessie Ryan of Philadelphia was second and Mabel Arklie of Philadelphia third. Olga Dorfner of Philadelphia, who held the championship, did not compete.

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices ---executed by men who are craftsmen---try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.
HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

To Help Return Of Game's Popularity

If the principles that actuate John Franklin Baker in his determination to forsake home and fireside and play baseball another season are such as stated in an interview credited to him, then off goes our hat and we salute him as one ball player in a million. It is so far as we recall the first time a professional diamond athlete has taken such a view of his relations to the game and to the public and is so remarkable that—well, we are at a loss for words.

Says Baker in explaining his decision to again play with the New York Yankees:

"I appreciate the fact that the old-time stars can help the comeback of the game, and in helping to bring back baseball to its oldtime popularity by continuing in it I feel I will be doing a duty to my country, because it will have a strong tendency toward normalising conditions."

Therein is a broader view of his part in the game than any player ever has been credited with taking—at least no player ever has been found to so express his thought of his part and it is a sentiment that may stir new ideas in the head of every player of prominence.

WOMAN BUSINESS HEAD

Dallas Baseball Club to Be Managed by a Woman.

Dallas, Tex., March 31.—The Dallas Club of the Texas League will have a woman for business manager this season. She is Mrs. Chick Mattrick, wife of one of the player-owners of the club. Mrs. Mattick will perform all the duties generally looked after by a business manager, but will not travel with the club. Mrs Ham Patterson, wife of Mattick's partner, also will be connected with the club in the box office.

DR. ORO STILL IS BILLIARD CHAMPION.

Detroit, March 31.—Alfred de Oro, three cushion billiard champion, defeated Gus Cupulos, Michigan champion, in the final block of their title match Saturday night, 50 to 38, and took the series by a score of 150 to 94.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Detroit, March 31.—Norman Ross, San Francisco, won the 220 yards free style championship held by Perry McGillivray of Great Lakes at the National A. A. U. meet here on Friday night, and also finished first in the 150-yard back stroke event.

MIDDLE WEST LEAGUE.

Winnipeg, March 31. — Secretary C. A. Sargent of the Manitoba Lawn Tennis Association presented at the annual meeting of the Winnipeg L. T. A. an ambitious program for the formation of a central international tennis league, embracing St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Winnipeg.

SETS NEW RECORD.

Kansas City, March 31.—Joie Ray of the Illinois Athletic Club, running against Joe Stout of the University of Chicago in a matched 1,000-yard race at the 14th annual indoor meet of the Kansas City Athletic Club in this city, won the race in 2:15, establishing what is said to be a new record for a 12-lap track.

BEATEN AGAIN.

Cleveland, March 31.—The Cleveland hockey team defeated Dentals of Toronto here Saturday night by 3 goals to 1.

LACROSSE REVIVED.

St. Catharines, March 31.—The St. Catharines City Lacrosse League was reorganized Saturday night after a lapse of several years, with four teams, Lyceums, Woodlands, Y. M. C. A. and West St. Catharines.

It is stated in a Paris despatch that Geneva has been definitely selected as the official seat of the League of Nations.

The Problem of Indemnities

OF all the wars in history this will certainly leave the most numerous and the hardest financial problems. Altogether apart from questions of indemnity, the debts of all the great European belligerents are now intolerably heavy. When accounts are closed, the British debt will probably be eight or nine times as large as that which nearly submerged us a century ago after Waterloo. Yet from 1815 to 1846—a marked recovery began in the latter year—the average population of Great Britain was not much less than half what it is likely to be on an average of the next twenty years. The French debt will be even heavier than ours in proportion to the wealth and population of France. In both British and French papers one frequently sees preposterous statements to the effect that Germany must be called upon to pay the whole war debt, and the London Chamber of Commerce has recently passed a resolution to that effect, with a clause explaining that otherwise our trade and prosperity will perish. Certainly hard times are ahead, and they will be especially hard if the United States claims back the loans with which it has helped to finance and feed the armies of the European associates. So I ask myself, Can either France or Great Britain count on any help from the United States? There is some hope, if we keep on good and friendly terms with our American associates, that America's advances to the Allies (who, after all, have done most of the fighting) will be treated not as loans, but as subsidies. There is a good precedent for this; for the advances which Great Britain made to her Allies in the Napoleonic wars were never reclaimed, although our national debt was then the heaviest in Europe.

Then what about indemnities? A heavy toll of locomotives and wagons has been taken from Germany in the armistice itself. But the peace conditions provide that the enemy are to pay for the damage they have inflicted upon individuals by air, sea and land. The present state of Germany and Austria does not hold out much hope that large indemnities are within the range of practical possibilities. If Germany could be policed by Allied armies for fifty years, something might be extorted. But nobody contemplates anything of the kind. The German war debt is said to have mounted to $40,000,000,000, or half the estimated capital and wealth of Germany before the war. If an indemnity of $5,000,000,000 sterling were demanded, how could it be paid? If the German Government printed marks to that amount and handed them over to the Allies, the paper would be practically worthless, for it would purchase nothing except in Germany, and in Germany there will be very little left to purchase. After the war of 1870-71, France was still a rich country, and with the help of bills in London, the French Government was able to pay the German Government an indemnity of $1,000,000,000 in a comparatively short space of time.

But Germany is utterly exhausted, and there is no neutral country rich enough to help her, and if there were, help would not be forthcoming, for no one is likely to lend money to the German Government for any such purpose. Moreover, the difficulties have been enormously increased by the political upheavals in Germany and Austria. One does not wish to argue for a moment that the German people ought not to be compelled to pay a substantial sum for the actual damage done in Belgium, which indeed they have agreed to do. Belgium is not asking for territory, and is entitled to as large an indemnity as Germany is able to pay. But whatever indemnities it is possible to exact should be levied promptly. The danger and mischief of a long occupation of German territory are too obvious to need emphasis. As a financial authority of great experience said to me the other day: 'It is bad policy to spend pound in order to get 18 pence.' We want to demobilize our armies with all possible rapidity; for the cost of maintaining them on anything like their present footing for many more months would be simply ruinous. The difficulty of borrowing increases every month. Yet our war expenditure cannot be much diminished until the army is demobilized. — The London Nation.

Spiritual Princes.

There were Christians in Treves as early as the second century, and it had a bishop as early as 314. The archbishops of Treves became one of the leading spiritual princes of the early German empire. The Treves of today is a rich and active city of possibly 75,000 souls, a show city, a shrine city, and one in which the Yankee tourists should find much to interest them.

BELFAST.

One of the Most Discussed Cities of Ireland.

"Of all the cities and towns of Ireland," Capt. Stephen Gwynn has written in his book, "The Famous Cities of Ireland." "Belfast has least interest in any history before the Act of Union. She is enormously occupied with her present, enormously and justly proud of what her citizens are and of what they have accomplished." It is the summing up of a man out of sympathy with the Belfast ideal, it is true; of an Irishman who loves the great city at the foot of Cave Hill because it is one of the famous cities of Ireland, but whose lack of sympathy makes it difficult for him to be more than academically just. And yet somehow Capt. Gwynn has "caught" Belfast, for Belfast, with the single exception of the one grand backward look to the Boyne, is enormously occupied with her present, and is enormously and justly proud of what her citizens are and of what they have accomplished.

No one could, of course, ever mistake Belfast for anything but an Irish city, and no Irishman, no matter where he came from, could ever land there without feeling at home; but, where the background of the Irishman of the south or the west is a wonderful visto of a thousand myths, deeds, and dreams, the background of the Irishman of Belfast is one great deed and one great stand, from Derry, Aughrim, and the Boyne until now. The Irishman of Belfast, moreover, takes his background for granted. His great pride is that it never changes, and so, whilst the Irishman of the south or the west is day-dreaming on the hillsides, joyously exploring the past, and neglecting the present in the grand make-believe of an oftentimes delightfully impracticable future, the Irishman of Belfast, untroubled by such fancies and fantasies, is building things of solid worth.

And he does it all with such energy and in such numbers! In the first light of a summer morning, he pours forth from every side street into every main street, whether in the city itself or far out in the suburbs, and, boarding long rows of tram cars, makes his way thereon to some great cotton mill or factory, or to the shipyards. The massing toward the shipyards is always the most dense and the most impressive. Here, indeed, is Belfast at work strenuously and clangorously. All great shipyards are much the same, of course; the huge hulks of inchoate liners or merchantmen with their gaunt ribs showing up sharply from below against the sky; the great traveling cranes; the almost absurd immensity of everything, seen at close quarters; and, above all, the ceaseless rattle of the riveters at work. It is all there in Belfast, but in Belfast, for the Irishman, it always has this added wonder, that it is so unlike the rest of Ireland. Thus Stephen Gwynn finds in the shipyards "a spectacle, strange to him anywhere, but ten times more strange in Ireland." "However the light might change," he writes, "the sounds never altered. Hammer, hammer, hammer—that, I thought, is the noise we want to hear in Ireland; money, money, money, bread, bread, bread—stay at home and earn it—that was the tune it went to. The heavy dredger keeping the channel open, the dirty little launch passing in the cold, gray-blue water, with gray, respectable, busy-looking people on board—all this was life, and the life we need most in Ireland."

But Stephen Gwynn does not leave it here. The real Irishman, whether he comes from Belfast or from Cork, must ever see the stone in its setting. The only difference is that the man from the south or the west is too apt to have eyes only for the setting, and the man from the north only for the stone. Belfast has a wonderful setting, and so Stephen Gwynn goes on to tell how "mountain and lough, and seagulls over the water" are there, and to describe how, from the top of Cave Hill, as it shoulders its way up into the sky to the north of the city, a man may gain one of the views of the world. Practically the whole of what men think of when they speak of Ulster lies spread out at one's feet, from the Derry Hills to the Mountains of Mourne.

It Tempted Inspection.

I have a friend in East Africa who writes from a remote village that he was much puzzled recently by the marked interest in himself shown by the natives. First the "Mayor," in a much-worn dress-coat and a fancy red waistcoat (worn outside the coat), arrived and walked round and round the Englishman at a spot where he was superintending the erection of a "wireless."

Later the native gentleman requested that in the afternoon he might bring his friends, which he did, to the number of a dozen; and they, like he, proceeded to walk round the soldier, peering curiously into his face. In the evening they returned with food offerings. And the reason of this flattering attention turned out to be a gold tooth, which they imagined must have grown in my friend's mouth.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Many more municipalities have decided to adopt daylight saving; the Railway Commission has summoned the railways to explain why they ad- German Government regarding landmission.

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches
In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.
CLOCKS, JEWELRY
Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.
Schneider's
387 George St. Next Turnbull's

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 290

COAL
...AND...
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
162 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-[illegible]

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
(COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East
Phone 96 THREE

Orders for C
taken now. Prompt delivery.
Card Wood for sale, also
Kindling Wood. Second-hand
Belting and Scrap Leather
Highest prices paid for all
Junk.
Store and Apartment to
LOW & CO
352 Simcoe St.
Phone
Nights call

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

TEMPLE SONGSTERS

The S.A. Temple Songsters are asked to attend practice this evening at 7.45 sharp.

DENTISTRY

Dr. McKenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

BOARD OF TRADE

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the election of the officers and council and for the consideration of routine special business is called for Tuesday evening, April 1, 1919, at 8 o'clock sharp in the council room of the Board on the 2nd floor of the Dominion Bank Building at George and Simcoe streets... The presence of all members of the Board and delegates of all affiliated associations is especially desired at this meeting when subjects of extraordinary interest to Peterborough are to be submitted for concerted discussion and action.

J. J. TURNER, President. BASIL D. HALL, Secretary.

WOOD FOR SALE

No sawmill operating in Peterboro this season. Save money on coal and hard wood by buying at once your spring and summer supply of mill and [illegible] wood from the McDonald Estate. Phone 176. Team loads delivered to any part of the city at the following low prices. Cash with order.

Lumber butts, a few loads, at .. .. $4.00 per load
Pine mill wood, sawn 12in., 16in. ... ...$4.00 per load
Hemlock mill wood, sawn 12in. 16in. ... ...$4.50 per load
Mixed wood, good, sawn 12in., 16in. ..., ...$5.00 per ton.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, PETERBOROUGH CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The regular Quarterly Meeting of shareholders will be held at 202 Rubidge street Thursday, April 3, at 8 p.m. All shareholders are requested to attend as business of importance will be brought up.

A. MURRAY, President.

NOTICE

A meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the City Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, April 1st at eight o'clock for the purpose of organizing a membership [illegible].

All the officers and members and all who are interested in this work are urged to be present.

DANCING CLASSES

[illegible] classes in social dancing will be organized at the Conservatory [illegible] beginning Tuesday evening next [illegible] 1st. Children's Class will meet at 4.30, and adults at 7.30. Classes [illegible] the direction of Mrs. F. A. [illegible]

NOTICE

[illegible] and see "The Land of [illegible]" in Knox Church Lecture [illegible] April 8th and 9th. Something [illegible]

RUMMAGE SALE

[illegible] Bible Class of Trinity [illegible] a rummage sale on [illegible] and Friday, April 3rd and [illegible] the vacant store, Simcoe street [illegible] Turnbull Co. The store will [illegible] afternoon from 2 to 8

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Paul, of Pittsburg, Pa., is visiting Mrs. H.S. McDuffee, 356 Hunter Street.

Mrs. Wells of Toronto is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Claude Rogers, Belmont Ave.

Mrs. F. H. Dawson has returned from a business trip east.

Mr. S. T. Medd is out of the city Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Melissa Alford returned to Lakefield after spending the past week with friends in the city.

Miss Gillespie, Robert Fair and Company's head milliner, left this morning for the wholesale markets in search of the very latest Easter millinery.

Organists and musicians of the city are tendering a complimentary banquet to Mr. John Allan at the Empress tonight.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES

Monday, 7.30—Girls' Auxiliary.
Tuesday, 2.30—W. A. Sewing meeting.
Tuesday, 5 p.m.—Evening service
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Lenten service Address by Rev. Mr. Elliott, Port Hope.
Thursday, 8.—Choir practice Boys at 7.30.
Friday, 2.—W. A. Sewing meeting
Saturday, 9.—Boys' choir practice
Saturday, 5.—Evening service.
Passion Sunday—Holy Communion 8.30 and 11.00.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHOIR

Practise for concert will be held in the Recital Hall of the J. M. Greene Music Co. on Tuesday night of this week. Ladies at 8 o'clock. Men at 8.30 o'clock. Please be prompt. Bring copies of choruses.

TRINITY NOTICES

Monday, 8 p.m.—Epworth League meeting in Reid street hall, Mr. N Ireland will give an address. Miss Greta Giles and Miss Corbett will give musical numbers. All are welcome.

Tuesday, 8.30 p.m.—Ladies' Aid meeting in Reid street hall. Mrs. Allin will give an address. All ladies are invited.

Tuesday, 8 p.m.—Young Ladies' Mission Circle will meet at the home of Miss Greta Giles, 320 Boswell avenue. Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Public service in the church. The pastor will preach and conduct the service.

Wednesday, 9 p.m.—Teacher Training Class in the church.

Thursday and Friday — Rummage Sale in the vacant store on Simcoe street next to the Turnbull store, by the young ladies of the Mizpath Bible Class.

Friday, 4.15 p.m.—Olive Mission Band in Reid street hall. Good programe. Pictures will be shown. The boys and girls are asked to invite their mothers.

W. L. RICHARDSON HONORED.

W. L. Richardson, formerly manual training supervisor in Toronto schools, has been granted a Ph.D. degree in the department of Education and Psychology at the University of Chicago.

PUBLIC MEETING

Under the Auspices of the Peterboro Milk Producers' Association

To be addressed by Mr. E. H. Stonehouse, president Toronto Milk Producers Association, will be held in the city council chamber on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

TENDERS CLOSE.

Tomorrow is the date set for the opening of tenders for the construction of the new Hunter street bridge. The Board of Works will meet at 8 o'clock to take charge of this important matter.

MRS. ELIZABETH STARK.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stark, Lot 29, Con. 2, Otonabee, passed away this morning. Deceased was born in Ireland and had reached the age of 65 years. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 3 o'clock to Fife's cemetery.

RETURNING SOLDIERS.

The following men reached Halifax per steamer Hennekhada on the 27th inst., and were sent forward by special train on the afternoon of the same day:

Sergeant P. Allen.
Sergeant H. J. Smith.
Private A. C. Jordan.
Private G. E. Price.

AUSTRIAN SHOT AND KILLED AT GUELPH, SUNDAY

WENT TO ASSISTANCE OF COMPATRIOT IN GAMBLING ROW —RECEIVED FATAL WOUNDS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Guelph, Ont., March 31.—This city has had another murder in the foreign quarter, Alexander Dudka, a middle aged Austrian or Ukranian, died in the hospital this morning as a result of being shot three times in his body, following a row on Sunday afternoon at a gambling party. From all accounts Dudka received fatal wounds when he went to the assistance of an older compatriot.

Two other foreigners have been arrested, and an inquest will be held

Musicale Held By The Twilight Club

The following program was rendered at the regular meeting of the Twilight Musical Club of the Queen Mary School on Thursday afternoon last:

Piano solo, "Spring Song (Merkel)—Margaret McKeen.

Piano solo, "Mermaid's Song"—Georgie Hardill.

Instrumental duet, "Martha" (Flotso)—Mary and Scott Medd.

Piano solo—Bluette — Margaret Johnston.

Reading—Dorothy Clarke.

Piano solo, Sonata (Climenti)—Irene Breckenridge.

Piano solo, "Sweet Memories" — Dorothy Stevens.

At the close of the program Miss Caldwell commended the children for the splendid way in which they had rendered their different numbers and made some suggestions as to the arrangement of their future programs, after which the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of "Rule, Britannia."

Monthly Meeting Of Teachers' Guild

The monthly meeting of the Women's Teachers' Guild was held in Central school on Friday evening. After the business had been disposed of a musical program was presented, "An Evening With the Composers." Interesting talks were given on the famous musical composers and their works. Each of these was followed by one or more selections from these writings, rendered on a Victrola.

At the close of the meeting a vote of thanks was passed to those who took part and particularly to the Grassman Company for their kindness in loaning a splendid Victrola for the evening.

The Royal Pleases The Firm's Auditor

Mr. N. G. Barrow, travelling auditor of the Paramount Theatres, Limited is in the city today in the interests of the company who purchased the Royal theatre.

Mr. Barrow is very much impressed with the city and their new theatre which is one of the best they own on their very large circuit.

ADDRESS LADIES' AID

Mrs. John Allan will address the Ladies' Aid at the Trinity Reid street hall tomorrow afternoon at 3.30. All ladies welcome.

WISCONSIN ASKS PERMISSION TO KILL SKUNKS

Madison, Wis. — Sportsmen are urging the Legislature to make a twelve months' open season on skunks because of that animal's destruction of game.

DUST EXPLOSION IN QUAKER OATS

A dust explosion occurred at 2.40 o'clock this afternoon in the feed department of the Quaker Oats plant which caused a great deal of smoke and dust, but it is not thought the damage will be very great.

The feed department is situated on the sixth floor of the western building.

There was no one injured and the sprinkling system of the plant operated without a hitch, and the city fire department found it unnecessary to use their apparatus.

ASHFORD EVERY INCH A SOLDIER

DOES GOOD WORK AS SECRETARY OF FREDERICTON'S G.W.V.A.

Pte. A. E. Ashford, Superintendent of the Dominion-Provincial Employment Office at Fredericton, N.B., is every inch a soldier. He was born in the atmosphere of military camp life at Hamilton, Bermuda, where the 1st Battalion East Yorkshire Regiment was then stationed. His education followed in India, and at the outbreak of war Mr. Ashford came to Canada to enlist. He joined up as a private in November, 1914, with the 26th New Brunswick Battalion in command of Lieut.-Col. McAvity. He arrived in France in September, 1915, went through the battle of Ypres with his unit, and in June, 1916, sustained a fractured ankle, which sent him back to England and thence to Canada the following August.

As Secretary of the Fredericton branch ofthe Great War Veterans' Association, Pte. Ashford is doing splendid work in addition to that of his office in the labor Department. He is also a member of the Provincial Command of the Great War Veterans' Association's Executive.

SAFE ROBBED OF TEN THOUSAND BY BANDITS

MISSED $15,000 OF LIBERTY BONDS WHICH HAD RECENTLY BEEN REMOVED.

Chicago, March 31.—An employe who knew that there had been upwards of $20,000 in Liberty bonds as well as other securities and cash in the vault of Joseph Triner, manufacturing chemist, 1333 South Ashland avenue, is believed to have directed the crew of five that raided the place early Saturday and blew the safe.

The leader also knew where the proprietor's oldest and richest wine was kept. This the robbers quaffed with increasing hilarity for three hours while they worked on the vault. When they finally departed it was in a state of good cheer not entirely attributable to the success of their venture.

What the leader of the gang did not know was that $15,000 of the Liberty bonds had been removed to a bank two days ago. As a result, their loot aggregated less than $10,000, made up of bonds belonging to employes, the Triner family jewelry and silver and a considerable amount of cash. The firm's own loss was only about $300.

Takes Watchman to Make "Pulls."

The conviction that it was an "inside job" is supported also by the evident familiarity of the robbers with the lay of the building. One of the men took Michael Chrtal, the watchman, to make his "pulls" once an hour. On the first round the watchman tried to miss one of his boxes and thus bring the agents of the watch service to the building. The ruse did not work. The robber, who knew the location of the box as well as Chrtal, led the watchman back to it and made him ring in.

Chrtal and three other men were overpowered when the robbers entered the building. They were placed under guard in a coal bin in the basement and held there for three hours, while four of the robbers worked on the safe upstairs. The guard showed great courtesy to his prisoners, and compelled them to drink wine with him until all were feeling its effects. The guard became so intoxicated that once, while making the rounds with the watchman, he fell from a platform and received severe injuries. Bloodstains marked the scene of his accident.

Loot Won't Exceed $10,000.

The loss is fixed by Mr. Triner at between $9,000 and $10,000. One employe, Benjamin Tupy, lost $1600 worth of liberty bonds and $400 of war savings stamps. Joseph Sterba, the manager, lost $1100 worth of liberty bonds. Other employes who had money and valuables in the vault lost amounts varying from one to several hundred dollars. Jewelry belonging to Mr. Triner's mother and valued at $1100 was taken. The robbers also took $2000 worth of family silver.

Soldier for Postmaster

Cobourg, March 31.—Pte. Harvey Hart of Castleton, who went overseas with the 139th (Northumberland) Battalion has been appointed Postmaster at the village of Grafton to succeed the late Ernest Carswell whose death took place a few weeks ago.

REFUSE REQUEST TO DEMOBILIZE 2ND BATT. HERE

BUT WILL SEND LOCAL MEN BY SPECIAL TRAIN FROM KINGSTON.

Men of the 2nd battalion whose homes are in Peterborough or the surrounding district will, according to information received from the Department of Militia this morning, be forwarded to this city by special train without delay upon their arrival at Kingston.

Mayor Duncan on March 26th wrote the Minister of Militia in regard to the possibility of having the 2nd battalion, which unit was largely formed of men from Peterborough and district, proceed to this city in a body for demobilization, immediately following the arrival at the port of debarkation.

The Minister's Reply

This morning the following letter was received from the Department of the Minister of Militia in which it is stated that while impossible to accede to the request of His Worship in regard to having the 2nd battalion demobilized in Peterborough every effort will be made to have the portion of it which enlisted from this city and district proceed to this place either by special train or special coaches immediately following arrival at Kingston:

Department of Militia.
Ottawa, March 28, 1919
Mayor Duncan,
Peterborough,
Dear sir:—

"I am directed by the Honorable the Minister to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of March 26th requesting that the 2nd battalion be demobolized at Peterborough.

"The record of the City of Peterborough in all the different phases of war work is fully appreciated by General Mewburn, but it is impossible at this date to alter the demobilization arrangements by creating another dispersal station at Peterboro. The overseas authorities were furnished with all the necessary forms as based on the present stations, and the men themselves have had an opportunity of intimating to which Dispersal Station they desired to proceed. Word has just been received that the 2nd battalion will proceed to Kingston upon arrival in Canada. These units are allocated by the Overseas Authorities and it must therefore be assumed that the larger percentage of the present personnel of the 2nd battalion comes from the Kingston district.

"General Mewburn regrets that at this date it is not practicable to create a new dispersal station at Peterboro nor can it be arranged for the 2nd battalion to be demobilised there. Arrangements will be made, however, so that as soon as the men from Peterborough and that District are demobilised at Kingston they will either be put on a special train or in special cars attached to the regular train and sent in a body to Peterborough for the reception which the citizens have prepared for them. The officials at Kingston will be requested to try to have Peterborough men dealt with immediately upon arrival at Kingston.

Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) W. R. CREIGHTON,
Major.
Private Secretary.

Kingston Officials Wire

A telegram from the Kingston authorities in regard to the same matter was also received this morning and the substance of the message follows:

"In the absence of Col. Staples I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 26th inst. which referred to the 2nd battalion being sent to Peterborough for dispersal.

"A letter in this regard has been forwarded you by the Private Secretary to the Honorable the Minister of Militia and Defence in which it is stated that it is much regretted that the request to have this battalion dispersed in Peterborough cannot be acceded to.

"Every effort will be made by the Kingston officials to arrange for the Peterborough and District men to be sent to Peterborough in a body, after dispersal in Kingston, either in a special train or in special cars in order that they may take part in the reception which is being arenged for them."

TO START HOSPITAL BUILDING

Kingston, March 31.— Work on the construction of the new Sydenham Military Hospital buildings on King street is to be started at once. Yesterday the Militia Department awarded the contract to the Kingston Construction Company.

GRAND TWICE DAILY 2.15 & 7.30

TO-DAY—TUESDAY—WEDNESDAY
-Vaudeville-
3 Big Acts AND 10 Great Reels
Pictures Stars Canada's Greatest Stage Celebrity Julia Arthur
IN THE CASE OF NURSE CAVELL
SPECIAL HEADLINE ATTRACTION
BACKE, JEWITT AND BACKE
COMEDY SINGING EDUCATED PONY
3 Musical Shirleys 3
THE ORIENTAL SURPRISE NADOLNY
SCREEN MAGAZINE AND SPECIAL COMEDY
DAILY AT 2.30 10c & 15c
EVENINGS 7.30 15c & 25c
SEATS RESERVED IN ADVANCE FOR EVENING PERFORMANCES
Saturday Matinee and Evening
FLO-FLO
Prices Mat. 25c-$1.50
" Eve. 25c-$2.00
Seats on Sale Thursday

THE WEEK'S Y. W. C. A.

GYMNASIUM SCHEDULE

Monday, 4 p.m.—Special Class.
4.30 p.m.—Senior School Girls.
8 p.m.—Business Girls Beginners' Class.
Tuesday 4.30 p.m.—Junior School Girls.
7 p.m.—Athena Club.
8 p.m.—Silver Link Club.
Wednesday 4.30 p.m.—Junior School Girls.
8 p.m.—Special class.
Thursday 7 p.m.—Advanced class.
8 p.m.—Business Girls Intermediate.
Friday 4.30 p.m.—Tuesday and Wednesday Juniors.
8 p.m.—Ladies class.
Saturday, 9.30—Juniors and Club Juniors.
10.30—Babies class.
7.30 p.m.—Senior School Girls.
8 p.m.—Beginners and Intermediates.

The club girls are especially urged to be present at their classes on Tuesday evening as the Exhibition work is now being taken up in all classes.

KEEP QUEEN MARY'S CORPS

London, March 31.—It is officially announced that the Army Council had decided that Queen Mary's Army Auxiliary Corps, which did such splendid work during the war should be maintained as part of the after-the-war organization.

BORN

THOMPSON—On Monday, March 31 1919, to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Thompson, 463 Stewart street, a son.

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors.
LEATHER, RATTAN,
WICKER, WOOD,
METAL and GLASS
or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle
AT
Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.

DEFEAT COMMUNISTS

Copenhagen, March 31. — Communist troops invaded German West Hungary, but were repulsed after several conflicts with the inhabitants, according to a despatch from Berlin quoting The Vossische Zeitung as stating that a deputation from West Hungary arrived yesterday in Vienna to report to Secretary of State Bauer concerning the invasion. Many houses were plundered and burned.

C. P. R. FALLS OFF

Canadian Pacific stock reacted slightly in New York on Saturday. After opening at 160, which was the close on Friday, it sold at 159½ and 159 1-4, at which price it closed.

Real Estate Bargains

HOUSE NO. 514 BOLIVAR STREET, a first class two storey brick house, containing six rooms, bath room fully equipped, also a good furnace. Deep lot and situated in a very nice part of the city. Can be purchased at a very low figure. For inspection call at my office 136 Hunter street.

HOUSE NO. 282 PERRY STREET, nice comfortable brick house, modern improvements, with large lot. Situated convenient to factories, schools and churches. I am offering this house at a very low price and would give easy terms to a purchaser.

563 BETHUNE STREET. Good two storey cement block house, situated near the corner of London Street and having all modern improvements except furnace. Convenient to the car line and also near the centre of the city. This house is offered for sale at a reasonable price and easy terms.

SPLENDID LOT CONTAINING NEW FOUNDATION 20 x 28 FEET, on Roger Street, East City, well built and all window frames, door frames required, also a quantity of lumber. Situated in a very nice locality and with the new bridge soon to be built this property will advance in price. Will sell now at a right price and give purchaser any reasonable terms.

For inspection of any of the above places and particulars, apply.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, West
Peterborough, Ont.

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
White Bros
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone [illegible] PETERBORO

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Hennan
140 RUBIDGE STREET,
Phone 448 J. Peterboro.

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED

Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St. Phone 284J

APRIL

1919

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Fresh north-west winds, fine and cold. Wednesday, fine, gradually moderating.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 77 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

LOCAL BD. OF TRADE ENDORSES A GENERAL DAYLIGHT SAVING

Telegraphs Board of Railway Commissioners to Favor Action of Railways.

Daylight saving is strongly advocated by several allied associations of the Board of Trade. President J. J. Turner and Vice-President Frank Whitehouse made an exhausting investigation, and the following telegram was sent to the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa yesterday:

"The Honorable Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada, Ottawa

"The Peterborough Board of Trade reflecting the general sentiment of all classes in the city of Peterborough, strongly favor daylight saving as adopted by the Canadian Railways and desire to express the earnest hope that your Honorable Board will make the order general."

The Board of Commissioners will doubtless decide the question of daylight saving today, when it holds a session to hear representatives of both sides of the controversy.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tonight at the new rooms in the Bradburn building at the corner of George and Simcoe streets. Much interest is being taken in this meeting, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance and a representative gathering of delegates from all of the allied associations.

NO ONE COUNTRY TO BLAME FOR PEACE DELAYS

PRESIDENT WILSON MAKES DECLARATION TO THIS EFFECT.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, April 1.—President Wilson today explained he was willing to accept his share of the responsibility for the Peace Conference delays. He was careful to point out that the slowness of the negotiations was not due to any single country or its representatives.

To Stay in Paris

Notwithstanding the delay in reaching an agreement the preliminary peace treaty, Premier Lloyd George does not intend to return to England before the questions are adjusted, in spite of his desire to attend the closing meeting of the British labor conference.

The Ontario Legislature has adopted new time.

KILLED BY SNOWSLIDE

C. ALLEN T. FRASER MEETS DEATH IN CANADIANS ROCKIES.

CHIEF ENGINEER CAN. NORTHERN

SECTION GANG BURIED—ALL BUT FRASER DUG OUT PRACTICALLY UNINJURED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Edmonton, Alta, April 1.— Allen T. Fraser, aged 47, chief engineer of the Canadian Northern Railway, was killed on Sunday, by a snowslide, near Mount Robson, in the Yellow Head Pass, through the Rockies.

Mr. Fraser's train was stopped by a slide, and he went ahead with a section gang to make investigations Another slide buried them all.

The section men were dug out practically uninjured, but Mr. Fraser was dead when they reached him.

BOERS SEEKING FOR REPUBLIC

DELEGATES ARRIVE AT NEW YORK ON ROUTE TO PEACE CONFERENCE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

New York, April 1.—The Dutch steamship Bawean, arrived here today from Capetown, South Africa, with a delegation of Boers en route to London and the Peace Conference for the purpose, it is said, of laying before the Government and the Paris Conference their right to self determination in setting up a republic.

The delegates include General I. B. M. Hertzog, Frederick Williams Beyers and others.

REIGN OF TERROR NOW IN BUDAPEST

FAMINE FEARED—POPULATION HOPES FOR INTERVENTION BY THE ALLIES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Prague, April 1.—The communists have set up a reign of terror in Budapest. The stocks of food in the Hungarian capital are sufficient for only ten days, and only three hundred head of cattle are coming into the city daily instead of the normal 3,500. Famine is feared, while the coal situation also is grave.

The population of Budapest hopes for intervention by the Allies

UNITING THE EMPIRE IN TRADE NOT HOSTILE TO OTHER NATIONS

Lord Milner Discusses Situation--Preference Will Strengthen Our Own Dominions.

London, April 1.—Lord Milner interviewed by the Sunday Express and replying to the interviewer's suggestion that signs of impatience were appearing in the dominions, admitted there was a centripetal tendency in the Empire today with Britain and the dominions thinking of their own affairs, but this was purely temporary. Not merely the battlefield, but the fact that hundreds of thousands of men from the dominions had lived among us for four years had strengthened the sense of real brotherhood which could never be destroyed. This tendency was reflected in our constitutional machinery. The dominions' Premiers had been called to the councils of the War Cabinet. The temporary expedient must become a permanent policy.

"In every administrative act you must think of the Dominions as friends and relations. The British Empire is not a Delian League. We are free and equal members of the community, and while we have no hostility to friendly and foreign nations ,still we will give the preference in all things to our own family."

Lord Milner welcomed the decision immediately to relax trade restrictions within the Empire, pointing out that he was not responsible for them. Preference was a much wider thing than a mere matter of tariffs Every nation in the Empire ought to settle its fiscal system on its own merits, and then give preference to the others. Such preference embraced emigration, shipping, cables and finance. Emigration should be directed, firstly, to the Dominions; secondly, to the United States as a great free community with like ideals; lastly, to other countries like the Argentine. The Government and the Colonial Office believed in strengthening our own Dominions, our own friends and our own trade first.

PARTISAN, RELIGIOUS AND RACIAL HATREDS FLAMED

Chicago's Election For Mayor Most Bitter in History of City—Ended in Riotous Scenes—"Shall Chicago Become Anti-Saloon?" Question on Ballot.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, April 1.—Men and women balloted for Mayor and other city officials today, after a campaign said to have been the most bitter in the history of the municipality.

With six candidates in the field for Mayor, Partisan, religious and racial hatreds flamed high during the campaign, that ended last night with riotous scenes in the central district which extra police details had difficulty in controlling at times.

The Candidates.

The candidate for Mayor are: William Hale Thompson (Republican) incumbent; Robert M. Switzer (Democrat), County Clerk; Maclay Poyne (Independent-Democrat), States Attorney; John Fitzpatrick (Labor), president of Chicago Federation of Labor; John M. Collins (Socialist); Adolph S. Carm (Socialist Labor).

Each Claims Election.

Each of the four leading candidates claims his election today, although political forecasters say they are at loss to make anything like credible predictions.

A Vexed Question.

Among the propositions appearing on the "Little Ballot" accompanying the majorality ballot is the proposition, "Shall Chicago become anti-saloon territory." This proposition was not allowed on the ballot at the last election.

LARGE HUN FORCES IN EAST PRUSSIA

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, April 1.—The Germans are concentrating large forces in eastern Prussia under command of Field Marshal von Hindenburg. These German forces are being gathered in Graudenz and Thorn in order to defend the railway line from Danzig to Posen.

BRITISH TREASURY INCREASE

London, April 1.—The Treasury statement for the financial year ending yesterday shows a total revenue of £889,202,825, as compared with £707,234,565 for the year 1917-18. This is an increase of £18,786,260.

Alexander Wood an employe of the Lake Erie Coal Co., was instantly killed by falling from a coal hoist into a barge at Erieau.

BIG MAJORITY IN BRITISH HOUSE ON MILITARY BILL

Measure Carries by a Vote of 284 to 64—Secretary of War, Winston Spencer Churchill, on the Defense—650,000 Men Wanted to Secure Peace and Tranquility.

London, April 1.—The House of Commons yesterday passed the third reading of the Military Bill by a vote of 282 to 64 after strong criticism of the Government on the ground of wasteful expenditure and violation of election pledges to abolish conscription.

Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for War, made a vigorous reply to these criticisms. He declared the broad band across Europe from the White Sea to the Caspian as smouldering or aflame through Bolshevik attacks, and declared that Germany and Austria were likely to slide into hopeless anarchy or form a military alliance with the Bolsheviki.

Cost of Up-keep.

With respect to the cost of the Army of Occupation, Mr. Churchill said that after deducting the estimated figure of about seventy million pounds to be recovered from Germany for the upkeep of the Rhine army, this left the cost of the Army of Occupation for the present year at £133,000,000. The amount which was expected to be recovered by salvage was calculated to pay two or three times over the cost of the Armies of Occupation during this year.

Must Smash Bolshevism.

Replying to arguments that there was no national necessity for the bill, Mr. Churchill declared that Bolshevist armies were attacking along the whole front in Europe, and the various little States were in direct peril. Could it be said, he asked, that Great Britain had no interest in seeing the world coming to a peaceful settlement? The moment the allies divested themselves of their military forces they would be powerless to exercise the slightest influence on the course of events all over Europe.

Method of Distribution.

The approximate distribution of troops, the Secretary said, would be as follows; In Great Britain, 176,000; in France, 120,000; army on the Rhine, 264,000. In Italy and adjacent regions, Mr. Churchill added, there would be ten thousand men, in order to adjust the lamentable differences which had arisen between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs, saying:

"We are keeping small forces of British troops there in many localities where the troops of no other nation would be welcome. We have been asked to do this in conjunction with our allies, because it has been found that these troops could prevent troubles between the local populations merely by their presence during the period we are trying to settle things."

Means 650,000 Men.

"To secure peace and tranquility throughout the immense regions that have fallen into our hands during the war, and to secure fulfillment of the Peace Treaty, and to enable us in conjunction with our allies, to influence a settlement in Europe," said Mr. Churchill, "the total forces we propose to keep at our disposal are thus approximately 650,000 men."

It was quite impossible to get the forces required by voluntary means before the Peace Treaty was finally and definitely ratified, he declared.

Referring to a speech by a Deputy, who had attributed the situation in Egypt to the military government of the country, Mr. Churchill remarked that, whatever might be said, British soldiers and British Generals were more in demand in every country of the world as lawgivers and pacifiers than the soldiers of any other country. As a matter of fact, British rule, under which Egypt had prospered so enormously, he asserted, never had been military, but civilian. Of course, in time of war exceptional steps had to be taken, but the country had been administered through civilian authorities.

40 GO TO DEATH AT LAUNCHING

SCAFFOLDING AROUND BOAT COLLAPSES; MANY FIND WATERY GRAVE.

Bristol, Penn., April 1.—From ten to forty persons were either killed or drowned late yesterday afternoon, when a temporary scaffolding extending around the stern of a boat on the ways at the Merchant Shipyard at Harriman, near here, collapsed while nearly 150 persons were standing on it to view the launching of the freighter Waukau. At a late hour last night only three bodies had been recovered. Twenty-two injured were taken to the Harriman hospital.

WAR VETERANS REACH PORT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Halifax, N.S., April 1.—Canada, with 1137 returning Canadian War Veterans, docked at eight o'clock this morning.

DAYLIGHT TIME MEANS SAVING OF 2,000,000 HOURS

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN TIMES OF CAN. AND U.S. RAILWAYS WOULD BE DANGEROUS.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, Ont., April 1.—The Dominion Railway Commission today heard officials of the railway war board and railway companies explain why they adopted daylight saving time, argument being generally put forth that both the convenience and safety of passengers and freight on Canadian lines made it necessary to fall in line with the United States.

Distinctly Dangerous

Secretary Neal, representing the railway war board, emphasized the difficulties in international traffic, and figured out the maintenance of different time from the United States would mean a loss of over two million hours by passengers on Canadian lines. Experts agreed, also he said, that it would be distinctly dangerous to operate trains with different time in the States from Canada.

Endorsing Telegrams

After hearing officials of the C.P.R. and Grand Trunk as well as Mr. W. M. Neal, representing the Canadian Railway War Board Sir Henry Drayton, adjourned the hearing at one o'clock (daylight saving time) until half past two this afternoon, when other witnesses will be heard.

The Commissioners have received telegrams from about thirty-five municipalities, cities and towns in the country, endorsing daylight saving.

PETERBORO MAN ILL IN HALIFAX

The following men arrived at St. John's N.B., per Steamer Empress of Britain on March 31st and were despatched to destination the same evening.

Pte. A. A. Butcher.
Pte. W. J. Amory.
Pte. A. H. Armstrong.
Pte. S. Hele.
Pte. I. C. Cavanagh.
Pte. F. Hoden.
Pte. R. B. Morrison.

Pte. S. C. Prophet, Box 902, Peterborough P.O., who arrived at Halifax, per steamer Cedric March 31st has been admitted to hospital at Halifax.

A new Dominion coat of arms is to be designed.

CLOCKS TO BE ADVANCED ON WEDNESDAY MORNING

Peterboro Council Adopts Daylight Saving Measure at Meeting Held Last Night.

Peterborough City Council at a meeting last night endorsed the daylight saving measure, which has been adopted by the Canadian railways and by the majority of the cities and towns of the Dominion and at one o'clock on the morning of Wednesday April 2nd, the clocks of this city will be advanced one hour.

The street railway employes sent a letter to the Council protesting against the adoption in Peterborough of the Daylight Saving Measure, urging that it would cause the men added hardship.

Was In Favor.

Alderman Turner wrote the Council expressing regret at his inability to be present at the meeting and putting himself on record as favoring the Daylight Saving Measure. He stated that he had received a communication from C. M. Moncur, secretary of the Druggists' Association of the city, to the effect that that organization was in favor of the change in time.

A communication from City Solicitor Widdifield advised that a proclamation from the Mayor would be the most satisfactory means of giving effect to the change in time if it was decided to adopt the daylight saving proposition.

Registered Objection.

A deputation from the letter carriers was present, and through their spokesman, Mr. R. Reid, protested against the adoption of daylight saving upon the ground that it would require them to arise at 3.30 in the morning and that they would not have the same time to devote to gardening in the morning as in the past. They felt that as a war measure daylight saving could be borne with but now that the war was over the case was different. If the Council was determined to make this change, they asked that it be in effect only from May 1st to September 30th.

Measure Adopted.

Alderman Taylor submitted the resolution providing for the change in time. Speaking in favor of it he stated that as the railways had decided to adopt it the only way to avoid confusion was to fall in line. He had found throughout the city opinion almost unanimous in favor of daylight saving.

Alderman Phelan in seconding the resolution, stated that he had only met one individual who had been opposed to the change.

Unusual Procedure.

Alderman Edgar, in dealing with several of the objections, urged against the measure by the letter carriers stated that it was a most unusual proceeding for even amateur agriculturists to water their gardens in the morning when the sun would bake the ground as hard as brick. He always understood that the most satisfactory time to water a garden was at night when the water would soak into the soil after the sun had gone down.

Urged Delay.

Alderman Morrison thought that the measure should not be put into operation for a month. In this contention, he was upheld by Alderman McIntyre.

Mayor Duncan reminded the Council that the date had been set by the railways and the change already in effect. Few changes of such a drastic nature could be made without causing some portion of the community a certain amount of hardship but as far as he could learn Daylight Saving was looked upon with favor by the great majority of the people. The principal manufacturers of the city had informed him that their employes favored it. The Retail Merchants' Association were in accord with the change in time.

Resolution Carried.

When the resolution was submitted it carried, Aldermen Taylor, Phelan, Edgar and Hamilton voting in favor and Aldermen McIntyre, Morrison and Gainey refusing to record their votes.

A resolution was carried authorizing the Mayor to telegraph the Railway Commission endorsing the action of the railways of the Dominion in adopting Daylight Saving

ANOTHER AMBITIOUS AIRMAN

Buenos Aires, April 1.—Capt. Zuloaga, who crossed the Andes mountains in a balloon in 1916, has asked the permission of the Argentine War Minister to attempt a flight across the Atlantic in an airplane. The captain is the Argentine Military Attache in Paris.

MARRIED FIFTY-FOUR YEARS

Chatham, April 1.—Mr. and Mrs. James Glover celebrated yesterday, the fifty-fourth anniversary of their wedding which took place in Ireland. They have lived in Chatham or vicinity for about forty-eight years. Both are hale and hearty and anticipate several years of good health.

BUBONIC PLAGUE INCREASES

Beunos Aires, March 31. — The chief of the National Health Bureau says that the bubonic plague is increasing as a result of the great number of rats that are in the merchandise which has long lain on the docks and in warehouses owing to the strike of the port workers.

SOLDIER FORGED

London, Ont., April 1.—Stanley West, a returned holdier, pleaded guilty to forging a comrade's name to endorse a cheque and was remanded one week for sentence by Magistrate Graydon today. It is alleged that he also stole the cheque. Lack of funds was given as his excuse

SCOTTISH MINERS' DELEGATES ENDORSE GOVERNMENTS' TERMS

FIGHT AGAINST BOLSHEVISM

THREATENING TO PLUNGE THE WORLD INTO ANARCHY AND CHAOS

New York, March 31.—The American Defence Society today launched a campaign against Bolshevism in the United States. A warning was issued, written by Dr W. T. Hornaday, a trustee of the society, wherein he said:

"At this very moment the lying lure of Bolshevism is working day and night to plunge the whole civilized world into chaos and ruin. Russia, Germany, England, and America already are heavily involved. Spain, Sweden, Egypt, and Chile are in the preliminary stages.

"In America high-brow Socialism, I.W.W.'ism, non-partisan leaguism, and Bolshevism are in spirit and in purpose one and the same thing."

This statement concluded by saying:

"The man who thinks Bolshevism is not a menace to America is himself a source of danger to the State."

Similar Action Taken by Yorkshire and Cleveland Men.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, April 1.—Delegates of the Scottish miners meeting at Glasgow have endorsed the Government's terms as to wages and working conditions, based on the recent reports of the coal commission, of which justice Sir John Sankey is chairman and have advised the Miners to accept them.

Miners Seem Satisfied

Similar action has been taken by the Miner's Association in the Yorkshire and Cleveland [illegible], while the Lancashire miners are reported to be generally satisfied.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept. ... 182 Editorial ... 42J....

Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

TUESDAY, APRIL 1, 1919

AS OTHERS SEE IT!

OF COURSE, IT IS quite apparent that Imperial preference within the British Empire is going to seriously affect countries outside the red belt. When a great importing country like Great Britain abandons its policy of free trade for one of protection against states not within her imperial jurisdiction, even those countries with whom she has been allied in the great war must suffer. In this connection, the United States—England's blood offspring, so to speak—will be hit very hard; and it is gratifying to read that our weighty contemporary, the Chicago Daily News, accepts the situation with consistent good grace. Referring to Chancellor Bonar Law's announcement, that paper says:

> "Although foreshadowed in earlier addresses, the explicit announcement by Chancellor Bonar Law, in the British House of Commons, that 'Imperial preference' as a permanent policy would be put into effect at the earliest possible moment is indeed momentous. For Imperial preference — that is, discrimination in favor of the British colonies and dominions—necessarily involves the employment of the protective system as against the rest of the world.
>
> Every other industrial nation, including, of course, the United States, is directly interested in this great step, for the foreign trade of every such nation cannot fail to be gravely affected. New outlets may have to be sought by it with more energy and method than have been employed in the past.
>
> The object of Britain in reverting to protection is to knit the Empire more closely together, stimulate production in every part of the Empire, and make it as far as possible a self-sufficing confederation. The aid spontaneously given to the Mother Country during the war by the dominions and colonies furnishes an argument for preference that no party and no school of thought ventures to ignore or belittle.
>
> That the present parliamentary majority has the will and the power to enact a preference and protection budget law is apparently recognized by all, even though another general election may be demanded by some politcal groups on that vital issue."

HOW SMALL SAVINGS GROW.

FEW PEOPLE adequately realise the earning power of small savings during a period of time. Take the 25-cent piece, which is so thoughtlessly spent.

How many realise that if one of these were put away every day in the form of Thrift Stamps, being afterwards exchanged for War Savings Stamps, that at the beginning of 1929 they would amount to $1152.62? And yet this is the truth.

If this were kept up for twenty years the sum of $2953.20 could be drawn. Continue it for another ten years, and on January 1, 1949, $5768.68 could be taken in cash.

CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK.

EASTER THIS YEAR will have added interest from the fact that Easter Monday week, April 21 to 28, is to be devoted to stimulating public interest in music and all that pertains thereto. The proposition originated with the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, and influential enthusiasts are generously supporting this movement for arousing keener appreciation in Canada for music, whether voice or instrumental. There are no selfish ends in view, but a commendable desire to foster for one week in each year a greater concentration on that heaven-given agency by means of which man finds intelligible expression of the real language of human sentiment. Music is an unselfish art and a means of drawing closer together the human race in accord and harmony. In war or peace, in churches, and in some countries in schools, at marriages, and even in death, music is recognised as a fitting factor for accompaniment. Then the wonder is that before now it has not been accorde, like the motor and other popular commodities, a given time in each year for the demonstration of its beauties and possibilities.

At last, however, we are going to have a "Canada's Music Week," during which special attention will be directed to music in all its details. The local music dealers' association has taken the matter up and arrangements are being made for making the week one of attraction, instruction and pleasure. And in this connection we are impelled to the idea of suggesting that our schools and churches might consistently co-operate. In the United States music is finding a place in the curriculum of schools, it being recognised that music has the effect of stimulating the mental faculties of children and improving their standard of work in other departments. In Japan also it is a compulsory subject in the normal schools. Then why not during this week of music have our schools enter into the spirit of the occasion with some program by which music and its beauty and advantages shall be emphasized? Our churches fully appreciate the value of music, also our Sunday schools; and the Ministerial Association might well consider the appropriateness of its members devoting a sermon or two to the subject, for we are told that music is the voice of the soul, and our very nature responds to it.

We bespeak for this week of music—Easter, April 21 to 28—the generous co-operation and interest of the whole community. Easter itself is a period of joy and thanksgiving in which Christian people give expression to their gratitude for the glorious resurrection of Christ, and for ages past the medium of that expression has been music, vocal and instrumental. Then how fitting it is that "Canada's Music Week" should first find place following the joyous festival of Easter. Then music enters so much into our everyday life in this generation—in the home, in every pleasure that is worth while—that it is hard to conceive of any public attitude toward the occasion than one of sympathetic appreciation.

GERMAN BLUFF.

AS THE TIME for the signing of peace draws nigh, we hear much of the intention of the German Government to refuse its signature rather than submit to loss of territory and humiliating conditions. And eleventh hour despatches yesterday reported that the Entente had anticipated the possibility of such refusal by Germany, by ordering Marshal Foch to be prepared for a general advance of the Allied armies along the Rhine.

The German mind is quite beyond comprehension; they evidently are strangers to the popular axiom that it is a poor rule that does not work both ways; and they whine at the imposition upon them of terms similar, although not quite so drastic, as those they openly and blatantly announced they were going to impose upon the Allies. So sure was Germany of victory after Russia's defection that her government anonunced her terms for peace, which revealed the will to ride rough-shod over the world in general. England was to lose her colonies, her coaling stations and her fleet; France was to be robbed of a huge slice of her northern territory, and the United States was to pay an immense indemnity in cash. There were other riders to the peace document that Germany was preparing, all of an equally extravagant nature; and the German nation, from all reliable reports, was behind the government practically to an individual. But the German idea seems to be that even in defeat Germany is to be victorions, in the privileg of exemption from application to her of terms she herself endorsed as justifiable were the Germans victors. If the Germans consider the Allies' terms hard, let them reflect on those they had in mind for the Allies, and show at least a little manliness in defeat.

What is required of Germany is that she should cease her bluffing of the Allies, stop threatening the world with embracing bolshevism, and defying the Entente to do their worst, and accept those conditions for which she has but herself to blame. Her extremity is great, but she can find a measure of relief by resigning herself to the inevitable with the best grace possible and by signing those peace terms which, after all, must fall far short of a commensurate penalty for Germany's ruthlessness, cruelty and destruction of human life and material.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

CHOIR SINGERS should try to be fresh for the weekly practice. Tired voices flatten readily.

• • • • •

THE TORONTO STAR says it is nice to get up in the morning, but it will be nicer later on. But how about those who don't go home till morning?

• • • •

THE EX-CROWN PRINCE admits his unpopularity, but strongly denies that he is an idiot. Well, we never knew an idiot yet who would admit the fact. He generally imagines all others crazy but himself.

• • • • •

DR. W. T. HARNADAY, a trustee of the American Defence Society, says, "The man who thinks that bolshevism is not a menace to America is himself a source of danger to the state." We agree with the doctor, but go further in saying that bolshevism is a menace to Canada, too.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

THE PAY OF THE M.P.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal.)

Members of the British House of Commons receive $2000 a year, and pay their own transportation. Members of the Canadian House of Commons find they "can't live" on less than $2500 a session, with mileage and free tarnsportation added.

THE PRICE CANADA PAID.

(Buffalo Courier.)

If anybody has not realized the price Canada paid for her participation in the war—and the gallantry of her soldiers—let them read the despatch which tells that only one officer and eight men of the Princess Pat regiment which went overseas at the start returned with it last Sunday.

GET AWAY WITH IT.

(Collingwood Bulletin.)

For going down Yonge street in a summer suit a Toronto young man was recently arrested and examined for his sanity. And still a good many girls of that city run around with less than that on and get away with it, too.

WHAT'S THIS! WHAT'S THIS!

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

The Hamilton Herald says there is not likely to be any "no-beer-no-work" movement in Hamilton, "for the reason that those who really want beer can get it without much trouble." Would it be too much to ask the Herald to pass on the secret?

WHO'S WHOM IN LITERATURE.

(Chicago Tribune.)

Sir,—In Henry Watterson's "Looking Backward," in the Sat. Eve. Post, I find: "(Spencer) whom I fancied must be a literary man," and "whom I rightly judged might be he." Wouldn't you think sixty or seventy years of writing would break up such a habit?

CANADA'S POPULATION.

(Montreal Gazette.)

Canada's population by the census of 1911 was 7,206,000. The Government estimate that it is now 8,835,000. The calculated increase is large, but may be justified by the regular count two years hence. Meantime a lot of spending economists would do well to remember the reported figures. Some of them advocate expenditures suited to the power of a population of 80,000,000 and which 8,000,000 cannot bear.

WHEN THE WORLD GOES DRY.

(Detroit Free Press.)

The man of optimistic turn of mind is sure there will come a day when the whole world is bone dry. It will come, he feels positive, when somebody discovers a method of halting Nature's chemical process of fermentation and distillation.

WIT AND WISDOM

Italians having seized Pressburg, the newspaper men ought all to go there and practice self-determination or something.

After nature deliberation Ding Widdle, the philosopher of inertia, has decided to plant, on the conclusion of peace, a commemorative oak rather than an olive. The olive, he admits, is more symbolical, but he fears that the excitement of watching such a fast grower would be too much for him.

Our avuncular government warns that army gas masks are not to be used indoors. Another hope shattered! We had thought to use them in meeting the monthly gas bill!

In the league of nations as it is finally arranged, let us hope that the little republics of San Marino and Andorra will be represented and put under bonds to keep the peace. Otherwise they might start quarrelling over which is the smaller and the world would be involved in another war.

No the ex-hauser is talking about his "mental struggles." He flatters himself.

Chicago need not think it has a monopoly of this "crime wave" business; the world is having the same thing

Only in the world, generally, there are no election complications.

Spain has adopted the eight hour day for the building trades. Realizing perhaps, that otherwise it might have the "destroying" trades working twenty-four hours a day.

Germany threatens the world with bolshevism as it did with imperialism Well, it is the home of both, and they are natural allies. Knowing which the world refuses to be bluffed.

"U. S. gets New Zealand meat,' read Chester Knutt at the breakfast table. "How interesting!" exclaimed Hazel. "So many new animals are being used for human food these days!"

A couple of years ago the ex-kaiser was worried by the thought of losing his hair; now he is worried about his head.

Anxious Father—"Do you love her

Anxious Father — "Do you love her?"

Suitor (absently—"Yes'r, of course but I don't think I'll buy her a washing machine just yet. We'll patronize the laundry until we set up housekeeping."

While agreeing with Mrs. Marietta Johnson of the "painless system of education" that the trouble with many people is "bow legged brains," we submit that, in a certain well known sex, bowlegged brains are considerably less a misfortune than mere bowlegs. The fashions of the day conceal the one and reveal the other.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

THE PARK AVE. NEWS

Weather. Peeple with colds thankfill for the invention of hanerchiffs.

Spoarts. Skinny Martin and Ed Wernick had a contest to see which one could push the hardest last Satiday aftirnoon, lasting till Puds Simkinses sissey cuzzin Persey got diskusted and ran away him being wat they was trying to push the hardest.

Sissiety. Miss Lily Levy announces that she would of had a berthday party to celebrate her berthday last Wensday if she had of bin allowed.

Pome by Skinny Martin

INCLOODIN THE FRAMES

A man took picktures for a living,
But was he a fotografer? No.
He took them wile the family was calmly away frum home,
And then passed them to his con-
fedritt down below.

Intristing Facks About Intristing Peeple. Leroy Shooster awfin dreems he is reeding books wile he is asleep wich they sm to b pritty good books but Lroy Shooster can never remember wat they was about after he wakes up making it a waste of time.

Wy waste time winding your watch every nite wen you could be bizzy doing sumthing elts. Hang it on the frunt door nob and in the morning you will find it all wound up, for 10 sents a week. The Ed Wernick and Lew Davis Watch Winding Co. (Avertisement.)

LEE PAPE

The human race is but a contest for dollars.

Salaries of missionaries in the Toronto Presbyterian Church have been increased.

When a man gets into trouble the majority of those who call to sympathize with him are only after the particulars.

WHY EXPERIMENT?

Food scientists claim that the leavener is largely responsible for the flavor, texture and wholesomeness of your home baking. That on no other one ingredient does so much depend. It is important, therefore, to use a baking powder that you know possesses the necessary leavening qualities.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Contains No Alum

and is the only strictly high class baking powder in Canada selling at a moderate price. Its reputation is built on purity and highest quality.

The only well known medium priced baking powder made in Canada that does not contain alum and that has all its ingredients plainly stated on the label.

Made in Canada

LEAGUE AID TO PEACE

The project of the league of nations has, in the minds of its opponents, to bear the blame for many things. According to their view, if it had not been for the league of nations, peace would have been declared and everything would be smooth and easy in the sphere of the late war.

Only the absurd insistence of the idealists, they hold, as postponed the settlement needed to produce normal times.

The fact is entirely otherwise. The league of nations was made the first subject of conversation by the conference because it could be more promptly and easily disposed of than other issues rearing their ugly heads among the allies. These needed earnest and careful consideration in confidential interviews between the representatives of the leading powers.

One of the most troublesome questions is the amount of the indemnities which France and Belgium and Italy and England and Serbia should exact from the central powers. It is complicated with the questions of how much the central powers can pay Each premier has found himself embarrassed by promises to his people as to what the treaty must contain. In this regard each has found that his claims must be moderated.

Another burning question is that of the boundary of Italy on the Adriatic. Italy insists on having Fiume because the port has probably a majority of Italians in it. But it always has been the port of the Slav dependencies of Hungary, and it is surrounded by a country with which it has the closest business connections, which is overwhelmingly Slav. It is the normal seaport of the projected Jugo Slav state.

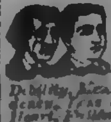
Sonnino is reported uncompromising in his demand. Fiume has become a political issue in Italy. Orlando, a man of more judicial and conciliatory mind, is said to be embarrassed by Sonnino. Both are affected by the fact that the Italian elections are nearly at hand.

As a background to the whole settlement is the question of the defense of France against another attack by Germany. The French military strategists see no complete protection unless France controls the crossing of the Rhine. A proposal which has been urged by France is the creation of a buffer state called Rhineland. The objection to this is that Rhineland is German. Its separation from Germany is not within the basis of the armistice. Its sympathies would all be with Germany. It would be a constant source of irritation in Germany and a persistent invitation to a new war. Lloyd George seeks to make such a frontier unnecessary by a required limitation upon conscription in Germany and an agreed limitation among the allied powers. This, of course, would become a part of the machinery of the league of nations for securing peace.

The question of Hungary, now being made prominent by the threat of bolshevism or its actual appearance at Budapest, is also difficult. Unscrupulous leaders of Hungarian politics seem to have invited in bolshevism in order to fight a settlement which would limit Hungary to the Magyar country and the Danubian Plains. The Magyars are a masterful race, a race of aristocrats, who have arbitrarily oppressed the Slovaks in mountainous northern Hungary. The Roumanians in Transylvania and, indeed, the Germans, where they have settled within the Hungarian kingdom as they see their power passing have become desperate and war threatens again.

The specter of bolshevism will not down. To charge this to delay, due to seeking an agreement upon the league of nations, is ridiculously opposed to the fact. The outbreak in Hungary only demonstrates the necessity for a strong, firm league. The signing of a treaty which formally restores peace with Germany and Austria-Hungary will not give the power of the united allies to compel peace. That power will be dissipated unless a league of allies, the nucleus of the league of nations, shall be established, not only to suppress immediate disorder, but also to settle difficulties, of which a great number will at once arise between the new governments established and the old one cut down, and to enforce the settlements peaceably arrived at.

The news that amendments are being considered in the league of nations and that it is nearly ready for incorporation in the treaty itself demonstrates that it has not interfered at all with reaching the terms of peace with Germany The truth is a league of nations is necessary to a satisfactory treaty. It helps and speeds it. —William Howard Taft, in Chicago Daily News.



Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH

Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

DO YOU SEW?

A person with imperfect vision cannot do perfect work without proper glasses.

If after sewing a short time, you find your eyes smart and burn you probably need glasses.

At any rate you should have your eyes examined to determine just what is the trouble.

Better have your eyes examined NOW.

M. J. ROCHE

Optometrist & Mfg. Optician

188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

EMPIRE THEATRE Monday and Tuesday

JANE GREY in A Guilty Wife

LEAH BAIRD in the Greatest German Spy Serial

Wolves of Kultur Chapter 14. 2 Parts The Code of Hate

BRONCO BILL'YS SQUARINESS Comedy

THE STENOGRAPHER, Comedy

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

Fine Program LOUISE CLAUS

SHACKLED

MARIE WALCAMP, The dashing Screen Star in THE LION'S CLAWS, Serial

And a .. Charlie Chaplin, Comedy by West, DOUGHNUTS

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion: subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

WANTED.

PRESSERS WANTED AT Parker's Dye Works.

WANTED—HOUSEMAID FOR Y. W. C. A. Apply Superintendent.

WANTED — TWO GENTLEMEN boarders, to room together. Apply 487 Parnell St.

TO RENT.

CAR FOR HIRE—ALL ORDERS promptly attended to. Rates reasonable. J. J. Johnston, 'phone 652w.

LOST.

LOST—ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON on George or Hunter street, small black purse. Reward if left at Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — DISCHARGE PAPERS; made out in the name of John Alexander McArthur. May be had by applying to Harvey Staunton, G.W.V.A.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN

Phone 219 295 George St.

Children's Aid Society

— of —

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 388 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m

Piano Tuning

Phone 595

The GREENE MUSIC Co.

There is no limit to the age at which a man can make a fool of himself.

The new crop of maple sugar will probably be made of the same ingredients.

It doesn't matter if beauty is only skin deep as long as the skin is worn on the outside.

One way to get in your time is [illegible] pawnbroker's counter.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
408 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. P. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 11.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts.
Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc. Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery.
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street, Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 445

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY
Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Peterborough
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT: Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT: Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

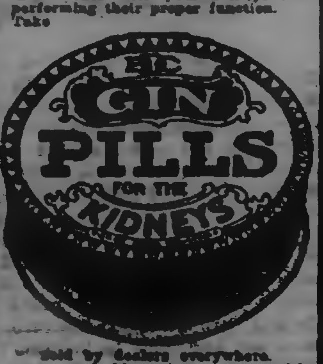
Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

BACK-ACHE!

You will NEVER get rid of that pain in the back until your kidneys are performing their proper function. Take



GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Sold by dealers everywhere. 50c. a box.

To Link Up Labor Employm't Bureaus

London, March 31.—A strong deputation of Labor organizations of the Empire is at present urging on the Government he desirability of establishing an imperial employment exchange system. The moving spirit in the organization is Miss Wileman, who took a pioneer part in the recent institution of national labor exchanges in Canada. The proposed scheme includes, first, the linking up of all existing national employment exchange systems throughout the Empire; secondly, the elimination of all commercial exploitation, and, thirdly, stimulation of facilities in the United Kingdom to provide men and women emigrants with a preliminary manual training in order to fit them for overseas life.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, April 1.—Receipts fair trade generally steady:

Choice export cattle	$14.00	$15.00
Choice butcher	10.75	13.00
Medium butcher cattle	9.50	10.50
Evenes	11.00	14.00
Lambs	18.50	19.50
Hogs, fa.w.	20.00	20.00
Hogs, f.o.b.	18.00	19.25
Calves	14.50	16.00

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Paran'ps	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country, take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'	25	25
Deacon and bob calf	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16
Frozen hides	15	16

Eggs and Poultry Firm in Price

Attawa, March 31—Montreal firm, current receipts jobbing forty-five, some sales reported forty-six. Trade paying forty, forty-one f.o.b. country. Toronto very firm, current receipts jobbing forty-four, fourty-five. Country shippers report very keen demand at advancing prices forty-two f.o.b. freely bid. Shippers paying country stores forty. Circles receiving forty forty-five. Chicago higher current firsts forty, forty, half, storage packed forty-two, forty-two half, New York steady first forty-one forty-three.

The frankness with which a 17-year-old girl refers to herself as an old maid is certainly amusing.

"All things must have an end," says the proverb maker. Yes, and all things that have one end must have two.

ITALY'S CLAIMS RE DALMATIA

PROPAGANDISTS ATTEMPT TO CREATE SPIRIT OF ANTAGONISM AGAINST ITALY.

Anti-Italy propagandists have been attempting for some time to create a spirit of antagonism for Italy among the other nations and especially among the Entente powers. These propagandists have been praising the Jugo-Slavs, they have been trying to raise the cry of "imperialism," they have been attempting to throw the blame for some of Austria's avarice upon the Italians, and they have been doing other propaganda work which was aimed at destroying faith in Italy.

Americans have been noted for fair play. And this one characteristic and trait is now being appealed to by those who would oppose Italy in the peace settlements. Jugo-Slavia sets up claims as a kind of counter claim for those made by Italy. She asks virtually for complete control of the eastern shore of the Adriatic. But, as if to gain something because of America's fair play trait, she shyly inserts a provision that she is willing to compromise and divide with Italy.

Italy fought well in the war. Except in two short campaigns, during which she was all but exhausted she utilized her military forces with success. While the Jugo-Slavs were fighting to continue the Hapsburg dynasty in power the Italians were fighting to defeat the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburs. Italy now asks for harbors that are fitted by nature to serve as commercial harbors or as places to be defended by military works. Her own shores are not only without suitable harbors but they are sanded and flat shores entirely unsuited for commerce or for harbouring defense or effense fleets. Without harbors on the Austrian coast Italy would be left in about the same position as she was in before the war—at the commercial and military mercy of whatever power remains in possession of these harbors.

It seems to be a fault of modern people that they rely too much upon similarities. To the casual reader who skims over the papers and who really does not read, there is no distinction between the Czecho-Slovaks and the Jugo-Slavs. But in reality there is all the difference in the world. The Cecho-Slovaks are known to us and they are known because they were our allies during the war. They revolted from Austria long before the war ended. The Jugo-Slavs fought for the Hapsburgs and their latest wrong doing is the attempt to stir up hatred against Italy.

Italy deserves recognition at the Peace Conference. She has made no extravagant claims. She wants no imperialism. She has acted with as little selfishness as any nation with the exception of the United States Her claims should be granted, virtually as presented.—Pearia Journal.

SINN FEINERS ESCAPE PRISON

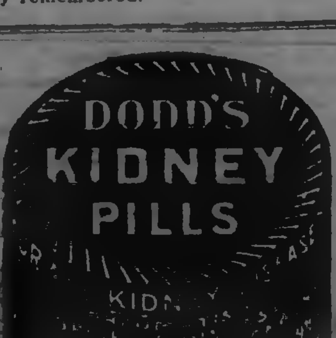
SCALED JAIL WALL WITH ROPE MYSTERIOUSLY FURNISHED THEM.

Dublin, March 30.—Twenty Sinn Fein prisoners, including J. J. Walsh, member of the British House of Commons, escaped today from Mount Joy prison. The men used a rope to clamber over the walls.

The prisoners were exercising at about 3 o'clock this afternoon, when some of them turned on the wardens and held them down while the others were arranging a rope ladder over the thirty-foot wall.

The first thing the outside public noticed was the men sliding down a rope from the jail wall to the canal bank. People quickly collected and helped the fugitives by holding the rope down which they were sliding As the military guard came to the aid of the wardens the escaped prisoners dashed in various directions.

Small favors are always thankfully received, but often unthankfully remembered.



WEEPING ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

Wasaga, Ont.

"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times.

For four months, I suffered terribly I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and 'Sootha Salva' The first treatment gave me relief.

Altogether, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tives', and am entirely well"

G. W. HALL.

Both these sterling remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"Fruit-a-tives" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

AWARDED BELGIAN CROIX-DE-GUERRE

MRS. J. H. O'SHEA NOTIFIED THAT HER SON HAS BEEN DECORATED.

Mrs. J. H. O'Shea of Peterborough is the proud possessor of the Belgian Croix de Guerre, which rare decoration was recently bestowed upon her son, James V. O'Shea, for conspicuous bravery at the front.

In a letter from the Militia Department congratulating her, she is informed that details will follow in due time regarding the event which resulted in the much coveted honor.

Mrs. O'Shea has every reason to be proud of the war record of her family, another of her sons, Private Everett O'Shea, having a few weeks ago returned from Engalnd, where he had been invalided when after two years of service in the trenches he was wounded by a bursting shell.

Her son-in-law, Major Sterndale Murphy (reverted to captain), who also answered his country's call, was awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous bravery, and just two weeks before the war lost his life while assisting one of his wounded men to safety after a successful raid on the enemy.

JOBS OPEN TO RETURNED MEN

LOCAL BRANCH SOLDIERS' AID COMMISSION GETS WEEKLY INFORMATION.

The local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission receives, beginning of each week, lists of places open in parts of the Province. It would seem that such are particularly available for single men, qualified to take up such work. Any assistance required will be very gladly supplied at the office of the local branch, City Building.

At Sarnia—Mr. Allingham, London Road, farm help, $45 to $50 per month and board, for a good man.

At Brockville—John Tait, 31 King street, First class baker.

At Ottawa—Upper Ottawa Improvement Commission, 194 Middle street, Ottawa. Two clerks for lumber camps, minimum wage $60 and board). J. R. Booth, Ottawa, 2 clerks for lumber camp. Can. Nat. Railways, Rideau Junction, (7 miles from Ottawa, 4 carpenters, 48 cents per hour.

At Kingston—T. W. Milo, 255 Princess street, 2 house painters, (skilled men.); F. A. German, Marysville, R. M. D. No. 1, farm hand, single man, $20.00 per month.

At Dundas— Jones Bros, Head street, Dundas, 3 cabinet makers, usual rates of pay.

At Paris—J. P. McCannon, upholsterer and embalmer, $21.00 per week. Fred Evans, 2 painters and paper hangers at 35c per hour up. G. W. V. Ass'n, S. Knill, Sec'y Conductor for G.W.V. Ass'n band. W. Finlayson, upholsterer or improver, $18.00 to $21.00 per week.

REWARD FOR SOLDIER.

Guelph, April 1.—A. E. Baldwin, who returned home from France a few days ago, has been appointed by City Manager Moore to the position of city purchasing agent and storekeeper at a salary of $100 a month. He commenced his new duties Monday. The action of Mr. Moore in making the appointment was confirmed by the city council.

Man is good; his enemies are bad; and the reest of the world is indifferent.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

There appears to be a generally improved feeling among the trade, business generally showing a considerable improvement. There are some lines that have been brought startlingly to the fore during the week. Notably in this the case in butter, where there have been advances of upwards of 5 cents a pound, with no indication of any tendency toward recession. American buyers are on the Canadian market replenishing their stocks and this substantial buying movement in the face of general sticks already none too ample has forced the market upward rapidly. Beef and lards and shortening are also showing advances as a result of strong export buying.

Montreal

Many advances are made this week in the markets here. Coffee, which has shown firming tendencies has gone up one cent per pound all around. Custard powder is advanced ten cents a dozen. Laundry blues are up, and new pack lobster is being booked at much stiffer prices than those obtaining last year. Nuts are steadily firm and even peanuts are firmer at producing points. Dried fruits are firm, and some expect advances to be made for prunes, while raisins are scarce and high. Evaporated apples and peaches and pears are also firm. Coffee essence is higher in each of three sides. Hay has advanced one dollar per ton and oats are up in some grades five cents over last week's figures. In the vegetable list carrots parsnips an onions are higher.

Among the declines registered is one for soap powder and several for spices of various kinds. Rosin is down one cent. Corn syrup is very firm, due to the high price obtaining for corn, and advances may come. Rolled oats are selling at an unchanged price, but with the market for oats strong some expect an advance to be made.

Toronto

There is a markedly stronger feeling this week in both tea and coffee. Well-posted authorities state that present prices of tea do not represent the present market value within three cents a pound, and there is a reasonable likelihood that advances will be the order of the day before long.

The coffee situation that has been unsettled for some time has finally become active, the advances that had been anticipated for some time past become definitely effective this week, showing a general advance of about 3 cents a pound on all grades. This is due to the fact that stocks have been practically exhausted, and that handlers are now working on new importations. Cereals show a somewhat stronger feeling, also cornmeal and hominy registering advances. Rolled oats remain at the same figures, though there are indications that advances are coming, as present prices do not reflect the grain market. There are some new arrivals in fruit and vegetables, Florida tomatoes and celery are arrivng now in good quantities and in fine quality In fruits, bananas, oranges and grapefruit show an upward tendency. Cocoanuts have appeared on the market.

Winnipeg

There is an uncertain feeling in noted for coffee on this market, and there is the possibility of advancing prices in the near future. Tea, too, is showing a much firmer feeling than has been the case for some time to come, as wholesalers realise that stocks available are becoming light owing to light imports. Dried fruits are selling well, and at figures that do not represent market conditions the stocks offering being those of fall contracts that could hardly be replaced at present selling figures.

Ther is an uncertain feeling in canned goods. Some dealers are anxious to unload stocks, while others are confident that higher prices will be the order of the day later in the season. There is only a very light demand for beans, but rice shows a considerable improved feeling.

Mill feeds have advanced $2 per ton.

Big German Guns For Farm Tools

Coblenz, April 1.—Eighty big calibre German guns, refused by the U. S. receiving commission because they did not meet certain modern standards, have been sold to a Coblenz foundry and are soon to be made into farm implements and other peacetime machinery.

Some politicians, like corkscrews, are more or less crooked, but they have a strong pull.

Poetry of motion is synonymous with the motion of poetry when the editor tosses it into the waste basket.

AUTOSTROP RAZOR

The self-stropping feature of the AutoStrop Razor provides you with a keen-edged blade for each shave.

Razor — Strop — 12 blades $5

AutoStrop SAFETY RAZOR

DETROIT BANK LOSES $60,000

BANDITS SECURE RICH HAUL AND MAKE SAFE GET-AWAY.

Detroit, March 30.—A branch of the Commonwealth Federal Bank here has been robbed of more than $60,000 by six young automobile bandits.

Enterning the bank in single file four of the bandits approached the cashier's cage and ordered C. H. Mooney, manager of the institution and Paul Mailing, his assistant, to throw up their hands. The other two highwaymen advanced upon the customers being served in the bank, and covering them with revolvers herded them into the bank vault, then followed a systematic search of the premises.

Meantime several patrons entered and were calmly taken charge of by the robbers. They were shoved into a small lavatory until that place too was crowded to capacity. Eight persons who entered after the lavatory had been filled were made to stand in a corner of the room with hands raised and their faces to the wall.

After gathering all the available currency and securities they stepped into a waiting touring car and sped away going west. No trace of them had been found.

Prem. Lloyd George Great Statesman

Bridgeburg, April 1.—Ven Archdeacon Perry of Hamilton delivered a very interesting and incisive lecture here in St. Paul's parish hall on "Lloyd George." He told of the work of Lloyd George in the great war; of how he had stepped into Kitchener's place and finished the organization of one of the greatest conscript armies in the history of the world; of how he had organized the flood of munitions to the firing line, settled strikes, etc.

He described Lloyd George as the greatest statesman in the world, and the most strenuous. He compared him in greatness with President Wilson, and with Premier Clemenceau of France. The lecture was heard with great interest.

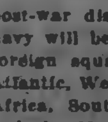
WOMEN IN PRESS GALLERY.

There is to be a discussion very soon in the Saskatchewan Legislature regarding the admission of women to the press gallery as reporters. Western newspaper women, it appears, have been asking why, if the Legislature is open to women, its press gallery should be closed to the sex.

EIGHT FLEETS FOR BRITAIN.

London, Eng., April 1.—Reuters is authoritatively informed that the post-war distribution of the British navy will be a home fleet and seven foreign squadrons, stationed in the Atlantic, West Atlantic, China, South Africa, South America, East Indies and the Mediterranean.

Cook's Cotton Root C



A safe, reliable medicine. [illegible]

LUMBE

Builders' Materials of all kinds. Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, Base all kinds of Finish, Boxes and Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.

300 Cups of delicious Tea can be infused from a one pound packet—and Always of one Uniform Standard of Quality.

"SALADA"

"The Tea that Never Disappoints" B 881

The foregoing is not simply an advertisement but plain statements, of "Fact"

WANT PORT HOPE ROAD INCLUDED IN GOVT. SYSTEM

DEPUTATIONS REQUEST IN THIS CONNECTION ACCEDED TO BY THE COUNCIL.

At last night's meeting of the City Council a communication from the Cobalt Miners' Union was read asking the Council to put itself on record as favoring the eight hour day and a half holiday on Saturday.

Alderman Hamilton felt that the City Council was not the body to consider questions of that kind and submitted a motion providing for no action in connection with the request. Alderman Edgar was the seconder.

Alderman Gainey moved in amendment that the Council endorse the request of the Miners' Union. Alderman Morrison seconded the amendment and Alderman McIntyre supported it, but it was defeated, Aldermen Hamilton, Edgar, Taylor and Phelan voting against it.

For Better Roads.

A deputation from the Automobile Association waited upon the Council in regard to having the Port Hope road taken over by the Legislature as a Provincial Highway.

Messrs W. H. Bradburn, H. O. Fisk and W. R. Breyfogle spoke in favor of such action. They drew attention to Peterborough's isolation as regarded the good roads movement and felt that some advantage should be taken of the proferred assistance of the Government in the building of roads, especially when it was considered that the automobile license revenue was expended for this purpose.

They had a resolution drafted which they requested the Council to adopt asking the Provincial Government to take over the road leading from Port Hope to Peterborough as a Provincial highway. They contended that the cost to the city for construction and maintenance would be light when the advantages were considered and signified their intention of interviewing the Councils of North Monaghan and other townships concerned, in regard to the matter.

Resolution Adopted.

Aldermen Hamilton and Edgar acted as mover and seconder of the resolution, which carried unanimously.

Alderman Phelan stated that he had arranged a meeting between a committee of the County Council and City Council to be held at 1.30 on Saturday to discuss the good roads question and invited the deputation to be present upon that occasion.

A letter was read before the Council last night from Leo Fontaine requesting permission to install a gasolene tank in his garage on Hunter street, from which an overhead pipe would lead to automobiles upon the street. When not in use this pipe would be shoved back against the side of the building out of the way and while in operation it would be 7½ feet above the pavement. The request was referred to the Board of Works.

A by-law was carried last night granting the Levoie Knitting Company certain priveleges in connection with the lease of the town hall in Ashburnham for a number of years.

F. J. A. Hall, the city auditor, presented his report, which stated that he had examined the books of all the civic departments and had found them in satisfactory condition.

CONGESTION IN TELEPHONING

CONFUSED SITUATION OVER DAYLIGHT SAVING AFFECTS LONG DISTANCE TALKS.

In the matter of long distance telephone service, the confused situation re daylight savings offers opportunity for no end of trouble and inconvenience.

In making appointments for long distance conversations, unless the parties are clear as to what time—standard or daylight savings—prevails in both towns, confusion is inevitable.

The peak load of long distance telephone traffic occurs between the hours of 9 to 12 in the morning and 2 and 5 in the afternoon, the great majority of business calls being during these periods. Suppose Brown in a standard time community calls Jones in a daylight savings city at, say 11 o'clock. He finds Jones has gone to lunch. On returning to his office Jones learns of the call and at once tries to get Brown, but finds that it is now his lunch hour, and that he must wait for him. Before they can have their talk, two full hours have elapsed. In other words the long-distance-telephone day, already short, is reduced two full hours and congestion is probable.

The Federal authorities, having decided against the adoption of daylight savings, night rates for long distance service must be based on standard time.

ELEVEN MINE VICTIMS

Trinidad, Col., April 1.—An explosion yesterday in the Empire mine of the Empire Coal Company, near Aguilar, caused the death of eleven men and rescue crews tonight are searching for two additional bodies believed buried. Six bodies have been brought to the surface and the bodies of five other dead have been located.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy, the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CUSTOMS RETURNS

This Year's Figures Show Tremendous Increase Over Those of Last Year

Customs returns for the past year month and for the preceding year are of interest on account of the indication they give of the extent of trade carried on in a community. Here are the figures for Peterborough:

The past twelve months	$1,438,423.07
The month of March	50,596.38
The year preceeding ...,	815,132.43

The tremendous increase shown this year over the twelve months preceeding is explained by the activity of the Quaker Oats.

The police seized $20,000 worth of liquor on Palmerston avenue, Toronto and arrested five men.

Railway Rates Less Than Ocean

A correspondent of the Glasgow Herald throws interesting light upon the awkward position in which owners of coasting steamers have been placed by the policy of the British Government with regard to the railways. As a result of the policy, the coasting companies find themselves competing in the carriage of goods with railway companies, whose dividends are guaranteed by the state. They have had to work under continually increasing expenditure, and have not been able to increase their freight accordingly, while the railway companies were not required to trouble themselves about rates at all.

As an illustration of the condition of affairs now existing, it is pointed out that in pre-war days large quantities of tea and drapery goods were carried by sea between London and Scottish ports at rates of £1.10s. and £2 per ton, respectively, including collection in London and delivery in Glasgow; as compared with rates of £2.5s and £.15s per ton respectively, by rail. This gave the coasting companies a very marked advantage. But since the war began the sea freights have had to be advanced to £5.5s and £4. 5s. respectively, while the railway rates remain unchanged, with the result that none of this particular traffic now goes by sea.

This means that the railways are subsidised at the expense of the general taxpayer to such an extent that they are able to carry goods at much less than paying rates, while the steamship companies which have to live as best they can by the carriage of goods are deprived of their best classes of cargo, and driven into a position in which they cannot make end meet.—Telegram.

KNITTING COM. REPORT

The Knitting Committee of the 57th Chapter I.O.D.E. reports for the past month as follows:

Since last meeting on February 27, 1919, twenty one pairs of socks received and one spindle of wool given out. All of which is respectfully submitted. M. Cottrell, Con. Knitting Committee.

Alexander Duthi, about forty-five years of age, an Austrian-Ukranian was shot dead in the foreign quarter of Guelph on Sunday night.

GRAND TWICE DAILY 2.30 & 7.30

TO-DAY — AND — WEDNESDAY

-Vaudeville-

3 Big Acts AND 10 Great Reels

JULIA ARTHUR IN THE CAVELL CASE

BACKE JEWITT AND BACKE

COMEDY—SINGING AND EDUCATED PONY

3 Musical Shirleys 3 | THE ORIENTAL SURPRISE NADONY

SCREEN MAGAZINE | CHAPLIN COMEDY

10c DAILY AT 2.30 AND 15c | 15c EVENINGS AT 7.30 AND 25c

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY EVENINGS

THE ANNUAL

"Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS"

100 PEOPLES—CLOWNS GALORE

SEATS ON SALE AT BOX OFFICE NOW

SATURDAY

Matinee and Evening

The Musical Event of the Season

Prices Mat. 25c-$1.00

" Eve. 25c-$2.00

FLO-FLO

LINDSAY MAN IS DECORATED

Lindsay, April 1.—Lieutenant L. A. B. Manning, recently returned from England, has been notified by cable that he has been awarded the military cross.

Lieutenant Manning is an ex-L. C. I. student and until recently his family lived at Hartley. He enlisted about three years ago and saw much active service in France with the 9th Artillery Brigade. He was wounded in August, 1918, by a machine gun bullet fired from an aeroplane.

His brother, Lieutenant Garnet Manning, was at the front for several months with the Royal Flying Corps and is now in England convalescing after an operation for appendicitis.

SMALLPOX IN ITALY.

Berne, April 1.—News of a serious smallpox epidemic which for several weeks ravaged the province of Apulia, Italy, has been received here by Italian newspapers, having been suppressed up to this time by the censor. Thousands of the poorer classes in the province died, and 1,500 in the city of Bari alone.

GERMANS TO LEAVE.

Berlin, April 1.—The diplomatic agent of the German government at Budapest has advised Germans to leave Hungary.

WE MUST HAVE

$2,000.00 IN FOUR DAYS!

We have to get it out of our stock and have decided to make such startling Price Reductions that the rush to get the goods will more than give us the cash we need. This is a Bargain List that couldn't happen again, because we could not sacrifice both profit and cost like this more than once. As usual, the public get the benefit. Only come quick while the Bargains last.

Sale Runs Wednesday to Saturday

LADIES' Ready-to-Wear

LADIES' SPRING SUITS—Made in the newest models, in all wool serge; all the leading shades, and in a great variety of styles from which to choose. You can surely find both quality, style and price ... From ... $15.00 to	$28.00
LADIES' AND MISSES' SPRING COATS—A beautiful selection of new spring styles in all shades and the best of materials. Your choice from $6.00 to	$20.00
LADIES' SILK POPLIN DRESSES — In the latest make and all the new shades. Popular value from $15 to $25 .. Special from ... $10.00 to	$20.00
LADIES' SILK POPLIN SKIRTS—In all the latest styles and shades ...... Special from .... $4.98 to	$5.98
LADIES' AND MISSES' SILK CREPE DE CHINE WAISTS—In all the wanted colors and styles. Special .... Only	$3.49
LADIES' SILK WAISTS—In all styles and shades. Special from .... $1.49 to	$2.98
LADIES' FINE WHITE VOILE WAISTS—A clearing lot, while they last for Only	$1.39
FINE SATIN UNDERSKIRTS—Beautiful assorted colors. Regular $2.50 .. Special	$1.50
LADIES' PLAIN CASHMERETTE HOSE — Good heavy weight, color dark brown. Special for only	39c
LADIES' BLACK COTTON HOSE— Extra special for	20c

Dry Goods

COMFORTERS—Made from very choice designs, in good quality American art silkoline in dark or medium coloring. You will like this on your bed. Large size. Extra special	$2.79
MILL ENDS OF FACTORY COTTON—This is a most excellent chance to get Factory Cotton at very much less than regular prices. We get it direct from the mill in large quantities. The ends are all lengths from 3 to 10 yards; from 36 to 40 inches wide. Special, yard	16½c
BLEACHED COTTON—A very fine quality, 36 inches wide. Regular value 25c yard. Special, yard	17½c
FLANNELETTE BLANKETS — Large size; heavy weight. Regular value $3.50. Special, per pair	$2.75
HEAVY LINEN ROLLER TOWELLING —A good absorbent quality, 18 ins. wide. Special, yard	25c
FLOWERED CURTAIN MUSLIN—Extremely pretty patterns; 36 inches wide .... Special, yard	25c
CURTAIN SCRIM—With neat hemstitched border on each side; splendid quality that can be made into very dainty and serviceable curtains. Special, yard	18c
DUTCH NETS—Three-piece Lace Curtains; the edges are finished with neat scalloped pattern; altogether an extremely good value. Special, yard ...	$1.25

Millinery

Your attention is especially called to the Millinery Department with its restive note of color. You will find Hats of all the newest spring shapes in ready-to-wear and dress Hats for both old and young, at the price you can afford to pay.

Straw Shapes of the best quality and the latest shades. Regular $3.50 and $4. Clearing at	$1.49

We have made a special reduction on all ladies' and misses' hand-made, trimmed and ready-to-wear Hats, and for our Four Days' Sale will sell them away below their regular value.

Children's Hats, smartly trimmed in all the latest shades and styles. Regular price $2.50. Special for only	$1.75
Children's Hand-made Hats, in combinations of silks, straws, satins and crepes. These Hats are regularly sold at $4.00 and $4.50 ..... On special sale for	$2.50

We have a large assortment of all that is new in Mounts, Flowers, Ribbons, etc., to sell at reduced prices.

LADIES' SWEATER COATS — A beautiful assortment, in all colors, with shawl collars and belts, all wool; some crushed wool and just the weight you want. They go on sale, your choice for only	$3.49

Boys' Wear

BOYS' BUSTER BROWN SUITS—In tweeds and serges, in assorted colors; coat has two bust pockets with button flaps, all round belt and cord tie; knee length pants and lined throughout; ages 3 to 8 ..... Special from .... $2.98 to	$5.25
BOYS' SUITS—In tweeds and serges, in assorted colors, in the very newest make. Special from .. $4.98 to	$9.98

Girls' Wear

CHILDREN'S PRINT, GINGHAM & CHAMBRAY DRESSES—Latest make, ages 3 to 14. Special from .... 75c to	$1.50

Dry Goods

GINGHAM PRINTS—In nice patterns, in a variety of checks and stripes. Will prove exceptionally serviceable for women's and children's wear; 30c special ...... Yard	23c
FLOUNCING—Made of a fine cotton trimmed with beautiful lace and embroidery suitable for ladies' and childrens' underwear. Special, yard .... 30c to	35c
SWISS EMBROIDERY — Beautiful goods in mill ends; splendid selection .... Special, per yard, from ...... 5c to	25c

Gents' Furnishings

MEN'S BLACK CASHMERETTE SOCKS — Full, seamless socks, triple heels and toes. Regular 50c, for, pair	35c
MEN'S BLACK COTTON SOCKS— Special, pair	25c
A Clearing lot of MEN'S WORKING SHIRTS—Extra special	59c
MEN'S FINE SHIRTS—Travellers' samples; regular value from $2 to $2.50. To clear from .... $1.00 to	$1.50
Fine Quality of MEN'S NATURAL WOOL SPRING UNDERWEAR—Regular $1.50. Special	98c
MEN'S MERINO UNDERWEAR — Medium weight, suitable for spring. Regular $1.00. Special	75c
MEN'S COMBINATIONS—Pen Angle and Merino; regular from $2.50 to $3. Special from .... $1.75 to	$1.98
MEN'S PANTS — Very serviceable. Made from union panting fabric. Dark shades, with neat stripe patterns; well sewn. Special	$1.79
MEN'S BLUE STRIPED OVERALLS—Extra special	$1.25

293 George St. N. SUKLOFF 1 Door South Grand Hotel

695th Bargain Annex Event

Bargain Annex
Registered

Wednesday, April 2nd, 1919

MEN! When you take off the khaki, let Cressman's fit you out in civilian clothes. We give a discount of 10% to all returned soldiers.

RE-DECORATING DAYS ARE HERE.
On our Third and Fourth Floors you'll find new and complete stocks of Furniture, Rugs, Drapes and Wall Papers.

REAL ECONOMY BUYING ANNEX LINES

"Lenox" Laundry Soaps, regularly 5c a bar ... 7 Bars 25c
25c Bottles of O'Cedar Oil ... 21c
"Lux," that excellent Washing Compound regularly 15c ... 2 for 25c
"Panshine" Cleaner, large size cans ... 2 for 17c
Duplex Folding Curtain Stretchers, set 98c
75c Dresser Scarfs and Runners ... 49c
$1.39 White Bath Towels, extra large Pair ... 98c
Ladies' Black Cotton Hose, no seams ... 2 Pairs 45c
Linen Finish Envelopes, 25 in a package ... 6 Pkgs. 25c
Corn Starch and Laundry Starch, pound packages ... 2 for 25c

LEADER.
600 YARDS SPECIAL 35c ENGLISH COTTON, 22½c YARD
We want every Anex customer to see this Cotton. A perfectly pure, made-in-England, full bleached steamloom. Has an especially soft mercerized finish and is particularly adapted for the making of sheets, pillow cases, etc. This cotton was imported nearly three years ago. Our usual selling price is 35c. Truly exceptional value at this Annex Leader price, yard ... 22½c

LEADER.
500 YARDS GREY STRIPED FLANNELETTES, 19c YARD
Considerably less than the actual mill cost for this twelve-piece lot of Grey Striped Flannelettes. Splendid heavy quality, 30 inches wide, in color of medium grey only, with a selection of stripe patterns. If bought at today's market price we could not possibly sell at less than 30c a yard. A splendid material for men's work shirts, ladies' underskirts, quilt linings, etc. Wednesday Annex Leader, yard ... 19c

LEADER.
LADIES' AND MISSES' $1.19 MIDDIES 79c
All white Middies with pink and white and blue and white striped collars. At this Annex price you are really only paying for the price of the material. Ladies' sizes in 38 and 40 and misses' sizes in 34 and 36. They wash perfectly. A remarkable value bargain at the Wednesday Annex Leader price ... 79c

LADIES' DOLLAR VALUE OVER-ALL APRONS 79c—An exceptional Annex value in these good quality Print Over-all Aprons for ladies. Made kimona style, with neck, sleeves, pocket and belt piped with white bias binding. Light and medium color. In the Annex ... 79c

LEADER.
85c, 79c, and 75c DRESS GOODS, 56c YARD
In the lot you will find plain cashmeres, fancy checks, stripe lustres, tertan plaids, etc. Our regular prices in the main floor stock are 85c, 79c and 75c. Every piece will give exceptionally good wearing satisfaction. A real bargain in the Annex on Wednesday. Leader price Yard ... 56c

DOLLAR VALUE COMFORTER SIZE COTTON BATTS, 69c—"Eagle" brand bleached cotton batting, large comforter size rolls that weigh about two pounds. Our special dollar value in the every day stock. You can buy them in the Annex on Wednesday at the bargain price ... 69c

LEADER.
35c "IMPERIAL" NAINSOOK, 24½c YARD
A ten-piec lot of "Imperial" superfine Nainsook. It is full 36 inches wide and of soft needle finish. Especialy suitable for the making of ladies' and children's undergarments. Our every day stock price is 35c a yard, so supply your nainsook wants on Wednesday at the Leader price ... Yard ... 24½c

25c To 35c CURTAIN SCRIMS, 19c Yard—Curtain Scrims of fine English weaves, with self or fancy colored borders. In colors white, ecru and cream. Our regular 25c to 35c values. Buy your Curtain needs in the Annex Wednesday at the saving price, yard ... 19c

36-INCH PLAIN WHITE DRESS VOILE, 26c Yard—300 yards fine quality White Dress Voile, 38 inches wide. A jobbers' clearing lot that would cost us at the regular price more to-day than the Anex selling price on Wednesday. Annex Bargain, yard ... 26c

THREE SIZES ONLY, MEN'S $1.50 and $1.75 SHIRTS, 89c. Sizes 14, 14½ and 16½. Choice of laundered or soft cuffs. Splendid selection of colorings and patterns in these $1.50 and $ value Shirts. Wednesday Annex Bargain for men, each ... 89c

35c WHITE INDIAN HEAD SUITING, Yd. 22½c—Five pieces of this double fold Indian Head Suiting material. It measures 35-36 inches wide and has a fine mercerized suiting finish. The regular price is 35c a yard, but you can buy it in the Annex at, yard ... 22½c

MEN'S COAT SWEATERS, Formerly $4.00 and $4.50, $2.48 — A collection of factory clearing lines of the heavy "Jumbo" knit quality. A choice of eight two-color combinations. Good size assortment. Every garment an excellent bargain at the Wednesday Annex price ... $2.48

LEADER.
BOYS' AND GIRLS' $1.75 TO $2.00 COAT SWEATERS, $1.19
Ideal garments for school or playtime. Ribbed wool Sweaters with military collars that button up high, and side pockets. A selection of eight attractive two-color combinations. They will give splendid wearing satisfaction, and are excellent value at the Wednesday Annex Leader price ... $1.19

LEADER.
GIRLS' 89c AND 98c PRINT AND GINGHAM DRESSES, 69c
All sizes from 2 to 12 years in this lot of pretty Wash Dresses for girls. Early buyers will have a selection of plain colored chambrays, plaid ginghams and fancy striped prints. They will wash perfectly. The regular stock prices are 89c and 98c. Buy them on Wednesday at the Annex Leader price ... 69c

SECOND ANNEX LEADER.
ART CRETONNES, SILKOLINES AND DRAPERIES
25c YARD
Our regular 35c, 40c and 50c values. Several pieces are exactly half price. There's a splendid array of good looking and serviceable hangings in this lot, but early selection is advisable. This timely sale will help you to solve some of your house-cleaning difficulties ... Wednesday Annex Leader, yard ... 25c

ANNEX OPENS AT 8:30 A.M.

The CRESSMAN Company Limited

ANNEX CLOSES AT 5:30 P.M.

AMERICAN SEAPLANES MADE 39 ATTACKS IN WAR

Naval Aviators Accounted For at Least Ten German Submarines

Thirty-nine attacks upon submarines were made by the American naval air force in the war and ten of them were considered in some manner successfully, says a summary of American naval aviation prepared at headquarters here.

When the United States entered the war the navy boasted of only 30 officers who knew anything about flying. When the armistice was signed the force was composed of 1,5[illegible] officers and 15,000 men, according to the report.

Trials and discouragements of the United States naval air force in the war are enumerated at some length along with "occasional" triumphs. Various causes are assigned for lack of effectiveness, but many of the troubles are said to have been overcome and the service ready to execute what had been expected of it when the armistice intervened. The summary of actual operations is interspersed with accounts of machines, stories of the receipt of machines from the United States without propellers without magnetos, defective parts and lastly of the failure of Italian machines for night bombing, for which they were intended. The United States had turned to Italy for planes when machines were not delivered from America quickly enough.

One of the biggest plans of the service was the "northern bombing project," calling for the co-operation of Americans with the British in almost continuous bombing of submarine bases on the Belgian coast. A great many hindrances arose, some of them shown in the summary being lack of machines, lack of material, lack of properly trained personnel, both pilots and enlisted men; necessity of complicated negotiations with the Royal Air Force in the matter of supplies of all sorts and necessity of ferrying Italian machines from Milan Italy, to the north of France. Neither the night nor the day wings were operating efficiently at the time of the armistice, in the opinion of those who complied the summary.

It was planned to have 12 squadrons—six day and six night. This however, was reduced to eight when it was found that the United States Army could not deliver the planes required. American machines with Liberty motors were to be used for the day work and on contract was made with the Italian government to deliver 300 60-horsepower airplanes for the night work. The Italian machines, it is stated, proved wholly unfit for night bombing work.

What is considered by the American navy the most successful aviation operation resulted from the Killingholme project. This was an agreement by which England was to furnish 50 seaplanes and 50 lighters and the United States was to provide 40 seaplanes and 30 lighters by March 1 1918, for offensive work in Heligoland Bight. The British were successfully doing similar work from their station at Felixstowe. Approximately 1,000 Americans were sent to Killingholme to train and assist the British while awaiting the arrival of the American planes. By July 1, six American planes were assembled and the British turned over the station to the Americans. It was necessary to leave British planes, however, "oming to the faults of the first American machines." It is reported that the American propellers were faulty, radiators leaked and that it was July 30 before the first wholly American patrol was undertaken.

Even under these handicaps, however, the American pilots kept after the submarines and the Killingholme station had several attacks accredited to it. No case is recorded of where it was known a submarine was sunk but even with its very efficient seaplane patrol the Royal Air Force was given credit for sinking only one submarine during the four years and a marine during the four years and a half of war. A verdict of "probably seriously damaged" was accredited to American pilots of Killingholme by the British admiralty.

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

YOU MUST SEE IT
TO RECOGNIZE IT

You will never meet with success unless your eyesight allows you to recognise it when it approaches. That means that it will not pay to allow any eye troubles to develop without letting Dr. Fowler look after them for you. Better not waste time, but act at once when you notice anything wrong with the eyes.

CONSULT HIM FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

ONTARIO LEGISLATORS DECIDE TO ABOLISH ALL SWEAT SHOPS

Summary of Past Week's Proceedings in Ontario House of Parliament.

Toronto, March 31,—The proceedings in the Legislature last week were of a character sufficiently varied to provide entertainment and edification for almost any person who follows the daily happenings in the House. Perhaps the most constructive measure of interest to rural communities was the Bill introduced by the Minister of Agriculture providing for government aid for community halls. This measure establishes a new departure in government policies and empowers the government to make of 25 per cent of the cost of constructing a community hall up to a maximum of $2,000.

This grant will be made entirely upon the value of the building and the precaution is taken that the site is suitably located and the style of building is suitable for the purpose. This is a serious effort on the part of the government to extend its policy of social betterment into every rural community and is designed to co-ordinate with the various activities of the Department of Agriculture, the Provincial Board of Health and the Provincial Moving Picture Bureau to provide entertainment of an attractive and enduring character throughout the country districts.

Supplementary Estimates

A large amount of business was dispatched in a short time after the house got into Committee of Supply on the conclusion of the Budget Debate. The supplementary estimates for 1919 were under consideration In the absence of Honorable Dr. Cody through illness the estimates of the Department of Education were handled by Honorable G. Howard Ferguson. The first item of interest was a vote of $10,000.00 for medical and dental inspection in public and separate schools. It was explained that this sum was being used chiefly in propaganda through the Women's Institutes. There was also an item of $214,400.00 for technical and industrial education. It is intended to appoint an Assistant Director of Technical Education with several assistants to visit the various centres of the Province and advise on the need of facilities for technical training.

In connection with agricultural education an amount of $7,000, was voted to assist in the improvement of poultry, the idea being to maintain a system of education and inspection to eliminate the drones in the flock.

Consolidation of Schools

Following the announcement that legislation would be secured to permit the consolidation of schools in total districts a grant of $160,000 was made to assist in this work. Mr. Ferguson explained that one of the chief problems in the way of consolidated schools was that of transportation and part of this amount would be used for the conveyance of pupils. The policy of the government is to conserve local economy in consolidated schools and sections although all proposed consolidations are to be subject to the approval of the Minister of Education. It is provided in the legislation that two country schools may unite and it also permits of a school section being divided where it is considered advisable that only one part may enter a consolidated school section. In all cases the consent of the ratepayers must be given before a division can be made.

Argyll House Question

Col. A. C. Pratt, member for Norfolk South made a startling speech on Thursday last when he reviewed some of his experiences overseas. He charged that the overseas administration at Argyll House, London was incompetent and permeated with favoritism. While vindicating General Turner and two or three of the senior officers of contributing to this policy he said that he could not say the same for many of the subordinates. Referring to the recent riots at Kinmel Camp he declared that these riots were the result of entire indifference on the part of the overseas administration to the comfort of the men. After the armistice was signed the Admiralty offered sufficient tonnage to transport 60,000 a month to Canada and it was exasperating to the men at Rhyl to learn that while they were detained in England through a supposed lack of vessel accommodation thousands who had come over within the last few months were speeded homeward to Canada. There was also complaint that the men were not promptly paid, badly housed and poorly fed. It was a striking commentary on the cause of the riots that within twenty-four hours all the men had been paid and that within a short time twenty thousand troops were on their way to Canada. Col Pratt named several officers at Argyll House who had made themselves particularly offensive to the civilian soldiers from this country and declared there was scarcely a senior officer in Canada who had been returned under the surplus officer ruling who had not experienced heart burnings. He instanced another complaint that Canadian soldiers were kept in detention for weeks at a time without being brought to trial and told of an occasion where three thousand pounds had been exacted from Canadian officers and men while en route to board the Olympic for Canada. These matters should be made the subject of investigation and those responsible should be dealt with in a proper manner.

Do Away With Sweat Shops

Honorable F. G. Macdiarmid had brought down legislation to do away with sweat shops. Hereafter clothing manufacturers will not be permitted to give work to outside parties until their places have been approved by the Factory Inspectors. It is also proposed that summer camps where women and children are employed shall be brought under regulations so that the houses, food and sanitary conditions shall be satisfactory.

The Blue Sky Law to protect the public against fraudulent security issues has been introduced. It will prove a contentious measure for as the Attorney General said, while the principle hadmet with general acceptance it was very difficult to work out the details. For the time being it was not proposed to include mining flotations.

Change in Truancy Act

The Truancy Act is to be changed and in the place of Truant Officers appointed by police officials, school attendance officers will take their place. In the rural districts these officers will have authority to assist in the working out of the school attendance law, and exercise authority where the teachers and trustees do not observe the regulations.

Toronto Customs Total $32,972,960

BIGGEST YEAR IN HISTORY OF PORT WAS 1916-17, WHEN $33,821,149 RECEIVED.

Toronto, March 31.—Two million, nine hundred thousand dollars, have been collected by the Toronto Customs house on dutiable imports during March, 1919, as against $2,784,182 for March 1918.

The Government fiscal year ends today and the report issued by J. H. Bertram, Chief Colector, shows that from March 31st, 1918, to March 31st 1919, more than $33,034,000 has been taken in. Since the war Customs receipts have advanced in leaps and bounds, the banner year in this history of the Toronto house being the fiscal year 1916 to 1917. During that year a total of $33,821,149 was collected. This year is slightly ahead of last year, when $32,972,960 was taken in. This represents the entire revenue on dutiable imports.

"Although Customs entries are not as heavy as they were prior to the war," said Mr. Bertram, "the high prices of imports on which duty is based accounts for the advance in revenue."

BEE DISEASES

There are three brood diseases that are of importance to the beekeeper and two of them are responsible for very heavy losses every year.

Sacbrood is an infectious disease but transient in character. It may be serious enough at times to weaken a colony considerably, but seldom destroys it completely. It appears in the apiary mostly during the spring and early part of the summer, but cases may be found at any time during the season. The symptoms are irregular brood and punctured cappings; the affected larvae are usually dark grey to almost black in colour and are found lying stretched out on the lower wall of the cell with the head turned up pointing to the upper wall of the cell at the entrance. The body wall of the diseased larvae becomes toughened while the contents of the body are somewhat watery and granular, the whole can be lifted from the cell intact. There is no definite treatment for this disease, but the beekeeper who keeps his colonies at the maximum strength and uses only young vigorous queens need not fear it.

European foul-brood is a highly infectious disease and spreads very rapidly through an apiary, causing very heavy losses especially among black bees and hybrids. The larvae usually die before being capped over, while still curled in the cell. The colour of the affected larvae changes from a glistening white to a light yellowish of greyish tint, later turning darker and the larva settles to the base of the cell in a shapeless mass, finally drying to a dark detachable scale which is removed by the bees. This disease may appear at any time during the season, but is mostly prevalent during the spring and early summer. European foul-brood is essentially a "weak colony" disease and the beekeeper who uses only young vigorous Italian queens and keeps his colonies strong need not fear it.

American foul-brood does not spread through an apiary as quickly as does European foul-brood, but it is harder to combat. The larvae usually die after being capped over and the first sign the beekeeper usually has of its presence is a number of dark, sunken cappings scattered about among the healthy brood. Sometimes these cappings may be perforated. If the capping is removed, a dark chocolate-colored mass will be found lying on the lower side of the cell. If a wooden toothpick or something similar is inserted into the diseased larva and given one or two turns and then withdrawn, the mass will be found to "rope out" to one or more inches before breaking. This is the chief characteristic of this disease. The only treatment advocated for American foul-brood is to shake the bees on to starters in a clean hive and three days later to remove the starters and give full sheets of foundation. The old hives should be disinfected, the combs rendered to wax for foundation and the frames destroyed. The honey is safe for human consumption but must not be placed where bees have access to it. This treatment should be given during a honey flow, if not the bees will need daily feeding. Further details of these diseases and their treatment will be found in Bulletin No 26, Second Series, which can be obtained free by applying to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.—Experimental Farm.

REPAIRS BICYCLES ACCESSORIES
White Bros
174 HUNTER ST.
Phone 897 PETERBORO

Real Estate Bargains

HOUSE NO. 514 BOLIVAR STREET, a first class two storey brick house containing six rooms, bath room fully equipped, also a good furnace. Deep lot and situated in a very nice part of the city. Can be purchased at a very low figure. For inspection call at my office 136 Hunter street.

HOUSE NO. 232 PERRY STREET, nice comfortable brick house, modern improvements, with large lot. Situated convenient to factories, schools and churches. I am offering this house at a very low price and would give easy terms to a purchaser.

563 BETHUNE STREET. Good two storey cement block house, situated near the corner of London Street and having all modern improvements except furnace. Convenient to the car line and also near the centre of the city. This house is offered for sale at a reasonable price and easy terms.

SPLENDID LOT [illegible] NEW FOUNDATION [illegible] on Roger Street, East City, [illegible] window frames, doors, [illegible] required, also a quantity of lumber. Situated in a very nice locality and with the new bridge soon to be built this property will advance in price. Will sell now at a right price and give purchaser any reasonable terms.

For inspection of any of the above places and particulars, apply,
J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.
136 Hunter Street, West
Peterborough, Ont.

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS
Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Heenan
140 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 448 J. Peterboro.

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED
Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.
MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St. Phone 336J

"LES MISERABLES"
WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

Announcement Extraordinary Starting Monday
And each week thereafter

16c ROYAL TO ALL

Will be a link in the chain of PARAMOUNT THEATRES, LIMITED, and will offer a grade of pictures not to be equalled by any other chain of theatres. Time and care will be given to the shows selected for the Royal and Mr. Pappas will give his personal attention to the presentation of each production, to this end he will have the co-operation of the Paramount Theatres, Limited executives. THE FOLLOWING IS AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT YOU MAY EXPECT.

Wm. FARNUM as JEAN VALJEAN
IN VICTOR HUGO'S IMMORTAL MASTERPIECE
"LES MISERABLES", 9 Parts

Episode 14. The Million Dollar Serial. 2 Parts The Iron Test Other Attraction Vitagraph Serial—Comedy—One Part Mutt & Jeff

The Popular Tenor FRANK BESSENGER Late of Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo" Company
THE KIND OF SONGS YOU LIKE TO HEAR

HIGH-CLASS ORCHESTRA

THEATRICAL

OPENING OF NEW VAUDEVILLE AT GRAND OPERA

Vaudeville and pictures at the Grand yesterday was the opening of the new vaudeville policy Mr. A. J. Small intends to introduce here for the first three days of each week, and judging from the crowded houses that attended both performances yesterday, it is going to be a success. Beside the greatest stage celebrity, Julia in "The Cavell Case," 3 high-class vaudeville acts were presented, and if this is any criteum of the class of vaudeville Mr. Small intends to present, it will be welcome in Peterborough. The three musical Shirleys in a refined musical sensation; the world's greatest saxaphone trio; Nadolny, the Oriental Wanderer, and Backe Jewett & Backe, in comedy singing and educated pony that does everything but talk Charlie Chaplin in "Reckless Fling," a special comedy, and screen magazine complete the best balanced bill ever seen in this city. Seats can be reserved for evening performances by phone. Avoid the crowds—reserve your seats in advance.

If two people can live on less than one, it is because they have to.

NP SOAP
THE WORLD'S BEST
Three Years of Service with our Army

Get Your Printing Done at the Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

Letter Heads
Bill Heads
Envelopes
Account Headings
Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

Telephone 189 and 435
The Peterboro Review Co., Limited

FLO-FLO

At the Grand Opera House on Saturday, April 5, matinee and evening, John Cort will present his musical comedy hit "Flo-Flo," which was played at the Cort Theatre, New York, all last season and was conceded to be the brightest musical production seen in the metropolis in many years.

"Flo-Flo," is the setting of the only "Perfect 36" comedy chorus in captivity which has been gowned by Mr. Cort with such lavish expenditure that the fashion parade of the show alone would be sufficient for a revue.

The plot evolved by Fred De Gresac for the piece centers about the Bride Shop where Angelina Stokes is ordering the trosseau for her wedding to a Spanish Count, whom she cannot love. Her affections center about Billy, a childhood sweetheart from Oshkash, who suddenly arrives in New York and accepts a position with Mosher and Simpson. Billy and Angelina are separated by the latter's stern parent and Billy despairing, falls in love with the vampirish Flo-Flo most beautiful of Mosher and Simpson's mannequins. Angelina sees sweetheart and the model together and determines to go through with her marriage to the Count. Just about this time the perfidy of the Count is discovered, Angelina's costly trosseau is stolen and Flo-Flo determines to renounce Billy, who she has found does not love her. So the lovers are brought together but not until Pinky and Aloysius as well as Mosher and Simpson have had ample opportunities to display their abilities as eccentric dancers. Silvio Hein has contributed what is said to be an uncommonly tuneful score in which is "There's only One Little Girl," "Would You Love Me," "On the River Nile," "Would You Say No," "I Don't Know What You See in Me," and the "Ziegfeld Girl."

The cast of "Flo-Flo" includes Louise Kelly, Jere Delaney, Carl L. George, William Cummings, Rose Southern, Mildred Beverly, Augustus Norton, William Burton Burns, Edward Lynn and other established favorites and the "Perfect Thirty-Six" chorus. A special orchestra figures importantly in the presentation of "Flo-Flo."

PROFESSIONAL WOMEN WRESTLERS IN SCENE

In one of the scenes of "The Cavell Case," Select Pictures' second big special attraction, produced by Joseph L. Plunkett and Frank J. Carroll, which are presenting at the Grand today and Wednesday, it was necessary to have two women engage in a wrestling match. The wrestling match was one feature of a vaudeville bill which was being presented for the approval of the German officers who were occupying Brussels. While the U.S. minister to Belgium was impatiently waiting for von Bissing, general of the troops in Belgium, to plead the case of Edith Cavell, the British Red Cross nurse who had been sentenced to die for aiding English prisoners to escape von Bissing an dthe rest of his hateful comrades were being entertained at the theatre.

Mr. Carroll had engaged professional women wrestlers but was disappointed at the last minute by their failure to put in an appearance. After a long and careful search be finally found two girls at the New York Winter Garden, Broadway's famous palace of dance and jazz, who had formerly been in a wrestling act. He went to his club, secured mats and other paraphernalia and after rehearsing the girls, and a seven hours' delay, the scenes were finally shot at half past three in the morning.

PERMANENT RECEIVER.

New York, April 1. — Job E. Hedges, recently appointed by Federal Judge Mayer as temporary receiver of the New York Railway Co., was named by him yesterday as permanent receiver.

HERALD'S NEW EDITOR.

Montreal, April 1.—L. F. Kipp, formerly of Woodstock, Ont., and Toronto, has been appointed news editor of the newly organized Montreal Herald.

The Social Service Council of Canada has been incorporated.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company has to meet payment today of principal and interest due on G.T.P. bonds amounting to 10,754,040.

H. P. Lindsay Agency Co.
Real Estate and Insurance
Automobile Licenses
District Agents for Security Life

WANTED
Some good Houses for rent.

FOR SALE
Good Houses and Lots, cheap.
Some Farms for sale, at a bargain.
Let us insure your Life, Auto, House, Plate Glass, or anything you have.
It will pay you.

Ford Has Work For Crippled Heroes

Detroit, April 1.—One thousand jobs are awaiting Detroit's returned crippled soldiers at the Ford Motor Company's plant in Highland Park. This announcement was made yesterday by Edsel B. Ford, president of the company. The men will be paid the minimum wage of six dollars a day of eight hours now in effect in the plant.

"The thousand soldiers are wanted for our new self-starter department," said Mr. Ford. "The only requirements necessary are that they are crippled soldiers. Detroit men, and have the use of their hands. Men who have lost both legs and an arm will find work with us that they can do. We can use these men, whether they have to stand up or sit down at their work."

Alleged American Profiteer Freed

AGENT FOR FRENCH IN PURCHASE OF TRUCKS ESCAPES EXTRADITION.

Washington, April 1.—The decision of the District of Columbia Supreme Court ordering the discharge from custody on habeas corpus proceedings of Frank J. Godsol, a citizen of France, whose extradition was sought by the French government on a charge of making several millions in unauthorized profits on motor truck contracts, has been upheld by the district court of appeals.

That Godsol, while acting as an agent of the French government, made several millions of dollars on contracts for automobile trucks was alleged in the proceedings ordered by Ambassador Jusserand. The defence alleged that Albert Thomas, former minister of munitions, was the real target of the prosecution and that Godsol was brought in because of close association with Thomas.

Godsol's contention was that he was an agent of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co. and collected commissions in sales with the full knowledge of the French government and that he had not at any time represented France in dealings with the company.

NEW CANADIAN COAT-OF-ARMS

Ottawa, April 1.— A committee consisting of Sir Joseph Pope; Mr. Thomas Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State; General Gwatkin, Chief of the General Staff, Department of Militia, and Dr. A. G. Doughty, Dominion Archivist has been named to design a new coat-of-arms for the Dominion. It has been decided that this is necessary because the existing coat covers only the Provinces which constituted the Dominion at the time of Confederation.

VETERAN PRINTER DIES

London, Ont., April 1—Wilberforce Lawson, the oldest printer in London, is dead at his home, 226 King street, following a lengthy illness. He was seventy-nine years of age, and had been a printer for sixty years.

AIRMAN KILLED

Riverside, Cal., April 1.—Lt. C. M. Ripperger of Moline, Ill was killed today when the airplane in which he was flying over Marchfield near here, fell 1000 feet. Cadet Packard of Bakersfield who was with him in the machine was seriously injured.

More Trouble At Printing Bureau

Ottawa, March 31. — There is more trouble at the Government Printing Bureau, arising this time over the rate paid the printing pressmen and feeders for the overtime they are putting in. The result of the disagreement was that the pressmen refused to show up for overtime work at the Bureau on Saturday afternoon and will continue to adopt this attitude until their grievance is adjusted by the department.

It seems that the bonus due the pressmen as at March 31st was paid to them on Tuesday last, viz., $26 but $4.18 was deducted for the two weeks the men were on strike.

The allied missions which were in Budapest when the Hungarians revolution broke out have arrived at Belgrade.

One hundred and fifty persons were executed by the new Budapest Government for looting when the political turmoil of last week occurred.

OVATION FOR MR. KING IN QUEBEC

FORGET DIFFERENCES AND UNITE FOR COMMON CAUSE OF CANADA.

Quebec March 31.—With a call to all men of good-will to forget the differences of yesterday and strive in a common effort to lead Canada to its full achievement; with a call to Labor as well as to Capital to get together, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor in the Laurier Cabinet, yesterday created a deep impression and was cheered heartily by a meeting of 3,000 odd Labor men of Quebec East, the old-time constituency of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. As he opened his address in French the crowd went wild in its approval, and when Mr. King recalled souvenirs evoked by this old meeting place of Laurier in the division thta stood by him for close to 40 years a wave of emotion swept the entire assembly.

Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Provincial Minister of Labor and Public Works who presided at the meeting, made a significant statement at the close He said, turning to the Hon. Mackenzie King:

May Offer Seat

"We feel that the country would gain by having a man like you in Parliament, and I think I do not overestimate the public sentiment in saying that if Ontario is not willing to give you a mandate to the Commons, we in Quebec will be only too glad to send Mackenzie King to the House.

This statement of the rumored coming Premier of Quebec was greeted with an outburst of applause from the assembly.

"I know, gentlemen," said Mr. King, "that we all must forgive and forget something or other. I myself come from a Province, Ontario, where there has been a difference with you, as there has also been with other Provinces, but must we remain separated, cut apart, for all time because of these differences? No, gentlemen, for differences cannot last forever, we must overcome them through mutual forgiveness and mutual goodwill."

GERMANY MAY TRADE WITH NEUTRAL COUNTRIES

Berlin, April 1.—Marshal Foch on Friday telegraphed to Gen. Nudant his chief representative at Spa, saying that Germany was authorized to trade with firms in neutral countries even if the firms are on the blacklist, provided that the Supreme Council and the blockade authorities approve The Wolff Bureau, the semi-official news agency, protests against this condition and demands that trade be entirely free.

BIG HYDRO SURPLUS.

Brantford, April 1.—The annual statement of the Brantford hydro-electric commission was presented yesterday. It shows total earnings of $114,362.39, with a gross surplus of $28,666.75 as compared with $25,938.40 in 1917, and a net surplus, of $18,586.75 after allowing depreciation of $10,080. This is the best record yet set by the local hydro.

Don't Suffer From Piles

Sample Package of the Famous Pyramid Pile Treatment Now Offered Free to Prove What It Will Do for You.

Pyramid Pile Treatment gives quick relief from itching, bleeding or protruding piles, hemorrhoids and Pyramid Is [illegible] Such Wonders So Quickly.

such rectal troubles, in the privacy of your home. 60 cents a box at all druggists. Take no substitute. A single box often relieves. Free sample for Trial mailed in plain wrapper, if you send coupon below.

FREE SAMPLE COUPON
PYRAMID DRUG COMPANY.
623 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
Kindly send me a Free sample of Pyramid Pile Treatment, in plain wrapper.
Name..............................
Street..............................
City....................State..............

Will Demonstrate Care of Infants

In connection with the Motor Show next week, there is to be a Baby Welfare Clinic and Exhibit, which will be held each afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in a room set aside for that purpose.

This exhibit is being arranged by the Provincial Board of Health and promises to be very interesting and instructive. There will be many sets of posters on infant care, school hygiene, tuberculosis, and other subjects connected with the proper care of infants.

A free picture show each day will be another feature of this exhibit.

In charge of all this will be a fully qualified nurse, a graduate of Toronto General Hospital, Miss Knox. Miss Knox will also demonstrate how to properly bathe and clothe and feed a baby.

Then as to the Clinic which will be perhaps, the most interesting part for every mother who has a baby two years old and under is asked to bring it to the Clinic. A doctor and a nurse will be in charge and each baby will be weighed, measured, and examined, and a report given to the mother

Each mother will receive a copy of the Baby Book, which is in itself worth coming for.

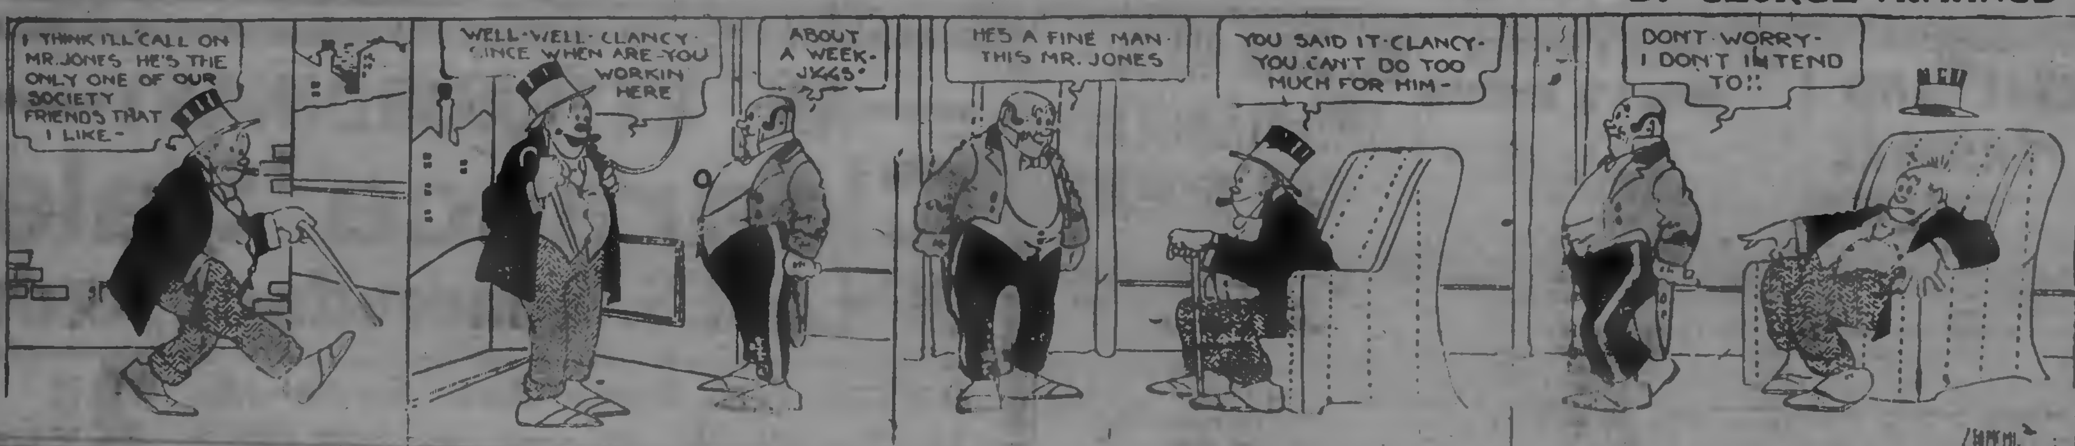
Watch the papers for further particulars.

TAPESTRIES RESTORED.

Nine large tapestries have been received at the ducal palace at Mantua, from the imperial palace of Scoenbrun in Vienna. They were made from designs of Raphael and were stolen by Austrians in 1866. The restoration is due chiefly to Professors D'Ancona, Fogolari and Coggiola, who went to Vienna on December 30 and struggled for more than a month against Austrian obstinacy to obtain permission for their return home.

Group of the famous "Perfect 36" singing and dancing chorus in John Cort's big joyous musical furore, "Flo-Flo," coming to the Grand Opera House, on Saturday, April 5th, matinee and night, fresh from a solid year's run at the Cort Theatre, New York.

BRINGING UP FATHER BY GEORGE McMANUS



I THINK I'LL CALL ON MR. JONES HE'S THE ONLY ONE OF OUR SOCIETY FRIENDS THAT I LIKE - WELL-WELL-CLANCY-SINCE WHEN ARE YOU WORKIN HERE
ABOUT A WEEK-JIGGS-
HE'S A FINE MAN THIS MR. JONES
YOU SAID IT-CLANCY-YOU CAN'T DO TOO MUCH FOR HIM-
DONT WORRY-I DON'T INTEND TO!!

SIDELIGHTS ON BASEBALL

I am often asked what it the cause of most of the complicated situations that come up in the baseball season. There has never been a doubt in my mind, most of the disputes and the traced to the failure of some player to touch a base. It seems like a slight technically, yet most of the big things in the game go back to the mising of a base. Often nothing was gainied there was no desire to cheat, yet that bit of carelessness caused all the trouble.

The above statement is prompted by a dispute that came up in one of the prominent minor leagues last summer. It al lhappened in the last half of the ninth, and created a condition much like that which came up between New York and Chicago several years ago, in which Evers and Merkle figured. There were two men out and runners on first and third, one run needed to tie the score and two to win. The batter hit a long single to left field on which the runner on third apparently scored with ease, while the runner from first went to third. The crowd was naturally excited, figuring the game had at least been tied up, with the chances for winning most excellent.

Failure to touch a base has been the biggest trouble maker in baseball. In the game I am citing the runner on first went to third but failed to touch second by at least a foot. The omission was noted by the second baseman of the team in the field, also the umpire. The ball was thrown to the second sacker, who touched second base with the ball in his possession, which caused the umpire to wave out the runner, standing on third base, retiring the side. While the crowd was a bit peeved it was still hopeful, since it believed the score had been at least tied up. Imagine the surprise of many people in that crowd when it dawned on them that the game was over. Most of the people left the park believing the umpires had ended play for some reason not made known to them. Undoubtedly many didn't know the home team had been defeated until the next day. The run which they believed had been scored by the runner on third at the time of th hit had been rendered void because of the failure of the runner originally on first to touch second on his way to third.

The failure of that runner to touch second base, made a force play of the situation. When the ball was thrown to that base and an out declared the side was retired on a third out in which a force was the contributing factor. The rules state that no run can be scored on a play in which the third out is a force out and that is what the situation narrowed itself into. Negligence on the part of the base runner had killed the run which would have tied the score and probably meant victory. To me there never has seemed to be a plaurible reason that a player could offer for a failure to touch a base. The bags are big enough. I think the size of the bag in some cases has been the reason for the failure to come into contact with a certain base.

The present base is so bulky that many speedy runners hate to touch a bag squarely. They are afraid they may sprain an ankle. To touch the bag as lightly as possible they try to calculate their turns in such a way that will just touch some portions of the base. Often they slip up in their figuring and miss by a wide margin, usually at a critical time. Yet I have seen few players after cutting a base admit they had so erred. As a rule they will insist they stepped in the center of the bag. If players would only make it a point to touch every base a lot of woe and many an argument would be eliminated. In all probability runners will continue to miss them as long as the game is played.

THE COMING SHOW

PETERBORO'S 1919 MOTOR SHOW

"The Event of the Season"

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday April 9, 10, 11

What will be the greatest affair of its kind ever held in Peterborough or in this district will be the

Motor Show

In the ARMOURIES, under the Auspices of the PETERBORO HEALTH ASSOCIATION

Grand Display of Cars and Trucks

Orchestra of 35 pieces every evening, under the leadership of Prof. Gliddon, with a big program of Vocal and Instrumental numbers.

A surprising array of Special Attractions, each one a whole show in itself.

Attractions of all kinds. Refreshment Booth

THE ARMORIES ARE BEING HANDSOMELY DECORATED AND THE WHOLE ARRANGEMENT WHEN COMPLETE WILL MAKE THREE OF THE LIVELIEST DAYS EVER SPENT IN PETERBOROUGH.

Be Prepared for the

MONSTER MOTOR PARADE

On the Evening of WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9th

IN WHICH EVERY ONE OWNING A MOTOR CAR OF ANY DESCRIPTION IS ASKED TO PARTICIPATE. THE FOLLOWING LIST OF CARS AND TRUCKS WILL BE ON EXHIBITION IN THEIR VERY LATEST MODELS:

Pleasure Cars

BRISCOE
REO
GRAY-DORT
CHALMERS

STUDEBAKER
WILLIS KNIGHT AND OVERLAND
McLAUGHLIN

CHEVROLET
FORD
MAXWELL
DODGE

Trucks

FULTON
FORD FORM-A-TRUCK

STERLING MENARD
WHITE

REPUBLIC
SMITH FORM-A-TRUCK

The men in charge of the Industrial Exhibits will be only too pleased to give you all the information of any kind you desire.

THE ADMISSION TO THE MOTOR SHOW IS ONLY 15c FOR ADULTS AND 10c FOR CHILDREN, AND THE LADIES OF THE DIFFERENT ORGANIZATIONS FOR WORK THROUGHOUT THE PERIOD OF THE WAR ARE NOW SELLING ADVANCE TICKETS OF ADMISSION — 7 FOR A DOLLAR.

BUY A STRIP OF TICKETS, AS YOU WILL WANT TO TAKE ALL YOUR FAMILY TO THIS BIG SHOW.

De Laval Wins From Can. Gen.

Last night in the Business Men's Ten-pin League at the Water street alleys the De Laval defeated the C. G. E. for two games. For De Laval Barrette hit the maple for 556, Carter 514, W. Fitzgerald 502. For the C. G. E. Villeneuve was high with 556, Fielder 520.

Shamrocks took two from the Lawn Bowlers in the 5-pin League last night. The Shamrocks won two games, winning the last game by 8 pins. For Shamrocks Sullivan had the high count of 643. For the Lawn Bowlers Walton was high with 577 Maynard 520.

Unwise Giving.

It is a very easy thing to toss a copper to a beggar on the street; it is generally an easier thing than not to do it. Yet love is just as often in the withholding. We purchase relief from the sympathetic feelings roused by the spectacle of misery, at a copper's cost. It is too cheap—too cheap for us, and often too dear for the beggar. If we really loved him we would either do more for him, or less.—Henry Drummond.

Symptoms of Death.

The usual procedure at the from to determine whether death has occurred is to inject fluorescine, according to the method of Dr. S. Icard of Marseilles. In the living the eyes will take a vivid green color as though an emerald had been set in the socket. If no colouration is observed within an hour or two after injection, it may be stated positively that the person is dead.

Old Rivers and New.

Henry praised to me lately the manners of an old-established, calm, well-behaved river, as perfectly distinguished from those of a new river. A new river is a torrent; an old one slow and steadily supplied. What happens in any part of the old river relates to what befalls in every other part of it. 'Tis full of compensations, resources and reserve funds.—Emerson's Journal.

Naval Notepaper.

Every British man-o'-war has its crest, just the same as every regiment in the army, writes Mr. G. G. Sharp in the Dundee Advertiser. Notepaper used by officers is embossed with the crest of the ship to which they belong.

For the most part the paper used is white and the crest is printed in nautical blue. One exception is the black printing of the crown and anchor on the Admiralty Office paper.

The notepaper of H. M. S. St. Vincent recalls the naval victory of 1797. H. M. S. Tiger has almost naturally a tiger in its crest. The body of the animal is rather long—possibly with the idea of conveying "frightfulness." H. M. S. Revenge has the Drake touch, and carries the motto of "Loyal Devoir." The little torpedo-boat destroyer Archer has both motto and design. The former is "Arcu contenta carato," and the latter is a winged arrow in the bent bow beneath a crown.

Ships named after cities and towns usually have the crest of their name-place. H. M. S. Southampton is no exception to the rule. The crest of our great Channel shipping port is very involved, including, amongst other emblems, a knight's helmet and breastplate, and two ships dating back some 400 years.—Tit-Bits.

WATER ST. BOWLING ALLEYS

TRY BOWLING For WHAT AILS YOU

5 Perfectly Level Alleys on Ground Floor

JAKE SOLOMON . . Mgr

INTERNATIONAL RACE NEXT YEAR

SIR THOMAS LIPTON TALKS OF THE NEXT BIG YACHTING CONTEST.

KING TO RACE THIS SUMMER

LIPTON TO SEND OVER 23-METRE SHAMROCK FOR TRIAL AGAINST SHAMROCK IV.

New York, March 31.—"With your wounded coming home it would not be well for the returning soldiers to see yachts racing off Sandy Hook," Sir Thomas Lipton, veteran yachtsman, declared today upon his arrival here for the first time since 1913. "The New York Yacht Club was right in saying there will be no racing this year which was the answer to my challenge for the American cup a few months ago."

Sir Thomas was as keen to obtain a glimpse of the Statue of Liberty as anyone of the 5,583 American officers and soldiers who were his companions abard the steamship Aquitania. During the voyage the Irish yachtsman mingled continually with the soldiers and thoroughly enjoyed their amusements.

"Late in the summer," Sir Thomas said, when asked for his yachting plans. "I will send over my 23 meter shamrock to be used as a trial horse with the shamrock in which is here in dock and in fine shape. I should not expect the New York Yacht Club to build a new yacht if they have the resolution and the vanity and I presume they would pick the resolute.

"It is hard to get a good crew now in England, and I do not think there will be much racing anywhere this summer. The King, however, has announced his intention of racing his yacht this year.

"By the first of next year, however I will be in shape to have the two Shamrocks out and give them a tryout together."

Water Protects Coal.

An interesting result of recent experiments with coal is the demonstration of the benefits of submerging the mineral in water. Coal deteriorates in the air, and there is the danger of spontaneous combustion, while when submerged not only was the fire danger eliminated, but scarcely any deterioration was shown. Experimentally, coal kept in the air showed from 2 to 10 per cent of loss in nine months, while when submerged there was scarcely any loss at all.

The New Puritan.

The new puritan is instructed in cleanliness, believes in it, practices it. As a good animal guided by an enlightened mind, he purposes to make the best of his body, not to poison it with alcohol or to pollute it with disease. For his own sake and for the sake of the future of the race, he conducts himself morally. His philosopher, guide and friend, however, is the physician and science is his inspiration and his teacher.

When the Baboon Calls.

Baboons have been a sore trouble lately to many South African folk, and poison clubs have been founded to keep them away and reduce their numbers. Baboons recently raided a farm in Robertson, and, ignoring all efforts to drive them away, rode the donkeys in the back yard. In Laingsburg, driven by hunger, they raided gardens in broad daylight.

For a merciless critic commend us to the successful author.

A bird in the bush is worth two in the cat's mouth.

The courteous gambler acquires wealth by his winning ways.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate point.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:20 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

2:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville Montreal and Boston

Mixed Wood $9.00 per cord

Hard Wood $12 per cord

Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal

Pea Coal ....10.50 per ton

Also Egg, Stove and Nut. Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD

Phone 111

Canada Food Board License No. [illegible]

D. M. MINICOLA

Best Fruit— Cheap

Best Vegetables. Reasonable

Best Groceries At Right Prices

410½ GEORGE STREET

Bell Phone 92b

WRIST & BRACELET

Watches

In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.

CLOCKS, JEWELRY

Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.

Schneider's

367 George St. Next Turnbull's

HARD COAL

EGG, STOVE, NUT, PEA

H. B. TAYLOR & SON

160 AYLMER ST.

Phone 209

COAL

...AND...

Builders' Supplies

Hardwood Flooring

Robt. Hicks & Co.

LIMITED

Lackawana Coal

Means Economy

Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.

Trucking Orders Promptly Filled

Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.

162 CHARLOTTE ST.

PHONES 270-262

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and

PITTSTON COAL

IS THE BEST

All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.

Best Lines of HARD and SOFT COAL

WEIR & McCARTHY

COAL DEALERS

111 Hunter Street, East City

Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Orders for O

taken now. Prompt delivery. Card Wood for sale, also Kindling Wood. Second-hand Belting and Scrap Leather

Highest prices paid for all Junk.

Store and Apartment to Rent.

LOW & COMP

162 Simcoe St.

Phone 697

Nights and Holidays

Barrie's

FURRIERS
Peterborough, Ont.

Ladies Ready-to-Wear Department

Springs Delight

Every spring brings something new in women's fashions. This spring is no exception to the rule.

The new coats and suits surpass in elegance of cut, in design, in simplicity and captivating materials, previous models.

We have gathered together as choice an assortment as one could desire to choose from.

Make your selection early.

The Barrie Building
Phone 340w

Those who wear our glasses know what to expect of our service. You can always count on the quality of the work and the spirit in which your needs are looked after here. If you need glasses, consult

W. H. LACEY
Exclusive Optometrist
420 George St.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. McNeaty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, PETERBOROUGH CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The regular Quarterly Meeting of Shareholders will be held at 202 Rubidge street Thursday, April 3, at 8 p.m. All shareholders are requested to attend as business of importance will be brought up.

A. MURRAY, President.

NOTICE

A meeting of the Horticultural Society will be held in the City Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, April 1st at eight o'clock for the purpose of organising a membership campaign.

All the officers and members and any who are interested in this work are urged to be present.

PURCHASES FORD CAR

Alderman Phelan, chairman of the Board of Works, has purchased a Ford car in accordance with the request of the Council for the Engineering Department of the city.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the dentists held last night they decided to close their offices every Thursday afternoon from April 1st to the end of October.

TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

LOST—WILL THE PERSON who took the rowing cart from Y. M. C. A. porch return same and save further trouble?

FOR SALE — LOT, 30 FEET front by 226 feet deep. Price [illegible] East City. Apply 308 [illegible] street.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Master Jim Matthews, Appleby School, Oakville, is spending his vacation with his aunt, Miss Mary L Stratton, Crown Apartments.

Mr. S. J. Hodgson of Montreal was the guest of Mr. Edgar Burnham yesterday.

Private Max B. Bradburn, of the 3rd Canadian Machine Gun Corps is the guest of his sister, Mrs. F. J A. Hall. Private Bradburn who has been wounded twice has been overseas four years.

Dr and Mrs. Middleton arrived home last night after spending two weeks in Clifton Springs and Rochester.

Will Consider A Suitable Memorial

At a meeting of the trustees of Trinity Methodist Church, held last night, the question of erecting a suitable memorial for members of the church who had fallen in the recent war and had served their country overseas was considered.

In all probability this memorial will take the form of one or more memorial windows with bronze tablets bearing the names of those who had served in the war.

The following were appointed a committee to consider the matter and submit a report in regard to it, Judge Huycke, George Morrow, A. W. Cressman, Robert Neill, W. D. Campbell and Rev. F. E. Malott.

GERMAN SUBS. SAIL FOR U. S.

Four Boats Leave England Under Convoy of Tender Bushnell.

Harwich, England, April 1.—Four German submarines, convoyed by the U. S. submarine tender Bushnell left her yesterday for the United States. Many more than the required number of officers are making the transatlantic trip on the captured craft.

NOTICE

Peterborough Chapter of Graduate Nurses Association of Ontario will hold their Annual Meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 in the Public Library. All nurses are asked to be in attendance.

K. of C.

Important Meeting Tonight, April 1st, at 8.15 sharp.

AUCTION SALE

Friday at Hancock's Auction Rooms, of household furniture, etc. being the property of the estate of the late Thomas Armstrong Cooley, chairs, dressers, sideboard, tables, cupboard, dishes, marine engineering books, etc. Large sale, starts 1.30 p.m.

TEMPLE BAND

The Temple Band will meet for practice tonight at 8 o'clock sharp, a full attendance is requested.

REMOVAL NOTICE

S. Middleton has removed his livery office from Water street to 193 Hunter street, where he will be doing business as usual. Phone 50—the same old number.

HOME LEAGUE MEETING

There will be a special home league meeting at the Salvation Army Temple at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow.

NOTICE

Don't fail to come and see how the girls tag after Mr. 'Scotty' McLeish in "The Land of Promise," in Knox Church Lecture Hall, April 8th and 9th. Admission 25c.

SPECIAL FORWARD MOVEMENT IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES

The three churches in the city have united this week in special "Forward Movement Services. Last evening the Rev. Mr. MacKerroll of Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay, of Toronto, will speak on "The New Era in the Nations," this evening in Knox Church. The meetings on Wednesday and Thursday, will be in St. Andrews Church, and the closing meeting will be held Friday evening in St. Pauls' Church.

LOST TRACK OF WIFE.

Chatham, April 1.—Robt. Moore, Windsor, was in court here yesterday on a charge of non-support. He was ordered to pay $20 a month to his wife, whom he claims he has not heard from for about a year.

JUST WHAT I NEEDED SAYS J. A. McKEITH

HAS IMPROVED WONDERFULLY EVER SINCE HE BEGAN TAKING TANLAC

"Tanlac proved to be just what I had been needing for the past five years," said Jas. A. McKeith, of 1889 Davenport Road, Weston, near Toronto, Ont.

"Everything I would eat," he continued, "seemed to lodge right in the pit of my stomach and I suffered terribly with indigestion and I felt bloated with gas for three or four hours after every meal. I would just drag myself off to work without eating a bit of breakfast and tried all sorts of medicines without getting any better.

"I have been improving ever since I began taking Tanlac. The indigestion has about left me, and I can eat with more satisfaction than I could before in a long time. Indigestion and gas on my stomach don't bother me now at all and from the way Tanlac has fixed me up I am glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd.; in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd.; in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Hiefert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

I.O.D.E Will Hold Children's Fete Day

It is the intention of the Otonabee Chapter, I.O.D.E., to hold a Children's Fete on the afternoon of Saturday April 26th, from 3.30 to 6.30 a.m. in the gymnasium of the Young Men's Christian Association, which has been kindly loaned for the occasion.

Fancy dress costumes are to be worn by the children, and prizes are to be awarded for the best costumes Children from three to fourteen years are invited. All parents and friends of the children will be admitted as onlookers, and refreshments will be served for the spectators, as well as for those taking part.

A fish pond is being arranged, and suitable games and amusements for all the children.

Those who wish to obtain tickets for this entertainment are advised to secure them early, from any member of the Chapter, as the number will necessarily have to be limited. Children's tickets 25 cents; adults, 50 cents.

A FALSE ALARM.

About ten minutes to two this afternoon the fire brigade were called to the Seperate School in Ashburnham as the result of a false alarm.

A consignment of soft coal had been purchased and upon firing up a cloud of black smoke rose from the chimney and floated across the roof This was noticed by one who resides close by and thinking the school on fire he telephoned the fire department without loss of time.

Vital Statistics For Month of March

March 1919—Births 31, deaths 29, Marriages 10.

13 building permits—$2990.00.

March 1918—Births 47, deaths 45, Marriages 10.

4 building permits $3250.00.

TORONTO MAN DEAD FROM GAS

DOUBLE FATALITY LIKELY — FUMES FROM GAS RANGE

Toronto, April 1. — What may prove to be a double gas fatality occurred in a rooming house at 211½ Queen street west. Charles Frieman and N. Armstrong, two young men who roomed together were found lying on the floor in an unconscious conditon, overcome by gas fumes, emanating from a small gas range On examining the two men, the police found Friedman to be dead, and Armstrong in a serious condition. Frieman was taken to the morgue and Armstrong to St. Michael's Hospital, where artificial respiration was applied. Until a late hour yesterday he had not recovered consciousness and no hope for his life is held out by the hospital authorities.

According to the police the two men had been cooking a late breakfast over the gas stove and one of the jets was blown out letting the gas escape. Frieman was found lying in bed fully dressed and Armstrong huddled up on the floor. Chief Coroner Dr. Jukes Johnston was notified and an inquest will be held on the body of Frieman.

Samuel Gompers and his party sailed for New York yesterday on the steamer Rotterdam.

MR. JOHN ALLAN ENTERTAINED BY CITY MUSICIANS

WAS TENDERED A COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET IN THE EMPRESS LAST NIGHT.

Over fifty guests sat down to the complimentary banpuet tendered Mr John Allan in the Empress Hotel last night, comprising representatives of the various choirs and musical organizations of the city.

The Guests.

The guests last evening included Mr. and Mrs. Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Park, Mr. John Crane (chairman), Mr. J. H. Renwick, Mrs. George King, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Parsons Master Harvey King, Mr. George Wand, Mr. Kenyon, Mrs. Devey, Mr Frank Pratt, Miss Etta Kemp, Mr R. J. Devey, Mrs. Greenslade, Mr Smith, Mr. Asa Huycke, Miss Helen MacLaren, Mr. Coleman, Miss M. Flowers, Mr. Rupert Glidden, Miss Ida Sanderson, Mr. J. Wearing, Mrs J. H. Renwick, Mr. Chandler, Mrs. Gliddon, Mr. Nalsh, Mr. Barry, Mr Treneer, Mrs. Nicholl, Mr. Walter Stocker, Mr. Greenslade, M. Nichol Mrs. Chandler, Alherman J. J. Turner and Mr. Douglas Carlisle.

Chairman's Address.

The chairman, Mr. J. Crane, in his remarks referred to the occasion as being unique in the musical life of Peterboro. He said that it was practically the first time such a representative gathering of musicians had come together and suggested that it should lead up to some sort of organization whereby the cause of music might be furthered by co-operation and friendly consultation.

Organization.

Mr. Crane said that organization of labor organized capital; organized manufacturing and trading enterprises seemed essential to serve the various interests to the best advantage, and he asked why the musicians should not organize and endeavor to remove petty differences and jealousies with the result that music would experience a general uplift and forward movement in Peterborough.

His remarks were most timely and were re-echoed by practically every speaker during the evening.

Toast List.

The toast to the King was given and the singing of the National Anthem by such a band of musicians was most inspiring.

To the Guest.

The toast to "our guest" was proposed by Mr. R. J. Devy, who was characterized by the chairman as the dean of music in Peterborough. Mr Devy's remarks were most appropriate. He voiced the regret of those present at the removal of Mr. Allan from Peterborough, whom, he said was a good citizen, a thorough gentleman, a competent and cultured musician, and the loss to the musical life of Peterborough was immeasurable.

Mr. Devy also referred to the many activities of Mrs. Allah and to the patriotic work of Mr. and Mrs. Park, who have invariably given their services without stint during the many calls made upon them during the war

The toast was enthusiastically received with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," after which Master Harvey King presented Mrs. Allan with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

The Response.

Mr. Allan responded to the toast in a happy manner. He regretted their leaving Peterborough where they had spent many happy years. He also spoke in very appreciated terms of St. Paul's Church, which he characterized as a magnificent church structure and in which he had many friends.

Mrs. Allan also added a few appreciated word.

Mr. Wearing Speaks.

Mr. Joseph Wearing contributed a happy speech, in which he took occasion to express surprise that such a gathering of musicians could be together and the dominant note of harmony so apparent.

To The Musicians.

Mr. Wearing proposed the toast to musicians in Peterborough, which was responded to by Mr. Candler for the Anglican Church, Mr. Treneer for the Presbyterian Church, Mr. Huycke for the Baptist Church, Mr. Gliddon for the Conservatory and bands and Mr Renwick for the Methodist Church All voiced their regret at the loss to Peterborough of Mr. and Mrs. Allan

During the evening some excellent songs were contributed by Mrs. Park, Mrs. King and Mr. Chandler.

Committee Organized.

During Mr. Renwick's remarks he took occasion to suggest that the opportunity might be taken to appoint a committee which would consider the organization of a musical fraternity with the object of bringing the musicians together and organizing a community of musical interest.

The chairman named a committee the personnel of which is Mr. R. J Devey, Mr. Asa Huycke, Mr. George Chandler, Mr. J. H. Renwick, Mr George King, Mr. John Crane, Mr Kenyon, Mr. Treneer and Mr. Gliddon A result will be submitted by this committee in the near future.

The function broke up about 10.30 by singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "The King."

A Distinct Tribute.

The event was a distinct tribute to the general popularity and respect in which Mr. Allan is held in Peterborough and his many friends will wish for his continued success in the city of Brantford where he has accepted an important charge in the First Baptist Church.

FOUR TENDERS RECEIVED

Tenders for the contract of constructing the new Hunter street bridge will be opened at the meeting of the Board of Works tonight. Up to noon there were four tenders received this is one more than was submitted when tenders were asked for upon the former occasion.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

—AN EXTRAORDINARY—
Clearance Sale
OF LACES. Hundreds of Yards

Odd Lines From Regular Stock. 5c--10c--12½c 15c--18c--20c--25c--35c yard. ALL ONE PRICE FOR WEDNESDAY . . . . . 3c Yard

This is one of the most extraordinary sales of the entire season—just now when Laces will be demanded, along comes this great bargain sale, which offers: VALENCIENNES, CLUNY, SWISS, PLANENS, FILETS, APPLIQUES, NOTTINGHAMS, AND LINEN AND COTTON TORCHONS.

Edgings, insertions and medallions, in white, ecru, cream and black. Widths range from ½ to 4 inches. All good washing qualities; suitable for underwear, blouses, fancy work and dress trimmings. All broken lines from our regular high-grade stock, in lengths from two to twenty-five yards to a pattern. Regular selling prices 5c to 35c yard .... Your unrestricted choice Wednesday, yard 3c

Shop early for best choice. See window display.

Wednesday Bargains

Real Chinese Pongee Regular 75c

Natural Shade 33 inches wide 43c Yd. Cheaper Than Cotton

At this sale price buy all the Silk you need for present and future use. Chinese Pongee washes so easily that it is just the fabric for children's garments, shirts and pyjamas for men, underwear for women, dresses and blouses, and, Oh! there are "a thousand and one uses" for real Chinese Pongee. It's a reall practical silk, and it wears well. Full 33 inches wide; natural shade, and Wednesday's sale price is less than yon will pay for dress cotton .... Regular 75c. Wednesday Bargain, yard 43c

A Good Blouse Bargain 9 only

Pure Silk Crepe de Chine and Georgette Crepe Blouses, all fashionable, up to date styles; in colors of flesh, maize and white Odd sizes, odd lines Regular $6 to $10 Wednesday Bargain

$4.69

The Farberwear Adjustable Lamp $7.50

The perfect Lamp for reading in bed; can be attached to the arm of a chair, a direct light on typewriter or notes or fine sewing. Quite necessary for a perfect shave; can be adjusted to any angle and can be attached to almost anything Complete with 8-foot cord. Wednesday Bargain, each

$7.52

NEW SPRING DRESS GINGHAMS, 35c YARD

Fast color American Wash Ginghams, of a strong, reliable quality; neat, distinct plaid patterns; splendid wearing and washing, for school dresses, rompers, and house dresses; 28 inches wide. Big range of new color combinations. Wednesday, yard 35c

30c PURE WHITE ENGLISH FLANNETTE, 22c Yard

Lovely soft, fluffy finish; handles like pure wool and will wear as well; 28 inches wide. This lovely material is suitable for ladies' and infants' wear. Our regular 30c value. Wednesday Bargain ... Yard 22c

BLEACHED SHEETING—ENGLAND'S BEST REGULAR $1.25 FOR 98c YARD

On Wednesday we shall offer for sale 300 yards of 72-inch pure bleached English Sheeting, plain or twill qualities. Fine, even, flawless weaves, free from starch or filling; unsurpassed for wearing and washing. This sheeting sells regularly at $1.25. But to-day's real value is $1.50. A big Wednesday Bargain, yard 98c

PRO-BRUSSELS RUGS

10 only Pro-Brussels Rugs, size 9 ft. x 6 ft., in colors of brown, green and blue. Extra strong and durable. Wednesday Bargain, each $12.00

$1.35 SCRIM CURTAIN 98c

15 Pair only White Scrim Curtains, 2½ yards long, hemstitched. Wednesday Bargain, pair 98c

RICHARD HALL & SON
LIMITED

NOTICE RE—"DAY-LIGHT SAVING" In accordance with the CITY PROCLAMATION, this Store will observe Daylight Saving beginning to-morrow.

STORE OPEN:—OLD TIME 7.30 NEW TIME 8.30
STORE CLOSES-OLD TIME 4.30 NEW TIME 5.30

Hamilton women may refrain from buying butter and even milk or cream until the prices fall to more reasonable figures.

The Canadian Siberian Expeditionary Force is to return the date being kept secret by request of the British Government.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, "The Daylight Saving Act" has not been re-enacted for the summer months of 1919; AND WHEREAS, the railways running into, through and out of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough have provided that the time, during such above-mentioned period, shall be one hour in advance of the accepted standard time; AND WHEREAS, it is believed that the great majority of the people of the City of Peterborough desire to receive the same benefits for the summer months of 1919 as formerly when "The Daylight Saving Act" was in force,

IT IS PROCLAIMED that from and after ONE o'clock in the forenoon of Wednesday, the 2nd day of April, 1919, till otherwise notified, all clocks operated or controlled by the Corporation of the City of Peterborough will be put forward one hour in advance of the accepted standard time, and it is my wish and desire that all the citizens of the City of Peterborough do conform to the new time schedule from the above-mentioned date.

GEO. H. DUNCAN,
Mayor.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Fine, becoming milder. Thursday, fair and milder followed by showers in western districts by night.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 78 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED IN STUTTGART, GERMANY

Police and Strikers Clash—Three Killed, Many Wounded—City is Proclaime din a State of Siege—Counter Strike in Protest—Plundering at Frankfort.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, April 2. (via Copenhagen)—In a collision between strikers and Government troops in Stutgart on Tuesday three persons were killed and many others wounded. Demonstrations were eventually dispersed and order restored. Labor leaders in Stutgart have declared a general strike there.

State of Siege

Stuttgart, via Copenhagen, April 2—The Government has proclaimed The Leaten Service to be held in gart, and its environs. All shops, theatres and public places must close from 8 o'clock in the evening until 8 o'clock in the morning. and all street car traffic is forbidden after 9 o'clock at night.

Counter Strike

The counter strike which was called as a protest against the general walkout of workmen has been joined by tradesmen, merchants, manufacturers, state and municipal officials, doctors and chemists. Local papers are issued and the postal and tram car services have been suspended.

Shortage of Food

Frankfort, April 2.—Three hundred persons accused of plundering shops in this city have been arrested. Disorders due to the shortage of foodstuffs have recently arisen over a reduction of the potato ration from five to three pounds.

POSTMEN MAY AGAIN STRIKE

THREATEN TO CALL OUT EVERY CIVIL SERVANT FROM HALIFAX TO SAULT.

Toronto, April 2.—Unless their demands are granted by the Government, the Posties threaten to call out on strike every civil servant from Halifax to Sault St. Marie.

What They Ask.

When the Government receives the ultimatum which the men declare they will draw up it will include demands for a salary scale of $1000 minimum, with annual increases of $100 up to $1600. At last night's meeting one of the speakers reminded the postmen that the Government's own statisticians had published data to show that a family could not live on les sthan $1650. They will demand also Saturday afternoons off(eighthour days, and the right to trave lfree on government railways, as is done in England.

There is one other point which is to be put up to the Government, and that in the failure of the Postoffice Department to give preference to returned soldiers. There is a petition already drawn up and signed by men in the Postoffice Department, protesting agianst the stream of newcomers who have never seen service. The Great War Veterans, it is said, will also back up this petition.

Must Wake Up.

"Let the Government wake up as to how the mail carriers are being treated," asserted one postie at the meeting in Toronto last night. "If they won't wake up of their own accord we have got to wake them up. We wrote asking for Saturday afternoons off, and they haven't even answered our letter. We want eight-hour days, and the only way we will get them is to go after them. You men know that our eight-hour days at he present mean ten and eleven-hour days."

"We want straight increases in salary this time," another urged. "We don't want to have anything more to do with bonuses. That last bonus was offered just as a sop. We want the same pay as they get in the West. It costs just as much to live here."

THOMPSON AGAIN CHICAGO'S MAYOR

WINS A MAJORITY VOTE OF 17,600 OVER NEAREST COMPETITOR—CITY STILL WET.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Chicago, April 2.—complete returns from yesterday's municipal election showed that William Hale Thompson (Republican) was re-elected Mayor for a term of four years by a plurality of 17,600 over Robert M. Switser (Democrat,) his nearest competitor, and that city voted "wet" by a majority of 247,228 in protest against the nation going dry.

How Vote Went

Chocago, April 1.—Complete unofficial vote for Mayor gave Thompson (Republican) 257,888; Sweitzer (Democrat), 240,288; Hoyne (Independent (Democrat), 110,898. Thompson's plurality, 17,600.

The total vote on the ousting of saloons and intoxicants on May 1 was:

No—Men, 266,529; women, 124,731; total 391,260.

Yes—Men, 67,707; women, 76,326; total, 144,032.

CUSTOMS INCREASE

Montreal, April 1.—An increase of $232,931.91 in Customs duties during the fiscal year ending 31 March, 1919, is shown bzy the returns of the port of Montreal, given out yesterday. The total, amount in duties collected during the period from 1st April, 1918, to yesterday reahceod $36,712,972.65.

U. S. WILL OFFER SURPLUS WAR MOTORS TO PUBLIC

Auction Sale or Sealed Bids Will Be Method of Disposal.

Washington, April 1.—Surplus automobiles and motor trucks will be disposed of to the public, either through auction or by sealed bids, after manufacturers have taken over such vehicles as they are willing to handle, according to an announcement today by the director of sales of the War Department.

A statement on the subject follows:

"Many rumors have been circulated throughout the country as to the disposition of the surplus motor-driven vehicles now owned by the War Department. The following outline of the proposed method of handling this matter is given by the director of sales, War Department.

"First—The different branches of the Government will be consulted to see whether the surplus in the War Department of automobiles and motor trucks can be used to fill their requirements.

"Second —Various manufacturers of vehicleswill then be approached to see if they will take over the vehicles of their own make to market them with their own machines, thus giving the Government a fair market price and at the same time disturbing the market conditions as little as possible.

"Third—The net surplus remaining after the above methods have been followed out will be disposed of to the public, either through auction or by sealed bids. Full publicity will be given these sales in order that the Government may realize the best results of the sale."

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE COURSE OF PETERBORO CITY

Board of Trade Should Be a Factor For Industrial Expansion, Civic Education and Improvments in Parks and Public Grounds—Ryerson Ritchie Addresses Board of Trade.

City building was the subject treated by Mr. Ryerson Ritchie in an excellent address before the Board of Trade last night. He said:

Mr. President and Gentlement of the Board:

We are in counsel together tonight to plan our future course as a city; to see how we may adapt and adjust the several functions and resources at our command in a board co-operative plan of development. The world over cities are doing the same thing. Commissions and specialists are at work studying and planning how to correct physical, industrial and social faults so as to make each city fit for a worthier place in the great reconstructive activities just ahead. We fully realize that Peterborough's future is in the making and if the problems of the community are left to the individual or to little groups of individuals, as they have too often been left in the past, Peterborough would lag behind in the coming race for position. Gradually we have come to see that our city is in reality a great business corporation, of which we are shareholders, and it is up to us to see that its management, functions and agencies work efficiently and in union like a highly organized railway or manufactory. And we see rather clearly now that our communities actually have the power to make or break or regulate any interest or combination of interests that does not contribute, directly or indirectly, to the human well-being individually or collectively.

Like Other Cities.

The history of Peterborough is like that of other cities. Public affairs have been ostensibly in the hands of the few. As time passed "money-making" became more and more the occupation of the far-sighted, enterprising individual or group. Wealth became comulative and, as everywhere else, filtered into the pockets of the few. As a city, we have surely paid our full tribute to private enterprise and private wealth. The prosperity of the future of the city are to be in the hands of the many, not of the few. The trend toward that condition imposes a new and patriotic responsibility upon those men and women who are especially fitted for leadership. It is of very great importance as we plan our city's future that all the parts forming the community shall work smoothly and in unison, each carrying its fair share of the load—no more, no less. Peterborough is a constituted democracy with entire freedom to make its own laws and ordinances and conduct its own affairs as it sees fit, consonant of course with the statues of the province and Dominion.

Facing the Feture.

Facing the future, therefore, it seems proper that the Board or Trade, composed as it is of the leading associations that represent trade, industry and the professions, should set out to devise, agree upon and work to a definite, comprehensive, and constructive plan of city building: first for the substantial expansion of industry; second, for the acyuirement and improvement of parks and public grounds; third, for better building housing and neighborhood conditions; fourth, for improved and more practical moral, physical and manual education; and fifth, for the better conduct and administration of public affairs.

Industrial Expansion.

The Board of Trade may and should become the centre of action, the agency if you like, by means of which the city shall plan and build. The city can literally mould its own character and shape its own destiny; it can have its own industrial standards its social and civic ideals. One of the chief functions of the Board of Trade is to investigate, plan for and locate industries. If we shall master the better intellegences of the city and apply these in the work of industrial promotion we shall discriminate between those industries that have or have not substantial value us. We can actually forsee and define our own industrial development. The manufacturing centres are to be economic centres. It is not difficult to ascertain what our material, mechanical and economic advantages are and what industries can prosper here at this population centre of Canada. When we have a specific industrial plan we shall then establish a selling agency that can do business on business lines with business men in Canada, the United States, England, France or Italy. We shall find that the baits we have heretofore used such as free land and freedom from taxation, are petty inducements when compared with primary and continuing manufacturing advantages.

There is another element that touches the problem of industrial growth: I refer to the co-operation of the mechanic and artisan in the work of city building. Workmen seem to realize that obligation but I often think that in their allegiance to unionism they lose sight of the greater social objects just beyond the point of self-seeking. They know quite well that as capital is necessary to industry so management and labor are necessary to industrial proficiency and that these three are of necessity interdependent. Capital is timid—whether it amounts to one hundred or one hundred thousand dollars—active only when confident of fair play. Organized labor is not troubled with over-much timidity, in fact it is inclined to be restive, fractions and dictatorial. None of these three human factors can escape or evade their responsibility to the community for their interests become more and more a part of it. If the workers and managers and owners shall co-operate and zealously strive to specialize and elevate the standards of industrial production in Peterborough they shall all benefit and the city will become attractive to those industries that regard "guality" as of primary importance.

When it shall become known to the outside world that Peterborough has a definite plan of city building based on the principle that benefit to one interest is the benefit of all, and that we have a common ideal and ambition we shall get much free and profitable advertising. But after all it is more important that Peterborough shall not only seem great to the outside world, but that it shall be greater than it seems. Our power of accomplishment should be a real power—economic, effective. One thing you may depend upon, the great world expansion of trade and industry—the greatest in human history—shall profit the cities according to their ability to get into the fighting lines. If Peterborough has a fixed determination to excell and is thoroughly equipped for the industrial contest she should grow and grow rapidly. Once in the fighting lines we shall be all right.

What is it that gives a city real distinction, power, prosperity? It is its public spirit—the spirit that drives all interests and all people to labor intellegently and continuously for better abilities and constantly improving conditions in the city's evolution.

I wonder if we see the force and pertinency of that assertion. Unless we do see it and act upon it, much in the same way that we would see and act upon a vital question touching our career or our solvency, we shall fall short in our duty to ourselves as citizens.

Peterborough has exceptional natural and acquired advantages. It occupies a strategic position as the centre of population for the Dominion It has collosal water powers. It is served by the two greater railways and may even now ship for export from our factory docks to tidewater via the Trent Canal. Soon our canal boats may carry freight to and from the northern ports of the Great Lakes The great industries already estab-

(Continued on Page 5.)

BOLSHEVISM IN GERMANY A FACT

GRAVEST CRISIS SINCE ARMISTICE SIGNED NOW APPROACHING.

PEOPLE CLAMOR AGAINST GOV'T

UNADULTERATED ANARCHY RAMPANT AND ABOLISHING OF PARLIAMENT DEMANDED.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, April 2.—Describing the outlook in Germany, the Berlin correspondent of The Mail says the crisis which is rapidly approaching seems certain to be graver, than either the January or March outbreaks.

Revolt Eminent.

Thousands of people, including many women, attend mass meetings at which unadulterated Bolshevism is advocated, and demands are made for the abolishing of Parliament.

The Danzig Question.

Zurich, Switzerland, April 2.—In view of fresh negotiations over the Danzig question, the German Cabinet has decided to gather the chiefs of all parties of the National Assembly at Berlin tomorrow to reach an agreement as to what policy that is to be followed, according to an announcement.

$50,000 For The Hunter St. Bridge

PROVIDED FOR IN DOMINION GOVERNMENT'S ESTIMATES

(Special to the Review)

Otawa, April 1.—Peterborough has been allowed $50,000 towards the Hunter Street Bridge in the Dominion Government's estimates and it is understood that the other works hitherto provided for, such as the new public building will be proceeded with as soon as the Government can arrange, having regard to their obligations to the soldiers and Canada's obligations arising after the war.

No public buildings in constitsencces appear in the estimates.

BELGRADE IS NOW REPUBLIC

DYNASTY DEPOSED — CROWN PRINCE ALEXANDER WAS ACTING REGENT.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, April 2.—The newspaper Vetcherni Listy of Agram, Jugo Slavia, announces that the dynasty of Kara Georgevitch has been deposed and a republic proclaimed in Belgrade, the capital of Serbia and Jugo Slavia.

Cagram, or Zagreba, is the capital of Croatia, which forms one of the three parts of Jugo Slavia, or the kingdom of the Serbs, Croates and Slovenes.

Crown Prince Alexander has been acting as regent of Serbia for several years for his father, King Peter I.

GERMANY WILL NOT PERSIST

WITHDRAWS OPPOSITION TO USE OF DANZIG BY THE POLISH TROOPS

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, April 2.—Germany will not persist in her opposition to the use of Danzig by Polish troops on the way from France to Poland, according to advices reaching Paris newspapers

Foch Leaves For Spa.

Marshal Foch, who had planned to leave last night, will leave Paris today for Spa to meet the German representatives to discuss the Danzig question.

The marshal had a long conference Tuesday with Premier Clemenceau.

J. J. TURNER RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT BD. OF TRADE

Large and Enthusiastic Attendance at Board's Annual Meeting in New Chambers—Mr. Thos. Barrie Elected Vice-President by Acclamation —Annual Fees $10.

The Board of Trade met in annual session last evening, and for the first time in the Board's new chambers. These chambers are on the first floor fronting George street in the Bradburn building. They consist of assembly hall, secretary's office and smoking room, all comfortably and cheerfully furnished and decorated. The hall has a seating capacity of 200 when taxed, 150 ordinarily.

The attendance last night was the largest, probably, of any in the history of the Board, commendably enthusiastic, and reflective of its progress during President J. J. Turner's two years' regime. Quite 175 members, representing almost every interest in this city, were present.

J. J. TURNER
Re-Elected For a Third Term, President Board of Trade

Officers Elected.

J. J. Turner, president (re-elected).

Thos. Barrie, vice-president.

B. D. Hall, secretary-treasurer pro tem.

Standing Committees.

The foregoing officers with Messrs. W. R. Breyfogle, J. J. Hartley, Dr. Harvey and Frank Whitehouse were named a committee to strike the standing committees.

Balance of $8.30.

The secretary-treasurer's report, showing disbursements of $178.20, receipts of $186.50, and a balance of $8.30, was adopted.

Against this balance, however, there are $40 in liabilities, which was humorously characterised as high finance.

Economy Shown.

Mr. Thos. Barrie for the committee on furnishing the new rooms, reported an expenditure of $460.05, and that the total amount for this purpose would not exceed $550. The estimate for this work was $1000.

Dr. Harvey and Mr. J. W. Fraser moved the thanks of the Board to the furnishing committee and that their action be endorsed. — Carried unanimously.

Fees To Be $10.

In the absence of its chairman, Mr. J. W. Fraser reported that the ways and means committee had outlined a plan fixing the annual fees at $10 per member, with a service fee of $25 and upwards, according to service rendered. It was the intention, Mr. Fraser explained, to establish a service or credit bureau, which would enlighten members as to the standing of people in the city. This information would, by its investigation and reports, save losses to its members in practically eliminating "bad debts."

President J. J. Turner explained that there are some 200 merchants in Peterborough; were 100 to join this bureau at a fee of $25, there would be thus raised $2500 for the Board of Trade's indispensable working budget of $10,000. And he anticipated a sympathetic contribution of another $2500 from the manufacturers.

The president here pointed out that it is the Board's intention to act independently of the city council where advisable in regard to its activities on occasions when the acquisition by Peterborough of new industries is in question. "Not that we have any intention to compete in such matters," he added, "but we do intend to show that this city has advantages to offer the average industry seeking location."

(Continued on Page 4.)

4 PROHIBITION AGENTS CHARGED WITH MURDER

The Whole Community Is Aroused to the Danger Pitch.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Woodstock, April 2.—With a company of state militia closely guarding the jail and court house the preliminary hearing of four agents of the prohibition commission, charged with murder as the result of the killing of Lawrence D. Hudson and Raymond Shockelford, alleged liquor law violaters was begun here this morning.

State Guards

The prohibition agents, Harry F. Sweet, W. C. Hell, W. B. Dunleavy, and J. P. Sullivan, were brought here last night from Fredericksburg, where they were arrested. They were accompanied by the military company from Richmond, which had been ordered by the Government to proceed to Fredericksburg and escort them to Woodstock.

Feeling Aroused

Intense feeling has been aroused Shackelford and Hudson were killed a month ago when they refused to stop their automobile to be searched for liquor.

J. H. Burnham vs Michael Clark

GREAT INTEREST BY PRESS IN PROSPECTIVE DUEL BETWEEN THESE GENTLEMEN

(Special to the Review)

Ottawa, April 1.—The Press Gallery is taking a great interest in the prospective duel at Peterborough between Mr. Clark, the famous free trader, and orator of Red Deer and Mr. J. H. Burnham, of West Peterborough. It is to come off, it is understood at Easter under the auspices of the Unionist Asrociaion. The press say they will be fully represented and will send a deputation from the gallery.

Huns Investigate Capt. Fryatt Case

PROBING THE EXECUTION OF CAPTAIN OF BRITISH STEAMER "BRUSSEL."

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, April 2.—An investigation was begun this morning before an imperial military court into the case of Captain Charles Fryatt the British Mercantile Marine Commander who was executed by the Germans in 1916 after his conviction by a German court martial of having attempted to ram a submarine with his vessel, the Great Eastern Railway steamer, "Brussel". A large number of witnesses appeared for [illegible]

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept. ... 132 Editorial ... 43J....

Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1919

AN EMPIRE HERO.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG is an Empire hero, under whose chief command fell the British forces from home as well as from overseas. During his long command—the longest of any commander in the great war—he won the respect and admiration of enemies as well as friends. Out of citizen armies of sports, clerks, farmers and such like he created fighting machines against which the long-trained hordes of Germany broke again and yet again. The half will never be told of the bulldog tenacity and incomparable heroism of Sir Douglas, his generals and his men. Modest in victory, undaunted in reverse, Sir Douglas set an example to his men which stimulated and encouraged them to almost incredible resistance and offence. Victor of the Somme, Arras, Cambrai, Douai, Valenciennes, Mons, he has earned the everlasting gratitude of his Empire and the civilised world.

The London Times doubts whether Sir Douglas Haig "understood as early as some others how vital was the principle of unity of command to the success of our arms." But the Westminster Gazette says that "We shall know more about that when the full history of the years 1917 and 1918 comes to be written. We will hazard the conjecture, meanwhile, that Sir Douglas understood much better than some who instructed him on this subject the difference between unity of command and command by an inter-allied committee. For months together the deceptive phrase 'unity of command' was invariably presented as a means to dispersal of effort. The Allied forces, British included, were to be pooled in the hands of some Supreme War Council, which was to move them about the great chess-board at its will, and especially to take them from the 'over-insured' Western front to other regions, Saloniki and the Balkans, the road to Vienna, and so forth, where an imaginative strategy would enable them to outflank the enemy. Sir Douglas Haig and Sir William Robertson never did greater service than when they resisted these enterprises. A sure instinct told them that the Western front was not only the great offensive but the great defensive front, and that, whatever brilliant manoeuvres might executed elsewhere, all would be lost if a German army reinforced from the East were to break through a depleted line in France and Flanders. Mercifully they prevailed, or prevailed at least enough to prevent the final German rush of March and April, 1918, being more than a temporary success. When the real unity of command became necessary, the unity of all arms on the principal fighting front, the British Commander-in-Chief played a foremost and highly honorable and chivalrous part. Nothing can diminish the laurels which the great French Generalissimo has earned, but Marshal Foch would be the last to suggest to us that Sir Douglas Haig was a mere subordinate in the subsequent months. He had his part assigned to him, but within that part, which with all modesty we may describe as a decisive part, he and his staff were free agents, and displayed skill, daring and initiative unsurpassed in any previous phase of the campaign."

INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH.

A LEAFLET has just been issued by the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research explaining the Imperial Government's scheme for the encouragement of industrial research, for which a million sterling has been set aside. "The broad features of the scheme are already wel known," says the London Times. "But the leaflet makes clear a point which is of considerable interest, namely, the question of the ownership of the results of investigation. The approved research associations to be formed under the scheme will in the first place hold the results of their researches in trust for the benefit of their respective members. But with a view to safeguarding the national interests where new discoveries are made with the assistance of parliamentary funds, the Government will keep in its own hands the power to veto any proposal made by an association to communicate the results of research to a foreign person or to a foreign corporation. The Government also reserves to itself the right, after consultation with the association concerned, to communicate the results of discoveries to other industries for their use on suitable terms."

ENCOURAGING FORECAST.

THE NEW YORK Commercial now finds cause for optimism rather than pessimism in the labor outlook for the near future. And when it gives the reasons for this view that European countries will restrict emigration on a large scale during their period of reconstruction, and that aliens are re-migrating and will continue to re-migrate on a large scale because of the need of labor in their home countries, Canada may well assume the same hopeful outlook as our contemporary. For Canada, like the United States, is the objective of a large number of foreign emigrants each year, and a cessation of such immigration and a return home of unnaturalized aliens would in an appreciable degree affect us as well as our neighbors. The New York Commercial is a recognized authority on trade, commerce and labor, and the following from its columns gives even Canada reason to reflect with a little more hope on its present unemployment problem:

"The unemployment situation presents a problem of adjustment rather than of oversupply. Heads of various large corporations, accustomed to dealing with a great number of employes and conversant with the conditions and influences surrounding these, regard the present situation much less seriously than does the genral public. They feel that as the new distribution of labor coincident with the return of the country to a peace basis progresses it will be found that on the whole there is a place for everyone. General perception of this view, based on reasonable grounds, wil do much to restore the confidence which plays so important a part in the rebuilding of normal prosperity.

"It is obvious that the steady accretions to the supply of labor provided prior to the war by immigration have been virtually suspended during the conflict. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1915, the first year of the war, the number of aliens entering this country as immigrants was 326,700, only a fourth of the total recorded in the last pre-war year. In 1916 the total was 298,826; in 1917, 295,403, and in the year ended June 30, 1918, only 110,618—an aggregate in the four war years made of only a little more than 1,000,000. In the previous four years the total had been four times that number.

"Immigration on a large scale will not be resumed soon. Countries such as Austria-Hungary and Italy, which were furnishing half of our alien entrants before the war, will not permit an exodus of able-bodied citizens during the years of reconstruction. These are needed in their home countries—a fact applying to Europe quite generally.

"There are evidences, moreover, that an extraordinary number of unnaturalised immigrants are preparing to return to the countries of their birth, particularly to those of Central Europe. Widespread propaganda, engineered by men and organizations representative of these races, has been at work even during the war years, so that now the steerage facilities of transatlantic companies are reported to be booked ahead for many months. This situation in itself presents aspects, apart from its bearing on the labor problem, which may appropriately be referred to here but not discussed at any length. An exodus of a large number of our alien residents embraces the export of an immense volume of savings. One authority, asserting that the number of immigrants ready to return abroad when facilities permit totals close to 5,000,000, points out that even in normal years our resident immigrants export $400,000,000. As the remigration of normal years has been about 400,000, it is evident that a remigration of several times that number would take a very large amount of money out of the country.

"The labor supply will decrease, of course, as remigration expands and immigration continues small. In addition, our participation in the war has removed at least half a million of our able-bodied men, and this adds to the prospect of a shortage in the supply of workers. It would scarcely seem that employment will be lacking for men who really want and seek work. The speed at which the redistribution of labor is effected will depend in no small measure, for the present at least, upon the willingness of workers to accept the tasks which come to their hands. But, in course of time, the new and broader opportunities which are before virtually all departments of industrial and commercial activity should have made suitable and satisfying places for the great part of the working population.

"Referring again to the matter of remigration of numbers of our alien population, it is to be noted that, while it might enlarge the working opportunities for our natural-born and our naturalized citizens, it is not altogether to be desired, even apart from the extensive export of savings it would involve. The chief inspiration for remigration is the hunger for land. This hunger is utilised by alien propagandists as a means for obstructing Americanization. It is difficult for the ordinary alien worker in this country to lay by sufficient savings to establish himself as a farmer, and he is induced in many cases to save only for the purpose of returning abroad, where he can satisfy his ambition. But America needs farmers, and as the great preponderance of young men in this country are averse to agricultural activities, it would be wise if our Americanization efforts included some practical scheme whereby the alien, upon becoming naturalized, could be aided in his desire to possess a little corner of earth upon which to make his garden.

"Americanisation, by the way, has nothing in it of danger for the native American worker. This country has work for more than its own wage-earning population, and it is important that those who come to us from foreign countries shall give of their best to the building of American prosperity. This is impossible so long as the immigrant holds to old country traditions and maintains old country customs and associations."

NOTES AND COMMENT.

APRIL BRINGS showers and May flowers, and sometimes belated winter weather.

• • • • •

DAYLIGHT SAVING is a summer measure, but that is cold comfort these first mornings of early rising.

• • • • •

LOOK OUT for the post office clock; it's an hour behind city time, having, like the farmers, declined to adopt daylight saving. This clock is going to cause considerable confusion.

• • • • •

THE LOCAL Board of Trade has now a weight and power behind it that is bound to make that body an influence not only in this community but in the Province. All that is needed now is a permanent secretary with the time and means to devote to the business of a live board of trade.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

GET TOGETHER.

(Montreal Herald.)

A self-contained nation has a due proportion of farmers and manufacturers, and their interests are not necessarily antagonistic. They should be identical. The needs of both should be considered in relation to the welfare of the nation as a whole, and instead of fighting each other the manufacturers' association and the grain growers' organizations should seek to arrive at a basis for a working agreement to live and let live.

DOUBTFUL.

(Buffalo Express.)

Is it complimentary to the United States, or otherwise, that most of the troubled and troublous little countries want us for their "mandatory"? Have they such beautiful and touching confidence in us, or do they merely think we're easy?

THE ANCIENT BRITONS.

(Christian Science Monitor.)

It has been thought by some that the Britons, when Rome conquered their country, were little better than savages; but the researches of the coin collector gave them a much higher status. For over a century before the Roman conquest gold mines had been worked and coins of several denominations had been made in gold and other metals. Trade had been developed, and a real state of civilisation, however inferior to that of the conquerors, must have existed in what the Roman geographers named Britannia.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

(By Lee Pape.)

Im reeding a book with a red cover called In the Days of the Round Table, all about knights fighting each other with speers, and tawking the way they used to tawk and diffrent things, being pritty ixciting, even without the picktures, and to-nite while we was eating suppir I sed, Methinks this soop is good.

It sounds all rite, sed my sister Gladdis. Meening I was making too mutch noise drinking it, and pop sed And ware do you get that methinks stuff?

Hes bin tawking like that all day, sed ma, its out of some book hes reeding and its enuff to drive a persin crazy.

Ods boddykins methinks it dident drive the peeple krazy wen they use to speek like that all the time, eftsoon, so methinks wy should it jest in one day? I sed.

Izzent that perfeckly ridicklise? sed ma.

I dont see mutch sents to it myself, sed pop. And we got past the soop and kepp on eating, and I sed, Methinks theres a heck of a lot of pepper in these tomatoes, gazooks.

If you dont like a thing you dont haff to eat it. Ive told you that owffen enuff, and I dont want you to call peeple gazooks. I dont care wy book youre reeding, sed ma.

The boy means gadzooks, its merely an old fashioned exclamation, sed pop, and ma sed, I dont care wat it is, I wont have him calling me one.

And we kepp on eating suppir and I sed, Mary, come up, methinks I want some more buttir, gazooks.

Benny Potts, wat did I tell you, now this has gone far enuff. I dont like that werd and I dont like eny of those werds, and if peeple used to tawk like that it was there own bizniss and theres no reeson I should suffir, sed ma.

Benny, sed pop.

Sir? I sed.

Can the King Arthur stuff, sed pop.

Wich I did.

THE FURNACE.

(By Walt Mason.)

I have closed the furnace door till King Winter has returned; and the ashes on the floor represent the coin I've burned; countless tons of costly coal have stripped down my meagre roll; oh, gee whiskers, how my soul for the breath of spring has yearned! There's a sort of solemn bliss when we close the furnace door, knowing that till tempests hiss we shall shovel coal no more; many summer days must pass, we shall mow a lot of grass, grow a lot of garden sass, ere we seek the coal man's store. Oh, the furnace has a thirst and a hunger out of sight; feed it till you'd think 'twould burst, and it still has appetite; when the winds are cold and raw and the snow is in the shaw, you must feed its greedy maw all the day and half the night. It's a Moloch that demands sacrifices every hour; taking from our weary hands money that we need for flour, money that we need for boots and for beets and parsnip roots; and it doesn't care three hoots that our need is dire and dour. I have pawned my overcoat, put a mortgage on the bull, that the red and glowing throat of the furnace might be full; so I'm glad that stunt is o'er, till again the blizzards roar; spring is smiling at the door and she seems to be all wool.

HASTINGS.

(Special Correspondence.)

Hastings, April 2. — Miss Edna Dodd of Peterborough has been a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dodd.

Miss F. Carter is visiting friends in Havelock.

Mrs. V. German and Mrs. John Oliver spent last week the guests of friends in Cobourg.

Mr. Ed. Dodd of Peterborough spent a few days at his home in town.

Mrs. William Tate is visiting in Lindsay at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Staples.

Mrs. Roy Watson of Norwood spent the past week the guest of her parents, Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Hess.

Miss Beryl Montgomery spent the week-end at her home in Roseneath.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Mitchell of Oak Hills spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Collins.

A reception will be given in the town hall Thursday evening for Privates W. Abbott, H. Dodd, H. Shorter and E. Fowlds, all of whom have recently returned from overseas.

Mr. W. F. Runnels of Peterborough was in town on Tuesday.

Miss K. German, of Hanna, Alta., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. German.

Mrs. A. Tucker of Peterborough has been visiting friends here.

SCHOOL GROUND MAY YIELD FILL

BOARD OF WORKS MAKES REQUEST OF BOARD OF EDUCATION IN THIS REGARD

The Board of Education held their regular meeting last night. There was not much business to be dealt with outside of the routine matters and consequently the session was not a long one.

Mr. W. R. Morris, secretary of the Peterborough branch of the Navy League, wrote the Board requesting permission to use the Collegiate Institute hall for a meeting to be addressed by Seaman Peter Wright of the Seamen's Union.

Fill From Playground.

R. H. Parsons, city engineer, wrote the Board in connection with the proposed arrangement, by which the fill for the new Hunter street bridge is to be taken from the grounds of the King George School in Ashburnham.

He felt that 20,000 cubic yards of fill could be taken out at this place, having gone over the grounds with Trustee A. A. Fowler. The grounds would be left level and he was sure the arrangement would work out to mutual advantage.

Truancy Report.

Mr. F. W. Miller, truancy officer, submitted his report. According to it there were 7 absent through sickness, 6 truants returned to school 1 police court case held over, 5 private reports. I found 3 over age and 2 promised to return to school.

Reports on Attendance.

—Public Schools—

	Roll	Average	P.C.
March totals ...	2637	2389	90

—Collegiate Institute—

	Roll	Average	P.C.
March totals ...	365	350	..

Payment of the following accounts was confirmed upon motion of Trustees E. G. Patterson and J. W. Worth:

J. Taylor, account per order ..	$ 8 38
M. Flaherty, account per order	3 00
Y.M.C.A., for use of gymnasium for March	120 00

Treasurer's Report.

The report of the treasurer was submitted as follows:

City treasurer, municipal grant	$11000 00
H. R. H. Kenner, balance C. I. fees	22 50
Rent Cedar street house...	5 00
Government grant, agriculture	20 00
	$11047 50

Finance Committee's Report.

Chairman E. G. Patterson of the Finance Committee, submitted the report of that body:

Your Finance Committee beg to report and recommend the payment of the following accounts:

Alexander & Miller, electric fixtures and repairs	$365 69
The Cressman Co., burlap ..	50
Treblicock Bros., stationery ..	1 80
J. J. Turner & Sons, repairs to flag pole	8 25
Alex. Gibson, repairs to clock	1 00
Wilfred Boorman, repairs to lockers	10 00
Hydro Electric Power Commission, gas account	5 95
Adamson & Dobbin, repairs ..	24 40
Peterborough Utilities Commission, light and power..	42 94
W. R. Turner, repairs	65 98
Brown Bros., for mimeograph and mimeoscope	180 00
Elliotts' store, kindergarten supplies	6 99
J. W. Edwards, goods for Domestic Science	5 13
Wm. Madill, goods for school nurse	8 85
Nelson Typewriter Co., typing art and music work	3 50
W. H. Hamilton, goods for Domestic Science	13 70
Peterborough Milk Products Ltd., milk	96
The Roy Studio, enlarged photos and slides	59 00
Lytle Cartage Co., carting..	75
Peterborough Examiner, printing	14 50
The Turnbull Co., supplies for Domestic Science	75 41
R. J. Soden, stationery for truant's office, etc.	7 25
Spencer Lens Co., goods, Science Department	20 78
Jas. Juby, account, Industrial Classes	23 77
Review Printing Co., account, Industrial Classes	32 04
Peterborough Examiner, account, Industrial Classes..	15 45
F. J. MacPherson, account, Industrial Classes	2 00
E. Wand, acct. industrial .. Classes	15 62
Jas. Grady, account, Industrial Classes	48

Your Committee also recommend that the treasurer be paid the sum of $15.00 for petty cash.

There is no objection to a man's blowing his own horn, but it's the time he always selects that makes us tired.

HOW FUGITIVE STOLE PASSPORTS

SKILLFUL FAKER WITH WIFE IN ENGLAND WEDS AMERICAN HEIRESS.

New York, April 2.—The story of how a fugitive from British justice, with stolen passports and a winning address, was able to personate a British officer, to swindle by fake charities New Yorkers whose confidence he gained and eventually to marry a young women who had no idea he had left a wife and two children in England, is told in papers [illegible] by Justice [illegible] in the Supreme Court here.

The American wife Florence Brainerd Grimwood, of Chevy Chase Washington, D. C., secured an order permitting service by publication of a copy of the summons and complaint in an annulment suit she has started against William Robert Archer, also known as Willam F. G Grimwood, now believed to be in England.

She says that Archer, posing as Captain Grimwood of the British army, arrived in New York on a French liner in the spring of 1916. On the boat he gained the sympathy of fellow passengers by reason of the pain he suffered from a supposed bullet wound.

He spoke modestly of membership in a proud English family and of his having been a candidate for Parliament, of his having been a physician with officers in Harley street, London, and of having loyally given up his practice and gone to war with the first division of British regulars. His tale obtained for him introduction into the homes of well-known New Yorkers, at one of which he met the complainant.

WOOLEN MILLS OPENED AGAIN

AFTER SIX WEEKS INACTIVITY 200 OF 3,000 STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

Washington, April 1.— Woollen mills in the Garfield N.J., district opened for operations today, and 150 deputy sheriffs, mostly men recently discharged from the army, have been sworn in to protect workers against any strikers who do not return to the mills.

Despite the fact that the hankerchief mills opened at Passaic yesterday, only about 200 workers of the 3,000 returned to work. The men have been on strike for six weeks and demand virtually the same as the woollen workers, 35 per cent increase in wages, a forty-four hour week and recognition of the union. The mill owners are willing to grant a forty-eight hour week.

DOWNEYVILLE.

(Special Correspondence)

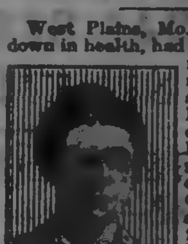
Downeyville, April 2.—Miss Geraldine Murray, who has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Martin McAuliffe, of East Emily, has returned home.

Mr. Philip Carroll of Toronto is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll.

Mrs. McAuliffe of East Emily, who has been visiting her daughters, Mrs. Neil Murray and Mrs. Jas. Guiry, has returned home.

Mr. Leonard Clancy of Peterboro is visiting friends in the community.

The man who is looking for a soft place without honest labor can usually find it right under his hat.



WOMAN SAVED MUCH SUFFERING

By taking Friend's Advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

West Plains, Mo.—"I was all run down in health, had indigestion and terrible cramps every month so I was unable to do anything. I had tried every doctor in West Plains, also every remedy I could think of, without relief. One day when I was suffering greatly a friend was at my house and said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I did, and through it I found relief from my suffering and I really believe it saved my life. It does not seem as though I can say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine for the health it has brought me."—Miss CORA LEE HALL, West Plains, Mo.

Perhaps it may seem an extravagant statement to say that this great remedy saved a life; but women like Mrs. Hall, to whom it has brought health, appreciate the danger and suffering they have escaped too well to doubt it! All who suffer should try it. Why risk life and health without it?

For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Playing with loaded dice is shaky business.

The cup that cheers is a noisy piece of crockery.

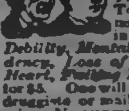
The only thing that beats a good wife is a bad husband.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever—if the cost price doesn't leak out.

It is better for a man to forgive an enemy than to take a sound thrashing.

The ink is entitled to credit for much of the mightiness attributed to the pen.

You cannot judge the size of a man's brain by the amount of noise he makes.



Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins, Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

DO YOU SEW?

A person with imperfect vision cannot do perfect work without proper glasses.

If after sewing a short time, you find your eyes smart and burn you probably need glasses.

At any rate you should have your eyes examined to determine just what is the trouble.

Better have your eyes examined NOW.

M. J. ROCHE

Optometrist & Mfg. Optician

188 Charlotte St. - Peterboro

EMPIRE THEATRE | WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY

Special Feature "The Lust of Ages" This feature was only shown once in Canada, in 6 sets

King Baggot and Marguerite Snow in "The Eagle's Eye," Chapter 16,

"The Raid of the U 53"

2 parts

Pete's Persia Prince," Comedy

PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day

The Famous Screen Star,

RUTH ROLAND in her latest Western Serial

"HANDS UP"

Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

WANTED.

WANTED—HOUSEMAID FOR Y. W. C. A. Apply Superintendent.

WANTED — TWO GENTLEMEN boarders, to room together. Apply 487 Parnell St.

TO RENT.

CAR FOR HIRE—ALL ORDERS promptly attended to. Rates reasonable. J. J. Johnston, 'phone 652w.

LOST.

LOST—ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON on George or Hunter street, small black purse. Reward if left at Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — DISCHARGE PAPERS; made out in the name of John Alexander McArthur. May be had by applying to Harvey Staunton, G.W.V.A.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house is in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

ONE ELLAMS DUPLICATOR. Will make one or 100 copies or more; in good working order. For quick sale, $7.00; worth $20.00. Apply Review office.

FOR SALE — LOT, 30 FEET front by 226 feet deep. Price $185. East City. Apply 308 Mark street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN
Phone 219 395 George St.

Children s Aid Society

— of —
Peterborough City and County
FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN
G. W. POWELL
Asst. Secretary and Inspector
Office, 388 George St. Phone 1044w
Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

Mrs. Hannah Copeland of Newtonville was murdered by her son, Herbert, who is alleged to be religiously insane.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
398 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
395 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C.,
Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 341. Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. R. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
L. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough.
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough ,Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medalist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 222.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L. R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 445

Toronto Savings and Loan
COMPANY
Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Peterborough
Paid-Up Capital . . $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorized by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

VICTORY COLOR COMBINATION

The new victory color combination is shown in this Lady Duff Gordon model by draping the finely creased tucked navy georgette over deep cherry cashmere cloth (soft satin). Cherry colored wood beads emphasize the creasing of the tucks and finish the hem. Same two combinations are used for the girdle and sash.

NAVY BLUE FOR SPRING WEAR

Brilliant Linings, Striped Vests, Braid and Buttons in Gay Array Among Things Forecast.

It is said that fully 90 per cent of the spring suits will be in that favored color of all well-dressed women—navy blue. It is further prophesied, however, states a writer in the Philadelphia Record, that gay touches in the way of colorful linings and bright overcollars will relieve any somberness. Many of them will be in wash materials, chiefly stripes.

Braid trimmings will be in evidence, as will also buttons covered with the fabric. Link buttons, by the way, fabric covered or bone, will be used in the cuffs, quite an odd and refreshing idea for suits.

The lines, it is prophesied, will be little different from the present silhouette, except, perhaps, the box lines of some of the hip-length models. Straight and box lines will predominate generally. A few "chicken" models, disrespectfully so-called, will appear, those having high waistlines and an emphasized flare.

Collars, when they exist, will be of the long shawl variety, suggesting the tuxedo. The collarless square neck will appear on some of the more extreme jackets. Semi-belts will appear at the back and front, but not at the sides. On the average suit the waistline will be normal. There will be a few coats on the wrap order. These will have fitted vests to give them tightness.

TO MAKE CLOTH LOOK NEW

Sizing Is Important and Too Much Stiffening Will Spoil Appearance of the Material.

To have fabrics, after laundering, possess their original appearance, care must be taken with colored materials that they do not fade, and with white materials that they remain snow-white. Aside from this, suggests the department of agriculture, much depends on the sizing of cloth. Too much stiffening spoils its appearance and too little is quite as bad.

Most housekeepers use starch for stiffening ordinary clothing. Starch keeps the clothes clean longer and also acts as an absorbent for stain, thus saving wear on the fiber by making excess friction in laundering unnecessary. Manufacturers add other substances besides starch to their finished mixture and their practices have been adopted in home laundry work with success.

For instance, borax gives smoothness; paraffin, wax or turpentine gives gloss; and alum a certain degree of pliability. The substance used to whiten is bluing, which counteracts the yellow tinge. To use any finishing process successfully the mixture must be carefully worked into the fabric to insure uniform finish. This is done by dipping in and out of the starch and bluing and rubbing well between the hands.

Washing Fluid Recipe.

The following will be found an excellent washing fluid: Five pounds of washing soda, one gallon of cold water, put to boil. While boiling add one pound of chloride of lime and stir well; set aside to settle. Strain through a cloth and cork up in a jug. Put your soiled clothes in ten quarts of water, or enough to cover them, with two handfuls of chipped soap and one pint of fluid.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

◆

Blushes Made to Order.

Tattoo Artists Repair Ravages of Great War

◆

LONDON tattoo artists are working overtime repairing the ravages which war work has wrought to the complexions of the ladies. In fact as one of them said to the correspondent, they have become more beauty doctors than anything else.

Thousands of women who were unaccustomed to daily toil have been engaged in work of national importance during the war, and the close atmosphere of office or workshop has taken the bloom from their cheeks and rendered once rosy complexions pallid and sallow. Face creams and rouge sticks, lip salve and powder have done something to effect a transformation, but these methods involve constant attention and care as well as frequent renewal.

So ladies of all classes have flocked to the tattoo merchant to have the tint of a blush rose permanently stamped on their features by means of roseate pigments worked in by the electric needle.

A leading London professor of the art said that his practice had developed to a remarkable extent of late. "All sorts of ladies come to my studio to have permanent complexions tattooed on their faces," he said. "The majority of them are what you might call 'society ladies.' When the electric needle has done its work they never look tired or wan; they get up in the morning looking as fresh as a flower, no matter how tired they were with festivities of the night before. Many of them improve the color of their lips by having them tattooed a brilliant red.

"Apart from our 'beauty doctor' work, we are very busy tattooing ordinary designs, and there again many of our clients belong to the 'upper classes.' They include ladies of title and even royalty. I know at least one European queen who carries a splendid example of the tatooist's art. I should think quite three parts of the aristocracy carry tatto marks —generally just above the knee— and the designs are invariable dragons, butterflies, snakes or the family crest.

"Soldiers, too, are very keen on tattooing. A few days ago I did a dragon in five shades on an officer's chest. It took two sittings and was perfect when finished. The Tommies usually go in for regimental badges or sentimental designs on their arms, and I have tatooed many of the Waac girls with the badge of their unit.

"I had a strange commission to execute the other day. A young couple came to me with the request that I would tattoo something on each of them that would be complete when they were together. I tattooed on their hands a design showing a heart pierced by an arrow. Half the design was on each right hand and done in such a way that it was only complete when their hands were clasped.

"Sometimes we are asked to obliterate badges of love that has waned. In the first flush of his passion the ardent lover has the name of his girl tattooed on his arm. By and by the love cools and he comes back to us and asks us to remove it. We can't do that, but we can turn it into a butterfly or a flower, and that is what we do."

A Link With Tennyson.

The death of Mrs. R. W. M. Pope, which occurred recently, leaves Oxford distinctly and consciously the poorer. Cecilia Mary Tennyson was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. Horatio Tennyson, the youngest of twelve children, brothers and sisters of the Victoria poet laureate. Cecelia, called after the aunt whose wedding to Prof. E. L. Lushington is commemorated in the epilogue to "In Memoriam," spent her girlhood walking and talking constantly with her illustrious uncle, inheriting the entree to the famous Farringford circle, and imbibing and enjoying its tradition.

She will be sincerely mourned both in Oxford and also by the wide circle of her own and her husband's acquaintance, and not least by not a few of the large body of non-collegiate students, scattered up and down the world, who became, when he was appointed censor, her husband's special charge, whom she made in her years of health her own care also, and whom her delicate kindness, her gracious presence, and winning sympathy laid under an obligation gratefully recognised. She married Dr. Pope just forty years ago, in 1878. Through her mother she was connected with the well-known Lincolnshire family of Cary-Elwes.

Health Improvement in Brazil.

The famous saying "Brazil is a vast hospital" is in a fair way to being outlawed. Yellow fever is stamped out and the government has made an immense appropriation for supplying quinine to the entire community. To these achievements must be added the labors of the Oswaldo Cruz institute in the realms of scientific prevention of communicable diseases of all kinds. —Brazil-Medico.

Armageddon.

Armageddon, mentioned in Revelation 16:16, was the plain of Esdraelon, the scene of Israelitish victories, and hence the term is used to signify the scene of a momentous test of any kind, especially of a decisive battle. It was used by the Progressive national convention in 1912, and has been frequently used in connection with the war.

Many sermons cease to be interesting when the dinner bell rings.

RED, WHITE AND GREEN
IS THE COLOR SCHEME OF THE ONLY PACKAGE CONTAINING THE GENUINE

Accept no substituted imitations—No other cereal food is made or sold by us

Kellogg's
TOASTED
CORN FLAKES
THE STANDARD CANADIAN FOOD

REFUSE the "Just-as-good" variety—And remember, Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes are only made in Canada by

THE BATTLE CREEK TOASTED CORN FLAKE COMPANY, Limited
HEAD OFFICE AND PLANT
LONDON, ONT.
21

BLOUSE IS COSTLY

Garment Almost as Expensive as Entire Frock.

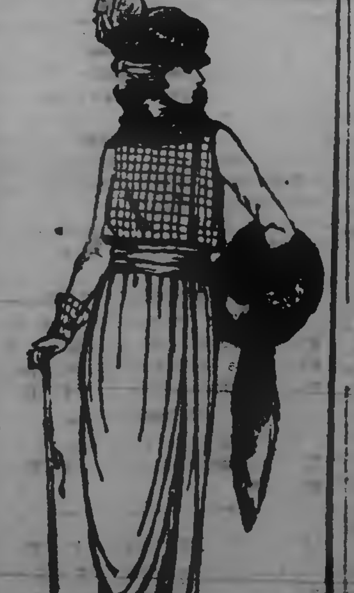
Model Is So Simple That the Making at Home Would Not Be a Difficult Task.

It is impossible to eliminate the peplum or costume blouse from style discussions and reviews at the present time, because this garment is one of the most interesting and most talked-of items of the wardrobe. When an out-of-the-ordinary style is introduced it is usually taken up by the cheapest manufacturers and dressmakers, and developed in such inferior material and with such poor workmanship that it quickly loses caste.

This has not been the case with the long blouse. It seems safe to say, writes a correspondent, that for the present at least the woman who wishes one of these blouses must either buy material and make it or have it made, or else pay a very high price for it. Most of these blouses shown in the shops cost as much as an entire frock. Undoubtedly this accounts for the fact that up to the present time they are worn only by very well-dressed and smartly groomed women.

The blouse shown in the sketch is extremely good-looking and at the same time it is so simple that making it at home would not be difficult. The foundation of the blouse, which is a little longer than the overblouse, is satin. Either black, white or colored lace may be used over this. The garment would be lovely made of white or maize-colored satin with overblouse of black lace, a skirt of soft black satin to accompany it.

A narrow bead fringe finishes the edges of the blouse. The satin foundation is sleeveless. The blouse can be more easily made and more easily slipped on if the two sections are made separate.



Costume Blouse of Satin and Lace.

For very early spring wear some of the clever designers are showing long blouses of figured foulard to be worn with white satin or silk jersey cloth skirts.

A blouse such as the one shown in the sketch, worn with a handsome silk or satin skirt, makes a costume sufficiently dressy for any afternoon function.

NEW MODEL IN SPRING SUIT

© Western Newspaper Union

This very smart spring suit is made in a leather shade and tuxedo cut. This is a chic suit and promises to be an exceptionally strong favorite.

FOR NEW CUSHION COVERINGS

Ratine, Crash, Monk's Cloth and Velvet Are Among the Attractive Materials Being Used.

The sofa pillow will probably always be one of the essential elements in home-making, because it combines real comfort with its attractive appearance. As a result of its popularity, however, it is not infrequently in need of a fresh covering, so that it may retain its decorative value in the room of which it is a part. Round pillows have been particular favorites, many being made of gay-colored silks, trimmed with gold braid and occasional tassels. These cushions are usually shirred at the outside edge and bound with braiding. Beginning near the center, circular bands of tiny gold braid have been sewed on at regular intervals, to hold the shirring in place over the sides of the pillow.

In contrast to these delicate coverings, a number of more practical pillows are being made of ratine, crash, monk's cloth and velvet materials. Very attractive are those which are embroidered with bright-colored worsteds in flower clusters, finished with a row of black wooden beads around the edge. The beads are sewed on with several worsted threads, to match the design work. These pillows vary in shape, round, square and oblong, to suit the design worked upon them.

An artist has a striking couch cover of black satin, splashed with several large disks of emerald green, appliqued at points to break up the spacing into good composition, and her pillows are of solid black and green with cords and tassels of the contrasting color.

Valuable African Tree.

A tree known as the shea is beginning to attract commercial attention in Western Africa. It supplies the natives not only with nuts, which they highly prize, but with a butter that may become an article of commercial importance. It is already exported to Europe, where makers of artificial butter find use for it.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Water in which rice has been boiled is a capital thing to use for mixing cake.

Always keep your gas stove perfectly clean. Gas cannot give out full heat through dirty burners.

To bake potatoes quickly, let them stand in boiling water for a few minutes before putting them in the oven.

Egg stains in linen should be soaked in cold water—never in hot, which would make them almost impossible to remove.

Equal quantities of paraffin and vinegar make a good and cheap furniture polish; be sure to shake the bottle before using.

When dishes used for cooking have become discolored, rub them with damp salt until all stain is removed.

A marble boiled in milk, porridge, custards, etc., will automatically do the stirring as the liquid cooks, and so prevent burning.

Scatter salt on a carpet when sweeping, and you will not only find it has a cleansing effect, but that it also keeps away moths.

Liquid ammonia is invaluable for washing silver, softening bath water and producing a good lather when washing woolens.

Change in Favors.

According to manufacturers of favors and novelties for social affairs and other similar purposes, the demand seems to be for those along patriotic lines. With the recent change of events, however, it is thought that the call will be for more staple articles.

Round Neckline.

It seems that the round semidecollete neckline is the favored one for the winter's dressy blouses. For tailored blouses, the high turnover collar of lace or material like the blouse and worn with a dark tie or ribbon, is the best style.

How Man's Strength Fluctuates.

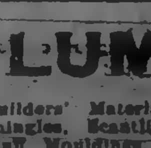
The strength of males increases rapidly from twelve to nineteen years, and more slowly and regularly up to thirty years, after which it declines. The strength of females increases at a more uniform rate from nine to nineteen years, more slowly to thirty, after which it falls off.

Something Worse.

"Remember, son, Garfield drove mules on a tow path and Lincoln split rails." "I know, dad; but, say, did any of these presidents ever crank a cold motor in a blizzard for half an hour before he discovered that he didn't have any gasoline?"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

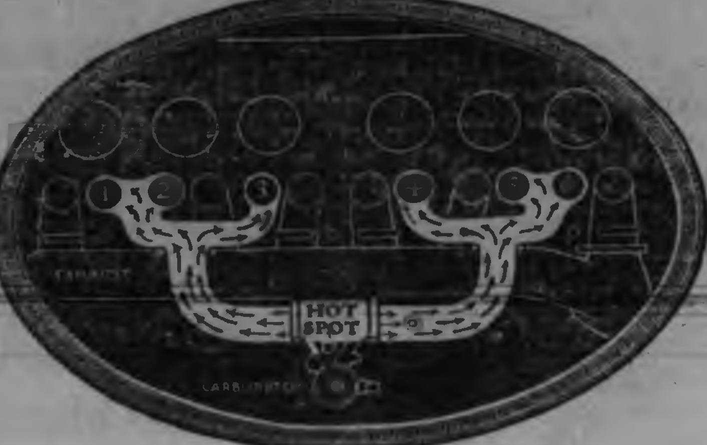
Much Wastage of Potatoes.

The annual potato crop of the United States is around 400,000,000 bushels. Government statistics show that of this at least 75,000,000 bushels are lost. This wastage is due to the culls, rotting and freezing of potatoes in shipment and the lack of nearby markets.



Cook's Cotton Root Compound
A safe, reliable regulating medicine. [illegible] No. 1, $1; No. 2, $3; No. 3, $5 per box. Sold by all druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

LUMBER
Builders' Materials of all kinds—Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Mill Stuff, Mouldings, Castings, Sash and all kinds of Finish; Boxes and Box Shooks; Slabs and Mill Wood.
Alf. McDonald Estate



The Ram's-horn—able assistant to the Hot Spot, which makes Chalmers a great car

THERE has been so much favorable comment on the Hot Spot device of the Chalmers that often the Ram's-horn of this great car is overlooked.

The Ram's-horn completes the magnificent work of the Hot Spot, the main purpose of which is to fletcherize or "crack up" and heat the gas coming from the carburetor.

Having done its work the Hot Spot passes the 100% conditioned gas on to the Ram's-horn. Now here is where an important job begins.

Gas is a peculiar thing. It "sticks in corners," "collects at any angle," goes back to its raw state unless it is handled quickly and scientifically.

So the Ram's-horn, as one might gather from the name, is without sharp corners, has easy bends and entices the gas smoothly into each cylinder. The inside of it is not a rough casting. It is as smooth as glass.

Note the drawing above. See that the distance from the Hot Spot to each cylinder is the same. That is the great secret of the Ram's-horn.

Most cars have a manifold that feeds gas into one cylinder, whatever is left over goes on into number two, the residue to number three and so on.

Cylinder number six is usually "starved" or gets "raw gas."

Thus you see why the Chalmers engine runs so smoothly, why it gets every last bit of power out of gas, why cold weather does not affect its starting, and why it runs cool on a warm day.

If you have not looked over a present day Chalmers you have an incomplete education on the modern motor car. For Chalmers now is considered one of the few great cars of the world.

CHALMERS MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, Limited
WINDSOR, ONT.

G. A. Gillespie, Peterboro, Ont.

J. J. TURNER

(Continued from Page 1.)

Mr. F. D. Kerr thought the membership fee should be so graded as not to shut out desirable members who could not afford payment of $10. He suggested a $10 and $5 fee.

Mr. G. O. Cameron opined that the Board of Trade never was a success with a $2 fee. Perhaps a fee of $25 or more would make for increased membership and progress.

Mr. J. J. Hartley was not much in favor of "degrees" in the Board of Trade. Men, he contended who could not afford the $10 fee would prefer to deny themselves membership rather than be characterized as $5 members. "Put all on one footing," he urged, "on one level. There is no man in this room better than another."—(Applause.)

Mr. Vincent Eastwood — "A $10 fee is necessary to meet the Board's expenses."

Dr. Harvey, talking in favor of the $10 basis, said: "What they did in Goderich ought to be done here. When I lived in Goderch the cemetery was the only live spot in the town." He contened that the city which objected to a $10 or $25 Board of Trade fee would never amount to anything.

Messrs. J. W. Fraser and G. O. Cameron moved that the ways and means committee's suggestion for a fee of $10 be adopted and that the Board express its confidence in that committee. This was carried.

Messrs. C. A. Canfield and F. D. Kerr had moved an amendment that the fees be $10 and $5, but they subsequently withdrew in favor of the motion.

Good Roads.

The unfinished business of good roads coming up. Mr. R. B. Rogers, president of the Farmers' Union, reported that at a meeting to be held shortly prominent speakers would instruct misinformed farmers on this subject.

On motion of Mr. W. H. Bradburn and Mr. R. B. Rogers, the Board heartily endorsed the resolution of the City Council asking the Government to take over the Peterborough-Port Hope road as a provincial highway.

Bouquets and Acknowledgments.

The different sections of the Board had reported the following executive nominees:

President—Messrs. J. J. Turner, W. R. Breyfogle.

Vice-President — Messrs. Frank Whitehouse, W. R. Breyfogle, Thos. Barrie.

Secretary-Treas.—Mr. B. D. Hall, as before.

Mr. Turner's re-election was made one by acclamation, Mr. Breyfogle withdrawing in his favor.

President-elect J. J. Turner was exceedingly gratified at the many complimentary remarks showered on him. He referred with due appreciation to the eight or ten members who had stood loally by him during his two years of office, for without their co-operation and that of others nothing could have been accomplished. He would this year, he said, as heretofore, do all he could to promote the interests of the Board of Trade and of Peterborough.

Mr. Thos. Barrie's election as vice-president was made one by acclamation, after each nominee had indulged in an exchange of eloquent compliments.

Mr. B. D. Hall accepted the office of temporary secretary-treasurer, after being assured that it would be reasonably temporary. Two years ago, he said, he accepted this temporary office, and he is still on the job.

President's Report.

President Turner's report of the year's work, which will be found elsewhere in this issue, was received with commendation and enthusiasm.

Refreshments.

Refreshments were served by Mr. Thos. Hooper at President Turner's expense.

FIRE IN PEACE RIVER

Peace River, Alta., March 31.—A fire broke out at 3 o'clock this morning, completely destroying three of the business places on Main street. The establishments burned out include the Peace River drug store, McNamara Hotel and Cafe, and the Hickey block, including the offices of Revillon Freres Fur Trading Company and the P. Burns meat market. The fire was caused by a stove in the restaurant adjoining McNamara's Hotel. The loss will exceed $30,000.

500 FOR OVERSEAS

New York, April 1.—The appeal of the War Department for 50,000 men for overseas service was answered here today by more than 500 applicants. This number is said to be a record for peace time enlistments.

AIMS OF BOARD OF TRADE HAVE MET WITH SUCCESS

President J. J. Turner's Annual Report—Board Now Represents Every Business Element in the City.

Following is the annual report of President J.J. Turner to the local Board of Trade last evening:

Gentlemen:—

"In reviewing, as it is my duty to do, the activities of our Board since the last annual meeting held about a year ago, I desire you to remember that during the greater part of that time our Country, and in fact all the great nations of the world, were engaged in the most stupendous conflict that has ever been waged on this planet, and as our enemies were putting forth their greatest effort the world was struck with awe as it contemplated the consequences of success of the movement.

Commercial conditions and public policy were not thoroughly understood and appreciated, and naturally enough our Organization was hampered by doubts as to the best course to pursue.

Aims Successful

Our aims have met with absolute success. We stand on the threshold of a new era. Despite the many calls for sacrifice imposed upon us for the past four and a half years, and partly also, because of them, I have every expectation that Canada will show in the reconstruction period that we are now passing through, the ability to adapt itself to the new conditions that confront the world, and to become a very important factor in establishing a sound commercial fabric that will stabilise industry and commerce, and protect national and individual wealth.

In the ancient times, when nation conquered nation, it subjected the defeated to heavy toll in wealth and manhood and created a vassal state. Canada has shown the world the folly of such a course. We, as a free independent unit in the British Empire, have fully justified the Confederation in giving them control of the destiny of this great inheritance which is ours. German colonies have been taken in this war and are the legitimate prizes and spoils of the victor. Statesmen know through experience of Canada that to give the inhabitants of these colonies some control over their affairs is the part of wisdom, and our example will be followed in government and institutions and naturally inquiries will be made regarding our organizations for the development and assistance of trade and commerce.

Work for the Board

This is where the Boards of Trade come in. For the past two years your officers and committees have been at work on a scheme to make the Board of Trade of the City of Peterborough a fully representative body, and as such to render to our city and district the greatest service that has ever been done for it. Large operations of this kind meet with many obstacles and this has been no objection. However, just as the new day dawns for Canada industrially and commercially, we find ourselves here in Peterborough ready to take up our share of the increasing effort, with an organization that is well formed, well manned, but unfortunately not very well lubricated as yet. This organization consists of a central executive or council composed of three representatives of each section of our Board. These representatives are the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the constituent association and are therefore fully conversant with the affairs of their own bodies. The executive council has also for members the President, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board and ex-officio the Mayor of the City for the time being. The affiliated bodies or sections are as follows: Manufacturers, merchants the clearing house, trades and labor council, lawyers, physicians, commercial travellers and contractors. Thus nearly all elements in the business life of the community are represented and meet and discuss matters of importance in harmony, for in an association of this kind all members are actuated by a desire to serve without thought of gain to the individual or class.

Permanent Organization

An organization, to be of service, must be permanent and therefore must have a home. Here you see the home of the Board of Trade. We have secured offices, which we consider adequate for our present needs.

It is our earnest wish and our expectation thta from these rooms will come ideas, plans, co-operation, and works that will be of great benefit to the City of Peterborough and to mankind in general. To accomplish this result it is necessary for every member and every citizen to take the Board of Trade seriously. The officers and executive take it seriously, and are willing to devote their time, talents and money without stint to make it a complete success. What will you do? What should every citizen of this city do? Will you all fall in line now when it means more than perhaps at any time in Canada's history and resolve and pledge yourselves that when a call is made to attend a meeting you will be there, sharp on time, to pay your annual dues you will, send them to the treasurer instead of waiting to be called upon personally, to give your opinion you will do so if you have one, to be a booster you will not knock, and to improve conditions you will do your part. With co-operation of the citizens the Board of Trade can do anything it sets out to do with the City of Peterborough. If all the work is left to one or two or ten the effort required is too great.

Organization Improved

Now what has been done during the past year. As I said previously, our organization has been materially improved. These rooms have been rented and partially furnished and decorated. Supplies have been ordered and we are about ready to get down to business.

Despite our disadvantages in having no meeting place we have held eight council meetings, all of which have been well attended by the representatives of the various bodies and some good work has been accomplished as a result. Among these may be cited the publishing of correspondence on the question of good roads, which is apparently to bear fruit, a deputation to Toronto in September, 1918, for improvement of the C.P.R. train service to Montreal and subsequent correspondence which terminated in a meeting here with officials of the Company when several improvements were promised, the election of two members to the city council, and the introduction of the question of establishing a vocational training school here, and a deputation to Ottawa to endeavor to secure employment for local labor.

Our factories manufacture essential articles and products, and will in common with other Canadian industries soon be operating to capacity again and with the addition of new industries which I expect we shall procure in the near future, I look for greatly increased activity in industrial and commercial affairs here, inquiries are being received from United States firms desiring locations in Canada and Peterborough has the advantage of most communities for manufacturing concerns, and I may here point out that every citizen has a duty placed upon him through his citizenship to act as a publicity agent for his home town whenever the opportunity arises. Peterborough is the best place in the world to live in and there's lots of room for the city to grow. A little appreciation of the advantages enjoyed by us here may be the means of securing a new resident, a distributing house, a factory or a public institution.

I have no fear for the future as far as this city is concerned and as our boys have advertised Canada to the world so will we follow up their good work by doing our full share in reconstruction and in the activities that are sure to follow.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull, and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practise inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions, we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

2/3 OF YOUR MATCH MONEY GOES TO THE GOVERNMENT

The tax on matches amounts to more than the cost of the matches themselves. As a matter of fact, two-thirds of your match money goes to the Government, and one third goes to pay for the material, the labor and the handling of the matches. Ant the tax is the same whether you get good matches or poor ones. When you

Insist on Getting

Eddy's Matches

you avoid paying this heavy tax on an unsatisfactory product. Eddy's matches have been the standard for 67 years. Not only is our output by far the largest of any manufacturer in Canada, enabling us to use expensive automatic machinery which ensures uniformity of product, but our long line of products enables us to select just the proper grades of wood for matches.

When you pay your match tax (as you do every time you buy matches) see that Eddy's name is on the box

The E. B. EDDY CO. Limited
HULL, Canada

MANUFACTURERS OF INDURATED FIBREWARE AND PAPER SPECIALTIES B-5

WARSAW SCHOOL REPORT FOR MAR.

SR. ROOM

CLASS V.— Birdie Greystock 63 p. c.

CLASS SR. IV.— Above 60 p. c. Elsie Tucker, Margret Clare, Helen Bowen, below 60, Hector Munro, Fred Gunn.

CLASS JR. IV.— Above 75, Maye McDonald, Laura Wilson, above 60, Gordon Walls, John Morgan, Norman Crapp.

CLASS SR. III.— Above 75, Viola McQuaig, Melville Gunn, above 60, Evelyn Hawthorne, Hiram Anderson

CLASS JR. III.— Above 75, Florence Clare, above 60, Gwendoline McQuaig, Laura Bowen, below 60, Lilly Lonsberry.

JR. ROOM

CLASS II.—Above 75, Florence Tedford, George Wilson, 60, Gordon Cuff, Kenneth Bell, below 60, Leonard Hawthorne, Eddie Rome. (Donald Davis, Roy Moore, absent.)

CLASS [illegible] 60, Ida Clare, Dora Tedford, above 75, Della Tucker, Jean Bowen, (Leona Gunn, 60,) (Allen Moore, absent.)

JR. FIRST.— Harold Raye.

SR. PRIMER.— in order of merit Ellen Douglas, Geraldine Bell, Ivan Drain, Ruth Mason.

JR. PRIMER.— Valetta Drain, Mary Rose, Harold Payne, Tommy Davis, Elsie Moore, Johnny Miles.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

IF FEVERISH, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SIBERIAN MAIL

J. E. Marrs, superintendent of the Railway Mail Service, Toronto, states that a further despatch for the Siberian Forces will be made from Vancouver on the 11th of April next, per S.S. "Africa Maru."

Want of tact is an incurable infirmity.

BOLSHEVISM IS SPREADING?

Paris, April 1.—Another wireless message sent by Tchitcherin, the Russian Bolshefik Foreign Minister to Bela Kuhn, Foreign Minister in the new Hungarian Government, has been intercepted by the French Government wireless operators. The message was sent last Saturday and deals with the alleged spread of Bolshevism. It says:

"The revolutionary movement certainly is gaining in America. American newspapers say the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan are especially impregnated by Bolshevism.

"A riot has taken place in Philadelphia, which certainly must be attributed to Bolshevist influence."

At the international boxing tournament final events in Toronto five of the championships were won by Canadian boxers and two by the Americans.

MONCUR'S
double-strength
LUNG SYRUP
is
REMARKABLE REMEDY FOR

- Obstinate and Racking Coughs
- Colds
- Congested Lungs
- Bronchitis

People who have used this Remedy, do not Believe there is a Better

PRICE 25c and 50c

Moncur Drug Store 407 George Street

More miles per gallon
More miles on tires

New in Beauty, Old in Virtues, This Maxwell Has Stirred Canada

MEN buying cars today are giving this present day Maxwell searching consideration. For where, this moment, can you get a car, like a Maxwell, the chassis of which has had a 300,000 manufacturing run and the beauty of which has been improved to an astonishing degree?

They're weighing the soundness of the 300,000-all-alike-for-five-years logic and they translate that into reliability supreme.

They know in their own business what changes in plan, in program, mean—how serious the losses in good will and profits—the dissatisfied customers.

Many of them have been "burned" by "new models" in days gone by, and have joined the "never again" club.

So this present day Maxwell has a deep appeal to them; and thousands since January 1 have reached for their check books as soon as they laid eyes on this new Maxwell.

Perhaps it is unfair to say "new" because the chassis is five years old in design. When we say "new" we mean its vastly improved appearance.

There are twenty-four things done to the Maxwell to make it better looking. Sharp angles have been removed; lines straightened; certain corners eliminated; bonnet vents increased in number; three more coats of paint added; fenders lowered; seats thickened three inches; a circassian dash installed; gas tank put in the rear, etc.

See the latest Maxwell, and you'll want one, too.

MAXWELL MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA, Limited
WINDSOR, ONT.

G. A. GILLESPIE,
PETERBORO ONTARIO

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

(Continued from Page One.)

lished here by local, American and English capital give the city industrial prestige. All the city now needs to insure its rapid growth is public spirit and staying quality. If you make a sound base for the city's expansion, creative and business skill will do the rest. Our men of genius, enterprise and courage shall lead us and we shall unite to back them up. That is one reason why you now propose to establish and support your Board of Trade. Here the several sections and committees may meet to blaze the way to new and productive industrial fields.

Parks and Public Grounds.

Let us turn to another feature of the city's need and put another plank in our platform. I do not believe there is anywhere on this continent a more beautiful bit of land and water formation than that within a radious of thirty miles of Peterborough. It is a great natural park of forest and plain, hill and field, lake the river. Nature has been lavish in her gifts to this particular section and has especially favoured the site upon which our city is built. What have we as a city done to help nature? What have we done to preserve or reserve and open up for the enjoyment of our people the woods and grass-worn fields? What have we done to improve the watersides or the long stretches of natural parkway beside the river, the stream or placid lake? To our shame it may be said that we have destroyed and are destroying some of God's rich gifts to our people; this may not have been done intentionally, but because we do not keep the welfare of the common people in our democratic mind.

Peterborough has three parks and four public squares aggregating less than a hundred acre farm. There are no driveways, parkways or boulevards. In a little pamphlet issued by the city it is said: "The parks are large, well laid out, convenient, and admirably adapted for rest and recreation." In another published some years ago by the Board of Trade it is stated that "seventy and one half acres of parks have been retained for the use of children." The parks are advertised as among Peterborough's conspicuous attractions. One would think that these parks resulted from the enterprise, foresight and public spirit of the city itself when in fact the city did nothing: it has not provided a single park. Our three parks were gifts to our people. All are in the north end. There are none within the half mile circle, and none in the east, west, or south.

So far as I know, there is not a single city of equal population or importance in North America that is as barren of public parks and recreation ground as the city of Peterborough now more populous than Peterborough I know of one city, younger though that has twelve parks and many squares aggregating more than eleven hundred acres. In our tense anxiety to promote business we have given away to railways and other corporations lands and water frontages of priceless value to our people. We haven't even safeguarded what nature did for us. We know now what we have lost by not having had foresight. Peterborough is far behind the modern progressive city and yet nature has laid at our feet, so to speak, an unrivaled opportunity—with this glorious gift of nature we can, with a little art and industry and at negligable cost make Peterborough one of the most attractive city in the Dominion if not on this continent.

The name Nicholls is the most honored name in Peterborough. Why? Because to the benefactions of Mrs Charlotte Nicholls, to her public spirit and to her human interest in the welfare and enjoyment of the people among whom she lived this city owes its greatest debt of gratitude. To her beneficence we owe one Nicholls Hospital and Nicholls, Inverlae and Jackson Parks. Is it not strange that the noble example of Mrs. Nicholls has not been followed by many rich men and women to whose prosperity and fortune this city contributed?

I am sure that intelligent, well directed efforts on the part of the Board of Trade will hasten the acquirement of a network of parks and parkways, of playgrounds and beaches for this city where children may romp and have a sense of joyous life and freedom.

Housing and Neighborhoods.

Better building, better housing and better neighborhood conditions is another section in our plan of city building. We must make it worth while for people to live in Peterborough not merely to earn a living but to live comfortably, contentedly and happily. We must assure them an interest in our community and a share in our enjoyment of and loyalty to it. We must make it easy for them to acquire homes and live in congenial surroundings. The contractors and workmen in the building trade can do much by way of suggestion and cooperation under a plan that shall have the interest and ambition of the community at heart.

Civic Education.

I wonder if our excellent system of education touches intimately the problem of the higher citizenship. Is the child led to understand character building—trained to acquire propriety of language, manners and deportment? Are the theories of sound business and sound government taught in the finishing grades? Are individual culture, personal character and civic responsibility in the corriculum? Are our young people trained from the primary grades to the high school in order that they may take their places in the social and civic life of this city—and lead the city onward?

What are we doing to regulate the influences that help to mould the character of our men and women of tomorrow? What of the liberty of the theatre or "movie" to play upon and profit by sensationalism. Their chief patrons are our young people. Immoralities, crimes, dare-devil exploits, low and highway robberies, mawkish love-making and what not are the stock in trade of the "movies." The "movies" have the right to entertain the public but should not have unrestrained freedom—at all events not in Peterborough—to demoralize the rising generation. Do we need a federal or provincial law to permit this city to regulate its character-forming influences? Certainly not. We are entirely capable of regulating the "movie" or any other institution that effects the public mind, young or old. When the City Council does not act the public can act through its Board of Trade which should be so constituted and equipped as to be able to put positive forces at work to safeguard the public welfare.

Public Affairs.

We hear a lot now-a-days about various systems of Government but usually we hear it from those cities that have failed to successfully manage themselves, cities under the heel of some party or class or interest. Only such cities have sought relief by changing their system of government. If a city has been incompetently managed under one system, it isn't likely that it will suddenly become competent by merely changing its system.

Of course, the city must have a system, but whether it works or not depends not only upon the intelligence and fitness of those who serve under it, but upon the concern, ability and spirit of the people who are actually responsible for its workableness. The most carefully devised system will not function without the vital elements that make efficiency. The only excuse for a change from the good old democratic system of municipal management established in England and generally adopted by the cities of North America, is not the inefficiency of that system but the incompetency of the people themselves. However an excuse isn't a reason. If the people are indifferent about the increase of taxes, willing to let the affairs of the city be conducted in a happy-go-lucky fashion, or ready to leave it to those who represent some particular interest, they alone are to blame. When the public debt and cost of government increase so as to pinch we yell about it and go on yelling, quite insensible of our own accountability.

The main defect in the management of our cities is that we do not really seem to care how our civic business is done. We delegate all our responsibilities as citizens to those who volunteer for, or who openly seek the offices and "electioneer" for our vote. We don't bother ourselves much as to whether they are the fitter men for the jobs; we go on hearsay or impression, for the most part we go on what the men say of themselves. We do not seriously investigate, carefully consider nor weigh the respective merits of the candidates. The fact is we trifle with our civic responsibility. One of the results of such a state of things is a growing dislike on the part of our better informed and more useful men for public office.

Peterborough is fortunate in having many men of high character and ability in its councils and boards, as well as in official positions. But that should always be so. The fittness of our city's legislators, administrators and executives is of paramount importance if Peterborough is to realize its ambition, not only to become a fast growing industrial centre, but a city of superior character and distinction. The common sense people of this city know that the better men among them are those they should choose to represent them and conduct their business, and if they haye such men in their service, they can trust them to see, as far as the city is concerned, that the legitimate "rights" of all classes are neither injured nor favored.

It doesn't take much "readin and writin" for us to know that the city will never be successfully conducted by any self-seeking class, nor by a combination of such classes on a basis of their rights or representation, because some one interest certain to gain the ascendancy and then it will be inclined to become either a stealthy or outspoken manipulator for its class—moreover the government of the city, under such a charter as that of Peterborough must not be one of class—the city is a democracy governed by the people.

It is not, of course, the business of a Board of Trade to pass upon the personal fitness of candidates for public office but it is its business to advocate sound business principles and methods in conducting city business. The city needs an intermediary association of citizens that on one hand represents the advanced thought and public opinion of the city, and on the other is in frank and friendly relation with the city's manager— as such it will receive the unreserved support of every worthy citizen.

It is often said that the City Council is jealous of its prerogatives—jealous to the point of resenting any interest on the part of the Board of Trade, or, for that matter, anybody else. Well, if that was even true it was probably long ago when the Board of Trade was like the gun that went off "half cocked," or like the bull in a china shop that butted in without examining or knowing about the delicate things it was butting into. But let me say that resentment on the part of any Board of Aldermen against any body of citizens that is intelligently, sincerely and judicially seeking the common good, is as much of an absurdity as an inconsequent Board of Trade. But now these bodies, one authoritative and the other voluntary are both of a new order and must realize as never before that they are creatures of the public and servants of the public welfare. We want Boards of Aldermen big enough and democratic enough to safeguard the public interest in small things as well as in big things. We want a Board of Trade that will co-ordinate the various interests; one that will not only voice public opinion, but see to it that public opinion is a dominant influence in city government. The Board of Aldermen need such a civic organization to council with and aid it. At all events the city needs a Board of Trade strong enough and fearless enouh to see to it that one interest does not impose upon any other; intelligent enough to know that the health and prosperity of each group of citizens makes the health and prosperity of the city as a whole. No one need make a mistake about that, the people of Peterborough will have confidence in and will stand by such a Board of Trade.

The Board of Trade.

When the Greater Peterborough Association was organized two years ago it did seem to give promise. Mayor Duffus wrote me about it and may I venture to read what I then said in a letter to him.

Since writing you on the 4th I have read the published reports of your first and second meetings and I now have your letter of the 5th inst. Nothing that I have read leads me to believe that the movement you have inaugurated ensures efficient methods. Two serious faults have marked every associated movement in Peterborough. First, they have started with exaggerated promise and on temporary impulse, and second, not one of them has had in view a definite, far-reaching plan of city building. What you want and what every earnest citizen wants is an efficient and constructive plan that will outlast the month, the year, or the decade. We must have the better informed and more useful men in the city's service if it is to get ahead in the race for position. And I say that with all due respect for and much appreciation of the men who, like yourself, have tried to serve. We are not short of good and capable men in Peterborough; what we need is to make the right use of their talents and helpfulness in re-tual co-operative work. Let me urge you to be careful of one thing—the organization of an association of which too much will be expected, both in time and results. What it will need least is what it will get most of—criticism. Its name, constitution or bylaws will not in themselves make it worth while unless the men behind it stop talking and do something. In my opinion you want an association that is more than "industrial"—you want a league to be composed of various groups of workers which form an organized unit. The local situation would then have to be studied and a plan made. What we have to do cannot be done quickly: I think you'll find your real aides among those who say least.

At last we now have the bases of an organization to begin with. What we shall build upon that bases is our affair. It is up to you and me individually whether Peterborough shall move forward energetically and steadily or jog along with an occasional spasm and spurt as of old.

The Greater Peterborough Association rendered a very real service for it has made us search for the reasons why we have failed and how we should now proceed. Our chief need just now is to be sure of our footing, sure of our power, sure of our staying quality.

The greatest audience we could assemble in Peterborough, addressed by a great orator upon a real cause, might be carried "off its feet" for a "Greater Peterborough" campaign but it would literally "get nowhere" without an organization or agency that would quietly and purposefully carry its wishes to effect. Our men in the fighting lines "over there" stuck to their job. Beside that the job of city building looks like a pin spot. But really it is another fight—a fight against tradition, ignorance, and selfishness in our city life. It is a fight for the young men and young women who shall presently succeed us. We all believe in enthusiasm and also in the "get there" spirit—one supplements the other and both are necessary. We were sad when our boys left for overseas; and we are happy to welcome them home. We show our pride in their victory by our shouts of welcome, our cheers, our enthusiasm. But the memory of those brave spirits whose broken bodies lie where the poppies grow in Flanders, some marked by little crosses and some unnamed—that memory makes our boisterous welcome seem somehow inadequate. Some of those who come back to us crippled and halt and blind might speak to us in the exquisite lines of W. B. France:

We are the maimed! Death did deny
Its solace. Crippled, blind, we try
To find on earth the peace they know
In Flanders' fields.

Forget us not! As years go by,
On your remembrance we rely
For love that sees the hearts below
Our broken bodies. Else we grow
To crave our peace with those who lie
In Flanders' fields.

As our boys pass us on the street or in parade we note many sad and serious faces; perhaps their thoughts are with their brave comrades "over there." Well, may we ask what our enthusiastic welcome signifies. Shall it outlast the day of homecoming? Shall any of us ever forget? Do we fail in any degree to make our welcome good? Is our enthusiasm the index, the outward expression of what we shall do for these men? Do we back it up by our acts today, tomorrow—as long as they and we shall live? These victorious soldiers of ours are men whose aspirations for a better civilization are very real and lasting. Shall we commemorate the war by dedicating our city as a living memorial to the great principles for which the British Empire and her Allies fought, and to our own men among the living and the honored dead? Thus we would make our city worthy of the best traditions and aspirations of the British Empire.

OLYMPIC SAILS

Halifax, March 31.—The White Star liner Olympic sailed this morning for Southampton, with 297 passengers and 1,474 packages of mail. Lieut.-Col. Collishaw, D.S.O., the noted Canadian aviator, who is a passenger, will bring back from England an airplane in which he will attempt to fly across the Atlantic from Newfoundland in May.

"DANDERINE" FOR FALLING HAIR

Stop dandruff and double beauty of your hair for few cents.

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several application the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. You hair appears soft, glossy and twice as thick and abundant. Try it!

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

YOU MUST SEE IT
TO RECOGNIZE IT

You will never meet with success unless your eyesight allows you to recognize it when it approaches. That means that it will not pay to allow any eye troubles to develop without letting Dr. Fowler look after them for you. Better not waste time, but act at once when you notice anything wrong with the eyes.

CONSULT HIM FREE.

EYESIGHT SPECIALIST A. A. FOWLER DOCTOR OF OPTICS
Phm. B. Toronto University.
HAS FITTED 30,000 SATISFIED WEARERS OF PEBLO GLASSES
Most Up-to-date Sanitary Optical Parlors. With Nugent Drug Co.

RESTORE THE NATURAL SIGHT

AVOID COUGHS and COUGHERS!
Coughing Spreads Disease
SINCE 1870
SHILOH
30 DROPS-STOPS COUGHS
HALF THAT FOR CHILDREN

Bread made from Purity Flour is wholesome, is nourishing, and is good to eat

"More Bread and Better Bread and Better Pastry"

Canada Food Board License Nos., Cereal 2-009 Flour 15, 16, 17, 18

PURITY OATS make good wholesome porridge

PURITY FLOUR
(Government Standard)

Western Canada Flour Mills Co. Limited
TORONTO, ONTARIO

THEATRICAL

GERALDIN FARRAR AMAZING IN NEW TRIUMPH "SHADOWS"

International Celebrity Sparkles in Unusual Role in Her Third Goldwyn Picture, Coming to Grand Theatre, Next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

International celebrity sparkles in unusual role in her third Goldwyn Picture, coming to the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next.

Geraldine Farrar in an Alaskan dance hall! It remained for Goldwyn to place the vivid, electric personality of the international celebrity in this unusual environment.

Everyone who knows her in opera or on the screen will want to see the diva in a role more unusual than "The Hell Cat," more absorbingly dramatic than in "The Turn of the Wheel," and absolutely unlike anything she has ever done in lyric drama.

Yet "Shadows," her new Goldwyn Picture, is not an Alaskan story. Geraldine Farrar does not appear in the tawdry finery of a dance hall girl. She is a New York society woman, opulent in her attire, superb in her poise and spotless reputation. One of the most adroit twists in the plot of "Shadows" lies in the logical introduction of the star into sordid Alaskan life.

Once more Geraldine Farrar promises to amaze when "Shadows" is presented at the Grand Theatre.

NOTICE

SEAT SALE BEGINS TO-MORROW

Seat sale begins tomorrow for John Cort's "war bride" musical comedy, "Flo-Flo," which opens at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, matinee and evening. "Flo-Flo," which is said to be the most expensively gowned production ever made, delighted smart New York all last season.

In addition to its exclusive line of laughs, lyrics and stunning costumes exhibited in the "Bridge Shop," of Mosher and Simpson, "Flo-Flo" boasts of the only comedy chorus ever assembled for a Broadway appearance. And that is not all. A sense of humor is only one of the graces of the "Bride Shop" models each one of whom is a "Perfect 36." The trick hats of Pinky and Aloysius, two nimble young men who assist in rescuing Angelina Stokes from a bogus count and restoring her to her childhood sweetheart from Oshkosh after that young man has escaped the wiles of Flo-Flo, the most beautiful of the "Bride Shop" models, are essential elements in the success of "Flo-Flo."

John Cort has supplied the show with a splendid cast which includes Louise Kelly, Jere Deleney, Carl L. George, William Cummings, Rose Southern, Mildred Beverly, Augustus Buell, Rhea Norton, William Burton Burns, Edward Lynn and other established favorites, and the famous "Perfect Thirty-six" chorus. Added charm is given to Silvio Hein's melodious score by "Flo-Flo's" special orchestra.

RURAL DELIVERY

In winter, when the tempests rage, I sit in my upholstered cage, before a cheery blaze and think about the postmen bold who, in the blizzard raw and cold, undaunted go their ways. I see them as from town they go, to journey thirty miles or so, o'er beastly country roads, and wish I had J. Milton's lyre, that I might sing, with proper fire, some eulogistic odes. When wintry tempest rips and tears, we snuggle down in cosy chairs and read detective tales; but on his route the postman goes and faces every wind that blows, and all the tin-horn gales. Through every kind of misfit storm, while others bask in houses warm, the postman has to chase; the sleet is made of frozen rain, and where it hits it leaves a pain—all day it swats his face. The snow lands on him by the peck, the rain is running down his neck, Dame Nature's maudlin tears; still, still, he drives through mud and sleet; his shoes are full of frozen feet and slush is in his ears. He earns a hundred bones a day; alas, alas, his meagre pay deserves the country's scorn; his children cry in vain for pie, for he has just enough to buy his pony hay and corn.

WALT MASON

COOKS GO TO WORK

Montreal, April 1.—The cooks of the Windsor Hotel returned to their work yesterday morning, after being on strike for over a week. The strikers returned under arrangements agreeable both to them and to the hotel.

Get Your Printing Done at the Review Print Shop

We Will Give You the Best Price on Printing

Letter Heads
Bill Heads
Envelopes
Account Headings
Shipping Tags

All kinds of Printing Done with Neatness and Despatch

Telephone 189 and 435

The Peterboro Review Co., Limited

RUSS. UPRISING AGAINST SOVIETS

STRIKE OF RAILWAY MEN PROMPTED BY SOCIAL REVOLUTIONISTS.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, April 2.—Reports that a Russian revolution against the Soviet Government has broken out in Petrograd are supported by an official wireless despatch received here which says there is a serious strike of railwaymen in the Petrograd region.

The strike, it is said, was prompted by the Mensheviki and the Social revolutionaries.

To Increase The Membership Roll

At a meeting of the members of the Horticultural Society held last night plans were outlined for a membership campaign which will be instituted in the immediate future.

The city will be divided into districts in order that the canvassing may be carried on in a systematic manner.

Another meeting to arrange the details of the campaign will be called within the next few days.

CAN. REPRESENTATION

At Washington to be of a Permanent Nature.

Ottawa, April 2.—Hon. N. W Rowell stated in the Commons tonight, in reply to a question by Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, that the Government intended to carry into effect a permanent Canadian representation at Washington. The exact form, he said, was now a matter of consultation between the Canadian Ministers and the Imperial Government, but in the meantim eit was proposed to continue the Canadian War Mission in existence at Washington until arrangements were made for a permanent representation there. He said it was not considered expedient that there should be an interregnum.

FIRE THIS MORNING

At 10.45 this morning the fire brigade was called to the home of Mr. J. S. Chambers, 201 Stewart street, where a fire had started amongst rubbage collected in the cellarway leading to the lot behind the house.

In lighting the gas stove this morning the head of the match dropped through the floor into the rubbage causnig the blaze. The brigade had no trouble in extinguishing the fire. No damage was caused.

The preliminary peace treaty will not be submitted to the Germans at Versailles. Only the final session will be held there.

"LES MISERABLES"
WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

16c ROYAL TO ALL

Wm. FARNUM as JEAN VALJEAN
IN VICTOR HUGO'S IMMORTAL MASTERPIECE
"LES MISERABLES", 9 Parts

The Popular Tenor FRANK BESSENGER Late of Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo" Company
THE KIND OF SONGS YOU LIKE TO HEAR

In Addition To Yesterday's Program

Episode 14. The Million Dollar Serial. 2 Parts The Iron Test Last Episode 12 Reels Boy Scouts to the Rescue

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, To-night
In THE BANK
2 Reels

RURAL MEMBERS OPPOSE DAYLIGHT SAVING BY RY'S

Appeared Unexpectly Before Ry. Commission This Morning — Evidence is Heard.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, April 2.—Rural members appeared unexpectedly before the Railway Commission this morning in opposition to adoption of daylight saving by railway companies. Sir Henry Drayton said that although the case was closed yesterday the commission was ready to hear applicants' new evidence.

W. A. Boys, Simcoe South, and Dr. Clark, of Red Deer, were the principal speakers against daylight saving. They pointed out that rural population was greater than urban and their views should be consulted in such a measure. They reiterated arguments given in Parliament against the measure, but Sir Henry Drayton pointed out the Railway Commission's business was not to decide whether the country should adopt daylight saving, but whether railways should adopt it. And on this, it appeared that the Commission had pretty well made up its mind.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO MARKETS.

(Special to The Review.)

Toronto, April 2.—Toronto live stock receipts fair, trade active.

Choice export cattle	$14.00	$15.00
Choice butcher	10.75	13.00
Medium butcher cattle	9.50	10.75
Feeding steers	9.50	11.00
Ewes	11.50	14.00
Lambs	18.50	20.00
Hogs, f.a.w.	20.00	20.00
Hogs, f.o.b.	18.00	19.25
Calves	15.00	16.50

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS

Pork	$ 28	$ 29
Lamb	23	30
Potatoes, per bag	1 30	1 30
Beans, per qt.	18	18
Beef	18	21
Turkeys	45	45
Chickens	35	35
Eggs	40	40
Butter	60	60
Beef, peck	25	25
Parsnips	25	25
Carrots	25	25
Turnips	20	20
Wood (poplar)	7 00	7 00
Wood (beach)	12 00	12 0
Grain, Hay and Straw.
Wheat (spring)	$ 2 09	$ 2 09
Wheat (marcus)	2 17	2 17
Buckwheat, per bush.	1 00	1 00
Oats	55	5
Rye, per bush.	65	6
Peas, per bush.	1 50	1 50
Barley	80	80
Hay (timothy)	27 00	28 00
Loose straw, load	7 00	7 00
Alsace Clover Seed	11 00	12 00
Red Clover Seed (good)	25 00	27 00
Hides.
Horsehides, country,
take-off, No. 1	$ 6 00	$ 7 0
do., No. 2	5 00	6 00
No. 1 sheep skins	2 50	3 00
Horse hair, farmers'	25	25
Deacon and bob calf	1 50	2 00
Tallow, country solids
in barrels, No. 1	7
Cakes, No. 1	8
Frozen hides	15	16
Beef hides, flat, cured	17	18
do., green	15	16

CLAIMED HUGHES FIRED UPON HIM

Henry Hughes, of Dummer, charged with having shot at Arnold Mason with intent to kill and having threatened Fred Greenwood appeared before County Police Magistrate Langley, in Norwood, yesterday, for a preliminary hearing and elected to be tried before a jury in June.

Hughes was accused of having fired at Arnold who was engaged in cutting wood upon a bush lot in Dummer March 25th.

Mr. Joseph Wearing defended the accused and Crown Attorney Hatton conducted the prosecution.

Change is Needed In Copyright Act

PHILIP GIBBS APPROVES OF THE BILL BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, April 2. — Mr. Philip Gibbs, speaking of the new Copyright Bill now before Parliament, expressed his astonishment at the inadequacy of the protection to Canadian writers afforded by our previous legislation.

"It is obvious," he said, "that a change is necessary if proper encouragement is to be given to Canadian literature, art and music."

Mr. Gibbs was particularly favorable to the extension of the term which, following the British Act, is to consist of the life of an author or composer plus fifty years. Mr. Gibbs referred to cases, previous to the present British Act, where the families of famous British auohtrs, Dickens, for example, received no financial benefit from their fathers' work.

Mr. Gibbs was also pleased to note the protection to be afforded to individual writers of newspaper articles as well as to the owners of the papers themselves. He felt that the adoption of the underlying principles of the British Act was a move in the right direction since, on the whole, the British legislation was adequate and was working out for the protection of newspapers and writers alike.

At an organization meeting of the special committee on the new Copyright Bill, Senator William Bennett was appointed chairman. The first meeting for argument and evidence will be held in the Senate committee room next Tuesday morning.

COTTON MILLS CLOSE

Concerns Using United States Cotton Shut Down For Two Weeks.

Manchester, Eng., April 1. — All mills in this region spinning American cotton will close down for fourteen working days, from April 10 to April 28. This decision was reached between the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' Associations, the Card-Room Workers' Amalgamation and the Operative Spinners' Amalgamation today. The shut-down was decided upon because of bad trade. About 100,000 operatives are affected by the decision.

McGILL PRINCIPALSHIP

London, April 2. — Definite announcement that Sir Auckland Geddes has accepted the Principalship of McGill University may be expected at the end of this week.

GARDEN WORK THIS SUMMER

CULTIVATION OF VACANT LOTS SHOULD STILL BE KEPT UP.

Ottawa, April 2.—The enthusiastic spirit which animated the movement for home garden and vacant lot cultivation last year, and which was an important factor in keeping down the cost of living, will be as necessary in the coming year of reconartuction, says an announcement from the Canada Food Boad. All indications are that similar garden work will be required to normalize food conditons.

In a statement just issued by the Canadian Trade Commission, attention is drawn to the following values of imports of fruits and vegetables from the United States in the fiscal year ending March, 1918:

Green apples, $1,500 000; berries, all sorts, $685,000; cherries, $107,000; garden and field seeds, $368,000; potatoes, $811,000; tomatoes, canned, $694,000; tomatoes, fresh, $530,000; canned vegetables, general, $475,000; beans, $2,590,000; peas, $216,000; other dried fruits, $650,000; peaches, $496,000.

BRIDGE TENDERS ARE CONSIDERED

At a meeting of the Board of Works held last night tenders for the contract of constructing the new Hunter Street Bridge were opened These represented offers from four well known construction companies.

The members of the Board with the assistance of Engineer Barber and City Engineer Parsons have been engaged all morning in going over the features of the tenders in order to arrive at a decision as regards their relative advantages from the standpoint of the City.

At three o'clock this afternoon the Board of Works met again and resumed their consideration of the tenders. Nothing definite was available for publication with regard to the result at 3.30 this afternoon.

French "Immortals."

The French academy is the oldest of five academies constituting the Institute of France, having been founded in 1635. It is composed of 40 members, elected for life and known as the "Forty Immortals." They rank as the leading Frenchmen of their time in literature. Their judgment and decisions in all disputed literary matters are final.

The Real "Butterfly."

The name for the butterfly did not originate from "flutter," but from low German and Hollandish. Over in Holland there is a butterfly that lives whenever possible on butter and milk. He is and always has been a nuisance to the Dutch wives and has always been called the "butterfliege," or butterfly.

Halibut.

The name "halibut" is composed of two Scandinavian words meaning flat-fish of the deep. That derivation is found in the dictionaries, but the term first appears in the ancient legends as "halgibuta," which signifies a holy messenger, one who is sent to relieve suffering or save either body or soul.

How Phrase Originated.

The English-speaking people frequently, when they see somebody doing something they like, exclaim: "That's the ticket," meaning that it is the proper method of procedure. The [illegible] is the etiquette, [illegible] the right and proper way of doing

Model Village in London.

What is the type of house that the British Government regards as ideal? According to official details of the Local Government Board's housing scheme, which is now published, the following are the principal requirements suggested:

Twelve houses per acre in urban areas.

Eight in rural districts.

Maximum of sun for living and working rooms.

Minimum of sun for larders and stores.

Comfortable living room, three bedrooms, washhouse and bothroom or bath.

Standardized essential fittings, such as doors, windows, ranges, baths, bolts, locks, door handles, etc.

A good garden.

In view of the present famine in houses, the official announcement that a model village is to be erected in London is particularly timely. This village, the exact site of which is not specified, will embrace all the essentials mentioned above. The work of erecting the first houses will, it is expected, be commenced almost immediately, and developed as fast as the schemes are approved.

Mission of British Race.

"Providence has ordained the British to be the race to do more for the welfare of mankind than any other people," declared Viscount Bryce, former Ambassador to the United States, at a meeting of Canadian citizens in London recently.

"Let us see," he continued, "that we, as an Empire, never fail in this great and responsible task. Many of you are returning to your native land full of honors and conscious that you have done your part in saving, not only the Empire, but civilization. You will be honored by succeeding generations as the heroes of Trafalgar and Waterloo are honored.

"I hope you will return home with a full appreciation of how much Great Britain loves her dominions and how grateful she is for the golden services they have rendered to her. Our gratitude for that service is only equalled by the admiration for the valor and spirit of the men from the dominions.

"Do not forget what vast power for good, there is in the union of British-speaking peoples who are in touch with all the other races of the world. It is impossible to exaggerate the wonderful influence that the tongue of the British races has upon other peoples of the world."

For hundreds of years the Nile floods have not varied ten days in their arrival.

Paraffin Replaces Oil.

Paraffin for oiling wood-working tools is preferable to oil or grease. It costs little, is easily applied, and may be carried in one's pocket unprotected.

Sport.

Said the near cynic: "When a man is alluded to as a poor fish he may be sure that somebody is making game of him."

Getting and Giving.

What makes the Dead sea dead? Because it is all the time receiving, never giving out anything.—D. L. Moody.

By Way of Explanation.

No, Carrie, the expression "piping times of peace" has nothing to do with smoking the peace pipe.

DODD'S
KIDNEY PILLS

BRINGING UP FATHER
BY GEORGE McMANUS
WELL-DEAR: DID YOU MISS ME WHILE I WAS AWAY?
I SURE DID-MAGGIE
I WANT TO SEE HOW WELL YOU TOOK CARE OF THE HOUSE-
YOU'LL FIND EVERY THING AS YO LEFT IT-
I MUST SAY YOU HAVE EVERY THING NEAT AND ORDERLY-
I WUZ VERY PARTICULAR MAGGIE-
BUT WAIT UNTIL LOOKS OUT THE KITCHEN WINDOW-

HAVELOCK ROAD MASTER FINED UNDER THE O.T.A.

JAMES GOODMAN CONVICTED OF GIVING RAILWAY OPERATOR DRINK OF RUM.

James Goodman, C. P. R. Road Master appeared before County Police Magistrate Langley in Havelock, yesterday and was fined $200 and costs for an infraction of the Ontario Temperance Act.

The night operator at Havelock, known by the sobriquet of "Happy Heels," was found by the day operator, on the morning of March 19th, very much the worse of liquor.

Operator Fined

He appeared in court and paid a fine of $20 and costs and rather than face a term in jail told the source from which he had obtained the whiskey.

He stated that the Roadmaster had invited him up to his office and had given him a drink of rum which had been responsible for the condition in which the day operator had found him.

Find the Liquor

License Inspector Stewart of this city proceeded to Havelock, where with Provincial Officer Williams an investigation was conducted which brought to light a bottle partly full of rum which was hidden in a room adjoining the office of the Road Master.

The case was somewhat complicated, over twenty witnesses testifying. The counsel for the defence, Mr. G. N. Gordon sought to establish an alibi which would clear his client James Goodman.

Lasted Till Midnight

Commencing at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the hearing lasted until 6 o'clock when an adjournment was made for supper after which it was resumed until midnight.

Magistrate Langley adjudged Goodman guilty and imposed the usual fine. Mr. Joseph Wearing conducted the case for the Crown.

Charge Withdrawn

A charge against the baggageman on the morning C.P.R. Montreal-Toronto train, of having given Happy Heels a drink in his car while the train was stopped at the station, some time ago, was withdrawn by the Crown as the evidence was of such a conflictory nature that it was considered quite inadequate.

There is nothing more idiotic than the smile of a pretty girl—when directed toward some other fellow.

BIG BEN ON THE POST OFFICE IS "OUT OF STEP"

POST OFFICE OFFICIALS HAVE RECEIVED NO INSTRUCTIONS TO ADVANCE THE CLOCK.

Big Ben on the post office is an hour behind the times as is observed by everyone who has occasion to look at his face during the day.

Post office authorities claim they have no instructions to advance the clock one hour, not having received authority to do so from the Department of Public Works.

In the office the clerks are going by the new time as a matter of course, otherwise the train arrivals and departures could not be kept track of without a great deal of extra trouble and would doubtless cause numerous blunders.

The letter carriers are not pleased with the change of time, which they protested against at the meeting of the Council on Monday night. There is no doubt it results in added hardship for these men as they are now required to arise from their slumbers at 3.30 in the morning.

Meanwhile the clock on the post office like the regimental infallible is the only time-piece in the city which is in step.

It is natural that the post office officials should be somewhat at sea as to the proper course of procedure to adopt in regard to the change of time. They are employes of the Government which rejected the Daylight Saving Measure and do not feel at liberty to advance a clock upon a Government building without specific instructions.

The pronouncement of Sir Thomas White in the House the other day might throw some light upon the proper course to adopt. He stated that the civil service, inside and outside branches, should conform to the time of the locality in which they were engaged.

Neville B. Colcook, former Agent-General for Ontario in London, died there at the age of seventy-six.

Five thousand surface workers around mines, smelters and coke ovens in British Columbia commenced operations on the basis of an eight-hour working day.

J. M. McKaf, B.A., mathematical master at Galt Collegiate Institute when going home from his classes at noon, was striken with paralysis and died in a few hours.

General Byng has declined the Salisbury command, but is not quitting the army entirely.

Quality and Service

If you enjoy dealing with a house that is dependable, and will fill your orders when and as wanted---give you QUALITY PRINTING at fair prices —executed by men who are craftsmen—try the

REVIEW PRINTING Co.
HUNTER STREET, PETERBOROUGH

KEENE

(Special Sorrespondence)

Keene, April 2.—Mr. Albert Bishop returned on Wednesday from Kingston.

Mr. Alfred Fletcher was in Peterborough last week on business.

Mrs. Thompson and daughter, Miss Bessie of Mount Julian are visiting at the home of Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lang.

Mrs. Akin returned on Friday to her home at Bethany.

Mr. A. W. Anderson purchased a new Ford motor truck last week.

Mr. William Kenneally if Peterborough is visiting Keene friends.

Miss Lola Kempt who spent the past week at astings and Norwood, returned home last Friday.

The remains of the late Mrs. John Foote, who died at Hiawatha on Saturday were brought to Keene on Monday afternoon and interred in Pine Grave Cemetery.

The daughter of Mr. Gardiner Thompson, Miss Katie, who has been seriously ill the past week is slowly recovering.

Mr. Albert [illegible], who has been on active service the last three years has returned from overseas, on his way to his home in Edmonton. He spent the week end at the home of his brother, Fred.

Miss Bessie Thompson of Mt. Julian, is ill with bronchitis, at the home of her grandfather, Mr. John Lang.

Miss Trelevin has returned to her home, near Peterboro after spending the winter with her friend, Mrs. P. Hewie.

Thomas Wedlock of Peterborough is visiting Keene friends.

Mr. William Fletcher was in Peterborough over the week end

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James McFarlane died on Friday last The funeral was held on Monday afternoon. Interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

An extra setting of the Council will be held at the Council Chamber on Monday, April 7th

Miss Maggie Wallace, who is teaching at Hall's Glen spent the week end with her parents.

Messrs G. Howson and C H Byers were in Peterborough Saturday night to see the "Bringing up Father at Home."

Mr. Fred McIntyre was in Peterborough Saturday on business.

Mrs. Thompson and daughter, Bessie of Mt. Julian are guests at the home of Mrs. Thompson's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Lang.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Foote was held at her home at Hiawatha on Monday afternoon. Rev. Henry conducting the services, after which the remains were brought to Keene and laid to rest in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Akin has returned to her home at Bethany.

The Throop farm near Hiawatha, has been purchased by Mr. James Stewart.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLING NEWS

In last night's match Maynard won two out of three games from Browett.

Scores
Browett	143	118	117	—378
Anderson	130	64	102	—286
Evans	85	130	115	—330
	348	312	334	—994
Maynard	141	163	121	—425
Carruthers	86	[illegible]	129	—330
Brownscombe	148	110	86	—344
	375	388	33	—1099

Delegates from the "revolutionary" miners representing 195 German mines have voted at a meeting at Essen to begin a general strike yester- [illegible]

LAKEFIELD

(Special Correspondence)

Lakefield, April 2.—A communication has been received by the council from the Hydro Electric Commission stating that the required resolution having been passed by the Lakefield council, Hydro engineers have been instructed to proceed with the acquirement of the Lakefield water power interests and other privileges at once. The Commission will expropriate the water power.

Delightful Farce.

The seating accommodation of the Methodist Sunday school room was taxed to its utmost on Tuesday evening of last week when the Epworth League presented the delightful farce, "Marjorie Makes Good," which was in two acts.

The curtain rose, showing the drawing-room of Phylip's home. Phylip (Kenneth Madill) has invited five Albert College chums to stay with him for the night. So his sister, Josephine (Miss Irane Madill), decides she will invite five of her girl friends to meet them. When Josephine thinks everything is arranged, her maiden aunt, Jane (Miss Eva Jory), decides that she is going to remain at home for the party. This is much objected to, but Aunt Jane insists. The mother comes to the rescue, and the young people are left to themselves. But another disappointment awaits them. One of the girls, Alice (Miss Milly Lemay), is taken ill with flu and is unable to attend. A lively discussion follows, when it is decided who is to be asked at such a late hour, and Josephine suggests a number of friends, but Phylip is disgusted with them all. Josephine leaves it for him to decide. He chooses the dowdy village girl, Marjorie (Miss Alice Hill). His sister is much surprised, but acts upon his suggestion, and explains to Marjorie, who accepts.

Second Act.

The boys arrive and meet Josephine, who tells them about the girls and asks them to be especially nice to Marjorie. The girls arrive. Marjorie is a little late, but explains that her aunt wanted to fuss her up. She takes all the girls by surprise, for from a village dowdy she is transformed into a society belle. The [illegible] all flock around her and do not [illegible] to have much to say to the rest. A number of college songs are sung, and Marjorie sings a solo.

Six months after, Marjorie writes to Josephine telling her of her engagement to her brother and also of the fortune of $50,000 left her by an old uncle. The scene ends with all the girls telling of their engagements, each to an Albert boy they met the night of the party. Nora (Miss Effie Webster) tells of her intentions of marrying her sweetheart, Pat. The cast was as follows:

Marjorie	Miss Alice Hill
Josephine	Miss Irene Madill
Nora	Miss Effie Webster
Iva	Miss Almeta Hull
Doris	Miss Vera Botterill
Edith	Miss Olive Jory
Helen	Miss Blanche Dashford
Alice	Miss Milly Lemay
Aunt Jane	Miss Eva Jory
Mother	Mrs. G. Burke
Phylip	Kenneth Madill
Raymond	Ray Welbourne
Capithorn	Frank Erskine
Lampkin	Warren Payne
Kimball	W. Frankish
Vanderhoof	Russel Little

Misses Mary Hill, Addie Batten, Freda McIlimoyl and Jean Erskine assisted with the program.

Gunner Melville Crawford, who enlisted in the 33rd Battery, arrived home Monday evening after three years' service in France.

Mr. Fleming, of Red Deer, Alta., was a guest in the village this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Watley are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Watley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madill and family left Wednesday last for Athens, Ont., where they will be guests of Mrs. Madill's mother for the summer.

FLOOD VICTIMS CLAIM DAMAGES

FEEL THEY SHOULD NOT BE LOSERS AS A RESULT OF WEST-END FLOOD.

At a meeting of the Board of Works held last night, Mr. J. A. Sharpe was heard in regard to damage done his residence by water flowing into his cellar during the recent flood in the west end of the city. He felt he should not suffer the loss.

W. J. Henry made a similar complaint before the Board.

May Instal Tanks

The requests of Leo. Fontaine and Fitzgerald and Company in regard to installing gasoline tanks in the street were granted upon condition that they remove them when requested to do so under notice given that such tanks must be removed 6 months after the end of the war. The installation work will be carried out under the supervision of the city enginerr.

Alderman Edgar introduced an amendment to the above motion calling the attention of Fitzgerald and Company and Mr. Fontaine to the short time which they would have to use these tanks if they considered erecting them. No seconder was found so the motion was carried.

It was decided to comply with the request of R. W. Knox to construct a sidewalk on the west side of Elias avenue, notice to be given of the intention of the council in this regard in accordance wit hthe provisions of the Local Improvement Act. In accordance with the request of petitioners, a wooden sidewalk will be laid on Olive Act.

No Action Recommended

No action was taken in regard to the communication from the City Clerk of London asking the Council to petition the Legislature in regard to changes in the method of carrying out government assistance in connection with the good roads system and return of Police Court fees.

Rev. Mr. James of Omemee conducted both services at St. John's Church on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Taylor took the services in the Anglican church at Omemee. While here Rev. Mr. James was a guest at The Grove.

Mr. Fry of the Peterboro Music Co., is spending a few days in the village on business.

Mr. Wm. Simpson has returned to the village after spending the past six months in New Ontario.

Mr. Harry Rornbeck of Peterborough spent Saturday in the village.

Mr. Wm. Kears of Peterborough is visiting friends in the village and at Young's Point.

On Wednesday of last week Riverdale Church, Toronto, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Esther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Breckell, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Percy J. Northey, of Mt. Julian, son of Mrs. Wm. Northey. The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine studded with pearls and wore a bridal veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lily Breckell, wearing pink crepe, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The flower girls were Miss May Thompson of Guelph and Miss Swabrick, both of whom wore white silk and carried marguerites. The wedding march was played by Miss Jennie Starling, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Whittingham sang. Rev. J. A. Long conducted the ceremony. After the reception at the bride's home on Logan avenue Mr. and Mrs. Northey left for Peterborough, the bride wearing a navy blue dress with fawn coat and hat to match. They will reside at Mt. Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Nichols were in Peterborough on Thursday attending the funeral of the late Mr. J. S. Fitzgerald.

Mr and Mrs. W. Legott are spending a few days in Montreal.

Mr. Percy Wilson of Norwood has opened an automobile repair garage next to J. Hendren's harness shop.

Mr. J. M. Clysdale of Toronto was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Payne last week.

COTTIN'S CHANCES SMALL

Paris, April, 2.—The appeal from the death sentence of Emile Cottin the assailant of Premier Clemenceau has been rejected by the revisionary court-martial. An appeal to the Court of Cessation is still open to Cottin.

The allied powers at Paris have decided that Germany is not to be permitted to keep garrisons, fortifications or war factories, not only on the left bank of the Rhine, but also along a strip of at least thirty miles on the right bank.

Railway Time Tables

C. P. R. TIMETABLE.

GOING EAST.

Effective December 8, 1918.

8:50 p.m.—Indian River, Norwood, Havelock.

*11:52 p.m. — Kingston, Smith Falls, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, N. B., Boston and New York (Saturday night excepted).

1:15 a.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa.

12:28 p.m. — Norwood, Havelock, Tweed, Perth, Smith Falls, Ottawa and intermediate points.

GOING WEST.

5:12 a.m.—Toronto, Owen Sound Guelph, Goderich, Hamilton, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, London, Chatham, Detroit and Chicago.

6:21 a.m.—Myrtle and North Toronto (Sunday morning excepted).

7:35 a.m.—Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Rochester, New York and intermediate points between Peterborough and Toronto.

9:35 a. m. — Lindsay, Orillia, Port McNicoll and intermediate points.

3:35 p. m. — Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, Buffalo, New York, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock, London, Windsor, Detroit, Chicago.

7:15 p.m.—North Toronto, Lindsay and intermediate points.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM TIMETABLE

8:30 a.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Niagara Falls.

8:25 a.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, and all points on the main line east.

7:00 a.m.—For Lakefield.

12:02 p.m.—For Millbrook, Lindsay, Port Hope, making connections with the International Limited for Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago.

12:05 p.m.—For Lakefield.

3:00 p.m.—For Hastings, Campbellford, Stirling, Belleville, Kingston and Brockville.

5:40 p.m.—For Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, North Bay and Toronto

9:19 p.m.—For Millbrook, Port Hope, Belleville, Kingston, Brockville, Montreal and Boston

Mixed Wood $9.00
per cord
Hard Wood $12
per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra

Hard Coal
Pea Coal ....10.60 per ton
Also Egg, Stove and Nut.
Now in Stock.

E. A. FITZGERALD
Phone 111

Canada Food Board License No. [illegible]
D. M. MINICOLA
Best Fruit
Cheap
Best Vegetables
Reasonable
Best Groceries
At Right Prices
410½ GEORGE STREET
Bell Phone 930

WRIST & BRACELET
Watches
In varied designs. Accurate time-keepers. Will cost you but little in repairs.
CLOCKS, JEWELRY
Nothing but dependable goods, and at prices that will bear comparison.
Schneider's
367 George St. Next Turnbull's

HARD COAL
EGG, STOVE,
NUT, PEA
H. B. TAYLOR & SON
160 AYLMER ST.
Phone 209

COAL
AND
Builders' Supplies
Hardwood Flooring
Robt. Hicks & Co.
LIMITED

Lackawana Coal
Means Economy
Burns freely and is of Best Anthracite.
Trucking Orders Promptly Filled
Peterboro Fuel & Transfer Co.
165 CHARLOTTE ST.
PHONES 270-368

Good Coal Makes Warm Friends, and
PITTSTON COAL
IS THE BEST
All sizes in stock, PEA, NUT, STOVE and EGG.
Best Lines of
HARD and SOFT COAL
WEIR & McCARTHY
COAL DEALERS
111 Hunter Street, East City
Phone 96 TERMS CASH

Orders for Coal
taken now. Prompt delivery. Mixed Cord Wood for sale, also bundles of Kindling Wood. Second-hand Leather Belting and Scrap Leather for sale.
Highest prices paid for all kinds of Junk.
Store and Apartment to rent.
LOW & COMPANY
362 Simcoe St. 305 [illegible] St.
Phone 697
Nights and Holidays [illegible]

HERE WE ARE AGAIN Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS, GRAND OPERA HOUSE THURSDAY and FRIDAY NIGHT

Gymnasts, Clowns, and Musical Acts. Bigger, Better and Brighter Than Ever

BE SURE

WHEN YOU GO TO YOUR GROCER'S OR WHEN YOU PHONE YOUR GROCERS, DONT ASK JUST FOR BREAD—ASK FOR THE TASTY, BODY-BUILDING SATISFYING . . .

MOTHER'S BREAD

When you buy MOTHER'S BREAD See that every loaf has the label

Peterboro Bread Co'y
LIMITED
Phone 509 241 Dublin Street

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

WE FIT THEM RIGHT

We save you all the discomforts of wearing eyeglasses that do not suit your needs. There are no two faces just alike. It is in this selection that we excel as well as in fitting the lenses. See W. H. LACEY, exclusive Optometrist, 410 George Street.

GENERAL AND LOCAL NEWS

DENTISTRY

Dr. Mchenty, Dentist, 370 George street. Nitrous oxide and oxygen administered for general anaesthesia. Special attention to pyorrhoea, removable bridge-work and accurately-fitting dentures.

NOTICE

If you are wanting Printing of any kind, including Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Envelopes, Business Cards, Circulars, THE PETERBORO REVIEW will give you the best price in the city and guarantee you first-class job. Give us a try. Ask for prices.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS, PETERBOROUGH CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY, LIMITED.

The regular Quarterly Meeting of Shareholders will be held at 202 Rubidge street Thursday, April 3, at 8 p.m. All shareholders are requested to attend as business of importance will be brought up.

A. MURRAY, President.

REMOVAL NOTICE

S. Middleton has removed his livery office from Water street to 193 Hunter street, where he will be doing business as usual. Phone 50—the same old number.

LOOK! LOOK! LOOK!

~~Come and see~~ Rev. Franklyn Sunday and his three beautiful daughters Indiana, Paulina, and Eloise, in "The Land of Promise." Knox Church Lecture Hall, April 8th and 9th, Admission 25c.

LANTERN LECTURE

The subject of the illustrated lecture at the St. Luke's tonight is: "Work in India." The slides are said to be unusually good.

When a man begins to discuss matrimony with a widow the result is usually a tie.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY

The Second anniversary of St. James, Methodist Church will be held Sunday and Monday, April 27, and 28. Rev. E. E. Scott of Toronto, one of the Methodist's most brilliant and effective preachers will preach on Sunday morning and evening and lecture on Monday night. Don't forget the date.

GEORGE ST. CHURCH TONIGHT

The special service in the George Street Methodist Church will be held tonight at 8 o'clock (daylight saving time.) Everyone heartily invited.

FORWARD MOVEMENT

A meeting of the Presbyterian churches of the city in connection with the Forward Movement will be held in St. Andrew's Church tonight at 8 o'clock by the daylight saving time. This meeting will be addressed by Mr. G. Tower Ferguson, a prominent layman of Toronto on "The Individual in the new era." The members of the choir are invited to be in their places to lead in the song services. The public are cordially invited.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS

Mr. Charles E. Adams of North Monaghan, announces that he has taken over the grocery business at 233 Lake street, formerly conducted by E. J. McDonnell. Under this new management prompt and efficient service and dependable goods at reasonable prices are assured. A trial is solicited.

LENTEN SERVICE TONIGHT

The Lenten Service tobe held in St. John's Church tonight at 8 o'clock will be addressed by Rev. J. A. Elliot, rector at St. John's Church, Port Hope.

FOUR YEARS' SERVICE

Ormond V. Cavanah and Sergeant Alex. I. Butcher, who went overseas with the 33rd Battery, arrived back in the city this morning. Sergt. Butcher, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Butcher, has been in the service for four years.

Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS

The annual Y.M.C.A. Circus will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Thursday and Friday night. The event includes gymnastic exhibitions and musical numbers and promises to be well worth seeing. This will be the only function of its kind during the year and the people of Peterborough should not miss it.

BROCKVILLE CUSTOMS

Brockville, April 1.—The customs collections for March at this port amounted to $25,065.48. During the fiscal year which closed yesterday colections here totalled $267,707.93 an increase of $35,112.90 over the last fiscal year.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

NORTHEY—BRECKELL

The marriage was solemnized in Riverdale Methodist Church, Toronto Wednesday, March 26th, of Miss Esther Breckell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Breckell, and Mr. Percy J R. Northey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Northey, Mount Julia, by the Rev. J. A. Long.

Miss Queenie Sparling played the wedding march. While the register was being signed Mrs. Whittingham sang "My Little Gray Home on the Farm."

The bride wore white crepe de chene studed with pearls and orange blossoms fastened her veil. White roses and lillies of the valley formed her bouquet. Miss Lillie Breckell, who attended her sister, was in pink crepe de chene and black lace hat and carried pink roses. Miss May Thompson of Guelph, and Miss Nellie Swabrick the flower girls, were attired in white silk and carried marguerites.

After a reception at the bride's home on Logan avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Northey left for Peterboro, the latter in navy blue costume with fawn coat and hat to match.

They will reside at Mount Julian. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful set of furs; to the bride's maid, a gold braclet; to the best man. gold cuff links; to Miss Sparling, cameo ring.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dr Long. Mr. and Mrs. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Whittingham and Master Wilfred Whittingham, Mr and Mrs. J H. Jones, Miss Pearl Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. Millage, Mrs. Fisher, Miss Olive Oekley, Misses May and Queenie Sparling, Miss Linda Tucker, Miss May Thompson, of Guelph; Miss Nellie Swabrick, Miss Charlotte Robinson, Miss Stella McArthur and Mrs Swabrick.

The many friends of Mr. Robert Gibbs, 253 London street, will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from a serious illness of three week's duration.

BRITONS ELIGIBLE

Melbourne, April 1.—Candidates for the Australian Military College must henceforth be wholly of British origin instead of being of substantially European descent.

ALBERT FLIES TO PARIS

Paris, April 1.—King Albert of Belgium flew in an airplane from Brussels to Paris today. He reached an aviation camp near Paris shortly after noon.

Donations Sent To The Can. Red Cross

The Villiers Patriotic Society of Keene, has forwarded the following supplies to the Canadian Red Cross in Toronto:—20 suits pyjamas, 9 pillows, 12 flannel shirts, 34 pair men's socks, 14 pairs children's and women's stockings, 4. children's garments, 18 women's garments, 3 skeins yarn, 1 quilt.

Brother Is Dying; Police Seek Sister

A communication has been received by the local Police Department, which appears below. Anyone possessing information which will throw any light upon the whereabouts of Mrs. Hopkins is asked to communicate with the police without delay:

Buffalo, N.Y.
March 29, 1919

Chief of Police,
Peterborough, Ont., Canada.
Dear sir:—

I am writing you to ask you to locate Mrs. Sarah Hopkins (nee Cunningham) of your city, whose brother (Edward Cunningham) is in the Sister's Hospital at Buffalo, N.Y., and is not expected to live. We last heard from Mrs. Hopkins about a year ago from your city. Her letter was lost and with it her address. If you can locate Mrs. Hopkins and inform her of her brother's condition or let us know her address we would appreciate it very much.

Mr. Cunningham and sister were formerly of Smith's Falls, Ont., and he worked for a Telegraph Co., there.

(Sgd.) A. J. PATTERSON,
Buffalo, New York.

Entertainment In Browntown Hall

The following programme is to be given at the Brownton Salvation Army Hall, by the Temple Songsters, Thursday, Evening, April 3rd:

Opening song—Tell me the old old story.

Selection—Praise ye the Lord—Temple Songsters.

Recitation—Curfew must not ring tonight—Songster L. White.

Vocal solo—Marching Along—Songster E. Northcott.

Cornet solo — Rosary — Herbie Payton.

Selection— Comrades in arms—Temple Songsters.

Selection—Only a contrite sinner—Temple Male Choir.

Vocal solo—Selected—Songster L. Tuggey.

Selection—Jordan's River—Temple Songsters. (Comprising various southern melodies.)

Dialogue—Going home tomorrow—Songsters, H. Lang, V. Lang, H. Parnel.

Selection —His Grace is free—Temple Ladies' Choir.

Recitation—Selected—Songster A. Leader.

Selection—Peace of God—Temple Songsters.

Demonstration by the Temple Life Saving Scouts. Bugle band will accompany.

God Save The King.

Excellent Talk To Women's Art Ass'n

Last evening in the studio, in the Public Library Building, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Langley addressed the members of the local branch of the Women's Art Association and their friends. "The Pioneer Literature of Canada and the United States was very ably dealth with and the addresse were much enjoyed by those present.

Mrs. Vincent Eastwood, President of the W. A. A. occupied the chair. A vote of appreciation was moved by Mrs. A. Stevenson, seconded by Miss Helen Denison and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Langley.

Peterboro Men Landed Yesterday

Soldiers arriving at Halifax, April 1st, per steamer Regina, as follows:

Pte. D. E. Daynes, 640 Union street.
Sig. A. M. Hill, 224 Lake street.
Pte. J. T. Lang, 206 Perry street.
Corp. W. Sloan.

Also arriving at Halifax, per steamer Canada, April 1st:

Lashbrooke, A. J.
Shannon, C. P. N.
Shurety, F. T.
Smith, F. B.
St. Peter, J. O.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding

HAPPLY FAMILY RE-UNION AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. SMITHSON, OTONABEE

A very pleasant family reunion took place on the 31st inst., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Smithson, Otonabee, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

All of the members of the family are still living and all were present: Howard and Morley, of Otonabee; Fred., of South Monaghan; John, of Toronto; Sydney and Ada (Mrs. J. D. Weir), of Kitchener, and Laura, of Bowmanville.

Mr. Smithson, who is a son of the late Richard Smithson, of South Monaghan, is one of the pioneer residents of Otonabee, and probably one of the best known in the county, having taken an active part in nearly all leading movements during the last half century.

He is still strong and active in his eightieth year, this proving that a life of hard work and vigorous activity does not always shorten one's days.

Mrs. Smithson is the only daughter of the late James Armstrong, who settled on the present family homestead.

The ceremony of fifty years ago was performed March 31st, 1869, by the Rev. Samuel Wilson in the same house in which the present reunion was held.

The bridesmaid was Miss Katherine English, of Omemee, and the groomsman was Mr. Samuel Smithson of Baillieboro, both of whom were unfortunately unable to be present on account of the unusually severe weather.

A large number of relatives, many from a distance, and some old friends were present and expressed their best wishes for continued health and happiness for Mr. and Mrs. Smithson.

BABY WELFARE AT MOTOR SHOW

OTHER FEATURES INCLUDING FREE PICTURE SHOW EACH DAY.

An interesting feature in connection with the Motor Show next week is to be a Baby Welfare Clinic and Exhibit, which will be held each afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in a room set aside for that purpose.

The Baby Welfare Exhibit is being put on by the Provincial Board of Health and promises to be very interesting and instructive. Besides many sets of posters on infant care school hygiene, tuberculosis, etc., there will be shown a model layette for infant, an outfit for a toddler, and many photographs illustrative of Child Welfare Work in Canadian cities.

In addition to this there will be a free picture show each day.

Naturally in the midst of all these interesting things for babies, we would expect to find—not a mere man—but a good, capable, motherly woman to explain everything and answer all questions, and here again we will not be disappointed, for in charge of all this will be a fully qualified nurse, a graduate of Toronto General Hospital, Miss Knox. Miss Knox will also demonstrate how to properly bathe and clothe and feed a baby.

Then as to the Clinic which will be perhaps, the most interesting part for every mother who has a baby two years old and under is asked to bring it to the Clinic. A doctor and a nurse will be in charge and each baby will be weighed, measured and examined and a report given to the mother.

Each mother will also receive a copy of the Baby Book, which is in itself worth coming for.

Watch the papers for further particulars.

Would Pave The Way to New War

(Canadian Press despatch)

Paris, April 2.—The proposal that the French indemnity from Germany be merely defined instead of calculated in the preliminary peace treaty is attacked by several newspapers. Some of them declare that this method would raise endless difficulties between financiers and between France and Germany. The Journal even fears that such a settlement would pave the way to a new war rather than to peace.

GRAND--LAST TIME--TO-NIGHT 7.30
VAUDEVILLE — — PICTURES
BACKE, JEWITT and BACKE Comedy - Educated Pony
Julia Arthur
NADONY The oriental wonder
The Case of Nurse CAVELL
3 MUSICAL SHIRLEYS 3
10c Gallery Reserved Seats 15c and 25c

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY EVENING
THE ANNUAL
"Y.M.C.A. CIRCUS"
100 PEOPLES—CLOWNS GALORE
SEATS ON SALE AT BOX OFFICE NOW 25c—35c—50c

SATURDAY MATINEE—EVEENING

JOHN CORT PRESENTS THE SEASON'S SENSATIONAL SUCCESS
FLO-FLO
FRIVOLITY FAST AND FURIOUS
AND HER PERFECT "36" CHORUS
Book by FRED DE GRESAC
Music by SILVIO HEIN

PRICES Mat. 25c 50c 75c $1.00 Eve. 25c-50c 75c $1.50-$2.00 Seats on Sale Thursday 10 a.m.

MARRIED

NORTHEY—BRECKELL—On March 26, 1919, in Riverdale Methodist Church, Toronto, Esther Breckell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Breckell, to Percy J. R. Northey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Northey, Mount Julian, Ont.

ENGAGEMENT

MALONEY—SULLIVAN—Mr Thomas Sullivan wishes to announce the engagement of his son, Martin, to Miss Caroline Maloney, daughter of Mrs. Johana Maloney, of Douro, the wedding will take place in May.

DIED—In Chicago, April 1st, after a short illness, Kate MacFarlane, widow of the late George Macdougall, Esq.
Funeral from the C.P.R. station on arrival of noon train, Thursday.

Brantford has started a movement for a national memorial to Canadian nurses who died on duty with the overseas forces.

REPAIRS ACCESSORIES
BICYCLES
GUARANTEED
White Bro's
174 HUNTER ST.
PETERBORO
Phone 897

CLIPPER BLADES SHARPENED

Hand and Power Horse Clipper Blades sharpened and guaranteed to cut again like new.

MILLARD'S BICYCLE SHOP
225 Hunter St Phone 234i

COLORITE

The Wonderful Liquid Magician instantly changes to any color and gives a beautiful glossy finish to

Straw Hats and Straw Goods

of all kinds, also colors, LEATHER, RATTAN, WICKER, WOOD, METAL and GLASS or any similar material

Dries Hard

Anyone can use it.

Price 25c Per Bottle
AT
Warne Drug Co.
Limited
351 George Street.
Phone 527w.

NOTICE
TO CAR OWNERS

Don't throw away your worn tires; bring them to us and have them retreaded with the famous European Retread, giving you 3,500 more miles.

FORD OWNERS

Equip your car with a set of Demountable Wheels and be prepared for blow-outs and punctures.

Anglesey & Heenan
149 RUBIDGE STREET.
Phone 443 J. Peterboro

Real Estate Bargains

HOUSE NO. 514 BOLIVAR STREET, a first class two storey brick house, containing six rooms, bath room fully equipped, also a good furnace. Deep lot and situated in a very nice part of the city. Can be purchased at a very low figure. For inspection call at my office 136 Hunter street.

HOUSE NO. 323 PERRY STREET, nice comfortable brick house, modern improvements, with large lot. Situated convenient to factories, schools and churches I am offering this house at a very low price and would give easy terms to a purchaser.

583 BETHUNE STREET. Good two storey cement block house, situated near the corner of London Street and having all modern improvements except furnace. Convenient to the car line and also near the centre of the city. This house is offered for sale at a reasonable price and easy terms.

SPLENDID LOT CONTAINING NEW FOUNDATION 20 x 26 FEET, on Roger Street, East City, well built and all window frames, door frames required, also a quantity of lumber. Situated in a very nice locality and with the new bridge soon to be built this property will advance in price. Will sell now at a right price and give purchaser any reasonable terms.

For inspection of any of the above places and particulars, apply.

J. T. O'CONNELL & CO.,
136 Hunter Street, West
Peterborough, Ont.

WE SELL
City of Toronto
5½% Serial Gold
Bonds 1924-38

Loew's Theatre
7% Preferred
- 25% Bonus -
Price Par

WE CAN SUPPLY ALL YOUR SECURITY ORDERS
DEAL LOCALLY

Hughson Johnstone
PETERBORO SECURITY CO.
Suite [illegible]
Phone 958
Representing R. C. Matthews & Co.

WEATHER FORECASTS.
Moderate winds, fair and milder. Friday—Mostly cloudy and with light local rain.

The Daily Review

8 PAGES

40th YEAR No. 79 Peterborough's Oldest Newspaper. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1919. Price Two Cents Per Copy

TWO WOMEN AND ONE GIRL LOSE LIVES IN FIRE AT HULL

Victims Were Overcome by Smoke Before Firemen Could Reach Them—Lived Alone at Top of Building—Whole Dorien Block, Consisting of Social Club and Three Stores, Gutted.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, April 3.—Three lives were lost and property damaged to the extent of between $35,000 and $40,000 by fire in Hull this morning.

The fire broke out at 4 o'clock and gutted what is known as the Dorion block, on the corner of Main and Leduc streets, consisting of a social club and three stores in the heart of the business section of the city.

Overcome by Smoke.

The dead are: Misses Marie Dorion, aged 40, Gracia, aged 42, and Blanche, aged 16. The two former are the daughters and the latter the granddaughter of Mrs. L. N. Dorion, part owner of the burned block. The victims lived alone in the top flat of the building, and it is surmised were overcome by the dense smoke which suffocated them, as the bodies, when recovered, were not touched by the flames. Although the firement knew the women and girls were in the building, and made valiant attempts to rescue them, they were unable to enter the apartment, where they were known to be, owing to the intensity of the fire.

LEFT BANK OF THE RHINE MUST BE NEUTRALIZED

French and Belgian Troops Will Hold the Territory Until Germany Pays Indemnity

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Paris, April 3.—The Council of Four has virtually decided, according to information from French sources, thta the left bank of the Rhine will be neutralised until Germany has paid the indemnity fixed by the peace conferences.

Will Hold Territory

It is understood that French and Belgian troops will hold this territory, the United States claiming it to be impossible to leave American troops in Europe after the signing of the peace treaty, and Great Britain, having insufficient effective troops to maintain garrisons along the Rhine.

REVOLTS IN ABYSINIA GOVERNMENT IMPOTENT

Grandson of King Johannes II Declares Himself King—Gov. Tejon Also Revolts.

Ad's Ababa, Abysinia, April 3.—The grandson of King Johannes II., who died in 1889, has revolted and declared himself king under the name of Theodore. The Government has sent out a punitive expedition to put down the rebellion.

Governor Tejon, of Dedismach, also has revolted against the Government. The Government announces that it will send a mission to Paris to apply for the admission of Abysinia to the League of Nations.

More or Less Disorder.

There has been more or less disorder in Abysinia since the death of the famous Emperor Menelik in 1913. He was succeeded by Lidj Jeassu, who was overthrown in 1916 by Auditu, a daughter of Menelik, who claimed herself empress. Lidj Jeassu, who was a nephew of Zauditu, started a revolt in August, 1917, but his effort was put down.

Signaller Wiley Is Returning at Once

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wiley, of 136 London street thta their son Signaller P. L. Wiley will return to Canada about May 15th.

Signaller Wiley is with the 93rd battalion, 2nd Division which is at present station in Belgium. He with twenty of his comrades have been detailed for duty in Toronto during demobilization and will return at once.

HEADS STEEL CORPORATION

New York, April 2.—Appointment of Lieut.-Col. Merrill G. Bager, ordnance officer, as president of the American International Steel Corporation, was announced today.

REVOLTING SPARTACANS STORM FOOD WAREHOUSES

Help Themselves to Provisions of Various Kinds---German Troops Leave Coblenz to Quell Disorders.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Coblenz, April 3.—German troops opposite the Coblenz bridgehead began moving early on Thursday toward Frankfort, where a Spartacan revolt has been causing disorder.

Permission From French.

Before entering Frankfort, which is in the neutral zone beyond the French bridgehead based on Mayence, the German militar yauthorities had to obtain permission from the French tenth army.

According to information reaching American headquarters here, the trouble in Frankfort became serious on Tuesday. The workmen formed groups in the streets, the mob stormed a large warehouse and helped themselves to the food stored there. One hundred filled baskets an sacks with food of various kinds.

56,000 Strike.

Basle, April 3.—Two delegations, representing the strikers in the Rupr industrial region, were at Weimar yesterday to discuss the situation with Herr Bauer, the German minister of labor. After the conference the delegations went to Berlin to see other members of the German cabinet. Despatches received here place the number of strikers in the Dortmound district at 56,000.

MEN AND WOMEN OF 18 TO VOTE IN HUNGARY

NEW ELECTION LAWS—PROFIT EARNERS AND MERCHANTS DENIED FRANCHISE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Copenhagen, April 3. — The new government in Hungary has definitely promulgated the statement that a system of government by village, town, district and county councils, and a national assembly of councils, has been established, a despatch from Budapest says. The representatives to the national assembly will be elected by the town and county councils.

The last day on which elections can be held for the councils has been fixed for April 14. All men and women who have reached the age of 18 will be permitted to vote, with the exception of those who employ wage-earners for profit, or who live on unearned income, or are merchants, priests, monks, common criminals or lunatics.

To Confer With Kemp and Perely

Paris, April 2.—Sir Robert Borden proceeds to London on Thursday, where he is to confer with Sir Edward Kemp and Sir George Perley as well as with members of the British Government respecting demobilization and other important subjects. While in London he will attend the McGill dinner on Friday and unveil a beautiful memorial, the gift of Major and Mrs. Astor, which is to be erected in the cemetery at Cliveden.

Hon. Mr. Doherty has been made a member of the International Law Union, recently organized as one of the results of the deliberations on the League of Nations. The union will have its seat in Paris and its membership is confined to forty persons. Its object is the active study of new problems growing out of the war which are to be approached in the spirit of co-operation upon which the League of Nations is founded. Hon Elihu Root and Mr. James Brown Scott have been elected as members for the United States.

Hon. George S. Henry, minister of agriculture, introduced a bill in the Legislature to provide for the sale of cream on the basis of butter-fat content.

ENGINEERS WILL FURNISH REPORT

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE BY COMMITTEE IN CONSIDERATION OF BRIDGE TENDERS

Practicaly no progress was made yesterday in the consideration of the tenders for the contract of constructing the new Hunter street bridge. Two members of the committee showed a disposition to cast the plans which have been prepared aside and to call for plans for a steel bridge.

The members of the committee are unable to come to a decision in regard to the tender which is most enticing from the city's standpoint, and the engineers will no doubt be requested to prepare written reports upon each tender, in which they will set forth the salient features of each, dispensing in so far as is possible with technical description and presenting the case in a form which will be intelligible to men who have not had the advantages of a university course in engineering.

ANOTHER THREE ANXIOUS DAY'S

COUNCIL OF FOUR CONSIDERATING REPARATIONS AND THE RHINE VALLEY.

Paris, April 3.—Consideration of the question of reparations and the disposition of the Rhine valley was continued by the Council of Four, composing the premiers of France, Great Britain, Italy, and President Wilson, when the session of the council was resumed yesterday.

It is understood to be probable that at least three more days will be occupied with these subjects.

ENGLAND BUILDS CARGO CARRIERS

PRIVATE INTERESTS BEING SUBORDINATED TO PUBLIC NEEDS.

In reply to the charge of the French Press that England is building passenger ships instead of cargo boats, the British Ministry of Shipping issues the following statement.

"It has been the consistent policy of the Shipping Ministry during the war to concentrate on the construction of a simple type of cargo carriers. Ships of more complex types already on the stocks were completed only so far as was necessary to clear the slips for cargo tonnage. Not a single ship of this class was laid down, and in very many cases work on those already under construction was suspended altogether, private interests involved being entirely subordinated to public need."

HEROISM OF FRENCH GIRL IS FITTINGLY REWARDED

Handed Military Decorations by M. Clemenceau For Valor Compared With That of Miss Edith Cavell.

Paris, April 2.—M. Clemenceau fittingly rewarded heroism of a young French girl, when in his Cabinet, in the presence of M. Jeanneney, M. Georges Mandel, and General Mordacq, his principal collaborators, he handed to Mlle. Louise Thuilliez, who was surrounded by the members of her family, the Cross of the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre with palms.

The story of Mlle. Thuillez's conduct in presence of the German invaders of her country is well known. This young girl of Valenciennes showed for the cause of the country and the soldiers of the fatherland, a devotion comparable to that of Miss Edith Cavell, and if she did not pay for it with her life, it was not for want of exposing herself to the danger of death. Twice Mlle. Thuilles was sentenced by German courts-martial to the capital penalty. The first ocassion was at the same time as Miss Cavell met her fate. Like the English heroine, she was accused of having, while at Brussels, helped Entente soldiers to escape and of having acted as a spy for the benefit of France.

The intervention of the Spanish Embassy procured from the German Emperor the commutation of the sentence to one of penal servitude for life, but a fortnight later she was accused before another court-martial of having, after the capitulation of Maubeuge and the battle of Charleroi, collected together French soldiers who had remained in the forest of Morval. The death penalty was again pronounced against the young girl and once more commuted. None the less Mlle. Thuilles, for having shown too great a devotion to France, served nearly three years of hard labor.

This was the story that M. Clemenceau recalled when pinning on the breast of Mlle. Thuillez the reward of the brave and addressing to her in the name of the country his most cordial congratulations.

COMMUNIZATION OF WOMEN IN HUNGARY IS NOW DENIED

Man and Wife Were Spies on the British

AMERICAN PAIR ARRESTED IN TURKEY—MAY COME TO STATES FOR TRIAL.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—Secretary Baker has approved a request of the British military authorities in Turkey that they be permitted to arrest on charges of treason James Spohr, a naturalized American citizen, and his wife, declared officially to have been "closely associated with the head of the German spy system in Palestine and among British Indian subjects."

The plan is to have the couple brought to the United States for trial. Because the United States and Turkey have not been at war the arrests could not be made by the American military authorities, but the judge-advocate general's office held that the British military commission "under the common law of military occupation" could carry out its plan of taking Spohr and his wife into custody and turn them over to the United States.

Spohr, said to be of German origin, has been employed as a professor at the Saladin Ayoub university in Jerusalem. His wife is of Scotch birth, but, according to the charges is known to have lived at German headquarters.

Pte. Merrill Home End of This Week

Pte. Robert Merrill, has arrived in Halifax and is expected home the end of this week.

Pte. Merrill enlisted with the 226th in Dauphin, and has seen 3½ years service. He came through the war without a scratch.

THE SPIRIT OF REMEMBRANCE

UNIQUE ELECTRIC SIGNS IN MEMORY OF CANADA'S HEROES.

Montreal, April 2.—In the C.P.R. station here there is a unique electric design that welcome all returning men. That design reads:

We Remember.

St. Julien, Ypres, Prestubert, Courcelette, Somme, Passchendale, Hill 70 Vimy, Cambrai Mons.

It is in the spirit of those proud remembrances that every place should welcome home Canada's heroes

Another Liberal Association Now

MEETING CALLED FOR APRIL 7th TO DISCUSS PLANS.

Toronto, April 3.—The Star is authority for the statement that invitations have been sent out to leading Liberals to attend a meeting for the purpose of organizing a Liberal Association, to be known as the "Toronto and York Liberal Association." The object of the new body will be to assist the Ridings Associations and principles and ideals.

The association is to be composed of: The Liberal candidates at the last Federal election or nominated for the next election, the Liberal candidates at the last Provincial general election; the president and secretary of each Federal Riding Liberal Association; the president and secretary of each other recognized Liberal Association and Club; fifty delegates from each Federal and Provincial Riding in the city of Toronto.

SMUTS GOES TO HUNGARY

Paris, April 3.—It is officially announced that Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, member of the British League of Nations Commission is proceeding to Hungary to investigate certain problems arising from the armistice on which the Supreme Council desires farther information.

"The Very Idea is Preposterous," Says Foreign Minister—Budapest Reported Orderly, Conditions Being Stabilized—Nineteen Members of Hungarian Government Are Jews.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Budapest, April 3.—Communist Budapest is orderly, and the Government is putting forth every effort to stabilize conditions.

There are Pessimists, however, who declare the Government will endure less than a month, it being pointed out that its success will be partially dependent upon the success of the Russian Bolshevik army to establish a corridor from Kiev to Budapest by way of Bessarabia and Bukowina.

Hundreds of Telegrams.

Bel-Kun, the Foreign Minister, receives hundreds of telegrams of an official nature every day, among them being messages from Nikcl I. Lenne, the Russian Bolshevik Premier.

Despatches Censored.

Bel-Kun receives newspaper men freely, but he has ordered that their despatches be censored for the purpose of cutting down the material to be sent over already crowded wires, as well as to eliminate objectionable features. Kun, who was formerly a secretary of Lenine, is most anxious to deny reports relative to the communization of women in Hungary, which declares to be "preposterous."

He also denies rumers of assassinations and disorders of the twenty-four members of the Government, nineteen are Jews.

LABOR ALDERMEN ASKED TO SUPPORT FAIR WAGE

Questions of Local Interest Were Considered at Meeting of Trades Council Last Night

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council held last night it was decided not to have representation upon the Board of Trade. The invitation of Mr. Hughson Johnstone to send representatives to the Social Service Council was likewise declined

A committee was appointed to investigate conditions obtaining upon the local market. It was felt that at the present time the ordinary purchaser is not being treated fairly as the merchants of the city buy up the produce in large quantities and the price remains high as a result.

Market Reform

There is a time limit set after which merchants are entitled to trade upon the market but it was felt that this did not afford the protection to the people it should, as the farmers had shown a disposition to hold the price up beyond all reason knowing that the merchants would follow the ordinary customers onto the market in a short time and would be willing to pay higher prices and buy in larger quantities.

Aldermen Under Fire

Alderman Garside was not present at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, last night, but nevertheless he was severely criticized for seconding Alderman Edgar's motion to have the tenders for the Bridge Contract submitted in duplicate, one based upon specifications in which the fair wage clause was included and the other without the fair wage being considered.

Fair Wage Clause

Labor Aldermen were admonished to stand solidly behind the fair wage clause when next the question should arise in the City Council.

Receive Charter

The Charter from the American Federation of Labor was received last night and will be hung upon the wall of the Labor Hall within the next few days.

The Building By-law

A resolution carried drawing the attention of the City Council to alleged violation of the building by-law. It was claimed that it depended entirely upon who the party concerned was as to the width of walls that would be required in the house he was was erecting.

Members of the Plumbers' Union asked that any of their brethren who could give information in regard to houses where in their opinion the plumbing had not been installed properly were asked to do so without loss of time so that the inspector which their local is bringing from Toronto could go over such work and examine and report upon it.

Empowered to Proceed

The Committee which had been authorized to investigate the charges against Mayor Duncan in regard to the Library contract were empowered to continue with the carrying out of the work as their report was not ready for the meeting last night.

Ald. Murray Returns.

Ald. Alex. Murray, who has been absent from the past few meetings of the Trades Council, owing to illness, was in his place last night, and was warmly greeted by his fellow delegates, who sincerely trust that ere long he will be restored to his wonted health and vigor.

RAILWAY BILL IN COMMITTEE

HEADQUARTERS OF RY. COMMISSION NOT TO BE REMOVED TO TORONTO.

Ottawa, April 3.—At the first meeting of the special committee of the Commons to deal with the Consolidated Railway Act, Mr. J. E. Armstrong, East Lambton, was named chairman. Mr. Armstrong, who was chairman of the committee last year suggested that the non-contentious clauses of the bill be first dealt with. Dr. Reid pointed out that there are no less than 461 clauses in the bill many of which are on the existing Act. He thought the contentious clauses are comparatively few in number.

The committee then proceeded with the adoption of the non-contentious clauses of the bill.

When the clauses dealing with the Board of Railway Commission were reached, Mr. Reid said the headquarters of the board would not be moved from Ottawa to Toronto.

MET DEATH ON EVE OF RETURN

BODY OF CANADIAN OFFICER FOUND ON RAILWAY TRACK.

London, April 2.—The decapitated body of a young Canadian, Lieut. John Alexander Proctor, 8th Reserve was found on the railway near Guildford, Monday night. When returning to Witley Camp from London, he appears to have absent-mindedly opened the wrong door of the carriage and to have fallen on the tracks.

Proctor, who was returning to Canada today, was from Beaverton Ontario. He was unmarried, and came to England in July, 1917. He served in France and was badly wounded in September last.

Dr. Reid moved an amendment increasing the salary of Secretary Cartwright, of the board, from four to five thousand dollars. He explained that Mr. Cartwright is really the Deputy Minister of the board. The proposal was agreed to.

THE DAILY REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1879.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN PRESS, LIMITED.

THE DAILY REVIEW is published every afternoon at 4 o'clock (holidays and Sundays excepted) by The Peterborough Review Company, Limited, 166-168 Hunter Street.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $3.00 per year by mail to any part of Canada or Great Britain; $4.00 per year delivered to any part of the city.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, established 1853, is published every Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Subscription price, $1.50 per year to any part of Canada or Great Britain, or $2.00 a year to the United States.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

A. H. STRATTON, President and General Manager; E. A. PECK, ex-M.L.A.; T. F. MATTHEWS and JAMES LYNCH.

TELEPHONES:

Business Dept. ... 132 Editorial ... 433....

Mr. Stratton's Residence ... 221

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1919

OUR BOARD OF TRADE.

IT NOW LOOKS as though the Peterborough Board of Trade had cast aside the garments of youthful impotency and emerged into a state of vigorous manhood. No longer is the organisation handicapped by an atmosphere of indifference and apathy. On the contrary, it is now sustained by commendable interest and optimism and the will to achieve the objects for which its name stands. There is today behind our Board of Trade a large and growing force for trade, mercantile and manufacturing expansion which will not be denied its place in the field of opportunity. Interest, enthusiasm and energy are now the rule rather than the exception, as for years past, and unless al signs fail this organization is destined to advance the interests of our community in keeping with the accomplishments of all Boards of Trade worthy the name. In all large centres a Board of Trade is an institution of weight and influence, but until recently our Board had not commanded such recognition, and was regarded for the most part with indifference and skepticism. Until two years ago its anual meetings were, with but occasional exceptions, more or less a pitiable joke, with an attendance of a baker's dozen of optimists, unsupported by any weighty and concret encouragement. Two years ago, when Mr. J. J. Turner first accepted the presidency, the usual twelve or fifteen hopefuls were present, and the outlook then did not show signs of gratifying improvement. But Mr. Turner and some eight or ten loyal enthusiasts seemed to have infused new life into the all but defunct Board of Trade. Energetic new planning was resorted to, and the Board has been practically reorganized on lines which offer scope for advancing the welfare of those diversified sections of business, manufacture and trade which go to make a live community. From now onward the success of indomitable effort and tenacity of purpose seems to be assured, as presaged in the Board of Trade's annual meeting Tuesday night, when various interests of the city—mercantile, manufacturing, professional and financial—were fittingly represented by energetic enthusiasts. No longer is our Board of Trade an organisation of uncertain quality. Stimulated by the active membership of the controlling heads of successful corporate and private enterprises, it starts a new year with the consciousness of good work accomplished and the foundation laid upon which a superstructure of increasing benefit to the city and its citizens can be erected.

There are many directions in which a Board of Trade can prove a factor in advancing and conserving the interests of a community, one of which is industrial expansion. And with industrial expansion goes general prosperity. While the Board should, and unquestionably will, co-operate harmoniously with the City Council in this respect, still it should be prepared, financially and executively, to take the initiative, and prosecute its own methods in reaching after new industries. It is understood that prospects for the acquisition by Canada of industries from without its borders are exceedingly bright, and Peterborough has many advantages to offer. Then the Board should mould public opinion in support of the City Council and itself in encouraging the settlement in our midst of more manufactories. In some places, even the price for a site for newcomers has been raised by subscription among citizens and business men and manufacturers; for industrial expansion means increased population, building on vacant lots, and a consequent larger distribution of the burden of taxation.

In its new home our Board of Trade starts its new year under the most encouraging auspices, and with the expressed intention of its membership of influential and representative citizens to leave no stone unturnd to do their part in fostering the interests of a greater Peterborough with the fullest measure of business acumen and vigor. And we are optimistic.

Much credit is due those men who have for years remained loyal to the Board of Trade, with unshaken faith in its ultimate future as an organization, behind which would eventually line up Peterborough's best citizens. On one or two occasions in the past the organization did quicken into a promising condition, but the flame of enthusiasm, for some cause or other, subsequently burnt itself out. Those older members of the Board must today feel keen satisfaction in the thought that the organization has now its own chambers and gives great promise.

INHUMAN TERMS

IT WAS ONLY LAST WEEK, says an American exchange, that a German official declared that the armistice terms were inhuman. There has been a great deal of that kind of talk in circulation. Unfortunately, it has passed too freely in this country in the "deal gently with poor Germany" propaganda. The terms are the most humane that a civilised world can grant a nation whose every act was inhuman.

The German governor of Belgium departed from Brussels last autumn in such haste and agitation that he left his records behind. Some of these documents reveal the fact that his government had organised five wrecking companies, whose business it was to cart away all movable property, and destroy the rest. The destruction or appropriation of military goods or property belonging to the Belgian government might have been excusable, but not the property of citizens.

Industrial plants received especial attenion, because upon them the people would depend for work after the war was over, and they were competitors of Germany. These plants were carefully inventoried and indexed, and then the wrecking process began. Not only machinery, boilers and electrical apparatus, but even glass, zinc, tin and lumber were removed and shipped to the "Plunderland." What could not be removed was then destroyed. The records show that up to April, 1918, these scavengers had shipped some thirty-six million tons of iron and steel. That approximates a year's production for the Unitd States.

It was not war but inhumanity that changed Belgium and northern France from throbbing industry to desert wastes. There are many Edith Cavells and Captain Fryatts sleeping "in Flanders fields," not because of war, but of German inhumanity. Because of Herod, once it was written:

> "In Rama was there a voice heard, lamentation, and weeping, and great mourning, Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they are not."

But now the scene changes to Poland, where, it is said, there are no living children under five or six years of age. All are dead, not because of war, but of German inhumanity.

Germany, the criminal, had its brief hour of crime. Its victims have all eternity. Turn where it will, like accusing angels they will always face it. On its own record it stands convicted of unthinkable inhumanity, and planned still greater crimes in case of victory. Is it better that we should swell that German-made chorus, or shall we pray the judges to administer justice with temperance, to the end that there may be no profit derived from inhumanity?

MUSIC POINTS THE WAY.

MUSIC CONNECTS us with the unseen only through the phenomena of sound. Dismiss this phenomena, and behold! Music still remains. Lead the scientist to the musician and he will reveal it to him. It is hardly necessary to say to you who are musicians that the printed page is not music. It only carries the signs that point the way. The piano untouched is only a piece of furniture. The violin unstrung is dead. The cornet is but a bit of twisted brass! All are non-essentials until touched by a hand guided by the spirit of music. And then! The child is guided by the mother song. The heart is warmed by familiar melodies. The home brightens with a heavenly light. The church vibrates with consecrated tones which soften into heart throbs as they penetrate the soul. The band puts vigor into marching thousands. The orchestra illumines the vision o fthe musically endowed. Camps are cheered by songs of home. Patriotism is stirred by songs of the flag and our country. Courage for battle follows inspiring war songs. Songs of victory are shaping themselves in the hearts of men.

THE COPYRIGHT ACT.

MANY PUBLIC MEN are flocking to the support of the Authors' and Composers' Association of Canada in its agitation for a Copyright Act that will adequately protect the creations of Canadian authors. Canada's Copyright Act is so full of gaps that thieves break through and steal. And unles sthose gaps are mended, Canada cannot expect he development of her musical and literary genius to keep apace with that of other nationalities.

Mr. Ed. Caswell, secretary of the Toronto public library, has, we are pleased to note, come forward in defence of the author's and composer's rights in this connection. He says, with the fullest measure of reason and truth:

"When a man or woman writes a poem, a song or a piece of prose, and it is of a sort not to rouse interference by the guardians of the public morals, he has the very best of reasons for considering the composition as his own personal property, with all that may be realized for him from its sale if and when published. It is the product of his brain.

"If the farmer ploughs his fields and in due season reaps a harvest, the grain is his with never a question. No one disputes ownership with him. His right is firmly established in the law. One might naturally suppos that the farmer were to give up farming, exchange the plough and the reaper for the pen and the typewriter, and in place of sheaves of grain produce quires of poetry of prose, the fruitage of his intellect, these latter would be regarded by the law as his, and his only Not so. Before he can claim sole title to his work, printed copies must be submitted to the Copyright Department and copyright secured, elese any person is free to lay violent hands on it

"His rights, to be sure, are not his in perpetuity. It is the community, th estate, that gives him title to possession, and the community has its own inherent rights. These the author recognizes, for is he not in a large sense debtor to the community? Through it he derives his education, due protection of his property and person, the means of earning his support—on every hand he finds himself dependent upon it. Therefore, the state rightly enacts that after a certain term of years the author's claim to the sole right ceases and the work is thrown open to the public. Thus the way is open for the rich treasures of literature to be brought within the reach even of the poorest in the land.

"But the time has come when further protection is needed by the author. New factors have entered into the situation. The gramophone and the moving picture have come into being, a generation has arisen that knows not Joseph and cares nothing for his rights. The arm of the law, mighty in power but mighty lazy in its exercise, has not been raised in restraint and these interests have given full play to their predatory proclivities. They harness the talent of the luckless author to their chariots without so much as 'by your leave.' It is high time a check was put upon these nimblefingered agencies. Thieving is thieving even when it takes a form not under the ban of existing laws. It is the duty of the lawmakers to close up every such gap, and the gaps in our Canadian Copyright Act are wide enough to let in a floodtide of misappropriation.

"The time is ripe, too, for a better working and more equitable agreement between the leading countries in matters of copyright. The Berne Convention, while a great step forward on previous conditions, still leaves much to be desired. When the colossal task that is now confronting the nations and testing the wisdom of the statesmen of this age, of restoring order to Europe and solving anxious social problems, is completed, a convention should be called to take up for discussion the broad question of international copyright. Better times lie ahead. 'The old order changeth, giving place to the new.'

"Meantime the task for Canadians is to nullify the existing law and pass a new Act in harmony with the legislation of all other civilised countries, and even the uncivilized nation of Germany."

A SCANDALOUS EFFORT.

(Philadelphia Record.)

The people of the world want peace, and are willing to join in an organization to penalise any nation that shall precipitate war without exhausting the resources of negotiation and adjudication. In this we believe that the American people are one with the people of France and England and Italy.

JUNK WORD "IMPOSSIBLE"

One of the most overworked words in the English language is the word "impossible." It really is a word that should seldom be used. One might plausibly argue for its total elimination.

Continually things once deemed impossible are shifted into th erealm not merely of the possible but of the actual.

The airplane, an "impossibility" a hundred years ago, is soaring skyward numerously today. People are daily performing the once impossible feat of steaming across the ocean from continent to continent in the space of a few days.

Not so many years have passed since the mere suggestion that one might some day see with one's eyes events as they actually occur a thousand miles away would have been greeted with derisive laughter. But again the impossible has been made the possible through the invention of the moving picture.

It was Edison who once said, "Nothin that man can really imagine is impossible." The achievements of science are all the while giving added force to this remark.

So, too, as regards each individual human being's capacity for accomplishment. The word "impossible" with reference to ourselves is a word that all of us ought to consign to the junk heap of forgetfulness.

It is a narcotising, deadening word It kills ambition, it throttles hope. It is a breeder of mediocrity, of poverty, of misery.

Here is a young man starting in business life. He has obtained a position in a big wholesale establishment. Not very much of a position, but at least one that can serve as a stepping stone to something better.

It brings him into contact with men who have already advanced far along the highway of success. It gives him an opportunity to study the methods by which they have succeeded, and to profit from the study.

In an unlucky moment he begins to whisper to himself:

"It is impossible for me to rise as these others have risen. They must be men of talents superior to mine. There is no use in my hoping to do what they have done."

Once the foolish notion of impossibility grips the beginner in business he is indeed hopelessly handicapped.

He may not grow careless in his work though many young men do grow careless when hypnotized by the dire word "impossible." But, he certainly will not make any real effort at progress.

Under these conditions he will make no headway. He will forever be held back by his stupid obsession of the impossibility of forging onward and upward.

For the practical purposes of life therefore, I would say to every young man:

"Drop the word 'impossible' out of your vocabulary. Forget it speedily and completely. Take for granted the truth of what Edison said, and systematically set to work to realize your dreams and your aspirations." —H. Addington Bruce, in Chicago Daily News.

QUEEN LIKES THE KNITTING NEEDLES SENT BY CANADIAN

If you were a queen and you received several hundred letters a day would you take the trouble to bestow personal attention and interest on each one?

That is the kind of queen with which our Empire is blessed. Probably had there been no war the Empire would never have realized the sterling qualities of King George and Queen Mary. During the war there have been countless incidents which mark their thoughtfulness courtesy towards those with whom they have had any association, open if only through correspondence.

The following little story bears out these staterents:

About the end of December Miss Louise Fowlds, of "The Maples," Hastings, sent to Mrs. Arthur VanKoughnet, president of the Ontario branch of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild three sets of the little wooden knitting needles such as Miss Fowlds had been making and selling for patriotic work. The needles were to be forwarded as a little gift to Queen Mary. They were of amaranth, of rosewood and of maple, wrought with infinite patience by hand, so perfect that they were indeed "fit for a queen."

The needles were sent on by Mrs. VanKoughnet to Lady Lawley, secretary in London for Queen Mary's Needlework Guild. In due time the acknowledgment was received by Miss Fowlds as follows:

Queen Mary's Needlework Guild
Friary Court,
St. James, Palace, S.W.O

Dear Madam,—

I am desired by Her Majesty the Queen to convey to you her thanks for the knitting needles you so kindly sent her.

I thought it might interest you to see the note writtin in Her Majesty's own handwriting on the back of Mrs. VanKoughnet's letter as it will show you how charming the Queen thinks your gift is.

Yours faithfully,
Annie Lawley.

The accompanying cut shows the note made in Queen Mary's own handwriting, and is proof of her genuine pleasure and appreciation It is doubtful if as many as half a dozen people in Canada have anything written by Queen Mary herself, and naturally the little note is highly prized by Miss Fowlds.

The needles which doubtless Queen Mary now uses when knitting socks, are the same as many Canadian women use also. For Miss Fowlds has made no less than a thousand sets of these needles. They have been sent east and west in Canada. England, Ireland, Scotland and the United States all have had women knitting with the little wooden needles made of Canadian wood by a Canadian woman.

The gross receipts from the sale of the needles have been given by Miss Fowlds for Red Cross and other patriotic work. Not only the money the needles brought in but the material required for making them and the time involved were also given by Miss Fowlds. Out of the proceeds Miss Fowlds has donated two chairs for double amputation cases to men in the Davisville Hospital, and a wicker chair for a paralysis patient the Dominion Military Orthopaedic Hospital on Christie street.

Borrow at Home Instead of Abroad

Canada having, during the last two years ofthe war, demonstrated her ability to finance herself, it is now expected, both at home and abroad, that she will continue to do so. London advices say that she is expected to meet loans falling due there this year and that Canadians residing there admit that this should be done, in addition to the financing of the Dominion's growing foreign trade.

Canadian opinion also pretty generally agrees that it is in the interest of the country that this should be done. There is a feeling that while some borrowing may have to be done abroad, still the less that is done, the better for Canada. Indeed the wisdom of converting Canada from a borrowing into a lending nation is no manifest that there is a general demand that this be done.

War Savings Stamps are a step in this direction for through their sale funds are placed in the hands of the Dominion Government. In other words this means that, instead of borrowing in London and New York the Government is trying to get at home the funds it needs. It has also arranged that any person having $4 may thus lend it to the Government which pays 4½ per cent compounded half-yearly.

RESILIENT.

(By Walt Mason.)

It is good we're so elastic, for it helps us play the game; not a grief can be so drastic that we can't forget the same. I have half a ton of sorrow bearing down today on me; but by ten o'clock tomorrow I'll be happy as can be. It's our nature to be joyous, to indulge in mirth and song; and the troubles that annoy us cannot hold us very long. Sometimes we announce, in sadness, that we'll never smile again; we have said farewell to gladness in this grim, grey world of men. Woe has got us by the ringlets, grief has soaked into our bones; we're as dour as any kinglets who've been chivied from their thrones. "Let us talk of tombs," we mutter; "let's discourse of epitaphs, for there are no jokes to utter and there's no excuse for [illegible] But the next day we are grinning in the old time cheerful style; and there's naught on earth so winning as our large, flambuoyant smile. It's our nature to be cheery, to believe that grief is vain; when the times are dark and dreary it is all that keeps us sane.

Canadian Singer In Brussels Ci y

Brussels, April 3. — The Fourth Canadian Division, which already has organized numerous military entertainments of asporting or artistic nature calculated to foster close relations between the Belgian inhabitants and their Canadian visitors, gave a performance at the Theatre Foyal de la Monnaie. All the Canadian officers invited their Belgian friends to come and hear the Canadian singer, Madame Edvina, who gave excerpts from Thais and Louise, and the second act of Tosca. Madame Edvina met with an enthusiastic reception, and, responding to encores, sang "Home, Sweet Home" and the Canadian and British National Anthems. Among the audience were Major-General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian troops, General the Earl of Athlone, Sir Francis Villiers, British minister, and numerous prominent British and Belgian people. The Canadian officers and soldiers were brought to Brussels by a special train for the occasion.

Actor's Salaries Fifty Years Back

London, England, April 2.—In view of the movement among theatre employes for a minimum wage of $15 a week and pay for rehearsals some one has unearthed the pay roll of the queen's theatre of half a century ago and given it to the public for comparison.

In it Sir Charles Wyndham is shown as receiving $15 a week, while Sir Henry Irving received less by $2. Toole, the leadnig star, got $55, and Miss Ellen Terry, the leading lady, was put down at $25.

EGGS AND POULTRY

Montreal firmer, higher current receipts, jobbing forty-six forty-seven, trade paying forty-two forty-three f.o.b. country points. Toronto firm, jobbing unchanged. Sale reported forty-two f.o.b. country, with forty-six f.o.b. offered country shipper for eggs packed graded for export. Chicago easier, current firsts thirty-nine, half storage packed forty-one half. New York steady, firsts forty half forty-three.

COLLEGE MEN NOT "BANDITS'

THREE ARRESTED ON SUSPICION OF ROBBERY ARE RELEASED.

Chicago, April 2.—Three young college men arrested early today in a hotel at McHenry, Ill., by officers from Kenosha, Wis., on suspicion that they connected with the $50,000 robbery of the American Brass Company's plant, were released by Kenosha authorities this afternoon without court action. The three men—Leland L. DeFlon, 2422 North Sawyer avenue Chicago; Sarkis Boshmaki, Washington, D.C. and R. E. Curtis, Marengo Ill.—are said to have established a satisfactory alibi, claiming to have been at Woodstock when the robbery took place. There was nothing in their baggage or personal effects to suggest that the trio—all employed by the United States department of agriculture—had any connection with the robbery. Dispatches from the Wisconsin city said.

Chicago police are co-operating with the authorities of Kenosha and towns on the north shore, working on the theory that the bandits who cracked the safe and shot and killed a policeman boarded a train in Lake Geneva and are now in Chicago.

J. Hegeman of Fort Atkinson, Wis., president of the Fort Atkinson Canning Company, uncle of DeFlon, was instrumental in instituting habeas corpus proceedings for the release of the three.

WALKED 30 MILES

This Was Col. Todd's Way of Celebrating His Wedding Jubilee.

Ottawa, April 2.—Col. A. Hamlyn Todd, Chief Clerk of the Parliamentary Library, yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of his entry into the employ of the Government. Col. Todd, who is 68 years of age, celebrated the anniversary by a thirty-mile walk from Ottawa to Kingsmere, returning by way of Aylmer.

COLD SNAP HURTS CROPS

Richmond, Ca., April 2.—Serious damage to crops in the eastern portion of the State has resulted from the recent cold snap.

Wood's Phosphodine. The Great English Remedy. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new Blood in old Veins. Cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worry, Despondency, Loss of Energy, Palpitation of the Heart, Failing Memory. Price $1 per box, six for $5. One will please, six will cure. Sold by all druggists or mailed in plain pkg. on receipt of price. New pamphlet mailed free. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., TORONTO, ONT. (Formerly Windsor.)

FARMERS

Markets at present are dull. Borrow if necessary from The Bank of Toronto, pending the sale of your grain, cattle or hogs.

THE BANK OF TORONTO
PETERBOROUGH
Millbrook, Keene, Hastings, Havelock.

EMPIRE THEATRE
WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY
Special Feature "The Lust of Ages" This feature was only shown once in Canada, in 6 acts
King Baggot and Marguerite Snow in "The Eagle's Eye," Chapter 16,
"The Raid of the U 53"
2 parts
Pete's Persia Prince," Comedy
PRICES: MATINEE 11 CENTS. EVENING 16 CENTS

THE STRAND, To-day
MONROE SALISBURY in THE EAGLE A Thrilling Western Drama
RUTH ROLAND in HANDS UP
ALSO A GOOD COMEDY PINK PAJAMAS
—FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—
Our New Serial—FRANCIS FORD—Commences in
THE SILENT MYSTERY
Afternoon—10c War Tax 1c extra Evening—15c

ADVERTISING RATES.

The rate for Classified Advertisements is one cent a word per first insertion; subsequent insertions half a cent the word. Minimum number of words ten. Special terms for 5000 words or over.

Advertisements marked "till forbidden" are accepted on the understanding that they will be published until a written or verbal notice to stop them is received.

BIRTH, MARRIAGE, DEATH, MEMORIAL NOTICES AND CARDS OF THANKS, 50c per insertion in Daily and Weekly, not exceeding one inch space. All words over the inch one cent each.

GET YOUR PRINTING DONE at The Review Office. Lowest price and best service.

Returned Soldiers Seeking Work

Returned soldiers wanting employment either in skilled or unskilled capacity, should have the preference with employers over all other applicants. This is one of the many ways in which their service to the Empire can be fittingly recognized.

The Review will co-operate in this matter by inserting FREE the want advertisements of returned soldiers. Show a service button when placing copy.

FEMALE HELP WANTED.

WANTED — GIRL FOR BINDERY. Apply Review office.

TO RENT.

MODERN HOUSE, ALL CONVENIENCES, gas, electric light. 3-piece bath, in central locality, 190 Reid St. Rent moderate. Apply 373 Park St., or Review office.

CAR FOR HIRE—ALL ORDERS promptly attended to. Rates reasonable. J. J. Johnston, 'phone 652w.

LOST.

LOST—ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON on George or Hunter street, small black purse. Reward if left at Review.

FOUND.

FOUND — DISCHARGE PAPERS; made out in the name of John Alexander McArthur. May be had by applying to Harvey Staunton, G.W.V.A.

FOR SALE.

A SMALL HOUSE AND LOT, at 479 Cedar street; house is in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Apply 586 Rubidge street.

ONE ELLAMS DUPLICATOR. Will make one or 100 copies or more; in good working order. For quick sale, $7.00; worth $20.00. Apply Review office.

FOR SALE — LOT, 30 FEET front by 226 feet deep. Price $185. East City. Apply 308 Mark street.

FOR SALE—A GOOD VIOLIN and case. Apply at Review Office.

A BRICK HOUSE ON REID STREET, NEAR THE C. G. E.; ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES; ATTIC FINISHED, MAKING SIX BEDROOMS; 3-PIECE BATHROOM; GOOD FURNACE. WILL BE SOLD ON TERMS TO SUIT PURCHASER. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

A COMFORTABLE BRICK HOUSE ON McGILL STREET; ELECTRIC LIGHT, PUMP IN HOUSE. WILL BE SOLD ON EASY TERMS; SMALL PAYMENT DOWN. FOR PARTICULARS APPLY TO THE REVIEW OFFICE.

MONEY TO LOAN

There has been placed in our hands considerable trust funds to loan at 6½ per cent., on first-class real estate property.

GORDON & O'BRIEN

Phone 219 395 George St.

Children's Aid Society

— of —

Peterborough City and County

FOR THE CARE OF NEGLECTED AND ILL-TREATED CHILDREN

G. W. POWELL

Asst. Secretary and Inspector

Office, 386 George St. Phone 1044w

Office Hours: 12 to 2 and 6 to 8 p.m.

Piano Tuning
Phone 595
The GREENE MUSIC Co.

LEGAL CARDS.

GORDON & O'BRIEN.
Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries.
Money to Loan at Lowest Rates.
Telephone 219.
G. N. GORDON. J. A. O'BRIEN.

C. R. WIDDIFIELD, B.A.
Barrister, Etc.
and Solicitor for the City of Peterborough. Bank of Commerce Building. Phone 550.

MOORE AND WEARING
Barristers and Solicitors
MONEY TO LOAN
108 Water St. Opposite Post Office

JAMES FORDYCE STRICKLAND
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public
MONEY TO LOAN
385 Water Street Peterborough
Phone 151

MOORE & WEARING
Barristers, Solicitors.
408 Water St., two doors north of the Sun Life Insurance Offices.
Crown Chambers
Money to loan at lowest rates.
W. H. Moore, K.C., Joseph Wearing, M.A.

G. W. HATTON
County Crown Attorney
Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Trust Funds to Loan on easy terms of payment, 397½ George Street, corner Hunter, Peterborough.

S. T. MEDD
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary
Office over Dominion Bank
Cor. Simcoe & George Sts.
Telephone No. 22
Private funds to loan at current rates upon easy terms.

PECK, KERR & McELDERRY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, 419 Water street, Peterborough. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest. Easy terms of repayment.
E. A. Peck. F. D. Kerr.
V. J. McElderry

J. EDMUND L. GOODWILL
Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public etc. Office 375 Water St., Phone 191.
Successor to Roger, Bennet & Goodwill.
MONEY TO LOAN at current rates upon easy terms.

A. E. DIXON
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Offices corner Hunter & George Sts. Entrance next Madill's Drug Store.

O'CONNELL & CORKERY
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, etc Money to Loan on Easy Terms of Payment
D. O'Connell, J. R. Corkery,
134½ Hunter St. Peterborough,
Telephone 364.

R. R. HALL
Barrister, Solicitor, etc.
Peterborough, Ont., office corner Hunter and Water Sts., over Canadian Bank of Commerce. Trust funds to loan on easy terms of payment.

MEDICAL CARDS.

DR. E. E. HARVEY
Silver Medallist, University of Toronto
Special attention to diseases of Women and Children
Office: 212 Brock Street
Hours: 1.30 to 5 p.m., 7 to 8 p.m.
Phone 332.

DR. BUCHANAN
F.R.S.C., Edin., M.R.C.S., Eng., L.R.C.P., Lon. Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat Specialist. Hours: 9-11 a.m., 2-4 and 7-8 p.m. Phone 519. Office corner Water and Murray streets.

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA WALMSLEY
Osteopath Physician
Office over Crown Building, Hunter and Water streets. Entrance 124 Hunter Street. Office hours: 9 to 12 a.m., 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Office Phone 649. Res. 845

Toronto Savings and Loan COMPANY
Head Office: 435-437 George Street
Peterborough
Paid-Up Capital ..$1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $1,100,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT — Deposits received of One Dollar and upwards. Interest paid quarterly, accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Every facility and convenience is afforded to depositors.

INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT — Debentures issued for sums of $100 & upwards for periods of one to five years, upon which special rates of interest are paid, depending upon the term of investment.

Executors and trustees are authorised by law to invest in the Debentures of this institution.

Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest.

W. G. MORROW,
Managing Director.

All Records Are Broken
By Wealth of Henry Ford
Flivvers Made Him Rich

HENRY FORD may not be the greatest man in the United States, but there is evidence that he is the richest, or at least that his annual income exceeds that of even John D. Rockfeller. It is improbable that at a pinch Mr. Ford could produce the solid securities, the bonds and mortgages that men whose wealth has been longer accumulated could produce, but if the question were the production of cold cash at a day's or a week's notice, it may be that Henry could lay over all of them. Moreover, there is no suggestion of "tainted money" concerning Henry's war bag. Everybody knows how he made his money. He made it by manufacturing automobiles, and not by any combination, corner or other blackjack method. He made his money in open competition with the rest of the world, and probably few of the people who have bought his product wished that they had their money back. Few of them believe that they paid too much. There can be little fair criticism of the way Henry Ford acquired his wealth, so far as motors are concerned. As regards his "Eagle boats," his course is not so clear. He couldn't be elected for much on his war reputation.

HENRY FORD.

We have no desire to rake over Ford's war record, or do anything that might contribute to the stalling of a Ford car, but some reference to his Eagle boats seems necessary. His press agents circulated the report that when the war began for the United States and Ford was called upon to co-operate he gladly consented, but laid down one iron-bound condition—he should make no profit. The facts appear to be that he took contracts for the manufacture of Eagle boats, the name given to craft that were designed as U-boat chasers. The original price was $275,000 each. This was raised later to $400,000. Up to the signing of the armistice he had completed just seven, most of which leaked so badly that their crews considered themselves entitled to Congressional medals for venturing out in them. The Eagle boats were more a flivver than the tin lizzies, and the United States Government has admitted that the Ford efforts with regard to shipbuilding were a failure because the contractor "lacked experience in shipbuilding."

So far we have spoken, and perhaps not too respectfully, of Henry Ford as an influence in this — or rather the last—war. Now we have to get back to the text and make a few observations about his wealth. How many iron men he has salted away nobody appears to know. What he spends is not a matter of public record, but some of his earnings can be stated officially. The Ford Motor Company is capitalized at $2,000,000, and Mr. Ford owns 58½ per cent. of the stock. In 1910 a cash dividend of 100 per cent. was declared; three years later a cash dividend of 500 per cent. was paid. In 1914 there was another 100 per cent. dividend. What part of the real surplus was put to other uses in those years is not announced. It is plain enough that in two years Mr. Ford's profits exceeded $2,000,000 and in one other year they were more than $5,000,000.

In 1916 the Ford Company rolled up a surplus of $112,000,000 of which $60,000,000 was ordered in court to be paid to the stockholders. Of this, Henry's share, would be about $34,500,000. These facts were brought to light in the course of a suit by the Dodges, former partners of Mr. Ford, to force the Ford people to loosen. It has been announced that for the fiscal year ending last July the Ford Company will pay only 200 per cent. dividend, so that Mr. Ford will have to get along with his savings and about $2,500,000 until there is another dividend. His son, Edsel, the Exempt, is now running the factory at a nominal retainer of $150,000 a year, while the father devotes himself to his weekly magazine. Of Edsel Ford it is to be said in all fairness that although the son of a millionaire, he never made himself notorious along the Great White Way. He is a stranger to Broadway squabs. His only prominence was occasioned by the fact that he was exempted from military service because he was so much more profitably employed in the Ford factory.

A Proviso.

Pat—After all, it's a great pleasure to be missed by someone.

Mike—Shure it is, Pat; if yes can be there t' enjy it.

REVIEW WANT ADS. PAY.

Air Liners Will Make
Transatlantic Trips,
Declares A. Holt Thomas

AIR liners to New York,—flying Leviathans to carry 150 passengers — are foreshadowed by A. Holt Thomas, head of the British Aircraft Manufacturing Company, discussing two paramount questions at present exercising the minds of the British Air Ministry and aeronautical authorities in this country:

1. The position of the naval and military air forces in the future in relation to commercial aviation.

2. The problem of official sanction for the early opening of the huge commercial air services now projected not only in England, but on the continent.

"There is a distinct danger," said Holt Thomas, "in endeavoring to make the large naval and military air force which I think is absolutely necessary to the country dependent on the development of commercial aeronautics, as we must realise that Great Britain, far from being the best country for aviation, is the worst.

"Our territory ends in mid-Channel, and our own country is too small, except from north to south, really to develop aeronautics. A country like Australia can quite easily create a large air force for offensive and defensive purposes by the use of commercial aeronautics, because it could have huge transcontinental lines.

"It is dangerous if the public gets the idea that we need not have a flying corps, and that commercial aeronautics will provide and sustain the necessary machines, pilots and organization. In my opinion, entirely owing to the situation of Great Britain, this is perfectly impossible.

"It is true, of course, that we have designs, pilots, etc., second to none, but the size of England entirely prohibits the extensive use of air service such as could be used in France.

"Paris to Nice, for instance, is about 600 miles, and France is almost as wide as it is long, and services across France in every direction will certainly enable a large number of machines and personnel to be used which could be called on in time of war.

"The British Empire is in a different position. South Africa, Australia, Canada and India are examples of countries which could be usefully developed by aerial services, and this, of course, will necessitate a line from London to each of these dominions.

"I am afraid, however, that so far as Great Britain is concerned, a French machine will carry the mails for France, an Italian machine will carry the mails for Italy, and so on.

"The Imperial Air Fleet, which is quite another matter, may be partly composed of commercial machines, but it is necessary to explode the fallacy that Great Britain itself should in any way be dependent on a commercial fleet for naval and military purposes.

"Now as to the second point. It would be doing no good to commercial aeronautics, in my opinion, for the Air Minister to hasten permission to fly abroad.

"The success of aerial lines will depend on organization and if official permission is withheld long enough the whole organization may be completed and will lead to public confidence in commercial aeronautics instead of want of confidence.

"In my opinion the Atlantic will be crossed by airplane for certain this year, but frankly I cannot see a future airplane service between London and New York.

"I can, however, easily imagine a huge aerial liner carrying, say 150 passengers at double the speed at present attained by steamships, providing a regular and reliable service and being much more pleasant to travel in than the largest liner afloat.

"The wind overseas, however strong it may be, is steady, and I believe many British and American travelers will pay an unlimited price for an airship journey from London to New York, especially when, as can easily be arranged, they can travel in a comfortable cabin."

Tommy Atkins Smiles.

One topic of conversation prevails throughout the Army of Occupation in Germany, and that is the new British army bonuses. Whether in the rooms of the German barracks that hold whole companies at once or in the farmhouse kitchens of the little villages of the bridgehead, the new scheme, and the way it will affect individual cases, is being discussed.

There is no doubt that the Government's plan has made a favorable impression. The amount of weekly bonus satisfies the great majority of the men and exceeds what most of them expected. In an army like our present one money has a very varying value. The bonus of 10s. 6d. (say $2.50) a week for privates seems a great deal for the agricultural laborer or the ex-odd job man, but it would not be the same compensation for retention under arms to the man who has a well-paid peace billet to get back to, and who fears that delay in reaching it may lead to his finding that somebody else has got his old job.

Bench and Bar.

The wit and quickness of repartee which characterizes Sir F. E. Smith, who is now Lord Chancellor, with a salary of £10,000, at the age of 46, is proverbial. In one of his early cases he was opposed by an elderly, prosy, long-winded lawyer, who spoke for six hours in his concluding address.

Then Sir Frederick rose. Looking at the judge and jury he smiled slightly and said:—

"Your honor, I will follow the example of my learned friend who has just concluded, and submit the case without argument."

The only thing that beats a good wife is a bad husband.

NO MORE KIDNEY TROUBLE

Since He Commenced to Take "Fruit-a-tives".

78 Lees Avenue, Ottawa, Ont.

"Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising.

I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I have not known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain".

WALTER J. MARRIOTT.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THACKERAY'S DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Ritchie Formed Link With Victorians.

A long vista reopens with the news that Anne Thackeray Ritchie is dead. Thackeray's daughter published her first novel, "The Story of Elizabeth," in 1863, the year her father died, and her last, "Mrs. Dymond," in 1885; so that in time as well as in spirit her work belongs distinctly to the Victorian era. It may be that these novels, even the most chaming one of all, "Old Kensington," published in 1873, are little read now; if so, they share the fate of others well worth reading.

No doubt her parentage had something to do with the attention Anne Thackeray attracted in her early days. Yet, though hereditary influences may be traced in her, she had a very distinct gift of her own. Her stories flowed quietly; they had no great dramatic force, but they were subtle in characterization and appealing in style. Had the great master of English fiction survived to read her pages, he would have taken delight in them.

Mrs. Ritchie was best known in later years as an upholder of her father's fame. Thackeray forbade a formal biography, though Trollope felt constrained to write a brief one. But his daughter, without in any way transgressing his prohibition, gave the world many charming glimpses of a personality more lovable, perhaps, than that of any other writer of his generation. Those who most admire Thackeray the writer cherish the memory of Thackeray the man with even profounder reverence. His daughter made it sufficiently clear that, whatever record leaped to light, he never would be shamed. The edition of his works which she edited may fairly be regarded as the final one. But it is not to be said of her merely, "Stat nominis umbra." She deserves remembrance for, her own contribution to English literature. And, like her father, she won friends whose allegiance to her was never shaken.

Westminster Abbey Bells.

